IVAN ABRAMSON'S latest handiwork is a domestic pot-pourri entitled "Ashes of Love," which possesses the advertising value of a fine cast, the complete personnel of which is James K. Hackett, Effie Shannon, Mabel Juliene Scott, Ruby deRemer, Paula Sahy, Hugh Thompson, Bill Davidson, William Bechtel and Dora Mills Adams, but which, on the other hand, possesses small dramatic merit or possibilities of entertainment.

Mr. Abramson has made his almost usual mistake of hurling a great number of characters at the spectator in the first reel of his picture so that confusion reigns even before the plot gets under way. Subsequently, when he does get into his story he has an exceedingly low percentage of continuity, owing to the fact that he is following the fortunes and misfortunes of so many separate personalities.

Just exactly what the "message" is in "Ashes of Love" is not quite clear, either. There is no outstanding dramatic motive to the story. It tells how a very rich husband lived only for his wife and his work with the poor, how she erred and paid the penalty in death, how afterwards he became mentally unbalanced in ever thinking of her and how finally he regained his presence of mind when the truth regarding his wife was told him. Paralleled with this there is the story of the wife of the man who attempted to lure the other woman, her misery in living with him, how his mistress finally killed him, leaving the wife free to go to the man she loves.

"Hands Up"

(Pathe—Fifth Episode)

THERE are thrills galore in this episode of Pathe's latest serial. A huge bowlder is rolled over the mountain-side, crashing through a flimsy little cabin and leaving only a mass of wreckage. The episode closes with a sensational fight on top and in a railroad train, the contestants being Echo and Hands Up on the one side and the Incas on the other. Ruth Roland and George Chesebro continue their good work.—Peter Milne.

The Complete Plan Book

Appears Every Week—Fifty-two Times a Year—Covers Every Feature Released

"YOUR FIGHTING NAVY"—EDUCATIONAL

A Million Dollars of Free Newspaper Advertising Back of It

AN extended review of "Your Fighting Navy at Work and at Play" was given in the Sept. 7th issue, on page 1608. It is one of the most interesting attractions of its kind ever filmed. Subjects of this nature are more or less dry, but this is an exception. It holds your interest and absorbs your thoughts to the end. There are many features shown in it that have aroused everyone's curiosity by having been treated in the newspapers at different times.

Besides the above, there are the patriotic reasons why you should show this picture. The American public is entitled to know what their Navy looks like and the functions that it is able to perform. The people will want to see it and assure themselves, as Missourians, that it is there and ready to perform its task when the supreme moment comes. Release date will be announced later.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

The officers, men and fighting ships of the United States Navy; Secretary Daniels, Vice-Admiral Sims and other executives; the quasi-human devices of modern invention that make it a fearsome engine of destruction and the prime bulwark of defense against the Hun.

Photographed for the Educational Films Corporation of America, with the official approval of the Navy Department.

Edited and titled by Lieut. Henry Reuterdahl, U. S. N. R. F., the celebrated marine artist and author.

THE STORY

"Your Fighting Navy" embodies the thrilling story of the American ships under war conditions. It begins with the birth of a typical Dreadnaught, and shows its armament, its crew, its coal supply, its getting under way, its departure to sea with its sister ships in battle array, the booming of the big guns, and the accuracy of shooting that destroys far-distant moving targets.

Nor are the "Ways of the Service" neglected. You see not only how the blue-jacket fights, but how he lives and amuses himself. His food, his sleeping quarters and his social life pass in review. Jack loves his fun, and here's a-plenty of it from blindfold boxing to deep-sea diving and from "stag" dancing and vaudeville to the boat races twixt representatives of rival ships' crews that develop every ounce of physical and moral strength and the will to win. You (and your audience) will often laugh heartily at Jack and his really comic capers, but it's the laugh of friendly affection always.

The next chapter of the story deals with the fascinating subject of "Destroyers and Submarines." This reel was taken out at sea adjacent to the headquarters of the American destroyer flotilla, and special interest is lent to it by the recent work of the flotilla in keeping down the Hun menace on the Atlantic Coast. The age-long duel twixt destroyer and submarine is thrillingly portrayed. The deadly maneuvers of the "tin fish;" the squid-like tactics of the smoke screen; the upward dashings and quick submerging of the vipers of the sea; the destroyers' gun-pointers landing on the periscope, or blowing up the rapidly submerging craft with a direct hit—all this is vividly pictured in a fact continuity more absorbing than a romance.

The story goes on in the next reel to tell of the "Devil Dogs" (U. S. Marines) and how they were trained to fit them for what they did at Chauteau Thierry. It shows that the bluejacket as well as the marine learns how to handle a rifle. Promotion to officer rank is open to all by means of the school aboard ship and in shore quarters.

By day, sea planes, the eyes of the fleet, warn the big ships against the approach of lurking foes. At night, the giant searchlights not only serve a similar purpose, but enable the range-finder crew to establish the distance of the enemy or target, and the observers using telescope sights to increase accuracy of hitting. Next, the battleship is shown making ready for combat against its big and little annoyers. Battleship torpedoes are discharged from underwear tubes.

And now all is in readiness for the battle range. The big, punchful climax of the pictures shows the battleship fleet in action. As a spectacle of human might unloosing the most terrible forces of Nature in the will to annihilate, it has never been surpassed. Up and up and up goes the story, you are at the very edge of your seat, gripping the sides of the chir with your hands, every muscle tense, every nerve a-quiver, till the red resentment of the great guns has finally faded out and relaxing you can grasp the complete significance of the final title: AMERICANS, UPHOLD THE NAVY!

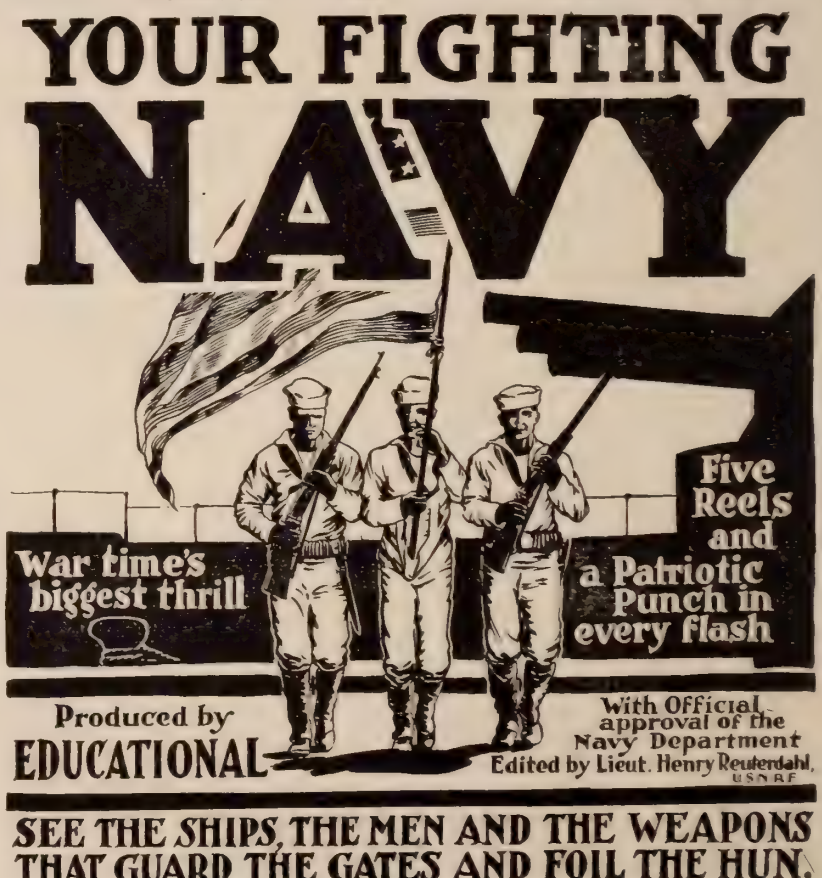
AD TALK

"Your Fighting Navy," which will be presented at the ———— Theatre on ————, handles one of the two biggest themes that enthral all Americans—namely, the defense of Democracy against the Hun both by land and by sea. "Pershing's Crusaders" and "America's Answer" told a part of the land story. Get the high points of our naval defense in "Your Fighting Navy." This picture was made by express permission and approval of the Navy Department so that everybody can see for himself what the Navy is doing.

Every fighting arm of the glorious service is realistically pictured. For the better part of an evening you live with the bluejackets and marines, the gun crews, destroyer patrols, submarine heroes, the airplane scouts, the torpedo and depth bomb handlers, and the great-souled commanders who direct the mighty complexus of widely scattered forces acting as a single unit.

As the title suggests, "Your Fighting Navy" is not a peace-time picture, revamping old film of parading naval vessels, but shows the battle fleet in time of war.. But despite its serious character, "Your Fighting Navy" also gives the light and the shade, the fun as well as the toil, the really human side of the bluejacket, just as "Pershing's Crusaders" gave the human and comic side of the soldier's life "over there." One reel of it, the "Ways of the Service," is just one hearty laugh after another.

The sole aim of "Your Fighting Navy" is to instruct and entertain, and Manager ————, of the ———— theatre, offers his personal guarantee that there isn't a tiresome or idle foot of film in it. It's all short, snappy, quick and vigorous—yet so completely in harmony with America's great purpose in this war that it is incumbent on every good American to view it.



Incidentally, the titles will be run at a rate of speed so moderate that all patrons can take in Lieut. Henry Reuterdahl's informing facts and conclusions about the status of the Naval War. Mr. Reuterdahl, by the way, was assigned by the Government to make the captions for this picture, and is said to have done his work in a manner worthy of one of the foremost naval authorities and popular magazine writers of the time.

CATCH LINES

"I wish that every American citizen could see your pictures. Their pride in their Navy and their country would be increased."

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy.

(Continued on page 1923)

Type of Two-Column Ad. Cut Supplied By Educational

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"—FOX

Good Western Stuff in Farnum's Latest

FAST physical action, beautiful desert scenery, plenty of horses and horse riding, some thrills and suspense, including a few situations with heart interest, constitute the entertaining elements of this attraction.

The story is founded on the famous novel, by Zane Grey, borrowed from a chapter in the American history of the days of '49, that deals with Mormonism. Its basic idea is the abduction of the hero's sister by the chief Mormon, and the former's attempts to find her.

This picture will appeal to those who like the Western type of photoplays. Released Sept. 1st.—Length, 7 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Lassiter.....William Farnum
Venters.....William Scott
Dyer.....M. B. Robbins
Tull.....Murdock McQuarrie
Jane Withersteen.....Mary Merch
The Masked Rider (Millie Erne),
Katherine Adams
Fay Larkin.....Nancy Caswell
Jerry Card.....J. Holmes

THE STORY

Lassiter, a Texas Ranger, known for his fearlessness and his quickness of temper, returns to his home to discover that his sister, Millie, has been abducted by raiding members of a religious sect. He leaves the Rangers and starts on a hunt for her, but every way he turns he finds obstacles in his path. At last, however, he finds a clue in Cottonwoods, a town on the Utah border. He visits the ranch of the Withersteens where Millie was last heard from, and here meets Jane Withersteen. They fall in love.

At the ranch he earns a friend in Venters, a man accused of courting an heiress. Lassiter rescues him from his tormentors. Venters later goes on a searching party for rustlers who have stolen some of the Withersteen cattle. Beyond Deception Pass he discovers them, led by a Masked Rider. Venters shoots at the leader, and when the others have fled discovers that he has wounded—a woman. He nurses her back to health—and love.

Lassiter discovers that his sister is dead, and is shown her grave. But he does not give vent to his full rage until a little orphaned girl, who had found a spot in his heart, is also abducted by members of the religious sect. He invades their stronghold, takes vengeance on Dyer, their leader, and rescues the girl from their clutches. With her he flees to Deception Pass, where he encounters Venters and the Masked Rider, whom he recognizes as his sister's daughter, Bess. Venters and Bess escape from the pursuing fanatics and make all haste to get married.

Lassiter with his companion is obliged to flee to the cliffs above Deception Pass. He finds a narrow cleft leading into a pocket canyon, the entrance of which is guarded by a balancing rock. This he hurls on his pursuers and so makes his escape.

AD TALK

William Fox promised us great things in William Farnum's latest picture, "Riders of the Purple Sage," a production derived from Zane Grey's book of the same name. And after we saw the picture ourselves we agree with him in every respect. In fact, this picture which is coming to the ———— theatre for ———— days beginning next ————, is just about the finest thing that William Farnum has done.

Of course, William Farnum is always pleasing, but "Riders of the Purple Sage" was the ideal vehicle for him. He fits the part of Lassiter like a glove—as well as Mr. Grey himself believed he would.

Zane Grey's is one of the great authors of Western literature. He writes of the West of the desert, of "the purple sage" as no other. He shrouds those far off places in an atmosphere of wonderful romance. Life fairly teems from every page of his works. So it is only natural that this sort of literature should prove attractive on the screen. The screen was made to portray just such stories—stories of the out-of-doors—that never take the observer into the stuffy confines of a four-walled room.

Frank Lloyd, the adaptor and director of the work, was the ideal man for the job. Mr. Lloyd glories in producing the "big" feature—at least so it might appear, as he does his best work in this line, whether it be big on the style of "A Tale of Two Cities" and "Les Miserables," or as on the style of this his latest triumph, "Riders of the Purple Sage."

CATCH LINES

William Farnum, "A Man's Man," in a Story by Zane Grey, Creator of Red-Blooded Americans.

A Western Drama of "The Better Class." From Zane Grey's Famous Story Showing Real Pioneer History.

Pulsating with Red-Blooded Western Atmosphere—and a Thrilling Climax That Takes Your Breath Away.

Farnum as "A Two-Gun Man" Battling Desperately with Unscrupulous Mormon Leaders.

"A Man Who Was Not Afraid"—That's William Farnum in a Characterization of Zane Grey's Hero That is a Masterpiece.

A Tale of Pioneer Western Days When Love Was Tested in Scorching Fires.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two three-sheets, two one-sheets, one six-sheet, one twenty-four-sheet.
Three-sheet showing Farnum shooting heavy with both guns (sensational).
Three-sheet showing Farnum riding on horseback with girl.
One-sheet showing Farnum with horse.
One-sheet showing man pleading with Farnum.
Six-sheet is dramatic scene from production.
Twenty-four sheet is sensational in character showing Farnum pushing huge rock down on pursuing horsemen.
PHOTOS:—Twelve 8 x 10 black and white; twelve 11 x 10 gelatins; three 22 x 28 gelatins;; 8 x 10 photos of star, 22 x 28 sepia gelatins of star.
CUTS AND MATS ON PRODUCTION:—Four 1-column, four 2-column.
CUTS AND MATS ON STAR:—1, 2 and 3-column.
ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—One 2-column cut and mat; one 1-column cut and mat.
SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE SHEET.

SUGGESTIONS

We haven't much sympathy with the sort of "advertising suggestions" that tell you on almost every picture to "hook up a display with your local bookseller." To follow all of them you would have to buy the bookstore and run it yourself.

But Zane Grey is a live, best-seller bet, and there is a possibility that you can effectively cooperate on this subject. For once you are not asking the bookseller to advertise a book which he long ago cleared from his shelves. Zane Grey is Zane Grey, and his followers are Zane Grey fans—not merely fans because of one particular book—so that a display linked up with this picture will help you and help the bookseller through selling Zane Grey.

But there are more booksellers in the pages of Press Books than there are in the average town. It is your own work and your own theatre that will put this picture over.

You have William Farnum, Zane Grey, and an all-wool, top notch Western drama. The Farnum fans will be got by a plentiful boosting of Farnum; the book and magazine readers by letting them know clearly and unmistakably that it is from Zane Grey's novel. (You know the average reader often forgets the title of a book, and then when a picture comes along that is not advertised properly, they say: "I wonder if that can be from the book I liked so much. No, I guess not. It's probably a movie imitation with a title like it.")

Finally—for the bulk of your patronage you must dress up to the Western atmosphere. At the same time let them know that it is a "different" Western, being actually of historical interest as portraying a certain period of history in Utah.

And—if your theatre is in a section that will stand it—don't forget the Mormon element in your publicity. If your patrons need stirring up by sensational means forget the other elements in the picture and just go to it on such words as "An Expose of Early Mormon Days," "Farnum Clashed with Mormon Kidnappers," "How Mormon Polygamy Was Spread."

But if your patronage is high class, steady, family trade keep away from this. William Farnum and a Western subject will be enough for them.

A subject of this sort is naturally tense throughout, with little light relief, so be careful about your choice of comedy for the balance of the program. You might almost stand an extra comedy—one before and after. The climax is a thriller, so the comedy there could be refined, or else a news weekly would bring the audience around to normal feelings. As the Farnum is an outdoor Western keep any scenic you have on the shelf for some day when you're playing modern society drama.

Three Sheet Available on "Riders of the Purple Sage"

"BRAZEN BEAUTY"—BLUEBIRD"

"As He Said Once Before"—It's Great

AS I said in an extended review published in a recent issue on page 1608, this is a splendid production and deserves all the praises heaped upon it. It is one of those pictures that make a lasting impression on the mind of a spectator and makes him go out talking about it. And that is the best and most inexpensive kind of advertising, after all.

The acting of Miss Dean is remarkable, but so is the direction. In fact, under the masterful guidance of Director Todd Browning, every player has put his or her best in the picture. It is very apparent that there was an absolute harmony and co-operation among the different factors, such as director, star, cameraman, photographer, players, electricians, etc. The result has been a perfect dramatic production.

It is a clean offering, suitable for any kind of audience.—Released Sept. 9.—Length, 5 reels—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Jacala.....Priscilla Dean
Mrs. Augusta Van Ruysdael.....Gertrude Astor
Aunt Ellen.....Katherine Griffith
Kenneth Hyde.....Thurston Hall
Bruce Edwards.....Thornton Church
Kate Dewey.....Kate Wilson
Tony.....Leo White

Story by Louise Winter.
Scenario by Wm. E. Wing.
Directed by Tod Browning.

CATCH LINES

Would you need to spend $10,000 to secure a fiance? One of the prettiest girls in the world had to in the Bluebird photoplay, "The Brazen Beauty."

Priscilla Dean stars in a photoplay that leads her from the desert wastes of Montana to New York's Fifth avenue.

Jacala discovered that she could buy her way into society, but not into love.

AD TALK

Jacala thought to take New York society by storm, and to this end purchased a magnificent mansion on Riverside Drive, and started to batter her way into the circles of the four hundred by sheer force of gold. In order to save herself from a man she thought worthless she hired another man to act as her fiance. This latter gentleman turns out to be a knave and a scoundrel and circulates a variety of vile stories about her.

This is in part the story contained in "The Brazen Beauty," one of the late Bluebird Photoplays which the management of the _____ theatre will present to its patrons on _____ of _____ week. To disclose the climax in cold type would be doing a great injustice to the picture itself and to our patrons, who, we believe, will agree with us that "The Brazen Beauty" is one of the strongest and most powerful pictures that has recently been shown.

Priscilla Dean, the young star, who showed so much sterling ability in "The Two Soul Woman" and "Joan of the Apaches" has the star role, that of Jacala, and plays it for its full worth. Tod Browning, formerly one of the associates of D. W. Griffith, directed the picture. It is based on an original story by Louise Winter from which William E. Wing prepared the scenario. This array of talent has turned out a picture that in every department is a credit to them and to the picture art in general.

Miss Dean has a number of noted players in her support, including Thurston Hall, Thornton Church, Leo White, Rex de Rosselli, Alice Wilson, Gertrude Aster and Katherine Griffith. The acting is of the same superior order as everything about the picture. The management feels no hesitancy in announcing it as one of the big features of the new season.

THE STORY

Jacala, a magnificent young woman, has spent her entire life in Bleak City, Mont., a small town on the edge of a great desert. Unwise to the ways of the outside world, the world beyond the desert, the world of big cities, Bleak City is to her perfectly satisfactory until a social magazine comes into her hands. This magazine contains a picture of Mrs. Van Ruysdael, of New York, and her pretentious mansion on Riverside Drive. Thereupon Jacala has a longing to see New York.

When her father dies, leaving her a tremendous fortune, she purchases the Van Ruysdael home, and sets herself up in state in the city with the idea of battering her way into society by sheer force of gold. In time Jacala meets Kenneth Hyde, Mrs. Van Ruysdael's brother. Only aware that he is in some way connected with the grand lady, Jacala assumes that he was the man responsible for Mrs. Van Ruysdael's divorce and various other scandals that have been circulated about her. Looking at him in this light she endeavors to hate him, but finds it a difficult task.

Love, however, keeps asserting itself, and Jacala has a difficult time keeping away from Hyde. At length to protect herself she hires a worthless profligate to pose as her fiance, paying him a large sum of money for his services.

The profligate is greedy for more gold, and is also desirous of Jacala herself. When he discovers that all his advances are unwelcomed he circulates ugly stories about her, saying that she is only a dance hall girl from the West, being kept in magnificence by a mining king.

It is only when this situation becomes serious that Jacala discovers the truth about Hyde, and accepts him as the true man he is.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two 1-sheets; two 3-sheets; two 6-sheets.
LOBBY DISPLAY:—Selection of scene and star stills. Advertising electros, press sheet.
SLIDES, MUSIC CUE SHEET, WINDOW CARDS.

SUGGESTIONS

The exhibitor may well go the limit in his advertising on this feature, for it is one of the best that has borne the Bluebird trade mark. If it is the custom to play the better features for longer runs set "Brazen Beauty" down for extra days, for it will surely create comment, and there will be an increased demand for seats.

Priscilla Dean, one of the younger stars, has appeared in other successful pictures, more recently "The Two Soul Woman" and "Joan of the Apaches." These might be mentioned in advertising. The director's name, Tod Browning, has weight attached to it in that he was formerly associated with Griffith.

But aside from the star's name, which is usually featured, be sure to lay stress on the unusual, powerful and always dramatic story which "The Brazen Beauty" contains. It is really a ribbon winner.

Two-Column Coarse Screen Cuts Like the Above Are Supplied on Universal and Bluebird Releases

"THE LAW OF THE NORTH"—PARAMOUNT

Charles Ray in a "Bing, Bang, Blood" Melodrama

LITERARILY speaking, this is a carnival of blood. It is based chiefly on raping, murdering, killing and then some more murdering, of human beings as well as of dumb animals. There is enough blood spilled to make one dream it for several nights.

The villain rapes a young Indian girl. Later he murders the Commandante of the fort and induces his daughter to run away with him. The Commandante's son returns and discovers the body, from the blood that is dripping on the floor below. In the battle at the abandoned fort, where other outcasts are shown revelling in orgies, the hero's sister is shot and several others killed. One of them is shown lying dead on the stockade wall with the blood dripping.

The murderer escapes and while he is racing away on a dog team is surrounded by a pack of wolves. In order to check the pursuit, he kills the dogs, one at a time. Part of the act of killing one is shown. The story relates that the villain is devoured by the wolves, but we have been spared the actual sight of such a horrible ending.

This picture is fit to show only in the Fiji Islands.—Release date not yet announced.—Length, 5 reels. —P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Alain de Montcalm, the "Eaglet"...Charles Ray
Therese Le Noir, daughter of Le Noir..Doris Lee
Caesar Le Noir, "The Wolf"....Robert McKim
Virginie de Montcalm, Alain's Sister..Gloria Hope
Michel de Montcalm, Post Commandante
Charles K. French
Numa, an Indian.....Manuel Ojeda
Author: Ella Stuart Carson.
Director: Irving V. Willat.
Supervision of Thomas H. Ince.
Photographer: Chester Lyons.

AD TALK

Charles Ray, the popular young star of Ince-Paramount pictures, makes another appearance on the screen of the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week when "The Law of the North" is presented for the first time. While Mr. Ray has gained his present reputation through the interpretation of a totally different type of role than that which he carries in this picture, patrons of the ——— theatre are assured of a distinctly high-class entertainment in this, his latest screen effort.

Instead of playing the country boy or the "rube," Mr. Ray is here seen as Alain, the son of a French-Canadian trapper. The story is one of love and vengeance in the snows of the far Northwest and is fashioned in a strictly dramatic manner with the result that there is not a dull moment in the entire five reels.

The picture was produced under the direction of Irvin Willat, one of Thomas H. Ince's most capable men. Mr. Willat has secured some of the most beautiful snow scenes ever flashed on the screen. Whole fields of snow and ice greet the eye, giving a most realistic atmosphere to the story. The photography, a most difficult angle of the picture under these circumstances, because of the brilliance of the sun's reflected rays, is of the highest order.

Mr. Ray is surrounded by a most capable cast of screen players in "The Law of the North," including Doris Lee, Gloria Hope, Robert McKim, Charles K. French and Manuel Ojeda. The story was prepared for him by Ella Stuart Carson, one of the prominent members of the Ince scenario staff.

THE STORY

Alain is the son of the commandante of a French trading station in the far North. One day he is sent by his father to another trading station at St. Felician, some distance away, on business. Caesar Le Noir, assistant to Montcalm, the commandante, watches him bid good-bye to his sister, Virginie, with a cynical smile.

After his departure an Indian appears with a beautiful young girl, Therese, to tell the commandante that Le Noir is her father. Montcalm is furious at this news and suggests that Le Noir marry the Indian. He, however, refuses. Later he tells Virginie that he has only accepted the blame to shield Alain. Montcalm, furious at this, thrashes Le Noir. In the dead of the night Le Noir enters the commandante's home and stabs him to death, then making off with Virginie.

Alain has met Therese at St. Felician and brings her back with him, promising to see that her father will take care of her. He learns of the tragedy and in a burst of rage, tells Therese that she must marry an Indian, Numa, to atone for Le Noir's misdeeds. Then he goes in pursuit of the murderer.

With his followers, Alain traps Le Noir in an abandoned fort. A battle ensues. Le Noir finally sends word that unless Alain quit the fight he will kill his sister. Le Noir and Virginie struggle for the gun. It is discharged and the girl falls to the floor. Believing her dead Alain gives pursuit to the villain, now more furious than ever.

On his trial he discovers Therese, who has escaped from the Indian. He takes her on his sled, though aware that the added weight to his dogs diminishes his chance of catching his man. And he does fail in this attempt, but instead, Le Noir meets a horrible fate from the merciless wolves. Returning, Alain discovers that his sister is only slightly wounded. Therese's helplessness creates a love for her in Alain's breast and she forgives him.

CATCH LINES

Charles Ray, the inimitable young Paramount star, in an entirely new characterization.

A thrilling drama of primitive passions produced in the frozen snow fields of the North.

In the far North every man carries his "court of appeals" around in his holster. See how justice is meted out in "The Law of the North."

They say that it is a bad thing for stars to become "typed," that is, appear in the same sort of part in one picture after another. Here Charles Ray reverts to the exact opposite of his past roles—he is the strong, hardy trapper of the great Northwest.

Taken in the snow and ice fields of the north—a background of superb beauty for a story of mighty force.

If you're at all too warm come in and see "The Law of the North" and be transported to the arctic country.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet; 24-sheet stock poster of star.
One-sheet shows star in trapper's garb crouching in the snow as if ready to spring on his enemy.
One-sheet shows star kneeling beside the bed of his sister.
Three-sheet shows star standing erect in a dimly lighted cabin.
Three-sheet shows star and Doris Lee.
Six-sheet is an attractive scene from the picture. On a background of snow, star discovers Doris Lee unconscious in the foreground.
PHOTOS:—Eight 8 x 10 black and white; eight 11 x 14 sepia; one 22 x 28 sepia; 8 x 10 photos of star.
CUTS AND MATS ON PRODUCTION:—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column.
STOCK CUTS AND MATS OF STAR:—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column.
SERIES OF ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—Mats.
SLIDES AND MUSIC CUES.

SUGGESTIONS

Charles Ray's is a name to be boosted to the limit. Let it be known that in "The Law of the North" he plays quite a different type of role than he has ever essayed before—that of a strong, young Canadian trapper. In stories say that the versatility of Ray prevents him from remaining altogether in the "boob" type of role.

If you employ lobby decorations a few fir boughs or evergreen branches would be suitable, with furs or snow shoes, if procurable.

The picture can be well advertised as sensational or thrilling if your audiences like this type of stuff. It contains a variety of fighting, the villain performs dastardly deeds and meets a terrible fate.

Or if on the other hand, your audience is attracted by the more subdued announcement, the fact that it is laid in vastly pretty snow fields of the North would be a good line to play on.

The Frozen North Is the Keynote of the Posters on "The Law of the North." Above Is One of the Three Sheets

"BY THE WORLD FORGOT"—VITAGRAPH

"By the World Forgot"—Vitagraph

YOU could call this only an ordinarily good program offering. It holds the interest well, but it contains hardly any situations with heart interest.

Had most of the story not been devoted to describing the unhappy side of life, it would have been a much better picture. For instance, the villain has the hero shanghaied. He later escapes by aid of the crew of the ship and lands in an island. There he meets a semi-savage tribe, descendants of some ship-wrecked Dutchmen. The hero suffers hardships all the way through.

Towards the end of the story, the villain feels remorse for the wrong he has done to the hero and comes to rescue him. After all he marries the girl, although by all rules of the game she should have turned him down flat after learning what he had done to the hero.

That the villain meets with no retribution is a bad feature, considering that the hero doesn't get his reward until at the close.

The picture is clean.—Released Sept. 16.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Truda.....Hedda Nova
Derrick Van Beekman.....J. Frank Glendon
George Harnash.....Ed Alexander
Stephanie Maynard.....Patricia Palmer
John Maynard.....R. S. Bradbury
William Woywood.....George Kunkel
Hano.....Otto Lederer

Author: Cyrus Townsend Brady.
Director: David Smith.

THE STORY

The Van Beekmans and the Maynards, aristocratic and wealthy families, desire a union to be brought about by the marriage of Derrick Van Beekman to Stephanie Maynard. Neither of the young people look kindly on this idea, Derrick being in love with nobody in particular, while Stephanie's undivided love is the possession of George Harnash, her father's partner. However, they apparently resign themselves to their impending fate. It is Harnash who is unwilling to sit by, and see the girl he loves marry another. Consequently he so arranges it that Derrick is shanghaied from his bachelor dinner, and placed aboard a sailing vessel.

When the time comes for the wedding there is no groom. Stephanie, while somewhat relieved, is peeved at Harnash for doing the job so crudely, and tells him she will never marry him until Derrick has been found.

This, however, is not such an easy matter. After various adventures Derrick finds himself on a small island inhabited by strange white people. Truda, a beautiful young woman, the granddaughter of the chief, falls in love with the stranger, and Derrick shortly discovers that in her he has met the only woman he has ever loved. Derrick discovers by searching the records of the church that the race is descended from Dutch explorers who were shipwrecked on the island hundreds of years ago, and that Truda is in every respect his equal.

But by entering the church Derrick has laid himself open to punishment. He is cast on the beach to die. Truda prefers to share his fate with him. But before they are seriously affected by starvation, a launch appears bearing Stephanie and other searchers. Truda believes Stephanie, the woman Derrick really loves, and fleeing to a high cliff prepares to throw herself off into the sea. Stephanie, sensing the situation, prevents a tragedy by striking Derrick. Truda seeing this, comes to his aid, and so all is explained.

AD TALK

"By the World Forgot," a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, starring Hedda Nova and J. Frank Glendon will be the principal attraction at the ———— theatre on ———— of ———— week. This picture presents one of those fascinating stories of Cyrus Townsend Brady's, the locale of which is a distant island of the southern seas. Here the chief protagonists of the play, the man and the woman, work out their destinies practically alone. The author knows well how to handle such stories. Many of ———— patrons will remember his "Island of Regeneration," with Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno, which was produced two years ago. While this was something of the same type as "By the World Forgot," Mr. Brady has injected new ideas and refreshingly original dramatic material in his later picture with most gratifying results.

The starring team presented in this feature is rapidly gaining a wide reputation for all that is the best in portrayals of realistic characters. Their work, together in "The Changing Woman," was the subject of much favorable comment throughout the country, while previous to this they had gained a firm place in the hearts of photoplay audiences by their brilliant work in the Vitagraph serial, "The Woman in the Webb."

The picture abounds in beautiful tropical island scenes while the action of the story is ever swift of movement and so bound to satisfy picture audiences. There is a plentiful supply of adventure and romance elements which have been exceptionally well handled in Mr. Brady's treatment of the scenario.

David Smith, one of Vitagraph's well-known directors, has seen to it that the picture retains all the wonderful atmosphere injected in it by the author. A cast of such popular supporting players as Ed Alexander, Patricia Palmer, Roland Bradbury, George Kunkel and Otto Lederer surround the stars.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One 1-sheet, one 3-sheet, one six-sheet.
PHOTOS:—Lobby display available for exhibitors consists of two 22 x 28 colored photos, eight 11 x 14 photos and a title card.
Exhibitors desiring to have special cuts made for newspaper use may obtain set of 5 x 7 black and white photographs at the Vitagraph branches.
CUTS:—Two-star cuts of Hedda Nova—one 2-column, one 1-column. Also two cuts, same size, of J. Frank Glendon. Scene cuts include one 2-column and one 1-column.
MUSIC CUE SHEET.

CATCH LINES

He Ran Away on Their Wedding Eve—If You Were the Girl Would You Follow the Man Who Jilted You?

A Castaway on a Desert Isle—A Story of Love that Travels Through Seven Seas.

The World Forgot Him, But the Girl Who Loved Didn't—See What Happened When She Met the Other Girl.

A Story by Cyrus Townsend Brady—A Certain Guarantee of Tender Romance and Red-Blooded Adventure.

A "Happy Ending Love Story" that Makes You Glad You're Living.

SUGGESTIONS

If you played "The Woman in the Web," Vitagraph's serial, be sure you let your patrons know well in advance that Hedda Nova and J. Frank Glendon are in this picture.

If you played either the above serial or "Vengeance and the Woman" or "A Fight for Millions" be sure to let them know that the story of "By the World Forgot" was written by Cyrus Townsend Brady, who collaborated on these serials with Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph.

For your other publicity don't forget the unusual lobby display of photos always suggested in the Vitagraph press sheet on each release. The "stills" available on "By the World Forgot" include two 22 x 28 colored photos, eight 11 x 14 photos and a title card. The suggested lay-out for the eight 11 x 14 photos contained in the press sheet will aid you greatly in securing an artistic effect and at the same time one that conveys the out-door atmosphere of the picture strongly.

If you go to unusual dressings of your lobby for different pictures the castaway element in this production naturally offers an opportunity. The obvious suggestions of a thatched covering for the ticket booth and so on, are in order.

FILE IT!

The Complete Plan Book is Always Bound Separately in MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

By Lifting the Staples Under the Back Cover You Can File the Complete Plan Book from Week to Week.

HEDDA NOVA

Coarse Screen Newspaper Cuts Like the Above Are Also Supplied on J. Frank Glendon Hedda Nova

"THE TALK OF THE TOWN"—UNIVERSAL

Good Treatment Puts Over Unusual Subject

THIS is another of those features that will create a favorable impression on the mind of a picturegoer. With a good story leading up to a surprising climax, to start with, backed up by a fine cast, Director Hollubar has presented us with a splendid entertainment. The suspense is well maintained throughout.

Were it not for the fact that the assault in the room is a put up job, the picture might be considered too strong for family patronage. But, as in the case of the dream kind of a photoplay, greater latitude can be allowed. As it has been produced in a clean and refined manner, I wouldn't be afraid to recommend it for any audience.—Released Sept. 23d.—Length, 6 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Genevra French.....Dorothy Phillips
Major French.....George Fawcett
Aunt Harriet.....Clarissa Selwyn
Lawrence Tabor.....Wm. Stowell
Jack Lanchome.....Lon Chaney

From story, "Discipline of Genevra," by Harold Vickers. Published in "Snappy Stories Magazine."

Directed by Allen Hollubar.

THE STORY

Genevra French, the pretty daughter of Major French, is brought up in a strict environment. Her nature revolts. She wants freedom. A book, entitled "How to Attract the Opposite Sex," falls in her hands, she reads it and absorbs some of its teachings.

Lawrence Tabor, who is counted as one of the few friends of her father, visits them. Parrot-like, she practices some of the book's theories on him, and he becomes fascinated with her. After several secret meetings, Genevra asks Lawrence if he will take her as his wife. He consents, and they get married. Shortly afterward she tells her husband she married him to save herself from her prison of a home, and that she is going to be free and act as she pleases.

She meets Jack Lanchome, an idler, whose only occupation is to fascinate women, and demands of her husband to be introduced to him. Lawrence refuses, stating that he will not insult her by introducing her to such a man. Her desire to meet him now becomes the stronger. She invites him to the house.

After several meetings Lanchome arranges a little supper in a cafe of bad reputation. After dinner he locks the door and assaults her. Lawrence gets there just in time to save her from the villain's hands. Genevra begs her husband to take her home, promising that in the future she will disobey him no more.

Next day Lanchome appears in Lawrence's office. The latter hands him a check, but he refuses to accept it, saying that that was the first good act he has ever done in his life, and that he will accept no pay for it. Further, that he has enlisted in the army to fight in France, intending to keep to the straight path.

Genevra is ignorant of the frame-up, but well cured and happy with her husband

AD TALK

Dorothy Phillips will return to the screen of the ———— theatre on ———— of ———— week when the Universal Special, "The Talk of the Town" is shown. Miss Phillips is no stranger to ———— patrons, having been seen before in such memorable pictures as "Hell Morgan's Girl," "A Soul For Sale" and "The Mortgaged Wife." In "The Talk of the Town" a distinctly refreshing and pleasing story is promised in which the emotional star is given a role exactly suited to her varied capabilities.

"The Talk of the Town" is based on a story by Harold Vickers which appeared in a recent issue of Snappy Stories. It tells of a young woman who married for the sole purpose of gaining freedom from the almost military conventions of her father's house and of the manner in which this young woman sought still further freedom from the conventions of married life. How her husband hits upon a cure and brings her back to his fireside completely subdued makes an entertainment that is no less pleasing than it is strong in dramatic qualities.

The film was produced under the direction of Allen Holubar, one of Bluebird's best directors while in the cast appear such well known players as William Stowell, Clarissa Selwyn, Norman Kerry, Charles Hill Mailes and Lon Chaney. The picture possesses a varied setting. The young wife's adventures lead her far afield and into many precarious situations from all of which, however, she emerges unscathed, owing to the watchful eye of her husband.

The date for the showing of "The Talk of the Town" is ————. Be sure not to miss it as the town will, in truth, be talking of it long after it has left the screen of the ———— theatre.

CATCH LINES

Genevra got her husband through book lore. Has your public library a volume, "How to Attract the Opposite Sex" on its shelves?

Military discipline is a fine thing in the army but Genevra French rebelled, instituted a small revolution of her own, as it were, when her father attempted to run his home on a military basis.

An actress who can truthfully be set down as a brilliant emotional artist.

Genevra French read a book, "How to Attract the Opposite Sex," and thought it due her studious perusal of this when she secured a husband, when after all, Lawrence Tabor was attracted only by Genevra, not by her book lore.

To cure his wife of false ideas of freedom, Lawrence Tabor hired him a villain.

When Genevra found herself suddenly at the mercy of the villain's attacks, she hurried right back to her husband. The heartless wretch hadn't told her that the villain was in his pay!

A worthy successor to Miss Phillips' previous successes, "Hell Morgan's Girl" and "The Risky Road."

From a work by Harold Vickers in "Snappy Stories" The screen has made it all the snappier.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; two six-sheets.
LOBBY DISPLAY:—Selection of star and scene stills. Advertising electros. Press sheet.
SLIDES, MUSIC CUE SHEET, WINDOW CARDS.

SUGGESTIONS

Dorothy Phillips, a popular star, to be featured.

An advertising point to make to certain audiences is that the picture is based on a story that appeared in the magazine, "Snappy Stories."

It might be well to lay stress on the novel construction of the story, i.e., that the husband hires a villain to make the conventional advances toward her in order to cure her of a false idea of freedom. This is an odd twist to an idea that has often been used in pictures and if the public is given a look in on it will immediately appreciate it.

An Unusual Newspaper Cut on "The Talk of the Town"

"WHY AMERICA WILL WIN"—FOX

General Pershing Biography Placed on the Screen

"WHY America Will Win" is a purely biographical subject up till the seventh reel, which shows the American troops winning the war in grand shape. It is the life of General Pershing from his birth to the present day.

Being a patriotic subject it will undoubtedly draw. It is for you, knowing your own audiences, to decide the amount of satisfaction it will give. From the story below you can tell just what is in the picture, for the subtitles alone could carry the picture without the aid of the scenes.

It has all the characteristics of a News Weekly without being as impressive, for the reason that fictitious characters are used to represent real ones, such as Pershing himself, Roosevelt, President Wilson and others.

If we are to believe the seventh reel, the General is the best talker ever born. He is shown directing the battle as the American troops near Berlin (no other Allied troops are shown as helping), giving the orders verbally, as a real Athenian orator. Demosthenes had nothing on him.—Released Sept. 1st.—Length, 7 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Gen. John J. Pershing { as a boy....A. Alexander / as a youth..Harris Gordon / as a man....Olaf Skavian
President Woodrow Wilson.....R. A. Faulkner
Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.....W. E. Whittle
Mrs. Daniel Pershing.....Miss Irving
John F. Pershing.....Frank McGlynn
Ann Thompson Pershing.....Betty Grey
The Kaiser / Field Marshal von Hindenburg. } Ernest Maupin
King George of England.....Harry Warwick
General Foch.....John Fox, Jr.
Frederick William, Crown Prince of Germany Lieutenant Percy
Georges Clemenceau, Premier of France John Hennessy
Gen. Pancho Villa.....George Humbert
Emperor of Japan.....A. Mintone
Admiral von Tirpitz.....P. C. Hartigan
Von Keuck, German Consul General to Mexico William Canfield

Scenario by Adrian Johnson.
Director: Richard Stanton.

AD TALK

On ——— of ——— week, the management of the ——— theatre offers a distinct novelty in the way of picture entertainment, a novelty that will prove both entertaining and inspiring. This comes in the shape of the big Fox special feature entitled "Why America Will Win," a picture tracing the life of General Pershing, our commander in France, from the day of his birth back in a little town called La Clede, in Missouri, up to the present day when he stands as the most conspicuous military figure from the United States in this present war.

The picture is actual history but is none the less entertaining, for General Pershing's career has its full supply of adventure, romance, joy and sorrow. Various incidents in his early life, incidents that went a long way toward shaping the character that has brought him the high position he now holds, are shown on the film, and to say that they hold a peculiar interest for any and all spectators is putting the case mildly.

The management of the ——— theatre desires particularly to call the attention of the mothers, wives and sisters of soldiers in the service to "Why America Will Win." It gives such a clear picture of the man who holds their destinies in his hands that it can not but help to comfort and console.

Adrian Johnson, a well-known writer on the Fox scenario staff, assembled the data and whipped it into shape for the direction of Richard Stanton. For the scenes in which General Pershing himself appears the man is portrayed by an actor who bears a striking resemblance to him in all prominent respects. A fine cast surrounds this main character, a cast which plays everything from the natives in the Missouri town to the leaders of the world today.

THE STORY

John J. Pershing, the present commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in France was born in Missouri in the year 1860. His father had come West from Pennsylvania, his grandfather had sought the freedom offered by the United States because he could no longer stand the persecution of an European autocracy.

As a boy Pershing early gained a love and respect for his country. His father was true blue and toward the beginning of the Civil War when neighbors attempted to tear down the American flag he offered strenuous resistance. Young Pershing was studious and ambitious. He gained his appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point only after the severest sort of competition.

As a lieutenant he fought in the later Indian wars. He returned to West Point as an instructor and remained there until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war when he once more entered active service, taking part in the battle of San Juan Hill. In Japan he served as military attache to the American Embassy, this period being one of the most valuable to him in his entire career. He scored again in the Philippines by subduing the Moros.

It was President Roosevelt who made him a Brigadier General. In this capacity he took charge of the Presidio in San Francisco. Here occurred the great tragedy—in a fire his wife and three children were lost. General Pershing then saw active service on the American-Mexican border until he was selected by President Wilson to lead the armed forces of the United States in the present battle for freedom.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two three-sheets; two one-sheets; one six-sheet; one 24-sheet. All paper is of a striking patriotic character

PHOTOS:—Twelve 8 x 10 black and white; twelve 11 x 12 colored gelatins; three 22 x28 colored gelatins; rotrogravure of General Pershing, size of window display card containing space for name of theatre—suitable for framing.

CUTS AND MATS:—For news columns there are a number of attractive pictures, mats of which are furnished free. A three-column shows General Pershing awarding a war cross to a wounded soldier. A one-column shows General Pershing looking sorrowfully at two children of France. A two-column shows the young Pershing being congratulated on his appointment to West Point. Two-column shows him greeting Marshal Foch. There are two other single-columns of General Pershing and another two-column.

Advertising cuts are two three-column, two two-column and two one-column. The press book also includes a great number of suggested advertisements.

A great amount of publicity has been done on this feature. The McClure Syndicate has the story of General Pershing which will be run in newspapers with the release of the picture. The publicity department is plugging the picture along every available line in order to make it a real special in every department.

SUGGESTIONS

Don't play this picture as a "Spectacular War Drama." Play it for what it is—an attempt to strengthen America's faith by an idealistic picture of the life of General Pershing.

"Stills" from the production will naturally have their place in your lobby display, but a lobby display that will be sure to draw them can be prepared by purchasing copies of such illustrated weeklies as Leslie's or Collier's and arranging all the actual war photographs that you can clip with preference, of course, to pictures of General Pershing. Hunt through all the illustrated publications on your newsstand and you will find that a dollar's purchase will give you a lobby display that will be sure to draw them. People will always stop to look at a "news photograph" when they will pass by the ordinary "stills" from a production.

If you appeal to a cosmopolitan patronage "lay off" the press book suggestions with this production that give the impression that America is fighting the whole war and don't seem to know that we have allies who amount to something. In fact, it might not do any harm to keep away from this angle of the picture altogether. Boost on the personality angle—bang on the General Pershing note—the fact that here, for the first time, they can meet face to face and from his boyhood up the man who is now holding in his hands the fate of their friends and relatives.

CATCH LINES

The Dramatic Life Story of the Man in Whose Hands America's Fate Has Been Entrusted—General John J. Pershing.

What Do You Know of the Man Who Commands Your Sons, Brothers and Sweethearts?—"Why America Will Win" Strengthens Your Faith.

Striking Ad-cut borders like these are supplied on all Fox releases, while suggested advertising copy is in the press book on each picture. Mats are free; cuts at moderate price.

"THE BURDEN OF PROOF"—SELECT

A Modernized "Diplomacy" of Average Value

FOR Marion Davies' second Select offering, a scenario derived from Sardou's great play, "Diplomacy," was chosen. It has been modernized, the locale being Washington, D. C., the spies, Germans.

While the picture, after considerable mildly interesting plotting builds to a good dramatic scene, when Blair of the Department of Justice tricks a woman into the confession that she is a spy, so exonerating an innocent woman, the star and the general handling of the whole production are artificial quantities.

Miss Davies has no dramatic ability and lacks poise and grace while facing the camera. The whole cast, with the exception of L. Rogers Lytton and Fred Hearn, is rather ill at ease, probably because of over-direction. Mr. Lytton gives a highly sustained performance as Blair.

The subtitling comes in for further criticism. The inserts do not fit with the action in many cases and besides many an important point had to be "planted" in the subtitles when it should have been placed in the action.

The reels include some exceedingly handsome exteriors of both Washington and Newport, while the photography and lighting are excellent.—Released through Select.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Elaine Brooks.....Marion Davies
Mrs. Brooks, her mother.....Mary Richards
Mrs. Durand.....Eloise Clement
Robert Ames.....John Merkyl
George Blair.....L. Rogers Lytton
Frank Raymond.....Willard Cooley
William Kemp.....Fred Hearn
Butler.....Fred Lenox
Maid.....Maude Lowe

Scenario by S. M. Weller.
Directed by Julius Steger.
Photographed by Andre Barlatier.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One one-sheet—scene of production; one one-sheet—star, personal (special for this production); one three-sheet—scene of production; one three-sheet—star, personal (special for this production); one six-sheet—scene of production; one twenty-four sheet—scene of production.

CUTS:—Two one-column electros (scene); two two-column electros (scene); one three-column electro (scene); one half-column (star); one one-column (star); one two-column (star).

LOBBY DISPLAY PHOTOGRAPHS:—Nine 8 x 10 black and white scenes and title card; seven 11 x 14 colored scenes and title card; two 22 x 28 horizontal "flats" colored scenes; one 22 x 28 star portrait, colored, upright.

ANNOUNCEMENT SLIDE, MUSIC CUE SHEET.

AD TALK

Marion Davies, the beautiful young Select star, whose previous picture, "Cecilia of the Pink Roses," firmly established her as one of the rising young actresses of the screen, makes her second appearance at the ——— theatre on ———of ——— week. This time her picture is an unusually elaborate, modernized version of Sardou's famous play "Diplomacy," which will be presented under the title of "The Burden of Proof." The locale has been shifted to Washington, D. C., and this time the spies are Germans plotting against the United States. The story of how innocent Elaine Ames is made to appear as a traitor before her husband through the machinations of a clever female German spy and how she is cleared by the counter-plotting of an even cleverer agent of the Department of Justice makes thoroughly exciting "seeing" as it is set down in "The Burden of Proof."

Miss Davies, admittedly one of the prettiest girls who ever set foot in a studio (and this is a big statement to make), carries the appealing role of the young wife and manages it nicely. L. Rogers Lytton gives a sterling portrayal of the Department of Justice agent while John Merkyl and Eloise Clement are seen respectively as the husband and the German spy.

Aside from the highly sustained drama presented in this picture, our patrons are assured of a number of novelties in the way of scenes. Director Julius Steger took his company both to Washington and Newport to secure the desired locations. There are many "shots" of the capital that are of particular interest these days while the exteriors taken at Newport are some of the most beautiful ever photographed.

THE STORY

Elaine Brooks is in love with Robert Ames, a young member of the United States Department of Justice. Her mother, once prominent in society, has lost her fortune and is obliged to write social gossip for a paper owned by a certain Dr. Kemp, in order to provide a home. Dr. Kemp is in reality in the employ of the German government. He commissions one of his aides, Mrs. Durand, to get close to Elaine Brooks and so meet Ames.

This Mrs. Durand succeeds in doing but if she expected to find Ames a loose tongue she is disappointed for he will have little to do with her. In a short time Elaine and Ames are married. Before they depart on their honeymoon, Mrs. Durand visits them. By an exceedingly clever trick she succeeds in securing important papers from Ames' desk, sending them to Dr. Kemp and establishing evidence that will point to Elaine as the guilty party if her work is discovered.

Before they go, Frank Raymond, a friend of Elaine's, returns from abroad. Before he sailed he had given Elaine a picture of himself. This Mrs. Durand had secured. And as a result, Raymond had fallen into the hands of German spies on his arrival in Europe and important government papers had been taken from him. He accuses Elaine of being a traitor. So when the next minute Ames discovers the loss of his documents he is also convinced that she is the guilty party.

It remains for George Blair, one of the heads of the Department of Justice, to solve the problem and at the same time restore the domestic happiness of Ames and his wife. Following a careful plan he succeeds in trapping Mrs. Durand into a confession of her identity. She, Dr. Kemp and the other spies in the newspaper office are captured, Elaine's name is cleared and Ames asks her forgiveness.

CATCH LINES

Marion Davies, the blonde beauty of the screen, in her second Select picture.

A story of Washington diplomatic life of today, showing how the United States Department of Justice outwits a German plot and saves a young wife's good name.

A picture laid in the capital of the nation, the busiest and most important spot in the world at the present time.

(Continued on page 1920)

One, Two and Three-Column Coarse Screen Newspaper Cuts Are Supplied by Select on "The Burden of Proof"

"THE ATOM"—TRIANGLE

Pauline Starke in a "Just Average" Subject

THE regular old stuff where the young boarding house waitress idolizes her hero, the leading man in a stock company, forms the basis of this entertainment. It contains no situations that will make anybody go wild over it. You may class it just as an average program picture which you can use to fill some vacant spot in the week's bill in lack of a better one.

It is a clean offering which you may let slide through without saying much about it. Save the money to advertise the next one.—Released Sept. 15.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Jenny.....Pauline Starke
Montague Booth.....Harry Mestayer
Belle Hathaway.....Belle Bennett
Miss Miggs.....Ruth Handforth
Oldson.....Chas Force
Ethelbert.....Lincoln Stedman
Benson.....Gene Burr
Jerry.....Tom Buckingham

By Catherine Carr.
Directed by William Dowlan.
Photographed by Elgin Leslie.

THE STORY

Little Jenny, a slavey in a theatrical boarding-house, lives only to worship Montague Booth, one of the patrons of the place and a second-rate actor in a second-rate stock company. The haughty Booth, however, has little use for her, but even this attitude which he takes toward her places him still higher on the pedestal of her admiration.

Then comes the night of nights for Jenny. After much hording and self-sacrifice she has managed to save the price of a ticket, and when the curtain goes up on the evening performance Jenny is in the audience. But during the performance fire breaks out. In the panic every one forgets the hero of the stage, Montague Booth, and it is Jenny who makes his escape possible. But the flames have left their marks on the actor, and, scarred for life, he is of no further use on the boards.

So every one deserts him, including his old sweetheart, Belle Hathaway. That is, every one except Jenny. When he attempts to commit suicide she saves him, and then Booth begins to realize the worth of his little admirer. The landlady, believing Jenny has compromised herself by her constant attention toward the actor sends them both away.

An old friend of Booth's, Oldson by name, maker of "Oldson's Death-Defying Pellets," offers him a canvas-topped wagon and an opportunity to go out on the road selling this patent medicine. Booth accepts, and with Jenny sets out across the continent. They make a success of the scheme, but when they reach the West Jenny is taken desperately ill. Booth cares for her tenderly, and, believing the traveling life is too hard on her, takes up a claim as a homesteader.

But it is not until Belle Hathaway, hearing of his prosperity, comes to him in an attempt to attract him again, that Booth awakes to her full worth. He turns his back on Belle, and takes the faithful little Jenny to his heart.

AD TALK

Next week the ———— theatre will again present the versatile little Triangle star, Pauline Starke, in a picture entitled "The Atom." Patrons of the house well know her work, and we feel sure that in this, her latest picture, they will be more than pleased, as it is without doubt one of the best of her career.

She has the role of a little slavey in a theatrical rooming house. She is the drudge, the unprivileged one of the lot. Whatever she does she does under orders—with the exception of one thing. This one thing she does to her heart's content, for there is no one that can dictate the heart's affections. And so the slavey goes on loving a second-rate actor, Montague Booth, despite the fact that this fellow never even so much as awards her a smile.

How these two are brought together and how finally the actor, deserted by his friends and admirers of the footlights learns to love her, is a sweet and simple story told with consummate skill and charm. It was written by Catherine Carr, one of the better known writers of the screen, and she provided Miss Starke with innumerable opportunities to display those charming expressions which are the possession of no other actress.

Miss Starke numbers among her support Harry Mestayer, Belle Bennett and Gene Burr. The production was in charge of William Dowlan, a capable director. This picture is scheduled to be shown on the screen of the ———— theatre on ———— of ———— week.

CATCH LINES

She Was Only an Atom—a Kitchen Drudge; He Was Her Idol—a Stage Favorite. But Love Found the Way to Unite Them.

If the Man You Loved Considered You a Nobody—Would You Stick by Him When Misfortune Came and All Others Deserted Him?

The Tender Romance of a Boarding-House Slavey Who Loved a Stage Favorite.

She Worshipped Him; He Didn't Even Give Her a Thought. But Fate Weaved a Bond of Love Through His Misfortunes and Her Devotion.

Pauline Starke in a Part That You'll "Just Love." A Love Story of Theatrical Life and "The Atom" Who Worshipped on the Edges.

The Tears and Joys of Stage Life—The Pathos and Love of a Boarding-House Drudge—Molded Into an Appealing Love Story.

ADVERTISING AIDS

POSTERS:—One, three and six sheets, one style of each showing scene from production. Price, 10 cents per sheet.
NEWSPAPER CUTS AND MATS:—One and two-column cuts and mats. Single-column cuts at 20 cents each and double-column cuts at 40 cents each.
PHOTOS FOR LOBBY DISPLAY:—11 x 14 (30 cents each); 22 x 28 (50 cents each), and tinted photos of star and scenes from production (70 cents each).
SLIDES, price 10 cents each.
PRESS SHEETS furnished at all of the Triangle exchanges, free of charge.

SUGGESTIONS

If you are showing Triangle pictures regularly, Pauline Starke is naturally your best bet in this subject. She is given the sort of part that usually gets over with the fans in great style—that of a kitchen drudge, slaving her life away in a boarding house until love enters her soul. You can be fairly sure that they will like the part, so go to it and let them know that Pauline is the star.

For lobby display or other atmosphere advertising you have three points to play on; the theatrical side of the story; the boarding house angle, and the comedy relief in "Oldson's Death Defying Pellets." The latter, at first glance, offers a good opportunity, but be sure that you burlesque it very broadly, for the average patent medicine advertising is so very raw anyway that it would be easy to let people think that you are trying to sell them something or advertise something in the picture.

Harry Mestayer, the male lead, has played on Broadway and toured the country in legitimate productions. If he is remembered in your territory don't forget that element for the player of juvenile roles usually leaves behind him quite a number of fans who think he's "just adorable."

The fact that the medicine show lends some comedy relief to the picture should be taken into account in framing the balance of your programme.

"THE BURDEN OF PROOF"

(Continued from page 1919)

The United States Department of Justice never sleeps—see how a German plot against the United States is foiled and how the name of a young woman is saved because of its activity.

Marion Davies, musical comedy favorite of Broadway, in her second appearance in Select pictures.

SUGGESTIONS

If you cater to an intelligent audience mention the fact that "The Burden of Proof" is a modernized version of Victorien Sardou's "Diplomacy," a well and widely known play. Announce that the wonderful dramatic tension of the play has been carefully preserved in the film version.

Washington being the exceedingly active center of diplomatic life these days, don't fail to mention that many of the scenes were taken there. Another item of interest is that other scenes were filmed at Newport, one of the great centers of high society.

PAULINE STARKE WITH HARRY MESTAYER IN TRIANGLE PLAY "THE ATOM"

Two-Column Cuts Like the Above Can Be Used Both In Ads and for News Columns

"TO HIM THAT HATH"—WORLD

"Old Stuff," with Nothing New in Treatment

THE story is a conglomeration of every old situation that has, at some time or another, been put on the screen. It is a jumbled up affair to a bewildering degree. It attracts hardly any sympathy to any of the players. In fact, it tries hard to kill any traces that might arise in the mind of the spectator. It is a reincarnation of the 10-20-30 melodrama.

This feature is in six parts, but I would advise you strongly to leave out the sixth reel as, in the first place. it is just like another story placed after the ending, and in the second, it will remove so much more mirth provoking film waste. People will actually laugh at it.—Released Sept. 23.—Length, 6 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

David Aldrich.....Montagu Love
Philip Morton.....Reginald Carrington
Alexander Chambers.....George De Carlton
Henry Allen.....George Lessey
Tom Jenks.....Charles Jackson
Helen Chambers.....Gertrude McCoy
Kate Hoover.....Clio Ayres
Lilian Drew.....Marion Barney
James Hoover.....Edward Elkas
Dr. Franklin.....Dean Raymond
John Rogers.....Henry Hebert
Director of Mission.....Jack Ridgeway
Bill Avery.....Henry West
Blake.....John Sturgeon

Directed by Oscar Apfel.
Written by Leroy Scott.
Photographed by Alec Neilson.

THE STORY

David Aldrich (Montagu Love) is a struggling young author. His friend and benefactor, Philip Morton (Reginald Carrington), who had stolen a large sum of money intrusted to him by the East Side Mission, commits suicide, Aldrich assumes all the guilt because he realizes that if the fact be known all the noble work that his friend had done in behalf of the Mission would have been done in vain. David goes to the penitentiary for the crime. He is love with Helen Chambers (Gertrude McCoy), whose father is one of the directors of the mission.

Having served his term, David obtains a job in a hardware store, but does not hold it long before a detective recognizes him as an ex-convict and he is obliged to leave. Returning home, he discovers a young boy attempting to steal his overcoat. David takes a liking to the boy and tries to reform him. David is taken sick, and in order to obtain money to maintain the home the boy steals a hand-bag. The hand-bag belongs to Helen, the girl whom David loves.

Later the secret of David's sacrifice to preserve the good name of Morton is disclosed and he and Helen are united.

Montagu Love in "To Him That Hath," at the ——— theatre ——— of ——— week.

AD TALK

Montagu Love, one of World's most popular screen artists, is the featured player in "To Him That Hath," adapted from Leroy Scott's novel and produced under the direction of Oscar Apfel. Mr. Love has demonstrated by past performances before the camera that he can portray a character role with all the finesse of our best artists. You no doubt remember him for his excellent work in "The Cross Bearer," where he gives one of the most finished characterizations of a Cardinal.

Gertrude McCoy is Mr. Love's leading woman in this offering. Miss McCoy is a star in her own right, having been the featured player in the screen version of that famous musical comedy, "Madame Sherry." She will be remembered, also, by the millions for her work with the old Edison company when two and three reelers were features. Charles Jackson, the youngster who was seen as the younger Abraham Lincoln in the Lincoln Cycle series of pictures revealing incidents in the life of our ex-President. In addition to these names, many of the screen's best stock players are seen in important supporting roles.

You will think of O. Henry when you see this drama. It was not written by that author, but it resembles his work a good bit, for it tells of a philanthropic sort of a person who is poor in pocket but a real man.

CATCH LINES

Montagu Love in story of East Sider who sacrifices all to preserve the good name of a friend.

World's star character actor in heart interest story of New York's East Side.

Screen version of one of the "best sellers," written by Leroy Scott—Montagu Love in the featured role.

Gertrude McCoy, long a favorite on the screen, leading woman for Montagu Love in "To Him That Hath."

A real, true-to-life story of New York with a real man as the hero.

ADVERTISING AIDS

CUTS AND MATS:—Cuts and mats for newspaper advertising have been prepared by World Film in one and two columns, showing tense moments from the scenes of production and the star. Matrices of these cuts are available, free of charge, at all World Film exchanges. Electros are available at a reasonable cost.

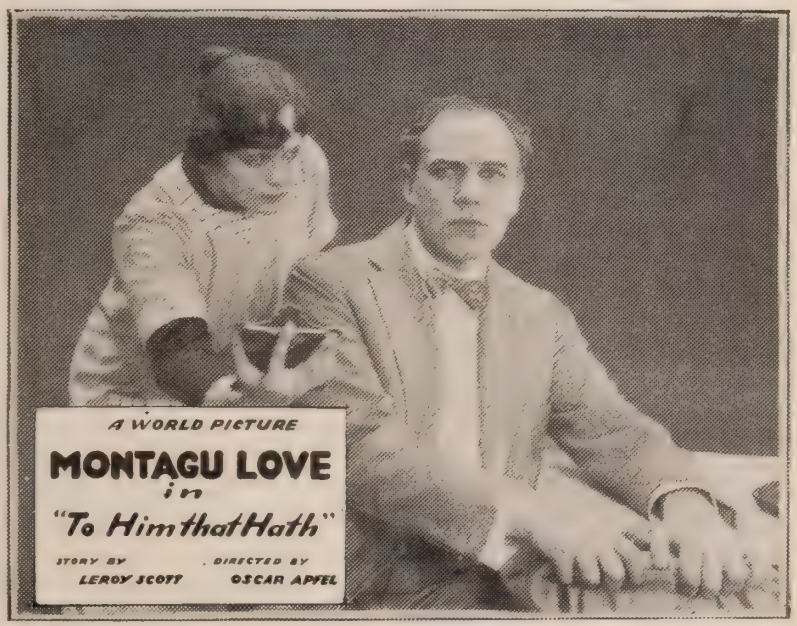
One and two-column type advertisements are suggested in the press sheet which has been prepared. These type ads give striking catchlines with name of theatre and date at bottom. Throw-aways have also been suggested with catchy phrases appearing on front and back. Two and three column cuts and mats have been prepared, the matrices free of charge. The two column cut shows star and boy whom he befriends. The three-column cuts show scenes from production with star and members of supporting cast.

SLIDES:—Slides "coming" and "current" are available at all World exchanges at a nominal cost.

SUGGESTIONS

Montagu Love, the star of this attraction, is one of the screen's most popular character actors. In advertising the feature, his name should be given all prominence. In this connection it might be well for the exhibitor to mention that he was star in the World production, "The Cross Bearer." His leading woman, Gertrude McCoy, is also favorably known, having been on the screen in the capacity of a star for several years. The cast in general is one that contains names that are familiar with all picture-goers.

In your type advertising, give prominence to the fact that the story is from the pen of a well-known novelist and that its theme treats of a subject that has heart interest, pathos and a true-to-life atmosphere. Bring out the fact that it tells of East Side New York. It is a story of sacrifice by one man for another and his redemption of a young boy who is going the downward path.



There is a good bit of the melodramatic element in this offering. This should be mentioned, because the average audience prefers a melodramatic offering. This is especially true if you cater to the working class.

As World's production of "Rasputin" was one of the hits of the last year in many sections, it would be well to link up Montagu Love's work in that special with this production.

REPRINTS

ARRANGEMENTS Have Been Completed by Which Motion Picture News Will Be Able to Furnish Reprints of pages in The Complete Plan Book to Manufacturers at Actual Cost.

They Make a Most Valuable Aid to Every Exhibitor Booking Your Picture.

One and Two-Column Cuts Like the Above Are Available on World Releases

"THE MARRIAGE RING"—PARAMOUNT

"Just Another Spy Drama," Is the Verdict

TO a critical audience this picture will be considered just five thousand feet of film. It is too absurd to be taken seriously. The first question a sane spectator will ask himself will be, "Why did the heroine, an American girl, stand the brutal ways of her husband, a German?" The logical thing for her to have done was to have delivered him over to the authorities and placed him where he could do no more harm. This question will haunt the picturegoer all the way through.

There are several other inconsistencies in the story, all of which hurt the picture.

Of course there will be a number who will like it. They are too good patriots to reject or consider unworthy anything that tends to bare the nature within of the German spy. However, the public is overfed with spy pictures, not of the good and consistent kind, of course. It may have a reaction if producers are not careful.

The picture is clean.—Released Aug. 26.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Anne Mertons.....Enid Bennett
Rodney Heathe, a Sugar Planter.....Jack Holt
Hugo Metrons, Anne's Husband..Robert McKim
Aho, a Hawaiian Girl.....Maude George
Koske, a Hun Spy Agent....Charles K. French
Mrs. Heathe, Rodney's Mother.....Lydia Knott Author: John Lynch.
Director: Fred Niblo.
Supervision of Thomas H. Ince.
Photographer: John S. Stumar.

THE STORY

Anne, a young woman of refinement is married to a gambler and crook, Hugo Mertons. It is his desire to leave San Francisco and journey to the Hawaiian Islands, there to better ply his trade. In order to obtain funds sufficient to pay for the transportation he picks out a man he believes to be a "sucker" and invites him to his apartment for a game of cards. Mertons cheats clumsily and is caught. As a result of the stranger's complaint the Mertons are evicted from their apartment.

Penniless, Mertons has the audacity to demand that his wife secures the passage money—by any means whatsoever. She resents his insult and he threatens her with a pistol. Snatching it from him she struggles with him and the weapon is discharged. Mertons drops, apparently dead. In a panic she flees to the docks and boards a steamer. It is bound for Honolulu. On board she meets Rodney Heathe, a wealthy sugar planter and his mother. Mrs. Heathe invites the girl to visit their plantation. Anne accepts and remains in this home for some time. She and Rodney grow to love each other deeply.

Meanwhile Mertons, recovered, arrives. He is now the tool of Koske, a German spy who is endeavoring to burn all the sugar fields of the islands. Mertons discovers Anne and demands that she come back to him. Desperate, the girl obeys. In his hut she overhears the plot to destroy the sugar plantations. When Mertons and Koske departs on their dastardly mission, Anne hurries to the Heathe plantation to give warning. The fire has already been started. With the aid of natives Anne extinguishes it. Half suffocated by smoke, she is rescued by Heathe.

A turn of the wind proves fatal to Mertons. He is mortally burned and as he staggers toward Anne and Heathe intending to tell her secret he falls dead.

AD TALK

Enid Bennett, the charming young star of Paramount pictures, will again appear on the screen of the ———— theatre next ———— when "The Marriage Ring" is first revealed to people of this city. Her latest photoplay is said to be a story of dramatic forcefulness with a setting that varies from the city of San Francisco to the broad sugar plantations of Honolulu. Miss Bennett appears at her exquisite best in this picture which, in the role of Anne Mertons, offers her part replete with opportunities for her to display those varied abilities that have made her a star in the short while she has appeared on the screen.

Special interest is attached to "The Marriage Ring" because it was directed by Fred Niblo, a well-known actor of the speaking stage who recently became the star's husband. This is Mr. Niblo's first work at directing, though, in truth, no one would know it. It will be remembered that in Miss Bennett's last picture he appeared as her leading man. In this work he became thoroughly acquainted with the details of picture production and this knowledge, combined with his skill, gathered from long years as an actor, well qualified him for his present position. But even previous to his work before the camera, Mr. Niblo worked "around" it, learning all the directorial kinks from Thomas H. Ince and his staff of directors. It is this Ince method of training that has turned out so many good directors in the past.

Miss Bennett is supported by a well-known cast. Jack Holt, one of the most popular leading men in the art, plays opposite her. Robert McKim, an equally well-known actor, is the heavy, while Maude George, Charles K. French and Lydia Knott, players of reputation in the Ince stock company, appear in other important roles.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet.
PHOTOS:—Eight 8 x 10 black and white; eight 11 x 14 sepia; one 22 x 28 sepia; 8 x 10 photos of star.
CUTS AND MATS OF PRODUCTION:—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column.
STOCK CUTS AND MATS OF STAR:—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column.
ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—Electros and mats.
SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE SHEET.

CATCH LINES

He sought to use his wife as a pawn in a gambling game but found that there are some limits to a woman's faith.

He gambled for wealth and failed; she for love and succeeded.

The frustration of a German spy plot to burn the cane fields of Hawaii.

Enid Bennett's latest photoplay success, directed by her husband, Fred Niblo.

She was his aid in fleecing innocent friends at cards until she discovered the shamefulness of such an existence.

A story that leads from the underworld of San Francisco to the sunny cane fields of the Hawaiian Islands.

SUGGESTIONS

Suggestions for stories will be found in the Ad-Talk in the fact that the picture was directed by Miss Bennett's husband, Fred Niblo. The press sheet provided mentions this fact in many of the prepared stories. It is a good piece of information to play up.

If your audience is not as yet fed up on pictures of the German spy, treat "The Marriage Ring" in this light. Headlines for this type of advertising are contained in the "Catch Lines."

Probably, however, your audience has seen much of this type of play. If such is the case dwell on the fact that the story concerns a pretty woman unhappily married to a gambler and how she breaks away from him and finds real love in the southern islands.

It might be well to state that much of the action takes place in the Hawaiian Islands and that the atmosphere is complete.

If lobby decorations are used the film immediately suggests a Hawaiian atmosphere, so decorate accordingly.

ALL IN ONE SPOT!

No More Does the Exhibitor Have to Spend Weary Hours Looking Up the Information He Needs on a Coming Attraction.

No More Does He Spend Fifteen Minutes Looking For the Review, Another Fifteen Seeking the Ad-Talk, and More Time to Find What Advertising Accessories Are Supplied.

It's All in One Spot Now—in The Complete Plan Book.

Everything he Needs is Here —and—

If he Doesn't Want to File His Entire Copy of Motion Picture News—

He Can File Just The Complete Plan Book.

The Complete Plan Book is Always Bound as A Separate Unit in Each Issue. By Lifting the Wire Staples Under the Back Cover He Can Remove The Complete Plan Book Intact.

Thus a Few Inches in His Desk Drawer Will Give Him a Ready Index to All Releases.

"HE COMES UP SMILING"—ARTCRAFT

"A Knockout"—And Then Some—Is "Doug's" Latest

THIS picture is a knockout. There is surprise after surprise in it as soon as it starts. And just about the time you think there is an end to unexpected situations another one is introduced. It is impossible to guess what is coming.

The picture is unlike anything in which he appeared in the past. In the chase of the bird he uses quite a few mirth provoking acrobatic stunts. The display of four different rooms in the same scene, with the action therein, is somewhat original. It will cause no little merriment.

The same rapid-fire action prevails throughout that has characterized all Fairbanks productions in the past.

It is a clean picture that will offer wholesale entertainment to all picture goers.—Released Sept. 15.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

The Watermelon, Jerry Martin ..... Douglas Fairbanks
Mike, a Hobo ..... Herbert Standing
Baron Bean, a Tramp ..... Bull Montana
Batchelor, a stock broker ..... Albert McQuarrie
Billy ..... Marjorie Daw
John Bartlett, her father ..... Frank Campeau
The General ..... Jay Dwiggins
Louise, his daughter ..... Kathleen Kirkham

Play by Byron Ongley and Emil Mytray.
Novel by Charles Sherman.
Published by Bobbs-Merrill Co.
Scenario by Frances Marion.
Directed by Allan Dwan.

THE STORY

As assistant cashier in a small town bank, Jerry Martin's chief duty was to look after the vice-president's canary bird. One day this feathered creature takes wing and sets out for the country and Jerry goes far in pursuit but is unable to retrieve the pet. A meeting with Mike, a hobo, however, marks the turning point in his career. He decides not to go back to the bank and instead joins the fraternity of workless wanderers. Baron Bean, another tramp, he subdues in a fistic encounter, with the result that the Baron takes up the duties of valet to Jerry. One day while Jerry swims in a lake, the Baron, peeved at this violation of hobo etiquette, makes off with his clothes so when he emerges Jerry is obliged to don the garments of one, Batchelor, a stock broker who has gone in for a swim while waiting for a new supply of automobile gas. Jerry takes possession of Batchelor's car and of Batchelor's name. In this manner he meets John Bartlett, who, unknown to Jerry, is really his sworn enemy in the stock market. But it is Bartlett's daughter, Billy, who interests Jerry more than stocks and bonds.

In the meantime, Batchelor has begun a campaign against Bartlett, all of which is a mystery to Jerry until he discovers the father of the girl he loves being forced to the wall. Then he renders first aid to the injured and begins, in the vernacular of the day, to sweep Batchelor off his feet. Bartlett, of course, is very much pleased and offers Jerry partnership which is accepted—the deal being consummated through the charming Billy. And then to make matters just about perfect, a detective from Jerry's old bank arrives on the scene—not to arrest him or anything like that—but to inform him that the vice-president has passed on leaving him his fortune because he was so good to the canary bird.

AD TALK

Douglas Fairbanks' regular visit to the screen of the ———— theatre will begin next ———— and, as usual, the management has prevailed upon him to remain for the entire week.

This time the excellent comedian is to be seen in a screen version of the play in which he appeared on the stage, "He Comes Up Smiling," which has been made into an ideal photoplay. It might suffice to say that it offers the star opportunities galore for stunts, for comedy and for a smattering of romance, in fact, this much DOES suffice, but for the benefit of those who wish to know more, a word regarding the play will not be amiss.

This was produced with great success on the stage of the Liberty theatre in New York City back in 1914 with the present star in the featured role. The play was dramatized from a novel by Charles Sherman and after a long run at the Liberty went on the road to repeated successes. Its story concerns a young bank cashier who turns hobo and then millionaire broker at which position he meets his fate in the shape of the pretty daughter of his supposed rival in the stock market.

Of course the real broker puts in an appearance and attempts to ruin the girl's father but, but—well what are heroes for anyway? And to tell the rousing climax of "He Comes Up Smiling" would be as bad taste as to peep at the final page of a book before the first.

Fairbanks again has the very sweet and pretty Marjorie Daw as his leading woman while Frank Campeau and Herbert Standing, well known and capable actors, both have important parts. Another is Bull Montana, he of the thick neck and jagged ears who has done yeoman service with the Fairbanks company in the past. Allan Dwan produced the picture from a scenario prepared by Frances Marion. Don't forget the date, ————.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet; one star stock 24-sheet; rotogravure one-sheet.
All paper shows the star in some characteristic pose, fully suggestive of the humorous style of picture this is.
PHOTOS:—Eight 8 x 10 black and white; eight 11 x 12 sepia; one 22 x 28 sepia; 8 x 10 photos of star.
CUTS AND MATS ON PRODUCTION:—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column.
CUTS AND MATS OF STAR:—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column.
SERIES OF ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—Mats.

CATCH LINES

The Only Fairbanks in a Typical Fairbanks Picture—What More Need Be Said?

"Doug" was Given Charge of a Canary—The Canary Flew Away and "Doug" Went After Him—Then, Oh, Boy, What Action!

A Bing, Bang, Biff—Zip, Zippy—Laugh and Roar Kind of Photoplay that Makes the Blues Turn Rosy.

"Doug" Out on the Open Highway! "Doug" As a Hobo Called "Watermelon"—Action and Laughs Galore and a Love Story Through It All.

A Picture Adaptation of Douglas Fairbanks' Greatest Stage Success that Makes His Greatest Screen Success.

SUGGESTIONS

Exhibitors don't ask for much in the way of suggestions on a Douglas Fairbanks picture. The name Douglas Fairbanks is enough for them and enough for their patrons.

But in playing up the name of the star in this picture don't forget the title of the production. "He Comes Up Smiling" is a money title because it was among the most successful of the Fairbanks stage attractions and it also received considerable advertising later as a road attraction. And last of all, it's a money title because it's so typically Fairbanks. "He Comes Up Smiling," we heard a twelve-year-old youngster say outside the Rivoli in New York, "sure that's right, Fairbanks always comes up smiling."

Aside from that, be sure to let them know that it is a real American story—with the sort of characters and the sort of incidents that we can imagine seeing anywhere in our own section.

We wouldn't let anyone talk us into lobby displays or advertising that uses the bird-cage idea as its basis, as on the cut shown on this page. Bird-cages suggest something dainty—and a patron is looking for action and laughs in a Fairbanks picture—not sweet, dainty romance. Bang on the wild automobile ride through the mountains, Fairbanks' leap ten feet across a creek, and his other stunts.

Here is one week when you don't want any other comedy on the bill. It will look cheap alongside "He Comes Up Smiling." Let a news weekly or scenic fill out the program.

"YOUR FIGHTING NAVY"

(Continued from page 1912)

Authorized pictures of "Your Fighting Navy" made for the Educational Films Corporation with the approval of the U. S. Navy Department. Edited by Lieutenant Henry Reuterdahl, the famous marine artist and writer.

Do you want to know what the Smoke Screen looks like? The Whitehead torpedo? The impact of a shell? The waterspots raised by big guns? The methods of subduing and catching the Hun submarines? You can get this (and a myriad other thrills) in "Your Fighting Navy."

ADVERTISING AIDS

POSTERS:—One, three, six and twenty-four sheets in colors, some of them from designs of the most celebrated artists, loaned by the Navy Department.
NEWSPAPER CUTS:—One, two, three and four-column cuts, 65-screen and standard sizes, so that any newspaper can handle them. Also a good selection of fine-screen cuts suitable for your weekly society journal or local monthly magazine.
DISPLAY ADS:—Clever ad-copy that your newspaper can set up or ready-to-insert ad cuts in various sizes are available through the Educational Film Corporation. A sample of one of these is shown in the adjoining columns.
PRESS MATTER:—Educational Film Corporation will supply you with some real good press stories to use on extended runs.
MATS:—For the convenience of exhibitors, mats are being struck off of all the newspaper and display ad cuts. Be sure to specify in your order whether you desire mats or cuts.

SUGGESTIONS

The officers and non-commissioned personnel of the Navy will be glad to co-operate with you on this. Managers of theatres in coast cities should get in touch with the commandant of the Naval Station and secure his permission to invite a detail of bluejackets. If possible, there should be a number of Navy musicians in the detail, anyhow a pair of buglers. The parade of the men through the streets and perhaps a bit of music in front of the playhouse will attract the crowds and set everybody to talking. If there is no naval station at or near your town, the local Navy recruiting office will aid you. And if that be lacking, go after the Navy veterans and get their co-operation.

Patriotic decorations, navel music, and possibly a short address between shows by a Navy expert are suggested to heighten the effect of the performance.

Any number of paying outdoor novelties will suggest themselves to the live exhibitor. One of the easiest and least expensive of these is an automobile rigged up in battleship, torpedo boat or submarine fashion, and carrying on the sides banners announcing the attraction. From the machine, heralds and other matter advertising the play can be distributed by your advertising agent and his assistants.

In brief, tie up the attraction with the "psychology of the crowd." They want this sort of stuff now, they have been taught to crave it by the newspapers and magazines. Let them know in a forceful way that you have what they desire, and the battle's won.

In and Out of West Coast Studios

By J. C. Jessen

Universal Newsettes

Not a single new production was commenced at Universal City this week, all of the producing units being busy with the filming of subject or preparation of scripts for new photoplays.

Ben Wilson, director, and Juanita Hansen, leading woman of the "Brass Bullet" serial, now that this has been completed, have been granted a month's vacation, as has also Harry Carey. The latter is spending his time on his ranch near Saugus, Cal.

Ida May Park has completed the filming of "The Vanity Pool," which has an all-star cast headed by Mary MacLaren, and Paul Powell has completed the filming of "One Bright Idea," which stars Carmel Meyer.

The Mae Murray-Robert Leonard Company continues working at Lake Tahoe on "Little Lady Bo-Peep," and William Wolbert with the Monroe Salisbury Company has spent the week at Balboa Beach filming exteriors for "Breathes There a Man."

Colin Campbell and company, which includes Marie Walcamp in a featured role, is back from two weeks spent for exteriors in the Redwood district for scenes of "In the Carquinez Woods," adapted from the Brete Hart story.

Lois Weber has picked a very excellent cast for her next production now in the making at her Santa Monica Boulevard studio. The picture at present is titled "Home," and shows the attempts of the daughter of a poor family to handle the "400." In the end she is brought to realize there is no place like home. Mildred Harris is to be the featured player, and the supporting cast will include Frank Elliot, John Cossar, Clarissa Selwynn, Al Ray, Lydia Knot, Beatrice Yoder, and others.

Live Triangle Items

A material change is to be made at the Culver City studios of the Triangle Film Corporation, it became known this week, when the information was given out by G. B. Garrison, who is on the coast with R. W. Lynch, vice president of the Triangle Film Corporation. The statement made was that the Triangle program will be reduced to one subject per week instead of two each week as heretofore. This is in accordance with new arrangements, negotiations for which were completed in New York recently.

No statement will be made by the acting manager of production, O. E. Sellers, at the producing plant, but from an unauthentic source it was learned that four directors and companies would be retained for the making of five-reel subjects for the Triangle program, and that three, and possible four other companies would continue to make feature subjects which would be disposed of through other channels than the Triangle distributing corporation exchanges. Taylor Holmes, Olive Thomas and Alma Rubens are to be starred in the special subjects not made for the program. At the present time there are nine directors working at the Triangle plant, and this number it is understood will be reduced to seven.

The reduction in the number of releases on the Triangle program becomes effective with the week of Sunday, September 15.

The Spanish life story, selected for Olive Thomas, titled "Carmen Ariza," is not to be produced at once, but the plans provide that another story now in preparation will be made in films with this star first.

Taylor Holmes and company have begun work on an adaptation from "When the High-Brow Joined the Ranks," which has been titled "Success." Lawrence C. Windom is directing this picture. The script provides that many scenes shall be made at the Triangle ranch along the shore of the Pacific Ocean near Santa Monica.

William Dowland is directing Alma Rubens in "Marriage," which is adapted from the story by Cosmos Hamilton. The other players of the cast have not been named.

With Pathe Players

Baby Marie Osborne is next to play a patriotic role in a five-reel Pathe subject to be titled "The Sawdust Doll." The story is to be produced by William Bertram from an original scenario by Agnes Johnson, and pertains to a small girl who learns of a plot to destroy a United States troop train on which her father is starting on his trip "over there." She flags the train by setting fire to her doll and waving it frantically before the eyes of the engineer. Jack Connelly, Claire DuBrey, William Quinn and Little Sunshine Sammy appear in this subject.

Word received at the studio advises that W. A. S. Douglas, former general manager of the studios, is now at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., at the training station for Tank service "over there." Jack Halloway, who enlisted in this service at the same time as Douglas, was rejected as physically unfit, and has since enlisted in the Merchant Marine Navigation school and entered for training. Walter MacNamara, another Diando man to enlist in this service, was also rejected as physically unfit.

Fox Studio Doings

With the completion of the subject on which he is now working, "The Man of Power," William Farnum will leave for New York, where he expects to make the next several subjects for the William Fox organization. This sudden transfer to the east is at the studio accredited to the illness of Mrs. Farnum, who remained in New York when Mr. Farnum came west several months ago. This company, which is being directed by Frank Lloyd, spent several days going to and from San Francisco, returning to the studio the latter part of last week. A number of exterior scenes have been made there, and on Friday the company will go to Catalina, where the remainder of this picture will be filmed. Louise Lovely, who was specially engaged, is playing the lead opposite Mr. Farnum in "The Man of Power."

No definite arrangements have been made with regard to Mr. Lloyd, who has been directing Mr. Farnum since he came west in the spring. It is very probable, however, Mr. Lloyd will remain on the coast, and here direct the making of several all-star productions.

Gladys Brockwell company being directed by E. J. LeSaint, is this week filming exterior gypsy scenes in the vicinity of Seven Oaks, Cal., for the subject at present known as "Love's Pilgrimate."

The Farnum company has filmed a propaganda subject for the Government, which runs between three and four hundred feet, which was originally titled "What Are You Going to Do With Your Dollar?" The film has been completed and sent east for the Government to have prints made so it may be used during the fourth Liberty Loan.

Vitagraph News Bits

Director David Smith began the production of Bessie Love's first feature picture this week with the Vitagraph Company at the latter's Hollywood studio. The story, as has been announced, is "The Dawn of Understanding," and is taken from Bret Harte's novel entitled "The Judgment of Bolinas Plaint." Bessie's first week of work was spent in a ranch yard at Sunland.

A disheveled, tired-out looking group drove into the Vitagraph lot at 7:45 one morning of the past week. It was at the moment when Studio Manager W. S. Smith arrived. Looking from his window he saw the two car-loads of people alight. They were the Bill Duncan Company.

Montgomery and Rock Big V. Special Vitagraph Company have been expected back from Catalina "any day now," according to Studio Manager W. S. Smith, who expects this comedy company to bring back with it one of the swiftest, thrilliest Big V two-reelers that has been made to date. In fact, Director R. H. McCray promised this result as his comedy company waved its last good-bye at everybody left on the Vitagraph lot.

It's being rather a mystery to the other studios how the Vitagraph dance of September 7, for the benefit of the base hospital to be founded by the Motion Picture War Service Association, could promise free refreshments including a buffet supper. Yet 'tis so. The secret of the whole matter was that so vigilantly had the Vitagraph committee worked for the success of its dance that it secured the donation of ice-cream, food and soft drinks. And these were served gratis, just by way of making this party a little different from other benefit parties.

Bessie and Brownie, Al Jennings' two brown bears, seem to have attached themselves permanently to Lawrence Semon's Big V Comedy. Semon himself seems to serve as a particular attraction to the bears. And Mr. Semon is in doubt as to whether it is his make-up or his personality which attracts them.

Blanche Payson, the six-foot-three giantess, has an important part in the Semon Special Big V Comedy in which the bears are also featured.

The F. P.-Lasky Studio

The C. B. deMille Company filming "The Squaw Man," has been working at Tajone Ranch, about sixty miles north of Los Angeles, where a complete ranch and other settings have been built. On one day the entire company, including forty horsemen, were commandeered by a genuine sheriff in the vicinity, and took part in an actual man hunt to run down an Indian boy who had killed two women and a man. The 19-year-old lad was apprehended. Another thrill was given the company when C. B. deMille's automobile skidded on a wet clay mountain road and partially slipped over an embankment, where it hung suspended until another car towed it back to the road. It was a narrow escape for the Famous Player-Lasky director general, for the cliff overlooked a sheer drop of 150 feet, which had been upholstered with boulders and sagebrush.

Jeanie MacPherson has returned to the studio for work after a prolonged vacation, necessitated by a nervous breakdown caused by the very zealous manner in which she worked on matters pertaining to the Motion Picture War Service Association. Miss MacPherson is in charge of the correspondence department which has to do with writing to soldiers and sailors formerly affiliated with the film industry in the west. She took a great interest in the parade recently staged by the War Association.

Ethel Clayton has completed work in the "Mystery Girl," under the direction of C. B. deMille, and will next be directed by Chet Withey, who was recently transferred to the coast from the eastern studio, where he directed Billie Burke. Withey is working with the scenario department in the operation of the story for this play.

Vivian Martin, with Niles Welsh as leading man, is playing under the direction of George Melford in an original story by Edith Kennedy.

Here and There

Virtually every member of the cast of Julian Eltinge's new picture, "Over the Rhine," has been selected, and work on the production is progressing satisfactorily, it is announced. Those named in the cast are Julian Eltinge with Alma Francis, his leading lady. In the supporting cast will be William Clifford, Mrs. S. Knott, Fred Heck and Virginia Rappe.

The L-Ko lot is one of the busiest places of Los Angeles Filmdom. Anthony W. Caldeway has recently been placed in charge of the scenario department, after considerable experience at the Sennett and American studios, has been inaugurated which provides that all comedies shall have a story around which the gags and funny situations are worked in. At the present time there are four companies at work.

Vin Moore with Alice Howell and Hughie Mack, has just filmed "A Liberty Cabbage Queen," and is now at work on "Behind the Front," with the same players. Harry Gribbon, Merta Sterling, Mae Emory, Billy Armstrong are appearing in "The Chef." Noel Smith has another organization composed of Jack Henderson, Charles Larkin and Eddie Barry, with Bobby Richards and Helen Lynch in a comedy to be known as "Starting Their Finish." Charles Parrot is directing "Oh, What a Nerve," with Babe Hardy and Peggy Prevost.

Hollywood Hookum

SEPT. 14, 1918 NEWS MORE NEWS

Not so warm.

Earle Williams' going East.

Mickey Neilan's coming West.

Jesse Lasky is in town again.

Charley Fuhr has gone fishing.

Clara Kimball Young's coming West.

Mary Pickford is still looking for work.

Bob Brunton is home from the other Broadway.

U. City is ultra quiet this week. Not a new.

Bill Hart is coming forth in a dress suit—yes, right out on the screen.

Before beginning a new serial, Bill Duncan found it convenient to have a regular hair cut.

If Triangle doesn't change the title, Taylor Holmes will be twenty-four sheeted internationally in "Success."

Ford Sterling has rented space in a local safety deposit vault, that he may keep the moths out of his German beard of crepe hair.

Another rumor was turned loose this week linking up H. O. Davis with the Triangle, but HOOKUM never even caught up with the rumor.

Jack Mulhall has moved his boxes of powder and sticks of grease paint to the Lasky Studio, and will be about there for the next six months.

Two cameramen at the Morosco Studio, Dell Andrews and James Van Trees, are growing mustaches, and Conny Talmadge presented each with a mustache cup.

Dorothy Dalton is said to be taking lessons in aviation, and it would not be surprising to hear that she had even enlisted for "over there" service.

A Los Angeles paper charges the California moon of Lake Tahoe being too much for Mae Murray and Robert Leonard, and intimates that an engagement is about to be announced.

Walter MacNamara tried to enlist in the Tank service, but the physical examiner would not agree with him. Walter claims he went in like a limousine, but came out like a Ford.

Now that Alma Reubens has admitted she was secretly married recently to Franklyn Farnum by filing suit for divorce, she is going to play in a subject for Triangle titled "Marriage."

Bill Desmond put his spurs and six-shooter away in vaseline this week so he could cavort about before the camera in regular clothes for a short spell at least. Yes, it's going to be a modern drama.

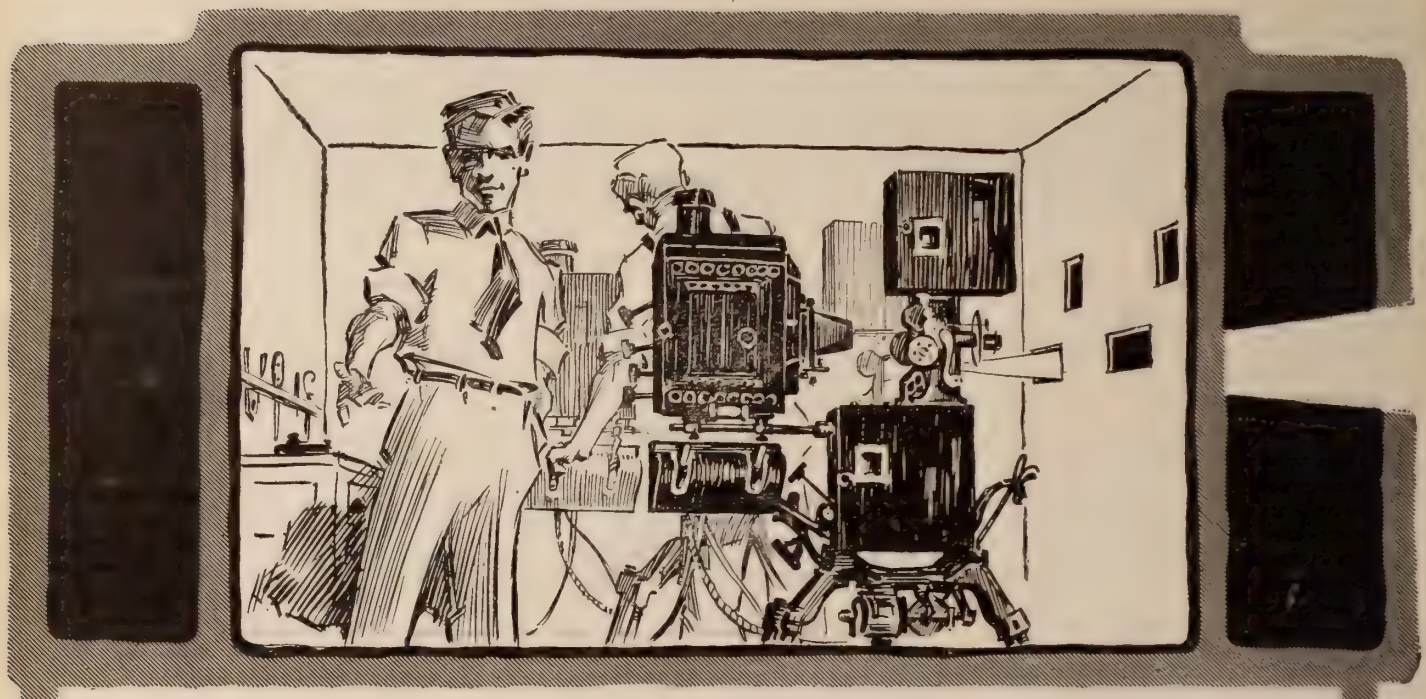
Vacation trips are still being made by many producing units, and it is interesting to note that a location is always picked near a very good hotel, camping out not being popular with our set.

Bert Lennon in a contest of wits, was this week awarded the belt for being the most consistent and persistent purveyor of untruths of the colony's P. A. aggregation. Aside from that everybody voted him a perfect gentleman.

Noah Beery, who is doing Tabywana, the aged Indian in "The Squaw Man," was thrown from a horse in a fast ride, and C. B. de Mille had the cameraman keep right on so he would have another freak piece of film to add to his collection.

There has been a lot said in our town this week about unions and sich, many of the remarks being made with gestures. Yes, sir, fists were even waved, and slammed against the highly-polished furniture that muss up the offices of many of our film magnets.

C. B. de Mille has the habit of instructing his cameraman to keep on shooting when a player pulls a bone-head, or the scene is not enacted as rehearsed. These pieces of film he adds to a private collection. One shows Fannie Ward falling off a bridge in Venice. Another has Dusty Farnum missing, the heroine who falls into the icy waters of Bear Lake Unfortunately C. B. did not have a camera trained on him when the automobile skidded and almost went off a cliff of a mountain road, therefore his collection of freak acts can never be referred to as complete.



Bill Keefe, who is the personal representative of D. G., has a qualification heretofore undreamed of. He can tell all about you by looking at your handwriting, and HOOKUM believing this is a wonderful attainment, has engaged Keefe to read all hand-written manuscripts that get by the waste basket in the hope that some talented scenario writer may be discovered to relieve conditions at the various places of industry in our midst. (If you want Mr. Keefe to tell you all about yourself, send a specimen of handwriting to HOOKUM. If private answers are wanted, un-used paper and stamped self-addressed envelope must be enclosed.)

We Can Pay Attractive Prices for Old Moving Picture Films in Reels or Scrap

PETER LEONARDIS & SONS

132 Nassau St., New York City 55 to 59 River St., Newark, N. J.

Complete Plan Book in this Section File it for Reference

Projectionist Ray
Says:

" Give me a Power's Cameragraph and a good film subject and I'll show you the best cure for the blues, ever.

" I've been using this recipe for a great many years and as long as I'm ' above the green ' I'll stick to it.

" The Projectionist is the man behind the gun; but unless the gun is all there, the best ammunition in the world can't make a bull's eye; just as the best film never scores a ' hit ' without the right Projector to ' shoot it.'

" With Power's I always hit the bull's eye of public approval and never fail to ' send 'em away with a smile.' WHY? Because

"IT PUTS THE PICTURE ON THE SCREEN"

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY
INCORPORATED

Pioneers of Projection

90 Gold Street, New York, N.Y.

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW YORK

CENTRAL STATES

NEW YORK OFFICE, 729 Seventh Avenue CHICAGO REPRESENTATIVE, 220 So. State Street

Indianapolis Mayor Helps Advertise "Salome"

MAYOR JEWETT, of Indianapolis, announced this week that he will view the first production of "Salome," a Theda Bara film, at English's Sunday, and if it is on the same order as other Bara films will order it discontinued.

"If the photoplay 'Salome' is like former pictures in which Theda Bara has appeared it will not be shown here," the Mayor said.

Portions of "Cleopatra," another Bara film, were deleted by order of the Mayor when it was shown here some time ago.

Henry K. Burton, general representative of Burton & Olson, lessees of English's, said the producers of "Salome" had assured him that it contained no objectionable scenes.

"Mayor Jewett is perfectly right in his attitude toward unclean films," Mr. Burton declared. "He talked with me over the telephone about the picture and expressed himself quite frankly. However, we were thoroughly impressed before 'Salome' was booked that it is in nowise salacious. After the Mayor talked with me I communicated with the Fox Film Corporation offices and was again assured that there is nothing that could possibly be offensive in the production, and unless we had been given such an assurance we would have canceled the picture ourselves."

Elgin Houses Feel Effect of "Gasless Sunday"

CONTRARY to expectation, Sunday, September 1, with its gas-buggyless existence that confined mankind in search of entertainment of local street car limits, city moving picture houses report the day the deadest for business in months. Managers are at a loss to account for it, but cease worrying about it in retrospect of the land-office business of Labor Day. Combination of a holiday, "nothing doing" locally and hard rain all day, drove the bored folks out from their two days' rest at home to the picture shows. All houses showed extra good programs and catered to large audiences.

"Pershing's Crusaders" in Elgin

THE widely advertised war films feature, "Pershing's Crusaders," has been announced as one of the features of the Grand, in Elgin, Ill., for September. The production was billed to play the Grand September 13 and 14.

Offerings of the earlier week included: Clara Kimball Young in "The Claw," Constance Talmadge in "The Lesson," Jack Pickford in "Huck and Tom," the sixth chapter Allied War Review and the Pathe Weekly.

"Vigilantes" Opens at Playhouse in Chicago

"THE VIGILANTES," described as a stirring story of California and the golden days of '49, in seven reels, opened at the Playhouse, in Chicago, on September 1, and was accorded a warm welcome. The picture was produced by the Bear State Film Company, and was directed by Henry Kabierske. August Schurick handled the photography. The Playhouse run is under the personal direction of Lewis J. Hampton and C. Sanford Harrison, who spared no expense to give the feature, upon the occasion of its first presentation, suitable surroundings.

As stated above, the production is built around California gold and the days of '49. The plot has been characterized as notable for its simplicity, and the ease and smoothness with which it is revealed

The cast includes:

Katherine Crouch	Doretha Barrett
Mary Hampton	Gertrude Kabierske
Amose Fenton	Grant Churchill
"Rip" Speckman	Joe Ray
Don Erico Felipe	W. E. Parsons
His Mother	Vera Lewis
The Alcade	V. O. Whitehead
Robert Redmond	Edward Cecil
His Mother	Fanny Midgeley
His Sister	Ruth Hiatt
Bob Crouch	Sheldon Johnson

Griffith Picture Draws Attention in Dubuque

ONE of the biggest events in the history of the Majestic, Dubuque, is the presentation of D. W. Griffith's latest film masterpiece, "Hearts of the World," for nine days, September 9 to 16.

The picture was brought to Dubuque direct from Chicago, where it has been presented for the past several months at the Colonial Theatre, the engagement closing Saturday, September 7. The same orchestra that played at the Colonial accompanied the picture to Dubuque.

"Hearts of the World" marks the beginning of long picture engagements in Dubuque. Up to this time, features have had three, and at the most, four-day runs, but this is the first picture to come here for an entire nine-day stay.

Manager Rosenthal surely showed foresight by choosing this feature, for it has a theme with an almost universal appeal, a cast of some of the most prominent players on the screen, such as Dorothy and Lillian Gish, Robert Harron, George Fawcett and George Seigman, and it has the distinction of being produced by the screen's greatest director, David W. Griffith. "Hearts of the World" can't help go "big" in Dubuque.

THE CENTRAL STATES

September 21, 1918

Film Exchanges Establish Central Shipping Room

AS a war measure for the purpose of conserving time, labor and reducing the expense—in addition to greater efficiency—the Detroit film exchanges in the film building, in co-operation with W. J. Brokaw, Superintendent of the Consolidated Express companies, have created a central shipping room on the loading platform of the film building, for all incoming and outgoing express shipments for the film industry exclusively. Mr. Brokaw has assigned special wagons for this service, and they will operate exclusively for shipments for the film building. Mr. Brokaw has assured the Transportation Committee of the Detroit Board of Motion Picture Exchange Managers that he is fully aware of the importance of the film industry and that in his official capacity as head of the Detroit express situation, he will do everything he possibly can for the improvement of delivery service to and from the film building and the express depots.

The new plan goes into effect September 30, and as above stated, will not only create greater efficiency, but will reduce the delivery cost of each film company at least 50 per cent.

Theatres Changing Hands

ILLINOIS.

Negotiations for the purchase of the Court Theatre, Pekin, Ill., has been made, whereby Robert Kennedy disposes of his interests to George E. Troughton, former newspaper man. It is understood Mr. Kennedy will go to Colorado.

The Bedford Theatre Company has taken over the management of a theatre at Salem and has announced its intention of having the house overhauled and improved. The Bedford Theatre Company also has charge of the Stone City Theatre, the Grand and the Crystal, in Bedford.

INDIANA.

Sam Carlton, of Frankfort, Ind., has been engaged as manager of the Sipe Theatre, in Kokomo, Ind. He was serving in a similar capacity at the Blinn Theatre, Frankfort, Ind.

WISCONSIN.

The new business block on Monument Square, formerly known as the Baker Block, Racine, Wis., has been named the Rialto Building. The new theatre in the building will be known as the Rialto.

Picker & Petrusha, who control both motion picture theatres in Ironwood, have also taken over the Garrick Theatre, in Hurley, Carl Becker having disposed of his interest in the house recently. The Garrick has been remodeled and improved.

Madison Film Moves to New Building

C. C. RANDOLPH, manager of the Madison Film Exchange, which releases First National pictures in Michigan, has leased space on the sixth floor of the new film building and will move there this week. Contracts for remodeling of the space have been let.

Rialto Theatre Opens in Racine, Wisconsin

THE RIALTO, Racine's newest and most elaborate moving picture house, opened Monday evening, September 9. The Realto is the largest theatre in Racine, and it is the first real movie "palace" ever constructed in this city.

The new theatre is owned by Arthur Friedman, and is managed by Messrs. Lamoreaux and I. R. Peters. The new managers came directly from Chicago, where they had charge of the Ascher Brothers' circuit of sixteen houses. The Palace will also be under the direction of Messrs. Lamoreaux and Peters. The Palace and the Rialto promise to be the first theatres of a great circuit to be built by Mr. Friedman.

The Rialto seats 1,500 people in the large auditorium and balcony. The building is not a new one, formerly having been the largest crockery store in Racine. The entire interior was removed and rebuilt. A large addition was made to the building in the rear and a fourth story was added to the structure.

The location of the new palace is ideal. The Rialto is located in the heart of the city, on Main street, between Fifth and Sixth. Every street car in the city passes its entrance. The largest hotel in Racine is within one hundred feet of the theatre on one side, and on the other the largest stores in the city are located. In front of the Rialto is Monument Square, with its two gardens, picturesque fountains and Civil War monument and cannon. Lake Park is within a block of the new theatre, and those who get tired of gazing at Lake Michigan are expected to go to the nearest movie house, the Rialto, and gaze at the pictures instead.

The lobby and ticket office are elaborately decorated, the exterior having a copper effect, while the interior is decorated in old rose and French gray. The ceiling is arranged to give a dome effect, and is attractively lighted with a myriad of globes. Tennessee marble has been used in the construction of the lobby, interior and ticket office.

The auditorium is wide and high, with artistically decorated walls. The ceiling is of French gray, while the panels and the pilasters are in old rose. The lighting is of the indirect type, and is designed to give different color effects, which are produced by means of dimmers. The entrances to the mammoth balcony are made by a flight of stone stairs on each side of the lobby. The steps are richly carpeted in dark red velours.

A feature that no other theatre in Racine has may be found in the new Rialto. Along the promenade there are beautiful mahogany slab doors leading to resting rooms, reading rooms, waiting rooms, and even play rooms for naughty children. A colored maid is in charge of the children's room, which has everything from a sand pit to various toys to amuse the youngsters. The maid keeps the little tots happy while mother attends the moving picture show.

The interior furnishings, decorations and draperies were designed by Manager Lamoreaux. He followed out his design to give the theatre a Venetian effect by introducing that tone into his decorations.

The music in the new theatre is of the very best quality that could be obtained. The new organ is a wonder, costing $10,000. The pictures are of as good a quality as the music. Only first runs and the very best photoplays are shown. Paramount-Artcrafts, Goldwyns and Metros seem to be the favorites. The seats are of mahogany with leather upholstery. They are arranged in a centre section and two side sections.

A 14x16 screen is a feature in the new theatre. The operators have secured a splendid light on the screen from two of the latest Simplex projection machines. The steel operating booth is in the rear of the balcony.

Indianapolis Exchanges Organize as Division

THE film exchange managers in Indianapolis, under the leadership of J. I. Schnitzer, Central States manager for the Universal Film Exchange, Inc., are organizing as a division of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce. The first step in the organization of this unit was taken at a luncheon last week at the Chamber of Commerce, attended by C. E. Penrod, of Fox Film Corporation; Mr. Allison, Indianapolis manager for the Doll-Van Film Company; Mr. White, of the World; J. G. Conners, of the Mutual; C. W. McDaniels, of the General; P. B. Elliott, of the American, and R. S. Shrader, of Pathe. The object of the organization is to promote greater harmony among the local exchanges.

They Say in Chicago That—

"The Vigilantes," which opened September 1 at the Playhouse, has been doing a capacity business. The first three days of the run it was impossible to handle the crowds. All exhibitors invited to view the picture when shown at the Hamilton Club were enthusiastic. Mr. Hampton, President of the Bear State Film Co., producers of the picture, has evidently put out another winner.

HARRY WEISS, of the Central Film Co., is spending a few weeks' vacation visiting exhibitors in the smaller towns.

D. M. VANDAWALKER, of the Doll-Van Film Co., is laid up with typhoid fever.

LOUIS STILLMAN'S THEATRE at Cleveland has just signed a contract to run Spanuth's Original VOD-A-VIL MOVIES, also the Valentine Theatre, of Toledo, Ohio. Both houses report that they have proven a strong box office card.

J. E. WILLIS, he of the old days of the General Film Co., has been busy all week with the out-of-town exhibitors in the interest of Filmcraft, the name he gives his "coming attraction reel" being used by the leading Chicago houses.

FLOSSIE JONES, of Waukesha, has been in Chicago for the A. E. A. Convention as a delegate, and has proven herself one of their strong drawing cards. The lady has been kept on the jump every moment of the time, day and night.

GEORGE HINES, manager of the Auditorium, South Bend, has been giving Chicago the once over and shaking hands with old friends at the A. E. A. Convention.

CHICAGO had a noticeable bunch of producers with her this week—Adolph Zucker, Wm. A. Brady, Lewis Selznick, Pat Powers, Frank Tichnor and Richard Gradwell.

THE DISCUSSION of legislation and censorship has occupied a considerable time at the A. E. A. Convention. The consensus of opinion being that a rigorous Federal law should govern production and exhibition of motion pictures, with an idea of protecting the legitimate exhibitors and producers against the sensational and morbid pictures.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG has been a visitor in Chicago with her manager, Harry I. Garson. She is on her way to California to stage "The Road Through the Dark," a war drama by Maude Redford Warren.

BLANCHE SWEET has been saying Howd'y to many friends in Chicago.

FRANK H. SIEM has taken over the Stanley theatre, located in one of Chicago's choice south side residential districts.

THE BEEHIVE FILM COMPANY have booked their Cartoo Comedies in Jones, Linicke & Shaefer houses. Lubiner & Trinz also contracted for their Cartoon Comedies, Ditmar Animal Pictures and Scenic and Travel Pictures, to be shown each week in all their houses.

ROY CUMMINGS, Oshkosh, Wis., leading exhibitor, has been saying Howd'y and using both hands to greet his friends this week.

NEAL DUFFY, of the Elite theatre, Appleton, Wis., has been kept on the jump meeting Tom, Dick and Harry from the various "burgs" represented at the convention, St. Louis among them.

ONE of the most popular rooms at the Sherman during the convention was presided over by Charles Pyle, he of the Bartola fame—Some host!

THE GOVERNMENT called O. S. Spahr, general manager of the Enterprise Optical Company, with a number of others to Washington to thrash out the new picture industry. There will be a great many changes made in the very near future for the purpose of conservation.

JACK MEREDITH, of the Goldwyn Chicago office, has been on the job every moment of the time, and has lined up a bunch of business at the convention.

RALPH PROCTOR, Pathe's genial division manager, has lived up to his reputation with vengeance this week—geniality.

THE MOTION picture exhibitors attending the A. E. A. Convention at the Sherman House learned a lot about the "Technique of Motion Pictures" on their visit to the Rothacker plant, where pictures of the delegates and the visitors were taken. Mr. Rothacker is to be congratulated upon the splendid manner in which he handled the people visiting his plant. They were taken right from the hotel by machines and spent an interesting morning.

RALPH A. FULTON, manager of the United Theatre Equipment Corporation, Chicago, has been busy the past week with Mr. L. J. Gardner, manufacturer of the Gold Fibre screen.

ADVERTISING VALUE

WHY play single reel comedies that have no drawing power of their own when for a few dollars more you can get a single reel comedy which you can advertise just as much and which will bring you just as much money as your big feature.

FATTY ARBUCKLE COMEDIES

possess advertising value—can be featured on your program each week—will fit in with any program—are full of good funny situations—and are worth twice what we ask for them.

BEE HIVE EXCHANGE

Toy Building, Milwaukee, Wis. — Consumers Building, Chicago

For the Pick of the Pictures

THE DOLL-VAN FILM CORPORATION

207 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.
D. M. Vandawalker, Jr., Vice-President

Merchant's Bank Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.
Henry Dollman, President

Mr. Gardner has been in Chicago looking over the Ascher Bros. theatres with a view to installing their screen in all the houses.

Z. E. IRVIN, manager Irving theatre, Bloomington, Ill., has been in Chicago for a few days arranging some new bookings.

LUDY BOSTEN, of the A-Muse-U theatre, Muscatine, Iowa, has been in Chicago rearranging his Famous Players program.

MAY ROBINSON, the able assistant to W. L. Hill, the alert publicity manager of Paramount Artcraft Pictures, Chicago, has just returned from her vacation.

GEORGE FISCHER, manager of the Alhambra theatre, Milwaukee, Wis., has been busy arranging his program and shaking hands with friends at the A. E. A. Convention.

S. SAMISH, of the A-Muse-U theatre, Clinton, Iowa, has remodeled his house and decorated it throughout in anticipation of big business this fall.

CHARLES TAKOUS has just been appointed manager of the Rialto theatre at Champaign Ill., which will give that little city the distinction of having one of the oldest and most up-to-date managers in the business.

REX O. LAWHEAD, who has been managing the Playhouse during its summer run of pictures, has been appointed by the Bear State Film Company to handle their "Vigilantes" in the State of Illinois. Mr. Lawhead will be located in the Consumers' building.

Indianapolis and Indiana News

S. BARRETT McCORMICK, managing director of the Circle theatre, was host one night recently to 125 graduate and student nurses who viewed the Red Cross educational film, "The Making of a Nurse." The theatre party was arranged by the Educational Committee of the Red Cross, and the nurses in attendance were from Fort Benjamin Harrison, St. Vincent, the Methodist, Deaconess and Long hospitals. The guests were in uniform and assembled in the foyer of the theatre, and marched to their seats just before the showing of the film.

THE OFFICES of Mr. Keine, managing director of the Sourbier Amusement Company of Indianapolis, have been enlarged to take in the rooms over the Keystone theatre, formerly occupied by the Mutual Film Corporation's Indianapolis office.

FIRST LIEUTENANT NORMAN DIXON, of Indianapolis, formerly connected with the Mutual Film Corporation's Indianapolis office, who has just returned to this country after six months in the front line trenches, spent two or three days in Marion this last week, where he was the guest of Miss Dollie Spurr, owner and manager of the Royal Grand and Lyric theatres.

S. BARRET McCORMICK has constructed a new office for the Circle theatre. It is much larger than the quarters he formerly occupied and includes a complete miniature stage with experimental lighting and scenic effects, in which he tries out the various ideas to be used in connection with his releases.

BARTON & OLSON are so well pleased with the success of their continuous show at the Lyric this week that they announce another bill of the same character for next week. It will have a picture feature in a new Charles Chaplin comedy release entitled "Triple Trouble." The vaudeville headliner will be another of the popular "girls and music" acts, "The Cannibal Maids."

ALL necessary information regarding draft registration day, Thursday, September 12, was given by the Four-Minute Men of Indianapolis at these theatres this week: Alhambra, E. E. McFerren; Apex, L. J. Robinson; Bair's South Side, L. J. Robinson; Colonial, Edward W. Clark; Crystal, Edward W. Clark; Garrick, M. H. Stuart; Isis, Paul J. Maas; Keystone, Herbert A. Smith; Lyric, Herbert A. Smith; Palms, Paul J. Maas; Regent, M. Harrison; Rialto, E. E. McFerren.

SAM ROSENFELD, Kentucky and Indiana representative for the Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., has the distinction of playing the first feature picture ever shown in the Hippodrome at Terre Haute. In fact this is the first time any film has ever been exhibited in this Terre Haute house, which, for years, has adhered to vaudeville. Ross Garver, manager of the Hippodrome, picked "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin" for his first run and played to capacity houses for a full week. The house is now committed to a picture program and is done with vaudeville.

P. B. ELLIOTT, of Boston, Mass., formerly with the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, has been appointed American representative for the Pathe interests in Indianapolis. Mr. Elliott enjoys a wide reputation in the film business. He was at one time connected with the World Film Corporation, working out of the Boston office. Prior to that he managed a string of legitimate houses in the United States and Canada. Mr. Elliott will make his headquarters at the Indianapolis Pathe offices.

IT is reported that C. E. Shurtleff, sales manager for Hodkinson, is expected in the city to appoint an Indianapolis manager for the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.

THE INDIANAPOLIS Pathe office is now one of the finest exchanges in the city. Manager R. S. Shrader recently moved the offices to a new location in the Wimmer building, which is now devoted entirely to exchange offices. The removal of Pathe and a number of other exchanges to this building was the outgrowth of an ordinance passed by the City Council. The other exchanges listed in the Wimmer building include Doll-Van, the Ideal Curtain Company and the New Film Company. It is also announced that the Indiana Exhibitors' League will move its offices to this location.

M. C. MELOY, manager of the Strand theatre at Shelbyville, is the first exhibitor in Indiana to show the General's release, "The First Red Cross Picture." B. F. Keith's house in Indianapolis, and the two Keith houses in Louisville, have also booked this picture for an early filming, according to C. W. McDaniels, Indianapolis manager for the General Film Corporation.

THE GRAND THEATRE at Princeton, Frank Stormont, manager, was reopened last week after having undergone a thorough cleaning. The house, according to Mr. Stormont, was remodeled and enlarged.

JOHN SERVAIS, of Indianapolis, manager of the Alcazar theatre, has returned from a trip through the South in the interests of the Exhibitor-Producer Affiliated interests.

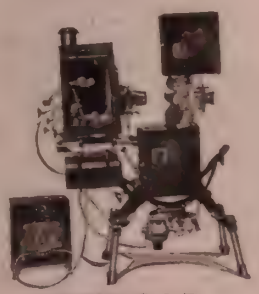
Elgin Theatres Face Problem of Price Raise To Meet New Rental

DESPITE increase in film and labor cost, films and seat tax, soaring express and railway rates and the general upward swoop of picture prices going and coming, Elgin houses have been showing at "before the war" prices. Now, in prospect of a new rental tax on films, a doubling of seat tax, and possibly of other increased overhead costs, managers are being forced into a price raise. Through the local press they are paving the way for the final increase under contemplation by managers, and expect to put it over before the fall season starts in earnest.

Managers express themselves of the belief that any falling off in patronage that might attend the step will be but temporary. Picture show fans, they agree, have the "how much" habit—that of asking "how much?"—a habit formed by meeting raised prices in everything they buy and everywhere they spend their money.

"Everything for the M.P. Theatre except the Film"

WE ARE EXCLUSIVE DISTRIBUTORS For



POWER'S PROJECTORS

HALLBERG MOTOR GENERATORS

GARDINER VELVET GOLD FIBRE SCREEN

NATIONAL CARBONS

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

POWER'S 6 B

When in Chicago Remember That

A HEARTY WELCOME AWAITS YOU

AT

UNITED THEATRE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION

512 South Wabash Avenue Chicago, Ill.

R. A. FULTON, BRANCH MANAGER

"CENTRALLY LOCATED—GROUND FLOOR"

WE ARE EXCLUSIVE DISTRIBUTORS For

FULCO PRODUCTS

ACME PORTABLE PROJECTORS

NOVELTY SLIDES AND M. P. SUPPLIES OF HIGH GRADE

HALLBERG MOTOR GENERATOR

Heard in Detroit

PAUL J. SCHLOSSMAN, manager, of Muskegon and Grand Haven, has signed for 100 per cent. of William Fox productions during the coming season. This means everything from the Fox-Standards program and specials down to the cartoons and comedies.

THE REGENT THEATRE, Bay City, has just signed for all of the Fox-Standards, as well as all the Fox specials, for the coming season.

B. A. MORTHORST, who has been head bookkeeper at the Detroit Vitagraph exchange, has been promoted to assistant branch manager by J. M. Duncan—an advancement that he has earned by faithful service to the Vitagraph Company. He succeeds N. Dow Thompson, who resigned last Saturday to become manager of the Maxime theatre. Mr. Morthorst will handle the bookings in addition to acting as assistant to Manager Duncan. Mrs. Maud Gurney, for several years with the Universal exchange, will succeed Mr. Morthorst as head bookkeeper at the Vitagraph.

J. C. FISHMAN, Standard manager in Detroit, reports that he is enjoying excellent business on the Christie Comedies, released weekly. Among the Detroit theatres using them two days each week are the Rialto, Ferry Field, Lincoln Square and Empire. Others using them for one day each are the Maxine, Del-The, Courtesy, Knickerbocker, Gladwin Park, Lakewood, Iris, Farnum, etc.

JOHN APPLEGATE, formerly manager of Pathe's Denver office, is now touring Michigan in behalf of Foursquare pictures for Joe Horwitz. He is specializing on "The Mad Lover" and "Today," which Joe considers the greatest pictures of the year.

SO THAT he can devote 100 per cent. of his efforts to his Detroit exchange, Hustling Joe Horwitz has disposed of his interest in the Cleveland office to Joe Deiner and Bert M. Sturn.

THE Shorty Hamilton and Warren Kerrigan two-reel subjects —Western dramas, released through the Standard exchange, have been booked by the Bernhardt and Farnum theatres, Detroit, and the Orpheum, Kalamazoo.

THE Standard Film Service, Detroit, which is now the Michigan distributor on the Ford Weekly, announces as "A Visit to Niagara Falls" as the current release. This is the first of Ford's series of hand-colored subjects. Manager Fishman reports that the Majestic theatre, Detroit, has first run, the Washington second run, and that among some of the other leading houses, booking the Ford Weekly are Family, Ferry Field, Rialto, Stratford, Maxine, Lakewood, Knickerbocker, Iris, Farnum, Courtesy, Delthe, Forest.

HAL SMITH, of the Ferry Field theatre, Detroit, is back after a three weeks' vacation. Eddie Murphy, of the Gladwin Park theatre, is also back from his two weeks' vacation, spent in and around Kalamazoo, his former home.

W. E. SCHUTTENHELM, who formerly conducted his own theatre on Oakland avenue, Detroit, is now house manager and booker for the Stratford theatre, Dix avenue, Detroit.

L. A. HARDY, manager in Detroit of the Parex Film Exchange, which distributes the William L. Sherry pictures, announces the company's policy for the coming season. There will be fifty-two pictures, featuring Doris Kenyon, Catherine Calvert, Jewel Carmen and Vingie Valentine. In addition, there will be thirty Burlingham Travelogues, single reel each; also a series of eight five-reel Broncho Billy subjects made by George Anderson, and one two-reel special Broncho Billy subject. "With this line up, I believe that Sherry pictures will be a most attractive proposition for the exhibitor," said Mr. Hardy. "A Romance of the Underworld," the first Sherry release, is playing four days the week of September 1 at the Liberty theatre, Detroit.

C. A. MEAD is manager of the Regent theatre, Detroit, arriving on the job last week, Monday. Mr. Mead will make an ideal house manager and press agent for the Regent, having done this particular work in the past and having had experience in every branch of the amusement business. Besides, Mr. Mead is particularly adapted for a high-class theatre, being a student of human nature, a man who understands how to get the most out of his employees and a man who works along the principle that "the customer is always right." He is even tempered—always smiling and good natured. Prior to his Regent appointment, Mr. Mead for a number of years was branch manager, special representative and division manager for such producing companies as the Vitagraph and Pathe.

What Racine Is Doing

"BACK TO THE WOODS," with Mabel Normand, brought a capacity house to the Racine Palace. "Dad's Knockout," featuring Billy Parsons, was one of the best liked comedies ever here.

MAE MARSH in "Money Mad," and the Official War Review had a two day run at the Palace. William S. Hart in "Shark Monroe" was so well liked that Manager Peters found a way to hold the picture for another day. Capacity houses were enjoyed on both days. Burton Holmes' travelogues and Dorothy Dalton in "Mating Marcella" completed the successful week for the Palace.

"TO HELL WITH THE KAISER" filled capacity houses for five days at the Bijou. The picture was without a doubt the most widely and extensively advertised production ever featured in Racine. The publicity was obtained through the following mediums: Newspapers, bill boards, ads. on street cars, distributing buttons and pennants, and a float in the Labor Day parade.

Arthur Hyman Leases Detroit Opera House

ARTHUR S. HYMAN, of the Dawn Masterplay Company, has personally leased the Detroit Opera House on a month to month basis. The theatre was to be torn down to make way for a mercantile structure, but on account of inability to get materials, the project is temporarily delayed, and until such time as it is ready to be started, Mr. Hyman will operate the theatre. Mr. Hyman has decided to book only big special features, first-run, letting them stay just as long as they show a certain profit. He says "Hearts of the World" will remain at least one or two weeks longer, and that he is now in negotiation for several big features to follow. The Detroit Opera House, with its beautiful interior, large seating capacity and splendid location, should prove an ideal first-run picture house during the coming season.

Indiana Exhibitors Experience Delay

INDIANA exhibitors are experiencing considerable difficulty in receiving shipments of films, according to R. S. Shrader, Indianapolis manager for Pathe, owing to labor conditions on the traction lines in the State. The bulk of film transportation is over the Interurban lines that are now being taxed to the limit with freight and express shipments from practically all the industrial lines. The greatest trouble, Mr. Shrader says, is in the inexperienced help carrying film shipments past their destination. All the Indianapolis exchanges are experiencing the same trouble.

ADVERTISE
IN THE
CENTRAL STATES

Charles F. Schwerin, Manager of the Success Film Productions, Cleveland

Miscellaneous Indiana News

THE LIBERTY THEATRE COMPANY, of Washington, was incorporated under the state laws of Indiana this last week in Indianapolis with a capitalization of $2,500. Its object is stated as the showing of motion pictures. Directors named are Albert R. Defoe, Harry P. Vonderschmitt and Theresia Vonderschmitt.

IN PAPERS filed with the Secretary of State at Indianapolis, the Fox Film Corporation of New York named C. E. Penrod its Indiana agent. Mr. Penrod is manager of the Indianapolis office of the Fox Film Corporation.

MOVING pictures taken at the Boy Scout frolic staged recently at the country home of Albert Lieber, near Indianapolis, were shown two days this last week at the Circle theatre.

S. P. KATZENBAUCH, former manager of the American theatre at Terre Haute, has taken over that house and will operate it under his own management. He opened the first of last week with Pathe's 4th of July in France and played to capacity audiences all week.

THE IDLE HOUR at Newport and the Pastime theatre at Montezuma closed down indefinitely last week. Hughes & Payne were the owners and managers of the Idle Hour, and Arthur Howell was the owner and manager of the Pastime theatre.

THE WEEK just past was vacation week for practically all Indiana exhibitors, according to reports received from roadmen at the various exchanges in Indianapolis. One of the most prominent exhibitors to evade the "super-heat" of the Hoosier State, was Maurice Fox, manager of the Orpheum theatre at Terre Haute, who spent the week over in Ohio.

Dubuque News and Views

"THE MAN FROM THE EAST," Sessue Hayakawa, called on Dubuquers Sunday, September 1, when he appeared at the Princess theatre in "Hidden Pearls." He was much more satisfying in this photoplay than in its predecessor, "Hashimura Togo," for here he was in his element and could do full justice to his remarkable talent of creating an atmosphere of mystery and fatalism whenever he appears.

J. E. BOYLE, of the Dreamland theatre, offered "Every Woman's Husband," with Gloria Swanson, for his Sunday, September 1, and Labor Day program.

THREE of Vitagraph's popular stars—Agnes Ayers, Edward Earle and Florence Deshon—were featured at the Grand, Sunday, September 1, in "One Thousand Dollars." This was the third O. Henry adaptation to be shown here this year, and in the opinion of the fans this sparkling comedy drama was the "best yet."

"THE LADY OF THE PEACOCK'S," Louise Glaum, came to the Grand on Monday and Tuesday, September 3 and 4, in "An Alien Enemy," one of the most interesting, up-to-the-minute features Dubuque fans have seen for a long time. It was truly a good play, with a good actress, a combination which always insures good box office receipts.

GERTRUDE McCOY, of Edison fame, played at the Dreamland theatre Friday and Saturday, August 30 and 31, in "The Silent Witness."

"THE NARROW TRAIL," with William S. Hart, was shown at the Family theatre Saturday, August 30. It was up to the usual Hart standard and drew the usual good Hart crowds.

VIRGINIA PEARSON appeared at the Liberty theatre Sunday in "The Firebrand." Manager Wilbur reported a fine house.

"THE AMAZONS," with Marguerite Clark, is coming to the Family theatre Saturday, August 14.

ON FRIDAY and Saturday, August 30 and 31, Mary Pickford appeared at the Princess theatre in "Stella Marie," rightly pronounced by all critics to be the masterpiece of her career. As Stella Marie, Mary was very appealing, very charming, very beautiful, but it took a character like queer little Unity Blake, who was pitied but not loved, to bring out her ability as a noted emotional actress. "Stella Marie" was run for two days, but even then all Dubuque fans didn't get a chance to see her, so Manager Billos is considering a return engagement.

"THE FORBIDDEN PATH" was a typical Theda Bara play and as her followers like her the best in pictures of this kind the Princess theatre did good business the two days it was run, Wednesday and Thursday, August 28 and 29.

WILLIAM RUSSELL in "Up Romance Road" carried off the honors of the week at the Dreamland theatre. The picture, which was shown Thursday, August 29, proved a capital entertainment for the people and a money maker for Manager Boyle.

"THE SILENT MASTER," with Robert Warwick, and adapted from the Oppenheim novel, "The Court of St. Simon," was presented at the Family theatre on Tuesday, September 3. The star's good work in his previous success, "The Argyle Case," drew all of his old and not a few new admirers to the Family that night.

MANAGER JAKE ROSENTHAL, of the Majestic theatre, spoke the truth when he said he was going to show "some" pictures when the quarantine was lifted. Up to August 25 he ran Pathe releases, and then surprised his patrons by announcing the showing of "Salome" with incomparable Theda Bara, to be run at his theatre for four days, commencing September 4. He did everything in his power to make the picture a success, for he started out on an extensive advertising campaign, using billboards and posters the first week and window displays and newspapers the second week. The seat sale began Monday, September 2, and from all reports there's going to be a tremendous lot of people who are going to see Theda Bara in this super-production.

FAMILY patrons certainly blessed Manager Yount when he changed his program so as to show Paramount features on Sunday, and they rewarded him by turning out in great numbers whenever a Paramount is shown. Sunday's (September 1) program, "The Hostage," drew wonderfully well—so well that Mr. Yount wore a worried look all evening trying to find places for the Wallace Reid fans who crowded to the performances.

EARL WILLIAMS and Corrine Griffith starred at the Family theatre on Wednesday, August 28, in "The Love Doctor." On Thursday, Carmel Myers, who made such a success of "My Unmarried Wife," added greatly to her popularity by her first class work in "The Wine Girl."

MARGUERITE CLARK'S latest fairy tale, "The Seven Swans," will come to the Princess theatre for two days, Friday and Saturday, September 6 and 7. All of Marguerite's followers are awaiting her appearance and are hoping that nothing will prevent their seeing her, like it did the last time the picture was scheduled during July, when the epidemic caused Manager Billos to cancel the play.

FRIDAY, August 30, "Metro Night" at the Family theatre, found Emily Stevens as the chief entertainer in "Alias Mrs. Jessop," as good a Metro play as one could wish to see.

THE LABOR DAY program at the Liberty theatre was "Loaded Dice," with that sterling actor, Frank Keenan.

A feature photoplay in five acts, "The Primrose Ring," with pretty little Mae Murray as star, was the Majestic's Labor Day photoplay. Miss Murray as Margaret McLean had one of the most convincing roles in her career.

"BY PROXY," with Roy Stewart, played at the Dreamland theatre Tuesday, September 3. Mr. Stewart is coming on rapidly, and at this theatre people are beginning to liken him to that supreme Western character man, William S. Hart.

HEDDA NOVA made her first appearance in Dubuque in "The Bar Sinister," shown at the Princess, September 2 and 3.

Directory of Chicago Exchanges and Supply Houses

RALPH O. PROCTOR
Division Manager

PATHE EXCHANGE

Consumer's Building
FRANK B. ROGERS
Branch Manager

RALPH BRADFORD, Manager

Triangle Distributing Corporation

Maller's Building 5 South Wabash Avenue

Central States Edition Brings Results Promptly and Plentifully

New and Old Films CLEANED and CONSERVED
A. TEITEL
112 North La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois

An Avalanche!

Yes, when we started the COMPLETE PLAN BOOK week before last it took the country by storm. "Just a year or so ahead of any other trade publication in the field," is what they all say in letters of congratulation.

Turn To It

in this week's issue and you will have to look no further to find out anything about ANY picture reviewed. Everything is there—review, Ad Talk, suggestions, catch lines and innumerable aids.

Exhibitors

will find this a great boon and a box office saving. It's what they have needed for a long time. Just take this section out of MOTION PICTURE NEWS each week and file it.

It Will Save You Money and Time

THE WEST COAST

Communications Pertaining to "West Coast" Section Should Be Sent to Our
LOS ANGELES REPRESENTATIVE Telephone Pico 280, F 4661 429 SO. FIGUEROA STREET

Theatre Owners Agree to Operators' Demands

WHAT threatened to be a serious condition for theatre owners in Southern California has been amicably settled by the theatre owners agreeing to comply with the request of members and officers of Motion Picture and Projecting Machine Operators Local No. 150, of the I. A. T. S. E., not to support a school for women operators and to employ only members of local union.

Information was given the union officers that a school to teach projection machine operation to women, conducted by Leo Ryan at a "dark" theatre in Los Angeles, brought about the misunderstanding. Applicants for scholarship at the school the union men claim were told they could make from $10 to $15 per week, when the local scale averages $25. They further claim applicants were advised they would be taught until they were able to pass the examination provided by the city officials, which after passing, would make them licensed operators. The union by-laws provide an apprenticeship of two years before an operator is accepted as a member of the union, and their claim was that the school conducted along these lines would turn into the theatres a number of incompetent operators, dangerous to the industry and the union.

Fully 90 per cent. of the theatres of Los Angeles have union operators, and in all but two instances the agreements proposed by the union were signed. This prevented a walkout threatened for Saturday night, August 31.

The memorandum of agreement between the operators and theatre owners in part states that inasmuch as a ruling has been made by the Provost Marshal that the motion picture industry is essential, only skilled and licensed operators comprising the membership of the union be furnished the theatres, and that the owners shall not accept nor encourage schools for instructing women or girls, nor employ them so long as the union members are classed by the government as employees of an essential industry.

John Gilbert Appears with Bessie Love

JOHN GILBERT has completed his picture, "Sons of Men," with J. Warren Kerrigan, and has been engaged by the Vitagraph Company to play opposite Bessie Love in her first production for this company. Young Gilbert has been coming along rapidly during the past year and has done some excellent work. He should make a very good opposite for the popular Bessie.

Lotz Represents Select in Denver

ANOTHER important change effective September 4 is of special interest to local exhibitors and others in Denver territory. On that date the Denver branch of Select came under the management of H. E. Lotz, recently of San Francisco, and H. L. Knappen, whom Mr. Lotz has succeeded, is transferred as manager of the Select office in San Francisco.

During the past year Mr. Lotz has been first, special representative of the Triangle Film Corporation, and latterly, representative of Triangle's Western division, embracing Salt Lake City, Denver, Seattle, Los Angeles and San Francisco, with headquarters in the latter city. Prior to that he was for a year in the San Francisco exchange for Pathe.

Previously Mr. Lotz had been Canadian general manager for the General Film Company, with headquarters in Montreal, having been promoted to that position in two years after his start with General as a road salesman out of Seattle.

These changes leave Select unusually strongly entrenched in Western territory. With B. E. Loper covering Los Angeles, Knappen returning to his dear old San Francisco, Lotz in Denver, and Hicks taking charge of the big Seattle field, Select is splendidly living up to its policy of having specialists in every section and "stars to sell stars."

Local exhibitors and exchange men gave a farewell party in honor of Mr. Knappen at the West Hotel on the eve of his departure. He also shared the honors with R. J. Churchill, who recently resigned as local manager for the Fox Film Corporation, who leaves in a few days for an army training camp. Both are well known and exceedingly popular, and Film Row has lost two mighty good men.

Famous Players Closes Office at Butte

THE Butte exchange of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, last week closed its offices and hereafter the Montana houses will be booked out of Seattle and Salt Lake. Mel Wilson, who has been branch manager for several months past, having succeeded Sam Levin, will be on the road in this territory for the company.

The local branch was established about a year ago and has proved a great convenience to theatres in Butte and Montana who were booking for the Paramount-Artcraft people. However, owing to war time demands the action is taken closing the Butte exchange and the company expects to maintain its high-class service for Montana theatres, even though the central station is located at a more distant point.

THE WEST COAST

Thomas H. Ince Supervising the Filming of Dorothy Dalton's New Picture, "Vive La France!"

"Yellow Dog" Proves Success on Coast

THE pre-release showing of "The Yellow Dog," the heralded Universal subject, adopted from the Dodge story which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, at the Superba theatre, following a few days' publicity, is proving up to the expectations of the management, and this theatre, which is owned by the Universal Company, the local officers of the Universal Film Exchange and of the producing organization at Universal City. Five or six days before the opening of this film in Los Angeles, the publicity started in local papers, when an anti-yellow dog club was formed among the boys from ten to sixteen years of age, supervised by Spanish and Civil War veterans. In four days the organization was increased to more than a thousand. It is anticipated the film will run several weeks to very excellent business, which it has had during the first week of the showing.

Arthur Hoyt takes the leading role, that of the organizer of the boy detectives. Others in the big cast besides the boys are Clara Horton, W. A. Barrows and Fred Kelsey. The film has action from beginning to end, and a very remarkable scene secured by Director Colin Campbell is that showing the Majestic slides of four great transports at the shipyards at San Francisco.

The Dodge story has been closely followed in the continuity, which was prepared by Lanier Bartlett. As a propaganda film, this can be placed in the "A" class, and the publicity work carried on by the Universal in presenting this special production—that of organizing the boys, cannot help but be very beneficial to the government.

Seattle Celebrates When Hurn Joins Army

ONE MONDAY Harold H. Hurn, Northwest manager of the Triangle Film Company, received notice that Uncle Sam wished him to report over to Camp Lewis. Harold then began to say good by to all his friends on Film Row and began to get ready. Manager Weinstock, of the L. J. Schlaifer Attractions, then suggested that Hurn be given a mark of remembrance. The matter was taken up with President J. A. Koerpel, of the Northwest Board of Trade, who immediately had all the boys notified, had a committee appointed to buy Hurn a token of remembrance, and had them all at the luncheon within twenty-four hours. That is a good ad for the Northwest Board of Trade. All the fellows are "Reel" movers; anyway, they know how to hustle when they are called.

Among those present, besides all the regular members, were Major M. J. Cohen, Major of Marines, and naval scout boys and director of publicity and head of the United States Division of War Films for California; Mr. J. S. Woody, Western field manager for Select; P. N. Brinch, division manager W. W. Hodkinson Corporation; Joe Myrick, divisional manager Mutual Film Corporation; J. R. Lustig, special representative for Fox; Harry Lustig, Western supervisor of the Western Metro Exchanges. President Koerpel then presented Harold H. Hurn with a beautiful radiolite wrist watch, to which was attached a compass. The watch was later engraved. In presenting the watch, Mr. Koerpel gave a nice little speech, in which he drew attention to the fact that as Hurn was giving his SERVICE, on which the world stands, so the moving picture men must stand on SERVICE if they want their business to stand or live.

Other pleasant addresses were given by those present, among them being J. S. Woody, who made one of the happiest of the occasion. Mr. Hurn replied with a pleasant and "just-to-the-point" speech, for while he was more than pleased with the watch and overcome with the action of all the members on Film Row, he was also anxious to finish as soon as possible for the Queen Bee of Film Row promised to kiss the hero who was going to the front. She kept her promise, after which all of the other (almost) district managers said they were going to France or Camp Lewis, too. This didn't work. The Queen Bee wanted to see the cards on the table. That was a good excuse for her, anyway, for, really, some of those managers look—oh, well!

William S. Hart Begins New Subject

WILLIAM S. HART has begun the filming of another picture which ultimately will require a change of atmosphere before it is completed. This subject has several distinct features, one of the most important being that William S. Hart, for the first time in his screen career, will step forth in what is termed by the cowboys as a "shroud." In other words, Mr. Hart will wear evening clothes. His present story begins in the West and ends in the East, and is spoken of as a comedy drama, but more drama than comedy. Seena Owen has been specially engaged to play the feminine lead opposite Mr. Hart, and Arthur Shirley is one of the important players in the cast. This will be Miss Owen's first appearance on the screen in two years. The Hart studio, at the corner of Bates and Effie Streets, Hollywood, according to Art Director Tom Riley, is far too small for the filming of this subject. The space has been completely filled with big sets and the scene plots specify more different interior and exterior scenes than were used in any previous Hart subject.

Mary Pickford was Assisted by Marines in Producing a Liberty Loan Film, "100 Per Cent American," Directed by Art Rosson, Artcraft Director

What Exchanges and Theatres Are Doing

C. H. FITZGERALD has resigned his position as manager at the Perfection Pictures exchange, and has been succeeded by J. A. Quinn, who was formerly booking and shipping clerk at this branch.

THE ESSANAY Chaplin picture, "Triple Trouble," played to a week's good business at the Garrick theatre in connection with "A Pair of Sixes," which starred Taylor Holmes. The Chaplin film is being held on for another week.

THE LOS ANGELES General exchange this week has a new manager in the person of George J. Ekre, who was formerly manager of the General exchange at Portland, he having been transferred to the Los Angeles branch by Special Representative Walter Rand, who has been in charge for the past three weeks.

G. R. SIRWELL, formerly connected with the Los Angeles exchange, and later with Pathe, at San Francisco and in the Northwest, who since January 1 has been with Hodkinson Productions, has been transferred to Los Angeles and will be in charge of Hodkinson and Paralta subjects at the Los Angeles General Exchange.

THE GARRICK theatre, Los Angeles, has booked the Baby Marie Osborne Pathe subject, "Winning Grandma," for the week of September 8, which will be shown in connection with the Essanay-Chaplin release, which will be held over for the second week.

P. N. BRINK, assistant to Hodkinson, who is now on a tour of the country appointing sales managers in all the principal exchange centres, is now at San Francisco and will shortly come to Los Angeles, where he will spend several days with G. R. Surwell in charge of the Hodkinson-Paralta subjects.

CLUNE'S BROADWAY is this week showing the first Haworth release starring Sessue Hayakawa, entitled "His Birthright," and is playing to unusual business. Hayakawa is very popular in Los Angeles, and heretofore has appeared for the past several months at Grauman's Cinema Temple. Following a week's run at Clune's Broadway the film will go to the Palaza theatre, San Diego, for a week beginning September 8.

JAMES ANDERSON, formerly manager of Clune's Broadway, but who has since been identified with several film exchanges in the capacity of salesman, has been re-engaged and is back at the Broadway theatre as manager.

J. E. GAWME has been appointed California representative for the Vitagraph and is now covering the southern territory.

J. D. JOHNSON, of Jerome, Arizona, spent a portion of this week in Los Angeles letting contracts for equipment for the theatre he is now building at Jerome. The new house will be named Lyric, and will have 850 seats. Mr. Johnson plans on opening about January 1.

MANAGER W. H. HEPBURN, of Los Angeles Vitagraph Exchange, has just returned from a trip through the northern section of his territory. While on this route he made contracts in Bakersfield, Taft and other cities in that vicinity.

JOHN CARNAKIS, who owns and conducts the C. & S. theatre at Bakersfield, has made very unusual contracts with the Los Angeles Vitagraph branch, which provides for serial service for one complete year.

OWING to increased business at the Perfection Pictures Exchange in Los Angeles the shipping department has been enlarged to twice its former capacity.

IGNITION of a film in the projecting room at the American theatre, 450 So. Broadway, Los Angeles, Sunday evening, caused a fire that resulted in the damage of the projection room to the extent of approximately one thousand dollars. Manager Claude Halsell had taken out insurance on the projection room but a week before. Two machines were installed during the night and Monday the theatre was in operation as usual.

T. E. HANCOCK, Los Angeles manager of the World Film Corporation, is making a trip to San Diego, Yuma, Arizona, and returns by way of the Imperial Valley.

E. K. MENHENNETT, of Mesa, Arizona, who conducts the Orpheum and Majestic in that place, and the Chandler at Chandler, Arizona, spent a portion of the present week in Los Angeles booking future subjects for his three houses.

LOS ANGELES friends have received letters from Hubert Solmson, formerly with the Consolidated Film Corporation in Los Angeles as manager, and later identified with the Peerless exchange at San Francisco. Solmson is now Sergeant in the American Army in France, where he is in the R. R. and C. Service.

ACCORDING to Carl Ray, "A Hoosier Romance," made by Colin Campbell for Selig and being released by the Mutual Film Corporation, is proving to be one of the most pleasing films he has shown at his 900 seat house on Main street, Los Angeles. There are many former Indiana people in Los Angeles, and Manager Ray secured a list of the members of the Hoosier Society and sent attractive advertising to everyone. This had a very marked effect on increasing the patronage during the showing of this picture.

NEW equipment for two theatres has been contracted for through James Slipper & Company, of Los Angeles. One equipment consists of two Simplex machines, purchased by C. V. Brockman, of the Iris theatre of San Bernardino. The other was purchased by C. T. Gibson, of Imperial, California, who is shortly opening a new house. This house will have one Simplex.

CONTRACTS have been made by the management of the Symphony theatre, Los Angeles, for a number of Universal productions. "Hell Bent," with Harry Carey, has just played a very successful engagement here, and "Playthings," starring Fritzi Brunette, was the feature of the program during the present week. Future bookings provide for Mary MacLaren in "Bread," Priscilla Dean in "The Brazen Beauty," Edith Roberts in "Beans," and later "For Husbands Only," the Lois Weber-Jewel which had a very successful first run at the Kinema theatre, will play at this house for a return engagement.

DUHEM
MOTION PICTURE MFG. CO.
Films Made to Order
EXPERT DEVELOPING, PRINTING AND COLORING
CAMERA OUT-FITS AND RAW FILM SUPPLIED

CAMERA MEN SENT ANYWHERE

985 Market Street, San Francisco, California

The Deemster
With DERWENT HALL CAINE
Redemption
With EVELYN NESBIT and RUSSEL THAW
44 REISSUES OF FAIRBANKS HART
TALMADGE KEENAN
IN THEIR GREATEST SUCCESSES
Sunset Film Corporation
94 GOLDEN GATE AVENUE, SAN FRANCISCO
801-3 KNICKERBOCKER BUILDING, LOS ANGELES

CAMBRIA SPRING COMPANY
"Quality First"
Auto and Truck Springs, Wheels, Rims and Bumpers
General Blacksmithing
"Largest Spring Factory on the Pacific Coast"
Forging Made and Frames Straightened
Phones: Main 1075 Home F-5233 916-918 So. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles, Cal.

Telephone: Hollywood 1290
GEORGE W. CHAPMAN CO.
Incorporated
EVERYTHING IN MOVING PICTURE PROPS.
Specialties: Miniature Sets and Plaster Breakaways
5155 SANTA MONICA BOULEVARD
LOS ANGELES, CAL.

SLIDES Title Cards and Film
L. A. SLIDE & FILM CO.
122 WEST THIRD ST., LOS ANGELES

THEATRE SETTINGS
We Have Installed Hundreds From $100 to $10,000 Each
BEST SCREENS, SCENERY
EDW. H. FLAGG SCENIC CO.
Largest in the World
Los Angeles San Francisco

WINFIELD-KERNER COMPANY
Established 1905
Manufacturers of Actinic Ray Arc Lamps for Motion Picture Producers and Photographers. Effect Lamps and equipment. Resistance and Magnet Coils made to order.
Phones: Pico 2646 A 2216
325-27 E. Sixth St., Los Angeles

JACK ROOT, owner of the Strand theatre at Pasadena, has been offered the appointment of boxing instructor for the Balloon School of two thousand men at Arcadia, Cal. Root for several years held the light heavyweight championship of the world, having defeated George Gardner and Kid McCoy (Norman Selby). Root was defeated by Marvin Hart at Reno, Nevada, when James Jeffries acted as referee. The Strand theatre at Pasadena is one of the finest houses in this 60,000 population city, and acceptance of the position as boxing instructor means that Root will practically have to give up his work as manager of this handsome house.

HARRY LUSTIG, coast and intermountain states special representative of Metro productions and Screen Classics, arrived in Los Angeles this week and will in the future make this his headquarters. This change is made by Mr. Lustig following a trip to New York, where he was in conference

(Continued on page 4)

Seattle Exchanges and Accessory Firms

L. J. SCHLAIFER ATTRACTIONS
2022 Third Avenue Seattle, Washington
Parentage-Ivan Productions—2 Reel Jester Comedies—2 Reel Hart Re-Issues
AND OTHER BOX OFFICE PICTURES

NOW BOOKING—NORTHWEST TERRITORY
"FALL OF BARBARY COAST"
OR "FINGER OF JUSTICE"
RAN FOUR CONSECUTIVE WEEKS AT REX, SEATTLE
G. M. SANDERSON, MANAGER, 2016 THIRD AVENUE, SEATTLE

Exhibitors Film Exchange
INCORPORATED
Member of First National Exhibitors Circuit
-- NOW BOOKING --
A DOG'S LIFE
MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY
TARZAN OF THE APES
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS
THE STILL ALARM
ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT
ETC,. ETC.
-- COMING! --
SHOULDER ARMS
(Second Chaplin Comedy)
ROMANCE OF TARZAN
ANITA STEWART SUPERFEATURES
1200 FOURTH AVE.
SEATTLE, WASH.
F. V. FISHER, Manager

GREATER FEATURES COMPANY
2020 Third Avenue
SEATTLE, WASHINGTON
Rep. Consolidated Film Corp.
Showing
LITERARY DIGEST NEWS
CARTOONS—NEWMAN TRAVELS
JACK LANNON, OWNER

Lantern Slides
J. C. COREY SIGN CO.
3rd & University St., Seattle
Cutouts and Lobby Displays

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM
Perfection Pictures
W. J. DRUMMOND
Branch Manager
2012 Third Avenue

tory as headquarters for special representative, as all Metro producing activities are to be centered at their Hollywood studios.

CONTRACT for the exclusive first run showing of the Universal Animated Weekly was made this week with Sid Grauman and is for a period of one year. This is the first time an exclusive contract has been made to any theatre man in Los Angeles for a news weekly, and the rental consideration is said to be far in excess of prices heretofore.

LYONS & MORAN, producers of Star Comedies for Universal, received many congratulations this week from fellow players and friends on their one reel comedy "The Extra Bridegroom," which was shown at Grauman's Cinema Palace. In connection with this, Dorothy De Vore, leading woman for Lyons & Moran, appeared each week at the theatre and sang at two performances. This was an added attraction at the theatre. Miss De Vore, prior to her motion picture experience, was a vaudeville singer.

L. C. UPDIKE, who has conducted the Jen-Dike theatre at Snowflake, Arizona, has disposed of that house and purchased the Apache theatre at St. Johns, Arizona, which he has renamed the Jen-Dike. Mr. Updike is now busy remodeling his new property, which will be opened shortly.

M. DRACKMAN, manager of the Opera House at Tucson, Arizona, who is rebuilding the theatre destroyed by fire several months ago, is in Los Angeles this week purchasing equipment for his rebuilt theatre, which will open September 15. This is to have a ten thousand dollar American Photo Player and modern equipment throughout.

THE WOODLEY theatre, Los Angeles, later named the Riviera, which has been dark for two weeks, was reopened September 7 by the new lessee, Claude Halsell, who is owner of the American theatre. The new policy to be installed at the Riviera provides for two changes of program weekly and a general admission price of ten cents. This is the fourth cut in prices to be made by Los Angeles theatre managers in the past two months. Reason for the cut is given as necessary because of the competition of the two larger houses now in operation, the Grauman and Kinema, where far better programs can be given than is possible for the 800 theatre manager to produce. The first theatre to cut prices was that of Miller's, when it was purchased by Carl Ray, who enlarged the ten cent section. Later the Symphony cut to ten and fifteen, and two weeks ago Caulfield's Garrick dropped its price from fifteen, twenty and thirty cents to ten, fifteen and twenty cents.

In and Around Denver

G. W. WHITNEY, local manager for General, has just returned from a trip covering northern Colorado, including Fort Collins and Longmont, visiting exhibitors in that section.

Dorothy Dalton, Ince-Paramount Star, and Edmund Lowe, Who Appears with Her in "Vive La France!"

MISS M. HUBBELL, owner of the Lyric and Novelty theatres, at Loveland, Colo., is in Denver this week, arranging bookings.

HUGH RENNIE of Colorado Foursquare is back from an extensive New Mexico trip and reports a big business.

R. H. McCLUSKEY has returned from a very successful trip covering Arkansas Valley points for Mutual, and will shortly leave for Salt Lake to cover Utah and Idaho territory.

MUTUAL has engaged a new salesman, E. B. Remington of Denver, who has been engaged in other lines but ranks as a topnotcher.

JOE B. YEAGER, owner of the Rex houses in Raton and Trinidad, visited Film Row last week.

M. C. GERHART, owner of the Lyric and Princess theatres in Fort Collins, has re-opened the latter house with a combination picture and vaudeville program. The Princess has been closed during the summer.

J. S. KING, proprietor of the Empress and Lyric at Laramie, Wyo., is taking the baths and enjoying a much needed rest at Thermopolis. He is considering selling the Lyric, which has been closed for some time.

"T. Y." HENRY of Foursquare is back from a trip covering Arkansas Valley and western slope points. He reports an excellent business, which includes the booking of "The Eagle's Eye" by the Isis at Alamosa and the Orpheum at Glenwood Springs.

F. W. NORMAND has rsigned his position as road salesman for Fox and cast his lot with Golwyn.

SUPREME PHOTOPLAYS CORPORATION has recently purchased David Graham Phillips' masterpiece, "The Grain of Dust," for Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah. This picture stars Lillian Walker, erstwhile known as Dimple Lily. Announcement will be made later by Supreme as to where this picture will be shown in Denver and other principal cities in Denver territory.

I. EHRENSOFT of Supreme, is back from Cheyenne and northern Colorado and reports contracts on practically all features distributed by Supreme.

MANAGER MUEHLMAN of Fox, says that "Riders of the Purple," William Farnum's standard production, is breaking all records. It went on for a five days' run at the Isis in Denver Sunday, and has been playing to crowded houses all week.

H. A. DUBUQUE has sold his U. S. A. theatre at Sidney, Neb., to N. G. Brewer, one time owner of the American theatre at Kimball. Mr. Dubuque still retains the Orpheum at Scotts Bluff and the Imperial at Alliance.

UNIVERSAL PICTURES are having a good inning in Denver this week. The Strand opened Sunday with Mae Murray in "Modern Love," changing to Mildred Harris in "For Husbands Only" on Wednesday, and followed on Saturday with "Crashing Through to Berlin." Each of these super productions went over with a bang and the S. R. O. sign out nearly all week.

NO SMALL PART of the success of the Strand is due to Miss E. Tuhey, the charming young managing director of the Strand, who is responsible for all of their catchy newspaper ads and unique lobby displays.

R. C. HUDSON, specializing on Jewels and Standards for Universal, is out on a trip through Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota. He will be absent six weeks.

"THE KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN" drew $173.50 at the box office of the Liberty theatre at Manville, Wyo., on Sunday, August 25. Manville is a little hamlet of 150 population, 100 per cent American.

Advertise in the West Coast

Bessie Barriscale, Paralta Star, and Boys of the Section Naval Base at Point Loma, San Diego, Cal., Whom She Has Adopted as Godmother

Notes from Here and There

DOROTHY DALTON, who this week finished a new picture the story of which was supplied by J. G. Hawks and John Lynch, was selected as sponsor at a benefit ball game played in Pasadena between the Pasadena Merchants and the Army and Navy Aviators of North Island, San Diego. She was also sponsor at the game played in Los Angeles on Sunday between the Army and Navy Aviators and the Submarine Base team of San Pedro.

"FUSS AND FEATHERS" is the working title conferred upon the new production in which Enid Bennett takes the leading role. The story has to do with a father who strikes it rich in a miniug camp and the adventures of father and daughter when they later migrate to the city and society. Fred Niblo is the director and John P. Lockey plays the part of the old miner. Director Niblo this week secured several miners from Placer, Cal., who visited the studio and gave some valuable advice on stage settings and other incidentals relative to the subject being filmed.

CHARLES RAY has completed "Dreamy Dub," which was directed by Jerome Storm, who appeared in pictures with the Ince star before entering the directorial field.

THE CORNER STONE of the new Ince studio at Culver City was put in place this week. Mr. Ince expects to occupy the building about November 1. The new studio, it is said, will cost about $500,000. It is of Colonial style and will occupy nine acres of ground.

THE FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY STUDIO this week added two more stars to their honor flag when Paul Perry and John Brown left to join the colors. Perry is a cameraman, who has been with Director George Melford for more than a year, and he went to Camp Kearny, near San Diego, and from there will go to Columbia University for a course in aerial photography. Victor Fleming, former cameraman for the Douglas Fairbanks Company at this studio, is instructor in this department at Columbia and has a commission of captain. Upon completion of the course Perry will be given a lieutenantship.

JOHN BROWN has been assistant director to C. B. and William de Mille. He is a former newspaper man, who joined the British Ambulance Service shortly after the war broke out. Because of injury he was discharged, and returned to Los Angeles. Recently he underwent an operation for the removal of a nerve from his leg. The operation was successful, and he is now physically fit to re-enter the service. He went to San Francisco, where he enlisted in the American Ambulance Service.

Salt Lake City Exchanges

W. A. CALKINS, Branch Manager

PATHE EXCHANGE, Inc.

D. PURDY, Representative 64 Exchange Place

ROY MARSHALL, former assistant director for George Melford, who went to Camp Lewis, American Lake, almost a year ago, has been commissioned Captain, and spent several days of the past week at the Lasky studio while on furlough.

"THE WAY OF A MAID WITH A MAN," a story by Ida M. Lewis, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, is to serve as the second Bryant Washburn-Paramount story, which will be released under another title. Continuity for this has been prepared and Donald Crisp has been selected to direct it. Wanda Hawley, who played opposite Washburn in his first Paramount, will continue in this capacity in this story. Fred Goodwins has been cast for one of the principal roles.

San Diego News Condensed

THE PLAZA gave a full week's showing of the Chaplin picture, "Triple Trouble," following it with Lila Lee in "The Cruise of the Make Believes" for a week. The official war pictures proved especially interesting, as they showed Brigadier General Johnson Hagood, formerly stationed at Fort Rosecrans.

WEEK RUNS are proving to be quite the general rule at local houses. At the Pickwick, Lois Weber in "The Doctor and the Woman" followed "Woman and the Law," both full-week showings.

"THE SINKING OF THE LUSITANIA," well advertised by the Broadway management, proved a good card, jointly shown with Billie Burke in "In Pursuit of Polly."

MANAGER HICKS, of the Cabrillo, has booked for a week the De Mille-directed "Old Wives for New," along with "Fatty" Arbuckle in "The Cook."

IN HIS PUBLICITY covering Mae Marsh in "Money Mad," Manager Bush, of the Superba, declared that this star "of a thousand faces" makes use of all of them in this production. On the same weekly program was Billy Parson in "Billy Settles Down," besides the Universal News.

Directory of Los Angeles Exchanges and Supply Houses

PAREX FILM CORP.
FURNISHING
WM. L. SHERRY SERVICE
SAN FRANCISCO — 180 Golden Gate Ave., C. I. LUNTZ, Mgr.
SEATTLE — 2022 Third Ave., L. A. TODD, Mgr.
LOS ANGELES—511 W. Eighth St., F. M. STEELE, Mgr.
WM. ALEXANDER, District Mgr.
Headquarters—LOS ANGELES

LOUIS HYMAN
Manager
ALL STAR FEATURE DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.
514 West Eighth Street

J. SLIPPER & CO.
Projecting Machines
Simplex, Baird, Motiographs
Hertner Transverter
Theatre Equipment and Supplies
728 South Olive Street
Write for Catalog

The George Kleine System
Perfection Pictures
E. H. SILCOCKS
Branch Manager
209 Knickerbocker Building

AMERICAN FILM CO., INC.
William Russell Margarita Fisher
Mary Miles Minter Productions
C. J. CROWLEY, Representative
Distributed Through Pathe Exchange
732 So. Olive St.

UNIVERSAL FILM EXCHANGES, INC.
Successor to California Film Exchange
DAVID BERSHON, MANAGER.
Distributors of Universal, Jewel and Lois Weber Productions, Blue Bird Photoplays, Century and Lyons & Moran Comedies
822 S. OLIVE ST.

H. F. CHARLES
District Manager
American Photo Player Co.
737 South Olive Street

VITAGRAPH
So. California and Arizona
W. H. HEPBURN
Branch Manager
Knickerbocker Building
643 South Olive Street

What Seattle Exhibitors Say

SMILING BILL DRUMMOND, one of the best liked men on Film Row, and certainly the most popular one in Mrs. Drummond's eyes, as well as vice versa, has returned from a swing around his territory for the Perfection Pictures, where he brought home big results in showing the "Unbeliever" to the exhibitors.

THERE was an accident at the George Kleine System the other day. The awning became muddy, or something, and as it is not a self-cleaner, Miss Edna Tuthile took it upon herself to climb up and clean it. She did a good job of it. Well, that's expected of her. She knows how to do it.

OSCAR W. OLSON has re-opened the Mutual, at 1062 Union avenue, Portland, Ore., which has been closed during part of the summer. He opened with the "Bluebird" and the "Lion's Claw," doing good in both.

"DOC" OWENS, former manager of the Bungalow, Oakland, Ore., has enlisted and turned the management over to C. P. Huntington.

H. H. JOHNSON, manager of the Strand theatre, Tooele, Utah, has joined the army and the management will be under the direction of Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson has already proved herself an up-to-date and discriminating manager, and there is no doubt but that the Strand will continue its money-making policy.

J. H. WILLETT, of Amity, Ore., has decided to reopen his theatre again. To begin with, it will be open on Saturday nights only. After the harvest season he opened it and ran a full show twice a week. Those associated with him are having regular meetings regarding the policy of the house, and how many times it should be open during the month.

The Mountain-Plains Theatre Supply Co.
1514-18 Welton Street, Denver, Col.
106 So. 14th St., Omaha, Neb. 136 E. 2nd So. St., Salt Lake City, Utah
Distributors for Simplex and Powers Machines. Everything for the Motion Picture Theatre. Also distributors for latest in Reels and Film Shipping Cases.
Write for Catalogue

J. H. MILLER, of the Rex, Orofino, Idaho, has rented the Grand, at Weippe, from T. B. Lewis and will operate it for the next three months while Mr. Lewis takes a vacation. Mr. Lewis is now in Vancouver, Wash., with his son Earl, who has enlisted in the aviation branch of the Signal Service.

MRS. O. C. LEITER, who is in full charge of the Arcade and Star at La Grande, Ore., since the enlistment of her brother and partner, J. D. Lewis, has taken full charge now. The Star, which has been running on limited time since Mr. Meyers has gone "over there" to capture the Kaiser, is now open every night.

JACK KAUFFMAN, of the Empire Theatre, Anacortes, Wash., was on Film Row the other day, and while there ran into the Universal office and booked "The Geezer of Berlin."

R. R. HIESTAND, of Olympia, was a recent visitor to Seattle's Film Row last week.

C. E. STILLWELL, the biggest film operator in Spokane, Wash., while on Seattle's film street, remarked that the show business over there is poor, if not worse. The reason for this is that at least 40,000 have left Spokane to come to Seattle, or some of the other Northwest coast cities, to obtain work in the shipyards, where they make from $4.50 to $10 per day.

THE NEW STRAND, in Tacoma, is being completed. It will contain at least 1,100 seats and be constructed in the most modern manner.

HARRY LUSTIG, Metro special Western representative, who has up to date had his main office in Seattle, will move it to Los Angeles, Cal.

ART WEINSTOCK, one of Schlaifer's best salesmen, has returned from a successful trip in Eastern Washington.

What's New in Salt Lake City

CHARLES MUEHLMAN, manager of the Denver office of the Fox Film Corporation, was a visitor in Salt Lake for the past week. J. B. Roden, manager of the Salt Lake office, is leaving for a two-week trip into Idaho.

GORDON PLACE, recently transferred from the position of publicity man with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in this city to the company's home office in New York, has gone to his new post.

SIX out of eight theatres in Salt Lake are using Triangle service, according to M. H. Kuhn, manager of the local office of the Triangle Company.

(Continued on page 7)

Directory of San Francisco Exchanges and Supply Houses

OUR MOST RECENT SUCCESSES INCLUDE

"The Still Alarm" "The Grain of Dust"
A Successor to "The Whip" "Nine Tenths of the Law"
"The Crucible of Life"

OUR FILLERS SURPASS ALL OTHERS

GAUMONT WEEKLY—2 each week
2 BILLY WEST COMEDIES—Monthly
VAUDEVILLE MOVIES—2 each month
1 SONG HIT IN PHOTO-PLAYS—Weekly

California Distributors of United States Official War Films

ALL STAR FEATURES DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.
SOL. L. LESSER, President

191 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco
514 West Eighth Street, Los Angeles

TURNER and DAHNKEN
BRANCH OF
FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS' CIRCUIT, Inc.,
Music Rolls Exchanged—Supplies of All Kinds
134 Golden Gate Avenue San Francisco, California

M. H. LEWIS
Branch Manager
PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT

G. A. METCALFE
Distributor
POWER'S MACHINES
SPEER CARBONS
117 Golden Gate Avenue
San Francisco, Cal.

M AND R
730 SO. OLIVE ST., L. A.
107 GOLDEN GATE AVE., S. F.

NOW BOOKING
THE EYES OF THE WORLD
A Cyclonic Whirlwind—From the Story by Harold Bell Wright.

RAMONA—Story of Early California. From the Story by Helen Hunt Jackson.

THE AVENGING CONSCIENCE, with the Clansman Cast.

THE WARRIOR—Featuring Maciste, the Italian Fairbanks.

McClure's—Geo. Loane Tucker Production, MOTHER.

LIFE OR HONOR?—Featuring Violet Palmer, James Morrison, Leah Baird.

MARRIED IN NAME ONLY, with Milton Sills.

ONE LAW FOR BOTH—Featuring Rita Jolivet, Pedro De Cordoba, James Morrison.

SINS OF AMBITION—Featuring Barbara Castleton.

KALE-ALTA SLIDE CO.
B. O. Youngman
Theatre Slides of Quality
Excellent Assortment Stock Slides
1028 Market Street
61 Golden Gate Avenue

VITAGRAPH
R. B. QUIVE
Branch Manager
985 Market Street
Fifth Floor

CONSOLIDATED FILM CORPORATION
90 Golden Gate Avenue SAN FRANCISCO
2016 Third Avenue SEATTLE
DISTRIBUTING KATZENJAMMER AND HAPPY HOOLIGAN CARTOONS—DITMAR'S LIVING BOOK OF NATURE—BRUCE SCENICS—NEWMAN TRAVELS—GAUMONT NEWS AND GRAPHIC (Seattle Only)

(Continued from page 6)

B. F. ROSENBERG, manager of the Salt Lake office for the Metro Company, is in Butte, Montana.

W. P. HORNE, manager of the Columbia theatre, Roxburg, Idaho, was a caller at the local offices of the Bluebird Corporation the past week, as were also Herman Neipau, Liberty theatre, Brigham; Alvin D. McGuire, American theatre, Brigham, and Harvey Johnson, of the Rex, Logan.

UNDER a reorganized management, the Exhibitors' Booking Corporation has affiliated with the Affiliated Distributors' Corporation, with headquarters at Grand Rapids, Mich. At a recent meeting of the directors of the local organization, H. E. Skinner, of Ogden, was elected president, to succeed Joseph Barlow, of Murray. George C. Lindsey, of Eureka, becomes general manager. A. L. Stallings is now superintendent of distribution in the eleven Western States served through the local office, with its affiliations with other Western booking organizations.

Mr. Barlow, with the assistance of Theo. B. Miller, is occupied with the work of superintendent of organization. Mr. Skinner, the new president of the association, is manager of the Alhambra theatre, in Ogden. Mr. Lindsay is expected to be in Salt Lake within a few days to take up his new duties.

BEARING the purple stamp of the censor's bureau of New Zealand, a letter was received the other day at the Salt Lake offices of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for "Miss Billie Burke." It was posted at New Plymouth, New Zealand, July 6. Leaving a keen curiosity in its wake, the letter was forwarded to the company's New York office for delivery to the movie star.

H. H. JOHNSON, formerly of the Strand theatre, Tooele, Utah, has achieved the rank of sergeant since entering the army six weeks ago. During Mr. Johnson's absence Mrs. Johnson is running the theatre.

Boost

for the Liberty Loan

and

War Savings

Stamps

News of the Week in Portland

B. J. SPERRY, Portland Pathe representative, has opened offices in the Liberty Theatre building.

JOE BAUM, in charge of the poster department at Universal headquarters in Portland, has returned to the Seattle office and is on the road once more.

DICK CHARLES, of Vader, Washington, who has a string of Liberty theatres in half a dozen Southern Washington towns, was in Portland giving the exchanges an inquisitive scanning the other day.

JOHN HAMRICK, Seattle exhibition magnate, is going to show his picture, "Fall of Barbary Coast," at the Star theatre, Portland, in October.

GEORGE JACKSON, former Mutual manager, was in Portland from Camp Lewis last week. George wears Uncle Sam's uniform now. He expects to go into the artillery soon and is angling for a commission. Before entering the film game George was a civil engineer, engaged in railroad work.

H. H. BROWNELL has succeeded F. M. Hamburger as manager of the Portland Mutual Exchange. Joe Merrick, Mutual supervisor, made the appointment when in Portland a few days ago, nabbing "Brownie" from Greater Vitagraph. Brownell is very well known in the Northwest, both as a film salesman of the hustling contingent and a camera man. He has snapped several roundups at Pendleton and transferred much magnificent Northwest scenery to the celluloid. The new Mutual boss was with Universal until he left for Los Angeles and studioland a year ago. He quit studio work to handle "Over the Top" for Greater Vitagraph in Oregon.

C. M. HILL, Famous Players-Lasky chief in Oregon, is a fishing enthusiast, even though his fish basket smells of anything but trout. He invaded the Estacada territory a week or two ago, caught no fish, and in addition was forced to leave his limping Apperson by the road with a broken rim.

AL. EDEN brought the Fox special, "The Prussian Cur," down to Portland for a special showing at the Majestic recently. He was accompanied by J. R. Grainger, one of Sheehan's staff men, while the same train brought Jack Woody, now Select "higher up," and Edwin F. James, former Portland exhibitor and now operating the Victory theatre at Tacoma. J. J. Parker, of the Majestic, has booked the picture and expects to put it on with some lively stunts.

DONALD McDONALD, son of A. H. McDonald, the Eugene, Ore., exhibition magnate, is now operating the Eugene theatre, which presents road shows and big pictures, and they say he is doing an exceedingly good job of it.

MANAGER ARMSTRONG, of the Strand theatre, is preparing for a most ambitious 1918-19 season. He is going to raise his night and Sunday admission price from 15 to 20 cents for adults, maintaining the ten cent matinee, has arranged for a series of personal appearances of film stars starting with Princess Mona Darkfeather, and has booked features from nearly a dozen programs, with such stars as Harry Carey, Tom Mix, Gladys Brockwell, George Walsh, Virginia Pearson, Monroe Salisbury, Jewel Carmen, Francis X. Bushman, Doris Kenyon, Bert Lytell, Beverly Bayne, Bryant Washburn, Mae Marsh and Madge Kennedy.

THE STRAND is undergoing extensive repairs and alterations, including improvements in the lighting system and new stage scenery. This house is a "photoville" theatre, presenting film features and four vaudeville acts, with two changes a week. Under Armstrong's management the theatre has turned from a loser into a big money-maker, and the popular man-at-the-helm takes his place among the best showmen in the territory.

O. C. SMITH, of Dallas, Ore., who has been taking a motor vacation since disposing of his house to J. C. Uglow, was in Portland the other day en route home from a Central Oregon trip.

L. E. PARTRIDGE, of the Gem theatre, Tillamook, Ore., was another recent Portland visitor. Likewise Mrs. Webb, of the Cozy theatre, Union, Ore., and H. L. Percy, of the Rialto, Medford. Also C. C. Ferguson, of the Baker theatre, Newburg, Ore., and Denny Hull, of the Liberty at North Bend.

MR. AND MRS. W. A. COUGHANOUR, of the Emma theatre, Payette, Idaho, were in Portland not long ago on the last leg of a trip which took them to the Coast to look after some timber interests. They report good business in their territory.

FRANK HAZELWOOD, of the Unique theatre, Myrtle Point, Ore., showed his appreciation of some fine pictures by sending Sol. Baum, Universal manager, a box of trout.

E. E. COLESTOCK, manager of the theatre at Cloverdale, Ore., died suddenly on August 15. Charles Ray has succeeded him in control of the theatre. Mr. Colestock was well and favorably known to the film fraternity of the Northwest.

JOE BRADT, of the Echo, Portland, has reopened his theatre after closing it for several weeks of remodelling.

C. H. DUNLAP has bought the Rex theatre, Lakeview, Ore.

MANAGER HOLTZCLAW, of the Circle theatre, Portland, made a hit with his watermelon night. He gave away thirty ice-cooled melons to holders of lucky tickets at a Friday night show.

CLIFF WORK, former manager of the Spokane Orpheum, before that assistant manager of the Portland Orpheum, and recently with Universal, has applied for service in the tank corps.

FRANK A. LACEY, former assistant manager of the Strand theatre, Portland, Ore., is now manager of the Majestic theatre of the Oregon metropolis, succeeding W. W. Kofeldt, who is now on the briny as a chief steward in Uncle Sam's merchant marine. In California Lacey was manager of Clune's at Santa Ana, a Los Angeles house, and one in San Francisco, while he had his own theatres at Tacoma, North Yakima and Roseburg. He has also been identified with states right pictures. Lacey's versatility was shown when he invented the electric motor vehicle, which proved one of the biggest money-makers at the San Francisco Exposition of 1915.

J. J. PARKER, of the Majestic theatre, has announced to the Portland public that he will dedicate his new Wurlitzer Hope-Jones special organ on Saturday, September 21, with Wendell O'Day, one of the best known organists on the Pacific Coast, at the console. Parker's new Wurlitzer was ordered last November, the theatre man giving the company carte blanche in the matter of construction. A careful examination of the theatre was made and the organ was built especially for the popular Rose City house.

CARL MARQUARD, new manager of the Globe theatre, Portland, has introduced the Liberty Belle Girluform to Portlanders. This nifty military suit, with black patent leather English harness belt and trench cap, is designed to be worn by women or girls who relieve men for war duty. J. C. Stille, of the People's and Star theatres, has been trying out feminine "doormen," but Marquard is the first to make them a regular thing in the downtown theatres of Portland. Walter Armstrong, of the Strand, is going to replace his boy attaches with girls, while all other theatres are soon to employ nothing but feminine help for ushers, door tenders, etc.

THE SCRAP between the members of the Theatrical Federation and the theatre managers of Portland did not develop, the managers finally accepting the six-day week and the wage increase with as good grace as possible.

CLAUDE JENSEN, of Jensen and Von Herberg, is back in Portland following a two weeks' trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

What Butte Is Doing

A VISIT was paid to Butte last week by M. Rosenberg, Seattle president of the De Luxe Feature Film Company, this being his first call in the mining city. He came here in the interests of some of the bigger features he is handling, including "Hearts of the World." Mr. Rosenberg was impressed with the enterprise and business activity in Butte.

THE AMERICAN THEATRE did good business with "Over There," which played at Bailey's house the past week.

PHIL LEVY, manager of the Ansonia Amusement Company, which in addition to operating picture houses in Butte, is conducting the New Marlowe at Helena, paid a visit to the Helena house the past week.

GREAT FALLS will have fourteen showings of "Hearts of the World," running matinees and nights for seven days, beginning September 21, at the Palace. This will be a record run for a feature of this magnitude in the Cascade City. The feature will run three days at the Broadway in Butte, beginning September 18, and will return two weeks later for another three-day run. A Fickelstien is booking "Hearts of the World" in Montana. He reports good demand and says that in Washington wherever the picture has been shown it has been a case of big business. "Hearts of the World" will carry ten people in the company through Montana, including the orchestra.

PARAMOUNT WEEK went big at the Rialto, starting with Douglas Fairbanks in "Bound in Morocco," for the first half and Charles Ray in the final half. A number of other Montana houses also observed Paramount-Artcraft national week with success.

JENSEN & VON HERBERG of Seattle, owners of a celebrated string of high-class picture houses in the Northwest, when in Butte recently, signed up the biggest film contract ever signed by a Northwestern house, according to men in a position to know. The gentlemen contracted for the entire Paramount-Artcraft and Famous Players-Lasky output for the coming year, the price involved, it is rumored, being in excess of $50,000. The contract was for the Rialto theatre in this city. The Rialto will, in addition to the features of this combination, show the bigger releases of the First National, including the Chaplins.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH RUFFNER have returned from a visit in Salt Lake, where the manager of the Rialto theatre, visited scenes of his childhood days, not having been in the Mormon City since 1897, when he left there after seven years residence. The Butte people were guests of George F. Carpenter of the Paramount-Empress, while in the Utah city. They report a very delightful visit. "Show business in Salt Lake is normal." said Mr. Ruffner to the MOTION PICTURE NEWS representative. "The theatres are playing the highest calibred attractions with the result that the box office shows good receipts. As for Salt Lake, well, the city has simply outgrown itself and it was difficult for me to discover any familiar old landmarks."

Advertise

in

The West Coast

Simplex

HAVE YOU HAD THIS EXPERIENCE?

The projection isn't as good as it was, and day after day you watch it grow worse, until finally the pained expression in the faces of your audience leads you to order repairs.

Now, those repairs may not cost much; but the screen-results which showed their need were much more costly than the repairs themselves. For the people don't say "Never mind, the projection will be better next week, when the Machines have been repaired." Not on your life! They simply stay away.

We realized this from the beginning; and that's why we build the Simplex as nearly repairless as possible: a Machine that doesn't need the Projection Doctor.

And the thousands of Simplexes in use demonstrate that in place of Intermittently Perfect Projection we have created Permanently Perfect Projection.

Intermittently Perfect Projection may pay the P. D., but it doesn't pay you

THE PRECISION MACHINE CO. INC.
317 East 34th St~ New York

You are not giving your negatives, your exchanges or your exhibitors a square deal if you place your printing and developing contract with any laboratory which has not amply prepared to "Carry On" while complying with both the spirit and letter of Government orders concerning fuel, labor and material.

Last Winter, while fuel famine and express congestion were playing havoc in the East, we at Chicago, the natural distributing center, sufficiently and efficiently served our customers.

This Winter will find us again prepared, for we have stored on our premises—Right Now—enough coal to "Carry On" until Spring. We have stocked up with other essentials and, while twenty-two of our men are with the Colors, our organization is strong and determined in spirit and able to cope with the situation.

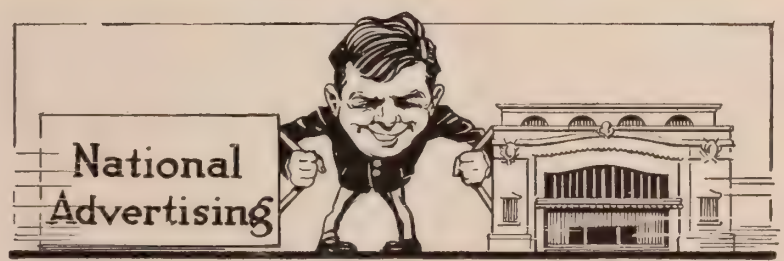
And—Mark You!—for efficient general distribution of a National Release, Chicago's the place.

If you are buying your share of Liberty Bonds and are doing your W. S. S. bit, we will be pleased to figure on your printing and developing.

We Also Make Photoplays to Order.

Rothacker

FILM MFG. CO. CHICAGO, U.S.A.



There are reasons—
Come and see them.

SEPTEMBER 28. 1918

Motion Picture News

Reg. in U. S. Patent Office

DOMINATES THE FIELD

Draw Them Together!

You are working to keep your theatre filled. So is the National Advertising of Paramount and Artcraft Pictures

(NATIONALLY ADVERTISED)

Tie your theatre to the trade-mark!

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Vice Pres. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General
NEW YORK

VOL. XVIII-NO. 13 Entered as Second Class Matter, October 13, 1913, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3rd 1879 PRICE 15 CENTS

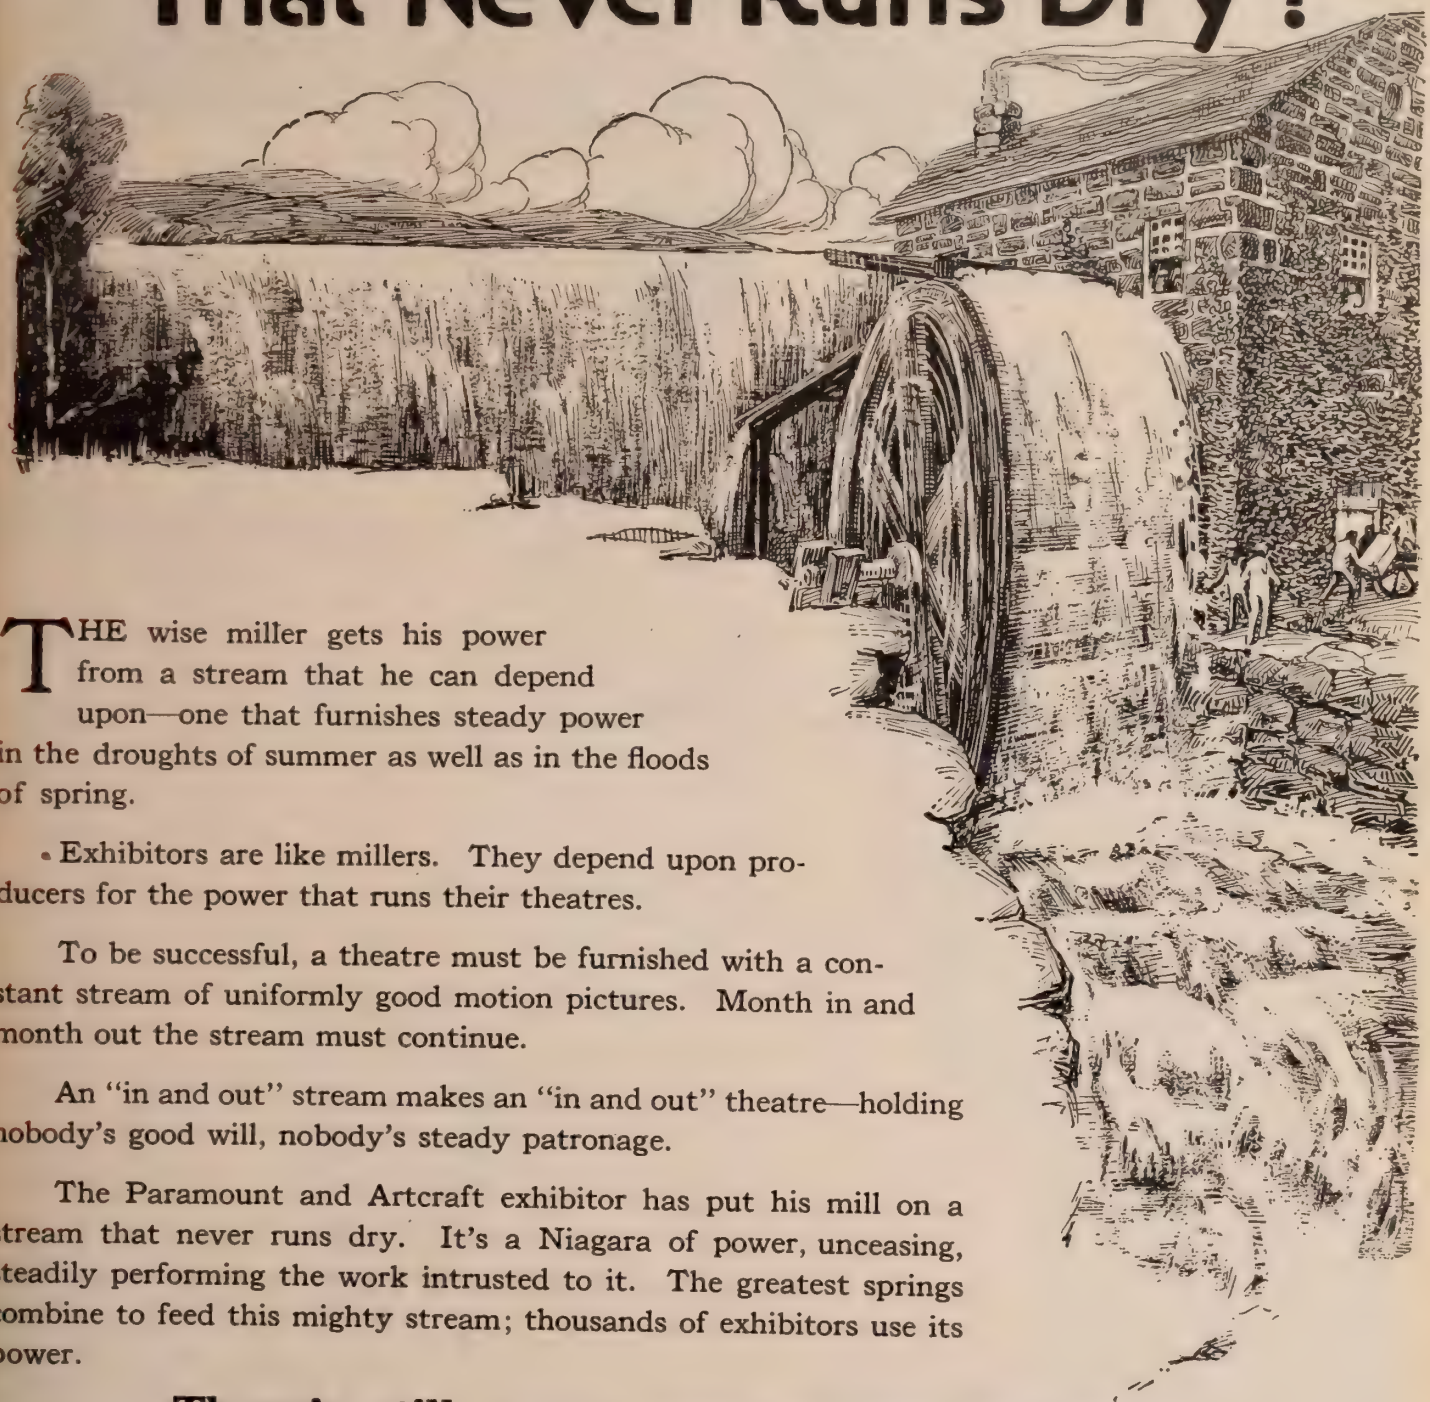
Chicago — 729 Seventh Avenue, New York — Los Angeles

Carmel Myers

Bewitching Bluebird Star in

"A SOCIETY SENSATION"

A Romance of Dreams Come True



Book thru your local Bluebird Exchange or Bluebird Photoplays (Inc.) 1600 Bway., N.Y.

Is Your Mill On a Stream That Never Runs Dry?

THE wise miller gets his power from a stream that he can depend upon—one that furnishes steady power in the droughts of summer as well as in the floods of spring.

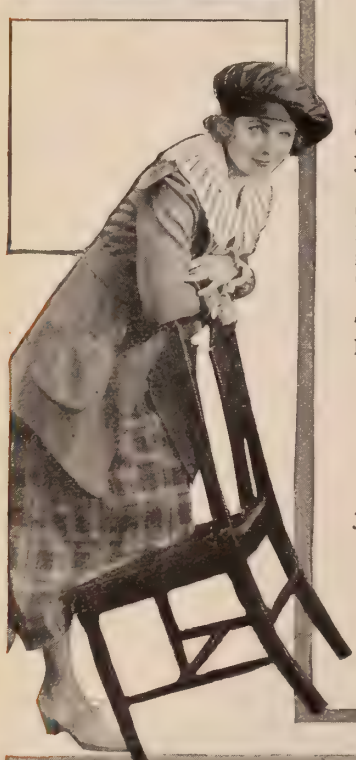
Exhibitors are like millers. They depend upon producers for the power that runs their theatres.

To be successful, a theatre must be furnished with a constant stream of uniformly good motion pictures. Month in and month out the stream must continue.

An "in and out" stream makes an "in and out" theatre—holding nobody's good will, nobody's steady patronage.

The Paramount and Artcraft exhibitor has put his mill on a stream that never runs dry. It's a Niagara of power, unceasing, steadily performing the work intrusted to it. The greatest springs combine to feed this mighty stream; thousands of exhibitors use its power.

There's still more room along the bank—Come set up your mill!



Paramount Pictures

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Vice Pres. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General
NEW YORK

ARTCRAFT PICTURES

Comedies with "Self-Starter" Advertising

EVERY time you take a walk you are faced with the name of James Montgomery Flagg. You see it on magazine covers on every newsstand you pass. You see one of his Government posters every time you look at a billboard.

The exhibitor who shows the Paramount-Flagg Comedies can cash in on that advertising. All he has to do is to announce them, and click! this gigantic "self-starter" advertising will automatically send people to his theatre.

Remember they are not animated drawings. They are thoroughly funny satires on people you know. The first three are:

"HICK MANHATTAN"
"ROMANCE and BRASS TACKS"
"INDEPENDENCE B'GOSH"

Produced by Town and Country Films, Inc.
JACK EATON ELTINGE F. WARNER
Directed by Martin Justice
Released by

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

THERE is a laugh in every sub-title of the Paramount-Flagg Comedies. Flagg is a humorist as well as an artist, and he wrote all the captions. Some specimens:

"A Pacifist seespink until he's kicked hard enough to see red."

"I'm as independent as a man in Class 1-A."

"Independence is like your appendix. You don't know you have it until you've lost it."

"From now on I'm not even going to brush my own teeth if I don t want to."

"The Hun is saying things. But it's in a dying language, so we won't quote him."

"Romance in real life is so apt to take you out of your own class."

The comedies are as clever as the captions, and people are going to laugh at them. Will it be your people or somebody else's?

D.W.GRIFFITH'S

"The Great Love" in Buffalo

"RECORD ESTABLISHED FOR HIPPODROME"

Consider the facts carefully:

Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo, managed by Harold B. Franklin, is the first run house for the biggest features.

D. W. Griffith's "The Great Love" played there during week of August 11th, one of the hottest weeks of the year.

Now read what Mr. Franklin says:

"Capacity business throughout the engagement of D. W. Griffith's 'The Great Love' It established a record for Shea's Hippodrome. Griffith's flawless direction, the distinguished cast, and a story that is fascinating and thrilling enthused our audience to the highest degree. It is a one hundred percent production and was well worth waiting for."

All over the country "The Great Love" is eliciting just such tributes from exhibitors, press and public. You don't need much imagination to realize what it will do in your town.

Released by

Famous Players Pictures — FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION — ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Vice Pres. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General — NEW YORK — Artcraft Pictures

This is one of a series of advertisements showing the success of "The Great Love" in the most important cities of the United States.

Cheer Them Up With "Come on In"

JOHN EMERSON and ANITA LOOS are the greatest gloom dispellers known. They have a knack of getting a laugh into every situation, every caption. The saddest man on earth couldn't sit through their first Paramount production, "Come On In," starring Shirley Mason and Ernest Truex, without forgetting his woes.

Use the ad cuts, which your exchange will give you free, in the newspapers. They will tell your people that you have a cheerful, timely picture. Don't be stingy with paper. Spread it all over town. Remember that if your people see the first Emerson-Loos production they will want to see the others.

By an intelligent use of paper and photographs, which you get at your exchange, you can make your lobby so attractive that they'll have to come in. The picture will do the rest to make them steady customers.

The drawing above is a model lobby, made up of accessories furnished with the picture. Nothing expensive or unusual, but it's a lobby with magnetic powers. Your lobby can look like that.

"Come On In" is such a good picture that you ought to go the limit on it. You won't make a mistake if you do.

Paramount Pictures
FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Vice Pres. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General
NEW YORK
ARTCRAFT PICTURES

Goldwyn Pictures

Are You A "Freak Picture" Success?

THE great American Circus did not become a big profitable institution through its "freaks" in the side-shows.

All circus successes have been created in the Main Tent. They have been built on feats of horsemanship, daring acrobatics, the love of Natural History, the laughable clowns with their burlesques of human nature.

* * *

Some motion picture exhibitors are content to be "freak showmen" seeking success through "freak pictures." Such exhibitors as these cannot be permanently successful.

The basic backbone of each and every successful exhibitor is the motion picture producer who makes clean, wholesome, powerful, appealing pictures.

In this crowded competitive picture field there are very few producing organizations building sanely and permanently for the present and future benefit of the sound exhibitor.

Of the few Goldwyn is unquestionably the leader —in stories, in production values, in stars who deliver the public into your houses; in refinement and quality.

An organization thinking ahead for your protection and competitive independence; not in a hurry for profits; making sane stories sanely and avoiding temporary freak successes.

This is why Goldwyn has more than 5,000 exhibitor-customers.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President EDGAR SELWYN, Vice President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

REX BEACH PICTURES

The Year's Most Human Picture.

—a story of the Alaskan gold country.
—a romance of loyalty and money-hunger.
—a story of happiness and heartbreak.
—a story of strong men fighting Nature and each other.

REX BEACH'S

Drama of Redemption

Laughing Bill Hyde

with

WILL ROGERS

Directed by Hobart Henley

is unlike any Rex Beach production both as to theme and characters. Of Will Rogers in the name role Mr. Beach says: "He is the most human player who ever faced a camera. With his abashed, real smile and the tears welling up in his eyes he will hold audiences as few actors are ever able to do."

"Laughing Bill Hyde" is released everywhere September 30.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

REX BEACH PICTURES

"LAUGHING BILL HYDE" is the first of six Star Series Rex Beach productions—the biggest and most popular stories of America's greatest author.

Every previous Beach production has been an assured money-maker for the world's exhibitors. Never before has there been more than one Rex Beach picture a year.

The new Rex Beach Star Series productions are made in the Goldwyn studios; strengthened still further by the Goldwyn quality and finish and containing the elements of power that Goldwyn gives to every picture it produces.

Other Rex Beach productions in this series are to be "The Crimson Gardenia," "Going Some," "The Net," "The Iron Trail" and "The Silver Horde."

No careful, shrewd exhibitor-business man in the industry is overlooking this sextuple opportunity for profits. Have you signed your contract?

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDWYN President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

A drama duplicating on the screen the historic and vital world-drama of the ousting of the Hun from Siberia. A patriotic inspiration; a wonderful propaganda story; the action and mystery of the Orient; the thrills and action of adventure-loving America.

Betzwood Film Company Presents:

FOR THE FREEDOM of the EAST

with LADY TSEN MEI

The Screen's First and Only Chinese Star

Conceived and directed by IRA M. LOWRY

Goldwyn assures exhibitors, having seen and gauged the screen effect of this production upon spectators, that "For the Freedom of the East" will pull audiences up on their feet cheering and applauding.

The same skilled hands that made "For the Freedom of the World" a money-maker for more than 5,000 exhibitors last season have built an even finer profit-maker now. In addition you link up with the nation-wide popularity of Lady Tsen Mei on the vaudeville circuits. Telegraph or write at once for open dates and price quotations for your theatre.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President

16 East 42*nd* Street New York City

CAPITOL COMEDIES

THE COMEDIAN OF 1,000 SURPRISES

LAUGHTER, speed, variety, fashions, unusual situations—all have their place in the screen exploits of

"SMILING BILL" PARSONS

in CAPITOL COMEDIES

26 a Year Every Second Monday

You, the exhibitor, can be sure they are good and popular because 2,500 other exhibitors are playing them and advertising them because they draw patronage.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

Inaugurating

A NEW ERA IN

VITAGRAPH

BLUE RIBBON FEATURES AND SERVICE

EARLE WILLIAMS STAR SERIES

September 30, 1918—"A Diplomatic Mission" to be followed by seven other Earle Williams Features on these dates.

November 11, 1918 — March 17, 1919
December 23, 1918 — April 28, 1919
February 3, 1919 — June 9, 1919
September 1, 1919

Albert E. Smith
Presents

EARLE WILLIAMS

in The First of His Eight Star Series Releases

"A DIPLOMATIC MISSION"

A FIVE PART BLUE RIBBON FEATURE

Written by DON BARTLETT — Directed by JACK CONWAY

Earle Williams is at the very height of his powers in this feature de luxe which ushers in Vitagraph's new Star Series Releasing Plan.

Action—intrigue—fight—a strong love story—a touch of the Secret Service—with a one hundred per cent. American hero in his dashing Yankee role—"A DIPLOMATIC MISSION" is in every sense worthy to bear the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Seal—"the mark of the highest in photoplay art."

Mr. Williams is supported by a strong cast of Vitagraph favorites headed by beautiful Grace Darmond, and in story, photography and production, "A Diplomatic Mission" will delight the most exacting audiences.

VITAGRAPH

VITAGRAPH SERIALS—

"The Fighting Trail"
"Vengeance—and the Woman"
"The Woman in the Web"

Their history has been written in big figures on the profit side of the box office statements

And now—

In line with the tradition that "Each Vitagraph Serial breaks the record of its predecessor"

WILLIAM DUNCAN in "A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS"

Supported by An All-Star Cast Including

EDITH JOHNSON and JOE RYAN

IS TAXING THE CAPACITY OF THE LARGEST THEATRES!

"——best serial made"
"——two days record business"
"——drew largest summer crowd"
"——packed them in despite heat"
"——don't run serials, but this is an exception"

These are excerpts taken at random from a sheaf of letters and telegrams from Exhibitors all over the continent—voluntarily sent in after packing their theatres with this high-powered melodramatic serial

Coming!

(RELEASE DATE, OCTOBER 21)

ANTONIO MORENO AND CAROL HOLLOWAY IN "THE IRON TEST"

By Albert E. Smith and Cyrus Townsend Brady

VITAGRAPH Albert E. Smith President

ALICE BRADY in

THE seven productions which comprise Alice Brady's first series of Select Pictures offer the Exhibitor a brilliant group of attractions of high merit, splendidly produced, and starring an artist of international repute on both stage and screen. Show these pictures at short intervals, and benefit by their value as a patronage-building series.

[ER SILENT SACRIFICE"

The story of a maid of Brittany who became the idol of smart Paris, and risked all for the man she loved.

/OMAN AND WIFE"

The Alice Brady version of Charlotte Bronte's immortal creation, "Jane Eyre," a fiction classic made a screen triumph.

HE KNIFE"

Made from Eugene Walter's wonderful play. This is one of the most remarkable dramas ever presented on the screen—its action swift and direct, like the stab of a blade through the dark.

"AT THE MERCY OF MEN"

Magnificent acting marks this stirring love drama in which red blood and strong passions sway the hearts of men and women.

"THE ORDEAL of ROSETTA"

A movie for movie fans! Miss Brady is in the picture almost every foot of its five reels, playing many roles in this fascinating screen-play.

"THE WHIRLPOOL"

This clean, wholesome picture tells the story of a young girl who had faith in the better side of human nature—and played her hunch. A winner!

"THE DEATH DANCE"

Hemmed around by adverse circumstances, the one good woman of a fast company—she stayed good! Alice Brady herself dances the difficult "death dance."

ELECT SP PICTURES

AN ideal picture for every class of patronage—is this first of Alice Brady's Second Select Series—clean, of gripping tenseness, and wholly beautiful! This photoplay of twin sisters who loved one man easily outranks this star's best productions in the past. It is a picture which does credit to the screen, and one of which Select is proud.

You will make new friends for Alice Brady with "The Better Half"—and she will win new patrons for your theatre with it.

Another man's wife, and bearing another woman's name—there she stood!

The BETTER HALF

From the novel, "Michael Thwaite's Wife" by Miriam Michelson
Author of "In the Bishop's Carriage"
Scenario by Louis Sherwin

Triangle Presents

Claire Anderson

and

Wellington Cross

in

"THE GREY PARASOL"

by Fred Jackson

Directed by Lawrence Windom

"THE GREY PARASOL"

sparkles with the personalities of Claire Anderson, who does excellent work in this picture, and Wellington Cross, an acknowledged musical-comedy favorite.

This story of a courageous American girl who outwits unscrupulous business interests and German agents—will prove to be a good tonic for your patrons who demand diversion in these times of stress and turmoil.

A Triangle Play that will Please and Profit and enable you to invest in W. S. S.

Triangle Distributing Corporation

1457 Broadway New York

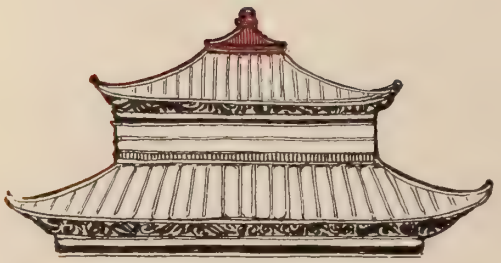
THE GRACIOUS AND BEAUTIFUL

EDNA GOODRICH

Supported by Stuart Holmes

Puts some remarkably fast action in

"TREASON"



How the intelligence branch of the American Army operates—

A society drama with a patriotic punch—

Story by Harry R. Durant

Directed by Francis Grandon

AVAILABLE SEPTEMBER 29
AT MUTUAL FILM EXCHANGES

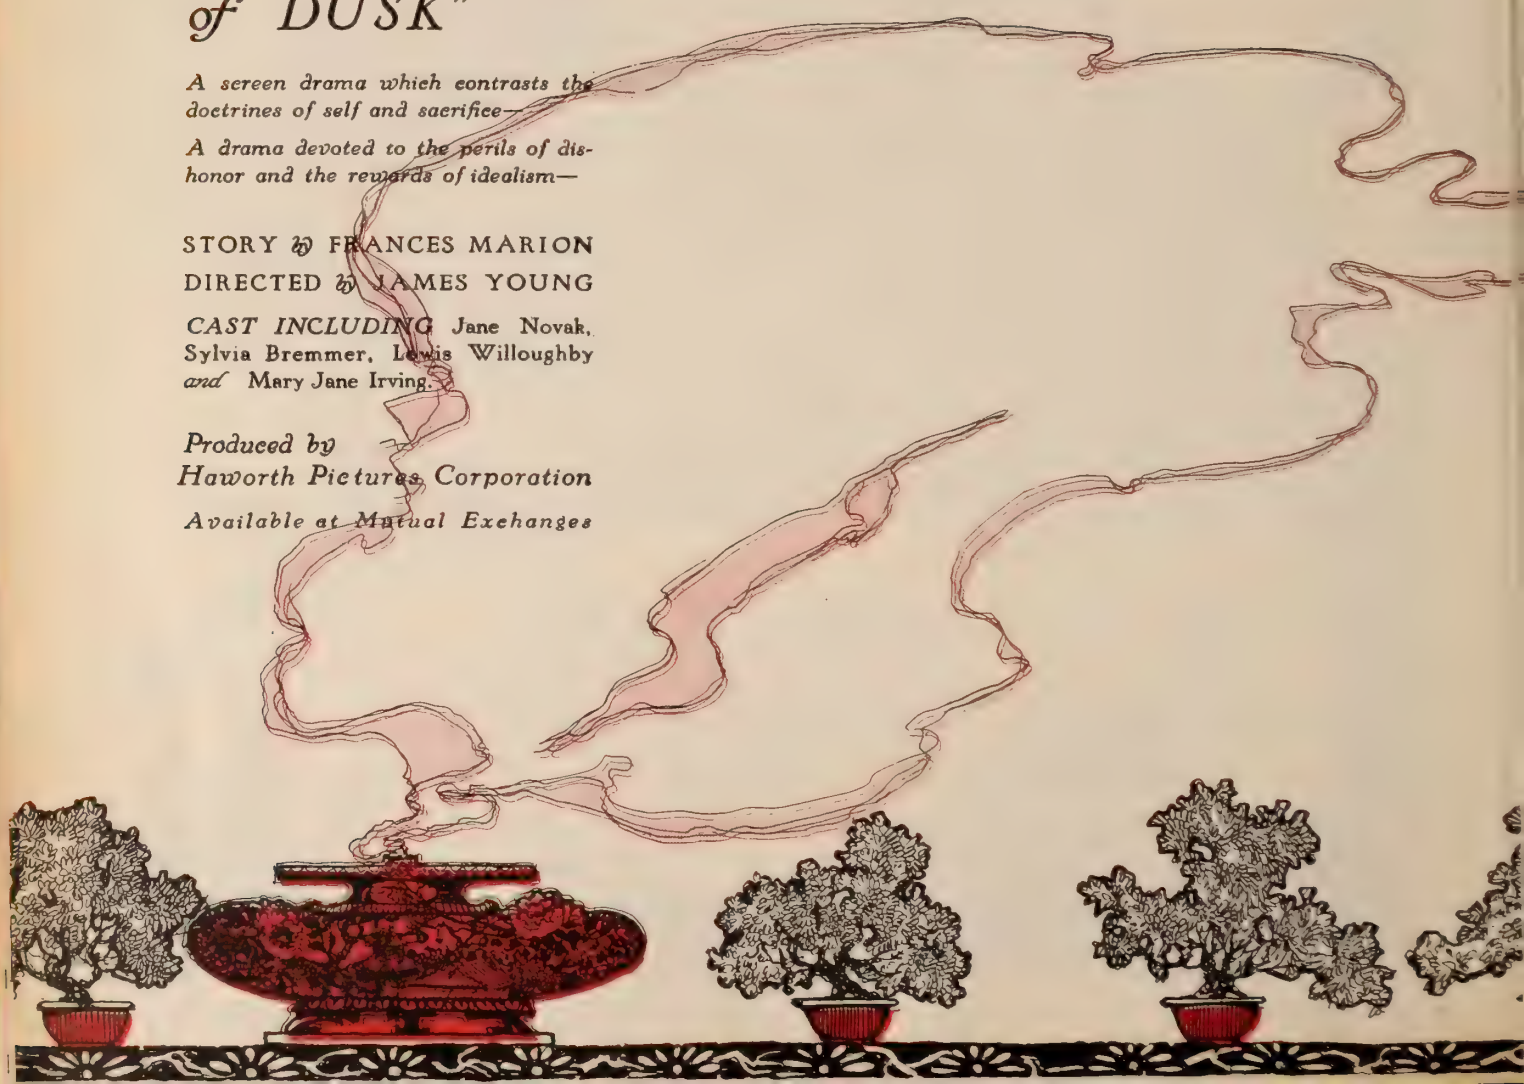
The distinguished and talented actor

SESSUE HAYAKAWA

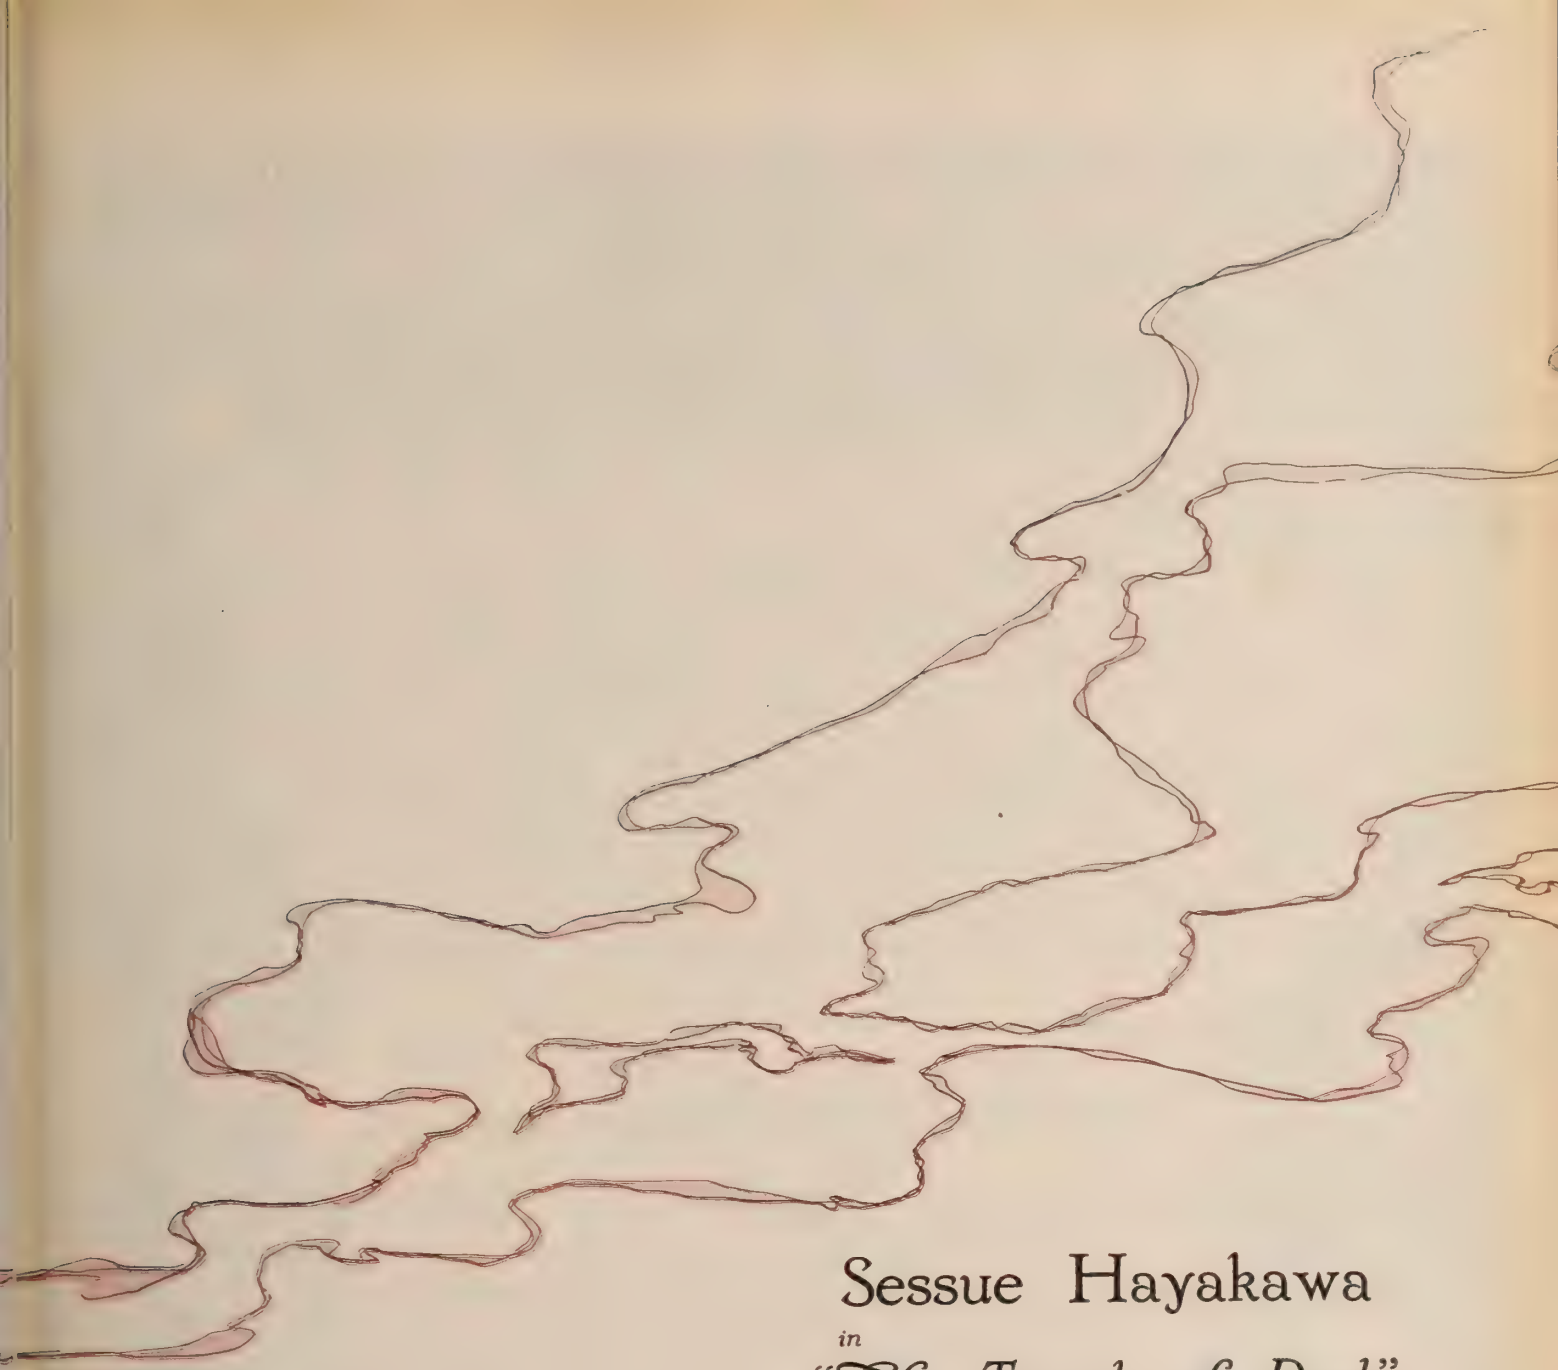
in

"The TEMPLE of DUSK"

A screen drama which contrasts the doctrines of self and sacrifice—



A drama devoted to the perils of dishonor and the rewards of idealism—



STORY by FRANCES MARION
DIRECTED by JAMES YOUNG

CAST INCLUDING Jane Novak, Sylvia Bremmer, Lewis Willoughby and Mary Jane Irving.

Produced by Haworth Pictures Corporation

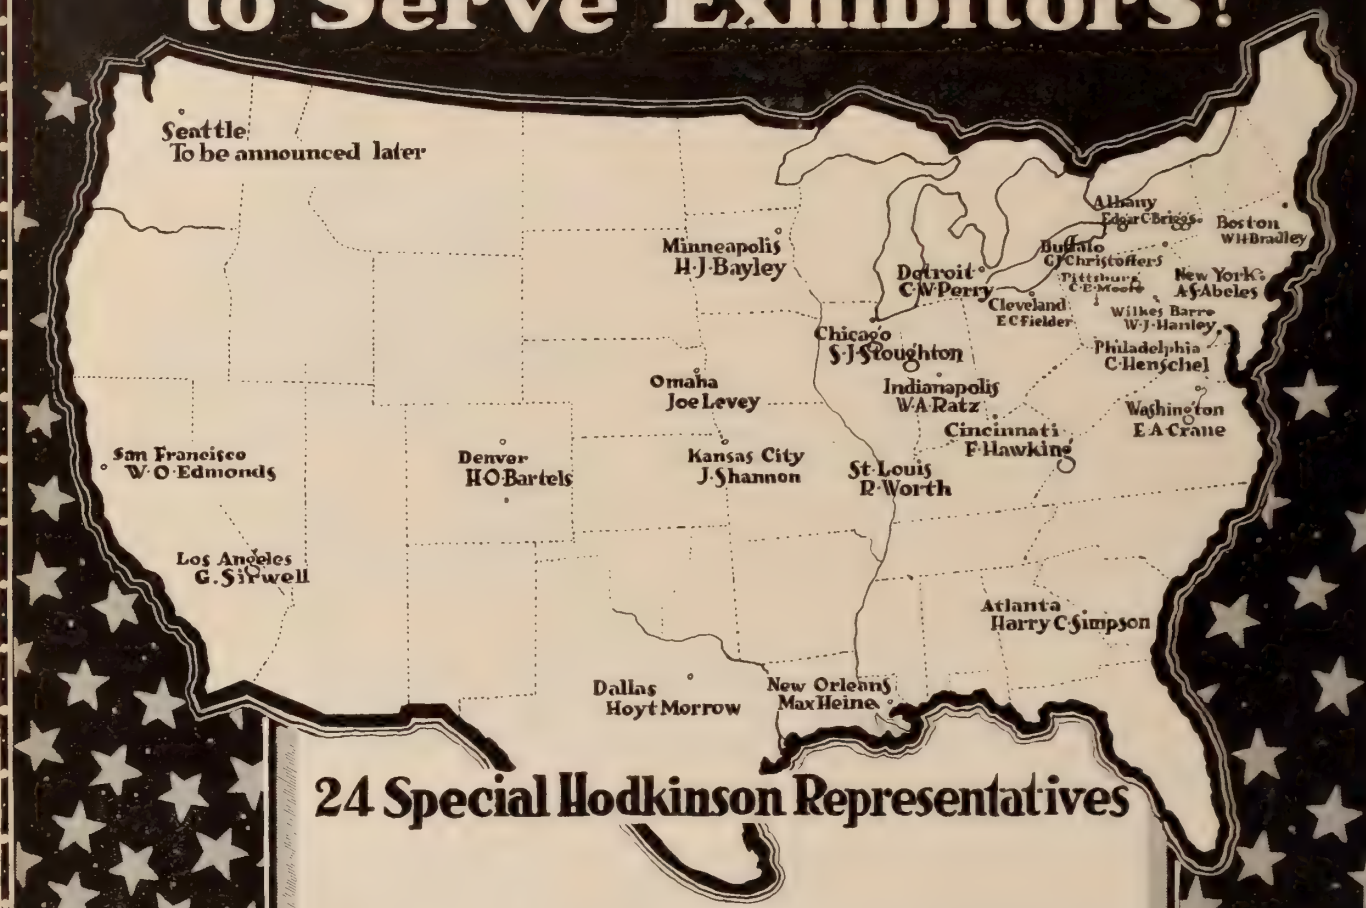
Available at Mutual Exchanges

Sessue Hayakawa

in



"The Temple of Dusk"

Produced by Haworth Pictures Corporation
Available October 20 at Mutual Exchanges

Special Pre-release Date October 13

A National Organization to Serve Exhibitors!

24 Special Hodkinson Representatives

THE twenty-four men representing the Hodkinson Organization throughout the United States are the result of a careful selection from the several hundred applicants who wished to connect themselves with us. Each of these men, we believe, is especially fitted for the territory he is in charge of. Each representative, moreover, realizes that one of the most important parts of his duty is careful service to the exhibitor, including a co-operation and extension of friendly feeling that will promote better business and good will.

If you have not already met the Hodkinson Representative in your territory, there is a distinct pleasure in store for you. Let him help you in every way possible and prove to you that the Hodkinson principle of quality pictures for quality houses distributed on an equitable basis and at reasonable prices is an actual fact, rather than a theory.

HODKINSON SERVICE

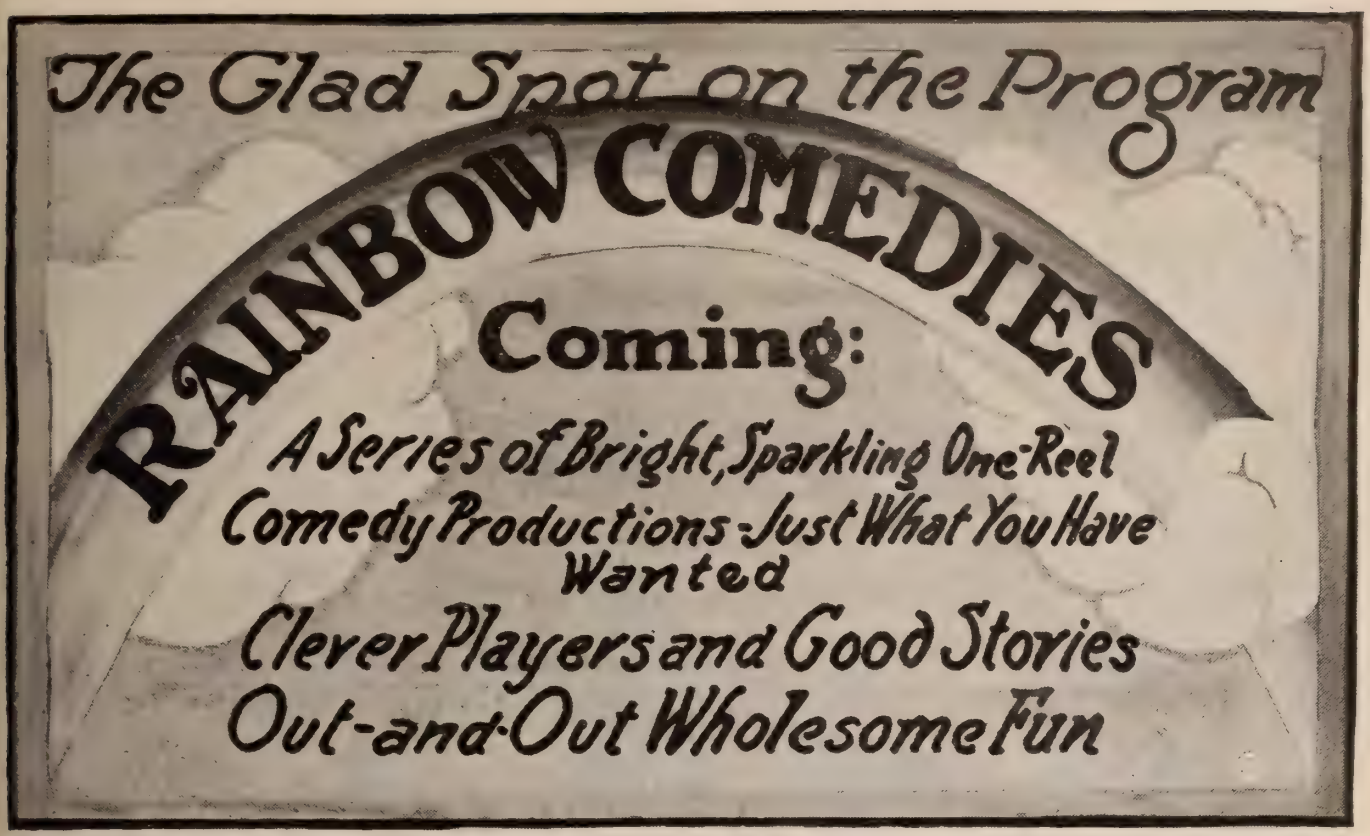
Jesse D. Hampton Productions
Featuring
J. Warren Kerrigan

Lillian Walker Productions

Plaza Pictures

Paralta Plays

Bessie Barriscale Productions



Douglass Natural Color Pictures

AT ALL GENERAL FILM EXCHANGES

Wag

W W Hodkinson Corporation

527 Fifth Ave., · New York City

Copyright 1918, United States Motion Picture Corporation

NOTICE

RAINBOW COMEDIES Will Begin Releases Immediately.

One Issue of RAINBOW COMEDIES Every Two Weeks.

RAINBOW COMEDIES Are Fit For Every Screen and Well Worth Every Showman's Attention.

BE FOREHANDED
BOOK RAINBOW COMEDIES AT ONCE

Produced by

United States Motion Picture Corporation

Wilkes Barre, Pa.

GENERAL FILM COMPANY, Distributor

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

Another Inspiring

AMERICAN RED CROSS FILM

"SOOTHING THE HEART OF ITALY"

A Worthy Rival to "The Historic Fourth of July in Paris" which has Scored such a Huge Success Everywhere

Thrilling Scenes of Panic and Flight Behind the Lines of Fighting on the Piave.—The Red Cross in a Timely Dash with Comfort to a Stricken People.—A Touching Expression of Gratitude to H. P. Davison by Children of a Village—How Aid Was Brought to Restore the Morale of a Nation in Its Most Dark and Trying Hour

Overflowing with Sympathy and Color.—A Film That Surely Will Grip
the Attention of Every Audience

("Five Reels in One")

Produced by

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS
Bureau of Pictures

Distributed for American Red Cross by
GENERAL FILM COMPANY

All the cleverness of
CONAN DOYLE—
The mystery of a "Raffles"—
The supreme sympathy of "Monte Cristo"—
Are combined in the HERO of

Gaumont's Great Photo-Serial

The HAND of VENGEANCE

Each of the 10 episodes is

A REAL STORY

Compelling—Logical—Thrilling

EXHIBITORS can now see the entire 20 reels at the
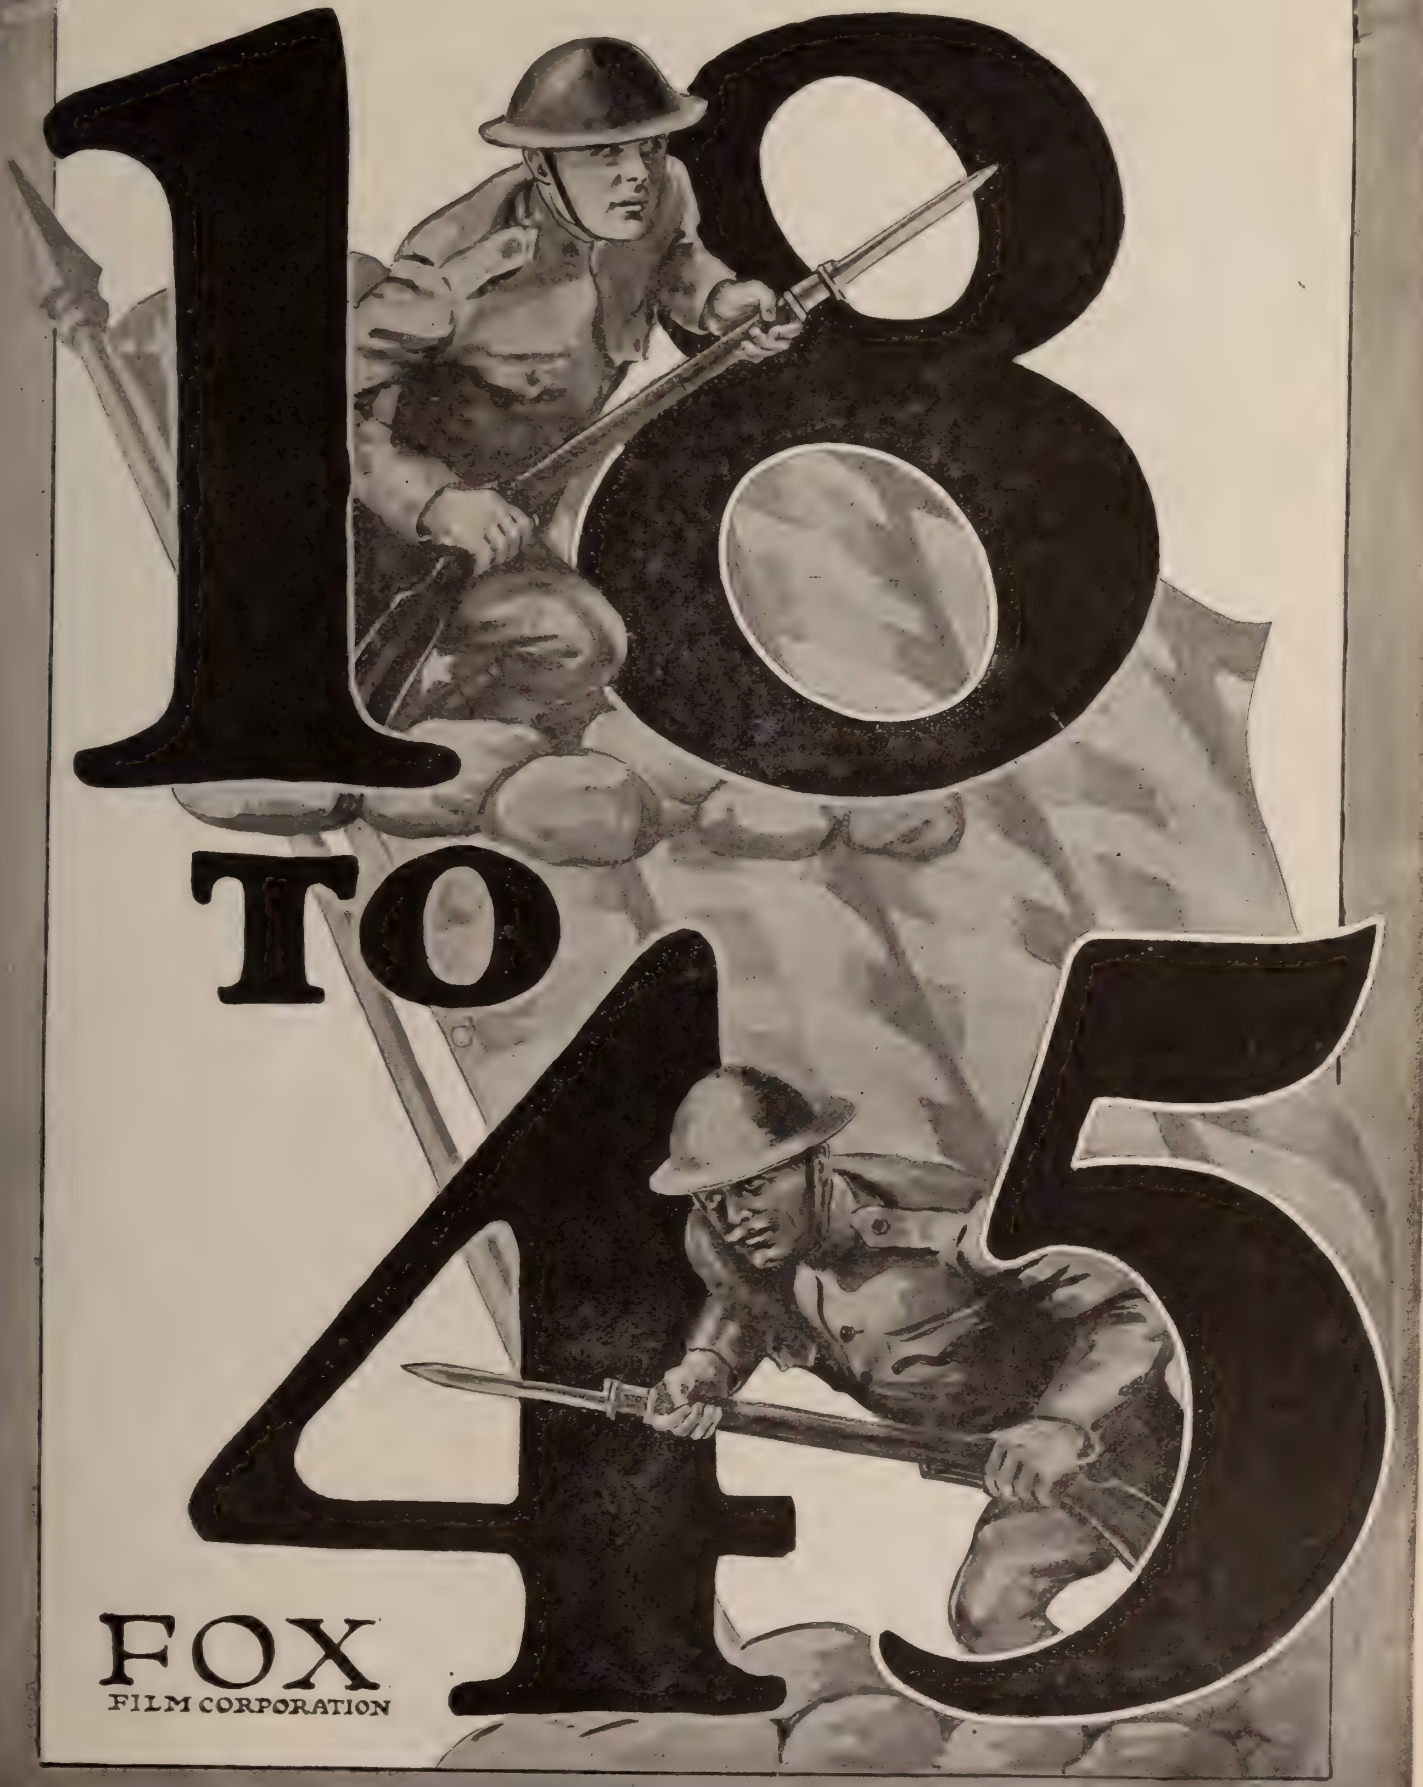
BEST STATES-RIGHT EXCHANGES

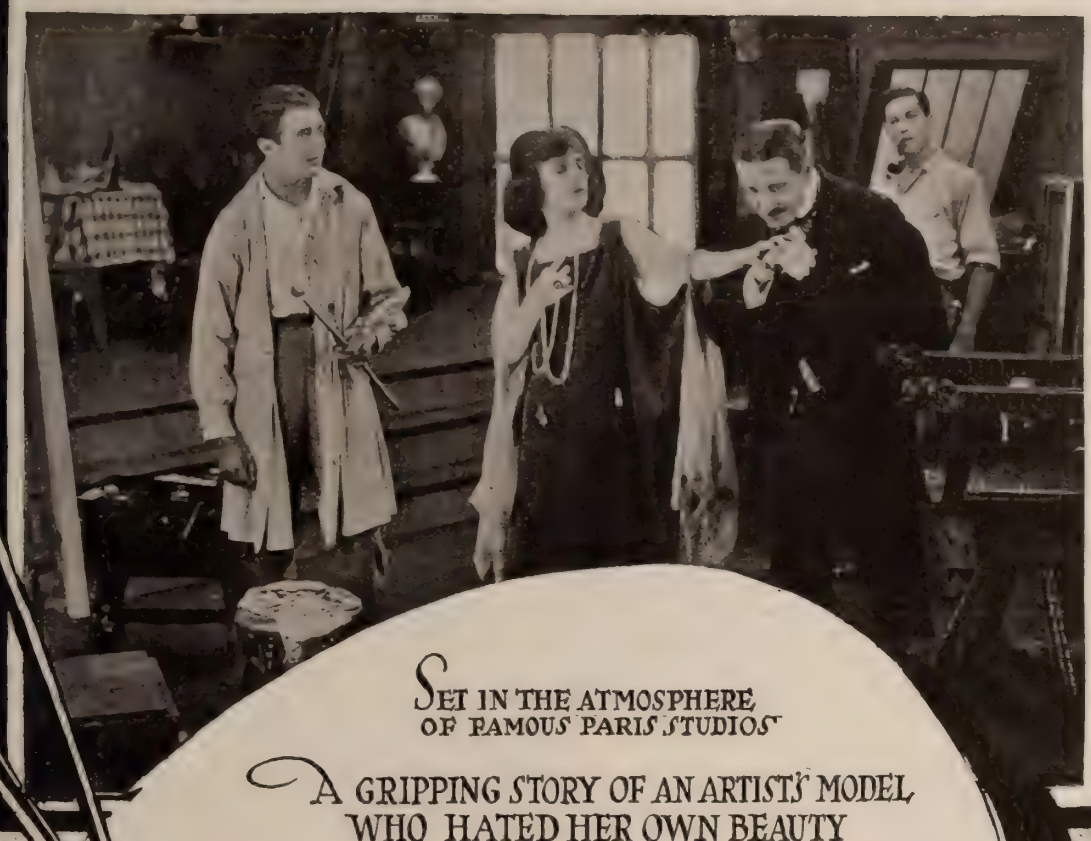


Gaumont Gaumont Co. Gaumont

FLUSHING, N. Y.

FOX
FILM CORPORATION
WILLIAM FOX
PRESENTS
The great morality play of the age
THIS GIRL REFUSED TO BE SACRIFICED BY HER FATHER ON THE ALTAR OF GREED.
Just one of many big moments in
WHY I WOULD NOT MARRY

COMING THROUGH !



WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

EVERY MAN WHO REGISTERED SEPT. 12 WANTS TO SEE THIS PICTURE

DEMOCRACY
WILLIAM·FOX·PRESENTS
The PRUSSIAN CUR
STAGED BY R·A·WALSH
INDIVIDUAL BASIS
NOW BOOKING
FOX
FILM CORPORATION

SET IN THE ATMOSPHERE
OF FAMOUS PARIS STUDIOS

A GRIPPING STORY OF AN ARTISTS' MODEL WHO HATED HER OWN BEAUTY

WILLIAM FOX
PRESENTS

EVELYN NESBIT

THE BEST ADVERTISED WOMAN IN THE WORLD
AND HER SON RUSSELL THAW

IN

THE WOMAN WHO GAVE

MAGNIFICENT COSTUMES
GORGEOUS SETTINGS
JEWELS WORTH $500,000

DIRECTED BY KENEAN BUEL

NERO-LIKE ORGIES
BATTLE ON PRECIPICE
KNOUTING OF WOMAN

ONLY ONE WAY TO GET THIS TREMENDOUS WINNER

BOOK STANDARD PICTURES

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

THE TREMENDOUS DRAMA OF AN EMPEROR'S FAVORITE AND HUN INTRIGUE THAT PLUNGED THE WHOLE WORLD INTO WAR

WILLIAM FOX

PRESENTS

GLADYS BROCKWELL

IN

KULTUR

VICTORY PICTURES

STAGED BY EDWARD J. LE SAINT

BOOK VICTORY PICTURES AND GET THIS GREAT DRAMA

FOX

FILM CORPORATION

THE ABOVE IS A REPRODUCTION OF THE STRIKING 6 SHEET POSTER ILLUSTRATING THE ACTION AND COMEDY IN THIS PICTURE

WILLIAM FOX

PRESENTS

JANE and KATHERINE LEE

IN

SWAT the SPY

BIG RAPID FIRE COMEDY

WITH ADULT SUPPORTING CAST

MADE UNDER DIRECTION OF ARVID E. GILLSTROM

COMEDY SPECIALIST

BOOK EXCEL PICTURES NOW

FOX

FILM CORPORATION

NOT A SERIOUS THING IN THEM

EXCEPT THE PROFITS

WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS

SUNSHINE COMEDIES

SCENE FROM "ROARING LIONS ON THE MIDNIGHT EXPRESS"

THE CROWD ALWAYS WAITS FOR
CAPT. BUD FISHER'S
MUTT AND JEFF
ANIMATED CARTOONS
"AT THE FRONT"
"TO THE RESCUE"
"THE KAISER'S NEW DENTIST"
"BULLING THE BOLSHEVIKI"

NOW AVAILABLE:
"THE DIVERS LAST KISS"
"A TIGHT SQUEEZE"
"WHO'S YOUR FATHER?"
"WILD WOMEN AND TAME LIONS"

COMING! COMING!
"ROARING LIONS ON THE MIDNIGHT EXPRESS"

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

INCREASE YOUR PROFITS!
USE FOX PRESS SHEETS!

SIGN UP NOW FOR BIG PROFITS!

BIG TIMELY PRODUCTIONS

TREMENDOUS stories that strike right to the heart of the American people—produced on a scale that never has been equaled. Ready now for bookings; some of them already showing in all parts of the country to packed houses. Destined to swing into sensational success on a flood of public interest! Act quick! Book them now!

THE PRUSSIAN CUR
WHY AMERICA WILL WIN
QUEEN OF THE SEA
WHY I WOULD NOT MARRY
18 TO 45

STANDARD PICTURES

ONE year old, and blazing the way for every other group of motion pictures issued. No cost too great—no trouble too irksome—no story too big for these twenty-six releases by the biggest stars in the business. Money makers in the past, they will bring greater profits in the future. Grow with Standard Pictures! Book them! Show them!

Sept. 1—William Farnum in RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE.
Sept. 15—THE CAILLAUX CASE.
Sept. 29—Theda Bara in WHEN A WOMAN SINS.
Oct. 13—Evelyn Nesbit in THE WOMAN WHO GAVE.
Oct. 27—William Farnum in THE RAINBOW TRAIL.
Nov. 10—Theda Bara in THE SHE-DEVIL.

VICTORY PICTURES

TWENTY-SIX productions that will be the cream of the motion picture art—popular novels by recognized authors—stage plays that have swept up the coin along Broadway—stars who have won the right to the best stories and best productions the world affords—that's what is coming to you when you book Victory Pictures! Do it now!

Sept. 8—Tom Mix in MR. LOGAN, U. S. A.
Sept. 22—Gladys Brockwell in KULTUR.
Oct. 6—George Walsh in ON THE JUMP.
Oct. 20—Tom Mix in FAME AND FORTUNE.
Nov. 3—Gladys Brockwell in THE STRANGE WOMAN.
Nov. 17—George Walsh in I'LL SAY SO.
Dec. 1—Tom Mix in TREAT 'EM ROUGH.

EXCEL PICTURES

FAST, clean comedy—strong, virile drama—laughs—thrills, and the punch that has made all Fox pictures distinctive—that's all there is that is suggestive of a "program" about Excel Pictures! Live exhibitors are cinching these powerful stories and popular stars for their theatres now! Is your name on the list?

Sept. 1—Peggy Hyland in BONNIE ANNIE LAURIE.
Sept. 15—Virginia Pearson in QUEEN OF HEARTS.
Sept. 29—Jane and Katherine Lee in SWAT THE SPY.
Oct. 13—Peggy Hyland in MARRIAGES ARE MADE.
Oct. 27—Virginia Pearson in BUCHANAN'S WIFE.

INDEPENDENT RELEASES

Theda Bara
in CLEOPATRA

William Farnum
in
LES MISERABLES

UNIVERSALLY acclaimed masterpieces—the two greatest films produced in the last year, bar none!—now sweeping the country, making record breaking profits for exhibitors wherever they are shown! Booked strictly on an independent basis—first come, first served—and at prices that insure a clean-up.

Henry Lehrman's
SUNSHINE COMEDIES

RIOTS of furious fun—stunts that are new, novel and daring—the only clean, wholesome, dependable comedies on the market today. Book them now and give your program the biggest smile it has ever enjoyed.

THE BIG SIX

William Farnum
in
A SOLDIER'S OATH
THE BONDMAN
THE PLUNDERER

Theda Bara
in
THE TWO ORPHANS
THE CLEMENCEAU CASE
A FOOL THERE WAS

PROVED profit makers that are daily duplicating their previous success! Re-edited, re-titled, revised 1919 editions! Booked independently as a group by more than 5,000 exhibitors who will testify to their tremendous drawing power.

Capt. Bud Fisher's
MUTT AND JEFF
Animated Cartoons

STRAIGHT from the trenches to the American people—a weekly message of cheer that will make every soldier's family and friends interested in your theatre. Start a good habit! Show them today!

F · O · X
FILM CORPORATION

WHERE TO BOOK

EVELYN NESBIT

AND HER SON

RUSSELL THAW

IN

"HER MISTAKE"

and all the big special box-office winners released this year under the $10——$20——$30

PLAN

NEW YORK	Liberty Distributing Corporation 130 West 46th Street	PHILADELPHIA	Quaker City Feature Film Co. 1325 Vine Street
BOSTON	American Feature Film Co. 60 Church Street	PITTSBURGH	Day Film Corporation 412 Ferry Street
NEW HAVEN	American Feature Film Co. 131 Meadow Street	CLEVELAND	Success Film Productions 419 Sloan Building
CHICAGO	Silee Film Exchange 220 South State Street	WASHINGTON, D. C.	Exhibitors Film Exchange 420 Ninth Avenue

GENERAL FILM COMPANY

LOS ANGELES	738 South Olive Street	OMAHA	1508 Howard Street
SAN FRANCISCO	225 Golden Gate Avenue	KANSAS CITY	921 Walnut Street
SEATTLE	2023 Third Avenue	NEW ORLEANS	343 Baronne Street
PORTLAND	390 Burnside Avenue	ST. LOUIS	3610 Olive Street
DENVER	1533 Welton Street	ATLANTA	111 Walton Street
MINNEAPOLIS	909 Hennepin Avenue	DALLAS	1924 Main Street

Franchises in Order of Application

PRODUCERS' DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

FRANK G. HALL, President

126-130 WEST 46th STREET NEW YORK

SCREENCRAFT PICTURES

Mary Boland and Lucy Cotton

WILL BE THE STARS OF THE FIRST

Screencraft Picture

WHICH IS TO BE

A Filmization of a Widely Read Harper's Magazine Story

By EDITH BARNARD DELANO

THE TITLE OF THIS FIRST PRODUCTION TO BE ANNOUNCED LATER

PREPARED FOR THE SCREEN

By EVE UNSELL

PRODUCED AND DIRECTED UNDER THE PERSONAL SUPERVISION OF

FRANK REICHER

THIS, AS WELL AS ALL OTHER SCREENCRAFT PICTURES TO FOLLOW, WILL BE A

"Feature of Distinction"

A LIST OF EXCHANGES, COVERING THE ENTIRE COUNTRY, AT WHICH BOOKING ARRANGEMENTS CAN BE MADE WILL BE GIVEN SHORTLY

Screencraft Pictures

"PRODUCING DRAMATIC FEATURES OF DISTINCTION"

LONGACRE BUILDING
1476 BROADWAY
NEW YORK CITY
TELEPHONE, BRYANT 772-773
M. FLECKLES, President

STUDIOS, 46 MAIN STREET
NEW ROCHELLE, NEW YORK
TELEPHONE, NEW ROCHELLE 2277-2278
AKIBA WEINBERG, Secy. and Treas.

SCREENCRAFT PICTURES

THE UNITED STATES FUEL ADMINISTRATION

Has taken Space No. 85 for the National Motion Picture Exposition to be held in Madison Square Garden, October 5th to 13th inclusive. P. B. Noyes, head of the Conservation Division, was extremely enthusiastic over this exposition and said that it had the endorsement of the Fuel Administration.

JOSEPH JOHNSON, PUBLICITY DIRECTOR FOR THE AMERICAN RED CROSS is heartily in favor of this exposition. He has taken space and has instructed his assistants in New York to prepare a large and attractive exhibit.

THE UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Has also arranged to take generous space and stage an attractive exhibit. Herbert Hoover, the Food Administrator, was the first Government official to realize the importance of the motion picture for propaganda purposes. He naturally would not overlook such an opportunity as this war service exposition.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Evidently realizes the importance of this exposition. Nearly every department of the Government looks upon it with favor and enthusiasm. As a patriotic duty, can the motion picture industry do less?

THE MOST DESIRABLE LOCATIONS ARE

Rapidly being disposed of. Many concerns entirely outside of the motion picture business are making arrangements for space. As a means of reaching the general public they realize the value of this war service exposition. For information and contracts apply to

The Motion Picture Exposition Company

Times Building, New York City

WHAT DOES KULTUR MEAN?

Why does American blood boil at the very sound of the word?
Ask your audiences this question in your advertising on

LEAH BAIRD

in the sensational serial with the title of national interest

WOLVES OF KULTUR

WITH SHELDON LEWIS

No fear but that you'll pack your house!

Produced by Western Photoplays, Inc. Written and directed by J. A. Golden

Released Oct. 13th

PATHÉ DISTRIBUTORS

The New England Yankee, the blasè New Yorker, the easy going Southerner, the hustling Middle Wester and the optimistic Pacific Coaster are all alike in one thing; they like a serial with THRILLS!

Show them

LEAH BAIRD

in the sensational serial

WOLVES OF KULTUR

and then listen to the applause!

"Wolves of Kultur" with SHELDON LEWIS

Presented by Western Photoplays, Inc. Written and directed by J. A. Golden

Released Oct. 13th

PATHÉ DISTRIBUTORS

A stirring picture of the Great Southwest, swift moving as the rat-a-tat of a machine gun —
GEORGE LARKIN
and BETTY COMPSON
in
THE BORDER RAIDERS
a Pathé Program Feature
Produced by Diando
Directed by Stuart Paton
PATHÉ
DISTRIBUTORS

Unanimous!

Exhibitors are unanimous in their opinion of

OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW

as an attraction for their houses; their comments as taken from "What the Picture Did For Me" in the Exhibitors Herald, as well as other like columns, show that

"The Official War Pictures are a good addition to a program and will draw new business. It's a patriotic duty to show them." R. L. Hensler, Bijou Theatre, Carollton, Ill.

"Everybody pleased. Good drawing card." G.W.Smith, Royal Theatre, Ashdown, Ark.

"These single reels are very good and show more than is expected... They please." Leo Peterson, Iris Theatre, Belle Fourche, S.D.

"Great. No exhibitor should miss this." C.L.Niles, Grand Theatre, Anamosa, Ia.

"Excellent pictures." H.B.McFarling, Tokio Theatre, Morehouse, Mo.

"Most interesting in all its scenes." M.C.Kellogg, Homestake Theatre, Lead, S.D.

We could quote many more along similar lines. Again we say - "every exhibitor should show the Official War Review!"

Presented by
COMMITTEE on PUBLIC INFORMATION
George Creel, Chairman
DIVISION of FILMS
Chas. A. Hart, Director

Distributed by
PATHE

WILLIAM RUSSELL IN "HOBBS IN A HURRY"

By George Lee McCandless
Directed by Henry King

A comedy-drama of the sure-fire kind. The action is laid in New York City, aboard the top of a speeding passenger train, in a western mining field and in a private car of a millionaire. William Russell at his very best. Supported by an all-star cast.

WILLIAM RUSSELL PRODUCTIONS

DISTRIBUTED BY PATHE

First of the William Russell Productions sold direct to exhibitors through special representatives of the American Film Company stationed at Pathe exchanges. Wire, write or call in person at your nearest Pathe exchange and ask to see this production on the screen. You can book it now.

The Romance of TARZAN

IT GETS EVERYBODY—

More Animals Than A Circus—TO PLEASE THE CHILDREN

Thrills, Strife, Action Unlimited—TO PLEASE THE MENFOLKS

The strangest, most pathetic love tale imaginable—
FOR THE GENTLE SEX

It would be one of the best bets of the year on its own merits—

but best of all

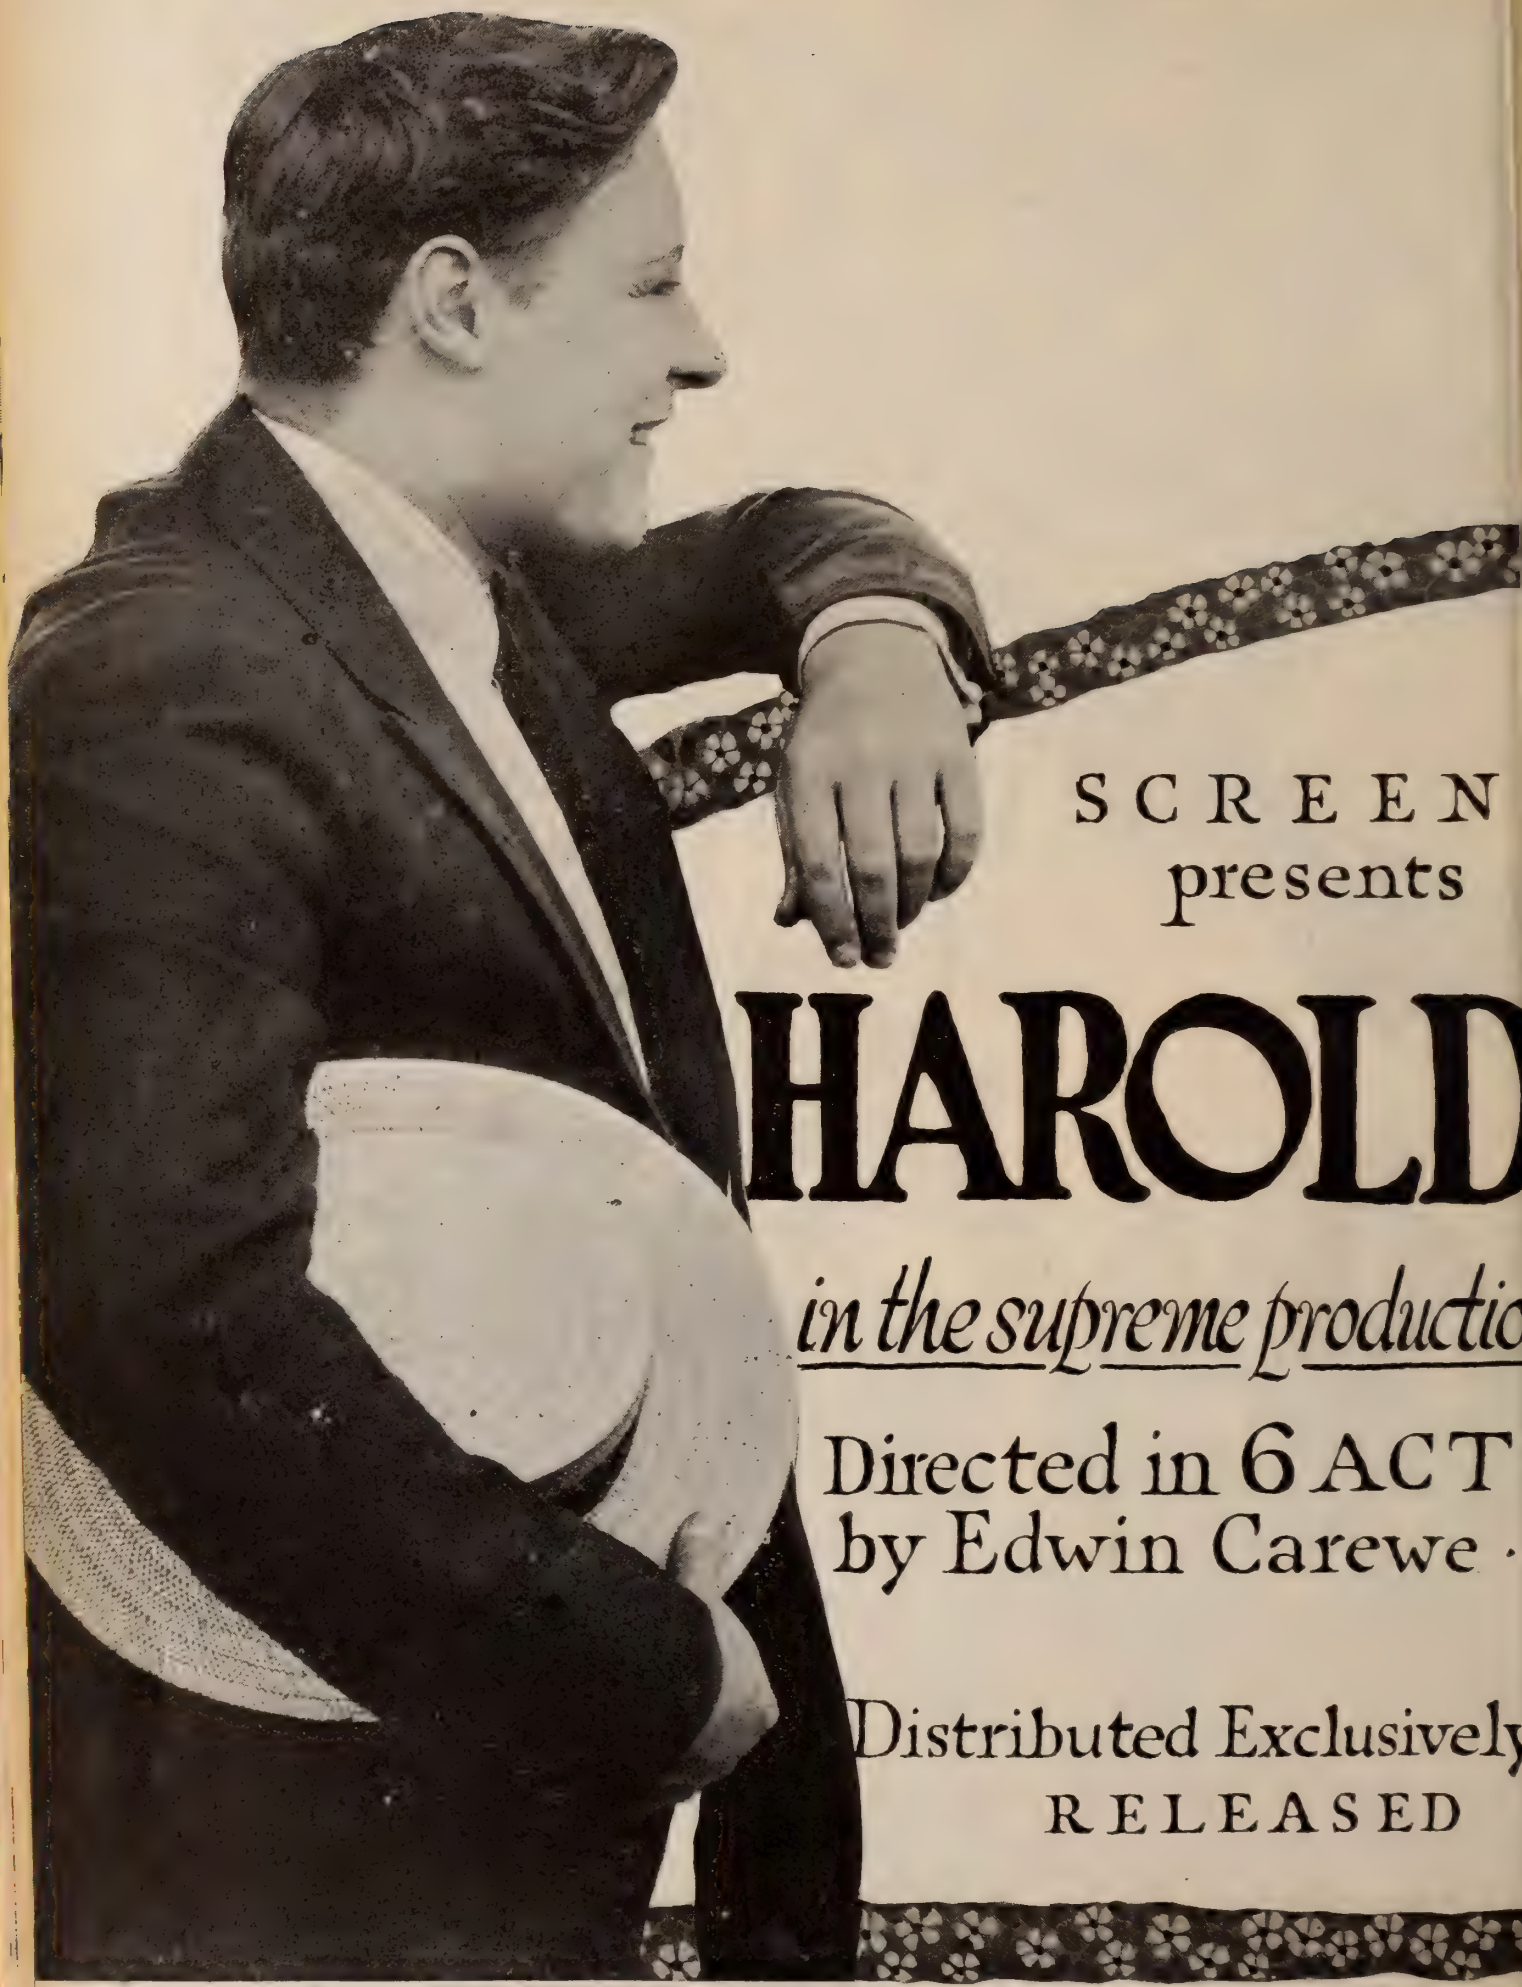
Millions are waiting for it

The millions who saw "Tarzan of the Apes"

A FIRST NATIONAL ATTRACTION

Produced by the NATIONAL FILM CORP. OF AMERICA

FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS CIRCUIT



PRODUCTION SUPERVISED By ISADORE BERNSTEIN

WRITTEN AND DIRECTED By BESS MEREDYTH and WILFRED LUCAS

Rothacker Prints

AN

SCREEN
presents

HAROLD

in the supreme productio

Directed in 6 ACTS
by Edwin Carewe

Distributed Exclusively RELEASED

LASSICS INC.

LOCKWOOD
PALS FIRST

Produced by Yorke Film Corporation · Adapted from Lee Wilson Dodd's dramatization of Francis Perry Elliott's famous novel published by Messrs. Harper & Bros..

by METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
OCTOBER SEVENTH

Everywhere A great

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL
Telegram
Day Letter
Night Message	Blue
Night Letter	Nite
	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a telegram. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

NEWCOMB CARLTON, PRESIDENT — GEORGE W. E. ATKINS, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

Form 1201

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL
Telegram
Day Letter
Night Message	Blue
Night Letter	Nite
	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a telegram. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

RECEIVED AT 1918 SEP 2 AM 9 15

A14G3CPD A 33 NL 5 EX CNT QNM

Received
W. E. A.

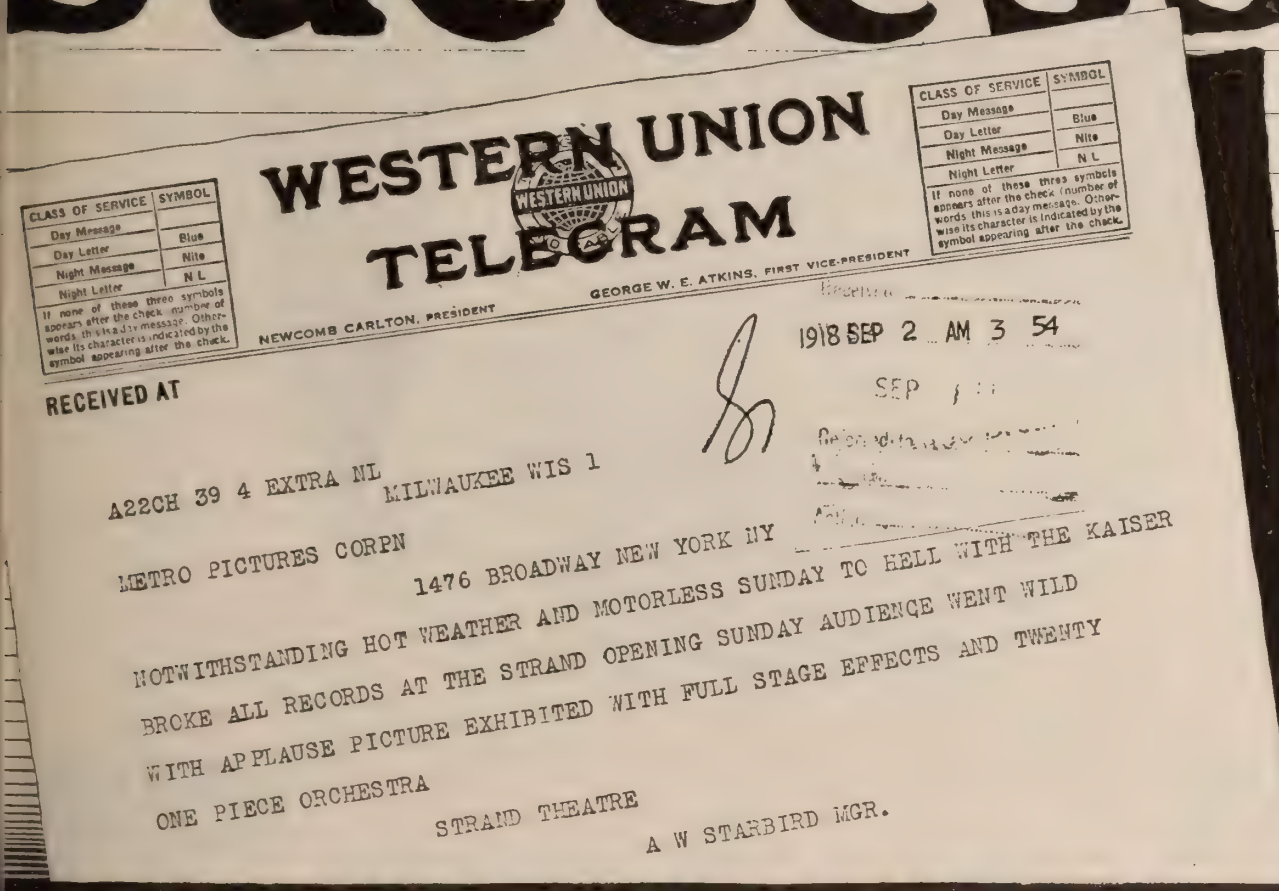
P ROLAND PRES SYRACUSE NY SEPT 1 1918

METRO PICTURES CORP 1476 BROADWAY NEW YORK

IF TODAYS BUSINESS ON "TO HELL WITH THE KAISER" IS ANY INDICATION OF WHAT WE MAY EXPECT THE BALANCE OF THE ENGAGEMENT WE WILL BREAK ALL RECORDS

EDGAR L WEILL MANAGING DIRECTOR SYRACUSE STRAND THEATRE

843A SEPT 2



Note - It did!

TO HELL WITH

A Screen Classics Inc. Production featuring Lawrence Grant
Directed by George Irving · Maxwell

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION

Everytime Success

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL
Day Message
Day Letter	Blue
Night Message	Nite
Night Letter	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a day message. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

NEWCOMB CARLTON, PRESIDENT — GEORGE W. E. ATKINS, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL
Day Message
Day Letter	Blue
Night Message	Nite
Night Letter	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a day message. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

RECEIVED AT 1918 SEP 2 AM 3 54

SEP

A22CH 39 4 EXTRA NL MILWAUKEE WIS 1

METRO PICTURES CORPN
1476 BROADWAY NEW YORK NY

NOTWITHSTANDING HOT WEATHER AND MOTORLESS SUNDAY TO HELL WITH THE KAISER BROKE ALL RECORDS AT THE STRAND OPENING SUNDAY AUDIENCE WENT WILD WITH APPLAUSE PICTURE EXHIBITED WITH FULL STAGE EFFECTS AND TWENTY ONE PIECE ORCHESTRA

STRAND THEATRE
A W STARBIRD MGR.

THE KAISER

as the Kaiser with Olive Tell - Written by June Mathis - Karger, Manager of Productions -

EXCLUSIVE DISTRIBUTORS

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS"

Her popularity grows by leaps and bounds

MAY ALLISON

in Hale Hamilton's drama

The RETURN of MARY

Adapted by George D. Baker and directed by Wilfred Lucas in 5 wonderful acts

Released by METRO September 23

George D. Baker, Manager of Production

"Little Talks with Foreign Buyers"—No. 18

By

President.

"SHERRILL!"

THE name stands for high art in film production as features like "The Witching Hour," "Conquest of Canaan" and others will attest. Sherrill made "Hearts Across the Seas," a call for patriotism in all countries, and the critics have pronounced it the finest thing of its kind to date. It makes every spectator a booster for his own country; and so is one of those pictures that receive—and deserve—official support everywhere. The executives of your nation, state and city will be glad to endorse and publicize "Hearts Across the Seas." So will every local civic and patriotic organization of any importance. IT MAKES BETTER CITIZENS. If you must have a "special" that has thrills and pep and action, that will make lots of noise, get lots of advertising and do lots of business, you had better sign this Frohman Amusement Corporation (Sherrill) masterpiece today. Oh, yes—Arnold Daly, known the world over as a leading star of the American stage, is the featured player.

CALL, WIRE OR CABLE

INTER-OCEAN FILM CORPORATION

INTER-OCEAN BUILDING — 218 W. 42nd ST. NEW YORK CITY

PAUL H. CROMELIN
PRES. & GEN'L. MGR.

"WE OPERATE EVERYWHERE"—LARGEST DISTRIBUTORS OF FILMS IN FOREIGN FIELDS AND SOLE EXPORTERS OF SPEER CARBONS, FULCO ACCESSORIES AND GLOBE REELS.

READY FOR WORLD SALE—52 World Films a year, featuring Ethel Clayton, Clara Kimball Young, Alice Brady, Carlyle Blackwell, and June Elvidge; 24 Paralta Plays a year, featuring Bessie Barriscale, J. Warren Kerrigan, Henry B. Walthall, and Louise Glaum; the great features, Ince's "Whither Thou Goest," Rapf's "To-Day" and "Mad Lover;" "The Victim," with Robert T. Haines; Pyramid's "Inside the Lines" and "The Man of Bronze;" Selexart's "Honor's Cross," "Blue Blood," and "Social Ambition;" "Hunting Big Game in the Frozen North," and "The 13th Labor of Hercules;" the surefire comedy brands, Vim, Black Diamond, Bingo, "Charley" (Mabel and Fatty) cartoons.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING

THE SEASON'S SUPER-CINEMA

WIVES

BOOKED SOLID BY MARCUS LOEW FOR 70 DAYS BEGINNING OCTOBER 28

PIONEER FILM CORPORATION

IS IN THE EATING

of MEN

WITH

FLORENCE REED

IF YOU HAVE A THEATRE
IN NEW YORK
OR NEW JERSEY
BOOK
IT NOW

ALL OTHER TERRITORIES
INCLUDING FOREIGN RIGHTS
FOR SALE

126 W. 46 TH ST., N.Y. 'PHONE BRYANT 9037

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION

IVAN ABRAMSON, PRES. & DIRECTOR GENERAL

STATES-RIGHTS BUYERS

YOU, AS MEN OF DISCERNMENT, KNOW THE WILL-O'-THE-WISP QUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY

IT IS NOW DANCING BEFORE YOUR EYES

BE FAITHFUL TO YOUR BEST INTERESTS

AND GRASP THIS ELUSIVE VISITOR WITH BOTH HANDS

IVAN ABRAMSON'S SENSATIONAL SUCCESS

"WHEN MEN BETRAY"

Enacted by GAIL KANE, STUART HOLMES and an all-star cast

IS NOW BEING CONTRACTED FOR

THIS THRILLING PHOTOPLAY FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE, PICTURIZES THE OFTTIMES IRRETRIEVABLE CONSEQUENCES RESULTING FROM MISTAKES

DON'T MAKE A MISTAKE!

LET YOUR PICTURE JUDGMENT INSURE YOU AGAINST IT

J.J.K.

WIRE

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATIO

729 SEVENTH AVE. NEW YORK CI

STATES RIGHTS MEN WIRE

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION PRESENTS

JAMES K. HACKETT

EFFIE SHANNON - MABEL JULIENE SCOTT

IN

IVAN ABRAMSON'S

Latest Creation

ASHES OF LOVE

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION 729 Seventh Ave., N. Y. C.

HIT THE LINE!

You're still glorying over the Yanks at St. Mihiel—where in the turn of a day they smashed the great German helmet sticking out over French soil and dented it back into the skull of the Hun.

And you glory each day as the arm of Marshal Foch goes swiftly back and swiftly forth and hits a new, thundering, dazzling crash at the Hindenburg line.

Your smash is coming next.

SEPTEMBER 28 TO OCTOBER 19

is the Liberty Loan Drive.

This is your opportunity.

You can now smash the Hindenburg line from over here as any other Yank is smashing over there.

First, there's yourself.

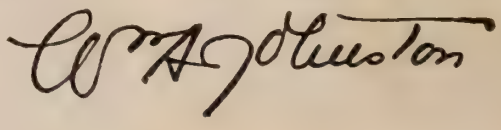
You will want to subscribe—every dollar you can dig up and every dollar your bank will let you have. You've got to go strong this time.

" You " means every single member of the industry.

Then there's the screen—the greatest power over the public mind existent today.

Hit the line through your screen, Exhibitor.

Liberty Loan films—featuring the stars of the screen—can be had at the following exchanges:



Famous Players-Lasky, First National, Fox, General, Goldwyn, Metro, Mutual, Select, Universal, Vitagraph,

Liberty Loan slides—the best we have ever seen—will be sent you.

These films and slides will excite public interest regardless of their patriotic propaganda.

Advertise them, run them, let your audience shout over them.

And you'll do your own shouting when you read on October 20 that the huge loan has been over subscribed and Berlin has heard again from the Yanks and their unselfish and tremendous struggle for righteousness.

Hit the Line!
September 28th.

For news information on these pictures see page 1991. For exploitation service see page 2006.

HOUDINI

HE HOUDINI SERIAL HAS TAKEN
THE COUNTRY BY STORM

IT'S A GOLD MINE FOR INDEPENDENT EXCHANGES

TERRITORY GOING FAST

PRODUCED BY B. A. ROLFE

B. A. ROLFE, INC.
HARRY GROSSMAN, General Manager
Temporary Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

MYSTERY, TERROR
AND SUSPENSE ABOUND IN THE HOUDINI SERIAL

THE GREATEST OPEN MARKET PROPOSI-
TION EVER PRESENTED=

HOUDINI

B. A. ROLFE, INC.

HARRY GROSSMAN, General Manager

WHY SHOULD THE BIG CIRCUITS BUY FILM CHEAPER THAN YOU?

¶ EVERYBODY KNOWS THE CIRCUITS BUY IN QUANTITY—AT WHOLESALE PRICE

¶ THE SINGLE EXHIBITOR BUYS INDIVIDUALLY AND PAYS MORE—THE RETAIL PRICE

¶ THERE ARE FIFTEEN THOUSAND OF YOU EXHIBITORS —

¶ CAN YOU IMAGINE HOW DIRT CHEAP YOU WILL GET FILM WHEN EVEN TWO THOUSAND OF YOU BUY TOGETHER —WHOLESALE

¶ YOU WILL CONTROL THE LARGEST CIRCUIT IN THE WORLD !

¶ JOIN THE UNITED CIRCUIT AND GET PICTURES AT WHOLESALE PRICES NOW

UNITED PICTURE THEATRES OF AMERICA INC.

A NATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION OF EXHIBITORS

J. A. BERST
PRESIDENT

HOME OFFICE
1600 BROADWAY, N.Y.

New York Times says—

MAURICE TOURNEUR ONCE MORE REVEALS HIS CREATIVE GENIUS!!

THE NEW YORK TIMES, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1918.

"SPORTING LIFE" IS SHOWN AT RIVOLI

Maurice Tourneur's Racing Film Lets Audience Cheer Classic Derby of Drury Lane.

Few motion picture directors equal, and fewer surpass, Maurice Tourneur in the art of making scenes for the screen. By his work he stands out prominently, even among that small group of exceptional men who appreciate the peculiar powers of the camera and know how to employ them in the production of a photoplay. Once more, and in some ways more than ever, he has revealed his creative genius in "Sporting Life," the featured film at the Rivoli this week.

The play is a melodrama, based upon the well-known Drury Lane product, and, as many will remember, it has to do chiefly with a young English Lord and his desperate efforts to re-establish himself financially through the successes of a pugilist in the ring and a racehorse, the phenomenal Lady Love, in the Derby. Theer are abundant opportunities in the play for exciting scenes.

Mr. Tourneur has not faltered before any of the big, comprehensive scenes, such as those of the prize fight and the Derby race, while in little incidents also he has done not only the obvious and expetced, but the surprising. The spectators who viewed the picture yesterday afternoon were drawn into the excitement of the play's episodes, applauding and exclaiming at the succession of climaxes as people do only when the yare thrilled by a sense of participation in what they see or hear.

At one point, as Lady Love dashed forwar dto the race, some one in the orchestra shouted "Go," and many of the spectators literally started forward from their seats. It all seemed real. But this effect was accomplished by the climax of an episode, and each effect of the photoplay was similarly accomplished.

This is a Sample of What the New York Papers Said About

"SPORTING LIFE"

S. L. Rothapfel booked "SPORTING LIFE" without seeing it. His confidence in MAURICE TOURNEUR'S ability has been justified in his securing this sensational success that is now packing his Rivoli Theatre to the doors and establishing new records.

Definite distribution arrangements will shortly be announced

MAURICE TOURNEUR PRODUCTIONS

STUDIOS—FORT LEE, N. J.

SELLING AGENTS, HILLER & WILK

LONGACRE BLDG., 42ND & BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

COMING!

"YOUNG AMERICA"

WITH ALL STAR CAST

A George K. Spoor Ultra-feature
From the Cohan and Harris
Stage Success

ESSANAY
GEORGE K. SPOOR PRESIDENT

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

GEORGE KLEINE

PRESENTS

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN AMERICA

BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY

A RAPID FIRE PICTURE OF MAMMOTH ITALY—A THRILL—A LESSON!

YOU'LL PLEASE EVERYONE AND THE BOX OFFICE RESULTS WILL PLEASE YOU.

The Unbeliever

A PICTURE SO FINE—SO BIG—SO TRUE THAT IT TAKES PRECEDENCE OVER ALL!

IF YOU HAVE PLAYED IT ONCE OR TWICE—PLAY IT AGAIN—

IT'S A SURE FIRE PROFIT PRODUCER.

COMMUNICATE WITH THE NEAREST OFFICE OF THE

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM

Motion Picture News

Vol. 18 No. 13. September 28, 1918

The Week in the Film World at a Glance

FEATURES

ON PROBATION (WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON) 1989
THE TAX HEARING AT WASHINGTON, D. C.....1990
WHAT KIND OF A FELLOW IS—WILLAT?.....1997
DIRECTORY PLAN WORKS IN CHICAGO.....2004
THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK.....2079
THE HONOR ROLL.....1993

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Equipment Display at Big Show.....1993
U. S. Co-operates in Exposition.....1992
Distribution Plan of Liberty Films.....1991
Carmichel to Europe for Fox.....1995
Big Film Men In Registration.....1995
Vitagraph New Booking Policy.....1996
Marcus Loew Opens New Theatre.....1998
Newsy Reports of the Week.....1999
Farrar Called to Washington.....2000
Live News from the Producers.....2018
In the Independent Field.....2053
In and Out the West Coast Studios.....2057
Complete Plan Book.....2079

OF SERVICE TO EXHIBITORS

Exhibitors' Box-Office Reports.....2001
Exhibitors' Service Bureau.....2004
Coming Program Offerings.....2037
Equipment Service 2063
Projection Department 2066
Music and the Picture.....2074
Camera Department 2071
Complete Plan Book.....2079
Releases—Current and Coming.....2059
Index of Plan Book.....2078

COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

Advance Reviews 2079
"The Yellow Dog" (Jewel).....2080
"When a Woman Sins" (Fox).....2081
"Bonnie Annie Laurie" (Fox).....2082
"Peck's Bad Girl" (Goldwyn.....2083
"Sporting Life" (Tourneur).....2084
"The Better Half" (Select).....2085
"Mr. Logan, U. S. A." (Fox).....2086
"The Girl of To-Day" (Vitagraph).....2087
"Just for To-Night" (Goldwyn).....2088
"A Woman of Impulse" (Paramount).....2089
"Money Isn't Everything" (American).....2090
"A Soul Without Windows" (World).....2091
"A Society Sensation" (Bluebird).....2092
Advance Reviews 2093

Newsy Announcements of the Week Found in the Ad-Pages

Carmel Meyers in Novel Bluebird, "A Society Sensation."1930
A Talk on Paramount-Artcraft Pictures.....1931
The James Montgomery Flagg Comedies.....1932
"The Great Love" Establishes a Record in Buffalo.....1933
The John Emerson-Anita Loos' Productions for Famous Players 1934
Goldwyn Success 1935
The Year's Most Human Picture by Rex Beach.....1936-37
One of the Season's Novelties, "For the Freedom of the East" 1938
The Bill Parsons' Comedies.....1939
Vitagraph on Its Latest Blue Ribbon Feature and Serial, 1940-41
Alice Brady's Latest Select Picture and Her Successes of the Year 1942-43
Triangle's Next Release is an Adaptation of a Fred Jackson Story 1944
The Mutual Film Corporation on an Edna Goodrich Feature and Others.....1945-46-47
The Hodkinson Copartnership Plan.....1948
New Rainbow Comedies for General's Program.....1949
"Soothing the Heart of Italy," a Red Cross Picture.....1950
Merits of the Gaumont Serial, "The Hand of Vengeance."1951
Fox's "Why I Would Not Marry".....1952
The Great Patriotic Special, "18 to 45," by Anthony P. Kelly 1953
"The Prussian Cur" 1954
Evelyn Nesbit's First Picture for Fox.....1955
An Indictment Against Germany, "Kultur".....1956
The Lee Children in Their Patriotic Contribution, "Swat the Spy".....1957
The Mutt and Jeff Comedy Cartoons.....1958
William Fox's Offer to the American Exhibitor.....1959
Producers' Distributing Corporation Presents Evelyn Nesbit in "Her Mistake" 1960
The Talent Engaged in the Production of the First Screencraft Picture 1961
Government Branches Take Space at Motion Picture Exposition 1962
Pathe Distributes the Leah Baird Serial, "Wolves of Kultur" 1963-64
What Exhibitors Think of the Official War Review.....1965
Unusual Feature is Pathe's "The Border Raiders," with George Larkin and Betty Compson.....1966
Bill Russell in His Latest Comedy-Drama, "Hobbs in a Hurry" 1967
First National to Distribute Tarzan Sequel.....1968-69
A Metro Special, "Pals First," with Harold Lockwood..1970-71
On "To Hell With the Kaiser".....1972-73
The Latest Metro Production.....1974
Inter-Ocean 1975
Pioneer Film Corporation's Latest Announcement on "Wives of Men".....1976-77
The Graphic Release, "When Men Betray" and "Ashes of Love" 1978-79
The Houdini Serial.....1981-82
A Message from United Pictures Theatres of America....1983
Hiller and Wilk Distributing "Sporting Life".....1984
"Young America," Popular Stage Success, Coming from Essanay 1985
More on "Unbeliever" and "Behind the Lines of Italy," from George Kleine System.....1986
Another Exhibitor Has Success With "Triple Trouble"..1988
Universal Distributes Official British War Pictures.....2031
The Lyons-Moran Star Comedies.....2032
Universal Special Attractions.....2033
Success of "The Geezer of Berlin".....2034

WM. A. JOHNSTON, Pres. and Editor. HENRY F. SEWALL, Vice-Pres. E. KENDALL GILLETT, Sec. and Treas.

Published on Friday every week by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, Inc., 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 'Phone 9360 Bryant. Chicago Representative, W. M. Hight, 220 So. State St.; 'Phone Harrison 7667. Los Angeles Representative, J. C. Jessen, 429 South Figueroa St.; 'Phones 780 Pico, F-4661. Subscription $2 a year, postpaid, in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Philippine Islands. Canada, $3. N. B.—No agent is authorized to take subscriptions for Motion Picture News at less than these rates. Have the agent who takes your subscription show his credentials and coupon book.

Copyright, 1918, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

Form 1204

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL
Day Message
Day Letter	Blue
Night Message	Nite
Night Letter	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a day message. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

NEWCOMB CARLTON, PRESIDENT GEORGE W. E. ATKINS, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

CLASS OF SERVICE	SYMBOL
Day Message
Day Letter	Blue
Night Message	Nite
Night Letter	N L

If none of these three symbols appears after the check (number of words) this is a day message. Otherwise its character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.

RECEIVED AT 1918 AUG 26 PM 6 54

U506DA 31 2 EX BLUE
P SAN ANTONIO TEX 1120A 26

GEO K SPOOR

PRES ESSANAY FILM MFG CO CHICAGO ILL

OPENED TRIPLE TROUBLE SUNDAY TO TEN HUNDRED AND NINETY FIVE DOLLARS PICTURE GAVE ENTIRE SATISFACTION TOP PRICE THIRTY CENTS TELL THE OTHER EXHIBITORS TO GET BUSY AND CASH IN

W POLITZER

GRAND THEATRE

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM
DISTRIBUTORS

"When you see it in 'The News' It's News"

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

"The Exhibitors' Medium of Communication"

Volume 18. No. 13 September 28, 1918

On Probation!

A Lesson from the Shirtwaist Makers

THE waist manufacturers have joined hands to eliminate extravagance.

They will standardize their industrial conditions—now more or less chaotic—to meet the war situation and this Government's great economic part in it.

They admit needless extravagance in operation—due to excessive competition—and the further fact that no effort has ever been made to standardize their output and operations.

So they formed a League of their members.

Then at the suggestion of the United States Chamber of Commerce this League has appointed a war service committee with full power to regulate production, eliminate needless overhead and establish standards.

These objects, it is stated, will be attained.

Evidently they considered their own commission to be more desirable than one appointed by the government.

What will the film industry do?

Will we sit by and wait for the government commission to come along?

Will we admit that we cannot audit and adjust our own accounts; that we are powerless to stop the wide-open leaks of our own house with our own hands; that like a drunken spendthrift on the streets we must wait for an officer of the law to come along and gather us in?

The government is out for regulation, gentlemen; and the government will continue to regulate, right and left, the individual, the corporation, the industry, in a steady, indiscriminate and relentless fashion.

The government is facing a stern and undeniable demand—from the civilized world—for billions and billions of dollars. These billions must be and will be wrung from this country. But the country can only continue to give these billions by perfecting corresponding economies.

The loose dollars have been taken. We must save to supply the new demands. The government knows this.

* * *

We are now facing the imposition of a tax so heavy that we assert it will ruin the industry.

Why is Washington making the tax so heavy?

We can give the answer in a nutshell.

To quote the words of a United States Senator, "You must be rich because you spend so much."

There's the mental attitude of every single member of congress. It still exists despite our pleas—and naturally.

If any one of us saw a prosperous looking individual handing out greenbacks on Broadway we would at least classify him as a splendid subject for a Liberty Loan or Red Cross contribution.

SO we face a remarkable paradox.

The industry is not making money.

It is not making money because it is excessively wasteful.

Yet it is the more heavily taxed because of this wastefulness—because this almost public exhibition of extravagance gives the impression of easy and unlimited income.

* * *

So much for that.

Here's the other side of the situation.

The overproduction of film is:

(1) Straining at credit facilities (and now the Liberty Loan demands that all credit facilities be strictly conserved).

(2) Using unnecessarily raw film material now demanded by hospital, munition works and the most important of war essentials.

(3) Running strictly contrariwise to that policy which would conserve the industry's resources and make prosperous each branch of the industry, namely, fewer pictures, better pictures, and longer runs.

The wasteful distribution of film (through too many exchanges) is:

(1) Using express service excessively.

(2) Tying up acres of floor space and wasting this rental money.

(3) Causing a leakage, in the opinion of distribution experts, of at least $25,000,000 a year.

* * *

SO we face these situations:

A tax ruinous unless paid for out of economies which can be made;

An industry which will not be declared essential until these economies are effected, and which will therefore be denied the priorities essential to operation;

An 18 to 45 draft which will hit hard the essential workers in the industry unless the industry itself is declared essential.

* * *

What is to be done?

Are we to sit on this shaky fence all winter; or will we see to it that we get a solid foundation under our feet?

The Tax Hearing at Washington

THE Senate Finance Committee on Tuesday of this week granted a hearing on the new tax bill to a delegation from the National Association.

The film men present included William A. Brady, Walter W. Irwin, Gabriel Hess, S. L. Rothapfel, Alfred S. Black, Dr. J. Victor Wilson, Ernest Horstmann, Harry Bernstein, Harry Crandall, Col. Barry Buckley, Sydney S. Cohen, L. F. Blumenthal, C. C. Pettijohn and Yours Truly.

In the ordinary course of events we would use a page of news column space telling you in cut and dried fashion just what happened at the Capital.

But just as surely we would then be tempted to use up this page in semi-personal, semi-editorial comment on that same news story.

And then the boss would come out and remind us that it is a patriotic duty to save white space.

So we'll beat him to it by covering the whole blamed affair on this page.

Let's go!

* * * *

IN the first place—to sum up the whole day—it was a pretty disappointed lot of film men who travelled back to New York on the Congressional Limited.

The impression was general that the hearing had been of little help in forestalling the heavy tax levies listed in the new bill by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The industry's fate now depends entirely on the work that can be done with the Senators and Representatives "out of hours" by the Washingtonians—Harry Crandall and Col. Buckley.

The delegation received assurances from Representative O'Shaughnessy of Rhode Island—a member of the Ways and Means Committee—that he would secure a reception for any briefs that may be prepared within the next few days. Mr. Irwin and others are laboring on the briefs; Crandall will see that they are presented with all force to the right people—and meanwhile—let us have courage if we can't have hope.

The handwriting now says: A doubled seat tax, a ten per cent rental tax, a doubled admission tax.

And may the Fates have mercy on the "average" picture theatre!

* * * *

THE delegation met at the Hotel Shoreham less than an hour before the hearing to plan its campaign. It was decided that William A. Brady would present the case for the industry as a whole and that Alfred Black would state the exhibitor's case.

The conference decided that the speakers would offer no substitute or alternative tax suggestions—that the industry would rest its case on the plain and blunt statement that it was already taxed beyond the limit and that further levies would seriously cripple it as a business and hamper it as a propaganda agent.

It sounded good.

And it continued to sound good—until the Senators heard it.

And it didn't sound half so good after Senator Thomas interrupted Mr. Brady to ask:

"Is it true that a young lady by the name of Anita—Anita—yes, Anita Stewart, gets something like three thousand five hundred dollars a week?"

* * * *

WHEN the Senator popped that question he touched the keynote of the Washington attitude towards the motion picture industry.

What matter that Mr. Brady stated with all his usual force the screen's value to the Government, the fact that no picture company has declared a dividend in the past year?

What matter that Walter Irwin came to his aid with technical knowledge, with clearly stated information as to the tremendous burden the new taxes would be on the picture industry?

What matter that Alfred Black—an able spokesman for the exhibitors—told of how taxes of the past year had wiped out thousands of struggling theatres all over the country, of how every new tax levied would eventually find its way to the exhibitor, burying him under triple and even greater taxation?

What Washington wants to know is:

"How can you afford to pay million dollar salaries if you are a poverty-stricken industry?"

* * * *

THE man who can answer that question—to the satisfaction of Congress—will deserve a million dollar salary for himself, payable by the entire industry.

If Congress can ever forget that bugaboo Congress will be able to see that the steadily mounting taxes mean ruin to thousands of small business men—the "eighty per cent" exhibitors.

If Congress can ever forget the stars' salaries it will be willing to meet film men as business men and give them tax treatment as business men.

But Senator Thomas is thinking:

"It seems to me if you can pay a young lady three thousand five hundred a week you must be a fairly prosperous industry."

And Senator Brown, of New Mexico, is thinking:

"You look like pretty good business men. I can't see why you keep on making pictures, pictures, pictures, if you are not making any money out of them and never expect to."

If you—Kind Reader—have the answers to these questions please requisition the National Association for carfare to Washington.

And get there quick!

* * * *

THE Senate Finance Committee proved a good friend to the motion picture industry at the conference meeting with the House last year which decided the film taxes.

Despite the fact that their reception on Tuesday was none too warm—it was fifty-fifty—they may be with us this year.

As to the House Committee:

Representative O'Shaughnessy appeared impressed when R. S. L. Rothapfel laid his cards on the table and gave him facts and figures regarding his own theatres. Messsr. Crandall and Buckley will be on the ground to talk man to man with the legislators in an attempt to show them the real seriousness of the situation.

In these two phases are combined a ray of hope. Trojan work may secure for the industry a reduction of the ten per cent rental tax, it may secure a reduction of the twenty per cent admission tax. There seems little chance of a change in the proposed new seat tax.

And thus is summed up "A Trip to Washington."

PERSONAL

Dear Leslie: You overwhelm us with your sincere flattery of The Complete Plan Book.

Have we anything else that you want—an old shirt, f'rexample? Don't be bashful. Our motto is Service—to manufacturers, to exhibitors, and to—"publishers."—Yours truly.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Fourth Liberty Loan Film Distribution

Massive Output of Special Films Made for Fourth Liberty Loan Drive Will Be Distributed by Each Respective Producer—Companies to Handle Product of Their Own Stars

PATRIOTIC exhibitors will probably welcome the broad and equitable distributing arrangements decided upon to secure wide and quick exhibition of the comprehensive and varied production of short special propaganda films made by the most prominent motion picture stars to augment the Government's huge Liberty Loan campaign.

The wide diversity of the many films which center on the one topical theme is considered astonishing. A great many of these contributions of the various stars were shown at the Rivoli theatre September 18 and registered so heavily that they were pronounced masterpieces. The remainder were shown at the Paramount projection room in New York September 19 and from all reports they were as good as those already seen.

National Association Plans

Plans for the motion picture industry's Liberty Loan drive in co-operation with the Treasury Department were greatly broadened during the week with the announcement of an elaboration in distribution plans and with the arrival in New York of practically all of the film contributions made by the various stars.

As a result the executive departments of the various units of the industry, as well as the National Association's committee in charge of the Liberty Loan drive, are now concentrating on the details of the plan to obtain 100 per cent. distribution for the nearly two-score Liberty Loan films which will be shown in moving picture theatres throughout the country.

The change in the distribution arrangement was announced by Adolph Zukor, Chairman, following a meeting of the committee on Monday. Under the new arrangement each company will distribute the pictures made by its own stars, which, it is expected, will promote greater efficiency and eliminate a great deal of confusion in the handling of the 3,000 prints which will be used in the forthcoming campaign.

Members of the committee in attendance at the conference were Chairman Adolph Zukor, Walter W. Irwin, Marcus Loew, J. F. Brulatour, Al Lichtman, manager of distribution, and John C. Flinn, secretary of the committee.

The problem of obtaining 100 per cent. distribution for the Liberty Loan films, which had been discussed at a conference held by Mr. Zukor and Frank R. Wilson, national director of publicity for the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, was the principal business considered by the committee. Al Lichtman presented the previously announced plan of centralized bookings from a master sheet, and this was discussed at some length.

Walter W. Irwin, who is in charge of the Distributors' Division of the National Association, proposed that each company should distribute the pictures contributed by its own stars. It was pointed out by Mr. Irwin that promiscuous booking would result in disputes, discussions and controversies in that many exhibitors who have been booking pictures of the various stars represented in the loan drive would find pictures by these stars in other theatres.

POINTS OF LIBERTY LOAN FILMS

1.—Each Company will distribute the films in which its stars appear.

2.—Exhibitors can book them from any exchange, regardless of whose films the exhibitor uses regularly.

3.—There is absolutely no charge for the films.

4.—No exhibitor can book a Loan film for more than one day, and no more than one on any one day.

5.—The films are shipped via Parcels Post under a Government frank, and there is no express charge.

6.—Exhibitors are urged to report to exchanges the amount of Loan subscriptions secured each day on which a picture is used.

The only equitable way of handling the distribution of the prints, according to Mr. Irwin, would be for each company to distribute its own pictures. He stipulated that no restrictions should be made on bookings under this plan. The Irwin proposal was adopted by a unanimous vote of the committee.

The Government Approves

The proposed plan of distribution, as outlined by Mr. Irwin, was called to the attention of Mr. Wilson at Washington, who, in acknowledging receipt of the plan, stated that it certainly had the approval of the Government.

Exhibitors are being urged to make the fullest possible use of the large number of patriotic subjects which are being offered by the various producing and distributing organizations, in connection with the Liberty Loan Specials available through the exchanges of the organizations listed on this page.

Many exhibitors, according to reports which have been received by the Liberty Loan Committee of the N. A. M. P. I., are planning to feature the Liberty Loan films during the period of the drive, a practice which is expected to become of wide vogue when the large army of exhibitors who are co-operating with the other departments of the industry become fully acquainted with the high quality of the Liberty Loan Specials.

Great stress is being laid by the committee upon the fact that each film carries a story which, for other purposes, could easily have been extended to five reels. Enough action and punch have been compressed into the few hundred feet allowed for these stories to give them the standing of regular features.

It was announced by the committee's chairman, Adolph Zukor, that thirty-six prints, ranging from 300 to 1,000 feet in length, would be used in the motion picture campaign. This does not include the large number of photoplays and educational films of a patriotic nature which will be available to the exhibitors who wish to offer well rounded patriotic programs to their patrons during the period of the big drive.

Liberty Loan films which are to be distributed under the co-operation of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry by the various producing companies are as follows:

Titles and Stars

There are thirty-six pictures, each of which features an appeal to buy bonds. Virtually every star in the movie world has contributed a film.

The following is a list of them:

Enid Bennett, Alice Brady, Betty Blythe, Marguerite Clark, Dorothy Dalton, Mrs. Sidney Drew, Geraldine Farrar, Elsie Ferguson, Corinne Griffith, Lillian Gish, Alice Joyce, Gladys Leslie, Mae Murray, Mme. Nazimova, Mary Pickford, Emily Stevens, Norma Talmadge, Edith Storey, "Fatty" Arbuckle, "Charlie" Chaplin, George M. Cohan, William Duncan, Sidney Drew, Douglas Fairbanks,, William Faversham, Dustin Farnum, William Farnum, William S. Hart, Sessue Hayakawa, Frank Keenan, Harold Lockwood, Harry T. Morey, Charles Ray, Wallace Reid, Mack Sennett and Earle Williams. The players of the Kalem and the Goldwyn companies contribute two of the films.

Some of the titles are: "A Bullet for Berlin," "The Taming of Kaiser Bill," "Liberty Bond Jimmie," "A Woman of France," "Stake Uncle Sam to Play Your Hand," "Sic 'Em, Sam," and "Banzai."

The pictures were made in various studios in the country under the auspices of the Treasury Department and the Liberty Loan Committee of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry.

Producer Co-operation

The film concerns that co-operated in producing the pictures are the Metro Pictures Corporation, the Famous Players-Lasky Company, the Vitagraph Company, Select Pictures Corporation, Fox Film Corporation, Universal Film Company, Hayworth Pictures Corporation, Sherman Pictures Corporation, First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, Kalem Film Company, V. B. K. Film Corporation and the Pathe Exchange, Inc.

The plan of distribution provides for the

(Continued on page 1994)

U. S. Co-operates in Exposition

United States Fuel Administration Has Taken Large Space in National Motion Picture Exposition in Madison Square Garden

THE United States Fuel Administration has taken space number 85 for the National Motion Picture Exposition to be held in Madison Square Garden October 5 to 13 inclusive. This is one of the largest spaces in the Garden and the Fuel Administration is planning one of the biggest exhibits in the whole show.

Besides making it impressive as to its size they also expect to make it one of the most interesting and instructive of all the highly interesting exhibits that have already been promised.

P. B. Noyes, head of the conservation division of the Fuel Administration stated when he arranged for this space that he was most enthusiastic about this War Service Exposition of the motion picture industry. He said: "This exposition has the hearty approval and endorsement of the Fuel Administration. We believe in it all the way through and are only too glad to be afforded the opportunity to take space and to stage an exhibit.

"Coming as it does early in October there will be no necessity for heat of any kind and nearly all of those taking exhibits are located in or around New York, so there will be no heavy demands on the railroads for transportation.

"This exposition fits in very well with our plans for starting a big educational campaign among the people for fuel conservation and I know of no better place to start it than at this motion picture exposition in the heart of New York City."

Joseph Johnson, publicity director for the Red Cross, is another one who is enthusiastic about this exposition. When it was called to his attention by Frederick H. Elliott, executive secretary of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry and general manager of the Exposition Company, he expressed himself as being heartily in favor of it and agreed on the spot to take space.

He immediately addressed a letter to his assistants in New York to select the space for the Red Cross exhibit and gave them instructions as to the character and scope this exhibit was to take. As soon as these details have been completed they will be announced.

While in Washington Mr. Elliott visited the offices of the Food Administrations and received assurances from high officials of that department of the government that they would be represented at the show. As soon as they can decide upon the form their exhibit is to take definite arrangements will be made to select a space of sufficient size to make the proper display.

Although it cannot be announced officially at this time it is very probable that this exposition will contain the largest exhibit of war relics taken from the battlefields of France that have ever been gathered together in New York. These relics were collected by the allied governments and have been loaned to the Liberty Loan Committee for use in the coming drive. In all there are about twenty-seven carloads of these relics and conferences that are to be held between Mr. Elliott and Frank R. Wilson, publicity director for the Liberty Loan Committee will determine just how many of them will be placed on view at the Garden during the exposition.

It is expected during the course of the next week that other important administrative departments of the government who have expressed a desire to have space at this exposition will complete their final arrangements. These include the Aircraft Board, the Army, the Navy, the Department of Agriculture, the Y. M. C. A., and the allied war charities organizations and the War Savings Stamps Committee. Preliminary discussions have already been held with representatives of the Department of Agriculture and definite assurances have been received that they will be represented among the government space holders.

One of the most gratifying facts about this whole exposition is the manner in which the supply and equipment people are taking space. These include the Nicholas Power Company, the Precision Machine Company, the National Lamp Works, the National Carbon Company, the Westinghouse Lamp Company, the Cooper Hewitt Light Company, the Edison Lamp Works of the General Electric Company, the United Theatre Equipment Company, and J. H. Hallberg. Many inquiries have been received from other companies in the supply and equipment field and it is expected that they will sign contracts for space in the immediate future.

Madison Square Garden will be elaborately decorated for this exposition. The color scheme will naturally be red, white and blue, as this is a war service exposition and the whole decorative plan will be worked out to impress this fact on the general public. Plans and sketches are now being drawn and it can be safely said that when the doors are thrown open to the public on Saturday night, October 5, that the motion picture industry will be proud of the work that has been done.

The floor plan of the Madison Square Garden is now on file in the offices in the Times building and space holders are urged to come in and select their spaces at the earliest opportunity. Owing to the rapid manner in which space is being disposed of, over half of the entire main floor of the Garden has been sold, the desirable locations are being rapidly selected.

Owing to the difference in the shape of the Garden and the Palace there is both a difference in the arrangement and the sizes of the locations.

Cameraman Passes Away

Louis Ostland, cameraman of World Pictures, died last Monday as a result of an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Ostland in point of service was one of the oldest cameramen connected with the World.

For the past six months he has been working in conjunction with Dell Henderson in making the Blackwell-Greeley pictures.

Federal Trade Commission Issues Orders to Stanley Co. of Philadelphia

Early this week the Federal Trade Commission rendered an important decision which establishes a precedent and is expected to have a far-reaching effect upon the motion picture business.

They ordered the Stanley Booking Corporation of Philadelphia, to desist from practices designed to force film producers and theatres to deal with each other through the corporation. Specifically the corporation is ordered to discontinue:

Procuring the cancellation of contracts for the exhibition of moving picture films made between its competitors and the producers;

Procuring films which have been announced for exhibition by its competitors and exhibiting them in the same neighborhood in advance of the date advertised by such competitors, to hinder, harass and embarrass competitors;

Making contracts for films on the condition or understanding that the lessee or purchaser shall not use films produced by a competitor;

Making threats and employing methods of intimidation to compel theatres to pay commissions on films booked directly from the producer or film exchanges;

Making threats against independent exhibitors that unless they book through the agency their supply of films will be cut off, and,

Threatening producers and film exchanges with the withdrawal of patronage in order to induce them to cease supplying certain of their competitors with films.

Arthur Guy Empey Helps in Tank Boys' Benefit

Arthur Guy Empey, author of "Over the Top" and star of Vitagraph's great production by that name, who recently enlisted as a private in the United States Tank Corps, was detailed to New York to assist in organizing and managing the benefit performance given at the Century theatre to raise a welfare fund for the "Treat 'Em Rough" boys.

He gave a big check to the fund. Alice Joyce, Corinne Griffith, Gladys Leslie and other Vitagraph stars aided in selling tickets for the entertainment. Empey, having finished his training at Fort Slocum, is now stationed at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., which is the best of the camps established for the tanks.

Sam Carlton to Kokomo

Sam Carlton of Frankfort, Ind., has been secured to take charge of the Sipe theatre at Kokomo, Ind. The Morning Times of Frankfort, had the following to say about Mr. Carlton: "Mr. Carlton is well known here and it is largely through his efforts that the local theatrical field became a success. He is a practical theatrical man and every inch a showman, and there is no doubt but that he will make a success in Kokomo. The theatre-goers of that city are to be congratulated in having secured Mr. Carlton and his new position."

Honor Roll

These men of the staff of MOTION PICTURE NEWS have joined the colors

H. N. Conant
J. L. Kelley
Theo. S. Mead
George D. Gould
Wm. McCormack
Leo Kane

L. M. O'Connor and Ed Morrison, two of the cameramen from the Lasky lot in Hollywood have just completed a course at the School of Aero Photography in New York, which is part of Columbia University, and have been awarded commissions in the photographic division of the army.

Lieutenant Roy Marshall is another Lasky boy who has quickly won his way to a commission. Marshall, who was assistant director with George Melford, enlisted as a private some time ago, and worked up to a non-commissioned officer's job, late receiving his commission.

Among other Lasky boys who have been given commissions lately and are overseas or on their way there are Tom Forman, Ted Duncan and Walter Long, actors and Richard Sherer, formerly an assistant director. Duncan is a captain, and the others are lieutenants.

Two more stars were added to the Lasky service flag the other day when Paul Perry, camera expert, and John Browne, assistant director, left the studio to take up war work.

Joseph Rinehart, chief technician of the Screen Telegram, the Mutual twice a week news reel, has been called by the Fort Lee, N. J., Draft Board, and inducted into military service at Camp Dix, N. J.

Charles V. Burton, prominent free lance cameraman of Cleveland, has accepted a commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Signal Corps. Burton left for Washington last week.

Another son of Studio Manager W. S. Smith of the Vitagraph Hollywood plant has gone into the service. Ernest Smith, cameraman for Paul Hurst at the Vitagraph lot, is the newest member of the Smith family to join the colors. He has left for Camp Kearney during the past week and now the sixth star in the rear panel of Mr. Smith's car has underneath the name "Ernest Smith." The accompanying five stars surmount the following names: Lieut. A. D. Smith, Lieut. George Smith, Lieut. Victor Smith, Corporal Edward Smith, Private Frank L. Smith and Private Ernest Smith.

Frank J. Alberti, who has conducted a theatre electrical supply house at 100 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco, has been called by the Liberty Army and left September 14 for Camp Houston with the Fifty-third Artillery. He is a member of Battery A.

Pliny Horne, Triangle cameraman, has been admitted to the United States Signal Corps School of Photography at Columbia University. He is now awaiting orders to report to New York City.

Former Casting Director Melville Brown of the Chaplin studio personnel announced this week that he will soon enter the United States naval service. He will be stationed at San Pedro. Chaplin plans to give him a farewell dinner.

Another Springfield photoplay theatre attache has answered the call of Uncle Sam. Louis Dawson, formerly assistant manager at the Royal, will enter the U. S. Army on Wednesday, September 11.

Richard Garrick, well known as director general for Gaumont Co. and several other motion picture companies, having been rejected for overseas service, is doing his bit for Uncle Sam as Amusement Director of the $60,000,000 Air Nitrates Corporation which is located at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

A party of friends that included Vice-President Hammons of the Educational Films Corporation visited one of the nearby camps week before last and said goodbye to Sergeant L. V. Calvert, a Signal Corps "non-com," who went abroad with his fighting unit immediately thereafter. Sergeant Calvert was formerly manager of the New Garrick, Minneapolis.

Equipment Displays at Big Show

The National Motion Picture Exposition at Madison Square Garden, October 5 to 13, Has Support of Supply Men

THE National Motion Picture Exposition to be held at the Madison Square Garden October 5 to 13 is receiving the enthusiastic support of the supply and equipment members of the industry. Practically all of the large concerns in this branch of the business have completed their arrangements for space and are now engaged in working out details for their exhibits. In many cases these will be particularly elaborate.

The National Lamp Works has increased its space over that which it had contracted for for the Grand Central Palace Exposition and is planning an interesting and instructive demonstration of the use of incandescent lamps in projection.

The Edison Lamp Works of the General Electric Company have arranged to take large space and are planning an equally elaborate exhibit. The same also applies to the lamp department of the Westinghouse Electric Company.

Naturally any motion picture exposition would be uncomplete without the Nicholas Power Company and the Precision Machine Company being represented; they have both taken large blocks of space.

The United Theatre Equipment Company is another concern that is arranging for a complete exhibit of all machines necessary for the proper and artistic presentation of moving pictures.

One of the novel features of the exposition will be the demonstration that is being arranged by the Sunlight Arc Company which, on the opening night will take moving pictures of the whole show.

They claim that by placing four of their new Sperry-gyroscopic lamps in the balcony of the Madison Square Garden that every corner of the vast building will be as bright as day. They have received permission to take moving pictures of the show, and they plan to exhibit these pictures in the large theatres of the city during exposition week.

Other concerns which have contracted for space in the supply and equipment division are the National Carbon Company, the American Coin Register Company and the Cooper Hewitt Lamp Company. Inquiries have been received from a number of other supply and equipment concerns and contracts are being negotiated.

One of the most interesting exhibits from a mechanical standpoint will be that of the United States Employment Bureau which is planning to stage a demonstration of every form of war industry in which the Government is engaged. This will include the actual building of miniature ships, aeroplanes, shells and so forth. For this reason alone this should be the most successful exposition ever held by the motion picture industry and because of the close co-operation with the Administration Departments

Fox Stars Thanked for Autographed Photographs

Private William Donnachie of the Fourth Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, now at North Berwick, Scotland, recovering from Spanish influenza contracted at the front, has written to William Fox that the sale of autographed photographs of various Fox stars has added a total of $125 to the Red Cross of Great Britain.

Private Donnachie, who enclosed a letter of thanks from the secretary of the North Berwick branch, wrote as follows:

"Allow me to thank the following Fox players who so generously donated photographs toward the Red Cross: Miss Peggy Hyland, Miss Virginia Pearson, Miss Theda Bara, Mr. Tom Mix ond Mr. William Farnum. I would have written to each player, only I am laid aside with Spanish influenza."

Fourth Liberty Loan Film Distribution

(Continued from page 1991)

showing of one of the pictures in every moving picture theatre in the United States on each day of the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign, each to be advertised as an "added attraction."

The last few days of the time allotted for the acceptance of Liberty Loan Specials was marked by a wild scramble by numerous stars to get their pictures completed in time. Many of them worked night and day, and still others abandoned all work upon important pictures to co-operate with the Government in the Liberty Loan Campaign.

This spirit of sacrifice, enthusiasm and co-operation was to be found in every studio, and had the committee been able to extend the time limit for the receipt of pictures there is no doubt but that many other pictures would have been made available for Government use.

Because of the tremendous task of making the thousands of prints required to obtain the widespread distribution desired by all parties, the committee was compelled to decline regretfully numerous offers by stars and companies to make special films for the campaign.

Many Subjects Listed

Although there are many subjects or titles listed there is only one theme—"Buy Bonds." No single industry has co-operated with the United States Government in such a comprehensive and whole-hearted manner, and this great campaign will make history for the motion picture industry which will have lasting and far-reaching effects.

The list practically completed is as follows:

Dustin Farnum in "Ready Money Ringfield." Courtesy Sherman Pictures Corporation.

Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe in "The Grouch." Directed by Paul Scarden. Courtesy Albert E. Smith, President of the Vitagraph Company.

William Faversham in "A Liberty Loan Appeal," by O. R. Geyer. Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Mme. Nazimova in "A Woman of France," written by Mme. Nazimova; directed by Albert Capellani. Courtesy Richard A. Rowland and Maxwell Karger, Metro Picture Corporation.

George Beban in "When It Strikes Home." Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew in "Financing the Fourth," titles by Tam Brett. Courasy V. B. K. Film Corporation.

William Duncan in "The Decision." Courtesy Albert E. Smith, President of the Vitagraph Company.

Douglas Fairbanks in "Sic 'Em, Sam." Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Alice Brady in "A Liberty Loan Appeal," written and directed by Charles Maigne. Courtesy Select Pictures.

The Mack Sennett Stars in "It's a Cinch." Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Alice Joyce in "The Choice," written by A Van Buren Powell; directed by Tom Terris. Courtesy Albert Smith, President of the Vitagraph Company of America.

Mary Pickford in "100 Per Cent American." Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Bond." Courtesy First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

Lillian Gish in "A Liberty Loan Appeal." Courtesy D. W. Griffith.

Elsie Ferguson in "The Spirit That Wins," story by Adrian Gil-Spear; directed by Emile Chautard. Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Goldwyn All-Star Cast in "Stake Uncle Sam to Play Your Hand," story by Willard Mack; directed by Hugo Ballin. Courtesy Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, Samuel Goldfish, President.

Corinne Griffith in "A Wise Purchase," story by Graham Baker; directed by Henry Houry. Courtesy Albert Smith, President of the Vitagraph Company of America.

Charles Ray in "A Liberty Loan Plea." Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and Thomas H. Ince.

All-Star Cast in "My Country." Courtesy Kalem Film Company.

Wallace Reid in "His Extra Bit," by Gardner Hunting. Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Mae Murray in "The Taming of Kaiser Bill," directed by Robert Leonard. Courtesy Universal Film Company.

Emily Stevens in "Building for Democracy," story by June Mathis; directed by Harry Franklin. Courtesy Metro Pictures Corporation.

George M. Cohan in "A Liberty Loan Appeal," by Jerome Beatty. Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Normal Talmadge in "A Liberty Loan Appeal." Courtesy Joseph M. Schenck and Select Pictures.

William S. Hart in "A Bullet for Berlin." Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

William Farnum in a Liberty Loan film. Courtesy Fox Film Corporation.

"Fatty" Arbuckle in a Liberty Loan appeal. Courtesy Famous Pictures-Lasky Corporation and Joseph M. Schenck.

Harold Lockwood in "Liberty Bond Jimmy," written by Finis Fox; directed by Edwin Carewe. Courtesy Metro Pictures Corporation.

Dorothy Dalton in a Liberty Loan appeal. Courtesy Famous Pictures-Lasky Corporation and Thomas H. Ince.

Gladys Leslie in "Sylvia's Last Pledge." Courtesy Albert Smith, president of the Vitagraph Company of America.

Sessue Hayakawa in "Banzai" (Hurrah). Courtesy Haworth Pictures Corporation.

Marguerite Clark in "The Biggest and the Littlest Lady in the World." Story by Adrian Gil-Spear; directed by J. Searle Dawley. Courtesy Famous Pictures-Lasky Corporation.

Edith Storey in "Edith's Victory for Democracy." Story by Colonel Jasper Brady; directed by Harry Franklin. Courtesy Metro Pictures Corporation.

Enid Bennett in a Liberty Loan appeal. Courtesy Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and Thomas H. Ince.

Earle Williams and Clara Whipple in a Liberty Loan appeal. Courtesy Albert E. Smith, presidentt of the Vitagraph Company.

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

A Special Service Section That You Will Want to Preserve

STARTING on Page 2047 of this issue of Motion Picture News is a Special Service Section on "Crashing Through to Berlin."

This section has been prepared by our own experts of the Exhibitors' Service Bureau as an aid to the exhibitors who will book this big Jewel production. We believe it the most complete Service Section ever issued on a production—every detail down to a specially prepared music cue is presented.

P. S. Harrison's review of this picture in the August 17th issue said "It offers splendid opportunities for exploitation and if properly handled will prove a good drawing card."

Our own review of the Special Service Section in this issue is "It gives you the last word in exploitation and backing for this picture."

Liberty Loan Pictures Shown in New York

Before a large audience the greater share of the Liberty Loan pictures made by prominent stars were shown at the Rivoli theatre Sept. 18. The remainder of them were exhibited Thursday in the Famous Players-Lasky projection room.

There are thirty-six of these plays, each one including at least one well-known star and some of them groups of them. The pictures are all short and vary from comedy to the grimmest sides of the war. Each one of the pictures received hearty applause and there is no doubt that they will get much more when they are shown to audiences singly.

The Liberty Loan committee hopes to have these pictures shown in every theatre in the country. There is no charge for them and they will be distributed through the exchanges of the company making them or the exchange that regularly handles that manufacturer's product.

A full list of the pictures will be found on page 2006.

Los Angeles Strike Settled

Several points of difference between stage employes at various studios, and their employers, have already been settled, and other points will be settled by a special arbitration board, according to announcement by Capt. Charles T. Connell, federal labor mediator.

Important Film Executives in Draft Registration

(Special to Motion Picture News)

More than 90 per cent of the leading figures in the executive end of the motion picture industry in Los Angeles were called upon to register in the new draft on September 12, while about 80 per cent of the 100 or more motion picture directors at work in Los Angeles studios likewise had to enroll in Uncle Sam's new roll call.

David Wark Griffith, who was called out of the city this week, was perhaps the first director to face exception board officials. He hurried to Board No. 17, said to be the largest board in the United States, where he attached his signature to the card handed him while a battery of cameramen from local newspapers and from the Griffith studios made photographic notes of the event.

It seems that the press agent got next to the fact that Mr. Griffith was on his way to the registration point, and when he arrived the Government officials were for a moment thrown off their balance by the flashlight bombardment that lit up the premises. Robert Shearer, chairman of the board, took personal charge of the ceremony.

Among some of the leading film men who registered were Jesse L. Lasky, Mack Sennett, Thomas H. Ince, H. O. Davis, James McGee, E. H. Allen, William Sistrom, Cecil B. De Mille, William B. De Mille, Roy Aitken, Milton Hoffman, John Jasper, Richard A. Rowland, George Fitzmaurice, Leon Osborne, C. Gardner Sullivan, Julian Eltinge, Fred J. Balshofer, Al. and Charles Christie, William Parsons and practically every other executive of Los Angeles studios, with the exception of Frank E. Wood of Famous Players-Lasky.

West Coast Producers Will Eliminate Slackers

In order to overcome the objectionable feature of studios being raided to enforce the work-or-fight ruling with respect to extra people, the Motion Picture Producers' Association in Los Angeles has organized a service bureau which will in the future handle all extras. The producers have shown the Federal authorities that approximately 300 extra men are needed constantly for productions, and their files will contain approximately that many names.

All wants of the studios will be supplied through this bureau, and information furnished the federal authorities at various intervals respecting the amount of time each of the 300 or more men put in at the plants. A complete list of names will be furnished the exemption boards, and all books and records of the Producers' Association service bureau will be inspected at intervals by the members of the several boards.

To facilitate the service bureau in this association, the Cinema Exchange, a booking organization opened in Los Angeles several months ago, has been purchased by the association and will be conducted under their supervision. No fees will be charged the players, nor will the service bureau fix the salaries of the players. The new bureau will be under the personal supervision of W. J. Reynolds.

Carmichael to Europe for Fox

Field Carmichael Goes Abroad to Open New Branch Offices for Fox Film Corporation on the Continent

TO supervise the establishment of several new branch offices abroad, made necessary by the tremendous growth of the Fox Film Corporation's business in Great Britain and on the continent, Field Carmichael, for the last two years manager of the William Fox Detroit branch office, will sail next week for London, where he will be the American representative of the Fox Film Corporation in Europe.

The appointment of Mr. Carmichael as foreign representative is said to be the outcome of the amazing popularity of Fox films in Great Britain and elsewhere on the continent in the last two years, with the result that an extension of the present facilities for handling Fox films in Europe is made necessary.

Although Mr. Carmichael's headquarters will be at 74 Old Compton street, W., London, his territory will embrace practically all of Europe outside the Central Empires. Fox films have long been established in Great Britain, and in France, Spain and Italy their popularity has been growing fast.

Up to this time the Fox business in France, Spain and Italy has been conducted through agencies, but it is understood to be the intention immediately to establish branch offices in all these countries. Mr. Carmichael will arrange for such offices in Paris, Madrid, Marseilles, Rome, Venice, Naples and other cities, and inaugurate direct service with Continental exhibitors who are not already receiving it.

William Fox has long appreciated the colossal possibilities for the development of Europe as territory for the extension of his films. In the last two years or more this territory has grown in importance until today Fox films is said to dominate the European field. Recent United States Government export bulletins show that from a comparatively few feet of film sent to Europe at the beginning of the war, the film exports of this country have mounted steadily and with amazing rapidity until today virtually the only films being shown in Europe are of American origin.

It is the general opinion among the trade that this growth will be greatly accelerated as the war goes on, so that when victory comes American films will be impregnably entrenched.

In Great Britain the Fox Film Company, Ltd., already has ten exchanges. These, scattered through England, Ireland and Scotland, were able for a while to care for all the business in the United Kingdom, but the necessity of an extension of booking facilities has been increasingly apparent for some time. This growth in business has several times caused additions to be made to the home office in Old Compton street, London, of the Fox Film Company, Ltd., until now this office is rapidly approaching the size of the home office in New York City.

The promotion of Mr. Carmichael to the post of European representative is a natural development of his career. He is one of the oldest branch managers, in point of service, in the Fox organization, having been continually with William Fox ever since he opened the Fox branch office in Denver several years ago.

Mr. Carmichael's whole life has been devoted to the amusement business in one form or another. Indeed, he began his career when he was twelve years old, as a candy butcher for the Gentry Brothers' dog and pony show. For four years he was press agent for the Sells-Floto circus and has occupied other responsible positions.

Vitagraph Loan Films Are Intensively Booked

Determined that every ounce of good and every dollar possible may be raised for the government, Vitagraph is working with the same degree of energy in booking the company's six Liberty Loan subjects as it does in the regular business of the company.

The Chicago branch of the Vitagraph distributing organization reports that it has booked the Liberty films into practically all of the theatres in its territory for a total of eighteen hundred days, to be played between September 20 and October 19, inclusive.

This good showing is said to be typical of the other branches of the company, all of which have been devoting especial attention to the work of giving the government's screen appeals the widest possible showing.

The Vitagraph Company has been one of the most active workers in patriotic fields, in addition to producing several powerful productions like "Over the Top," "Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," "The Battle Cry of Peace," and many regular features. Several benefits for the Red Cross, and other war funds have been given at the company's Western studio, and extraordinary attention has been devoted to producing pictures of strong appeal.

The stars and the pictures in which they appear are: Earle Williams in "A Plea to Buy"; Alice Joyce, in "The Choice"; William Duncan, in "The Decision"; Corinne Griffith, in "A Wise Purchase," and Gladys Leslie, in "Sylvia's Last Pledge."

All of these subjects have been in the hands of the government for some time past and some of them have already been shipped to the branches which are to distribute them in the same manner in which they handle the company's regular product.

Goldwyn Production Used

Goldwyn managers throughout America have been quick to link up with the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. "For the Freedom of the World," directed by Ira M. Lowry, one of the earliest of the patriotic pictures and a year-long success in every section of the United States.

In the fourth loan campaign Philadelphia was the first city to again demand this picture. Goldwyn's Philadelphia office has booked every print at its command solid for the four weeks beginning September 16. E. K. Lincoln, Barbara Castleton and Romaine Fielding are starred in the cast.

Vitagraph's New Booking Policy

Decks Are Now Cleared for Inauguration of Vitagraph's New Democratic Booking Policy Taking Effect September 30

ON September 30 Vitagraph will inaugurate its new "democratic war booking policy," and reports from the company's distributing organization state that statistics from the branches for the week closing September 7 reveal that hundreds of theatres had, at the time, signed for the new service.

These new contracts, the records show, include many of the leading theatres in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, the Twin Cities, Denver, Salt Lake, Detroit, Omaha, Seattle, Los Angeles, San Francisco, New Orleans, and other big centers. Among the first-run accounts listed are those of the Garrick theatre in Minneapolis, the magnificent new Riviera in Chicago, which is reported to be the finest motion picture house built in years; the American leading theatre of Denver, and others.

The response of exhibitors to the company's announced policy of "a Democratic, not an Autocratic Booking Plan and Policy," has been extremely gratifying, according to a statement by Walter W. Irwin, general manager of the Vitagraph distributing organization, and his confidence in the success of the plan was reflected in the following telegram which he sent last week to all branch managers of the company:

"I wish to congratulate the entire organization upon the results of the summer just closed. We are now in the fall season with definite, dependable sales policies on three fixed units of great merit—Blue Ribbon features, Big V special feature comedies and Vitagraph serials—and the showing already made on them causes us to look forward with the utmost confidence. The future never loomed brighter."

It is asserted by Vitagraph that the introduction of its new booking policy has proved the most popular innovation in the history of the company, the exhibitors' overwhelming response testifying to their estimate of the merits and liberality of the new plan.

This plan, as officially outlined, permits an exhibitor to book on the basis best suited to this individual theatre conditions. It provides, first, for booking on a fifty-two weeks basis; second, for booking individual star series; and third, for booking combinations of star series. This booking plan is backed by a guarantee of the entire year's productions to be released at definitely fixed dates, each of the six stars rotating on the program at intervals of six weeks, and the exhibitor knows a year in advance who his Vitagraph star will be in any given date in that period.

Earle Williams, in "A Diplomatic Mission," is the first of the Vitagraph stars to appear on the newly arranged Blue Ribbon schedule. Gladys Leslie will have nine productions during the year. Harry T. Morey, in "The King of Diamonds," will appear on the program October 14th. Alice Joyce, whose growing popularity has been one of the fine things of the year in motion pictures, will follow Mr. Morey on the program in "Everybody's Girl." Corinne Griffith, another front rank Vitagraph star and a girl of extraordinary beauty and talent, will be seen on October 28th in "Miss Ambition." Bessie Love, newest of Vitagraph's stars, will make her bow as a Blue Ribboner on November 4th in "The Dawn of Understanding."

Special Universal Reel on Auto Headlights

Important light on the new law governing automobile headlights in New York State is shed by a forthcoming special one-reel release of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company. Great interest in the kind of lenses permissible is taken by over half a million licensed owners.

Harry Levey, manager of the Industrial Department of the Universal, who recognized the demand for screen illumination on a subject of such importance to car owners because much confusion exists in their minds as to the exact requirements made imperative by the new legislation went to Albany and accompanied Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo on a night trip during which different styles of lenses were tested. Unlit roads in the rural districts were chosen as the proving grounds.

The new law calls for lights that do not throw a blinding beam and which at a space of two hundred feet are only forty-two inches from the ground. The light, however, must be sufficiently strong to outline an object at that distance. Mr. Levey said that the Secretary of State reserved decision on the merits of the various lenses tested.

The road was lighted from three hundred to five hundred feet, according to the lamp used. Some exceedingly novel and unusual pictures, Mr. Levey said, were taken, which will prove a revelation in night photography.

Company Will Insure and Bond Exhibitors

The Motion Picture Insurance Bureau, incorporated under the laws of the State of Indiana, submitted to the American Exhibitors' Association a plan for handling insurance for exhibitors. In brief, this company has made definite arrangements for the handling of fire insurance for all exhibitors, members of the affiliation, on a basis of a flat reduction of 25 per cent. from board or non-board rates; a flat reduction of 50 per cent. in theatrical liability insurance from conference rates, and has arranged for the use of corporate surety bonds guaranteeing the performance of film-rental contracts in place of the much-disliked advance deposit system for such guarantee.

After a thorough discussion, the entire plan was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The whole proposition is the outgrowth of an inquiry and a suggestion on the part of L. H. O'Donnell of Washington, Ind., one of the most active exhibitors of Indiana.

Eubank of Essanay Is Now Lieutenant in Army

Victor G. C. Eubank, supervising director of Essanay Film Manufacturing Company, has been commissioned first lieutenant in the United States Army, and left Chicago for Washington to report for his new duties. Because of his expert knowledge of the film business, he was placed in the Signal Corps, where his work probably will be in charge of some branch of the photographic division.

Mr. Eubank has been connected with Essanay for five years, and for the past two years has had entire charge of Essanay's production of pictures, besides having written many scenarios. Before joining the Essanay forces, Mr. Eubank was one of the best known Chicago newspaper writers and executives, having been at various times on the staff of several of the large dailies and also editor of the Associated Press.

George K. Spoor, president of Essanay stated that Mr. Eubank's severance of connection with the company was only temporary, and that he expected him to return to the company when the war was over, Mr. Eubank is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

F. I. L. M. Club Activities

F. I. L. M. Club of New York City held its first fall meeting Wednesday, September 4th, and expects to meet every Wednesday from now on. Samuel Eckman of Goldwyn is secretary of the grievance committee, which meets every Wednesday noon at the Goldwyn office to hear all complaints from exhibitors.

John Hammell of the General is chairman of the new entertaining and benefit committee and several "affairs" are planned for the ensuing season. The C. B. H. Reporting Agency continues to handle the credit bureau. Henry Siegel of Select, chairman of the membership committee, announces that the Graphic Film Corporation has been added to the rolls.

The club bulletin announces that F. Sliter became a benedict and a member of the Mutual F. I. L. M. Klub at the same time. F. H. Goldstein has been confined to his home for several weeks with a severe cold contracted while on his vacation.

Frances Marion Appointed for U. S. Work Abroad

Frances Marion, who recently resigned from the West Coast scenario staff of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to engage in war work, has just received notification of her appointment to an important post abroad in connection with the motion picture activities of the Committee on Public Information.

Among her more recent productions are "The Amazons" for Marguerite Clark, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Could You Jean?" "Stella Maris," "M'liss" and "Johanna Enlists" for Mary Pickford and "The City of Dim Faces" for Sessue Hayakawa. Her last work for the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation was the continuity of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which Marguerite Clark will be starred in.

What Kind of a Fellow Is—Willat?

Being a Glance at the Real Human Side of the Big Men of the Picture Game Caught in Action

WE are almost willing to wager that the heading above this page marks the first time that the name "Willat" has appeared in a news story without its natural-born prefix—"Doc."

There are film men on Broadway who couldn't give you a single word in answer to the question "What Kind of a Fellow Is—Willat?" But we'll bet our Sunday shirt that there isn't a film man who has been on Times Square long enough to cut his wisdom teeth who can't answer the query "What Kind of a Fellow Is—'Doc' Willat?"

He'll tell you first, quickly and emphatically, that "Doc" is a regular fellow. And secondly, and with equal emphasis, he'll let you know that in knowledge of the technical side of motion pictures "Doc" stands right at the top.

And he'll be right on both counts!

"Doc" came into the picture business in the days when you didn't just rent film—you had to also rent the machine along with the film. The machines were few—and it was the privilege of using one that you were paying for just as much as the film.

"Doc" secured his pictures—and the machine—from Vitagraph. He used the Armory at New Britain, Connecticut, for his show.

The way the coins rolled into his box office convinced "Doc" that the picture business must be something worth looking into still further. That was back in 1908, but "Doc" didn't decide, as so many did, that the "movies" were just a passing freak, or that his own future in it was limited to running such shows as the Armory.

No siree! "Doc" decided that the picture game looked good enough to learn it from the bottom up. He sold out his interest in the exhibiting end and lost his interest in New Britain—coming to New York to gather all-around knowledge as a general utility man for Vitagraph.

A few years with Vitagraph found "Doc" with enough knowledge to help organize Carl Laemmle's famous "Imp" Company. "Doc's" interests were now definitely with the independents, as he went from the "Imp" to join hands in the reorganization of the New York Motion Picture Corporation. Remember those trademarks—Broncho, Domino, Keystone?

"Doc" next cast his eye on Fort Lee, then used extensively for exterior work, and possessing only one small studio and laboratory. The Willat Studios and Laboratories were the result—and, though this plant was constructed some four or five years ago, there are many who will tell you that it is still one of the finest in the country.

The next thing we knew "Doc" was talking nothing but natural color pictures. We learned that he had cast his lot with the Technicolor process, and since then his every effort has been spent on natural color and Technicolor—which "Doc" says are synonymous.

Technicolor has completed a seven-part production, "The Gulf Between," which will play the Klaw and Erlanger circuit. At present the process requires a special projector, but plans now being worked out will make it possible for the company to produce a regular line of productions available for all houses. Or else the process may be leased to other producers.

Thirty-two different patents control the process—all in the hands of eight men, of whom "Doc" is one. Aside from the patents, the Willat fad seems to be clubs—for "Doc" is on the roster of the New York Athletic, the Friars, Elks, Volney, National Vaudeville Artists, and probably as many more that we can't recall, not to mention the Benedicts' Club—for "Doc" strolled to the altar rail eleven years ago with the daughter of the late William Rock, of Vitagraph.

If he isn't on the

(Continued on page 1998)

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Marcus Loew Opens New Theatre

Loew's Newest Theatre, the Metropolitan, at Brooklyn, Opened This Week with an Audience of 4,500 Persons

HERALDED as the largest theatre in the world, and erected at a cost of $2,000,000, Marcus Loew's newest theatre, the Metropolitan, was opened at Brooklyn this week with a capacity audience of nearly 4,500, and many notables present.

All the daily newspapers of New York and Brooklyn devoted many columns of space eulogizing Mr. Loew for this remarkable achievement. Many stars of the World, Vitagraph and Metro companies were present and each were given an individual reception upon the announcement of their names.

No Loew opening of the past ten years has equaled this grand opening, which was thoroughly in keeping with the size, cost and the magnificence of the structure, and marked the pinnacle of Marcus Loew's fifteen years as master craftsman of amusements.

The New York Journal said, in part:

"It is a peculiar fact that the Metropolitan is located within two blocks of Loew's first theatre, the Royal, which he opened to the public exactly ten years ago this month.

"The theatre was dedicated by beautiful Anna Case, celebrated operatic and concert star; Mollie King and Irving Berlin.

"It was the first time Anna Case, who is now engaged in the making of pictures for the International Film Company, has appeared in a Loew theatre or at a Loew opening, but by no means the first for Molly King and Irving Berlin. Berlin has appeared at the opening of almost every theatre Marcus Loew has built in the last seven years. Molly King was there because of her long association with Marcus Loew and his enterprises, which began ten years ago, when Molly was just a child in short dresses.

"As soon as the vaudeville program, headed by Anna Chandler, was over, Irving Berlin was announced. He appeared in khaki as a sergeant of the U. S. Army and was given a tremendous reception. He sang a few of the song hits from "Yip, Yip, Yaphank," and was followed immediately by Molly King, who gave her number exactly as she does at the Century Grove with an interpolation, giving an imitation of Irving Berlin singing 'I Hate to Get Up in the Morning.'

"Julius Steger, director of Anna Case, who is responsible for her picture career, introduced and presented his famous and beautiful star, who charmed all, particularly when she rendered 'The Battle Hymn of the Republic.'

"Marcus Loew closed the festivities when the audience demanded his appearance, and welcomed his audience to his theatre. He introduced individually the two score or more picture stars who were in the boxes.

"The vaudeville program included, in addition to Anna Chandler, Joseph E. Bernard and his company in 'Who Is She?' a laugh from beginning to end; the little Brown Sisters, in songs and accordeon solos; the Four Entertainers, offering song hits and pianologue; Pippifax and Panlo, the pantomimists. 'The Hun Within' was the photoplay that closed the show.

"A remarkable feature of the entire evening was the manner in which the audience was seated by about thirty young ladies, none of whom had been in the house before."

William Hart Will Tour for Fourth Loan

William S. Hart has just been requested by the Fourth Liberty Loan Committee to tour three of the most important districts of the United States in behalf of the new Loan which will open within a few weeks.

One of the districts in which Mr. Hart has been requested to make campaign speeches is the most vital territory in America from the standpoint of its immense population and of its vast financial importance. It is New York City.

Philadelphia and Boston are the other two districts to which the popular Western actor has been assigned. Mr. Joseph Hartigan, of New York City; Mr. Harry Hodge, of Philadelphia; and Mr. Phillip Dalton, of Boston, each chairman of his respective district, personally urged Mr. Hart through the Liberty Loan Committee to include their territory in his itinerary should he be able to allow time to take part in the campaign to sell bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

As soon as the request reached the actor this week, he accepted it with patriotic enthusiasm and offered to commence the tour from New York City in the early part of October.

Gladys Leslie's Brother Sees Her in France

Gladys Leslie, the young Vitagraph star, has two brothers in service—Walter, a lieutenant in the army aviation corps, and Richard, an enlisted man on the U. S. S. Indiana. In a recent letter the former describes the experience of seeing one of his sister's pictures at a movie show given in a Y. M. C. A. hut in France.

"I hadn't the slightest notion I was going to see you, Sis," writes the young man, "and I almost fell from my seat when one of your pictures was announced. You can imagine my delight. Gee, I could have gone right up and kissed your dear face. You bet I was proud to tell the fellows you were my sister and I've promised 'steen hundred to get autographed photos for them, so take your pen in hand, Sis, and get busy. How about sending a movie of "Puss?" I didn't feel half so homesick after seeing you and all I need now is a five or ten-reeler of "Puss." Can't you get Vitagraph to make a picture of the beloved woman in some of her favorite roles—making lemon pie for her old Walter, for instance?"

"Puss" is the Leslie children's nickname for their mother.

Select Issues Handsome Twenty Page Booklet

Select Pictures Corporation has just issued a striking and profusely illustrated booklet which elaborately outlines their offerings in the second Star Series (1918-1919), Vivian Moses' handiwork registers heavily in this handsome and illuminative booklet, which is printed on heavy glazed cream stock that brings out very clearly the many halftones of the stars.

The advertising aids on each production are enumerated and the following stars are represented: Clara Kimball Young, Norma Talmadge, Constance Talmadge, Alice Brady, and Marion Davies. The booklet is in two colors and contains a list of the Select Exchanges throughout the country

On an average there will be, from these five stars, one Select production released every ten days, in the new series of 1918-1919 pictures.

Third U. S. War Feature Is "Under Four Flags"

The third U. S. Official War Picture to be issued by the Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, George Creel, chairman, will be entitled "Under Four Flags" and will be given its first public showing early in November.

Owing to the comprehensive character of the present offensive, and the intense interest it has aroused, the new picture will not be exclusively American, but will include the activities of the Allies as well as of the United States soldiers.

Thousands of feet of film showing many thrilling battle scenes have been taken by official photographers of the various armies and will be utilized for the new picture.

Dacey of Kleine Office Joins Pathe Force

J. J. Dacey, sales manager for George Kleine's New York office, has resigned to accept a position with Pathe. He came to Kleine's with William E. Raynor five years ago and has handled all of New York City Brooklyn, Bath Beach, Staten Island and Long Island.

Mr. Dacey is to be associated with Mr Raynor, who is Pathe's New York branch manager, and will have charge of all the big circuits of New York and Brooklyn He announced that his resignation was prompted merely by business motives, as his relations with Mr. Kleine have always been cordial.

What Kind of a Fellow I —Willat?

(Continued from page 1997)

lists of the Anti-Yellow Dog Club he ought to be grapped quickly, for the Murra Eight car that he now sports is a speedin "ad." On Film Square they call it "Th Yellow Dog," but no hound ever made th speed that "Doc" gets out of his car. they get him in the new draft—yes, he's it, and willing—the war will be over th day that Hindenburg sees that yello demon coming his way at the typical Will speed.

Newsy Reports From All Sections

New Wage Scale Wanted by Rochester Operators

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The local Motion Picture Operators' Union, following the lead of the musicians, has asked for an increase in salary for its members. The present agreement with the exhibitor does not expire for two years, but the operators, finding it difficult for them to meet the ever-rising cost of living with their present wages, have in a quiet way asked the managers to consider their plight, with the result that a conference has been arranged for Tuesday between the exhibitors and operators, where the new scale asked will be thrashed out.

According to a leading exhibitor, it is very likely the advance will be granted, inasmuch as the operators are perfectly willing to stand by their agreement if the managers insist upon it. However, the men have gone at the matter in a fair and square manner, showing that higher wages are available in many lines of war work for men with mechanical talent, but, according to their spokesmen, the men prefer to stand by their first love, as long as it is possible to do so.

During the presentation of "To Hell with the Kaiser," at the Elmwood theatre, Manager E. O. Wineberg used an automobile float upon which was carried a graveyard reproduction, with the Kaiser's coffin about to be lowered into the hole. The float created much comment about the city and incidentally Mr. Wineberg did capacity business during the three nights of the showing of this picture.

Earl L. Crabb accompanied the local lodge of Elks to Ebenezer with his big camera car last Wednesday, where the antlered hosts enjoyed their annual clambake at Lein's Park. Mr. Crabb got some excellent views of the B. P. O. E. members for showing in the New-Strand Local Events this week. The service flag raising at St. Boniface Church, the horse show at Derby, N. Y., the visit of the Italian editors, and other events of local interest are among this week's features. They are told about on the front page of the Buffalo Evening News, which paper is co-operating with the Strand in putting over these local pictures.

Smileage Pledges Campaign by General Film

In a recent circular letter from W. F. Rodgers, sales manager, the exchange officials of General Film Company, were urged to participate in the drive for Smileage Pledges which is being conducted by the Commission on Training Camp Activities of the War Department. Blanks were distributed among all the branches of the General organization along with the letter.

Appreciation of this action has come in a letter to Mr. Rodgers from L. J. Meyberg of the Commission. Replying, Mr. Rodgers assured the Commission that no effort would be spared to aid in the success of the drive.

Season Booking Policy All Set

The Leading Cleveland Theatres Have All Committed Themselves to a Settled Booking Policy for the New Theatrical Year

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—With the approach of October rumors as to the policies to be pursued by the motion picture exhibitors of Cleveland are shedding their camelion coats of surmise and assuming the more stable hue of fact. One by one the large houses have committed themselves for the year, until now practically every large first-run down town house has its set policy for the new theatrical season completed.

Loew's Stillman Theatre has contracted for thirty weeks of Paramount and Artcraft pictures for the coming year. In addition, first-run features of the First National Exhibitors' circuit will show at the Stillman, as will also the first-run Capitol Comedies. Joe Grossman, manager of the Standard Theatre, signed up for all of the Goldwyn pictures. The Mall and the Alhambra, which are conducted under the same policies, will get sixty-one Paramount and Artcraft pictures, none of them conflicting with those to be released at the Stillman and first-run Metro releases.

The first-run Fox Standard pictures, twenty-six in all, will each play a week's engagement at the Metropolitan. Fox pictures put out on the market as a Victory brand will get first release at the Knickerbocker. The Reel continues to be the first-run World house. Second-run Fox pictures, both standard and Victory, will be shown regularly at the Orpheum, while the Knickerbocker will show the Goldwyn pictures' second run.

This accounts for all of the leading downtown and East Side houses in the city. In looking over the program of events, it is interesting to note the change of attitude expressed this year by the motion picture exhibitors of Cleveland. Last year the general tendency was to break away from the set program. Open market was the thing, the exhibitors said. This year it is just the opposite. There is no hard and fast reason other than one of convenience. Many exhibitors feel that when they have booked a program they are done. They do not have to be constantly on the lookout for a picture. Programs are stronger and better than ever this year, and in the natural cycle of events they may come into their own again.

Strange as it may seem, however, the outlying theatres do not agree with the downtown houses. One exhibitor in the city, a man who runs one of the largest neighborhood houses, said that he was abandoning his one days program in favor of the open booking for the coming year. He said that he ran his house last year practically on the open booking plan, and that the results were very satisfactory.

In the towns around Cleveland the open booking plan is still very much in favor, although there, too, some of the leading theatres have booked a program for the season. Some of these are the Colonial Theatre, Toledo, which will run Fox pictures exclusively; the Liberty, Youngstown, which has booked Fox pictures for five days a week; the Liberty will also show Goldwyn pictures, as will the Grand, Akron, Alhambra, Canton.

While this list of bookings is far from being complete at this date, it is sufficient to indicate the general trend of policies adopted by the leading motion picture theatres of Cleveland and of the northern part of Ohio.

Amalgamation at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The Oliver Motion Picture Supply Company of Cleveland has not been absorbed by the Argus Enterprises, as was announced recently. Arrangements were practically complete for the Oliver Motion Picture Supply Company to become one of the five industries which have combined their operating facilities while maintaining their independent interests, but at the last minute it was decided not to enter into the amalgamation.

The Argus Enterprises is a composite name for conducting several branches of the motion picture industry under one executive head, thus materially reducing the operating expenses of each branch, and greatly facilitating each in its progress, and the branches affected by this combination are the Argus Lamp and Appliance Company, the Argus Company, the Argus Laboratories, and the Argus-DeVry Projection Sales Company. The Argus Enterprises occupies the entire second floor of the Sloan building, as well as the basement, which is being fitted up for laboratory purposes.

Select Captured Toledo

TOLEDO, OHIO.—Without setting out to accomplish it, it nevertheless happened that in Toledo, last week, three of the leading down town motion picture theatres and fifteen of the houses located in outlying districts were all running Select Pictures at the same time.

The Temple was showing Constance Talmadge in "A Pair of Silk Stockings." The Alhambra ran "The Reason Why," featuring Clara Kimball Young, and Norma Talmadge in "Her Only Way" was the attraction offered at the Valentine.

None of these engagements conflicted in the least with each other, it is reported. Each of these stars has her own following, and as each of the features differed so radically, it rather added than detracted to have the leading picture houses of the town all showing the same family of pictures at the same time.

Successful Smoke Drives for Boys in France

Through the presentation of their special comedy release, "My Lady Nicotine," the Mutual Film Corporation continues to materially assist the work of "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund." The one-reel film starring Billie Rhodes deals with the trying necessity which exists among our American boys in France for American tobacco.

The various exchanges of the Mutual Film Corporation have co-operated with the Fund by urging all exhibitors to establish a "Smoke Drive" on the day they present "My Lady Nicotine" at their thetres. The picture showmen of the entire country have responded enthusiastically to this plan, with the result that "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund" has been enriched to the extent of many hundreds of dollars contributed by movie patrons.

The latest patriotic exhibitor to aid in shipping "smokes" across is C. A. Worthington, manager of the Opera House Picture Show, Jacksboro, Tex. In a town containing but 1,500 population, Mr. Worthington secured $52 in one day from his patrons, and has sent a check for same with the following letter to headquarters:

"Mr. Bert Ennis, Director of Publicity,
"New York City, N. Y.

"Dear Sir:

"The enclosed is the result of our efforts for the good of the cause, which I can assure you it has been a pleasure to collect.

"I want to ask that you kindly write me at your convenience just how badly tobacco is needed for our boys in France and what opportunities are there in Frence for the U S. A. soldiers to purchase tobacco as they might require it.

"This information is for the benefit of some few barnacles that still hang on to this little town.

"Yours very truly,
"C. A. Worthington."

F. I. L. M. Club of New York Urges Quicker Service

The F. I. L. M. Club of New York, announces commencing October 20, in order to complete satisfactory service for exhibitors that they may receive their film in time for morning and matiness performances, that all film delivery companies will be required to return exhibitors' shows at night. Certain companies have been complying with these rules, but as others have not, it causes considerable delay.

In order to facilitate this service and help customers it is hoped that they will co-operate with the F. I. L. M. Club. Unless this is accomplished—owing to the shortage of help—there will be many delays which cannot be overcome by the exchange. This is an acute situation and needs the co-operation of all concerned. Exhibitors who need their shows early in the day can appreciate the situation, and if the exhibitor will insist upon his messenger living up to the requirements, a satisfactory conclusion will be the result.

Farrar Called to Washington, D.C.

Geraldine Farrar, Goldwyn Star, to Inaugurate Liberty Loan Campaign in Washington with Concert at National Press Club Banquet

GOVERNMENT honors go to Geraldine Farrar and Goldwyn Pictures through an invitation extended simultaneously to the great screen and operatic star and Samuel Goldfish, president of Goldwyn, on the eve of the fourth tremendous Liberty Loan campaign.

By invitation of Frank R. Wilson, director of publicity of the Treasury Department, Miss Farrar, accompanied by Mr. Goldfish and several of the noted prima donna's friends, leaves for Washington next Thursday night and on Friday Miss Farrar is to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" from the steps of the Treasury Building. This is the first time in any of the loan campaigns that such an event had been planned.

Miss Farrar and Goldwyn have just completed and delivered to the Government officials a splendid Liberty Loan film, "The Bonds That Tie," in which the noted diva plays the role of Columbia. This picture represents the joint contribution of the star and the Goldwyn company to the Government and was written by Harry R. Durant, directed by Reginald Barker, and made under the watchful eyes of the big Goldwyn organization.

Immediately upon its delivery in Washington by special messenger, telegrams and letters of appreciation were dispatched by Frank R. Wilson to Miss Farrar and Samuel Goldfish, both of whom were invited to be the department's guests at a dinner on the evening of September 27 at the National Press Club, to be attended by the entire membership of Washington correspondents of the nation's great daily newspapers and magazines and by many notables in American official and civil life, as well as by members of the foreign embassies and legations.

Director Wilson's letter is as follows:

"Dear Mr. Goldfish:

"I feel doubly grateful to you for two very important favors which you have granted the Treasury Department. I refer to the motion picture which has come to us through your good offices, in which Miss Geraldine Farrar appears. I feel confident that this will be one of the important factors in the forthcoming campaign in behalf of the loan.

"The other thing for which I feel under special obligation to you is your consent to permit Miss Farrar to come to Washington to sing in behalf of the Fourth Loan campaign, and to appear before the National Press Club on the evening of Friday, September 27. I want you to know that we will make most efficient use of Miss Farrar's act, and I know that her appearance will make one of the big nights in the history of the National Press Club.

"I want to accord to you a special invitation to come with her and be here on the occasion of her appearance before the Press Club. We are engaging an auditorium for that evening capable of seating about two thousand persons and invitations will be issued to a number of distinguished people in Washington. We are expecting that Miss Farrar's audience will contain many notables."

Cyrus Townsend Brady's Son Is Major in U. S. Army

The other day while Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady was sitting in the library of his home in Yonkers, N. Y., engaged in putting the finishing touches on "The Man of Might," the next Vitagraph serial in which William Duncan, supported by an all-star cast, including Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan, will be seen, his son, Major Sidney G. Brady, burst in upon him.

The young man had come home unaffected after thirteen months' service in France.

Few know that his celebrated father was destined for the navy. Dr. Brady was graduated from Annapolis, but found the summons to the clergy and literature stronger than the call of the sea. He now gives a great deal of his time to writing books of adventure and screen features and helping Albert E. Smith invent hair-raising exploits for William Duncan, Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway and others of the Vitagraph stars.

In addition to his serials, Dr. Brady has also written scores of Vitagraph features, among them "The Island of Regeneration." The most recent of his feature successes is "By the World Forgot," featuring Hedda Nova and J. Frank Glendon. The serial successes written by Albert E. Smith and Dr. Brady are "The Woman in the Web," "Vengeance—and the Woman," and "A Fight for Millions." One of their latest serials, "The Iron Test," starring Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway is about to be released.

G. G. Rich, New Manager for Paramount at Cincinnati

G. G. Rich has just been appointed to the position of branch manager of the Cincinnati Exchange of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. He has worked his way, as so many of the employes of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation have, from the very bottom up through the various stages of his present high position.

Mr. Rich started his career with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in January, 1916, when he entered the employ of the Pittsburgh Exchange. In a short time he was appointed assistant manager of the office, and in July, 1917, he went to the Cleveland office, where he served as office manager until appointed assistant manager of the Cincinnati Exchange in April of this year.

Coincident with Mr. Rich's appointment comes that of C. C. Wallace, former representative of the company in Indiana, to the position of assistant manager of the Cincinnati Exchange.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Exhibitors Box Office Reports

LAST MINUTE REPORTS

The Following Individual Reports Came in as Motion Picture News Was Going to Press

"The Great Love" (Griffith-Paramount)—"Many said better than Hearts Of The World as not so sad."

"All Men" (Morey-Vitagraph)—"Good."

"Italy's Flaming Front" (First National)—"Went big solid week."

"Woman's Fool" (Carey-Universal)—"Extra big."

"Turn Of The Wheel" (Farrar-Goldwyn)—"Excellent picture; should go big."

"The Source" (Reid-Paramount)—"Star's make-up was poor but picture well liked."

"The Fallen Angel" (Pearson-Fox)—"A good society drama."

Editor's Note: The Box Office Report chart includes all pictures released since July 1 on which a sufficient number of exhibitor reports have been received to base a verdict. In the column "Average of Exhibitors' Reports" the term "Extra Big" indicates a picture which far surpassed expectation; "Big" means a picture doing better than the usual business for that day under average conditions; "Average" is the grading given the production on which business held up to normal; "Poor" indicates the picture falling below normal in box office and entertainment value.

The comments given are no indication of the number of reports received, as many exhibitors merely check off the grading without comment.

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
ALL MEN (Morey—Vitagraph).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Good picture."
ANNEXING BILL (Astra—Pathe).....July	Poor	"Fair."
BACK TO THE WOODS (Normand—Goldwyn)...July	Average	"Not bad; rather tame; got by, that's all." All out door; rather thin story, but well produced." "Good picture." "Picture only fair; poor ending."
BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY (Kleine—Perfection) Sept.	Average	"On second and last week; picture good educational, attracting big percentage of Italians.
BELOVED BLACKMAILERS, THE (Blackwell—World) Aug.	Average	"Average story and average business."
BERLIN VIA AMERICA (Fordart—State Rights).....	Average	"Fair picture; good money maker; three days to big business."
BEYOND THE SHADOWS (Desmond—Triangle)..July	Average	"Average picture."
BIRD OF PREY, THE (Brockwell—Fox).....Aug	Big	"Extra big." "Good show." "Brockwell's all right, but Oh that American stuff." "Good but people don't want Mexican stuff." "Blood and thunder; pleased here." "Just a big melodrama."
BOUND IN MOROCCO (Fairbanks—Artcraft)....Aug.	Average	Big drawing card but not altogether pleasing on account of weakness of plot. Only 'Doug could get away with it." "My patrons expected more than they received." "Doug. is story, cast and all." "Extra big." "Big to start, average on week." "Full of pep; no story; took well. Few didn't like it; good business."
BOSTON BLACKIE'S LITTLE PAL (Lytell—Metro) Aug.	Average	"Average picture to average business." "Picture good; star not known yet."
BREAD (MacLaren—Universal).....Aug.	Big	"Went very big." "It was well advertised and brought good patronage money and satisfaction; the title put it over."
BURGLAR FOR A NIGHT (Kerrigan—Paralta)...Aug.	Big	"A good picture with lots of class."
CITY OF DIM FACES, THE (Hayakawa—Para.)..July	Big	"Very good business." "Business above average." "One of the Jap's best." "One of Jap's best pictures; average business." "Best yet." "Good picture."
CLAWS OF THE HUN, THE (Ray—Paramount).July	Extra Big	"Fine, went over big." "Very fine production." "Big opening two days. Dropped slightly." "Big. Very strong." "Excellent. Very good picture; good acting; brought them back." "Star liked; play liked." "Big for week." "Biggest thing he ever made."
CRUISE OF THE MAKE-BELIEVES, THE (Lee—Paramount).....Sept.	Average	"A new Paramount star that registered fairly well for first picture."
DANGER MARK, THE (Ferguson—Artcraft).....July	Average	"Very good." "Not the kind of picture that has drawing power." "Poor business for three days." "Star does not draw." "Great acting; story slightly muddled." "Ferguson" best." "One of Miss Ferguson's best pictures; patrons well pleased."
DEATH DANCE, THE (Brady—Select).....Aug.	Average	"Not considered Brady's best, but very good."
DECIDING KISS, THE (Roberts—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Just ordinary." "Ordinary program picture; no star."
DOING THEIR BIT (Lee Children—Fox).....Aug.	Average	"Lees good, picture poor." "Average picture." "Went big." "Average." "Good picture, did not draw."
DREAM LADY, THE (Myers—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Average picture." "Fair." "Good."
EMPTY CAB, THE (Bluebird).....July	Average	"Bluebird falling down."
FALLEN ANGEL, THE (Pearson—Fox).....July	Average	"Good society drama." "Fair, have seen better." "Just Fox; that's not much to brag about." "A sex play; star does not draw."
FEDORA (Fredericks—Paramount)..... Aug.	Average	"Rotten picture." "A good picture, but the title kept people away." "Average." "Big" "Good." "Big."
FLOWER OF THE DUSK (Dana—Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture."
FRIEND HUSBAND (Kennedy—Goldwyn).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Big." "Good light picture." "Fine picture." "Big." "Average." "This star is a big failure for us; picture good."
GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT, A (Shipman-Vitagraph).....July	Average	"Good picture; no drawing card."
GHOST OF ROSY TAYLOR, THE (Minter—Mutual) July	Big	"A good bet." "Big." "Ordinary picture, but pleasing." "Pleased nicely." "Good." "Average." "Big."

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
GHOST OF THE RANCHO, THE (Washburn—Pathe) Aug.	Average	"Good film but poor crowd."
GIRL WHO CAME BACK, THE (Clayton—Paramount) Sept.	Average	"Pleasing; a few weak spots."
GLORIOUS ADVENTURE (Marsh—Goldwyn)....July	Big	"Audience well pleased." "One week to average and big business." "Audience well pleased." "Not much—story improbable; acting and settings pull it through." "Good picture; drew fair for hot weather." "A pleasing picture, but no drawing power for me." "One of Mae Marsh's best. Drew well in extremely hot weather." "Pleasing picture." "Average." "Average." "Marsh's poorest picture, did not please." "Star doesn't draw."
GOLDEN FLEECE (Triangle).....July	Average	"Good entertainment; no drawing power."
GOLDEN WALL, THE (Blackwell—World).....July	Average	"Good picture.
GREEN EYES (Dalton—Paramount).....Aug.	Big	"A very fine picture." "Average." "Not liked very much." "Great settings; interesting story; there on the first night advertised."
GREAT LOVE, THE (Griffith—Paramount).....Aug.	Extra Big	"Great picture, a little slow at the start." "Great picture." "A 100% p icture; timely, well balanced, splendid cast, great all around." "Extra big." "Regular riot, pleased all." "Extra big." "Not a Birth of a Nation by any means; drags slow until last reel or two." "Big business to average."
HEARTS OF THE WILD (Ferguson—Paramount) Sept.	Big	"Picture and business big." "This story did not fit the star."
HEARTS OF THE WORLD (D. W. Griffith Special)....	Extra Big	"Now in its fourteenth week." "Greatest picture of all times." "Good picture, but only fair business. We make more real cash on our regular programs."
HELL BENT (Carey—Universal Special).....July	Average	"Good lively Western play. This star should be pushed ahead."
HELL'S END (Desmond—Triangle).....July	Poor	"Poor picture.'
HER BODY IN BOND (Murray—Universal).....July	Extra Big	"Hot weather, but picture went big."
HEREDITY (Castleton—World).....Aug.	Average	"Very good picture, but weather against it." "Poor."
HER ONLY WAY (Norma Talmadge—Select).....Aug.	Big	"Big City, High Class."
HER PRICE (Pearson—Fox).....July	Big	"Went big here for six days." "Had nice returns from this one." "Sex type; faile d to draw. Dark picture all through." "Average." "Ordinary picture."
HIS BIRTHRIGHT (Hayakawa—Mutual).....Sept.	Big	"Went over with a bang, but not much picture." "One of his best; well directed; superbly acted."
HOUSE OF MIRTH, THE (Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Very good, patrons well pleased." "A good picture, but title has no drawing power." "Fair picture." "Above average."
INSIDE THE LINES (Stone—World).....Aug.	Big	"Dandy war picture on a new theme. Star fine, but not known here. Business average for two days with slight decrease the third day." "An exceptionally good picture."
IN PURSUIT OF POLLY (B lie Burke—Para.)...Aug.	Average	'Hit everybody hard, a corking good comedy." "A very weak picture; it took two reels to tell the people that there was going to be a race." "Picture went over fairly well." "Best Burke picture yet." "Very pleasing comedy drama; average business three days." "Average." "Billie not as big a drawing card as she was."
IN JUDGMENT OF (Niss n—Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Very good picture and star well liked here, but business only average." "Average picture. "An excellent production; well liked." "Fair picture." "Good." "A very good picture; holds interest throughout." "Average."
JOAN OF THE WOODS (Elvidge—World).....July	Average
KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN (Jewel).....	Extra Big	"The best drawing card." "Big."
LESS THAN KIN (Reid—Paramount).....July	Big	"Very good." "Extra big." "Big to average."
LIAR, THE (Pearson—Fox).....Aug.	Average	"Entire week; big to poor." "Very good." "Average."
LOVE SWINDLE, THE (Roberts—Bluebird).....Aug.	Average	"Big." "Average." "Average Bluebird."
MAID OF THE STORM (Barriscale—Paralta).....July	Average	"Poor business." "Good; pleased them all.
MERELY PLAYERS (Gordon—World).....Aug.	Big	"Good business for four days. The public likes Gordon, no matter what the exhibitor may think." "Excellent picture; good business for hot weather." "Big."
MISS INNOCENCE (Caprice—Fox).....July	Poor	"June Caprice gets no business." "Average." "Fair story."
MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY (First National)..	Extra Big	"Extra big second week." "Good all week." "Splendid production." "A great picture; good business." "Hot weather; a loser at increased prices." "Well produced; made people talk." "Best war picture so far; made people think." "Big day record—running second week." "S. R. O. in hot weather. Pleased all. Sure money-getter. Two days at advance prices." "All week; big." "Extra big for four days." "Went big four days and would have stood another day's run in town of 20,000." "I consider this picture the best of its kind ever made." "Extra good business." "Best ever; more like this will keep the doors open." "Best feature of the year. Crowded houses at 105 in the shade. Applause nearly raised roof. My opinion a 100% picture." Big business to advanced prices." "Best picture of war by far." "Repeated back for ten days after running week in 2,000 seat house in 4,500 population." "Big." "Extra big; return engagement."
MY OWN UNITED STATES (Daly—Metro).....	Average	"Fine picture." "Very good." "This picture pleased everyone." "Poor business for a week. "A very good picture; we played to average business." "One of the best patriotic screen stories going and fine star but not known here, and public would like to write 'Finis' to all propaganda stuff; sick of it; business poor for a big picture like this."
NEIGHBORS (Evans—World).....July	Average
NINE O'CLOCK TOWN A (Ray—Paramount)....Aug.	Average	"Ray could have scored heavier in a more suitable role." "Weak story, but went over on account of Ray's popularity." "Average Ray picture." "Not up to recent Ray standard.'" "Big."
NO MAN'S LAND (Lyttel—Metro).....July	Big	"Very good." "Average." "Big." "Fair."
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS (Earle—Vitagraph).July	Average	"Not drawing card for Saturday."
OPPORTUNITY (Dana—Metro).....July	Average	"Average picture." "Star well liked; poor picture." "Big. Good clever comedy." "Good program picture." "The kind that makes you forget your troubles." "Very good." "Star liked; picture good." "Big." "Average." "Average picture."
OTHER MEN'S DAUGHTERS (Hyland—Fox)....July	Average	"We did an average business for a whole week." "A good picture."
OVER THE TOP (Empey—Vitagraph).....	Extra Big	"One week to big business.' "Record breaker. One week.' "Big for nine days." "Will play another week on this." "Best war picture to date." "Best of its kind. Extra big business seven days; hot weather, too." "It pleased at higher admissions." "Went over the top with the biggest business of the year." "One of the biggest box office attractions since 'Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin. The picture itself is GREAT, and has the real punch at the finish." "Capacity business.' "A great picture." "Extra big." "A good picture." "Big business for one solid week." "A great picture." "Well liked; good business." "Extra big." "A wonderful picture; pleased immensely; capacity crowds." "Poor, but pleased. Print bad condition." "Second day better than first; a top notcher." "Extra big." "One of biggest hits we ever had."
PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS (Norma Talmadge—Select).....	Big	"Star becoming more popular with each release." "Big."
PAIR OF CUPIDS, A (Bushman-Bayne—Metro)...July	Average	"Picture went over fairly good." "Excellent comedy drama." "Best picture these Cupid killers have ever done." "Handled cleverly." "Why the producers continue making comedies I can't see. The public don't want them." "Best Bushman-Bayne in some time."
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS (Com. Pub. Inf.—First National).....	Extra Big	"Went over big for two days at advance prices." "Warm day, but picture well liked." "Great picture and record breaking business for three days. Will play repeat." "Extra big for week." "Two weeks to capacity." "Extra big all week." "Great attraction; big business." "Average. Three days." "Suggestive of animated weeklies. Patrons said, 'Not enough action and romantic interest for a long feature." "Wonderful show." "Big" "Pleased'" "Did not draw." "Broke all house records." "Standing room only at advanced prices." "Extra big for week." "The biggest card of all."
POWER AND THE GLORY, THE (Elvidge—World) Sept.	Average	"Just an average picture; pleasing."
PRUSSIAN CUR, THE (Fox).....Sept.	Extra Big	"Admission increased from twenty-five to fifty cents; turned them away afternoons and evenings."
RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE (Farnum—Fox).Sept.	Big	"One of Farnum's best."
RIDDLE GAWNE (Hart—Artcraft).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Hokum De Luxe.' "A regu lar Hart picture, but poor; Hart is going. I think he is gone." "One of Hart's best." "Made many new Hart fans." "Hart is played out here." "One of Bill'd best." "Big." "Average." "Average business."

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
SAFETY CURTAIN, THE (Norma Talmadge—Select) July	Big	"A great picture." "Good production—kept business to average in exceptionally hot weather." "Average Norma picture; her's are always good." "Good; star is extremely popular." "Norma is as popular as ever." "Fine show." "Fine picture; good business two days."
SANDY (Jack Pickford—Para.) July	Average	"Good." "Fair program offering; average business two days." "Fair picture." "Dandy picture." "Fair only; not Jack's best by any means." Satisfied everybody." "Good story." "Too bad Jack leaves us." "Fair." "Big." "Went big." "Big." "Jack Pickford well liked in this." "Only a fair day."
SAVAGE WOMAN, THE (C. K. Young—Select) Aug.	Poor	"Went poor." "Too improbable a story."
SOURCE, THE (Reid—Paramount) Sept.	Average	"Fine picture." "Picture was poor; star well liked."
SUCCESSFUL ADVENTURE, A (Allison—Metro) July	Big	"A real good Southern picture is good for a change." "Good." "Good picture, but weather too hot." "Excellent."
STILL ALARM, THE (Pioneer—State Rights) July	Big	"Went extra big solid week amid hottest weather in history of city."
TANGLED LIVES (Morey, Blythe—Vitagraph) July	Average	"Good picture."
TARZAN OF THE APES (First National)	Extra Big	"At advance prices extra big." "Made big hit." "Extra big one week." "Extra big. Interesting picture but bad finish." "Fine picture, but extra business did not materialize." "Great picture, out of the ordinary." "Big drawing card." "Elegant." "Two days to big business with thermometer above 100 mark." "Extra big." "Drew fine for five days. Public wants this kind of picture. It's different." "Extra big for three days." "Causing comment and interest or curiosity to see." "Big."
TILL I COME BAC TO YOU (De Milles—Artcraft) Aug.	Extra Big	"A great picture and one of De Mille's best." "This is a story that was liked by all." "Hits kids, women and men alike. Clean and thrilling. We mopped up with this picture." "Very good."
TINSEL (Gordon—World) July	Average	"Poor title; did average business for two days." "Four days. Many good comments." "One of the best Worlds." "Average."
TO HELL WITH THE KAISER (Screen Classics)	Extra Big	"Opening week a record breaker." "Extra big." "Big despite warm weather." "Extra big business for four days." "The best of them all—biggest money getter. Will hold over another week." "Fair business, pleased all." "Broke all records for the week despite the hot weather at the Strand, Allentown. Severe storm Tuesday, but big business anyway. You may publish this." "Four days to absolute capacity. Hundreds turned away every night. Final day largest of engagement." "Best war picture to date." "Business increased second day." "Broke house records. Capacity three nights." "Best thing yet; three days run; record breakers." "Good patriotic picture with wonderful pulling powers." "Great thriller." "Two days to capacity; very fine." "Good drawing card." "Has Beast of Berlin skinned to a frazzle."
TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER (Joyce—Vitagraph) July	Average	"Fair picture, and star one of the best going with her flowerlike face and womanly appeal; but for the love of Mike, what's wrong with the pictures they give her. Business rotten." "Poor picture." "Good show and good acting."
TURN OF THE WHEEL (Farrar—Goldwyn) Sept.	Big	"Held out very well for long run."
UNBELIEVER, THE (Kleine—Edison)	Extra	"Returned for a week and went big." "Greatest patriotic picture ever." "Very good." "Five week knockout." "Great picture. Gave best of satisfaction." "This picture properly put over makes a big hit, and pulls them in." "Wonderful picture; pleased immensely—capacity houses." "Great."
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN (Clark—Paramount) July	Average	"Just a fair kid's picture; pulled off pronto." "Good for matinees—poor for night. Good picture of its kind." "Average for me." "With aid of colored singers in lobby managed to put this over. Personally thought it awful." "Average." "Big." "Took great; stood them up; star liked." "Average." "Didn't draw." "The best Clark picture in many months." "Poor." "Nice picture; Clark good."
VAMP, THE (Bennett—Paramount) July	Average	"Fine picture, but name against it." "Very interesting picture; good star."
VIGILANTES, THE (Bear State Film Co.) Aug.	Big	"Starting second big week's showing."
WAIFS (Astra—Pathe) Aug.	Average	"Clean, comedy drama."
WE CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING (DeMille—Artcraft) July	Average	"All star cast; great play; not satisfactory; too intricate for all to absorb it; too jumbled up." "Excellent." "From big to average in week's run."
WILD PRIMROSE (Leslie—Vitagraph) Aug.	Average	"Picture went big; good picture."
WINNER TAKES ALL (Salisbury—Bluebird) July	Big	"Went big; Salisbury good card." "Picture pleased." "Better than average Bluebird; Salisbury coming along good."
WOMAN'S FOOL, A (Carey—Universal Special) Aug.	Big	"Big to average."

FLASHBACKS

Individual Opinions on Earlier Releases Received During the Past Week

"Woman and Wife" (Select)—"Star very popular, couldn't handle crowd."

"Rough and Ready" (Fox Standard)—"Couldn't handle crowds; star very popular."

"The Belgian" (Foursquare)—"Went big."

"Closed Road" (World-Brady)—"Average."

"Tides of Fate" (World-Brady)—"Poor."

"Honeymoon" (Constance Talmadge-Select)—"Went extra big."

"How Could You, Jean" (Pickford-Artcraft)—"Pleased all; dandy picture; fair business two days."

"Love's Conquest" (Cavalieri-Paramount)—"Average picture. Poor business."

"Raffles" (Barrymore-State Rights)—"Average."

"The Service Star" (Kennedy-Goldwyn)—"Fair but too dragged out." "100 per cent good."

"Station Content" (Triangle)—"Average picture."

"The Kid Is Clever" (Walsh-Fox)—"Walsh badly handicapped in this; give us Walsh with his brother directing."

"Kidder and Co." (Washburn-Pathe)—"Went big."

"We Should Worry" (Fox Special)—"Big. Lee kids always draw well for us. Went over big."

"Shark Monroe" (Hart-Artcraft)—"Average picture." "Star and picture went over big."

"Her Final Reckoning" (F. P.-Lasky)—"Good picture. Good film; Frederick not two-day drawing card. Average. Fair picture."

"Firefly of France" (Reid-Paramount)—"Great work. Very good picture and work."

"The Kaiser's Shadow" (Dalton-Paramount)—"Better than average business for week, very well done story and if under another name would have had considerable more drawing power; too much Kaiser stuff; name kept many from coming in."

"Her Moment."

"The Scarlet Road" (Fox Special)—"Average feature to very poor business."

"A Desert Wooing" (Bennett-Paramount)—"Picture well acted."

"The Claw" (Young-Select)—"A good picture but I think most people prefer Clara K. in society dramas."

"Good Night, Paul" (Select)—"Very good."

"More Trouble" (Pathe)—"Fair."

"Under the Yoke" (Bara-Fox)—"The poorest picture Bara ever appeared in; audience walked out." "Extra big business for two days."

"Model's Confession" (MacLaren-Universal)—"Patrons liked this play."

"Ace High" (Fox Special)—"Well liked."

"One Dollar Bid" (Kerrigan-Paralta)—"Great star, patrons pleased."

"The Cabaret" (World)—"Took it off."

"A Game With Fate" (Morey-Vitagraph)—"Liked by those who saw it."

Exhibitor Service Bureau

Directory Plan Works in Chicago

Two of the Newspapers Carry Every Day Advertisements of a Creditable per cent of Theatres

CHICAGO, though the second largest city in the nation, presents the best opportunity for a discussion of the directory style of advertising, the plan which prevails there and which has been found invaluable by the theatres using it.

Now in dealing with the situation in some of the largest cities in the country we have found that motion picture theatres have been up against a serious proposition on account of the large number of newspapers that have to be used to cover the field and the high rate that is charged by them for advertising space.

The newspaper situation in Chicago is favorable to the motion pictures in the small number of papers that have to be used. There are only two Sunday papers since the combination of the Herald and Examiner, the other being the Tribune. There are four afternoon papers, the American, Daily News, Journal and the Post. The latter can be left out of consideration, for it is rated by Lord and Thomas as having a circulation of only 55,477, which appears negligible when you know that the Daily News hovers around the half million mark and the Sunday papers pass it. Using five papers to cover a city of nearly three millions does not seem too much to ask.

But when we look further into the situation in Chicago we find one very peculiar thing, and that is that there is not now a single big, up-to-date downtown house. In short, there is in the business section of the city nothing in the same class with the Rialto or the California or the Circle. The really fine houses of the city would technically be classed as neighborhood theatres, though some of them do make an appeal to the whole city. And out of the 345 theatres operating in the city, only twenty of these are downtown theatres, and most of them make their appeal purely to the people passing on the street rather than through any concerted publicity drive through the newspapers.

Chicago divides itself into the North Side, South Side and West Side, and therefore the theatres are largely left to appeal to those separate communities. Now the argument that is generally put up by the proprietor of the usual neighborhood theatre is that he cannot see the use of paying the rate for advertising in a newspaper covering the whole city when he only wants to reach the people of his neighborhood. In a sense that is true and to an extent it may be called a necessary evil, but in cities where the neighborhood theatres have advertised regularly every day they have found that it has brought them patronage from other sections of the city. Especially is this true of houses that are so located that they can be easily reached by the automobile patrons, even though they may be at a distance.

It can readily be seen that after a picture finishes the run of say a week at the downtown theatre there are still a large number of people left who want to see it and who will take the trouble to go to a neighborhood house for that purpose. In one city, with which we are familiar and where there was a daily advertising by the theatres, together with a "chart" printed on Sunday showing the attractions for each day of the week at all of the advertising houses, the increase of business at several of the better neighborhood theatres was marked and the managers found that a considerable portion of the increased business came from sections of the city other than his own. We know of another manager who took charge of a large house a considerable distance from the business section and which had been a failure under a succession of managements and made it a success, largely through advertising. He found that three-fifths of his evening patrons came in automobiles.

But, aside from that point, the main fact is that the manager wants to fill his theatre. It doesn't matter to him whether they come from his own neighborhood or some other. And it is also a fact that day after day more and more people are getting tired of having to walk a half dozen blocks or more to see what their neighborhood house is showing. Rather than take this trouble these people will go either to the downtown houses, whose bills they can find in the newspaper, or they will stay at home. It the neighborhood theatres were advertising only a few lines each day to give the title of the picture and the name of the star the situation would be different. Of course, if the particular patron did not care for the bill at his neighborhood theatre which he saw in the newspaper he would probably come across some other picture that he wanted to see and go to some other theatre. And this would even itself up very shortly. In one case one theatre would get the patron for that particular night and in the other case another would, and the chances are much in favor of increased business for those that do advertise regularly.

Neighborhood theatre advertising really had its origin in the Chicago Tribune. It was at the time of the appearance of the serial "The Adventures of Kathleen," and the paper was interested with Selig in its exploitation. The story appeared in the paper and was syndicated to other papers over the country, the first time such a thing had been done, while the newspaper itself arranged all sorts of advertising plans. The Tribune afterwards was interested in many other pictures. So the newspaper began to list in its columns the theatre that was showing this serial, and these appeared from time to time, thereby becoming the first of the directory advertising. Gradually the theatres began to advertise other pictures besides the serial and they grew into regular advertisers in the Tribune.

In the copy of the Sunday Tribune which we are reproducing on the opposite page there are seventy-two theatres advertising, and only nine out of the number are downtown houses, though technically neighborhood houses like the Central Park and Woodlawn are the finest houses in the city. And every day during the week these same theatres use the Tribune, though some of them use slightly smaller space, as a glance at the pages from the Sunday and from the Friday issues shows. This advertising is grouped together under a heading "Motion Picture Directory." Legitimate and vaudeville advertising is handled on another page, so that there can be no confusion.

This is typical directory advertising. You will note that the Sunday space does not vary greatly from that used during the week. Most of the theatres occupy just as much space every day in the week as they do on Sunday. The result is that you do not find in the Chicago newspapers the large Sunday advertising that is the rule in other cities. In fact, the only two theatres shown here which even attempt to vary the style of their displays on different productions are the Casino in advertising "Crashing Through to Berlin" and the Playhouse with "The Vigilantes."

This is all the more emphasized in the Daily News, which carries the advertisements of eighty theatres and average smaller space for them than the Tribune gets. We show the Friday and Saturday pages from the Daily News.

Now the question that is naturally asked is: "What does the newspaper give these theatres?" And the answer is: "Practically nothing." In other words, the picture houses are advertising for the value of the directory itself and not on account of reading notices that they get. As a matter of fact, that would be impossible in a city the size of Chicago, for if only a few lines were given each theatre there would be columns of space taken up and little of it read.

The Tribune formerly had an interesting motion picture page and also ran a cut and story every day, but for some reason this was dropped more than a year ago. Under the heading "Right Off the Reel" there is some two columns of matter used each Sunday, and on several days of the week there appear reviews of

(Continued on page 2014)

These Theatres Keep Before the Public Every Day in the Year

At the top Sunday and Friday pages from the Chicago Tribune and at the bottom Friday and Saturday pages of the Daily News. Note how the advertising of all the motion picture houses is grouped. See article on opposite page

Liberty Loan Unites Duty and Opportunity

DURING the past week the Liberty Loan pictures made by various stars for the purpose of aiding the government in the fourth campaign were shown in New York. Most of these were presented at the Rivoli theatre to an invited audience and the enthusiasm that they aroused was remarkable, especially when one considers that these different short subjects were presented in constant succession.

In the opinion of the director of the Exhibitors' Service Bureau these are not only going to do a great deal of good in aiding the government to raise the fourth loan quickly, but they are going to give the public renewed faith in the motion picture. In that they constitute a real asset to the theatre and their showing at each house ought to be exploited in every way possible. The return to the government and to you is certain.

There are thirty-seven of these pictures and they are to be distributed free of charge by the exchanges of the company that made them or regularly handles that company's product. Here is a full list of the pictures and the stars in them:

Patriotic Setting Such as This from Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo, Will Help in Boosting Subscriptions for the Fourth Liberty Loan

List of the Pictures

Metro Pictures Corporation—Harold Lockwood, in "Liberty Bond Jimmy"; Emily Stevens, assisted by King Baggot, in "Building for Democracy"; Edith Storey, in "Edith's Victory for Democracy," and Mme. Nazimova, "A Woman of France."

Vitagraph—William Duncan, in "The Decision"; Alice Joyce, in "The Choice"; Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe, in "The Grouch"; Earl Williams, in "Bonds U. S. Bonds"; Corrine Griffith, "A Wise Purchase," and Gladys Leslie, in "Sylvia's Last Pledge."

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation—Douglas Fairbanks, "Sic 'Em Sam"; Mary Pickford, in "100 Per Cent. American"; Marguerite Clark, "The Biggest and the Littlest Lady in the Land"; Wallace Reid, "His Extra Bit"; Elsie Ferguson, "The Spirit That Wins"; George M. Cohan, a Liberty Loan Appeal; William S. Hart, "A Bullet for Berlin"; George Beban, "When it Strikes Home"; Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, a Liberty Loan Appeal; Enid Bennett, Charles Ray and Dorothy Dalton, Ince stars, in Liberty Loan Appeals; Mack Sennett's company, "It's a Cinch," and William Faversham and Lillian Gish, in Liberty Loan Appeals.

Select Pictures—Alice Brady and Norma Talmadge, in Liberty Loan Appeals.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation—Pauline Frederick, Mabel Normand, Mae Marsh, Madge Kennedy, Tom Moore, Matt Moore and others in an all-star film, "Stake Uncle Sam to Play Your Hand," and Geraldine Farrar, "The Bonds That Tie."

Fox Film Corporation—William Farnum.

Universal Film Company—Mae Murray, in "The Taming of Kaiser Bull."

Pathe—Frank Keenan.

V. B. K. Film Corporation—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, "Financing the Fourth."

First National—Charlie Chaplin, "The Bond."

Haworth Pictures—Sessue Hayakawa, "Banzai."

Sherman Pictures — Dustin Farnum, "Ready Money Ringfield."

Kalem All-Star—"My Country."

Duty to Perform Here

If it is possible the Liberty Loan Committee hopes that each one of these pictures may be shown in every motion picture house in the country. The motion picture theatres have a duty to the country to perform here, but they have more than a duty because it is a real opportunity. Hundred per cent. co-operation with the government means not only an over-subscription of the loan, but it also means that any possible criticisms against motion pictures that exists will be removed. In some parts of the country there have been localized movements to keep people away from photoplay theatres on the ground that this small amount of money spent for amusement should go to War Savings Stamps. Here you have a chance to show the public that not only is the theatre not under the ban of any department of the government, but it is being used as one of the chief means of advertising the Liberty Loan.

Every exhibitor should get in touch with the various exchanges and if possible get the bookings of the various pictures. And then he should proceed to advertise them as he shows them, just as he would advertise any other special production. That doesn't mean that you need exaggeration and buncombe, for the simple statement that William Farnum or Mae Marsh is to make a Liberty Loan appeal at your theatre on such and such a day will be sufficient. But there is much more to be done than that.

Co-operation of Newspapers

In the first place you ought to be able to get the co-operation of your local papers in calling attention to these productions. The papers know the position of the government fully and we believe that most of the newspapers will be willing to call attention editorially to the work that these players have done and the reliance that the government is placing in the pictures. Such an editorial will be worth more to you in raising the standard of photoplays among those who now look down on them than anything else that you could do.

These newspapers will be likely to give you a little extra space on each showing, and at the same time you ought to use some extra space in announcing them.

Why not show your interest right at the start by fitting up a special lobby display on the Liberty Loan. You can do this very easily by using photographs of the stars that are appearing in these pictures and with a little art work you can create a display that will have every one stopping in front of your house. Especially if you happen to be the one exhibitor in your community who is doing this, you are on the road to having your theatre talked about as THE house.

The general public is very likely to conclude that the theatre that ties up completely with the government on such essential matters as the Liberty Loan is also giving attention to other things and that such a house is the one to patronize.

Theatres that have the facilities to use special stage settings will find them valuable during the campaign and that they will set off the Loan pictures. If you are not able to have a special setting you can at least use a few flags in your theatre, and make it an occasion.

These pictures are all very short and there will be no reason for extensive music scores. Patriotic selections can be used during these, together with marches and imitations of battle noises where they occur. In case of the comedies there should

Small City Man Needs Real Exploitation

Recently we told you how A. S. Kolstad has made his theatre a real institution in Hood River, Oregon. Mr. Kolstad has solved many of the problems that confront the smaller city exhibitor, but in asking him to serve on the Advisory Board we also asked him what he found to be the matter with the exploitation of pictures so far as his community is concerned. This is his answer, and he finds that the new Complete Plan Book is a great aid to him:

I HAVE found many objections to the producers' way of selling us pictures. In the trade papers one picks out such expressions as "A picture of the rarest beauty, full of poetic touches, and yet strongly dramatic. A picture to book and advertise and clean up with."

That gives one a great idea of what the play is like, and yet when one receives the press dope on the above play they will know just as much more about it as they did originally, and yet the producers expect us to sell their product by using superlatives. For instance, not long ago I ran a dandy little play with a popular pair of juvenile stars. The name was different than the original book and on none of the billing was there any mention of the fact that it was taken from one of the "Stover of Yale" stories. After the first day's run I got out dodgers and told the public just what the story was and mopped up on the second day's business. This, of course, is an exceptional case, but it only goes to show what we have to put up with.

It seems that the principal asset of most of the ad writers is a bunch of superlatives in a mixed up mass which mean next to nothing to the exhibitor who is trying to resell the picture to the public. You can go right down the line of the ads in any of the trade papers and pick the same old stock phrases—"Powerful, heart-throbbing story of redemption through love," "One of the most unique screen stories ever offered the exhibitor," "So and so at his or her very best."

This is all right, but the public want to know a little something of the story they are going to see, and how are we to let them know unless we give each picture a once-over personally. Pictures that I go to the city to see I can put over much better than those that I have to depend on the press matter furnished me.

If I had intelligent matter on the different attractions I am to run it would save me many a trip to Portland and many a dollar, as I make many trips to see pictures I am to book just for the simple reason I want to know how to plug them and cannot get any idea worth while from the press matter furnished me.

In regard to paper, some of it seems to have been selected with no more idea to the play than a child would have. I would rather have a stock one-sheet of a star than many of the scenes that are shown and purported to be from the play.

Another thing, in most times found in the two-reel comedies now on the market: One will get a bunch of stills and exhibit them in his lobby, then when you run the comedy find maybe one scene in the whole bunch that is in the film. The rest all cut out in the editing of the comedy. I think the stills should be sorted and edited as well as the picture, because the dear public comes out of your place of business and wonders, very audibly, of course, if your operator hasn't cut out part of the show.

I want to thank you for the new department just started in the News, namely the Complete Plan Book. It is just what we have been needing to help us put over the stuff and will help many a poor exhibitor who is racking his brain for an idea as to how he shall put this or that over.

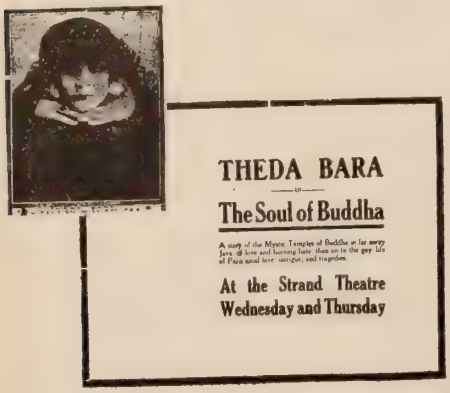
be light music so popular songs can be employed.

Ought to Be an Event

In short, the presentation of these pictures ought to be made an event in the history of your theatre. You have been reading in the Motion Picture News about the motion picture being held an essential and about the various roles that it has been playing in winning the war.

You have a chance now to make it play a part in your own theatre. The few special pictures that were made at the time of the Third Loan were shown in comparatively few theatres and therefore the public in general did not get a good idea of what the industry is doing. Now, with thirty-seven different ones available there will certainly be opportunity for every theatre to show at least some of them. And if we were conducting a theatre we would set out to get every one that we could show in the campaign, and we would go about it with as much energy as we would for a record-breaking production.

And after you get them, do not use them merely as fillers and ignore them in your daily exploitation. Show that you yourself appreciate the importance of them and you will have gone a long way to convincing the public in general that the photoplay is a real war-time necessity, and the theatre likewise.



We believe that you will be surprised by the way these pictures are received by your patrons, the enthusiasm that they arouse, the new interest in motion pictures generally that they create.

ADVISORY BOARD, EXHIBITORS SERVICE BUREAU

Samuel L. Rothapfel, Rialto and Rivoli theatres, New York.
Thomas D. Soriero, Park theatre, Boston, and Strand theatres, Lowell.
Harold B. Franklin, Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo.
Edw. L. Hyman, Film Director, U. S. Liberty Theatres, New York.
E. Mandlebaum, Loew's Stillman theatre, Cleveland.
Mrs. Joseph Grossman, Standard theatre, Cleveland.
George J. Schade, Schade theatre, Sandusky.
H. C. Horater, Alhambra theatre, Toledo.
S. Barret McCormick, Circle theatre, Indianapolis.
Theo. L. Hays, New Garrick theatre, St. Paul.
M. W. McGee, Majestic theatre, Detroit.
Chas. G. Branham, Strand theatre, Minneapolis.
Leo A. Landau, Butterfly theatre, Milwaukee.
Charles C. Perry, Buffalo theatre, Camp Upton, N. Y.
W. S. McLaren, Majestic and Colonial Theatres, Jackson, Mich.
Miss Flossie A. Jones, Waukesha Amusement Co., Waukesha, Wis.
Willard C. Patterson, Criterion theatre, Atlanta, Ga.
E. V. Richards, Jr., General Manager, Saenger Amusement Co., New Orleans.
Ernst Boehringer, Liberty theatre, New Orleans.
C. A. Lick, New theatre, Fort Smith, Ark.
F. L. Newman, Royal and Regent theatres, Kansas City, Mo.
H. M. Thomas, Strand theatre, Omaha.
Ralph Ruffner, Rialto theatre, Butte.
A. H. Hilton, Paramount Theatre, Lewiston, Idaho.
George E. Carpenter, Paramount-Empress theatre, Salt Lake.
Sam W. B. Cohn, Liberty theatre, Spokane.
G. F. Fullerton, Advertising Manager, Greater Theatres Co., Seattle.
E. J. Myrick, Liberty theatre, Portland, Ore.
A. S. Kolstad, Liberty theatre, Hood River, Ore.
P. E. Noble, Publicity Manager, Liberty and Columbia theatres, Seattle.
Eugene H. Roth, California theatre, San Francisco.
J. A. Partington, Imperial theatre, San Francisco.
Sidney Grauman, Grauman's theatre, Los Angeles.

Your Idea and Ours

STRAND THEATRE, Salina, Kan., supplies an excellent example of the theatre in the smaller city that knows the value of white space. Now here is an advertisement that occupies ten inches across five columns, yet there are only forty-five words in the whole thing besides the caption on the cut.

One of the two-column cuts supplied by Fox has been used, and this has properly been placed in the upper left-hand corner. If you will study advertising you will see that a great deal depends on the position in which the cut is placed. Most managers seem to think that just so long one is used, it doesn't matter where. It is always well to have the border breaking into the cut, provided you leave plenty of white space so that it will stand out. No one who picks up the paper in which this display appeared will miss it. It is attractive, simple and convincing.

In all of the specimens of the Strand advertising that we have seen, the same policy of using plenty of white space has been followed. And when such a policy is adopted in a city of 11,354, it is a good augury for better motion picture advertising.

The stickler often gets things all gummed up.

CUTS are highly important. They improve displays greatly, and they bring attention to many that would otherwise be passed over. But let all of us resolve right here not to use a meaningless cut under any circumstances, unless we accompany it by reading matter which may serve to explain it.

Now, we defy any one in the world who has not seen the picture to tell what this cut on Mary Pickford in "M'liss" means.

Zelda theatre, Duluth, Minn., uses it. It is a mass of lines, and that is all. The figure doesn't look like Mary Pickford, you can't tell what she has in her hand, and the box serves no other purpose than to occupy space. Now, we know that the exhibitor is often up against it on account of the poor matter that is furnished, and that he cannot afford to go to work and have a special half-tone made. In that case we would simply omit the illustration. In case of this picture we would certainly have said that it was a Bret Harte story made into a picture, and have put in selling arguments about the laughs that it contains. As it appears this is a mere label advertisement. Those who especially want to see Mary Pickford will go, but the hundreds that might be brought in are very likely to stay away.

Advertising serves the same purpose as the holes in the pepper box.

LAST week we mentioned the unique way that a theatre had used a number of "Reward" posters in advertising a picture. Now comes another, though different, example of the same sort of exploitation.

Goldwyn has reproduced posters along this line for "Laughing Bill Hyde," the newest of the Rex Beach productions. You will note that this makes no reference to the motion picture, and this could be used in advance and arouse a great deal of interest. And while there is no mention made of the picture there is sufficient description of the character, so that it will be immediately coupled with the photoplay when you do your first advertising on it. And the displays should be prepared so as to carry out the spirit of the reading matter as a part of the selling campaign.

"Pull" never meant as much as "Push."

HERE is one that fills nearly all of the qualifications of a good advertisement. In the first place, the artistic character of it is going to draw attention from all who look at the page, and no matter how many other displays are jammed up against it, it is going to stand out.

Holman theatre, Montreal, has used an attractive cut of Carmel Myers, and the very beauty of the picture will cause the advertisement to be read. The black and white lettering matter has been well divided between the "caps" and lower case matter and the selling argument of the picture has been well brought out.

The only possible trouble about the display is that it needs good printing to bring it out. We were sent a proof, and therefore do not know how it showed up in the newspaper. That is the only danger in such displays where the lettering is small—the pressman and stereotypers may make a mess out of it for you. It occupied ten inches across three columns.

Keep your troubles in the safe with that counterfeit dollar. Your patrons want neither of them.

GEORGE E. CARPENTER, manager of the Paramount-Empress theatre, Salt Lake City, is always there with new ideas. A couple of weeks ago he walked into a Salt Lake restaurant and noticed that in complying with the Hoover rule on saving sugar, the proprietor wasn't taking a chance of any customer exceeding the speed limit, but that just the proper amount was supplied, and in a small envelope.

Immediately it occurred to Carpenter that there was no reason why these envelopes should be bare, and so he offered to furnish the envelopes free to the restaurants if they would allow him to advertise his theatre on them. He changes the reading matter with each production. It is intimate sort of advertising that results in the matter being generally read. It is not expensive, and it would apply in almost any city.

What Live Wires are Doing

"I had a great show, but no one came." Yes, but you were the only one that knew about it.

GERALDINE FARRAR'S first picture for Goldwyn has been responsible for unusually good advertising on the part of exhibitors in various sections of the country. In fact, quite a number seem to have tried to do much more on this production than they usually do.

This display of the Temple theatre, Toledo, Ohio., occupied fourteen inches across four columns, and was in excellent taste throughout, putting over the big punch of the picture in a dignified manner. The scene cut used at the top is a striking one, and it was well worth while because it shows the character of the production. The public is right now fighting shy of pictures made from operas and costume productions, and the Temple theatre did well to bring out the fact that this famous star is being seen in a drama of to-day. The selling argument is brief and to the point.

Standard theatre, Cleveland, used a half-page in colors. It employed a portion of the same scene picture, and then used a profile picture of Miss Farrar at the right of the picture. There is a minimum of reading matter—always the case in the excellent advertising of the Standard—and this not only dwells on the fact that this is a picture of to-day, but recites that the star has announced that she will be seen on the screen only in modern roles.

Don't take the policy of your theatre from a burlesque, and be sure that you do not make your house a joke.

Recently we had something to say about the owners of two or more theatres combining their house advertising and of the bad results from such a policy.

But here is just the opposite thing and certainly E. H. Hulsey is not letting any grass grow under his feet in this respect. We take a page from the Dallas News. Certainly if you were not told you would never know from the advertising that he controls the Old Mill and the Queen theatres as well as the Hippodrome. But it is the latter to which we want to call your attention especially. Now note that there are three separate advertisements on the Hippodrome on this one page. There is a quarter of a page on "The Hearts of the World," which was to close its run on Tuesday, and then almost as large space on "For Husband's Only" to open on Wednesday. But that was to be a double bill and was to include "The Geezer of Berlin," so after mentioning this fact at the bottom of the larger advertisement he took separate space, two columns seven and one-half inches for a special "Geezer" ad. You can bet that he is putting it over for big business. He is not arraying himself against himself, but he is selling every picture. One reason for this policy is that he recently took over the Hippodrome and wants to drive it into the public mind that this house is now the home of big pictures.

STRAND THEATRE, Birmingham, Ala., under its new management is going to be a good advertiser. Here is one of the first of the hand-drawn advertisements that it has used. It is attractive in the main, but there are several ways that it could be improved, especially considering that the theatre had the service of an artist in preparing it. The figure of the girl should have been without the shadow effect of the background, and it would have stood out all the more had the full length of the figure been shown, though that is not essential.

The "Damn You" in the reading matter is likely to offend some people, and it doesn't strengthen the display a bit. It's mighty hard to get away with profanity in advertising, and unless there is an essential reason for its use it ought to be omitted.

We note in other advertising that the Strand doesn't keep its name in the same type as it should do. This theatre is advertising the house itself, and is doing it well, but we would suggest that a distinctive name plate or at least the word "Strand" always in the same style type would help things along.

RECENTLY we asked you not to draw marks through your advertising. Here is another thing to avoid. Do not clip so close to the border that part of it is destroyed. The effect of a border may mar an otherwise good display, or vice versa. We want to reproduce your advertising here exactly at it appeared in your newspaper.

Seeing Rialto and Rivoli with Rothapfel

AS we see more motion picture presentations we are struck more and more by the psychology in pictures and in their arrangement. It is a big point for the exhibitor to consider, because the very arrangement of the picture may result in twice as many people leaving the theatre pleased as there would be by some other arrangement when there was only one slightly jarring portion of the program, but it was allowed to get in at the psychologically wrong moment.

Now it is mighty seldom that Mr. Rothapfel shows a feature picture last, unless it is practically a straight comedy. His view of a performance is that the people should go away from the theatre in a good humor. The feature may at times be tense, even depressing, but that can be overcome by following it with laughter-invoking scenes, accompanied by tuneful music. And a comedy at the end of the bill is the general rule at the Rothapfel houses.

Yet this week at the Rivoli there is not a laugh in the feature and it is holding the tense interest of the patrons to the last. It is one of the most absorbing melodramas that has ever been screened. And there is not a comedy on the bill. One might say that there is not a hearty laugh on the bill, yet the net result of the whole performance is that everyone goes away from the house in a high good humor. There are two reasons for this: In the first place, the music with the scenic picture is humorous, though not broadly funny, titles are of the most popular character and have the audiences at least inwardly singing. And then the feature may be called a delightfully happy one, for, though the situations are always tense, the ending is just as we would have it, and it leaves us pleased that everything came out just this way.

"Sporting Life" is an unusually good picture, but it would have lost some of its value if it had been sandwiched in with the rest of the program. It will be remembered all the more because it is left to the last of the bill. Satisfaction gives us even more joy than laughter, and certainly the picture and the outcome of the complications delight everyone.

"Orpheus in the Lower World" is the overture at the Rivoli. This creation of Offenbach's is really a parody, but it is certainly there with the melody. For this the lights are all in gold, except the panels at either side of the stage, in bluish gold. The liveliness of it, the rhythm through it, puts us in a good humor from the start, and then the combination of music and picture in the scenic that follows certainly adds to the zest.

This is one of the new Robert Bruce creations released by Educational and entitled "'Tis Tough to Be Tender." It represents an amateur tourist unused to travel going into the wilds riding one mule and using another as a packsaddle. He sees the beauties of the Yosemite, but he has his troubles as well, and the music makes us appreciate them all the more. This is obtained mainly by using the choruses of popular songs. And the reason that the choruses are employed instead of entire selections is for the very reason that the chorus is the key to the song—the part that everyone knows.

"Under the Ramblin' Rose" is used at the start and then follows through "Danse Miniat" Nos. 3 and 4. Now with the title "The Days Were Spent" "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" was used, chorus only, and then one chorus from "He's a Devil in His Own Home Town," then "Pack Up Your Troubles," and then the chorus of "Gee, I Wish I Had a Girl" is used twice, starting with the title "With Infinite Care," and then the chorus from "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Now cannot you imagine that by this time the audience is in the height of content? Yes, content is the word that expresses the psychology of the presentation. Everything is going smoothly, the very atmosphere is melody.

Then with the title "With the Most Beautiful Valley" "When the Clouds Roll By" is used, accompanying the cloud effects, and at the next title, "At the End of Twenty Minutes," there is more of the popular melody brought back with the chorus of "Silver Hill," played twice, turning into half of the chorus of "Eastside, Westside" at the title "With the Vision" and then following through with half of the chorus of "When the Clouds Roll By" at the end.

That certainly is devoting some attention to the music of less than a reel of pictures, and anyone who could see the effect that the music had on the audience would appreciate that it is worth all the trouble.

All lights are in blue for the first musical number and as the curtains part revealing Greek Evans standing by a lounge. Drapery effects are used for the setting, with only one blue hanging light and the gold spot on the singer from the right of the stage. "And Wouldst Thou" from "The Masked Ball" is then rendered.

Rivoli opens with a fanfare of trumpets and drums for the title and then swings into "The Right of Way" with Gaumont pictures of launching the "Piave" at Kearney, N. J. The effect of the steamers whistling their greetings as the new ship takes the water is very effective. Screen Telegram then follows with some pictures of various dogs at the dog show, and these draw mingled applause and laughter. "Tulips" is used here.

Now there isn't a great deal of punch in the Official War Review this week, and so it is brought into the Animated right here and the real punch added later. The first part of it is devoted to the activities of the Italians, showing submarines, both from the outside and then the interior, and then battleships with the masts filled with cheering sailors. "Bersaglieri" is used through these pictures. Then come pictures of General Allenby, the man who liberated Jerusalem, followed by pictures of the British troops training in the desert, and during these pictures "Orientales" is played.

Then comes the big punch at the end, brought about with the use of Gaumont pictures of the fighting Marines in training at Quantico, Va. They are first shown at their exercises and then we have some fine shots of the marching men. At the moment when Secretary Daniels presents them with their flags the spotlights are thrown on the American and Marine emblems crossed on the proscenium arch and the audiences simply go wild with enthusiasm. "Semper Fidelis" is the music for these pictures which give the crashing finish.

Purely as an introductory to the feature two pupils of the Albertieri School give "Dance of the Jockeys" before a drop which shows the finish post at a race track. There is a brief dance and then the curtain drops over the scene as the girls leave the stage. They reappear to act as pages in parting the curtains again to reveal the screen, on which the title of the picture is immediately thrown, and remain in that position until the lighting has gone down, so that they slip away unnoticed by the audience, the dance being thus perfectly woven in with the feature.

There is a splendid musical score used for "Sporting Life," but as the greater part of it consists in the Rothapfel numbered selections it is impossible to record the score here. At the opening the first and the second suites from "Henry VIII"

HOW IT HELPS

Even the Biggest Managers Get Lots of Ideas Here

ONE of the most successful managers in the country and a man who has made millions of dollars out of motion pictures for his stockholders spent an hour this week telling us how much good he gets each week from the Exhibitors Service Bureau. He told us that he read every line of this matter each week and that he got many ideas that he could either apply direct or which gave him suggestion of other things that he could do.

And he went ahead further and said that the reason that he was so pleased with his new house was that it incorporated the best ideas that he had been able to gather in several years of trips through the country. He wasn't afraid to take ideas of others and use them intelligently.

This is the statement of one of the most successful exhibitors in America. Are YOU taking full advantage of this department?

Rialto and Rivoli are used and then "Perfect Melody," without the introduction. This is repeated at the end of the picture and so might be called its melody. Following this is "Three English Dances," then "Furlana," "Dance of the Cammorist," a galop, "Mock Morris," "Molly on the Shore" and "The Meadow." Twelve different selections are used and then the organ takes up the music until the fifth reel and thence through the music is fitted to the action of the picture.

We have never seen a feature picture, with the exception of one of a patriotic character, get such generous and such frequent outbursts of applause as this one is causing at the Rivoli. It is applauded with almost the enthusiasm that marked its reception by the gallery gods when it was first given on the speaking stage. And certainly the way that this picture is set into the program has been perfectly done, for in spite of the tenseness of the action everything works around so delightfully and so thrillingly to the wishes of the audience that there is joy in every heart when the entire bill comes to an end.

Combination of a tribute to Yom Kippur and a very gloomy feature, based on a murder for robbery, gives a rather dismal air to the bill at the Rialto this week. "The Bells" is certainly one of the greatest pictures of the speaking stage, and Frank Keenan does wonderful acting in the screen version, yet we would have much rather had something happier.

The second and final movements from Dvorak's "From the New World" compose the overture, which is really based on plantation melodies. Then come some Kalem pictures of the Holy Land, "From Jerusalem to the Red Sea." These are not new pictures, and they are used with the purpose of getting the Yom Kippur effect. "Baccanale" is used with introduction and obos solo and then the music follows through into "Les Pheniciennes" and then "Meditation."

Now just at the end of the scenic the curtains part revealing in the side panels the sacred laws of the Jews on the tablets, with the effect of windows of the synagogue, and then Joseph Mann, from the side of the stage and unseen, sings "Kol Nidre" with a 'cello obligato. It is an effective way to mark the day.

"Jack Tar March" is the music for the opening number of Rialto Animated, which shows South American officials guests of the Pelham Bay Naval Station and a review of the rookies. This comes from Gaumont, as do the War Service Day at Harvard stadium pictures. The sailors in the stands forming the word "Navy" brings a torrent of applause. Then come Screen Telegram reproductions of the honor paid by New York on Lafayette Day, and "Hail to the Spirit of Liberty" is the most appropriate music.

Hearst-Pathe supplies pictures of American airmen and target practice, and linked up with this is a Screen Telegram view of a war machine wrecked in a 2,000-foot dive, and during both of these a dramatic allegro is used. "Scenes Humoresque" are used with Gaumont pictures of the National Egg Day at Petaluma, Cal. Screen Telegram pictures of looting the sea to enrich the crops with fish fertilizer call for a polka, and then with the Gaumont appeal to save the peach pits and the raising of a million and a half pennies at Los Angeles for the war babies "We'll Wallop the Kaiser" is employed.

Lobby display of Midway theatre, Montreal, on "Triple Trouble"

Now practically everything up to this time has a bearing on the war, and we begin to get the punch the harder with Gaumont pictures of "Our Boys in France." Here the use of smoke flares and road camouflage are two of the things shown, and we also get a glimpse of the sole survivor of a raid that the Huns attempted on the Americans. "Hands Across the Sea" is the music. Screen Telegram pictures show Elsie Janis singing for the soldiers at the front, and here the music turns to "Lady of the Slipper."

Hearst-Pathe gives us an up-to-date touch with an illustration of "18 to 45" marching together to register, and here we have the chorus of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" used. After this "Over There" follows through as we get the title saying that on the same day that the registration was conducted here the Americans started their drive in France. This draws an immense amount of enthusiasm, and then we have another title, "They Never Turned Back and They Never Will," and the audience grows in its enthusiasm until the theatre can scarcely hold it, especially when the music again turns to "Battle Hymn" and there is a flash of General Pershing thrown on the screen. It gets the crowds, but it could have been a little more genuine if Hearst-Pathe had used a picture of the American commander really taken "over there" instead of one snapped on the Mexican border while he was still a brigadier general, and which the single star he wears on collar in the picture shows. Of course, mighty few people get this, but still it is one of the "little things."

Miss Leeta Corder, singing the "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah," affords an excellent prelude for the feature which follows, Frank Keenan in "The Bells." "March Jewess" is used as the opening selection, and then we have the sound of sleigh bells and the noise of wind from the organ. As you know, the story is built around the slayer of the Jew constantly hearing the accusing bells, and these are used often during the presentation of the picture. "Navaraise" is the theme for the feature. As might be inferred from the character of the picture, the music is not light, about the only selection with a lilt to it being "There Was a Little Maiden."

We are given a chance to get back at the sunny side of life again when the orchestra plays selections from "Mlle. Modiste," and the audience is almost stirred to singing "I Want What I Want When I Want It," and after that we have the comedy, "Fatty" Arbuckle in "The Cook," a picture which has some reminders of "The Waiters' Ball." The music is all of the liveliest character through this comedy, starting with "Polo Rag" and then including "Wyoming Days," "Good Scout," "Pepper Pot," "Oh, Lady, Lady," "By the Beautiful Sea" and "Step Lively," used in the order named.

Now just a moment again on the psychology of pictures. We saw both presentations the same day. We had seen both plays acted on the speaking stage, though we must admit that our recollections of them were not quite clear. "Sporting Life" is a much longer picture than "The Bells," and it is just as tense in its interest throughout. But there was not that relief at the ending of "The Bells" that made us feel that all was just right in the world. So in that case Rothapfel had to resort to the lighter music and the slapstick comedy to restore the poise of the audiences.

It's psychology in picture handling and nothing else explains it. It is simply figuring on the human mind and the human heart.

Big Pictures Surpass Vaudeville Business Says Levy After His Experiment in Seattle

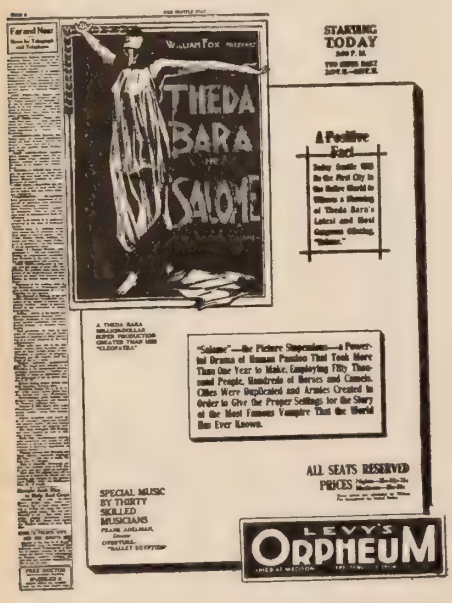
SOME nine years ago Eugene Levy, then a successful business man, surprised the business world of Seattle, Wash., by the announcement that he was going to devote his time and money to the "vaudeville game." He did, finally build one of the most beautiful theatres in the country, and made money. But this original announcement did not cause half the surprise that came a few months ago when the same Levy told the public that he was going into motion pictures with his theatre.

Now it was not a case of Seattle needing motion picture theatres. It already had them, fine ones and successful houses. But Mr. Levy believed that there was a place for him in exhibiting and he decided to make it. According to reports from Seattle his success from the first has been remarkable. He declares that not for a single week has he regretted the step that he took and that the change in policy, at the Orpheum, his million dollar theatre, is permanent.

The first picture that he showed was "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin." He went in for big advertising, but he was not sure that the business that was done with this production was an exception, but he continued in the field for unusual pictures and adhered to his policy of big advertising. He used and still uses pages, often on Sunday, and five and six full columns are the general rule. On "Hearts of the World" he used twelve full columns on a "double truck"—newspaper parlance for opposite pages.

After this he played such pictures as "Over the Top," "The Crisis," "The Warrior," etc., and has just completed the run of Theda Bara in "Salome" for two weeks.

"After seeing the returns these pictures brought me in, without all the trouble so-called actors and actresses gave me, I decided that the moving pictures are the important branch of the amusement business to-day," says Mr. Levy. "While the Orpheum was a great success as a vaudeville house, the war has cut into the acts with such a wide sweep that good acts were becoming scarcer all the time. Realizing that with the overflowing of the large moving picture houses in this city and with the ever increasing flow of mechanics in here to enter the shipbuilding industry, it is by no means too early for one to open another first class motion-picture house. This same action before the war would have been folly."



When Levy was featuring "The Yellow Ticket" the price was 10 cents for weekday afternoons and 20 cents for other times. Later he placed a straight 20 cent price for seats in his house. He finds that this is as satisfactory to the motion picture public as the lower price system, for they do not expect a satisfactory film for 10 cents. After showing "Over the Top" and the other pictures named above, Manager Levy remarked: "A man should never go back to vaudeville when he can show five shows a day and have them all crowded like I do." His pictures are not only advertised in the dailies but also on the sign-boards. He believes in good advertising as well as good pictures. He figures that when he obtains 2,100 to come to his house, for it seats that many people, five times a day, then if these 10,500 fans are satisfied they will tell that many more and he will be gaining right along.

Up to a month ago he had a twelve-piece orchestra. But as he became satisfied with his new business venture he was convinced that a large orchestra of high quality is a great drawing power, consequently he increased it to thirty pieces. He increased it to this size when he ran "Hearts of the World" for a month.

He believes in two big principles; one is to get the right kind of goods and the other is to let the people know you have them through the right kind of advertising.

The right kind of advertising does not mean simply attractive advertising, but continuity in advertising. He believes that an ad placed in the paper for one time only, is a loss of money. The people read the advertisement, they remember something about it, but not enough to make them remember all the three necessities, the time, the place, and the show house. While most picture men believe that the reader remembers these three essentials, they do not do so. Levy says he realizes this. He also realizes that while advertising sells the goods and brings the crowds, you will be able to sell no more goods, if you fool the people with unworthy productions.

In regard to the new policy of his theatre, Mr. Levy says, "I am after the biggest productions on the market and will pay any price in order to secure the ones I want. I feel that Seattle is now willing to pay a nominal admission price to see the best motion picture offerings, as they have already shown in "Hearts of the Yorld." If the motion picture companies would turn out more big productions, there will be more picture houses throughout the country adopt the same policy as I have, for really, when you stop to think, the motion picture business of the future will be along these lines. Although I am pioneering—I feel confident that I will blaze the trail clear enough so that there will be a number of other houses throughout the United States follow my example."

This is the way that Levy advertises, using seven full columns here

Eugene Levy

Moeller Back as Manager of Motion Picture House

A. J. Moeller, one of the best known motion picture men in the Middle West section, is back at theatre management after having made a vain effort to break into Uncle Sam's fighting forces. Several weeks ago it was announced that Mr. Moeller had quit his post to go into the army, but after he had done this there came a ruling that men in the draft age should not be taken for service overseas except with the fighting forces, and Mr. Moeller was unable to pass the examination, though he tried all branches of the service. Therefore he has returned to the syndicate operated by W. S. Butterfield through Michigan, and has been assigned for the present to the Majestic theatre, Ann Arbor.

Gives Whole Program to Boosting Picture

For probably the first time in the history of house programs an entire eighteen-page booklet has been devoted to a single attraction. This is the work of M. W. McGee, manager of the Majestic theatre, Detroit, and the production is Madge Kennedy in "Friend Husband."

Beginning with the second page there are entire pages containing cuts from the production, photographs of the star, story of the picture and criticisms. This sort of a program is not only going to create interest in the particular production, but it will also build interest in the particular star and bring business for future pictures in which she appears.

At the left stage display on "Indiana" at the Circle theatre, Indianapolis, and at the right the one for the Fourteenth of July

How Stage Spectacles Are Used at the Circle To Inspire Audiences and Arouse Patriotism

By Davis Hampton

ONE might advantageously paraphrase George M. Cohan's memorable theatrical advice, "Always leave them laughing when you say good-bye," and hang an additional memo. on the office wall reading "Always start them applauding when you say 'Hello!'," for if a good finish is desirable, a good start is more than likely to swell your monthly report of war tax collected.

The entertaining business is founded on emotions and the feeding of them. Give an audience the kind of emotional food they crave, and they express their approval in the most natural way by applause.

The physical action jars the carbon out of their mental cylinders and oils the road for their evening's enjoyment.

Primarily, patriotism is the greatest stimulant to enthusiasm. Just as it sends thousands of marching feet to fields of battle, so does it arouse an audience to an emotional outburst when a patriotic appeal is made from the screen or behind the footlights.

But they are equally as ready to condemn the commercialization of their love of country.

The patriotic speech of an actor, the inspiring stage spectacle done with sincerity and with a lofty ideal behind its presentation is theirs to applaud and approve, but to damn the man that prostitutes the flag.

All of which brings up the subject of tableaux, both patriotic and otherwise, that so frequently grace the performances at the Circle theatre of Indianapolis.

No historical day in our country, no occasion of national interest goes by without a fitting tribute paid it by S. Barrett McCormick, the managing director, usually with tableaux, and which by their beauty appeal, and inspiration have come to be anticipated by the public. There is no red fire or false dramatics in them.

But they carry the wallop of a Liberty Bond poster and are equally as effective.

The most recent of these produced by Mr. McCormick was presented during the Indiana State Fair, and was entitled "Indiana," and served both as a tribute to the state's achievements and part in the war. To the sweet strains of the favorite song, "Indiana," the draperies parted to disclose a massive base, stone colored and roughly hewn, like the base to a sculptor's group, and divided into three parts connecting in a half circle. For the background, and apparently a part of the base, a large outline map of the State was seen. Painted in the same gray tones and giving the physical outlines only, it made a striking ground for the groups of living statuary.

On one side a farmer with an amber light thrown on him was seen, his sleeves rolled up and throat bared as he bent over his plow, lending his every effort to help feed America. Opposite him a giant of a man stripped to the waist, his body glistening under the red glare of a furnace fire, toiled with white hot steel that the guns of America may not be silent until its work is done. In the centre group was Indiana's fighting men, armed and ready, while Miss Indiana's beautiful figure in white, her arms extended, guarded over them.

Applause? It came like thunder and never ceased until the draperies fell and the last strains of the music faded away. Such a picture, earnest in sentiment, loftily conceived and beautifully done, will put a bigger punch into a program than all the tin pan patriotism in the world.

While huge stage spectacles are constantly being presented at the Circle with complete ballets, massive settings, startling mechanical effects, it is also the little touches that have added much to the theatre's reputation for originality.

In commemoration of the French national holiday, a single figure was used in a tableau symbolic of France unconquered, a girl in the tattered uniform of the French Revolution standing in a battlement, a gun in one hand, the shell-riddled tri-color in the other, calling comrades in arms to follow.

The Fourth of July brought forth a living reproduction of the Spirit of '76.

Another occasion, the departure of Indiana troops for the front, was honored by a tableau of a soldier and his sweetheart bidding farewell, while with a mechanical effect an army was made to seem as though marching in.

The human element is always brought into the McCormick presentations. Painted scenery is always but the background to his stage pictures.

A gorgeous scene of the North may make a beautiful picture, but a single man trudging through the snow or a dog or a bird will give the picture reality.

Perhaps this accounts for the fact that one never sees a stage setting or spectacle at the Circle empty and devoid of life and labeled "Alaska" or "India," or whatever it may be and may serve to analyze McCormick's psychology, perhaps based on the knowledge that while thousands of pictures hang on gallery walls unnoticed and unsung, the man in a store window trying on suspenders or demonstrating a new kind of razor will always draw a crowd.

Exhibitor Uses Cigars for Advertising Star

M. W. Neilson is using a novel plan in his exploitation of Tom Moore, in his first starring production, "Just For Tonight." It turns out that there is a cigar called the Tom Moore. It isn't named after the Goldwyn star, but the Irish poet, but it is going to work for the production just the same. He is offering free admission to the Crystal theatre, Wayne, Neb., to every child who presents ten bands from Tom Moore cigars.

Directory System of Picture Advertising Finds Development in Two Chicago Papers

(Continued from page 2004)

single productions or other news matter.

The Daily News on Saturday has a combined amusement page and on this there are carried the legitimate theatre and vaudeville advertising and reading matter about amusements in general. Motion pictures are not represented in the layout and there is mighty little matter about the photoplay on the page.

Now while we are discussing the Chicago situation let us look to what the other papers are doing.

The Herald and Examiner on Sunday carries advertising from forty-four theatres, something on the order of the Tribune, but a little more given to display. There is a layout on the first-run attractions and general matter about the theatres and pictures. Every day this paper carries an interesting department conducted by Kitty Kelley.

The American, evening edition of the Herald and Examiner, carries a daily column and a page in the Saturday edition.

The Journal carries a Saturday page and an interesting daily department.

These daily departments we will discuss next week.

The Post has a Saturday page.

Now it would seem that a newspaper that had made the success of the directory that has been made by both the Tribune and the Daily News would see the widespread interest in motion pictures and that they would provide the necessary space for the news of them. We wouldn't expect them to give the reading notices, even to the first-run houses, but certainly there should appear reviews of unusual attractions and news of what the people of the screen are doing.

Certainly these papers have found that these directories which they print are worth a great deal to them from a circulation-holding point of view. Aside from the revenue that they bring in they are worth a great deal to the newspaper, and we'll bet that they would hesitate a long time to lose these. One can see at a glance the prestige that it gives a newspaper. Some one suggests going to a motion picture theatre. There is hesitancy about which one they will visit. "Let's look at the Tribune," suggests one, and they do and make their decision.

This is the sort of a thing that makes a newspaper stand out in the community—because it is a real guide to the public, and a newspaper has to do that before it is a hundred per cent paper.

If you would talk to the circulation manager of the Tribune we haven't the slightest doubt that he would tell you that this motion picture directory is one of the greatest aids that he has in holding circulation. And when such is the case we cannot see why the editorial department of the same newspaper cannot see the advantage of being recognized as THE motion picture newspaper of the city in its reading matter as well as advertising.

We regard the Tribune as one of the greatest newspapers in the country, but certainly in this point it falls short. But at the same time it belongs in the same class with the biggest newspapers of New York, Boston and some of the other large cities, that have so far failed to see the value of this sort of matter.

But this started in to be a discussion of the directory plan of advertising, and we think that the two papers cited have made a good showing along this line.

It is a plan that we would like to see every newspaper adopt—PLUS a real motion picture department on Saturdays or Sundays and some motion picture NEWS matter every day of the week.

With the reading notices eliminated and that much white space saved, it seems to us that the newspapers should be able to make a rate lower than the regular newspaper rate to the motion picture houses that agree to come in every day in the year.

Now let us suppose that before the last few months there was only one newspaper in Chicago that would be printing any baseball news. Now Chicago has two baseball teams and the interest in the sport was high there. You can imagine the circulation of that one newspaper printing baseball news. You could readily see that every one of the people interested in baseball would buy that paper.

Yet there are 345 motion picture houses in Chicago, and we know that there are ten times as many people who go to motion pictures daily as ever went to baseball on its biggest day. Then what do you think would be the result if there was one newspaper giving real attention to motion pictures and printing the real news.

It seems that the answer should be that the paper that is doing this should get the bulk of the advertising. Of course, there are other things that enter into the problem, and such is not the case in Chicago. But that is due largely to peculiar conditions, and it is true in nine-tenths of the places where the plan is followed.

But baseball is no more. We all know the way that the interest dropped once we got thoroughly into the war. But the motion picture is here, and it is not only as popular as ever, but it is essential to the nation. Every branch of the Government wants the motion picture to prosper, and it is being used more and more every week for Government purposes.

The newspapers are without baseball now, but they have the motion picture with the greater interest.

And if we owned a newspaper we would start out today on the directory plan to get the advertising of every house in the city, just a few lines from each if necessary, and then we would go before the public saying that this was a paper that everyone who went to motion pictures could not do without. We would say that it was as invaluable to the fan as the telephone book is to the business man. And the result would be pretty soon that you would be getting that newspaper into every home, and when you do that you are doing what every circulation manager hopes some day to accomplish.

Then when you add to this directory the real news of the motion pictures you have the circle of interest completed. You have a newspaper that will interest everyone and a newspaper which every theatre that is going to prosper must use.

Unique Plan Used by Majestic Theatre, Portland, Ore., with "My Own United States"—Ticket Booth Placed in Leading Department Store

THEY'RE COMING

So Let's Begin to Think About What We're Going to Do

WE don't want to be discouraging, but Old Winter is on his way here, and the chances are that there is not going to be any too much coal for either heat or lighting. The theatre manager may have to add more pulling power to his theatre this winter than ever before.

While we hope it won't occur again simply because of the physical inconveniences, we have heard from a number of exhibitors that the rules imposed last year really helped them, because it made them think, made them better their presentations, forced them to make their theatres the more attractive.

And the great big things, the lavish expenditure of money are not the things that count so much. The "little things" are the ones that make your theatre the popular place

There are lots of things that you are going to do. Is the season going to make you hunt your hole or make you get out and do things?

Girls Solution of War Problem, Says Franklin

WAR PROBLEMS

We Are Asking Experts to Help You Solve Them

AS we go further and further into the war there will be more and more problems that have to be solved by men in all lines of business, motion pictures included. We would not be justified in saying that we are giving you real SERVICE unless we helped you toward their solution. And we are not going to give you "arm chair" advice.

With the draft age lowered to eighteen years and ushers already declared a non-essential occupation there is likely to be first trouble in this respect. As this is written the questionnaires have gone out to the men of nineteen and over and the others will probably be asked to respond within a few months. The ranks of the ushers will be seriously invaded as the result.

We print here an article by Harold B. Franklin on the use of girls as ushers. He has found the plan very successful, though many managers have, after experiment, rejected the plan. His suggestions on the way that he handles these employes and his reasons for preferring them to men ought to be valuable.

This is the first of a number of articles dealing with war problems. Another will tell the success of a theatre in using women as musicians.

Group of Ushers Employed at Shea's Hippodrome, Under Supervision of Boy Chiefs

By Harold B. Franklin

Manager Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo

THE war is gradually being felt by the motion picture industry, especially so as regards the obtaining of suitable employes. The new draft undoubtedly will require further sacrifices. No manager, however, should be caught napping. Now is the time for him to arrange his business so that no matter what may happen the wheels at the operating end of his theatre will continue to go 'round.

At Shea's Hippodrome as far back as a year and a half ago we anticipated the necessity of training girls and women for every possible position where they could take the place of men. Today we have succeeded in building up an usher system that is the last word in SERVICE, COURTESY and APPEARANCE. The result has proven so satisfactory THAT WE WOULD NOT CONSIDER GOING BACK TO BOYS AT ANY TIME. We have found that girls are likely to be less obtrusive, more courteous and neater than boys, and when properly officered by a woman they help to create a pleasant atmosphere.

There is always the probability of flirtations, but if the proper type of girl is selected this objection is readily removed. The telephone companies throughout the country have found girls better suited to the switchboard than boys, which proves conclusively that if a proper system is installed a high degree of efficiency can be attained.

Our first step in the engagement of a girl is to investigate her references, as well as home surroundings, so as to be reasonably certain that she is the type desired. We prefer girls who are neat, sans frills; in short, the simple home girls. At Shea's Hippodrome we employ thirty girls as ushers. We have found that a good class of girls is available for this work. Rest rooms are provided with private toilet accommodations.

Each girl is carefully instructed how to diplomatically handle patrons. Each floor is officered by a head usher. It is necessary that a girl receive at least one day's rest during the week and that not more than eight hours' work is assigned in any one day. With certain periods of relief, efficiency is expected. In return for good services, fair wages should be paid the girls. The better the pay the better the results.

The girl in the box office has proven to be an improvement on men. With three girl cashiers we have been able to handle a crowd of 14,000 people in a day, without a single complaint or mistake in the cash. In the box office the manager requires girls of high intelligence who are thoroughly familiar with the meaning of the word "COURTESY." It is well worth while for managers to employ the most efficient girls for this post. Every patron of your house

(Continued on page 2016)

Here Is More Proof of at Least the Attractiveness of Girl Ushers. At the Left Is a Group from the Majestic Theatre, Portland, Ore., and at the Right the Girls of the Liberty Theatre, Spokane, Wash. Employment of Young Women Has Proven Successful at Both of These Theatres

Girls Solution of War Problem—Franklin

(Continued from page 2015)

at some time or other comes in contact with your cashiers, and it is important that they be representative of the theatre in every respect.

Girls can fill doormen's positions as readily as any other department, and the time will probably come when some advanced exhibitor will consider seriously placing girls in charge of the projection rooms. A girl has even been found to be a success in some cities.

Girl ushers should be properly uniformed, the same as were the boys in former days. A neat, simple gray dress with white trimmings is used at Shea's Hippodrome with good effect. To see girl ushers in various modes of dress creates the impression of discord, "au contraire"; sameness of dress gives the impression of harmony, which should be a characteristic of every theatre's atmosphere.

Managers who have not already begun to prepare for the coming of girls and women into important posts at their theatres should make way at once, for with the continuation of the war men and boys will be eliminated. Begin to train girls NOW and when the time comes you will be prepared.

Baltimore Circuit to Aid Fourth Liberty Loan

While motion picture exhibitions for an admission fee are not permitted in Baltimore on Sundays several exhibitors of that city have recently shown motion pictures on that day for patriotic purposes and without charging admission. This idea will be followed by Louis A. DeHoff during the drive for the Fourth Liberty Loan. During the last loan there was $27,000 subscribed at two Sunday performances at the New theatre. This year he intends not only to use that theatre, but also the New and the Garden, which are also under his management.

Social performances, consisting of pictures and possibly including vaudeville, will be given and Four-Minute Men and other workers for the loan will speak and sell Liberty Bonds.

Stolte Gets Real Advance Review of Picture

Arthur G. Stolte, manager of the Strand theatre, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has used a new idea and with success.

When he booked "Hearts of the World" he set about to get a large amount of advance publicity before the picture would be shown in Cedar Rapids. He realized that he wanted a different sort of publicity than the ordinary advance notice. He was sure that the picture would make good, but he wanted to get the endorsement of his newspaper in advance.

So Mr. Stolte arranged to take the motion picture writer of the Cedar Rapids Evening Gazette where the picture was being shown, and the result was a review of a column and a half that appeared well in advance of the Cedar Rapids showing. And it was the guarantee of the paper that the picture was worth seeing, for it was a real review.

As far as we know this is the first time a motion picture manager has taken such a step, but it's a good idea and worth trying if you can put it over.

GLAD YOU DO

But If You Find Help Here, Won't Others Profit by Your Aid?

EVERY mail brings us letters from exhibitors whose names have probably never appeared in these columns telling us how much benefit they have gained from the Exhibitors' Service Bureau.

Of course we are mighty glad to hear that this department has done you good. That is the reason that the time and money is being devoted to its conduct. It is being run for the exhibitor purely, but don't you think that you yourself have some responsibility to your fellow showmen?

Recently we had a letter from an exhibitor telling us how he had made money with an idea that he had seen here. And at the same time he told of an idea of his own that brought profit to many others. Unless he had felt that he owed something for the suggestion of the man who had helped him he would probably not have volunteered.

We are not asking for matter for the purpose of filling paper, but we do want to print the ideas that are getting money for others so that the industry as a whole will be benefitted.

And because you are one of the smaller fellows DON'T HESITATE.

Ministers at Rochester Help Boost "Mormon Maid"

All of the advertising possibilities of "A Mormon Maid," the anti-Mormon propaganda picture, were used to the full by the Rialto theatre of Rochester last week in preparation for the showing of the picture for a week's engagement. On special invitation, members of the Rochester Ministerial Association attended a private showing one morning and some of them were induced to issue statements commending the picture and advising members of their congregations to see the picture. Mormon missionaries have been especially active in Rochester lately and the picture fitted in well with the efforts of those opposing them. Following the private showing, a branch of the Anti-Mormon League was organized and Mrs. Nellie B. Slinterland, organizer of the League, gave an address.

In addition to the picture the management had arranged to have Miss Myrtle Edwards, authoress and lecturer, deliver a lecture at every showing and a soloist and chorus sang.

General view of lobby display at Broadway theatre on "Talk of the Town" and the center piece of the display, with the owl

Birds in Lobby of the Broadway Bring Crowds to See "Talk of the Town"

FOR the first time in his career, M. Kashin advertised a picture without hinging all the publicity on the theme of the photoplay. The truth of the matter is that the theme is of such a nature as to appear, on the surface only, of course, pro-German. Briefly, the picture deals with the possible effects of military discipline on the home. How would Kashin advertise, "The Talk of the Town," the new Dorothy Phillips feature?

It was up to Kashin, then, to hunt for some other selling point. What he finally resorted to was the simile of a girl in a gilded cage.

The appearance of the lobby of the Broadway this week is different from any of Kashin's previous displays. First of all, it is wide open and plenty of sunshine enters the inner lobby.

Above the main entrance is a huge cage which imprisons a very beautifully gowned woman. A bird in a small cage is the subject of her gaze. The line on the bottom of theh cage reads: "The brightness of gilt bars oft illumines one's outlook into the darkness of the outer world."

The box office in the middle of the entrance is built like a huge bird cage. On a perch a wise old owl blinks his eyes at the passing throngs.

The inner lobby is very simply dressed. Over the entrance to the foyer are a few nice draperies to charm the eye. On the side walls brass frames hold hand-colored enlargements of stills. A huge cage is painted on the glass over each enlargement.

The interior of the theatre is a veritable aviary. Birds warble to the delight of the audience. The doors are all dressed up with bars resembling a wicker cage.

It may be recalled by some exhibitors that recently when a certain picture was released the showmen were advised to use a single bird in a cage in the lobby of their theatres and doubtless some of them did without attracting more than passing attention. But one can imagine not only that the crowds that will be attracted by the number of birds as used at the Broadway, but by the impression that will be left on those who see the display.

Now that is one of the important things about lobby displays. Of course the original purpose is to get the attention of the individual and cause him to go to the box office and buy a ticket. Yet there is an even greater value if you can create the word of mouth advertising that caused people to ask: "Did you see the birds in the lobby at the Broadway?" It means greater interest and therefore the net result of larger box office receipts.

Indianapolis Newspaper Puts Photoplays Ahead

Indianapolis is one of the larger cities that has just taken a stronger turn to motion pictures. When the article on the situation there appeared in the MOTION PICTURE NEWS one of the criticisms of the Sunday Star was that the screen was made secondary to the speaking stage and that practically the whole front page of the "Drama and Society" section was given over to the legitimate and vaudeville.

Now the situation has been reversed by the Star, and in the last two issues there is an eight-column strip used on the pictures at the photoplay theatres, while the spoken drama has to be content with a four-column cut at the bottom of the page. Nearly all of the reading matter on this page is also given over to pictures. It includes an interesting column headed "Comments on the Screen."

ARE YOU USING THEM?

Articles on Newspaper Cooperation Bring Help to Many Exhibitors

WITHIN the past two weeks we have had letters from exhibitors in three principal cities telling of the benefit that has come from the discussion of the situation in their cities. All three report that there is greater co-operation on behalf of the newspapers and that there is prospect of still further improvement.

This is the purpose with which these articles are printed. Nothing can be gained of a mere recital of what is being done in various cities unless the exhibitors benefit and unless they call the attention of their newspapers to them. The News does not send out free copies, and if you want the newspapers to see these articles you should make it a point that they do.

But not alone in the cities treated are these doing good. And they can do more and more good if you will bring the salient points that these articles make to the attention of the management of your papers. Almost any newspaper is open to fair argument and now that baseball is in the discard until after the war and the sporting pages are bare this is the time to make your argument.

These articles are for your benefit. Get the most out of them.

Live News from the Producers

Vitagraph All Set for New Plan

Plans All Completed for Inauguration of New "Democratic," Not "Autocratic" Booking Schedule, Announces Vitagraph

EVERYTHING is in readiness for the inauguration on September 30, of Vitagraph's new "democratic" not "autocratic" booking plan, according to a statement issuing from the offices of the Vitagraph Distributing Organization.

Prints on "A Diplomatic Mission," the Earle Williams Blue Ribbon feature which will be the first release under the new booking plan, were shipped to the company's branches last week, and exhibitors will be able to see it screened all over the country by the end of the coming week.

In addition to "A Diplomatic Mission," which was written by Don Bartlett and directed by Jack Conway, Mr. Williams has finished another feature, which was directed by James Young, and will be the second in the series of eight Blue Ribbon features in which Mr. Williams will appear during the year, commencing September 30. It is scheduled for release November 11.

The Vitagraph Distributing Organization reports that the new Blue Ribbon booking plan and policy has already proved to be the most popular departure the company has made in years. Letters have been received from exhibitors all over the country commending the company's stand for equitable rentals, and the sales department of the organization states that these commendatory messages are being backed up by voluminous contracts.

The greater percentage of these contracts are on the fifty-two week basis, whereby an exhibitor will get during the year the following stars at intervals of six weeks:

J. Stuart Blackton, Producer of "The Common Cause," to Be Released by Vitagraph

Earle Williams, eight productions; Alice Joyce, eight productions; Bessie Love, nine productions; Harry T. Morey, nine productions; Corinne Griffith, nine productions; Gladys Leslie, nine productions.

The first productions in which these stars are to be presented have been listed as follows:

September 30, Earle Williams in "A Diplomatic Mission;" October 7, Gladys Leslie in "The Mating"; October 14, Harry T. Morey in "The King of Diamonds"; October 21, Alice Joyce in "Everybody's Girl"; October 28, Corinne Griffith in "Miss Ambition"; November 4, Bessie Love in "The Dawn of Understanding."

Aside from the fifty-two week phase of Vitagraph's new booking plan, an exhibitor may book any star's series as a unit, or combination of stars.

Many Tributes for Ince-Ray Paramounts

A RECENT series of reports on Thomas H. Ince pictures for Paramount, starring Charles Ray, indicate that the public is becoming more and more responsive to the clever characterizations of the young actor and sensible of the splendid stories that have been provided him by the producer.

Here are some of these reports clipped from various trade papers at random:

"The Hired Man" with Charles Ray (Paramount)—Very fine picture, of a type that our patrons like. Apparently not an expensive picture to make, and pleased more than productions with elaborate settings. Give us more like it.—R. L. Hensler, Bijou theatre, Carrollton, Ill.—Mixed patronage.

"The Claws of the Hun," with Charles Ray (Paramount)—Great picture. Good box-office attraction.—W. C. Lamoreaux, Lakeside theatre, 4730 Sheridan road, Chicago.—High class neighborhood.

"His Mother's Boy," with Charles Ray (Paramount).—This star always pleases here. This is some good picture and will please any kind of an audience.—R. A. Shobe, Kentland theatre, Kentland, Ind.—High class patronage.

"The Hired Man," with Charles Ray (Paramount).—They don't make them any better than this for supplying an audience.—R. J. Relf, Star theatre, Decorah, Ia.

"String Beans" is the title of a newly completed Ray film, written by Julien Josephson and directed by Victor Schertzinger. It is said to be in the same vein as those mentioned, though with a new and novel story. Jane Novak is leading woman.

Ray's popularity is growing.

Paramount-Mack Sennett's Latest Is "Sleuths"

There are four comedians in "Sleuths," the latest Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy which will be released September 22. They are Ben Turpin, the man with the cross-eyed squint which has made his fortune; Charley Lynn, Marie Prevost and Tom Kennedy.

Turpin and Lynn are private detectives whose peculiar business methods get them into serious trouble, while Marie Prevost is their stenographer who sets things right for them in the end. Kennedy plays a gentleman crook. "Sleuths" is directed by F. Richard Jones.

Rowan Installs Special Department

It was announced from the West Coast this week that R. A. Rowan and Company, of Los Angeles, one of the better known real estate firms on the Pacific Coast, has installed a special motion picture rental department. This new branch, it is said, handles motion picture business exclusively, and is equipped to take care of every requirement of producers going to the Coast.

The Gentleman on the Left Has Not Had His Physiog in Pictures—Yet. But Goldwyn is to Star Him in "Laughing Bill Hyde." He is Will Rogers

National Film Goes Steadily Onward

Expansion of Producing Plans Brings Report That Company Is Negotiating with Another Male Star—Walthall Makes One Before Returning to Stage

THE National Film Corporation of America, since announcing last week in MOTION PICTURE NEWS that it has decided to enter the general production field, has been growing steadily with each day, and although the organization has not sounded its trumpet with the blatant notes sometimes made by producers splashing out into the surf of the industry, it has nevertheless given the solid impression that it has the "goods" behind it. In fact, the success of National Film as a general producer of pictures seems assured already, or all the signs fail, according to reports this week.

The latest developments in the progress of National was the announcement this week that Isadore Bernstein, manager of productions, who is now in the New York office, is negotiating with a well known star of the male sex, whose contract with one of the larger producers expired a few days ago. With the addition of this star, National would have three male luminaries, the other two being "Smiling Billy" Parsons and Henry Walthall.

Promises Big Surprise

In dainty Billie Rhodes, who has heretofore been known only as a comedienne, National Film promises one of the biggest surprises of recent date in so far as a "find" is concerned. Although Miss Rhodes as a capable player and a winning comedienne was "found" long ago (in picture parlance), it is claimed that she will make exhibitors and audiences open "their other eye" when she is presented in the new series which National has planned for her.

In these productions, which will consist of a series of eight, according to the present schedule, Miss Rhodes will be starred in genuine drama. The emotional abilities of the winsome player are expected to equal those of other stars who have been doing this line of work right along. In view of the lengthy following which Miss Rhodes possesses, and the wide popularity of her work in the past, it is reasonable to believe that her vogue cannot do otherwise than advance under the new production schedule of National. The care which is to be lavished upon the feature is hinted at in the statement that only eight a year are to be put out. This will allow a thoroughness, it is shown, which could not otherwise be put into the pictures.

Another strong point on the National schedules is the Capitol Comedies, which star none other than "Smiling Bill" Parsons himself. These are released by Goldwyn Distributing Corporation, which in itself is considered an excellent endorsement of their worth. If anything further were needed, it could be secured through the praise which exhibitors who have played the subjects have given them. The Capitol Comedies are the only comedies being put out by Goldwyn Distributing Corporation.

Tarzan Stories Well Liked

To begin with, National Film Corporation of America made a ten-strike for itself and exhibitors when it produced "Tarzan of the Apes," which First National Exhibitors' Circuit has distributed with unusual success. The extent of this success can be gaged by the fact that the sequel of Tarzan, which is called "The Romance of Tarzan," is about ready for release, also through First National. It is expected to prove a greater drawing card than the first release, due in a great measure to the pleasing results left by the latter. A more complete story of "The Romance of Tarzan" appears on another page of this issue of MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Isador Bernstein, who supervises all National productions, was this week enthusiastic about the production which Henry Walthall will make for National before he returns to the speaking stage. Mr. Bernstein pointed out the great advantage held by National in this instance, inasmuch as the public will be eager to get Mr. Wallace's last picture. As far as is known, Mr. Walthall does not intend to return soon to the screen, and there is no doubt that his last screen appearance will be the signal for exhibitors to book the picture for a regular "killing."

The name selected for the Walthall feature is "And a Still Small Voice." Bertram Bracken, it has been announced, will be the director who will handle the megaphone on the picture. In general authority will be William N. Aaronson.

Rhodes in Drama

The first Billie Rhodes drama will bear the title, according to an announcement, of "The Girl of My Dreams." This is from the Joseph M. Gaites play of the same name, in which Hyams and McIntyre starred on the road for five seasons, and which had a highly prosperous season at the Criterion theatre, New York. Louis W. Chaudet is in charge of the directorial work of the Rhodes picture, under the supervision of Mr. Bernstein.

"The Girl of My Dreams" is expected to be completed this week, and work on the second Billie Rhodes De Luxe Series will be begun as soon as the preliminary arrangements can be made.

With the two "Tarzan" pictures well over the top; with the Parsons-Goldwyn comedies securing a stronger footing in theatres of the country with each new release; with the Walthall production occupying the distinctive place which in fact it does, and with the Billie Rhodes De Luxe series promising a new era of drama for National, the organization faces what it considers "prospects so bright that nothing can dim them."

Virginia Hammond Engaged for World Pictures

The engagement of Virginia Hammond by World Pictures to support Louise Huff in "The Crook of Dreams" registers the screen acquisition of one of the best known leading women of the legitimate stage.

Miss Hammond was a teacher in the public schools in Chicago and her first appearance on the stage was when she became a member of E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe's company.

Billie Rhodes is to Star for National Film in a De Luxe Series of Eight a Year. Henry Walthall Makes His Farewell Screen Appearance in a National Production

"The Yellow Dog," at Broadway

Universal Announces That "The Yellow Dog" Will Open at the Broadway Theatre, September 29, for New York Run

FOLLOWING its tryout at the Superba theatre in Los Angeles, "The Yellow Dog" has been given a final polishing and will be presented for a run at the Broadway theatre in New York City beginning September 29.

Realizing that this production will have a great bearing upon the vital question of suppressing enemy propaganda, it was decided to put the screen version of Henry Irving Dodge's brilliant indictment of patriotically deficient Americans to the test of public approval in Los Angeles, where any changes found necessary could be made without delay. The production, however, was reported to have been received with great enthusiasm and the only changes that have been made are in the matter of "dressing" the titles.

Throughout the United States there are now said to be over one thousand Anti-Yellow Dog Clubs, with a membership of over one million, that will greet this Jewel production when it is released on November 3, and it is confidently expected that the campaign against the spread of Hun-bred discouraging rumors will receive added impetus when the visualized efforts of yellow dogism are seen on the screen.

While the Universal Film Company has produced many stimulating patriotic films since the war began, "The Yellow Dog" is decidedly different from the features that have preceded it. It deals with the treacherous phases of the war as it is being secretly fought in America and is faithful to the printed story that called into being a gigantic civilian army to fight the influence of the German propagandists.

The story from which this film was adopted stands unique in the literary world. It is a tale of plain, ordinary people in an average small suburban town without any apparent idealization by the author in depicting the important roles they play in the great war. Yet of all the war stories dealing with the first line trenches and describing battle scenes, it is asserted that none to date have aroused such militant patriotism as this story by Henry Irving Dodge in which there are no battles, no troops, no military scenes nor naval views.

The furore created by the story is attributed to its intense human interest. It brought the war right home and showed the people in civilian clothes that they, too, had battles to fight with a branch of the Hun army more dangerous than the German in uniform. In fact clothed in its strong vein of humor, "The Yellow Dog" points to a double enemy—the secret agent of the Hohenzollerns and the incontinent tongue of the headstrong, thoughtless American.

The literary critics in reviewing the book were unanimous in declaring it to be a great "win-the-war" story, and the opinion of the New York Times is an example of how the book was received in printed form.

The literary critic of the New York Times said in the issue of August 11:

"Mr. Dodge's idea and the story in which it is embodied are both so good that they have had immediate success, and 'Yellow Dog' societies are being organized in many towns and cities for the purpose of spotting and showing up the slimy lies by which the enemy is making good Americans do his work for him. The little book ought to have readers by the hundred thousand and every one then ought to ask himself with deep searchings of the heart, 'Am I or have I been at any time a Yellow Dog?'"

If the screen is as some claim, mightier than the printed word in circulating thought, then the premier of Jewel's production of "The Yellow Dog" will herald the advent of a great force in the battle agains the Hun on this side of the Atlantic.

One of the Scathing Denunciations in "The Yellow Dog," Jewel Production

"The Bond" Is Chaplin's Liberty Loan Film

A special propaganda picture called "The Bond" has been produced by Charlie Chaplin at the request of the United States Government and donated to it for use by the Liberty Loan Committee in the forthcoming drive for the Fourth Liberty Loan. It will be released September 21 by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit and given to exhibitors without charge.

The production is one of essential propaganda value, produced by Mr. Chaplin apart from his work on regular releases. The cast includes Edna Purviance, his leading lady, who portrays the Goddess of Liberty in addition to other famous figures in a series of allegorical scenes, through which the Chaplin feet help to inject the spirit of humor and fun into the purpose of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Because "The Bond" is a special Government picture, and not a regular Chaplin release, representatives of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit will ask all exhibitors who show it to agree to advertise it to their patrons as a propaganda production exclusively.

Metro Selects Sites for West Coast Studios

Richard A. Rowland, president of the Metro Pictures Corporation, definitely announced in Los Angeles this week that he has picked a site for new Metro studios to house the activities of eight or nine companies that are coming West this fall and winter. Building operations will necessarily be held up, he said, until the company receives a permit from the War Industries Board to begin construction work.

The architect's plans for the new accommodations have been forwarded to Washington, together with statistics showing the amount of material and labor that will be necessary to construct the proposed new studios.

Mr. Rowland says that it is absolutely necessary that new quarters be secured for the producing companies he intends to bring to California, and that these quarters must either be newly constructed or leased. Thus far, he said, he has been unable to lease the facilities needed.

Farnum's Latest Declared Triumph by Fox

William Farnum has scored the greatest success of his career in the dramatization of Zane Grey's novel, "Riders of the Purple Sage," according to an announcement made this week by the William Fox offices.

"First-run houses everywhere report a tremendous business," says the statement. "The manager of the Kinema says that he has played numerous male stars since he opened his theatre, but all of them had proved failures. William Farnum in 'Riders of the Purple Sage,' however, opened on a Sunday to a record crowd. Moreover, the crowds continued throughout the whole week, capacity houses being the rule at every performance. The manager reports that he did the biggest business he has ever done, with this production."

Edna Goodrich is Starred by Mutual Film in "Treason"

Parsons Comments on Serial Business

P. A. Parsons, Advertising Manager of Pathe Exchange, Inc., has made an interesting statement to Motion Picture News on the serial business. He follows this "business" in his article from the time serials came into being, about five years ago, to the present day. Exhibitors will find this enlightening as well as interesting.

Pauline Very Popular

THE serial idea for motion pictures came into being about five years ago—a long time as time is counted in the motion picture business. At that time "The Perils of Pauline" was brought out by Pathe and Pearl White obtained a sure footing as a serial star. "The Perils of Pauline" played to a business undreamed of; it made over a million for Pathe by the time it had run its thrilling course in every nook and corner of the civilized world; many fine theatres today are monuments to its success, for they were built with the profits made from showing "Pauline"; and furthermore the serial established serials as a definit branch of motion pictures. It proved that the public likes to see serial pictures IF they are of the RIGHT KIND and properly presented.

This does not mean that any serial will be popular with the public and profitable to those who father it. Far from it! The shores of the motion picture business are strewn with the wrecks of many and costly serials, which were launched with bands playing, flags waving and a grand hurrah from the builders. Even Pathe, with twenty-two serials to its credit, a record unapproached in the industry, with an organization which has been most carefully trained in the selection of the proper stories, with the most skillful directors that can be secured, with stars who have been educated in serials and for serials, with a sales force which for years has been taught the marketing of serials morning, noon and night, confesses that once or twice its judgment has been faulty and that two of its serials made no money to speak of for either exhibitors or Pathe. If such a specialized organization can go wrong the hazard must indeed be great for the inexperienced who see in serials only the successes and forget the failures.

Since "The Perils of Pauline," Pathe has put out in rapid succession "The Exploits of Elaine," "The New Exploits of Elaine," "The Romance of Elaine," "Who Pays?" "Neal of the Navy," "The Red Circle," "The Iron Claw," "The Grip of Evil," "Who's Guilty?" "The Neglected Wife," "Mystery of the Double Cross," "The Seven Pearls," "The Fatal Ring," "Pearl of the Army," "The Shielding Shadow," "The Hidden Hand," "Patria," "The Price of Folly," "The House of Hate," "Hands Up," which has only just been released and "Wolves of Kultur," which will not be issued until October 13th. This list of serials far exceeds that of any other house. It gives to Pathe the undeniable right of the title "The House of Serials," which Pathe adopted nearly four years ago because of its phenomenal successes but which later was dropped because of the fact that it was "lifted" boldly by a producer with one or two serials only to his credit.

Pathe's success in the serial field is not accidental. It has come through strict application, careful study and the expenditure of vast sums of money. "There is no royal road to learning," said the wise tutor to the princeling entrusted to his care. Just so there is no easy road to success in the serial business. The Pathe organization has studied the desires of the public; it has learned the kind of stories in demand; it has found the writers who may be depended upon to furnish the proper kind of material; it has learned that only certain stars "wear well," for remember that a serial is of some fifteen episodes long, and that it takes a strong personality to be seen weekly over such a period of time and not lose in public favor; it has learned that many first-class feature directors cannot "make good" as serial directors; it has learned that the public taste is not stable but subject to change and therefore that it is well to be in advance of the times and not keep to the same old stereotyped style; it was learned how to market and how to advertise. Every phase of the serial business demands specialization. Pathe has learned that, and its serial methods are entirely different from feature methods in every particular. "The Perils of Pauline" would not be anywhere near the success today that it was five years ago. It was adapted to the time in which it was put out. Judged by present day Pathe serials it was primitive.

Pearl White has no rival in the number of serials in which she has starred. Her personality proved itself to be so adapted to the serial type of story that the big following she gained in "Pauline" has been vastly increased. Since that first serial she has starred in the three "Elaine" serials, "The Iron Claw," "Pearl of the Army," "The Fatal Ring" and "The House of Hate." It has just been announced that she is now actively engaged in another, her ninth, which at present is called "The Lightning Raider." All her serials have proven to be not only big money makers in this country but in every civilized country as well. She is as popular in Great Britain as she is here and just about as well known. She is an unequalled box-office attraction in France. Pathe Freres, in Paris, report that the poilu on leave throngs the theatres where she is playing, and Miss White receives many letters from her French admirers. Italy, Spain, India, Singapore, China, Australia, South America, Cuba, Japan, and other countries all report that she is their best attraction. Porto Rico long ago took her to its heart.

Ruth Roland, the star of "Hands Up," probably ranks next to Pearl White in the number of serials in which she has starred. Beginning with "Who Pays?" there followed "The Red Circle," "The Neglected Wife" and "The Price of Folly." "Hands Up" is therefore her fifth serial.

Other stars of Pathe serials have been Mrs. Vernon Castle whose piquant personality did so much for the success of "Patria"; Lillian Lorraine of "Neal of the Navy"; Jackie Saunders of "The Grip of Evil"; Anna Nilsson of "Who's Guilty?"; Mollie King of "Mystery of the Double Cross" and "The Seven Pearls"; Grace Darmond of "The Shielding Shadow"; Doris Kenyon of "The Hidden Hand," and now Leah Baird in the new serial not yet released, "The Wolves of Kultur." Among the men are Crane Wilbur of "Pauline" fame; Arnold Daly, Lionel Barrymore and Edwin Arden of the Elaine serials; Henry King of "Who Pays?"; Burr McIntosh and Max Figman of "Wallingford"; William Courtleigh, Jr., of "Neal of the Navy"; Frank Mayo of "The Red Circle," "The Neglected Wife" and "The Grip of Evil"; Tom Moore of "Who's Guilty?"; Creighton Hale of "The Iron Claw"; "Mystery of the Double Cross," and "The Seven Pearls"; Ralph Kellard of "The Shielding Shadow" and "Pearl of the Army"; Sheldon Lewis of "The Iron Claw," "The Hidden Hand" and "Wolves of Kultur"; Warner Oland of "Patria," "The Fatal Ring," and the forthcoming Pearl White serial, "The Lightning Raider"; Leon Bary of "The Shielding Shadow," "Mystery of the Double Cross" and "The Seven Pearls"; Mahlon Hamilton of "The Hidden Hand"; Antonio Moreno of "The House of Hate"; Charles Hutchison of "Wolves of Kultur"; Henry Gsell of "The Fatal Ring," and George Chesebro and George Larkin of "Hands Up." This is a most imposing list of stars; including as it does many of the highest salaried players in the business, and shows the effort Pathe exerts to get the very best players available for its serials.

The Astra Company has produced for Pathe more serials than has any other. The Astra has to its credit "The Shielding Shadow," "Mystery of the Double Cross," "The Seven Pearls," "The Fatal Ring," "The House of Hate" and "Hands Up," as well as the new Pearl White serial, "The Lightning Raider." Louis J. Gasnier, president of the Astra, has probably a more intimate knowledge of serial producing than any man in the business. "The Perils of Pauline" was produced under his direction and ever since that time he has always been actively engaged with one serial or another. Associated with him in the Astra is George B. Seitz, who did scenarios on "The Perils of Pauline" and the "Elaine" serials and has since written more serials than any other writer. Mr. Seitz graduated from the ranks of the writers to those of the directors and has put over one big success after another, directing "The Fatal Ring" and "The House of Hate," and is now at work on "The Lighning Raider." The Astra has another man who is a serial expert in Bertram Millhauser, the author of a number of the Astra serials. He wrote "The Lightning Raider."

Paul Brunet, vice-president and general manager of Pathe Exchange, is determined to put out no serial that will not stand the most rigid tests as to quality. It takes nerve to "scrap" a serial that cost up to rejection nearly a hundred thousand dollars, yet

(Continued on page 2022.)

Four More Goldwyns Announced

Goldwyn Gives Titles and Release Dates of Four More Star Series Productions for Fall Season

GOLDWYN'S first ten productions are now known to exhibitors and four additional noteworthy productions are being announced this week, together with their dates of release.

These new productions comprise another broad comedy story for popular Mabel Normand, an engaging and speedy drama from a well-known playwright for Tom Moore, a successful play that was a big stage success for Madge Kennedy, and still another big emotional drama for Geraldine Farrar. The productions announced are:

October 21—Mabel Normand in "A Perfect 36," by Tex Charwate; directed by Charles Giblyn.

October 28—Tom Moore in "Thirty a Week," by Thompson Buchanan; directed by Harry Beaumont.

November 4—Madge Kennedy in "A Perfect Lady," by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf; directed by Clarence G. Badger.

November 11—Geraldine Farrar in "The Hell Cat," by Willard Mack; directed by Reginald Barker.

These four productions come in direct succession after Geraldine Farrar in "The Turn of the Wheel,' 'September 2; Mabel Normand in "Peck's Bad Girl," September 9; Tom Moore in "Just for Tonight," September 16; Madge Kennedy in "The Kingdom of Youth," September 23; Rex Beach's "Laughing Bill Hyde," with popular Bill Rogers, September 30, and Mae Marsh in "Hidden Fires" on October 6.

These ten productions are declared to have been responsible for a tremendous volume of business taken on by Goldwyn at the outset of its second releasing year and its first season of its sales policy under the star series system.

Goldwyn's decision to return to broad comedy for Mabel Normand stories is said to have been met with enthusiastic exhibitor and public approval—her reappearance in comedy in "Peck's Bad Girl" having been the signal for a renewed welcome for this star in all parts of America.

Madge Kennedy, Goldwyn Star, Appears in "A Perfect Lady," the Former Stage Success

Tom Moore's initial star success in "Just for Tonight" revealed how easily a handsome and likable young man can be made into a star when exhibitors and the screen fans demand such action by a producer.

Goldwyn constantly is seeking bigger screen material for Madge Kennedy. Messrs. Pollock and Wolf provided Rose Stahl with one of her biggest stage successes in "A Perfect Lady." Converted to the screen, it becomes one of the most enjoyable of stories—a story that Miss Kennedy herself feels is the best she has had since her screen debut a year ago.

Geraldine Farrar's November production, her second under Goldwyn auspices, is "The Hell Cat," by Willard Mack, supported by Milton Sills, Tom Santschi and half a dozen other players.

Chaplin's "Shoulder Arms" in Three Reels

THE majority opinion from four thousand exhibitors who have been booking contracts with the First National Exhibitors' Circuit for the Charlie Chaplain comedies has decided that the next Chaplin release, "Shoulder Arms," will be in three reels instead of six.

Questionnaires were sent out by officials of the First National several weeks ago, advising exhibitors that there was an abundance of strong comedy material in the completed negative for "Shoulder Arms" to make a five or six reel special of it.

Inasmuch as the Chaplin contracts call for subjects of not less than two reels, nor more than three reels, it was felt that the release of a six-reel Chaplin comedy, which would necessitate cancellations of other feature bookings, shelving, and probable complete disarrangement of programs, should first be submitted to exhibitors for opinion.

Rumors of discontent, disagreements and difficulties of various descriptions which have been assigned by some elements of the industry as the reasons for the intervals between the release of Chaplin comedies, and the lack of a definite schedule of release dates, will be answered in a statement to be issued next week from the offices of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit in behalf of Mr. Chaplin, and which will take up the question of the exact conditions which have surrounded the making of Chaplin comedies and the policy which governs them.

Oriental Fighters in Film

For what is said to be the first time since the war began a complete visual record of the part the Orient and the Dark Continent is shown now in pictures.

The scenes are part of the Official British War Pictures, entitled "Fighting for Freedom," the seven-episode serial to be released by the Universal on October 1.

Parsons Comments on Serial Business

(Continued from page 2021)

Mr. Brunet has done that recently with one which will never be released. Mr. Brunet felt after looking at it that it would only "just get by." When he gave the order for its withdrawal he stated the Pathe policy in a nutshell: "Pathe wants no serial that will only 'just get by.'"

"Pathe practically started the serial business," said Mr. Brunet the other day in discussing his plans for the future, "and the success of the serial is without question due to the methods of production and exxploitation which Pathe has employed and which have been copied with varying degrees of success by our competitors. Despite our great care to give the exhibitor only that which will be popular with the public twice in the past we have erred in our judgment, and two of our serials of some time back did not make the money for exhibitors and ourselves that we have expected. However, when it is remembered that we have actually released twenty-two serials, we feel that we may be justly proud of the record of our success. Ninety per cent of the Pathe serials have made much more money for the exhibitor than any features that he has played. It is significant that we have many exhibitors on our books who began with 'Pauline' and have booked every Pathe serial. Exhibitors have learned to rely on our judgment an dexperience. They know that we never have counted the cost in giving them the very best serials that can be made. There is no company in the business that can point to its feature output of the last five years and truthfully say that only ten per cent of its pictures have failed to make a lot of money for the theatres booking them and yet that is true of Pathe serials. This fact in itself shows the care, the wisdom, the study and the specialization which is responsible for the almost uniform success of Pathe serials.

"'Hands Up' has broken the record of every serial we have ever put out in the bookings before release. This is phenomenal when the tremendous records of the various Pearl White serials of the past are considered. In 'Wolves of Kultur' I consider that we will release a serial that is absolutely certain to do splendidly for every theatre showing it. We have set the Pathe serial standard so high that it takes a most meritorious production nowadays to get on our program. Pearl White has now been engaged for some weeks in the Astra Studios in a new serial which is now called 'The Lightning Raider.' We have other serials in preparation also, but I do not care to go into details concerning them at this time.

"Exhibitors may rely upon it that they may expect from Pathe the very best serial productions that are made; they may be assured that our plans are completed for many months ahead, and that they are of a magnitude and character that cannot fail to be of the greatest interest to every exhibitor in the land. Pathe has passed long ago the period of experimentation in stories, stars and production.

On the Left is a Moment in "Queen of the Sea," in Which William Fox Stars Annette Kellermann. On the Right is "Why America Will Win," Based on the Life of Pershing

Colton to Write Stories for Gail Kane

John Colton, the author and dramatist, has been employed by the Gail Kane Productions to write scenarios for the remainder of the pictures of the present series now being produced by Miss Kane for release through the Mutual Film Corporation.

Mr. Colton's first story for Miss Kane, the third of her series, is now under way at the Biograph studios. The final title has not been decided upon. Mr. Colton is an ex-newspaper man and critic, as well as a dramatist and magazine writer.

One of his most recent successful stories was, "Oh, This War!" published in the Saturday Evening Post.

Gibson's Latest Universal

"The Little Outlaw" is the title of the latest two-reel Western drama in which Helen Gibson is being starred, with Harry Harvey as the director.

The Universal announces that each picture of this Western series is to show a different phase of outdoor life, such as mining, mountain country, cattle ranches, dance halls and the like.

Just What This Has to Do With "Three Mounted Men," Universal Special, We Don't Know, But It's in the Picture

Fox Season Now in Full Swing

Six Pictures Already Released in September Schedule of Eleven Indicates to Fox His Most Successful Year

WITH the release of six of the eleven pictures which are scheduled for release this month, the William Fox season for 1918-19 is now in full swing, and there is every indication that this year will be the most successful in the history of the Fox Film Corporation, according to a statement from the Fox offices.

The six Fox pictures so far released in the new season are "The Prussian Cur," the drama made by R. A. Walsh on the secret workings of the German spy system in America; "Why America Will Win," based on the life of General John J. Pershing; "Queen of the Sea," announced as the $1,000,000 sub-sea phantasy starring Annette Kellerman; William Farnum in "Riders of the Purple Sage"; Tom Mix in "Mr. Logan, U. S. A." and Peggy Hyland in "Bonnie Annie Laurie."

The five other pictures released this month are "The Caillaux Case," with an all-star cast; the super-production, "When a Woman Sins"; Gladys Brockwell in "Kultur," Virginia Pearson in "Queen of Hearts" and Jane and Katherine Lee in "Swat the Spy!"

"Those that have already been released this month have been greeted everywhere with enthusiasm by public and exhibitors and have given abundant evidence that the William Fox policy of surrounding his stars with big stories is meeting with the approval of motion picture lovers," is the report from the Fox offices.

"Exhibitors in particular, have voiced their praise of the new Fox program. Not only are they pleased with the success attending the first-run showings, but they also are especially gratified over the new releasing schedule which William Fox has inaugurated with this season.

"A glance at the six pictures already released shows how this system works. Of the six, three, 'The Prussian Cur,' 'Why America Will Win' and 'Queen of the Sea,' are Big Timely Pictures, released on an open booking basis. One, William Farnum in 'Riders of the Purple Sage,' is a Standard Picture; one, Tom Mix in 'Mr. Logan, U. S. A.' is a Victory Picture, and one, Peggy Hyland in 'Bonnie Annie Laurie,' is an Excel Picture.

"This plan, exhibitors declare, gives them great elasticity in their bookings, and affords them an easy way of showing stars and pictures which appeal particularly to their patrons."

By the new release system the Fox Film Corporation will distribute a number of Big Timely Pictures, twenty-six Standard Pictures, twenty-six Victory Pictures, twenty-six Excel Pictures, fifty-two Mutt and Jeff Animated Cartoons and twenty-six Fox-Lehrman Sunshine Comedies, or a total of more than 160 pictures for the year. Every one of these pictures, it is planned, will be of the same standard set by the six already released.

Metro Acquires New Bushman-Bayne Story

Metro Pictures Corporation has acquired for the use of Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne the screen rights to "The Gay and Festive Claverhouse," said to be one of the most brilliant stories ever written by the late Anne Warner. Little, Brown & Co. published this story, which is said to fit the well known co-stars as if it had been originally written for them. June Mathis and Katharine Kavanaugh are adapting the Warner story into a five-act motion picture.

Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne will begin work on "The Gay and Festive Claverhouse" as soon as they complete Elaine Sterne's story, "Little Miss Moneybags." Charles J. Brabin, who has directed "Little Miss Moneybags," will also have "The Gay and Festive Claverhouse" in charge. J. Bernard Durning will be his assistant.

Adolph Zukor Presents John Emerson and Anita Loos Production, "Come On In," in Which Shirley Mason and Ernest Truex Are Starred

Sherry Rejoices at Convention

General Director of Sherry Exchange System Sees Much Good as Results of Chicago Convention of Exhibitors

AMONG the New York delegation returning home from the recent Chicago convention was William L. Sherry, head of the Wm. L. Sherry Service. He arrived in New York full of optimism for the better outlook for the motion picture during the coming year, and others to follow.

"The final getting together of the warring factions of exhibitors is one of the best things that has happened in the industry in quite a number of years," said Mr. Sherry, shortly after his arrival. "The loss of dignity alone has been considerable during the long drawn differences that have divided the exhibitors. But that is really nothing compared to the retarding influence these differences have had upon the practical side of the exhibition business.

"Valuable time, that might better have been given to progressive measures in the betterment of film presentation, has been given over too long to profitless political squabbles that have served no purpose except to set the exhibitor back just that many years in the advancement of his particular branch of the business. And now that the perennial ghost is finally laid, we, the innocent bystanders, meaning distributors, producers, supply men, and others, breathe a sigh of relief and a prayer of thanks for the good the amalgamation will bring to all concerned.

"At last there is an end of the double conventions, entailing a double expense upon manufacturers and other participants, which in itself was wrong in these times of war, when economy is one of the forms of patriotism. But that, too, is a small item as compared with the forward strides that can now be taken by the exhibitors as a harmonious whole. It means that more attention will be paid to the bigger things, the better things, that are the legitimate concern of men of high purpose. And that should include every man engaged in the exhibition of motion pictures in these United States.

"The action taken at the Chicago convention has welded the exhibitors into a solid unit—first, for one great and glorious privilege—the privilege of being a substantial help to our beloved country, at a time when help of any kind counts. Another aspect of it that fills me so full of enthusiasm is the knowledge that our industry can really be of some service to our native land in its hour of need. The war has brought to us a dignity. And in accepting that dignity it is becoming that we all stand together and receive it like a benediction, and then go forth with a feeling of brotherly love—one for all and all for one—and work to win the war.

"When war first came knocking at our peaceful doors and brought grim realities home to us, it was not uncommon for motion picture men to feel that their occupation was a frivolous thing in comparison with some of the serious work to be done. But in a short space of time we of the motion picture trade have learned that we are a necessary factor in the affairs of the world. We have become the world's historians, relating history more graphically and correctly than it has ever been presented before.

"Besides that, we have done, are doing, and will do, much to aid our country in carrying its message to the people—in gathering money for war work and in stimulating patriotism everywhere. We are essential to our country's welfare, when all along we thought ourselves out of place, like a court jester when the king is dying. And so I am enthused to see and feel that we as a trade have been recognized as a substantial part of American life. We should all enthuse and rejoice."

Sherry System Prides Itself on Methods

When William L. Sherry left the Paramount Exchange system last April to organize his own exchange system, the Wm. L. Sherry Service, he put into operation a still newer and more accurate system than he had ever devised before. As might be expected of a former banking man the accounting department of the Sherry Service is practically flawless.

But Mr. Sherry has given much time and thought to every other branch of his business, and the result is clock-like precision in all departments. This is particularly true of skipping schedules, so that disappointments are unknown.

Mr. Sherry runs his business like a railroad. No verbal orders go around the Sherry offices. Every communication and transaction is put on paper. Responsibility is quickly determined and irresponsible employees do not last very long around there. The telegraphic touch between the home office and all the fourteen branch offices is so frequent and comprehensive that the Sherry Service resembles a railroad in its operation more than anything else.

Ray Renews Ince Contract for Two Years

Charles Ray, who has for many months been appearing in Paramount pictures, made under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince, has exercised his option of remaining another year with the Ince forces and has signed a contract calling for two more years under the direction of Mr. Ince, it became known here this week through a statement issued by Mr. Ince.

This announcement refutes all rumors that Mr. Ray had been planning to align himself with other producing companies. Charles Ray has never appeared in any other than Ince pictures.

Jack Mulhall to Paramount

Jack Mulhall, who will be recalled by Paramount patrons for his work in "Wild Youth," opposite Louise Huff, has been reengaged by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, and will probably support Lila Lee in a forthcoming Paramount film.

"I am delighted to again be affiliated with Paramount pictures," said Mr. Mulhall.

Edna Goodrich, Mutual Star, in "Treason"

"Tarzan" Sequel Faces Bright Future

First National Sums Up Prospects and Finds That Central Character Is Known to Millions—Big Advertising Possibilities Pointed Out to Exhibitors

"A CONSERVATIVE estimate," said First National this week in an announcement to MOTION PICTURE NEWS concerning the "Tarzan" sequel, gives a minimum total of forty-five million American theatre-goers who, through story or screen, have become acquainted with, and interested in the celebrated character of Tarzan, created by Edgar Rice Burroughs. These provide an immediate market for 'The Romance of Tarzan,' which we are to release shortly as a sequel to 'Tarzan of the Apes.'

"A casual analysis," continued the First National official, "of the records of publication for the Tarzan stories, both in book and newspaper syndication form, reveals the fact that practically every small city and town has had the Tarzan stories circulated locally to the same average number of persons, in proportion to the population, as in the larger cities."

National Boosts It

"When 'Tarzan of the Apes' was released by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit the book publishers for Mr. Rice, the author, reported that nearly two million copies had been sold. Taking immediate advantage of the publicity given to Tarzan through the National Film Corporation of America production, the publisher disposed of another million copies within a few months. In addition, the story was syndicated to six thousand newspapers, and translated into fourteen languages.

"Added to this are the millions who have seen the screen production of 'Tarzan of the Apes,' giving an approximate total of forty-five million theatre patrons who will follow to its conclusion, in 'The Romance of Tarzan,' the strange, fantastic career of the greatest fictional character in the history of literature and screen.

"The tremendous advertising possibilities in this potent market offer exhibitors a very definite example of the dollars and cents value of thorough publicity. The First National Exhibitors' Circuit has prepared a complete campaign, which focuses interest on the world-wide popularity of the jungle-reared Tarzan, and centers its appeal on the plot of the story, wherein Tarzan is touched by the hand of civilization, and then raised, by it, to a position of prominence and palatial refinement in the midst of aristocracy, tutored and semi-cultured, only to revert, in an instant of torrential anger, to the highest pitch of jungle savagery and hatred, leaving in his wake a torn and conquered host of moderns, their house of luxury a mass of wreckage.

Chance for Exploitation

"A series of graphic illustrations, both in line cuts and half-tone, in one, two and three column sizes, keep present the jungle atmosphere of wildness while picturing Tarzan's novel experiences under the tutelage of civilization. The love interest is played up strongly, as the base for the entire story, wherein Tarzan leaves the jungle and journeys by unique ways to America, in quest of his mate.

"Copy for the posters, lobby displays and slides all carries out the same general idea of enabling exhibitors first to set forth the tremendous public acquaintance with Tarzan, and then to make known that in 'The Romance of Tarzan' is pictured the final events of his remarkable career, outrivaling, in scope, action, novelty of situations and romantic interest, the big booking success, 'Tarzan of the Apes.'

"Another feature of importance, to which special emphasis is given in advertising and publicity copy designed for newspaper use by exhibitors, is the unique introduction to the story of 'The Romance of Tarzan.' This consists of a series of flashes of the important scenes in 'Tarzan of the Apes,' so that an audience views an animated synopsis of Tarzan's life up to his meeting with the white girl, a highly sensitive, refined product of the civilization of which he knows nothing. Then the story of 'The Romance of Tarzan' merges from the awakening in Tarzan, of a new and compelling force through his meeting in the crude jungle hut with the girl he afterward seeks as his mate, and carries him into a multiplicity of startling situations.

Wild Animal Menagerie

"The great menagerie of wild animals, which is one of the exciting features of 'Tarzan of the Apes,' is again employed to thrilling advantage in many rousing scenes in the sequel. Many of the important jungle locations of the first Tarzan picture are used again as the background for Tarzan's sensational attempts to rescue his mate and her party from the attacks of the hordes of cannibal savages.

"The cast for 'The Romance of Tarzan' includes all of the principals who appeared in the parent production, augmented by a number of others made necessary by the wide ramifications to the story. Elmo Lincoln is again Tarzan, while opposite him, in the role of Miss Porter, is Enid Markey.

"It is predicted by officials of the National Film Corportion, producers of 'Tarzan of the Apes' and 'The Romance of Tarzan,' and by the directors of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, that the sequel picture will far outdistance the first Tarzan production in record-breaking business. This prediction is based on the phenomenal popularity of the character of Tarzan, plus the certainty that millions have, by word-of-mouth advertising to those who have not yet seen "Tarzan of the Apes,' greatly increased the curiosity to see the pictorial conclusion to his strange and bewilderingly original experiences.

"First National exchanges throughout the country are now being supplied with a complete complement of advertising matter, including all accessories for every form of local campaign exhibitors will undertake. In addition, every salesman will have thorough instructions in all of the various points of the advertising possibilities for exhibitors, so that no opportunity for taking full advantage of the ready-made market for 'The Romance of Tarzan' will be overlooked.

Big Business Expected

"'I am absolutely convinced,' said one of the exhibitor-directors of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, "that this sequel is going to do more business for theatre owners than any other of the big fall specials thus far released. It has every element of a smashing success. From the standpoint of showmanship I could ask for nothing better for my houses. I have instructed my advertising and publicity departments to spare no effort to make their campaigns for it just as original and full of punch and action as the picture itself.'

"'The Romance of Tarzan' will do big business without anything but a good flash and lobby treatment to advertise it. In that respect it resembles the Fourth Liberty Loan. The Government could float the entire issue without advertising, but it would take a long time. Instead, the advertising campaign for it is probably the greatest ever undertaken in behalf of anything. And if it is profitable and wise to advertise Liberty Bonds—the safest kind of security—then no argument is needed in behalf of the utmost in advertising and publicity for a big special feature production, no matter how great its appeal, or how big the demand that awaits it."

"The Geezer of Berlin" Doubles Receipts

Jewel Productions reports remarkable results from its comedy picture, "The Geezer of Berlin." Letters from exhibitors pronounce the film as big a drawing card as the chief dramatic offerings, and in the case of many requests are made for repeat bookings.

"Our daily receipts have actually doubled since we began showing this picture," writes the Second Avenue Amusement Company of New York. "For the benefit of our numerous patrons who are insisting on seeing this picture over again, we find it necessary to extend to you an additional day's booking.

A similar letter came from the Sheffield theatre in Brooklyn. "The Geezer of Berlin" possesses a special appeal due to the smashing success of "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," Jewel's previous war picture from which it was made a satire.

"The Romance of Tarzan," Which First National Will Distribute, is Said to Be on a Par With Its Predecessor, "Tarzan of the Apes." Exhibitors Expect to Make Good With It

General Film for Big Specials

Producers Distributing Corporation to Use General Film Exchanges in Both West and South Territories

GENERAL FILM COMPANY announces that it has just made a co-operative arrangement with the Producers' Distributing Corporation, Frank G. Hall president, by which the big special pictures of that company will be served to exhibitors in the South and in the West through General Film exchanges. This deal adds another extensive distributing organization to those already employing the General Film system of film exchanges, and solves the question of reaching the market in the South and West without a duplication of exchange facilities.

Some months ago General Film Company threw open its facilities to other distributing concerns, as well as to any and all manufacturers seeking an exchange outlet. The contract closed with the Producers' is said to be one of the most conspicuous instances of distribution pooling to have followed this initiative. Economy for all concerned and the restriction of overhead expenses to a minimum is the end striven for in the arrangement.

The Producers' Distributing Corporation came recently into the field with an attention-compelling project to supply exhibitors everywhere with high-class product at fixed prices, namely, $10, $20 and $30 per day. It aroused further interest with an announcement of twelve special attractions at these prices, and already has booked up impressive time for them, including Loew, Mastbaum, Keith and Moss houses.

The first release of the series is that of Evelyn Nesbit in "Her Mistake," which, with other special productions of the Producers', will be available to exhibitors at the following General Film exchanges:

Atlanta—111 Walton street.
Dallas—1924 Main street.
St. Louis—3610 Olive street.
Kansas City—921 Walnut street.
Omaha—1508 Howard street.
Minneapolis—909 Hennepin avenue.
Denver—1533 Welton street.
Seattle—2023 Third avenue.
Portland—390 Burnside avenue.
San Francisco—255 Golden Gate avenue.
Los Angeles—738 S. Olive street.
New Orleans—343 Baronne street.

An official of General Film Company states that the intensive sales campaign of Producers' Distributing Corporation will be given every service aid at these exchanges, and that everything is in complete readiness there for the physical movement of the product.

New Victory Pictures Open Big, Says Fox

WITH the release of the new Tom Mix picture, "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," which at its showings at the Academy of Music and elsewhere is said to have startled large crowds with new thrills and new methods, the season for the new William Fox brand of Victory Pictures has opened with a success which indicates that this new series may be one of the strongest sets of pictures in the coming year.

"Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," the Fox Film Corporation states, is only typical of the other productions which will be released under Victory Pictures, starring Tom Mix, Gladys Brockwell and George Walsh. Victory Pictures are intended by William Fox to be a series that, for drawing power of stars, lavishness of production and dramatic strength of story, will be the best attractions offered to exhibitors this season.

As an earnest of this statement, William Fox points to the forthcoming Victory Pictures release—Gladys Brockwell in "Kultur," George Walsh in "On the Jump," Tom Mix in "Fame and Fortune," Gladys Brockwell in "The Strange Woman" and George Walsh in "I'll Say So!" and Tom Mix in "Treat 'Em Rough!" Each of these pictures and the pictures that follow will be of the same high standard that marks "Mr. Logan, U. S. A."

In announcing his policy for 1918-19 Mr. Fox declared that for Victory Pictures he intended to have only stories by authors of recognized ability, or stage plays that have stood the test of public approval in the high price dramatic theatres of the country.

Goldwyn Signs Chain of St. Louis Theatres

Goldwyn Pictures will have their first run in St. Louis at the big Columbia theatre, chief house of the Cella and Tate chain of houses, and subsequent runs in the Shenandoah, the King's, and the smaller theatres of this great organization.

Negotiations for the signing of the biggest picture combination in St. Louis were conducted between Frank N. Tate and Charles Cella and representatives of Goldwyn and their signing for the complete annual output of Goldwyn for all of their houses is considered a signal endorsement of the position that Goldwyn has attained in the industry.

Vitagraph Program Sept. 30

The Vitagraph program of releases for the week of September 30 has been scheduled as follows:

Blue Ribbon feature, five parts—"A Diplomatic Mission," featuring Earle Williams, written by Don Bartlett. Directed by Jack Conway.

Serial, two parts—William Duncan in "The Tide of Disaster," episode No. 12 of "A Fight for Millions," supported by Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan. Written by Albert E. Smith and Cyrus Townsend Brady. Directed by William Duncan.

Big "V" special comedy, two parts—"Roofs and Riots," featuring Earle Montgomery and Joe Rock.

Big "V" comedy, one part—"Hula Hulas and Hocus Pocus."

Eddie James Assisting Harold Lockwood's Directors

Eddie James is now assisting both Edwin Carewe and Henry Otto, the alternate directors of Metro features starring Harold Lockwood. He acted as right-hand man to Mr. Carewe in the making of "Pals First," soon to be released by Metro as a Screen Classics, Inc., and is now aiding Mr. Otto, who is putting on "The Great Romance," a romantic drama written especially for the star by Finis Fox.

James has been identified as an assistant director with Mme. Petrova's company for years and previously was associated with World, Selig and Universal.

Mae Marsh Plays Dual Role in "Hidden Fires"

The unusual opportunity to do something she had never before attempted is responsible for the delight Mae Marsh feels in her newest Goldwyn picture, "Hidden Fires," in which she plays a dual role.

The slim star is well aware that most of her friends among the stars at one time or another essayed two parts in one production, but to Mae Marsh this demand on her resources was never made. However, immediately "Hidden Fires" was written by J. Clarkson Miller, Mae Marsh was thought of by Samuel Goldfish, president of Goldwyn. Always it is the desire to gratify all the wishes and ambitions of the Goldwyn stars whenever it is feasible.

This was demonstrated in "Money Mad," the current Mae Marsh offering, because often the slim star had confided that she longed to do a role with a strong suggestion of the Orient in its costuming.

Perry Supplies Comedy in J. W. Kerrigan Cast

Walter Perry, who scores in support of J. Warren Kerrigan in "Prisoners of the Pines," plays a prominent part in the popular J. D. Hampton star's next picture, "Three X. Gordon," written by Kenneth B. Clarke. In "Prisoners of the Pines" Mr. Perry plays the role of an Irish cook in a lumber camp. He also acts as Hilaire Latour's (Warren Kerrigan) "secretary," as the French Canadian cannot read or write.

"Three X. Gordon" gives Mr. Perry a chance to be a good patriot—he is a New Jersey farmer, and puts all the down-and-outers to work in his fields. This Hampton-Kerrigan picture will be released in October by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.

Mail Awaits Delivery to Owners

The following is a list of names of actors and actresses for whom mail matter is held at the office of the Motion Picture News Studio Directory, 729 Seventh avenue, New York City: Valkyrien Demitz, Rena Rogers, Helen Long, Bertha Kalish, Louise Stenson, Marion Eversley, Winifred Allen, Norman S. Rose, R. Melton, E. E. Ethier.

Claire Anderson, Who Appears With Wellington Cross in Triangle's "The Gray Parasol"

"Why America Will Win," Produced by William Fox, is Based on the Life of General John Pershing

"Private Peat" October Release

Famous Players-Lasky "Private Peat," with Soldier-Author in Cast, Will Be Released as Paramount-Artcraft Special

THE initial announcement concerning the details of production and plans of distribution of "Private Peat," one of the contributions to the literature of the present war, was made by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation last Monday. This is said to be a most elaborate screen version of this big "seller." The soldier-author himself enacts the leading role.

The production of "Private Peat" was made at the Fort Lee studios of the Famous Players-Lasky organization under the direction of Edward Jose, the French producer, who is now staging the Caruso-Artcraft films. "Private Peat" is now entirely completed, and will be released in October as a Paramount-Artcraft Special, one of the nine to be distributed during the season of 1918-19. In New York the production will have its premiere at the Rivoli theatre under the direction of S. L. Rothapfel.

By special arrangement with Bobbs-Merrill Company, publishers of "Private Peat," from whom the screen rights were obtained, and with the enthusiastic approval of the author, the picturization, while holding closely to the text of the story in every other detail, has an American setting throughout. The opening scenes are laid in a New England village rather than in Canada, the troops shown in training were photographed at an American cantonment instead of at Valcartier, whence Private Peat sailed for Europe, and the soldiers pictured in action on the Western front are Yankees instead of "Johnny Canucks."

"Private Peat" is the extended version of the lecture, "Two Years in Hell and Back With a Smile," which the young Canadian veteran has delivered in leading cities all over the country.

The training camp scenes were filmed at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., where Director Jose and his assistant, Daniel Pennell, had the co-operation of War Department officials and Army officers, with the result that they are said to have secured some of the most remarkable shots ever caught by the eye of a camera. Another series of shots show six hundred soldiers, in heavy marching order, filing along the top of a ridge. These were taken shortly after sunrise, and are said to be rarely beautiful examples of photography taken by Hal Young and Lewis Physioc. Thrilling battle scenes at night were also staged, in one of which Peat was painfully injured by an exploding bomb. Appearing with Private Peat in this film is "Big Bill" Sorelle, his "bunkie."

Among the big scenes staged in Fort Lee was the destruction by bombardment from airplanes and by shellfire from heavy guns of an entire village built especially for the picture. The construction of the big guns, reproductions of the Austrian Skodas, etc., are said to be remarkably realistic.

A tremendous exploitation campaign for "Private Peat" is said to be in the course of preparation, and several exceptional advertising ideas are being worked out by the Famous Players-Lasky organization. The story itself will appear in the New York Evening World in serial form, and will be syndicated to one hundred other large newspapers throughout the country via the S. S. McClure Syndicate. A big advertising campaign in newspapers, magazines and on the billboards is being planned in such a way that exhibitors are given an opportunity to directly tie up with it. A co-operative plan in which several posters and accessories will be used is being prepared by the distributors of the film and Bobbs-Merrill Company, so that exhibitors and book dealers will be able to assist each other in a way never before attempted.

COMPLETE PLAN BOOK ON PAGES 2079 TO 2093

Metro Stars in Loan Campaign

Metro and Screen Classics' Stars Will Make Public Speeches in Behalf of Fourth Liberty Loan

SCREEN CLASSICS, INC., and Metro Pictures Corporation have rallied to the cause of the Fourth Liberty Loan, as they have in previous patriotic measures inaugurated. Even before war had actually been declared, President Richard A. Rowland had placed all the equipment and facilities of Metro's various studios and affiliated companies at the disposal of the government, to be used in any way deemed advisable.

Not only has Metro issued numerous great patriotic special productions, but the studios and working staff have been utilized by the government in the production of propaganda pictures.

Metro and Screen Classics, Inc., stars will make public speeches in behalf of the loan. Those who have already actually offered their services to the Treasury Department for this patriotic work are Mme. Nazimova, Ethel Barrymore, Viola Dana, Edith Storey, Francis X. Bushman, Beverly Bayne, Emily Stevens, Emmy Whelen, Bert Lytell, May Allison, Anna Q. Nilsson, Franklyn Farnum, Hale Hamilton and Olive Tell.

Metro and Screen Classics stars will contribute five motion pictures to the cause of the Fourth Liberty Loan. Four of these have already been completed, with Mme. Nazimova, Emily Stevens, Harold Lockwood and Edith Storey in the stellar roles, the names of their offerings being respectively "A Woman of France" (Nazimova); "Building for Democracy" (Emily Stevens); "Liberty Bond Jimmie" (Harold Lockwood); and "Edith's Victory for Democracy" (Edith Storey). Each of these pictures gives an excellent reason why people should invest in Liberty Bonds of the fourth issue, and suggests practical ways of doing so. Miss Barrymore will make her Liberty Bond picture as soon as her work in her new screen vehicle, "Lady Frederick," gives her an opportunity.

"A Woman of France" was written by Nazimova, the Russian star, herself; it has been directed by the renowned Frenchman, Albert Capellani, and photographed by Eugene Gaudio, Italian, thus showing the interest of representatives of the Allied nations in America's Liberty Loans.

Harold Lockwood in "Liberty Bond Jimmie" has a clever vehicle that should add many subscribers to the Fourth Liberty Loan. Edwin Carewe directed Mr. Lockwood in this clever little screen sermon, which was written by star and director in collaboration. Rudolph J. Berquist photographed it. Screen Classics, Inc., presents "Liberty Bond Jimmie." The cast includes Frank Currier as Jimmie's father, and Louis Stern as "The Pro-German."

Emily Stevens' Liberty Loan picture, "Building for Democracy," was written by June Mathis and directed by Harry L. Franklin. Miss Stevens is cast as a young wife, Mary Carleton, whose one idea, after a few years of married life, is to buy a home. But the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign is begun, the money is needed for the nation's "win-the-war" program, and the young woman persuades her husband that the money for their home must go into bonds. Christine Mayo plans the Spirit of Democracy in this clever little offering, and King Baggot plays the part of the husband, opposite the star.

Harold Lockwood Is Starred in "Pals First," Metro Release

In "Edith's Victory for Democracy," Edith Storey has a most unusual type of picture, it is said, combining good red-blooded action and the required message to the American people. Joseph Kilgour plays the desperado, and it is considered one of the best bits of acting he has ever contributed to the screen. Frank Currier appears in his second Liberty Loan-Metro picture as Sheriff Blake. Guy Coombs, well known to screen patrons, does a "bit" as a soldier, being willing to do his bit in more ways than one. "Edith's Victory for Democracy" was written by Col. Jasper Ewing Brady, and directed by Harry L. Franklin. Arthur Martinelli was the cameraman of both this and the picture done by Miss Stevens.

Exports to Sweden

Announcement has been made by the War Trade Board that applications will now be considered for the exportation of all commodities to Sweden.

It is necessary, however, that the exporter before filing his application receive advice from the prospective importer in Sweden that a certificate covering the proposed consignment has been issued by the Statens Handel's Kommission or an appropriate importing association.

Transportation Forms Theme for Pathe Picture

"Triumph of Transportation," to be released by Pathe the week of October 6, is said to be a picture inspired by the prodigies being accomplished in the conduct of the great war, and, though it deals with animal power and with mechanism, still, in relation to big things accomplished, it has the charm of real romance—the romance of gigantic achievement. With America at war, the transportation problem, both at home and in Europe, has become more and more vital.

In beholding this wonderful film story, one starts from the time when the head of a man was a sufficient vehicle to carry a burden. Thence onward the story of transportation is a fascinating panorama of what the human race has passed through on its way to high civilization, and the automobile and swift aeroplane.

When man took the burden from his head and placed it upon the ox, this means sufficed for centuries; then came the horse. But as society grew more independent our very existence became dependent upon the methods of transportation, and, true to the age, mechanical mules came to the fore.

How a gigantic industry, in which America leads the world, is being operated, principally for the benefit of Uncle Sam, is shown in minute and engrossing detail. Motor trucks are turned out literally by the thousands and have come to play an important role in our war, especially to free railroads for troop movements. It is declared that those who see this picture will understand more clearly the regulations made necessary by the demands of war.

General Names Its October Releases

The October program of Broadway Star Features, produced by the Vitagraph Company for distribution by General Film Company, contains two O. Henry Stories and two Alfred Henry Lewis Wolfville Tales. The release dates are: October 5, "The Rose of Wolfville"; October 12, "A Ramble in Aphasia" (O. Henry); October 19, "The Canyon Hold-Up" (Wolfville), and October 26, "The Ghost of a Chance" (O. Henry).

The featured players in the O. Henry Stories are Edward Earle and Agnes Ayres, while Patricia Palmer, the little western ingenue, is again the lead in the Wolfville subjects. The clever characterizations required to interpret the whimsical plots of both the noted short story authors are thoroughly taken care of by excellent casts and some of the most successful of directors.

Wm. Fox Forced to Enlarge New York Exchange

To take care of the new business which has developed since the announcement of the William Fox campaign for the fall, the New York Exchange of the Fox Film Corporation, on the seventh floor of the Leavitt Building, 130 West Forty-sixth street, has found it necessary to enlarge its office space.

"The Girl of Today" is the Newest Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, Announced for Release September 22. Corinne Griffith is the Feminine Star

Gaumont Sells More Rights on New Serial

The Gaumont Co. is still reporting great success for its thrilling, red-blooded and mystery photo-serial, "The Hand of Vengeance."

They have just sold the rights of this wonderful serial for the State of Michigan, exclusive of the upper peninsula, to the Madison Film Exchange, Detroit, and New York State, exclusive of Greater New York, Long Island and the Counties of Rockland and Westchester, to Gardiner Syndicate, 47 West Swan street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Demands are continually coming into the office for bookings on this serial, according to reports.

First National Heads Visit Rothacker

Directors of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Incorporated, soon to release "The Romance of Tarzan" as the concluding chapters of "Tarzan of the Apes," recently visited and inspected the studio and plant of the Rothacker Film Manufacturing Company in Chicago as the guests of Mr. Rothacker.

An event in the tour of the factory and laboratories was their introduction to the printing room.

Harold Lockwood, Star of the Screen Classics-Metro Production, "Pals First"

William L. Sherry Must Secure More Room

NOT yet quite four months in business and William L. Sherry is looking around for larger quarters. In April he severed his connection as general manager of the Paramount Exchanges, in New York, and launched the big new film distributing enterprise known as the Wm. L. Sherry Service, with headquarters in New York, and branch offices in fourteen other cities.

The New York offices were established on the twelfth floor of the Godfrey Building, 729 Seventh avenue, last May. At that time Mr. Sherry thought that half of the twelfth floor would be plenty of space for the general offices and the New York Sherry exchange combined. It was enough, at that time. But the business began to grow, and now there is not room enough. Consequently Mr. Sherry must find a bigger place.

The New York exchange of the Sherry Service will probably remain in the Godfrey Building and will utilize all of the present space for exchange purposes. But the executive and general offices will soon have to move to some other office building where a whole floor can be had.

Mr. Sherry reports record bookings for the Frank A. Keeney productions, featuring Catherine Calvert in "Out of the Night" and "A Romance of the Underworld." Also he reports heavy bookings in many cities of the De Luxe Pictures, featuring beautiful Doris Kenyon in "The Street of Seven Stars" and "The Inn of the Blue Moon." It is the excellence of these features that is the cause of the rapid growth of the Sherry Service.

There is also said to be a heavy advance demand for G. M. Anderson's (Broncho Billy) first release on the Sherry program, "Red Blood and Yellow." This is Mr. Anderson's first five-reeler and marks his return to the screen after an absence of many months. Hereafter he will appear only in full-size Western productions, all of which will be new and none of them reissues. Vangie Valentine, Harold J. Binney's great find, is now at work on her first production, soon to be released and distributed by Sherry.

Blackton Completing "The Common Cause"

ALTHOUGH J. Stuart Blackton has not yet set the release date for "The Common Cause," which he is now completing under the auspices of the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission for Vitagraph distribution, he is nevertheless not halting in his plan to work steadily on special productions to be offered to the exhibitor as up-to-the-minute attractions of propaganda as well as entertainment value.

In line with this plan, therefore, he has just announced that after "The Common Cause" is launched he will immediately begin work on "The Battle Cry of Liberty," which is the title of the feature to follow the first-named picture.

The story of "The Battle Cry of Liberty" is from the collaborated pens of Charles T. Dazey and Commodore Blackton himself. "The Battle Cry of Liberty" is intended to be the successor of "The Battle Cry of Peace," which will be remembered as one of the forerunners of war specials of propaganda nature produced by Commodore Blackton four or five years ago for and distributed by the Vitagraph Company, of which he was one of the founders.

J. Hartley Manners, Major Ian Hay Beith and Percival Knight are authors of the original play and Anthony P. Kelly is its adapter for the Blackton film version. Julia Arthur, Violet Heming, Marjorie Rambeau, Mrs. Vernon Castle, and Effie Shannon are on the prologue cast, while Herbert Rawlinson, Sylvia Breamer, Violet and Charles Stuart Blackton featured, and Huntly Gordon, Louis Dean, Mlle. Marcel, Lieutenant Lawrence Grossmith, Philip Van Loan, Ricca Allen and William Bailey interpret the play.

Buy Liberty Bonds

Three Red Cross Films Form Initial Group

WITH the forecast of another American Red Cross picture, called "Of No Use to Germany," three war subjects, each of one reel, form the initial group of releases from the organization's Bureau of Pictures. W. E. Waddell, director, announces the latest subject is entitled "Of No Use to Germany."

It deals with the human wreckage that came out of Belgium, citizens too old or too ill or too young to toil at tasks set by the invader. How they are taken care of by the American Red Cross is graphically shown, with many scenes that are claimed to discount the attempted realism of imaginative war photoplays. This release will follow "Soothing the Heart of Italy," which is already being routed to the public through General Film exchanges, which are cooperating with the Bureau of Pictures by physical distribution of the film.

Headed by the initial release, "The Historic Fourth of July in Paris," which opened with a pre-release run at the Rivoli in New York and at hundreds of Keith, Proctor and affiliated U. C. O. houses outside of New York, the American Red Cross has at this time three single reel subjects at the exchanges, or ready for release, with posters and slides. The Bureau of Pictures is preparing, with J. T. Kelly as editor, a sheet descriptive of these releases, which will be available to exhibitors to guide them in heralding the pictures. These sheets will be sent to the exchanges.

The current release, "Soothing the Heart of Italy," presents scenes from the timely dash of American relief to the homeless people driven before the big enemy advance which occurred about the time America declared war against Austria. Food was scarce and the people were in a panic, not knowing how far south the invaders would come. It was an hour of fear and Italy was actually prostrate. It was at this moment that the blessed processions of Red Cross trucks began rolling into the country with food, medicine and warm clothing, and the people were inspired to new hope. A touching evidence of its effect was the tribute paid to Henry P. Davison by children in the villages during his tour of inspection of the work done. A complete story is told of this period of the war in Italy by the film it is announced by General Film Company.

Changed Attitude Seen on Foreign Films

IT is the belief of President Paul H. Cromelin, of Inter-Ocean Film, that English and French photoplays, really worth while, will find a different reception from the American public than has heretofore been the case. Mr. Cromelin feels that the millions of "letters home" from the American millions in France has created a new, direct interest in the lands the latter have temporarily adopted.

"If there is one letter that finds first welcome in American households, it is the one from England or France," said Mr. Cromelin; "it is the letter from the boy of the family, who is now 'Over There' training for, or participating in, the great struggle for human freedom. There should be magic for that household in the very invitation to view the things their boy sees. I am sure all that American exhibitors have to do to put Franco-British films over is to advertise the seat of production enough."

President Cromelin states that dramatic features from "Over There" should come as "dessert" on the bill-of-fare of American official war film being served in the picture houses of the country. Audiences will like the war movies better, in Mr. Cromelin's opinion, for the change to films that, while still from the favored locales, are of the straight story type. The Inter-Ocean announces the placement of "Inside the Lines," featuring Lewis S. Stone, in England, France, Spain, Italy, Mexico, Chile, Brazil, India, Straits Settlements, Dutch East Indies and South Africa.

This successful campaign was conducted by Louis Brock and Gus Schlesinger, of the sales department. Ricardo Castro, of the same branch, has placed Paralta Plays for the West Indies and Porto Rico. E. H. Kaufman's principal Speer item of the week was the closing of an exclusive contract with Japan, guaranteeing the minimum consumption of 350,000 carbons yearly and commencing with a shipment of 50,000.

"American" Employees Are All American

Living up to its name, the "American Film Company" has received orders from its president, S. S. Hutchinson, that all applicants for positions, stars, extras, "Bits" or even technical employees, must show a clean bill as to citizenship and draft registration.

The result is that a number of the employees at the Santa Barbara studios declared their intention of becoming citizens and thousands of those who have their names and photographs registered at the employment exchanges at Los Angeles and Santa Barbara made a rush for first or second papers.

In the picture "Hobbs in a Hurry," featuring William Russell, there were two scenes where several unnaturalized foreigners appeared and these scenes were retaken with an "all-American" cast.

Program News on Page 2037

This Chinese Beauty is Norma Talmadge, Select Star, in "A Tale of the Forbidden City"

"Wolves of Kultur" to Have Ad-Helps

In addition to the country-wide poster campaign, announced by Pathe, for the exploitation of the patriotic serial, "Wolves of Kultur," made by the Western Photoplay Company, the serial will have the most extensive advertising helps that Pathe has ever given to a similar feature.

Pathe's Publicity Department has been busy at work for the last two months on the preparation of helps of all descriptions. Every exhibitor in the United States will receive an attractive booklet to which he may turn for information and direction concerning every angle of the serial. It will be composed of thirty pages with a complete cover design in five colors, a reproduction of the splendid 24-sheet by Burton Rice, whose previous work for Pathe has evoked commendation from all over the country.

Vitagraph Companies Busy on Two Serials

With two companies working simultaneously, Vitagraph's serial production is at the present moment running at top speed. Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway are now in the latter stages of "The Iron Test," scheduled for release on October 21, while William Duncan is already under full headway with "The Man of Might," the next chapter play in which he will appear, supported by an all-star cast including Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan.

"The Iron Test," which will be the second release on Vitagraph's newly-announced four-serial-a-year plan, will be completed before its release date, according to reports received from the Vitagraph Western Studio and the Moreno-Holloway Company will then start on their second fifteen-episode production.

Additional Producers' News on Page 2035

OFFICIAL BRITISH WAR PICTURES

"FIGHTING FOR FREEDOM"

Seven Tremendous Episodes

EPISODE 4

¶ "FIGHTING FOR FREEDOM" consists of a marvelous series of OFFICIAL BRITISH WAR PICTURES, procurable nowhere, from no film concern nor Exchange, except UNIVERSAL. Bear that in mind. These are positively and absolutely the greatest series of Official War Pictures ever released exclusively thru UNIVERSAL. 7 huge episodes showing the tremendous side the British have played in this colossal conflict. Something your people have NOT seen except in these pictures and this series.

¶ Episode No. 4, is entitled "THRILLING FEATS OF THE ROYAL FLYING CORPS" and shows aerial stunts that will amaze you. Shows the hero Lieutenant Bishop, the great Canadian Ace who fell 2000 feet and still lives. Shows the maneuvers of the fearless Canucks, Australians and English, in their aerial battles, bomb dropping operations and flying formations. Wonderful scenes that will make your people clamor to see every episode. Great paper. Book thru ANY Universal Exchange or communicate with the—

UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING COMPANY

Largest Film Manufacturing Company in the Universe CARL LAEMMLE, President

1600 BROADWAY NEW YORK

"Miles in the lead of the Comedy Pictures"
LYONS-MORAN
STAR COMEDIES
THIS WEEK'S RELEASE:
"PLEASE HIT ME"
Book thru nearest Universal Exchange or UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO.— Carl Laemmle, Pres. 1600 Broadway, N.Y.

Dorothy Phillips

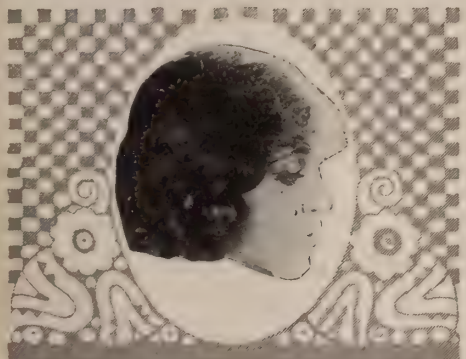
An actress of unsurpassed dramatic power in a play with a punch - a picture of modern temptations laid among magnificent interior settings, superbly directed and wondrously lighted. Don't fail to book this highly dramatic play—

"The Mortgaged Wife"

Harry Carey

Beyond all question, the most talented and best-liked western character actor on the Screen today. Harry Carey plays only in stories that are human and he plays them only in his uniquely human way.

"Hell Bent"
"Three Mounted Men"
"A Woman's Fool"



Priscilla Dean

A Star of fast rising brilliance in a play with the most unusual plot of many years whose double photography is one of the marvels of the Screen. For something different, superbly staged and cast, book

"The Two-Soul Woman"

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

Mae Murray

An actress of distinctive appeal in two big dramas of Love and Youth, equally distinctive for direction, settings and photography. See these two fine plays and be utterly pleased.

"Her Body in Bond"
"The Bride's Awakening"

Herbert Rawlinson

You can't beat Dare-devil Romance as a money-getter and here's a swift-running picture of a two-fisted young American in western scenes that has been an unqualified triumph everywhere. For speed, love and thrills book

"Smashing Through"

Mary Mac Laren

Remember "Shoes"? It's a safe bet you couldn't forget either story or heroine. And here is that same unforgetable young actress in two gripping pictures that will pack the biggest house anywhere.

"Bread"
"The Model's Confession"

Book thru your nearest Universal Exchange or communicate with the UNIVERSAL FILM MN'FG. CO., Largest Film Mn'fg. Co. in the Universe, CARL LAEMMLE, President, 1600 Broadway, New York Doubled their Business for Three Days!

"AFTER playing 'The GEEZER OF BERLIN' at our Majestic Theatre for three days," says H. Schulman, President of the SECOND AVENUE AMUSEMENT CO., N. Y.—"we must admit that it made the greatest hit of all comedies we ever played.

"We are above all, best convinced by our daily receipts —which actually doubled during the run of this picture.

"For the benefit of our numerous patrons who are insisting on seeing this picture over again, we find it necessary to extend you an additional day's booking."

"The GEEZER OF BERLIN"

A TRAVESTY on "The KAISER- the Beast of Berlin"

Book now. The big Laugh on the Hun Troublemaker has started

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway, New York City

Additional Live News from the Producers

(Continued from page 2030)

Critics See Universal Films with Editor

A congress of dramatic critics to sit with Frank Lawrence, film editor of Universal, in the projection room as each production is run has been organized, according to announcement this week from the Universal studios. It is the plan of the new innovation to receive the viewpoint of men who have reviewed dramas and picture plays for the press.

The former critics composing the congress are all employed by Universal in various capacities. They will sit in judgment on each production before it is shipped to New York. Each one will write a two-hundred-word review of the picture, which will be turned in to Lawrence, who, after reading the criticisms, will make whatever improvements he may believe essential.

The congress is comprised of Waldemar Young, former dramatic editor of the San Francisco Examiner; Harvey Gates, formerly critic of the Dramatic Mirror; Bernard McConville, formerly of the Los Angeles Times; William E. Wing and Paul Powell, former reviewers for the Los Angeles Express; Ham Beall, former dramatic critic of the Los Angeles News and editor and founder of "The Rounder," a Pacific Coast theatrical journal. Messrs. Young, Gates, Bradford, Wing and Powell are scenario writers at Universal, while Beall is director of Universal's publicity department.

New "Rainbow Comedies" Are Released by General

A new comedy brand is being launched through General Film Company as distributor by the United States Motion Picture Corporation of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Releases under this brand, which will be known as Rainbow Comedies, begin at once. The first release is "Nearly a Slacker," with Lillian Vera and Eddie Boulden featured.

Rainbow Comedies will be one-reel, high-class, humorous subjects. Among the leads playing in these comedies are Eddie Boulden, famous as a light comedian in many screen releases, and Lillian Vera, a girl of winning personality and beauty. The direction is in the hands of Jos. Richmond, well known as a producer of comedies and features.

Ascher Bros. Book Kenyon Production

Doris Kenyon's latest release, "The Inn of the Blue Moon," is said to be receiving an enthusiastic welcome from exhibitors throughout the country. Ascher Bros., of Chicago, have booked the feature for their circuit and have written to the William L. Sherry Service in terms of praise.

"The Inn of the Blue Moon" was written for Miss Kenyon by Louis Joseph Vance.

Earle Williams, Vitagraph Star, and the Company Which Appears With Him in the Liberty Loan Picture Which Vitagraph Has Made for the Forthcoming Drive

Earle Williams to Vitagraph's East Studio

EARLE WILLIAMS, Vitagraph star, will return to the company's Eastern studio in the near future after having been in California since last Christmas, and while here will make a Blue Ribbon feature, the title of which will be announced later.

The feature will be the third in the series of eight which he is to make for the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon program during the next twelvemonth.

Mr. William's stay in California has resulted in the making of several notable features, among them "An American Live Wire," "The Seal of Silence," "The Girl in His House," "A Diplomatic Mission" and one other, the working title of which is "His Country First." He had intended leaving Los Angeles immediately upon completion of this latter subject, but delayed long enough to make a Liberty Loan picture for the Government and has just recently completed this.

The Vitagraph plans for Mr. Williams at the present contemplate his returning to the Hollywood studio immediately after the completion of his one feature East. It is said that the locale of the feature made Eastern locations and settings imperative and Mr. Williams is making the trip across the continent especially to do this subject.

Mr. Williams, it is said, will be quite happy to return to California, because that is his native State, and when he arrived there during last Christmastide it was the first time he had been "home" in more than five years. He recently wrote that he was enjoying his work and every minute of the time spent in California, because his work has taken him to many of the most interesting places in the Golden State. In making "A Diplomatic Mission" he spent several weeks at Santa Barbara making scenes at the magnificent Gillespie estate and during the making of his last feature he was at Del Monte, the Newport of the Coast.

Vitagraph states that complete details of Mr. Williams' forthcoming feature will be given out after the arrival of the star at the Eastern studio. This means that the title, director and supporting company will be announced at that time.

Kitty Gordon Begins Work on New Production

Kitty Gordon has arrived in Los Angeles and she will begin work immediately on her new production at the Paralta studios. She was accompanied to the West Coast by her sister, Vera Beresford, and her mother.

The subject selected by Miss Gordon will have a patriotic trend, having to do with a wealthy American girl who was looking for something to occupy her time and who studied to be a nurse, later going to the battlefronts in France.

The title of the play will be "The Nurse." Her leading man is Mahlon Hamilton, formerly leading man for Mme. Petrova, Marguerite Clark and Elsie Ferguson. The story was written by Agnes Belleau.

William S. Hart, In His Well-Known Pose Expressing Emotion or Anger, Familiar to Artcraft Patrons

Sol Lesser Plans National Distributing Chain

Higher standards in pictures and service and a strenuous exploitation and selling campaign constitute the main principles of the future plans of Masterpiece Film Attractions in Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, as outlined this week by Sol L. Lesser, president of the company, at San Francisco.

George Jacobs is manager of Lesser's Ohio branches. He is stationed at Cleveland. Leon D. Netter still retains his interest, though he is now in the service of Uncle Sam. Lesser, youngest of state rights distributors, has taken the initial steps toward the establishment of a country-wide chain of distributing points.

Twenty-five companies are now touring for Lesser in the Western and Middle-western states with D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World," with central offices at San Francisco, Chicago, Los Angeles and Seattle. In New York Lesser maintains headquarters at 418 Longacre Building, with M. S. Rosenfield in charge.

"Tarzan" Shows Decline of Man

A positive example of the physical decline of man in comparison to previous generations is said to be given in the character of Tarzan, whose jungle training brings terror to the disciples of civilization when he is transplanted into the midst of aristocracy as the foundation of the story of "The Romance of Tarzan," soon to be released by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit as the concluding chapters to "Tarzan of the Apes."

Elmo Lincoln, who portrays the character of Tarzan, was chosen for the part because of his physique and strength, in addition to his ability as an actor, and because he most perfectly represented, in the estimation of officials of the National Film Corporation, the physical type of man that would result from years of life in the open.

About New Pictures

Mabel Normand is given capital support in "A Perfect 36," her newest Goldwyn picture, said to be even funnier than the comedienne's recent vehicle, "Peck's Bad Girl." In "A Perfect 36" Miss Normand is surrounded by players long identified with successful stage and screen productions.

"Advertising past advertising" will be one of many unusual features of the exhibitor-to-the-public publicity campaign on "The Romance of Tarzan," soon to be released by First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

Bert Lytell has finished work in his fifth picture at Metro's West Coast studios in Hollywood. The story is from the pen of Lytell himself and was adapted for the screen by George D. Baker, Metro's western manager of production, in collaboration with the star. It's title will be announced later.

In "Whatever the Cost," Anita King's next picture for distribution by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation, the Outdoor Girl of Plaza pictures, is seen as the daughter of the leader of a gang of whiskey smugglers. She is supported by an able cast consisting of Stanley Pembroke, Patrick Calhoun, Corenne Grant, Bruce Smith, Charles Dudley and Gordon Sackville.

As an indication of the success which "The Prussian Cur" is scoring, a statement by the Fox Film Corporation cites the opening of the new William Fox Liberty theatre, in Elizabeth, N. J., on Labor Day, when R. A. Walsh's great drama of the Kaiser's secret spy system in this country was the leading attraction.

A race between a street car and an automobile, during which the chief characters of the story leap from one to the other, forms one of the exciting incidents in "The Room of Flames," which is the ninth episode of Universal's serial, "The Brass Bullet," featuring Jack Mulhall and Juanita Hansen.

Norma Talmadge last week completed the Chinese scenes which make up the first part of her Chinese feature, "A Tale of the Forbidden City." She is now working on the second half of the picture with scenes laid in the Philippines. Reed Hamilton has been engaged to play the role of Lieut. Philip Halbert in this portion of the feature.

The latest Animated Weekly release of the Universal includes big scenes from the World Series games between the Cubs and the Red Sox. The presentation of a World Series game on the screen as a news event represents one of the big achievements of the present day film production.

Sessue Hayakawa's second special production, "The Temple of Dusk," made by the Haworth Pictures Corporation, for release through Mutual, is built around a story of Japanese devotion and ideals that culminates in supreme sacrifice.

"The Haunted Pajamas," a farce comedy produced and released by Metro some time ago with Harold Lockwood as the star, is to be put on the stage, according to an announcement just made. The significent features of this announcement is that it marks a reversal of the usual order of procedure of adapting photoplays from stage successes and augurs well for the film taking first choice over the stage in the matter of stories.

"For the Freedom of the East," the Betzwood Film Company production conceived and directed by Ira M. Lowry, has a cast of players in support of Lady Tsen Mei, the screen's sole Chinese star, distinguished for their achievements in the cinema.

The new Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy, "His Wife's Friend," which is a September 8 release, is said to furnish a genuine treat for the average citizen whose mind is so distraught by the events of these parlous times. Moreover, the development of the story is said to be prolific of many delightful surprises.

Essanay announces that its new Charlie Chaplin film, "Triple Trouble," has broken all booking records for that company, exceeding all the Chaplins released by Essanay, for the same period it has been on the market.

Universal's Animated Weekly release for this week includes some unusual aviation scenes. They were taken at St. Louis when the Anglo-American "Flying Circus" showed off its bag full of tricks to a "show me" crowd. St. Louis turned out in force with its proverbial skepticism and "We're from Missouri. You've got to show us" frame of mind.

Arthur Donaldson, With Alice Joyce in "Capt. Abe," Vitagraph Picture

Nazimova's Next Picture Is "'Ception Shoals"

Mme. Nazimova and twenty-five members of her company in "'Ception Shoals," the Nazimova superfeature now in process of production at the Metro studio, have gone to the Massachusetts coast to take important scenes in the play, which is a picture version of the H. Austin Adams drama, originally done on the speaking stage by the Russian actress. Mme. Nazimova will be presented to the screen public in this seven-act picture by Richard A. Rowland and Maxwell Karger.

The party included the star; her director, Albert Capellani; his associate, Henry Kolker; assistant, Robert E. Stevens; the technical director, Henri Menessier; leading man, Charles Bryant; other players including Henry Harmon, Tom Blake, Nancy Palmer, Marie Grant, Charles A. Smiley, Ada Scovill, J. O'Connor, T. Morse Koupal, William Jeffrey, Amelia Burleon, Harry Weiss, Lydia Wellmore, the "boss" cameraman, Eugene Gaudio; assistant cameraman, William Tuers; photographer, Eugene Morin; property man, Charles Devens; and a working crew consisting of Daniel Carey, Charles Quinlan, Louis Onzeverdo and Frank Kishner.

Chicago Likes Hayakawa, Says E. H. Duffy

E. H. Duffy, manager of Mutual's Chicago office, reports that bookings on the Hayakawa Productions have broken all Chicago records for feature productions of Mutual. C. E. Elliott, managing director of the Zeigfeld theatre, Chicago, says:

"Allow me to express my appreciation of the first Hayakawa Production, 'His Birthright,' which I have run for a week at the 'Zeigfeld.' If this first picture is a criterion by which to judge his forthcoming releases, I feel that the Zeigfeld theatre has been very fortunate in securing the first run contract for Hayakawa."

Theatre Changes Policy to Book Fox Films

Manager John J. Farren, of the Victoria theatre, Rochester, has announced a departure in the policy of his theatre. Beginning with this month the Victoria will show Fox pictures, the first being Peggy Hyland in her initial Excel Pictures release, "Bonnie Annie Laurie."

In connection with the showing of "Bonnie Annie Laurie," Mr. Farren launched a special advertising and publicity campaign. The day before the showing he ran a two-column, eight-inch advertisement, which was a combination of an advertisement supplied by the Fox Film Corporation and an idea of his own.

The name of the theatre, as if it were on an electric sign, was at the top and from two chains lettered, "Vaudeville" and "Photoplays," was suspended a large cut with the billing and containing the pictures of Peggy Hyland in nurse's costume and a wounded soldier. The Victoria advertisement dominated the page it was published on in every paper.

"Kingdom of Youth" New Kennedy-Goldwyn

By far the most delightful and amusing motion picture in which Madge Kennedy has been seen in her brief year on the screen is "The Kingdom of Youth," written for her by Charles A. Logue, according to a Goldwyn announcement.

It is said to be the story, ingeniously worked out, of the triumph of youth and beauty, in the person of the Goldwyn star, over sham and suspicion, represented in the play by a youngish old woman—just old enough, as a subtitle puts it, "to stand outside of the 'Kingdom of Youth' and look in."

Pathe's "Border Raiders" Comes October 6

"The Border Raiders" is announced as a high class Southwestern feature, featuring George Larkin and Betty Compson, to be released the week of October 6 as the first of the "Pathe Program Features." It was made by Diando from a story by Frank Beresford and Jack Cunningham. Stuart Payton directed the feature.

The "Pathe Program Features" form an additional classification along with the "Extra Selected-Star Photoplays" and the "Pathe Special Features."

Fairbanks' New Artcraft Pleases All

"He Comes Up Smiling," Douglas Fairbanks' new Artcraft picture released September 15, is pronounced one of the best screen vehicles ever afforded the athletic star. Frances Marion devoted her best effort to the writing of the scenario and Allan Dwan directed.

The cast includes a long list of favorites, such as Marjorie Daw, Kathleen Kirkham, Herbert Standing, the English character actor; Frank Campeau, Albert McQuarrie, Jay Dwiggins and Bull Montana.

Coming Program Offerings

Metro's Four October Releases

Quartette of Releases Marks Metro's October Offering in Its "All Star Series."—Also Nazimova Production

May Allison, Winsome Star in Metro Productions

METRO PICTURES CORPORATION announces that it will release four superb productions for the month of October, in its All-Star Series, in addition to the great Nazimova production, "Eye for Eye," and the Screen Classics, Inc., superfeature, "Pals First," starring Harold Lockwood. Two new stars are included in the quartette of luminaries of the month's releases.

"Secret Strings," introducing Olive Tell as a star in the Metro constellation, heads the list for the month. Miss Tell scored heavily in "To Hell with the Kaiser," in which she was featured, Lawrence Grant playing the name-part of the Kaiser. "Secret Strings" provides an ideal vehicle for her, and is directed by John Ince and produced under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger.

Second on the list, and released October 14, is "His Bonded Wife," with the little star, Emmy Wehlen. This picture provides Miss Wehlen with a vehicle that for sheer attractiveness is unequaled. Creighton Hale heads the cast surrounding Miss Wehlen. Frank Currier plays the millionaire father of Doris. Warda Howard, William Frederic and John Terry also cast in excellent parts. Lois and Arthur Zellner wrote "His Bonded Wife," which was adapted for the screen by June Mathis, and Charles J. Brabin directed it.

Hale Hamilton will be introduced as a Metro star in "Five Thousand an Hour," which will be released October 21. It is a picturization of the story by George Randolph Chester of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" fame, published by Bobbs, Merrill & Co. Mr. Hamilton appeared opposite May Allison in "The Winning of Beatrice," and wrote for Miss Allison "The Return of Mary," her September release. "Five Thousand an Hour" was directed by Ralph W. Ince, assisted by W. W. Cohill, and photographed by William Black.

"The Testing of Mildred Vane," with May Allison as the star, will be the month's final release, coming October 28. This picture is from the pen of Charles T. Dazey, the well known author of "In Old Kentucky," and it has been adapted for the screen by George D. Baker, production manager of Metro's West Coast output. Wilfred Lucas, who also directed Miss Allison in "The Return of Mary," has directed "The Testing of Mildred Vane," and William E. Fildew is the cameraman. Spiritualism is the fascinating theme of a portion of this brilliant story, and the power of heredity is cleverly linked with it to form an absorbing picture.

Maxwell Karger is manager of productions of the New York output, supervising every detail of the preparation of pictures, and George D. Baker is in charge at the Hollywood, Cal., plant.

Universal-Bluebird List Next Two Months

Universal has issued a schedule of Bluebird and Special Attractions for October and November. "Danger—Go Slow," a Special Attraction featuring Mae Murray, and directed by Robert Leonard, will be released November 4. "Kiss or Kill," the Special featuring Herbert Rawlinson, will be released November 18. Elmer Clifton was the director.

The Bluebird release for October 14 will be "Hugon the Mighty," featuring Monroe Salisbury, and directed by Rollin Sturgeon. "Dealing With Daphne," the title of which will be changed, is scheduled for October 21. Edith Roberts is featured. "The Romance of Roma," featuring Priscilla Dean, is set for October 28. "The Cabaret Girl," featuring Fritzi Brunette, will be for November 4.

The Special Attractions, "Three Mounted Men" and "Vanity Pool," have been switched so that the first named is released October 7 and the second October 21.

"The Road to France" Is Coming World Release

"The Road to France," starring Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley, which is built around the war-time activities in American shipyards, features the World Pictures releases for the month of October, and will be released October 14. First on the list of the month's releases comes "The Appearance of Evil," starring June Elvidge.

"The Road to France" is by Harry O. Hoyt and in six reels. Dell Henderson directed it. Third in the month's releases comes "Just Sylvia," starring Barbara Castleton and Johnny Hines. Travers Vale directed it.

Pathe Has Augmented Program

"A Japanese Nightingale," the First of the "Extra Selected Star Photoplays," Heads This Week's Program

THE Pathe program for the week beginning September 22 is headed by the first of the Extra Selected Star Photoplays, "A Japanese Nightingale," from the popular romance of Onata Watana. Miss Ward's artistic work in this play has earned her enthusiastic praise from many sources, and there is said to be a sure appeal in her big dramatic moments. With skilled direction, George Fitzmaurice has placed the story in some of the most exquisite settings, and for sheer beauty, it is declared that some of the scenes have never been equalled.

The sixth episode of the swift moving Western serial, "Hands Up," featuring Ruth Roland, is called "Flames of Vengeance." Echo, the heroine, is saved from the blazing Inca sacrificial pit by the timely arrival of her cowboy friends.

Toto, the clown-comedian, is in one of his funniest acrobatic moods in going through his adventures in "The Great Water Peril," a characteristic Rolin creation.

No. 15 of the Post Travel Series is an excursion into the Dutch West Indies and one beholds the complete transportation of a bit of Holland into the tropics. To those who find poetry in the taste of that delicious liquor, the settlement of Curacao will have a peculiar interest. It is a unique part of the Caribbean which is full of odd and unusual places as these little journeys show.

No. 4 of the "Far Flung Battle Line" will appeal to the patriotic interest of everyone who sees the pictures, for they show the American troops on furlough in France—one of the lighter sides of the great war in which there are smiles, good humor, good fellowship and sight seeing.

No. 13 of the Official War Review, for variety of scene and information, is said to be one of the most interesting of the series thus far. It shows many points of the great struggle and is a comprehensive lesson in pictures. The popularity of this feature is growing enormously and Pathe expects that soon it will not only be shown in the 3,000 vaudeville houses where it was booked in a single contract, but in nearly every one of the 15,000 picture houses of all classes, which means practically every home in this country.

"For the Freedom of the East,"—Goldwyn

BETZWOOD FILM COMPANY'S big new propaganda melodrama, "For the Freedom of the East," with Lady Tsen Mei, the screen's first and only Chinese star, will have its first pre-lease presentation at the Stanley theatre, Philadelphia, for the week beginning September 30. This is said to be the first big independent special production ever booked or played in the Stanley Theatre, and Managing Director Frank W. Buhler has given both Betzwood and Goldwyn assurance that greater showmanship preparations are being made for the presentation of this picture than he has made for any other production since his connection with the Stanley Company.

"For the Freedom of the East" was conceived and directed by Ira M. Lowry, whose last season production, "For the Freedom of the World," is declared to be one of the biggest money-makers that exhibitors are able to find anywhere. This new production is said to be a big action-romance, with a thrilling and exciting story of the foiling of Germany's plot to control China and turn her four hundred million people against the Allies.

Among the big episodes of "For the Freedom of the East" are:

1.—The rise of the Secret Societies to save imperiled civilization.

2.—The bitter contest between a Chinese prince and a handsome American diplomat for the affections of a beautiful Chinese princess.

3.—A battle in the Secretary of State's home in Washington between German agents and an American diplomtic agent and the foiling of the German ambassadors by the jiu-jitsu feats of the frail Chinese heroine.

4.—A desperate poison plot on board a Pacific liner to gain possession of the photographs of Germany's secret treaty.

5.—The corruption of a greedy viceroy to unloose a Mongolian horde upon Europe.

6.—The departure of the allied troops from Tokio and Yokohoma, from the Philippines and Hawaii and Pekin; the soldier-laden transports battling a hurricane in the Sea of Japan and their triumphant landing in Siberia.

Goldwyn announces that the nation-wide release of "For the Freedom of the East" will be made the second week in October.

"My Cousin" Is Caruso's First Photoplay

In deference to the insistent demand of exhibitors, reflecting the keen interest of their patrons in the forthcoming appearance of Enrico Caruso in Artcraft pictures, The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation announces the release of "My Cousin," the operatic star's first photoplay production, October 20.

The writing of the scenario was entrusted to Margaret Turnbull, and Mr. Caruso plays dual roles.

Elinor Field Versatile in Her Latest Comedy

Elinor Field, girl star of Strand-Mutual comedies, is called upon to play a great variety of characters in her latest production, "All Kinds of a Girl," which will be released by Mutual on September 17.

She interprets the demure, quiet little girl knitting for the Red Cross; the little domestic girl who loves to potter about with pots and pans; and the vampire.

Program Glances

In changing the title of "The Bargain True" to "The Lure of Luxury," Universal plays up a big idea in the Bluebird picture. The film was adapted by Fred Myton, from a story by Nalbro Bartley. Elsie Jane Wilson is the director. The picture will be released October 7.

William S. Hart's next Artcraft appearance will be in "The Border Wireless," which is announced for release October 6. This picture is an adaptation of a story by Howard E. Morton, and the task of fitting the picturesque Ince star and his Western rig into a strictly modern tale, one which requires no little ingenuity, was entrusted to C. Gardner Sullivan.

Louise Glaum, who has done nothing but heavy dramatic roles, will surprise her admirers when they see her light comedy acting in "The Goddess of Lost Lake," her next picture, a Robert Brunton production to be distributed by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.

The first of the "Winning the War" series, showing the activities in America directed toward assisting in victory of democracy on the battlefields of Europe will be released by Pathe the week of October 20. It is called "The United States Boys' Working Reserve Solves the Great Farm Problem."

Montagu Love and June Elvidge are being co-starred by World Pictures in "The Quickening Flame." Work is now progressing on this picture which will be released during the winter. It is being directed by Travers Vale.

"Treason," the Edna Goodrich special production, which will be released by Mutual on September 29, was written especially for her by Harry R. Durant. Together with Miss Goodrich he drafted the high spots of the story, covering the various situations and developing the plot along lines that would permit this gifted actress the widest latitude.

"Three Mounted Men," the Special Attraction featuring Harry Carey, Universal's ace among Western actors, which will be released October 7, presents an unusual twist in dramatic action. The spectacle is given of a prisoner being rescued from a posse by the same outfit which previously had captured the man and turned him over.

Madame Rose Dione, late of the Theatre Odeon of Paris and one of the foremost actresses of the French stage, will make her first appearance in motion pictures in this country in Lila Lee's Paramount starring vehicle, "The Secret Garden," now being produced at the Hollywood studios of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation under the direction of G. Butler Clonbough.

It is a grim, thrilling picture that is shown in the thirteenth issue of Pathe of the "Official War Review"—the rain of bursting shells that fall just in front of the advancing men. Here, indeed, one sees the spirit and feels the throb and vibration of the great conflict and realizes the enormous sacrifices in flesh and blood.

One of the most important parts in "The Woman Who Gave," the first of a series of Standard Pictures which Evelyn Nesbit is making for William Fox, is taken by Russell Thaw, the star's seven-year-old son, and one of the most discussed boys in the world.

Marie Walcamp, the Universal star who has figured in thrilling serials, is playing the lead in a big feature photodrama that Colin Campbell is directing. The feature is adopted from Bret Harte's story, "In the Carquinez Woods." Lanier Bartlett prepared the screen script.

A real soldier, one who has done his bit at Ypres, Loos and along the Somme, is one of the principals supporting Jane and Katherine Lee, the Fox baby grands, in the production of their new picture, "Swat the Spy!" This soldier is James Reardon, a New York boy, who, until he was gassed and otherwise disabled on the Western front, was a member of the Royal Welsh Fusileers.

Authorities on wrestling will see much to make their eyes sparkle in the big fight scene of "The Velvet Hand," the Bluebird schedule for September 30. The players who enact the struggle were carefully trained for the scene, and some unusual tricks of attack and defense are revealed.

The first John Emerson-Anita Loos production for Paramount, "Come On In," in which Shirley Mason and Ernest Truex will make their first appearance as co-stars in Paramount pictures, has been scheduled for release September 22. The play, which was directed by John Emerson, was written especially for the diminutive stars by Mr. Emerson and Miss Loos and is said to be perfectly suited to their distinctive talents.

The Whole Colossal Drama of the War

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN"

The First Pictorial History of the World's Greatest War — a Historic Achievement Beside Which all Written Records Pale to Insignificance; Filmed by a Thousand Cameras From the Actual Scenes, All the Important Events and a Multitude of Details Screened for You so That You Can See the World War From an Opera Chair.

Don't Hesitate—Doubt—Wonder or Consider—Make Up Your Mind to Let Nothing Prevent You From Booking the Mightiest War Spectacle—the First and Only Complete and Comprehensive Record of Any War, Filmed From Authentic Sources—There Never Was Anything Like It, for It Lets You See with Your Own Eyes More Than Any Man or Group of Men Could See or Write or Tell of the Activities of an Entire World at War. Watch Your Mail for the Huge Advertising Folder of Newspaper Ads with These Smashing Illustrations, All Complete, Ready to Run. BOOK NOW!

Book Now Through Any Jewel Exchange.

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway New York City

This Boy used to Come to Your Theatre!

This big American boy in his gas-mask comes from your town. He used to come to your theatre. His parents come there now, and you can bet they want to see him as he is today in France! They want to see everything that he does. Give them the stupendous War Picture that shows them their boy in every phase of his fight for freedom. Give them—

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

Every Detail of the Many-Sided World-War Shown in Authentic Records Filmed on the Spot

A Comprehensive Record From the First Cause Down to Our Doughboys' First Victory

THIS gigantic picture will show them how their boy lives, how he fights, how he is taken care of. They'll want to see him or his comrades on a hike, with a heavy pack on his back, a dangerous glint in his eye, and a smile on his lips. They'll want to see a trench or rest camp; the laying down of a barrage. They'll want to see him at play, and in a fight; the kind of country he's fighting in. They'll want to see him when the field kitchen comes up.

This Is a War of Machinery

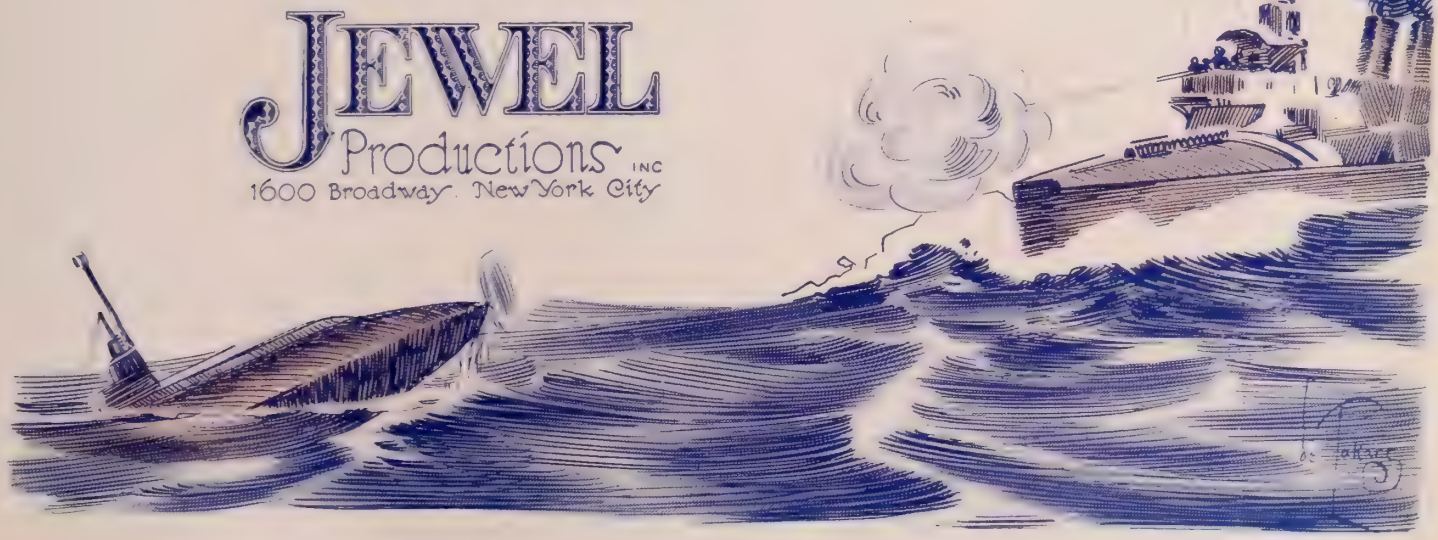
They'll want to see these boys handling the death-dealing machinery of war; the many engines of destruction—the big guns, the trench mortars, the deadly little automatic rifles and machine guns; the gas masks, the gas shells and a gas attack.

They'll want to see how his sailor brothers protect him with battleships, destroyers, depth bombs, mines, sub-chasers and patrol boats. These are a few of the fascinating incidents which, with actual records of the big, imposing and important events of the world's war, make up seven sensational reels of the first and only pictorial history of the gigantic conflict—"Crashing Through to Berlin."

BOOK NOW!

JEWEL PRODUCTIONS
INCORPORATED
Executive Offices, 1600 Broadway, New York City

The New York Evening Sun said:



"It is a drama as absorbing to contemplate as its plot is big—and there was never a plot more striking or more complex."

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

THE WHOLE COLOSSAL DRAMA OF THE WAR

REAL—authentic—true. All the great events of four years of battle, packed with thrills and sensations. Bleeding Belgium in the hands of the Huns—France rising to meet the brutal invader—England training soldiers to reinforce her "contemptible little army"—then, fighting on all the big fronts. The Kaiser and the Crown Prince—what a German soldier looks like—Germany's plans for a New York Air Raid. All the subsequent big events—then America preparing here, training in France, marching up to the battles at Chateau Thierry and Cantigny. The whole grand, awesome picture. You can't possibly afford not to show it.

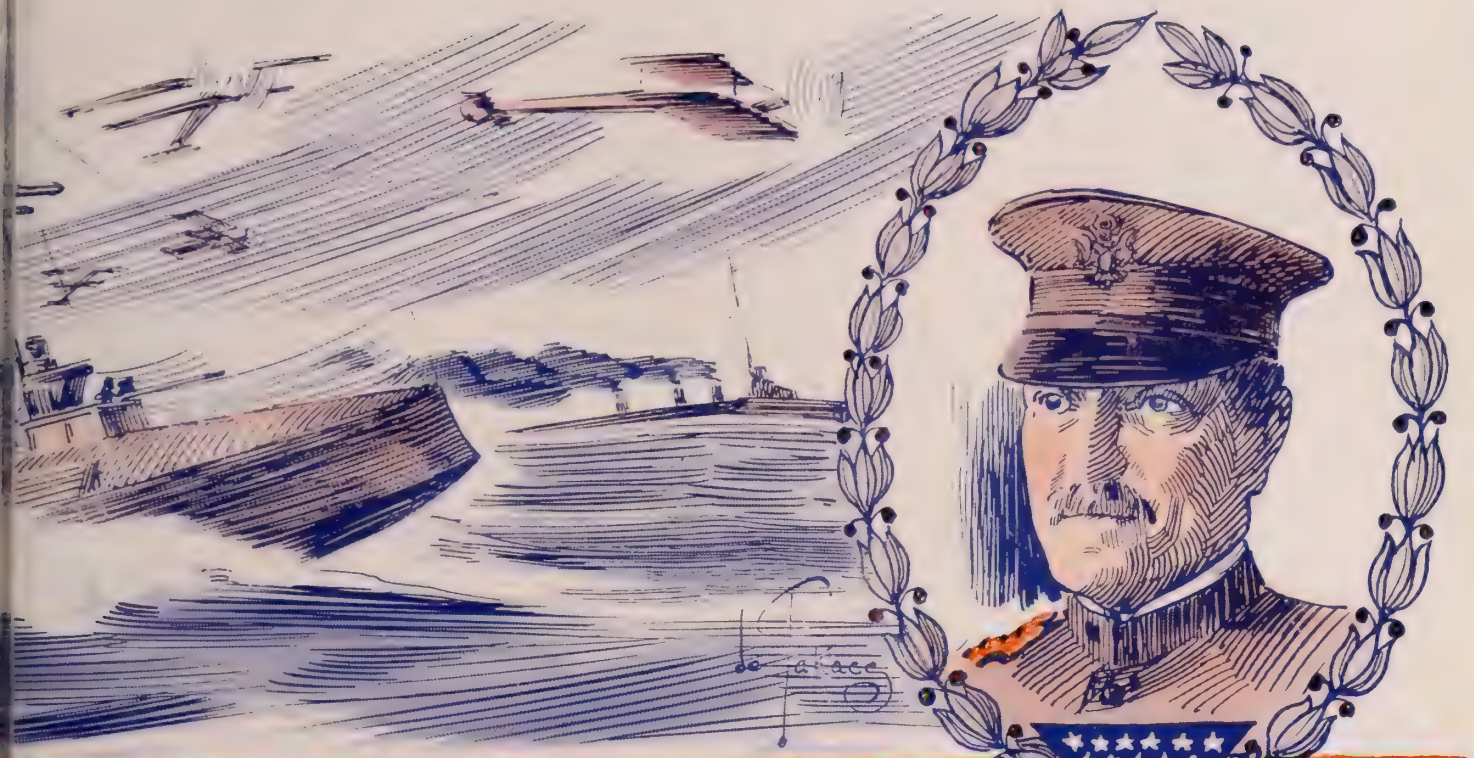
JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway New York City

CRASHING THRO

THE WHOLE COLOSSAL

A thousand cameras have recorded the war for you so that you can see it with your own eyes—History in the making—The first and only authentic pictorial history of the World War—The march of events of the four years' struggle, filmed on the spot as they transpired.

THESE all-inclusive seven reels of historic events of the War take you behind the scenes, and into the very heart of the mightiest conflict of armed forces the world has ever known. It shows you in authentic moving pictures every event of world importance from the Funeral of the Austrian Archduke Ferdinand to the American doughboy's heroic work in the hell-craters of the Western Front. You see—



GRIM Pictures of the Russian revolution and collapse; bleeding Belgium's gallant defence of her homes, her people and her National Honor. With your own eyes you see the mark of the beast on this—one of God's garden spots before the war. You see—

SUNNY Fra
German fi querable
ers and her
Yanks; brave B fleet and our g
sweeping the sea
Hun. You see—

JE
Prc
1600 Broadw

The New York Sun said: "An Inspirin

Jammed the Ho

IGH TO BERLIN

DRAMA OF THE WAR

n the cloud of ss; her uncon-
r brilliant lead-
welcome to our nighty bull-dog merican Navy
jackals of the AMERICA'S preparation for war; her boys—your boys—in camp, at the front, under fire; their daily life; their gameness in the face of death; their quick mastery of the art of war. You see—

GERMANY'S Kaiser and the Crown Prince; her plans for a New York Air Raid; bringing down a Zeppelin; battles above the clouds; Germans in retreat and thousands of German prisoners. You see—

ARTILLERY duels; the sinking of submarines; battles on land and sea; how the Lusitania was sunk, and scores of interesting incidents to be seen with your own eyes.

Shown in a thousand details—this complete, connected, consecutive and comprehensive pictorial history of the war gives you the "seeing is believing" knowledge of the war hitherto possible only to the eye-witness. And no man has ever seen all that you see in this gigantic spectacle.

EL
IONS INC
York City

nema—an Index to Real Patriotism.
to the Doors."

The New York Globe said: "Some of the most thrilling scenes ever projected on the screen."

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

Show Them America's Bridge of Boats

AMERICA'S supreme accomplishment — the landing of a million and a half of fighting men on the shores of France—was the work of our illustrious navy and that of her generous Ally—Great Britain.

Show them in this stupendous record of actual war achievement the marvelous fleets in action—life on the battleships, the floating fortresses that maintain the mastery of the sea—destroyers dropping depth bombs on the slinking sea-wolves of the Hun; the sinking of a submarine; sea planes—"the eyes of the Navy"—on scout, patrol and bombing duty; with the gun crews in action they'll watch for "hits," and feel all the thrills of desperate action. Show it all to them NOW!

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway New York City

The New York Evening Journal said:
"Everything that has happened in the war. Complete in every respect."

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

The Whole Colossal Drama of the War.

Show them the War through a Thousand Cameras

ALL the books and papers your people have read in the past four years can't begin to tell them as much about the war as will these masterly seven reels filmed on the spot as each scene, incident or event took place.

They'll see scenes of ravage and ruin in Belgium—the dogged British in the fighting line—our gallant French allies amid the ruins of their chateaus—the doughboys, the product of American "bluff," making good and exciting the admiration of the whole world.

They'll see soldiers of every nation at war; picturesque costumes; curious manners, and fighting methods. They'll be thrilled and awed by every variety of war activity developed in this titanic struggle. Trench fighting, open fighting, artillery duels, breath-taking flights of the intrepid air-men, air raids, gas attacks, the big guns in action, trench mortars, automatics and machine guns.

They'll get intimate views of Pershing, Foch, Sims, Haig and others who are guiding our destinies as well as those of the Allied Nations. They'll get a complete and rounded view of the whole great contest—a treat for them that you cannot afford to pass up.

Tell them to come to your theatre and see the Whole War with their own eyes

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway New York City

The Morning Telegraph said:

"Complete and accurate in its detail, with deep patriotic appeal"

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

Show them More than even the Greatest Generals have seen

NEITHER Statesmen, Field-Marshals, Generals, Admirals nor Correspondents over there in the thick of it have seen one-tenth as much of the world war as your patrons will see when they witness this historic achievement—the record of a war in authentic pictures.

They'll be awed and maddened by the evidence of the ruthless brutality of the stupid Hun, who thought he could set the world on fire and escape the penalty. They'll be thrilled by the gallant defence and the superhuman offensives of the unconquerable Alies.

A thousand cameras have recorded the unalterable facts for your people in all their terrible significance—and they will be seeing more than any participant in the titanic conflict could possibly hope to see.

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN" is more than a moving picture entertainment. It is an Educational Pictorial History of the World's Greatest Drama—here conceived and executed for the first time and, very probably, the only time. Book it without fail TODAY.

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway New York City

From the Funeral of Archduke Ferdinand

Straight through to America in the Trenches, on the Waves and in the Air,

THE WHOLE COLOSSAL

DRAMA OF THE WAR

Is told in Seven Stupendous Reels of Authentic Pictures

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

Show them what has Changed their Lives

FOR four years past your patrons have been lost in a maze of events that have ruled their lives and threatened their futures.

Now let them see the reason for it all—the reasons why they buy Liberty Bonds and War Stamps—why they must economize in food and coal—why their boys must go away to fight.

Let them see the war as a whole. Let them see it as entertainment—as an education—as an epoch-making event—as a historical precedent. Let them grip it in all its meaning—a stupendous picture that can never afterwards leave their memories.

Give your people this great world drama and you will be doing more to build reputation for your house than any number of fictional dramas could hope to do in ten years.

Be first to show it. Act today.

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway New York City

To Every Exhibitor Who Has Played the Sensational "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin"

DO not be caught napping, but arrange IMMEDIATELY with the nearest Jewel office for the quickest possible booking on our newest success, "CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN."

If you fail to do so, you will miss a chance to do just as well as you did on "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN" is creating just as much of a sensation as "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN" is just as timely as "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN" is booking just as fast and at the same prices as "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN" has been praised just as highly by newspaper critics as "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

As far as we can recall, this is the first time in the history of the business that any producing company, immediately after marketing such a world-beating success as "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," has followed it right up with another picture equally successful. While other companies have busied themselves making imitations of the great "Kaiser Picture," we have gone just a step ahead and have given the trade the very thing it needs—something newer, something different, something that is bound to set the American public wild with enthusiasm just when the American soldiers are mopping up the Hun and just when the new draft of men 18 to 45 years of age has brought the war closer to the heart of America's millions than ever before.

Don't waste a Minute. Make sure of another clean-up such as you made on "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin." Arrange today for your booking on "CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN"

JEWEL Productions INC
1600 Broadway, New York City

Special Service Section on

"Crashing Through to Berlin"

HERE is a picture which, in our opinion, means to the exhibitor something more than making money on the picture. It means proof to him that advertising, big advertising pays when you have the goods with which to back up your statements.

"Crashing Through to Berlin" will bring the exhibitors into the habit of smashing through to the really big business under the barrage fire of real exploitation. And certainly this picture offers the exhibitors the most obvious means of pulling the people into the theatre.

There may be questions as to the policy of exploiting different pictures with stories—pictures in which you have to sell some talking point of the production. But certainly there can be no question of a production where you sell straight Americanism and where you have to back you up the actual camera record of real events.

In addition to this you have the news from the war backing your production every moment and with the comparatively small expenditure of money you can have your newspaper and every person in your neighborhood referring more or less directly to the picture. You have an appeal to people who have never attended motion pictures, to everyone who cares anything about what is happening to this old world of ours.

NOW let's get a clear idea of what this picture is about:

It is the actual record of the war from the day that the assassin's bullet felled the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria in the streets of Sarajevo and gave the Hun Thing an opportunity to start the present war, through the invasion of Belgium, through the fluctuations of war in France, Belgium, Italy and Russia; a real portrayal of the deeds of the Kaiser that must be made impossible of repetition; the terrorism of the seas and the slaughter of the innocents that made America unsheath her sword; and then after that the preparations of this country, and the up-to-the-minute record of this country's part in the Struggle for Freedom.

You see why this war started, or rather the excuse that the Hun took for it.

You see the terrible things that were done to the people under the iron heel of the Kaiser.

You are carried through the crushing of Belgium and the rape of France; you see the Huns in their fighting against men and their murder of women and children.

You see the resistance and the driving back of them by France; you see England sending her millions of men to the rescue and their heroic work is recorded for you.

This three sheet shows the striking character of the paper. The figures are large and the minimum of reading matter is used

You see the outlawry on the seas, you see ships go down laden with women and children; and then you see the mighty armadas of small craft sweeping the oceans for these vandals—later to be joined by the relentless Americans.

And then you see the Americans answer the call of civilization and Justice. You see the boys in training in this country from the first call; you see them being transported abroad, you see them in training in France; and then you see them in the battle lines—victorious.

EACH one of these things that is shown in this picture is an actual camera record of an event that occurred. You may leave imagination entirely out of it so far as this seven-reel picture is concerned. You don't have to wonder whether any mere "acting" will come up to the mark set by any spectators. You are offering actualities, and you have them, and on them all of your exploitation should be built.

This picture has been boiled down from 100,000 feet of film into 7,000 feet. The very essentials of the things that have happened in the past four years, the main upstanding events, the big heart-appealing moments, the great thrill-instilling, patriotism arousing happenings have been included. There have been many other pictures based on the war that have included some of such events, but the larger portions of them have been fiction stories or pictures of things that we would like to see happen. This picture is a record, and not a promise.

We say these things because you should have a clear idea of the production before you start to do anything with it, and certainly it is easy to get a clear idea of this one. You have no "Ifs" to disturb you here, or worry about what critics may think about it, or whether the public will like it. You know definitely what the picture is and you have to use only the plainest sort of direct language in telling the public so that there can be no doubt as to the appeal.

THIS is a picture that will stand all the advertising that you can give it, and the earlier you begin your exploitation and the more enthusiastically you keep at it, the bigger your box-office receipts are going to be.

The basis on which to figure exploitation on this picture is the number of people within the reach of your theatre. You don't have to worry about class appeal, about the sort of a story that the people want, or whether this or that star is popular. You are showing here the Allies "Crashing Through to Berlin," and the reason for it—you are picturing the history of the way with all of its human elements. The more advertising you do the more people you are going to get into your theatre. And you should make it a point that everyone knows that you are going to show the production.

You can begin an advertising campaign in this just as soon as you book it. You have an advantage here of linking the picture up with the biggest world events from the very first advertisements that you insert, and you will be sure that there will be no "lost motion" in this for you have the coupling up complete from the start.

ADVANCE advertising should be somewhat on the teaser idea, but no attempt should be made to hide the fact that "Crashing Through to Berlin" is a picture. Make special arrangements with your newspaper to carry this display on the "runover" page of the war news every day. If you can get it on the first page, so much the better, but few newspapers will permit that. Use a display something on this order:

Crashing Through to Berlin

Actual Events in the Victories of America and Her Allies Will Be Pictured Soon at the Bijou Theatre.

The reading matter with these should be varied from day to day. If the newspaper will cooperate with you and allow you to build the small amount of reading matter on the big event in the war news of the day, yet to be published, you will have a closer interest.

Depending on the length of your run, of course, you can well afford to start the bigger advertising of this production at least a week before your first showing. From the Universal you can get a most unusual line of advertising, for the greatest variety that we know to have been furnished with any production.

THIS advertising ranges all the way from page advertisement down to single column ones, and they are furnished in mat and cut form so that all you have to do is to fill in the name of your theatre. And the very thing that recommends these so strongly is that you do not have to worry about seeing that the selling point of the picture is concerned. There are dozens of cases in which we and exhibitors generally disagree with, the selling point that the producer advertises in his ready-made advertising, but here you have simply the pictured statement of what the production represents. You not only have that, but you have such a wide variety of displays from which to chose that there can be no likelihood of your failing to get just what you want. Reproductions of all of this advertising, in actual sizes, together with the numbers of the cuts are to be found in a press book issued by Jewel Productions and available at Universal exchanges.

There should be no excuse why you should not begin to advertise your presentation of this picture just as soon as you book it. And, in our opinion, this is a case where the more advertising you do the greater the receipts of the box office are going to be.

YOU have an excellent chance to localize the advertising of this picture by linking it up with the troops from your section of the country that are "Over There." If it has been announced that such and such a regiment, containing people from your town is in the fighting line it is perfectly proper for you to use that in your advertising and to tell the public that you will show them how these boys are fighting and the full story of why they are fighting.

There are thousands and thousands of American soldiers shown in the course of this picture. They are shown marching away to the training camps before they even got their uniforms; they are shown in training in various branches of the service; they are shown on the transports sailing abroad, and on the warships that have guarded them from the submarines; they are shown landing in France, then drilling behind the lines, and finally in the actual battles that the world may be safe for Democracy.

Don't be satisfied to read about the war—see it with your own eyes!

Smashing half page display ready at Universal exchanges. Name of the theatre should be inserted in the space just above the smaller type reading matter

PERHAPS there will be boys from your home town seen right before the camera. At least there will be boys just like them seen going through the same preparation, seen facing the same heroism on the battlefields. The closer that you are able to couple this up with the locality the closer home you bring it.

Probably there was a parade in your city when the local boys marched away, or started to a training camp. Then you could start some of your displays off with such a line as this:

"Do You Remember When the First of the Middletown Boys Marched Away to Camp?"

Use this in large type and then go ahead to tell the people what the picture shows about them or boys like them.

Or by this time it is probable that some of the boys from your section have been mentioned in the fighting. They have been decorated for some special deed of bravery or their names have appeared in the lists from the battlefields.

Couple that fact up with your showing of the picture.

AND even beyond these things there are things happening every day on the battlefields which concern Americans, and there is no secret that there are still greater things going to happen in which the Americans will take a still bigger share.

Read your newspapers every day and take advantage of this fact. Build your advertising right into the day's news.

You have a chance to take advantage of every event that happens in the war before you run the picture and during its showing.

You don't have to say that this picture shows the boys actually do the fighting that today's paper is telling about, but you can tell them that they are the same sort of Americans, and possibly the very boys themselves.

Get right up on your toes and keep up to the minute with your exploitation.

Remember that this is a big news picture and that it is coupled right up with the biggest news of the day.

You will almost have to fall asleep to fail to get the news punch out of it.

THESE suggestions—to advertise heavily—are built on the idea that you are paying for all of the advertising, but in many cities there will be an opportunity to link this campaign up with one of the newspapers, and thereby get at least a division of the advertising rate, for no picture could be more closely associated with the newspaper than this one.

It may be possible to arrange to show this picture under the auspices of one of the local newspapers. The successful newspaper man knows the interest in war news and he is very likely to see the great pulling power of "Crashing Through to Berlin" and offer to exploit this production for you on the basis of a certain division of the profits from the picture. In that case you are on "velvet" so far as taking any chances are concerned, though of course the entire receipts would not then be yours. This plan has been followed successfully for all concerned in many cities.

However, no matter what arrangements you make, do not let anything prevent you from doing your fullest amount of work in the exploitation. Go to it early and keep at it, and see that every person that it is possible for you to get to your theatre knows that you have the production and that you tell them plainly and vividly what "Crashing Through to Berlin" shows.

And make it clear that they are actualities—and not mere idealized fiction.

See Uncle Sam's boys helping to drive the Hun from the seas

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

DON'T read about our sea fighters—SEE THEM! See our Destroyer boys on the job—the battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats, sub-chasers, transports. Uncle Sam building his mighty Bridge of Boats. See how we drop depth bombs on the cowardly Hun—see all the glamour and glory of a sailor's life filmed from authentic scenes of its biggest aspects. See the whole colossal drama of the war. See it NOW. This chance may never come again.

YOUR THEATRE NAME, PRICES, ETC., HERE

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

THE WHOLE COLOSSAL DRAMA OF THE WAR

SEE through the eyes of a thousand cameras the whole mighty spectacle of the War—in France, Belgium, England, Russia, America—on the sea, on the land, in the air. See more than any soldier or sailor can see—every great incident during four years filmed from authentic sources—a panoramic history of the whole conflict up to date. Don't miss the opportunity of your life.

YOUR THEATRE NAME, ETC., HERE

See our boys on the job!

IN

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

SEVEN MIGHTY REELS OF AUTHENTIC SCENES

IN WAR'S HELLISH CRATER

YOU'VE READ the heroic story of our fighting men—now SEE them with your own eyes. See them on sea, on land, in the air. See our wonderful Navy backing up, protecting the Army. See the boys in the trenches enduring the hardships for your sake. See our daring airmen and Uncle Sam's Bridge of Boats. See all the great incidents on every big fighting front for four years past thru the eyes of a thousand cameras—a thrilling panorama of the world conflict, and the only one that gives you a complete, authentic, consecutive picture of everything from the invasion of Belgium to to-day.

YOUR THEATRE NAME PRICES, ETC., HERE

Here are three of the business pulling two column advertisements supplied. There are seven different ones of this size and varieties of all sizes from single column to full pages, all ready for use

Liberty Loan and the New Draft Help You Boost

TWO big, outstanding things furnish almost ready-made exploitation for "Crashing Through to Berlin." These are the new draft law, coupled with the old, and the Fourth Liberty Loan.

You have a chance to interest everyone who has a relative or friend who has joined the colors and everyone who is likely to be called to service under the eighteen to forty-five extension.

And you have a chance to cooperate with your local committee and do a great deal to aid toward the oversubscription of the Fourth Loan at the same time that you are packing your theatre if you show the picture at any time during the length of that campaign.

Go to the members of the committee and tell them what this picture is about, show them how it will serve to stir everyone who sees it and how it will prove even to the doubter that this country is really and truly fighting for the freedom of the world and how it will rehearse the crimes of the Huns that dragged this country in.

TELL them that you know America's part in the war needs no defense, but that if there is a slacker so far as Uncle Sam's war chest is concerned this picture will convert him. When people come to matters of money a lot of them want to deal with actualities. This picture is nothing but actualities. It shows not only the reasons why we are to raise this money, but what is being done with the money that is being raised.

It is possible that the committee or local merchants will co-operate with you in advertising "Crashing Through to Berlin." In some cities and in cases of pictures that do not furnish half as good argument for the Loan as this merchants have contributed page advertisements. Certainly you ought to be able to get the co-operation of every merchant in town with window displays.

Just at this time all of the merchants will be wanting to have patriotic displays anyhow and it will be easy enough to couple those up with your attraction. A simple announcement card in a window devoted to patriotism and the Fourth Loan will do this. There is every likelihood that it may not have occurred to the Loan committee to get the co-operation of every merchant in the town, and you can do a little "bit" by making the suggestion. Especially with the co-operation of the Loan committee it will be a poor sort of a business man that will not give his fullest co-operation.

Of course, you will have Four-Minute Men at your theatre and a lot of this work you are going to do anyway, but you will get the punch all the way around by coupling up and making the exhibition of "Crashing Through to Berlin" a real occasion.

WHEN you take up the appeal to those who had relatives in the original draft or those who are affected by the new law, don't figure the interest merely in your own community, especially if you are in a smaller city. Consider that this will be of wider interest than other pictures that you have shown and that you will draw business from a wide territory.

You can probably get the list of those who have already been called to service and the names of their relatives from the county draft board. If that is not possible your local newspaper has probably published these names as the various men have been sent away to camp. Now it is worth while to prepare a special letter for this list. Start it off something like this:

"You who have relatives with the colors and fighting for our country will want to see what these boys and boys like them are doing. You will want to see how they are trained, how they are transported abroad, how they are given their finishing lessons in France and actual pictures of them fighting. You will see all of this in the seven-reel production of 'Crashing Through to Berlin' at the Empire theatre September 29." Then go ahead to tell something more about the picture, using simple statements of fact.

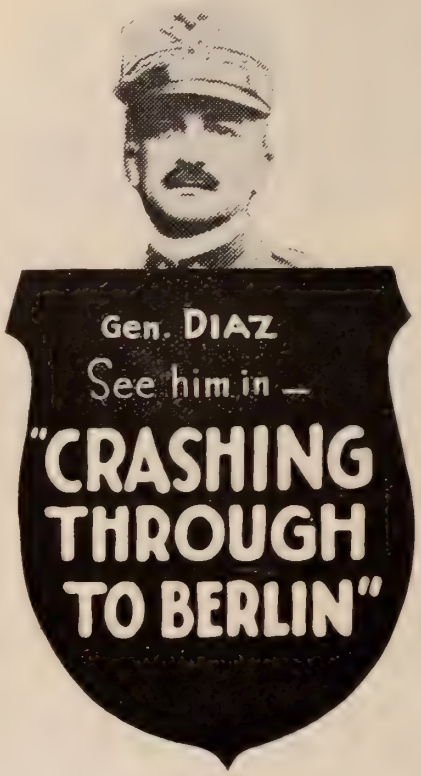
IF you are able to get the list of those who have registered in the new draft you should send a special letter to them, changing the introduction so as to get more intimate touch. Start it off:

"You who are subject to call for the service of Uncle Sam will want to see how you will be trained," etc., etc. Then go ahead and tell them what this picture shows and recall that it is a record for all time of the reasons why America has had to take part in the war against the Hun."

If you cannot get the list from the draft board you will be able to approximate a fairly correct list. And in this case it doesn't matter if you do make a mistake, for the person concerned will not be miffed. It is a well-known fact that the older men like to be mistaken for younger, and that the ambition of the boy below eighteen is to be considered a man. But don't make foolish, obvious mistakes, or your letter is apt to make the recipient consider it a fake.

Should there be a number of the men from your neighborhood called and sent away from camp at the time that you are exploiting the picture it would be well for you to couple up that fact prominently in your advertising. Certainly during this time the draft boards are going to be very busy and you are going to have some event to link right up with the picture.

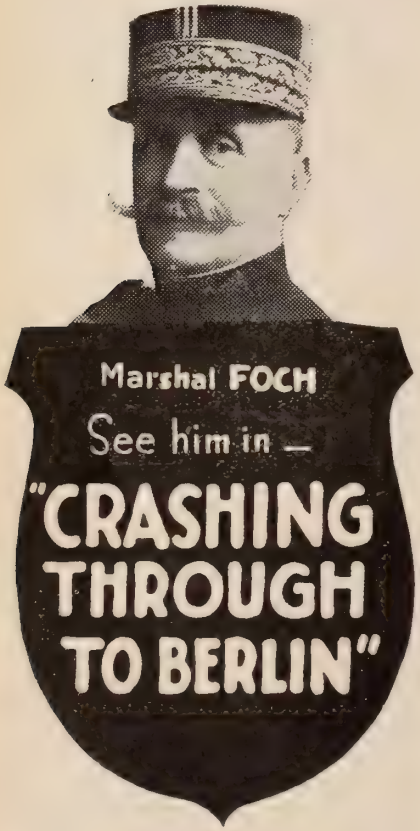
In other words, every big happening on both this side of the ocean and the other is working right with you in the exploitation. Take advantage of all of them.



Get Wide Appeal Over and Couple with News

IF you have any considerable element of French, English or Italian people in your section you are afforded an especially strong line of advertising in special one-column cuts which are provided by Jewel Productions for exploiting "Crashing Through to Berlin."

These are pictures of Gen. Foch, Diaz and Haig, and they can be used either as they stand by including the name of the theatre and the dates of showing, or they can be made the tops of longer displays in which you can tell more about the picture, for as they stand they are in the nature of teaser advertising.



If there is a considerable element of either Italians or French in your community and there is a paper published in that language there, it is obvious that you should take space and make an especial appeal to those elements. You are not only getting the people to the theatre, but you are doing a real service by showing those who may not fluently speak our tongue what we as well as they are doing to desroy the Hun.

If there is no newspaper in that language get out circulars bearing the picture of the general of the nationality in question and have them circulated in sections where those people live, as it is generally impossible to get such mailing lists

This display will help pull business in an Italian section

THERE is another use for these cuts. We have mentioned elsewhere the desirability of keeping this picture connected up with the events day by day on the battle-field. If Gen. Diaz and the Italians should take the limelight you have a chance to use this picture and couple "Crashing Through to Berlin" up with the event that you are telling about. These four cuts of the generals, for Gen. Pershing is included, will probably aid you in getting some up-to-the-minute and invaluable advertising whose punch you might miss without them.

These ads will attract British and French and can be used in connecting up with the daily news

SCHOOL AID

Ask the Teachers to Help with This Picture

EXHIBITORS will do well to get in touch with all of the teachers of their section and explain to them fully the material that is contained in "Crashing Through to Berlin." A considerable portion of it is past history. It tells how the war started and pictures the events that are now only memories. This picture tells more clearly than any book the history of the war and why America is fighting.

There are few teachers who, offhand, could outline the story of the war to their classes. Show them that this picture actually does teach history, and it does more than that in imbuing the young with patriotism and pointing out to them what America is now doing to prevent the ruthlessness of the Hun ever being possible again.

Teachers should be glad to talk to their classes about this picture, and their co-operation will be very valuable. And it is not a case of simply "using" them to help get a crowd.

If you can give the teachers an advance showing of the film, so much the better.

Here is another plan that is likely to create interest of the school children and bring hundreds of them to your theatre. Arrange with the teachers, or the head of the school system, to offer a prize for the best essay on the history of the war up to date. Supply the prize money and let the school authorities make the decision. Then you can point out that the picture supplies that full history of the war.

Used alone in advance of the picture they supply a good form of advertising that might be used just before you start the biggest campaign immediately before the first showing of the production.

We have already mentioned elsewhere the many cuts supplied by Jewel and have illustrated a number of the advertisements. But as good as any advance exploitation is possible to be, there are always things developing in such a picture as this where you can get hundreds of dollars' advantage out of some news event and you ought to see that you are equipped to get it. The material is available for you.

Striking 24 sheet that has the battle punch. Other paper includes two 1 sheets, two 3 sheets, one 6 sheet, one-half sheet and a window card. Actual scenes, with a minimum of reading matter, so as to smash the patron in the eye is the policy followed in the preparation of this paper

Strong, Dignified Lobby Displays Are the Best

THERE are many possibilities open for lobby displays on "Crashing Through to Berlin," but the exhibitor should see to it that these are kept dignified. We are dealing here, and seriously, with the efforts that are being put forward by this nation and her Allies to crush the Hun. The cheap, flippant and anything of the generally accepted "stunt" order will not do you any good.

M. Kashin, that leader in lobby displays, attracted unusual attention to the picture by the display that he used during its run at the Broadway theatre. Photographs of it appeared on page 1531 of the September 7th issue of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS, together with a full account of the presentation of the picture at the Broadway.

Mr. Kashin's display might be called a historical review of the war, and he simply used cut outs of the figures who have occupied a prominent position on the Allied side. The front of the theatre was built up with a balcony effect and with the inscription "Diplomats who guide Democracy to victory." Inside the lobby there were similar figures placed, including the leading generals and admirals of the Allies.

THIS display is somewhat elaborate for the smaller house, but something of the same effect could be obtained by using framed pictures of the Allied generals in the lobby. These could be decorated with the national colors. Don't use too many of these pictures or you will get a crowded effect, but a few will attract much attention and draw the crowds.

Certainly the decorations for this lobby could be simply arranged by using the flags of the Allies suitably draped. Especially if you are showing this during the Fourth Liberty Loan this will attract all the more attention. You may want to cooperate with the committee by establishing a Liberty Loan booth in your lobby, and above this you could use a streamer saying: "Buy Liberty Bonds and Help America Crash Through to Berlin."

USE A WAR MAP

It Is Very Appropriate During This Picture

HERE is a splendid suggestion that has been used by Manager Sid Lawrence of the Majestic Gardens, Grand Rapids, Mich., and which can be applied successfully during a run of "Crashing Through to Berlin."

Mr. Lawrence has reproduced a large map of the western front and placed it prominently in his lobby. On this day after day he used various-colored tacks, representing the various nations, to show the gains being made by the Allies.

This could be carried further and the various battle lines shown. Be sure that the map is made sufficiently large so that the points can be seen and that the arrangements of the tacks is done properly.

This is a plan that will have people stopping in front of your theatre, not for one day, but during every day that there are developments on the western front. The arrangement is inexpensive.

If you can arrange real war relics of interest so that they will not clutter the lobby they will attract attention, provided they are really things worth seeing. But don't pile up a bunch of guns of the vintage of Davy Crockett or lug in a cannon that might have seen its best days at Gettysburg and expect such a display to bring you business.

HERE is a little suggestion that may add color to your lobby. In most sections of the country the newspapers have been printing pictures of the boys that have gone away to serve their nation. If you can collect these—or, better still, actual photos of the men—and arrange them in an attractive frame, it will attract much attention.

It will pay you, in this case, to have a good sign painter arrange them attractively with light borders around each one, so that the general appearance will be neat.

If you have photographs of the groups of local men marching away to fill their army's call, or one should be taken of men in the new draft—put these in the lobby. Better still, get the photo enlarged as much as possible and give it an attractive position where every one of the figures may be seen. (This is a good point to bear in mind in connection with the new draft. Any pictures that you can get of these men going away or in camp will be valuable in future exploitations.)

Keep the name of the picture in a strong display in front of the house. In "Smashing Through to Berlin" you have a title that will bring you business, so keep that title where everyone will see it.

Use all the flags that you want, but keep your lobby display dignified and in keeping with the glorious task that the Allies have before them!

TODAY YOUR TIP

Every Event Abroad Is Working for Your Publicity

WHILE there is a record-breaking line of publicity prepared by Jewel Productions available for the exhibitor, in all sizes and ready to use merely by adding the name of the theatre and the date of showing, the exhibitor should take advantage of the big events here and abroad in connection with the war.

It is impossible to foresee them with accuracy, but there are big things going to happen during the next weeks, and the exhibitors will have those big events to couple up closely with "Crashing Through to Berlin" because of the reason that the picture gives you a full history of the war right up to the minute and pictures actual events.

Instead of being handicapped by having actualities putting a fictitious story out of date, you have the events, whatever they are, making the public want to see what this production offers.

Keep your eye close on your newspapers and make the real news, the biggest news that the world has ever known, work for you.

With your own eyes, see it ruin Belgium, ravage France, wreck Russia—all shown in

CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN

The Whole Colossal Drama of the War.

YOU'LL see every great incident on all the big fighting fronts for four years past thru the eyes of a thousand cameras. You'll see the brave defense of the Belgians, the dogged British, our gallant French allies fighting on land, on sea, in the air. You'll see our boys, YOUR BOY, marching up to the Marne to smash the Hun. You'll see the world's only complete, consecutive pictorial history of the titanic conflict. DON'T MISS IT.

Specimen of one column ad.

AN ACTUAL RECORD

Keep That Fact Prominent in All Your Work

BE sure to keep prominently before the public that this is not a fantastic picture, but that it is an actual record. And be sure to point out that this is an actual record of all of the chief events of the war from the assassination at Sarajevo.

Point out that 100,000 feet of actual negative was chopped down to 7,000 feet to show the great events of the four years of the war and what is happening today. You don't need to use grandiloquent terms, when you can offer the public the actual record of the most dramatic years in the history of the world.

Keep away from anything faky in your advertising. There is no excuse for it, and you are weakening your appeal when you resort to it. This is no place for the "clever stunt." You have real, actual truth to rely upon for your selling points, and nothing else is needed.

But drive the big facts home and keep driving them. You have the chance of your life in advertising what you can produce.

Music Cue As Used During the Presentation at Broadway Theatre

HERE is the splendid musical score on "Crashing Through to Berlin," which was arranged by James C. Bradford, musical director of the Broadway theatre, New York, and played by the orchestra at that theatre under the leadership of Mr. Bradford. It is reproduced here at the courtesy of the Broadway management.

1—At screening, "Hail America"—Drum. 4/4 Allegro Maestoso.
2—T. Bismark, "L'Arlesienne"—Bizet. 4/4 Allegro Deciso (first sixteen measures of Prelude).
3—T. The Opportunity, "Funeral March"—Chopin. 4/4 March Funebra.
4—T. Austrian Foreign Office, "Coronation March"—Kretschmer. 4/4 March Maestoso.
5—T. Since Russia, Russian National Hymn. 4/4 Maestoso (change tempo to suit action).
6—T. Germany Demanded of France, "Marsellaise." 4/4 Maestoso.
7—T. To Strike at France, "Nibelungen"—Wagner. 4/4 Tempo di Marcia.
8—T. But Belgium—, "La Brabanconne"—Belgium Hymn. 4/4 Tempo di Marcia.
9—T. In the Field, "Le Villi"—Puccini. 2/4 Allegro non troppo.
10—T. Where the War was Made, "Cacilie"—Strauss. 4/4 Vivace.
11—T. To This Man, "La Brabanconne"—Belgium Hymn. 4/4 Tempo di Marcia.
12—T. While the German Lines, "Rule Britannia." 4/4 Maestoso.
13—T. On the Sea, "French National Defile"—Ganne. 2/4 Tempo di Marcia.
14—T. All of Great Britain's, "Maple Leaf"—Canadian Hymn. 4/4 Maestoso.
15—T. While in England, "A Wounded Friend"—Myddleton. 2/4 Con Spirito.
16—T. A Charge Like This, "The Campbells Are Coming"—Scotch. 6/8 Allegro.
17—T. Then Began the Hunnish Reign of Terror, "Les Adieux De Wotan Et L' Incantation Due Feu"—Wagner. 4/4 Molto Agitato.
18—T. Out of These Smouldering Ruins—, "Pomp and Circumstance"—Elgar. 2/4 Mooto Maestoso (Trio only—FF).
19—T. As the Ruins Cooled, "Polonaise Militaire"—Chopin. 3/4 Allegro con brio.
20—T. Turning of Tide—, "Prometheus"—Lizst. 2/4 Allegro molto appassionato.
21—T. But There Remained One Factor, "Partant Pour La Syrie"—French Air. 4/4 Moderato.
22—T. The Turning of the Tide, "Francesca Di Remini"—Tschaikowsky. 6/8 Allegro Vivo.
23—T. The Last the World Saw, "Il Guarany"—Gomez (Play first eight bars, go to Allegro vivace). 4/4 Andante grandioso.
24—T. All That Is Left, "Nocturne"—Chopin. 4/4 Moderato.
25—T. Then Came the Day, "Garabaldi"—Italian March. 2/4 Allegro.
26—T. German Hordes, "Coronation March"—Kretschmer. 4/4 March Maestoso.
27—T. They Shall Not Pass—, "Robespierre"—Litoff. 4/4 Allegro impetuoso.
28—T. The Hero of Verdun, Fanfare of Trumpets. 4/4 Moderato.
29—T. They Did Not Pass, "Mazzeppa"—Tschaikowsky. 4/4 Tempo di Marcia.
30—T. As Battle Scarred Europe. "Dixie." 2/4 Allegro.
31—T. As the Great Republic of West, "Russian March"—Olson. 2/4 Tempo di Marcia.
32—T. For the First Time, "The Hymn of New Russia"—Gretchaninof. 2/2 Allegro Maestoso.
33—T. On April 2, 1917, "Songs of the Nation"—Lampe. 4/4 Moderato.
34—T. The Spirit of America, "Semper Fidelis"—Sousa. 6/8 Tempo di Marcia.
35—T. Drafted Men Leave, "When You Come Back"—Frey. 2/4 Tempo di Marcia.
36—T. Men From Civil Life, "Gen. Mix Up, U. S. A."—Allen. 2/4 Allegro.
37—T. And So Great Soldier Machine, "Boy of Mine"—Caruso. 2/4 Allegro.
38—T. A Barrage was Laid, "Agitato No. 6"—Keifert. 4/4 Agitato.
39—T. In the Meantime, "Over There"—Cohan (Chorus). 2/4 Tempo di Marcia.
40—T. And So Appeared Old Glory, "You're a Grand Old Flag"—Cohan (Chorus). 2/4 Tempo di Marcia.
41—T. Meanwhile Preparation, "Irish Colors"—Rosey. 2/4 Ala Marcia.
42—T. America's Army, "Valse Fantastique"—Neville. 3/4 Tempo di Valse.
43—T. In France, "Joan of Arc"—Berlin (Chorus). 2/4 Allegro.
44—T. The Yanks Have Come—, "Yankee Doodle"—American Air. 2/4 Allegro.
45—T. Vive Les Americane, "National Emblem"—Bagley. 4/4 Tempo di Marcia.
46—T. Then Followed a Period, "Let's Bury the Hatchet"—Burkhardt. 2/4 Allegro.
47—T. On Frontier of Freedom, "Second Conn March"—Reeves. 6/8 Tempo di Marcia.
48—T. While in the Clouds, "Melodie"—Rachmaninoff. 4/4 Adagio Sostenuto.
49—T. While the Germans Had Builded, "Le Pere De La Victoire"—Ganne. 2/4 Con Spirito.
50—T. Machines With Dual Control, "Orgie of Spirits"—Ilynsky. 4/4 Allegro molto e con fuoco.
51—T. And When Thousands, "Dixie." 2/4 Allegro.
52—T. The End, "America." 3/4 Moderato.

In the Independent Field

Mabel Normand as "Mickey," in the W. H. Productions Feature of That Name

"Huns Within Our Gates" Has Novel Ad-Helps

The Arrow Film Corporation announces that the press book on "Huns Within Our Gates," starring Derwent Hall Caine and Mlle. Valkyrien, while containing approximately the same amount of material as the average press book, is novel in so far as its size is three and one-quarter inches in width by six and one-half inches long, wrich is about the size of a Herald folded over. Each page is devoted to a story or sample of an "ad," or cut, and is printed on but one side. This permits of the press book being easily carried in one's pocket, or when doubled over mailed in a small-size envelope.

The twenty-four sheet stand is also said to be unusual in so far as the main pictorial part of the sheet is printed in the centre so as to cover twelve sheets, leaving the six sheets on either side of the stand with other characters, so that an exchange if desirous of making use of a twelve sheet can easily discard the six sheets on either side of the centre of the twenty-four sheet stand.

Each piece of advertising matter issued in connection with this six-part production is made from a separate drawing, even including the slides.

Harry H. Thomas Joins United Theatres

Harry H. Thomas has joined the field force of United Picture Theatres of America. Mr. Thomas, with eight years of exhibitor experience, will be in special charge of field work in Long Island, Connecticut and New York State as far as North Albany.

Screencraft Aims at the Highest Standard

THE declaration that Screencraft Pictures is aiming at the highest film standard in its features is contained in an announcement from the company this week, in which a hint of the nature of the first production is given.

"Throughout the filming of the initial feature," says the announcement, "great care was taken to make it as nearly perfect as money and brains could possibly do. The same method will be followed in all other pictures to be made by this company, who plan to release at least twelve dramatic features annually.

"Screencraft's first offering is a photo-dramatic adaptation of a short-story masterpiece published in Harper's Magazine. It is from the pen of Edith Barnard Delano, a past master in the art of writing absorbing stories of present-day life. The screen version of the story was prepared by Eve Unsell, who has any number of successful scenarios to her credit.

"Messrs. Fleckles and Weinberg of the Screencraft corporation in their desire to do things right gave Director Frank Reicher a free hand. Mr. Reicher had absolute charge of the production, and every scene was made under his personal supervision. Those who have seen the picture screened assert that it is one of the finest things this competent director has done.

"When it came to stars the Screencraft officials left no stone unturned to get the right ones, the sort of players that would fit the parts and ones that would be well known to theatre goers. They engaged Mary Boland, who has made several successful screen appearances, and who was John Drew's leading lady for many seasons, and Lucy Cotton, who registered such a decided hit in the stage production of "Turn to the Right." These two well-liked players will be the co-stars of Screencraft's first production. Both of them will be seen in roles that offer them wide opportunities.

"Mr. Fleckles, who is a motion picture man of wide experience, has made arrangements with exchanges covering the entire country to handle Screencraft features. A full list will be published shortly."

United Picture Theatres Reports Increases

UNITED PICTURE THEATRES OF AMERICA, INC., whose declared policy is that of exhibitor-member co-operation in the securing of superfeature films, reports a remarkable increase of membership since the announcement that three stars in the persons of Dustin Farnum, Kitty Gordon, and most recently Florence Reed, are already at work upon superfeature productions for that organization.

The first of these productions now being released is the Harry A. Sherman production of Zane Grey's "The Light of Western Stars," the private showing of which at the recent Chicago convention is said to have elicited much laudatory comment, and its settings and strength of situations are said to be marking a new standard in motion picture rating. Further stars are said to be rising on the United horizon.

The essence of United co-operative plan is that every exhibitor-member, by the very share of membership, should be vitally interested in every United picture he exhibits, since, while he is perfectly free to exhibit other films, should he wish, thus obviating all charge of monopoly, he receives not only the additional profits afforded by the expected low cost of the United features, a low cost said to be made possible by the large number of United playing days and the dividing up of the cost among its members.

The exhibitor-member of United is also said to have a direct participation in the dividends accruing from United profits, membership carrying with it a share in the proprietary rights in each film he exhibits, added to which is the prospective profit accruing from sales in foreign countries.

The Kitty Gordon superfeatures are being produced in Los Angeles under the direction of Robert Brunton, while the Florence Reed series is being made in the East under the direction of John M. Stahl. The second Dustin Farnum production, now nearing completion, is Jackson Gregory's "The Wolf Breed."

J. J. Goodstein a Writer

The following jingle was composed by Joseph J. Goodstein, president of the Keystone Distributing Corporation of Philadelphia, and sent to the Arrow Film Comporation of New York:

"The Sunshine Princess" went on an "Accidental Honeymoon" with "Her Aviator," who was the cynosure of "The Eyes of the World" because of her connection with "The Million Dollar Mystery," which caused her to invoke "The Woman's Law" in the "Struggle Everlasting," in which she was engaged with the "Huns Within Our Gates," so that finally, when she pointed "The Finger of Justice" at her accusers she said "'My Husband's Friend" and "Harold Lockwood," together with "May Allison" will place things right when "J. Warren Kerrigan" recovers "Helen Badgeley," the Thanhouser kidlet.

All of the subjects referred to in the Arrow bulletin are included in the above.

The Directors of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit Visited the Rothacker Studio in Chicago During the Recent Convention. In the Picture Are Abe and Harry Warner, E. H. Hulsey, William Sievers, J. D. Williams, Count de Rocco, W. R. Rothacker, T. L. Tally, Harry Schwalbe, Robert Lieber, Emanuel Mandelbaum, John Hayes, George Trendle and Edgar Rice Burroughs

Robertson-Cole Company Notes Achievement

WITH a prestige and systematized representation in the foreign markets in every corner of the globe, long established by the house of Robertson-Cole in other lines, it is said that when this company decided to enter the film field, a little more than six months ago, they accomplished in this short space of time what it has taken other institutions years to establish.

W. H. Seeley, representing the company's film buying and export department, does not believe in announcing a transaction until it has been definitely closed and the contracts signed. To illustrate his point, he called attention to the following important deals closed by his office during the past week.

The three latest J. Warren Kerrigan productions, "A Dollar Bid," "Burglar for a Night," and "Prisoners of the Pines" have been chosen for Great Britain and Scandinavia, the latter territory through Chester Beecroft, and the subsequent five releases from the same producer will be distributed through the same channels upon their completion at the studios.

Pathe's special production, "Her Man," and the Brady special, "Stolen Orders," was also closed for Scandinavia through Chester Beecroft during the past week, simultaneously with the sale of the Great Britain rights for the first named.

One of the most colossal transactions of the week was the closing of "The Fringe of Society" for great Britain, all of South America, India, Burma, Ceylon, China, Japan, Egypt and Scandinavia.

The rights for the Griffith production, "Intolerance," was also sold for Egypt and Holland while the Wharton serial, "The Eagle's Eye" was closed for France, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador.

Other important transactions for the week just closed include the sale of twelve Jester comedies for all of South America and Central America, France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Japan, China, India, Burma and Ceylon.

The Lillian Walker production, "A Grain of Dust," has been sold for Great Britain and the following four special productions, "The Cast-Off," "Men," "The Finger of Justice" and "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," for Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador.

"Those Who Pay" has been sold for India, Burma, Ceylon, Greece and Egypt; "The Accidental Honeymoon" for Great Britain, and "The Lust of the Ages," another Lillian Walker production, for Argentina, Paraguay and Uruguay.

Select Releases Second Davies Feature

"The Burden of Proof," the second Marion Davies picture made by the Select Pictures Corp., and announced by that company as its first release in September, was shown to a favored few during the past week, and it is the opinion of the few aforesaid "favord few" that they had the pleasure of anticipating what is destined to be a universal photoplay treat.

Other artists in the cast are Eloise Clement, Mary Richards, John Merkyl, L. Rogers Lytton, Fred Hearn and Willard Cooley.

Horner Leaves Ebony

It was reported from Chicago last week that Bob Horner, the writer, has severed his affiliations with the Ebony Film Corporation, where he was serving as scenario editor and continuity writer. Mr. Horner, it is said, has joined the Colored-Players Film Company, a new organization, which intends to release through state rights.

Work Begins on "Shepherd of the Hills"

Active work on filming Harold Bell Wright's famous novel, "Shepherd of the Hills," has begun at the Verduga gardens near Glendale, according to announcement from Mr. Wright's studios this week. The scenario was prepared by Mr. Wright, and the subject will be filmed under his direction. His previous experience in this line, however, was gained when "The Eyes of the World," another book of his, was filmed under the direction of Donald Crisp. Louis Gottschalk is the art and technical director, while Homer Scott is the camaraman.

There is an interesting story connected with the selection of some of the outdoor scenes. Mr. Wright and five people went to the Ozark Mountains, where scenes in the story are laid, to locate the proper settings for the screen version. When the company arrived in the Ozarks, it is understood, the progress of civilization had crept over the hills so rapidly during the past few years that all the places haunted by Mr. Wright's characters had been converted into lumber camps or farming zones.

The company returned to Hollywood and work was begun in converting the Verdugo gardens and other foothill sections near Glendale into a miniature representation of the Ozarks.

Hackett's Second Picture Is "Ashes of Love"

"Ashes of Love," the latest production of the Graphic Film Corporation, had a private showing on the New York theatre roof during the past week and the demonstrative approval with which it was received by the large audience present, was taken to indicate that a big success is to be enjoyed by this producing company.

This is an Ivan Abramson production and it marks the return of James K. Hackett to the screen in the second picture he has ever appeared in. His first screen appearance happened a good many years ago, in a picturization of his famous play, "The Prisoner of Zenda."

Co-starring with Mr. Hackett in this production are Effie Shannon and Mabel Juliene Scott, while the cast of associate players includes Ruby de Remer, Paula Shay, Hugh Thompson, William B. Davidson, Dora Mills Adams, Thea Talbott and William Bechtel.

Affiliated Distributors Simplify Distributing

Affiliated Distributors' Corporation's recent announcement to the effect that its productions would be physically distributed by the exchanges of the Mutual Film Corporation is indicative of the Affiliated's policy to minimize overhead and cut down waste.

The preliminary arrangement, covering the progress of Affiliated's initial release, "Lafayette, We Come!" (Pershing, '17), indicates that the exhibitor-members have also accepted the Affiliated policy. It is said to afford increased opportunities for co-operation between exhibitor, producer and distributor.

Gaumont News and the Graphic

Gaumont News No. 25, released September 10, shows the christening of a new big American vessel by Countess di Cellere; damage inflicted upon the Chicago post-office by a bomb explosion; War Service Day at the Harvard Stadium; the celebration in the nation's capital of Lafayette Day and the victory of the Marne; the final good-byes and cheering messages which the Cabinet and prominent officials gave Y. M. C. A. officials leaving for overseas; Uncle Sam's call for women to be trained for wireless work, and the graduation of the first class of civilian sailors for our new merchant marine, etc.

Gaumont Graphic No. 25 is released September 13, and its principal subject shows what our boys are doing in France, and show the immense commissary buildings which are being constructed; the transportation of supplies; the camouflaging of a road to headquarters; the carrier pigeons; balloon squads; the man who invented the "tank"; pictures of Elsie Janis, the dainty motion picture and stage star; the final review by the Secretary of the Navy of 4,000 members of Gen. Butler's "Fighting Marines"; Uncle Sam's new "chow gun"; millions of pennies collected to provide milk for war babies, etc.

Wounded Gaumont Employee Returns from France

Realizing that England needed the services of all her sons, Bernard H. Bromhead, a British employee of the Gaumont Company at Flushing, N. Y., went to Canada in 1915 and enlisted as a private in the 148th Battalion. He was soon made a corporal, and after six months' training was sent to England, where he was drafted into the 42d Battalion, Royal Highlanders of Canada.

After many months of distinguished service in France, during which he was in several sanguinary battles, Mr. Bromhead was severely wounded during the fierce fighting on Paschendaele Ridge, in Flanders, on November 3, 1917, and taken to No. 12 General Hospital, at Rouen.

Although he practically regained his former good health, it was found that the bones of his left shoulder were so badly fractured that his return to fighting would be impossible. Therefore he was sent back to his point of enlistment in Canada, where he received an honorable discharge.

Lincoln-Cassinelli Cast for Perret Series

Perret Productions announce that they have completed the casting of the support for E. K. Lincoln and Dolores Cassinelli, who will be the featured players in the second of the series of patriotic productions to be produced by Leonce Perret.

Work on this production has already commenced at Lake Hopatcong, where the first scenes have been taken. The company is now at Russell Harbor, Great Neck, L. I., where the remaining scenes will be photographed.

Florence Reed Is Star of "Wives of Men," Produced by Pioneer

Plunkett-Carroll Engage Creighton Hale

In the cast that will appear in Plunkett and Carroll's super-production, "The Woman the Germans Shot," based on the shooting of the British Red Cross nurse, Edith Cavell, and written by Anthony Paul Kelly, will appear Creighton Hale, who will play opposite Julia Arthur.

Mr. Hale assumes the very important part of an English boy captured by the Germans during the invasion of Belgium.

Director John G. Afolfi is now on the finishing touches of the picture and he has surrounded these two players with the following splendid cast which includes, Jack Johnson, Paul Panzer, Giorgo Marjoni, Martin Faust, Fred Kohlgrin, besides a large number of extras.

Raver Selling Territories on "Master Crook"

Harry Raver announces the disposal of considerable territory for his newest production, "The Master Crook," a mystery play in which the protean artist Edmund Breese enacts the title role, with Alma Hanlon playing the principal female lead.

Among the exchanges who have recently closed contracts for the purchase of territory for "The Master Crook" are the First National Exchange of Pittsburgh, Yale Photoplay Company of Kansas City, Celebrated Players' Exchange of Chicago;, Standard Film Exchange of Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit, Modern Feature Photoplay Company of New York, Boston Photoplay Company of Boston, and the Independent Theatre Supply Company of Montreal.

W. H. Productions Announces Two More

W. H. Productions Company announce the release this week of two single reel comedies, entitled, "The Good-for-Nothing," former title, "His New Profession," featuring Charlie Chaplin, this being another one of the series of twenty-six single-reel Charlie Chaplin comedies; also "Batty Butts In," former title, "Fatty's Debut," which is one of the series of twenty-four single-reel Fatty Arbuckle comedies.

The box-office values of these productions are said to be establishing a record of box-office returns throughout the country.

Important Film Deals Made by Nathan Hirsh

In the recent purchases of "Still Alarm," "Accidental Honeymoon," and "Wives of Men," by the Pioneer Film Corporation, Nathan Hirsh, president, recalled some of his previous film purchases in the independent field.

In 1912 he bought the Cosmos Film Corporation. His purchase included the "Little Girl That He Forgot," "Lena Rivers," "Three Musketeers," and pictures of like caliber. From then on Mr. Hirsh rose as an "Independent," and purchased all New York state rights of the Great Northern Film Corporation until that concern went out of business.

Not satisfied with state rights, Mr. Hirsh then decided to have his fling as an independent producer and his first offer was little M. Gorman in the "Soul of a Child." The Civilization Company was then formed and that picture was bought for New York and New York State for $75,000, said to be the highest price ever known to have been paid for a feature.

This company was then re-organized as the Pioneer Film Corporation, which has since purchased for New York State the following features: "Redemption," "Mad Lovers," "Submarine Eye," "Today," "Cold Deck," "Garden of Allah," "Carmen of the Klondike," "Struggle Everlasting," "Still Alarm," "Accidental Honeymoon," and "Wives of Men."

The present policy of this company is to buy negatives for the world's rights and sell state and foreign rights.

"'Tis Tough to Be Tender" on October 7

Robert C. Bruce, the Educational's builder of Scenics, puts a novel twist to his latest one by making Marion K. Kohn, president of the Consolidated Film Corporation of San Francisco, Cal., the protagonist of the story. The title of this is "'Tis Tough to Be Tender," and it records a recent trip in which Kohn accompanied Bruce into the wilds of the Yosemite Valley. In a prerelease at the New York Rivoli week of September 15, applause for the magnificence of the Yosemite was punctuated with hearty laughter over the ludicrous mishaps of the way. The release to the regular Educational houses throughout the country takes place the week of October 7.

Hugo Frank Buys Rights to Arrow Film

The right to exhibit "Huns Within Our Gates" in Greater New York and Northern New Jersey has been purchased by Hugo Frank, head of the "Mothers of Liberty" Company, 145 West Forty-fifth street, New York, the production emanating from the Arrow Film Corporation, of which Dr. W. E. Schallenberger is president.

"Huns Within Our Gates," which has already been exploited, comes in six parts, and, while it is stamped as a war picture, there are said to be no conventional battle scenes.

Group of Exhibitors Visiting the Rothacker Plant in Chicago During the Recent Convention

Harry Rapf to Release Propaganda Picture

HARRY RAPF has practically completed a seven-reel feature depicting woman's rise in the affairs of the nation and most particularly the part that they are playing in the prosecution of the war. The picture is said to have the official sanction and backing of many women's organizations throughout the country.

Mr. Rapf states that the story was compiled by three of the foremost women writers in this country today, all active in the affairs of women's organizations and fully conversant with the work that is being carried on at present.

Rapf has made arrangements for a showing of the picture at one of the big Broadway houses and during its run the entire staff of the theatre will be composed of women, including women police, women firemen, etc. The ushers of the theatre will be garbed to represent the different industrial branches, which include ammunition workers, farmerettes, etc.

Instrumentalizes and Vocalizes "Mickey"

FOR what is said to be the first time in the history of the phonograph business, the Columbia Graphophone Company has been prevailed upon to depart from the usual rule of that company, putting instrumental and vocal selections on the same record. The incentive for this change is "Mickey."

In addition to this double-face record the Columbia Graphophone Company will release on September 20 a dance record of "Mickey" as played by the Earle Fuller Jazz Band. This record, in connection with the motion picture, will be given broadcast advertising in the Columbia Graphophone Company's monthly national newspaper campaigns.

It will, no doubt, also be of interest to the trade that the Aeolian Company are releasing their piano roll this coming month, and are putting out approximately one-half million pieces of literature on this subject.

The Vocalian Company, the phonograph record branch of the Aeolian Company., has also in preparation a double-face "Mickey" record to be released soon.

The Columbia Graphophone Company intend supplying over 20,000 dealers with a full window cut-out advertising both the picture and the record.

Loew Books "Wives of Men" for Seventy Days

Nathan Hirsh, president of the Pioneer Film Corporation, announces that "Wives of Men," starring Florence Reed, has been booked by Marcus Loew for all his theatres for a total of seventy days.

The exploitation of this picture at the Casino theatre, Broadway, New York City, is expected to prove of great value to all state rights purchasers. The present trade-paper campaign is also a most extensive one. Mr. Hirsh further desires to announce that elaborate posters have been made in all sizes and exhibitor helps.

"Fighting for Peace" Reaches Ohio

"Fighting for Eternal Peace" is a seven-reel picture which is to be released in Ohio, beginning September 15, by the M. S. Stocky Company of Cleveland. "We have just purchased the negatives for the picture," Mr. Stocky said, "and as soon as we have made a few changes in the context, we shall put it on the market." "Fighting for Eternal Peace" was made out West about two years ago, but it has never had a single print made. Betty Hart, one of the Universal stars, is featured in the picture.

Metro May Release "Over the Rhine"

"Over the Rhine," the new picture play in which Julian Eltinge has the leading role, will in all probability find its way to the exhibitor on the Metro program. At least this is the inference drawn from a hurried visit this week by Richard A. Rowland, president of Metro, with Fred J. Balshofer of the "Over the Rhine" company. The session was secret, but it is believed by those in close touch with Mr. Balshofer and Mr. Rowland that the conference related to the final release of the super production.

Mr. Eltinge is given an ambitious role in the picture. He takes the part of Jack Perry, a young American college man who was caught in Germany at the outbreak of the war. The story, it is said, gives an intimate expose of certain things which recently occurred in diplomatic circles and are now historical facts.

To do this picture Mr. Eltinge postponed a number of vaudeville engagements. His well known ability to impersonate feminine roles puts over a situation in the story, where he disguises as a woman, outwits the German secret service and finally secures entrance to the Kaiser's court.

Perret's Second Called "Stars of Glory"

The second of a series of Perret patriotic productions, which is now being produced by Leonce Perret, has been named "Stars of Glory" and will be the successor to "Lafayette, We Come!" (Pershing, '17), now being released by the Affiliated Distributors Corporation. E. K. Lincoln and Dolores Cassinelli will be co-starred.

The story will depict the heroic conduct of our forces at sea, and will be replete with exciting patriotic punches, yet withal will blend beautifully into a throbbing love story.

Mr. Perret has secured the cooperation of the Committee on Public Information, as well as various other governmental departments.

Montagu Love, Star in Features Produced by World Pictures

In and Out of West Coast Studios

By J. C. Jessen

Fox Studio Doings

Theda Bara, who has finished "The Siren's Song," an original story by Charles Kenyon, directed by J. Gordon Edwards, bade good-bye this week to the sunshine of Los Angeles and left for an indefinite stay in New York. Since coming west about eight months ago she has completed five releases, including the Fox super-production, "Salome." No plans were announced contemplating her early return to California.

J. Gordon Edwards, who has directed twenty-nine productions for William Fox, plans to leave next week for New York. It is understood that while in the East he will formulate plans for other super-productions in which Theda Bara will be starred.

The Fox studios in Hollywood were further depleted of stars this week when William Farnum packed his grip and left for New York. He has abandoned production at the western studios, it is announced, because of ill-health of Mrs. Farnum, who is in the East.

Al. Selig, personal manager and publicity representative of Theda Bara, will leave Hollywood next week for a tour of southern cities in the interest of "Salome," Miss Bara's super-picture just released. Before entering souther nterritory he will visit in Salt Lake and Denver, thence he will travel to Fort Worth, New Orleans, Atlanta, Richmond, Washington and New York.

Live Triangle Items

Olive Thomas, who recently returned to the Triangle studios from a visit with her sailor husband, Jack Pickford, who is stationed near New York, is enjoying a short vacation in San Francisco before work on her new picture is begun. It seems that Daniel Carson Goodman, editorial director, is attempting to straighten out some tangle in the new story selected for Miss Thomas, hence there is a delay in beginning. Miss Thomas will probably do some well known novel or stage success before "Carmen Ariza" is put into production, it is announced at the studios.

Taylor Holmes' latest vehicle is called "Success." At least this is the working title. Cliff Smith's twenty or more Triangle cowboys are working with Holmes on the new screen play. In the meantime his western director and his star, Roy Stewart, are on a vacation.

The title of Alma Rubens' latest picture is "Marriage, or Those Restless Ones." William Dowlan is the director. Supporting Miss Rubens are Jack Conwaq, Eugene Burr, Harvey Clark and J. Barney Sherry. Jack Conway is a former director of Miss Rubens.

That the women of the Allies are making almost equally as great sacrifices as the soldiers in the trenches is the main theme of a new story about to be filmed by Director W. Christy Cabanne, of the Triangle forces. The title of the script is "I'm Going to Be True." It will show the part the woman at home is called upon to play when she gives up the man she loves.

About Metro Players

Richard A. Rowland, president of the Metro Film Corporation, accompanied by Joseph W. Engel, treasurer, and James D. Rhodes, one of the principal stockholders of the company, arrived in Los Angeles last week. They are here for the purpose of looking into the question of providing facilities of eight or nine Metro companies to be brought to Los Angeles from the east this fall and winter, according to information given out at the local Metro studios. It is understood that Mr. Rowland is investigating the possibility of leasing additional studio facilities, and if he is unable to negotiate a deal of this character it is possible he will decide to enlarge the facilities of the Metro studios in Hollywood.

Some of the stars expected to come west are Mme. Nazimova, Ethel Barrymore, Emily Stevens, Viola Dana, Hale Hamilton, Olive Tell, Emmy Whelen and Edith Storey. It is also possible that Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne may be included in the list.

Bert Lyttell has finished his new picture, "Making Good," of which he was the author. Two magazine stories have been picked as possible vehicles for his new picture. Both have been put into scenario form, and Lyttell is giving them both the once over before making up his mind which one will be used.

Ralph Robinson, in charge of publicity at Metro, has heard from his brother, Carlysle Robinson, formerly charge of Charlie Chaplin's publicity. Brother Carlysle is in the Officers' Training School at Little Rock, Ark., and he writes that he expects to land a commission by November 15.

May Allison and her entire company are filming some scenes of her picture, "Kate of Kentucky," at Pine Crest in the Big Bear Mountains, where she expects to get proper atmosphere for and background for "Moonshine" scenes which appear in the story.

Paramount-Artcraft

Douglas Fairbanks is making elaborate plans this week to begin work on a new picture. The title of his new Artcraft vehicle has not been announced. Neither has the nature of the subject been made public. Fairbanks is busily engaged on the preliminary arrangements before starting actual production work.

Bryant Washburn began work on a new film subject this week, which is as yet unnamed.

"The Squaw Man," being produced by Cecil B. DeMille with a modern version, will be completed this week.

Ethel Clayton, Paramount star, has just finished "The Mystery Girl," and she is now resting between pictures.

Wallace Reid, under the direction of James Cruze, has started work on a new picture. The working title has not been announced. Vivian Martin is also beginning a new production under the direction of George Melford.

Lila Lee, accompanied by Kenneth McGaffey, publicity director of the Famous Players-Lasky company, has been making personal appearances in Paramount-Artcraft houses in San Francisco. Reports from the northern city indicate that Miss Lee was generously received. She will soon begin rehearsals on a new subject.

Universal Newsettes

Helen Gibson is now making the fourth of her series of two-reel westerns at Universal City under the direction of Harry Harvey. "Wolves of the Range" is the tentative title of her latest effort. Lee Hall, formerly with Majestic-Reliance and Selig, is her new leading man. Leo Maloney takes the role of the villain. Louis Fitzroy, a retired army officer of many years' stage and screen experience, has an important part. The story was written by Alvin J. Neitz.

Eddie Polo announces that he will stage a special act before an audience of several thousand people when the Barnum & Bailey circus comes to Los Angeles. The scene will be made under the direction of J. P. McGowan, and is to be a part of Polo's serial, "The Lure of the Circus."

Andrew Robson, character actor, will head the supporting cast for Monroe Salisbury and Betty Compton in the new play, "Breathes There a Man," now being made by Director William Wolbert. Others in the cast include Norval McGregor, Robert Edmonds, Fred Wilson and F. Kelsey. and Beatrice Dominguez.

"Hoot" Gibson, husband of Helen Gibson, has joined the colors. He has enlisted with the tank corps. He was seen with Harry Carey in a number of pictures, and he played an important part in the Vitagraph serial, "The Woman in the Web."

Mae Murray returned this week to Universal City from Lake Tahoe, where under the direction of Robert Z. Leonard scenes were being filmed for her latest Universal special production, "Little Lady Bo-Peep." With her on location were Willard Louis, Ralph Graves, Gertrude Astor, Joseph W. Girard and Chief Dark Cloud.

Priscilla Dean and company of twenty players left this week for Bear Valley, where scenes in her new picture, "Dealing with Daphne," will be filmed under the direction of Jack Dillon.

"Hidden," a story written by Evelyn Campbell, has been purchased by Universal to be made into Mary McLaren's next vehicle. Rupert Julian will direct the picture, while Ida May Park, who has recently been directing Miss MacLaren in other releases, is taking a short vacation.

Charles Neville Buck's well known novel, "Destiny," will be made into Dorothy Phillips' next photodrama. The scenario is being prepared by Elliott Lawson. Rolan Sturgeon, director of "God's Country and the Woman," will handle the megaphone.

Vitagraph News Bits

Director-Star William Duncan is missing again from the Vitgraph studios in Hollywood, but no one is alarmed. W. S. Smith, Studio Manager, says that he doesn't know where Duncan is, but wherever he is, he's working like a "bear cat." Duncan has started work on a new fifteen episode serial, "The Man of Might," in which he will be supported by an all-star cast, including Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan.

The new Vitgraph stage at the Hollywood Studio was formally dedicated with the holding of a dance on the night of September 7. Tickets were one dollar a couple, and the proceeds were given to the Motion Picture War Service Association for the benefit of the Base Hospital which this association aims to build in Los Angeles. Marguerite Whistler, head of the property and wardrobe department of the Vitgraph plant, had the affair in charge and was assisted by other members of the Vitgraph Company.

Larry Semon, in his two-reel Big "V" Special Comedy, "Huns and Hyphens," has invented a new form of motive power for horseless vehicles. This ingenious Vitagraph comedian even has them laughing in his own home studio, and that is "going some" for a comedian.

In "Huns and Hyphens" Semon rides around in a miniature automobile, the riding around being done by lassoing the little car to any stray regular car that happens to be passing by. Semon says that if the gasolineless Sunday request gets out West he will be safe, but he admits that he might have to go fifty-fifty on the fines that will be imposed on the car ahead.

Rumor has it that when Director Paul Hurst returned to Vitagraph's Hollywood Studio with Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway and the rest of "The Iron Test" serial company from their recent trip to Santa Cruz Islands, the whole troop (individually, of course) admitted that it was glad to be home. The trip to Santa Cruz Island was a pretty rough affair, as sea trips are, and while no one admits an attack of seasickness, Director Hurst has his suspicions about everybody except Director Hurst.

Some beautiful work is said to have been done by the serial company on Santa Cruz Island. Thrills a-plenty were staged in its beautiful settings.

Here and There

The Lois Weber production starring Frank Elliot and Mildred Harris, with the working title of "Home, Sweet Home," will be finished this week, according to announcement from the studios.

Phillips Smalley, who has been absent from Los Angeles about six weeks with his mother, who has been ill in New York, is expected to return soon to the Pacific Coast.

Baby Marie Osborne's new picture, "The Sawdust Doll," will be finished this week at the Diando sudios in Glendale. Plans for entering upon the production of a new subject for the little star have already been outlined, it is announced.

Fatty Arbuckle announces this week that his latest release, being produced under the working title of "The Sheriff," will be finished within a few days.

Two new comedy companies went to work this week at the L-Ko studios in Hollywood. Frank Griffin, formerly with Sennett Keystone company, is directing Babe Hardy, and Joe Le Brandt is directing a new company with Harry Mann, Merta Sterling and Eddie Berry. Other companies at work on the lot are Charley Parrot, directing Billy Armstrong and Peggy Prevost in "Hearts"; Jim Davis and his company, composed of Chi Hong, Partine Burkett and Rube Miller in "Playing Movies"; Craig Hutchison, directing Harry Griffin, May Emory, Eva Novak and Jim Donnelly in "Work or Fight." Noel Smith is producing a comedy, "Behind the Front," with Hughie Mack and Alice Howell.

Harry Sherman, of Sherman Productions Company, has purchased the motion picture rights to a story by Jackson Gregory, which is now on the press of Dodd, Mead & Company. The title of the book is "Six Foot Four." Negotiations are under way, Mr. Sherman announces, for other works by Mr. Gregory.

The propaganda picture called "Sic 'Em, Sam," in which Douglas Fairbanks plays the role of Democracy, was finished this week. It will be released about the time the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign begins. The story was written by Ed Reed, Liberty Loan leader of Detroit, and was directed by Albert Parker. James P. Hogan was technical director. Fairbanks plays Democracy, in which he engages in battle with Bull Montana as Prussianism. Tully Marshall appears in Propaganda and Sara Mason plays the role of National Liberty. Glen MacWilliams and Hugh McClung were the photographers. Cutting and preparing the picture for shipment to New York was begun immediately.

Hollywood Hookum

SEPT. 28, 1918 NEWS MORE NEWS

Theda Bara's gone East.

Kitty Gordon's in our midst.

Mickey Neilan's back amongst us.

Mary Pickford's still out of work.

Bill Hart's goin' East Liberty Loaning.

Half a dozen clouds came our way this week.

Charley Ray is going to remain Tom Ince's "wonder boy."

Ken McGaffey got a hair cut and went to Frisco last week.

Income tax is causing many to investigate and think twice.

Hank Mann's "over there" using his bashful eyes on the Huns.

And now we learn that Billie Rhodes has joined the order of "no doubling for me."

'Xtra! E. H. Allen prophesies the bank roll of the W. S. Hart Film Corporation will be sufficient to meet the pay roll this week.

Alma Ruben fought it off as long as she could, but this week fell prey to the gasoline germ. Yes, Alma has a new automobile.

Seena Owen has taken up domestic science. She went to Childs' Restaurant and learned how to flip pancackes, and then did it for "Branding Broadway."

Mae Murray had a very quiet trip to Lake Tahoe, the only thriller she encountered was an opportunity to go out and fight a great big forest fire.

Since appearing in "Bread," Mary MacDonald MacLaren has become much interested in domestic science, and is said to have offered five dollars for the best recipe for Victory bread.

Taylor Holmes wants to find a nice tame bear that will eat out of his hand and not be inspired to do any manicuring, all of which is required for scenes in his coming picture "Success."

Juanita Hansen has a new clause for a player's contract. She insists her next contract will provide that she is not to die or be killed in any film, indicating thereby she has no love for flowers.

Bill Beaudine, now that he has been forced to lay aside his Panama, almost the size of a Barnum big top, has added tortoise shells to his disguise. Everybody knows Bill with or without the make-up.

Lynn Reynolds is authority for the statement that Tom Mix did not break his record by permitting a horse to throw him. Tom's limping was caused by a sprained ankle. He jumped off the horse.

Harry Fuhr has arrived in Los Angeles for a stay of several weeks with his illustrious brother, Charley, and a very brilliant social season in the professional and ultra-professional set is anticipated.

Alan Holubar claims his cameraman, Fred Granville, is the king bee tea drinker of the colony. Yes sir, Fred can drink one cup right after another, and in his hum town is decidedly popular between three and five.

Universal players have stood for the titles given productions by the New York office, and all are sincerely hoping that in addition to "Come Through," "Smashing Through," and "Crashing Through to Berlin," is no indication that they will use "You're through."

Bill Parsons made a lot of enemies by not having enough dolls to give to all the kiddies, he having underestimated the number who would be present at a recent function where he presided, and so we publish this just to let Bill know there are a few in this world who do not admire his comedy.

A new dog story has been told, if not created, by a press agent. It is all about Bill, who every morning jumps the Chaplin studio gate to rush up the road and greet Charlie. Bill was with the troop in the projection room, and when Charlie came whizzing up in his automobile on the screen, Bill dashed for him, but the image disappeared. On came the foreign copy image, a duplicate of the first, and this time Bill went right through the tonneau, screen and all. It cost the studio $150 for a new silver sheet, and Bill's hospital bill required several of Charlie's Bond coupons.

Features—Current and Coming

Bluebird Photoplays

Sept. 9. The Brazen Beauty (Priscilla Dean) 5
Sept. 23. A Society Sensation (Carmel Myers) 5
Sept. 30. The Velvet Hand (Fritzi Brunette) 5
Oct. 7. The Lure of Luxury (Ruth Clifford) 5

Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

Aug. 12. The Great Love (Griffith's).....
Aug. 12. Fedora (Pauline Frederick).....
Aug. 19. Riddle Gawne (William S. Hart)..
Aug. 19. In Pursuit of Polly (Billie Burke)..
Aug.26. Green Eyes (Dorothy Dalton).....
Aug. 26. Till I Come Back to You (De Mille's) .....
Aug. 26. The Marriage Ring (Enid Bennett).
Sept. 1. On the Quiet (J. Barrymore).....
Sept. 1. Hearts of the Wild (E. Ferguson)..
Sept. 1. The Source (Wallace Reid).....
Sept. 8. The Girl Who Came Back (E. Clayton) .....
Sept. 8. The Hun Within (Special).....
Sept. 8. The Cruise of the Make-Believes (Lila Lee) .....
Sept. 15. He Comes Up Smiling (Doug. Fairbanks) .....
Sept. 15. Out of a Clear Sky (M. Clark)....
Sept. 15. Vive La France (D. Dalton).....

SUCCESS SERIES (Reissues)

Sept. 1. The Eagle's Mate (Mary Pickford).
Sept. 8. Wildflower (M. Clark) .....
Sept. 15. The Girl of the Golden West (Special) .....
Sept. 22. Zaza (Pauline Frederick).....
Sept. 29. Carmen (Geraldine Farrar).....

First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc.

Ambassador Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany."
"Tarzan of the Apes" (Elmo Lincoln and Enid Markey).
"Passing of the Third Floor Back" (Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson).
"Tempered Steel" (Mme. Petrova). .....
"The Life Mask" (Mme. Petrova).
"The Light Within" (Mme. Petrova).
"Daughter of Destiny" (Mme. Petrova).
"Italy's Flaming Front" (Italian Official War Pictures)
Edgar Lewis's "The Sign Invisible" (Mitchell Lewis).
Herbert Brenon's "Empty Pockets."
Herbert Brenon's "Fall of the Romanoffs" (with Iliodor).
"Alimony" (Josephine Whittell).
"Pershing's Crusaders."

Fox Film Corporation

TIMELY PICTURES

Sept. 1. The Prussian Cur.....
Sept. 1. Queen of the Sea (Annette Keller-
Sept. 8. Why America Will Win.....
Oct. 15. Why I would Not Marry.....
Oct. 15. 18 to 45.....

SPECIAL FEATURES

Aug. 4. Doing Their Bit (Jane and Katherine Lee) .....
Aug. 11. The Bird of Prey (Gladys Brockwell) .....
Aug.18. The Liar (Virginia Pearson).....
Aug.23. Lawless Love (Jewel Carmen).....

FOX STANDARD PICTURES

Sept. 1. Riders of the Purple Sage (William Farnum) .....
Sept. 15. The Caillaux Case.....
Sept. 29. When a Woman Sins (Theda Bara)
Oct. 13. The Woman Who Gave (Evelyn Nesbit) .....
Oct.27. The Rainbow Trail (Wm. Farnum)..
Nov.10. The She Devil (Theda Bara).....

PRODUCTIONS EXTRAORDINARY

Theda Bara in "Cleopatra."
William Farnum in "Les Miserables."
Annette Kellerman in "A Daughter of the Gods."

VICTORY PICTURES

Sept. 8. Mr. Logan, U. S. A. (Tom Mix)..
Sept. 15. Kultur (Gladys Brockwell).....
Oct. 6. On the Jump (Geo. Walsh).....
Oct. 20. Fame and Fortune (Tom Mix).....
Nov. 3. The Strange Woman (Gldays Brockwell) .....
Nov. 17. I'll Say So (George Walsh).....

EXCEL PICTURES

Sept. 1. Bonnie Annie Laurie (Peggy Hyland) .....
Sept. 15. Queen of Hearts (Virginia Pearson)
Sept. 29. Swat the Spy (Jane and Katherine Lee) .....
Oct. 13. Peggy Hyland in "Marriages Are Made" .....
Oct. 27. Virginia Pearson in "Buchanan's Wife" .....

General Film Company

AUTHORS' PHOTOPLAYS

Her Moment (Anna Luther).....7 D

HANOVER FILM COMPANY

Camille (Helen Hesperia).....6 D
The Marvelous Maciste.....6 D
Monster of Fate .....

DUPLEX FILMS, INC.

Shame (Zena Keefe).....7 D

COSMOFOTOFILM

Hypocrites (Elizabeth Risdon) .....6 D

EXPORT AND IMPORT FILM CO. (Inc.)

Why—The Bolsheviki.....5 D

OAKDALE PRODUCTIONS

The Locked Heart (Gloria Joy).....5 D
No Children Wanted (Gloria Joy).....5 D
Miss Mischief-Maker (Gloria Joy).....5 D
The Midnight Burglar (Gloria Joy).....5 D
Little Miss Grown-Up (Gloria Joy).....5 D
Wanted, a Brother (Gloria Joy).....5 D

Victory Film Company

The Triumph of Venus (Betty Lee).....5 D

Goldwyn Pictures Corp.

Aug. 11. Friend Husband (Madge Kennedy) 5
Aug. 25. Money Mad (Mae Marsh)..... 5

GOLDWYN STAR SERIES

Sept. 2. Turn of the Wheel (Farrar).....5 D
Sept. 9. Peck's Bad Girl (Normand).....5 C
Sept. 16. Just for To-Night (Moore).....5 D
Sept. 23. The Kingdom of Youth (Madge Kennedy) .....5 C D
Sept. 30. Laughing Bill Hyde.....5 D
Oct. 7. Hidden Fires (Mae Marsh).....5 D
Oct. 21. A Perfect 36 (Mabel Normand)....5 C
Oct. 28. Thirty a Week (Tom Moore)....5 C D

GOLDWYN SPECIALS

Social Ambition 7
The Manx-Man 7
For the Freedom of the World..... 7

W. W. Hodkinson Corporation

(Paralta Plays)

Aug. 19. A Law Unto Herself (Glaum)..... —
Sept. 2. The White Lie (Bessie Barriscale).. —

(Plaza Plays)

Aug. 26. Petticoats and Politics (Anita King) ..... —
Sept. 9. Angel Child (Kathleen Clifford)... —
Oct. 7. Whatever the Cost (King..... —

(J. D. Hampton)

Sept. 16. Prisoners of the Pines (Kerrigan) —
Oct. 28. Three X Gordon (Kerrigan)..... —

(Lillian Walker)

Sept. 23. Embarrassment of Riches (Walker) —

(Bessie Barriscale)

Oct. 14. The Heart of Rachael (Barriscale).. —

(Douglass Natural Color)

Cupid Angling (Ruth Roland)..... —

Jewel Productions, Inc.

Come Through.
Pay Me.
Sirens of the Sea.
Man Without a Country.
The Correspondent.
The Price of a Good Time.
The Grand Passion.
The Doctor and the Woman.
The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin.
A Soul for Sale.
For Husbands Only.

Perfection Pictures

(GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM)

Sept. — Conquered Hearts..... —
Sept. — Behind the Lines in Italy..... —
Aug. 26. Triple Trouble" (Chaplin)..... —

Metro Pictures Corporation

Sept. 2. The Silent Woman (Edith Storey), Metro 5
Sept. 9. Our Mrs. McChesney (Ethel Barrymore), Metro 5
Sept. 16. Kildare of Storm (Emily Stevens), Metro 5
Sept. 23. The Return of Mary (May Allison), Metro 5
Sept. 30. Unexpected Places (Bert Lytell), Metro 5
Oct 7. Select Strings (Olive Tell)..... 5

(SCREEN CLASSICS, INC., SPECIALS)

The Legion of Death (Edith Storey), Metro-Rolfe 7
Blue Jeans (Viola Dana), Metro-Rolfe..... 7
Revelation (Nazimova), Screen Classics, Inc. 7
The Slacker (Emily Stevens), Metro..... 7
Draft 258 (Mabel Taliaferro), Metro..... 7
My Own United States (Arnold Daly), Frohman 8
The Million Dollar Dollies (Dolly Sisters), Emerald 5
Toys of Fate (Nazimova), Screen Classics, Inc. 7
To Hell With the Kaiser (Lawrence Grant, Olive Tell), Screen Classics, Inc.....

Mutual Film Corporation

Aug. 18. Hoosier Romance (Selig starring Colleen Moore) 5
Sept. 15. Love's Law (Gail Kane)..... 5
Sept. 29. Treason (Edna Goodrich)..... 5

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Aug. 11. The Ghost of the Rancho (Bryant Washburn) 5
Aug. 18. Winning Grandma (Baby Marie Osborne), Diando 5
Aug. 25. The Girl from Bohemia (Irene Castle), Astra .....C D 5
Sept. 8. Her Man (Elaine Hammerstein), Advanced M. P. Corp..... 5
Sept. 23. A Japanese Nightingale (Fannie Ward-Astra) 5
Oct. 6. The Border Raiders (Larkin-Diando) 5

Select Pictures

Aug. 18. Her Only Way (Norma Talmadge). 6
Aug. 25. Sauce for the Goose (Constance Talmadge) 5
Sept. 9. The Burden of Proof (Marion Davies) 5
Sept. 16. The Better Half (Alice Brady).... 5
Sept. 23. The Forbidden City (Norma Talmadge) .....

SPECIAL RELEASES

Over There (Chas. Richman, Anna Q. Nilsson) 6
The Lone Wolf (Bert Lytell, Hazel Dawn).. 5
The Barrier (Rex Beach Production)..... 7
The Wild Girl (Eva Tanguay)..... 5
The Public Be Damned (Charles Richman, Mary Fuller) 6

William L. Sherry Service

Aug. 11. Out of the Night..... 6
Aug. 18. Inn of the Blue Moon..... 6
Marriage 5

Triangle Distributing Corporation

(Subject to change without notice)

Sept. 1. Untamed (Roy Stewart)..... 5
Sept. 1. The Mask (Claire Anderson)..... 5
Sept. 8. Secret Code (Gloria Swanson)..... 5
Sept. 8. Mystic Faces (Jack Abbe)..... 5
Sept. 15. The Atom (Pauline Stark)..... 5
Sept. 22. Desert Law (Jack Richardson).... 5
Sept. 29. The Gray Parasol (Claire Anderson) 5
Oct. 6. Tony America (Francis McDonald).. 5
Oct. 13. The Pretender (Wm. Desmond).... 5
Oct. 20. Reckoning Day (Bella Bennett).... 5
Oct. 27. Love's Pay Day (Rosemary Theby). 5

Universal Productions

Aug. 12. A Woman's Fool (Harry Carey).. 5
Aug. 26. Bread (Mary McLaren)..... 6
Sept. 23. The Talk of the Town (Dorothy Phillips) 6
Oct. 7. Three Mounted Men (Harry Carey). 6

Vitagraph V-L-S-E

Sept. 2. The Green God (Harry Morey-Betty Blythe) 5
Sept. 9. A Nymph of the Foothills (Gladys Leslie) 5
Sept. 16. By the World Forgot (Hedda Nova-J. Frank Glendon)..... 5
Sept. 23. The Girl of Today (Corinne Griffith) 5
Sept. 30. A Diplomatic Mission (Earle Williams) 5
Oct. 7. The Mating (Gladys Leslie)..... 5
Oct. 14. The King of Diamonds (Harry Morey) 5
Oct. 21. Everybody's Girl (Alice Joyce)..... 5
Oct. 28. Miss Ambition (Corinne Griffith).... 5

World Pictures

Aug. 19. Merely Players (Kitty Gordon).... 5
Aug. 26. Inside the Lines (Lewis A. Stone).. 6
Sept. 2. The Power and the Glory (June Elvidge) 5
Sept. 9. The Road to France (Blackwell-Greeley) 5
Sept. 16. 'Tother Dear Charmer (Louise Huff) 5
Sept. 23. To Him That Hath (Montagu Love) 5
Sept. 30. A Soul Without Windows (Ethel Clayton) 5

Releases in the Independent Field

For Manufacturers' Addresses, Names and Addresses of Buyers handling films in any territory, or any other additional information write—State Rights Department, Motion Picture News

Arrow Film Corporation

The Deemster.
Eyes of the World.
Ramona.
Persuasive Peggy.
Today.
The Mad Lover.
The Woman's Law.
Right Off the Bat.
The Struggle Everlasting.
The Accidental Honeymoon.
Million Dollar Mystery (Revised Edition).
The Finger of Justice.

Atlantic Distributing Corporation

Nine-tenths of the Law (Mitchell Lewis)..6 reels
The Devil's Playground (Vera Michelen).7 reels

Bear State Film Company

The Vigilantes.

Big Productions Film Corp.

VICTORIA FEATURE FILMS
The Sunset Princess (Marjorie Daw.

Christie Film Company

One-Reel Comedy Issued Weekly
In and Out.
Betty's Adventure.
By Orange Aid.
All Dressed Up.
Red Crossed.
Here Comes the Groom.
Somebody's Baby.
Regular Patsy.
Love and Gold Bricks.
Their Breezy Affair
Kids.
Efficiency.
Just Like Dad.
This Way Out.
Where is Your Husband?

Commonwealth Pictures Corp.

Charlotte, in The Frozen Warning.
Spanuth's Original Vod-a-Vil Movies (Released every two weeks)

Coronet Film Corporation

LIVING STUDIES IN NATURAL HISTORY
Animal World, No. 1 Issue.
Animal World, No. 2 Issue.
Birdland Studies.
Horticultural Phenomena.

Cosmofotofilm Company

Incomparable Mistress Bellairs.....4 reels
Liberty Hall .....4 reels
The Black Spot.....4 reels
Victoria Cross .....4 reels
His Vindication .....5 reels
I Believe .....7 reels
The Hypocrites .....6 reels

Crest Pictures

Lust of the Ages.....6 reels
The Grain of Dust.....6 reels

Doll Van Film Corp. (Chicago)

(In Illinois, Indiana and Southern Wisconsin)
The Mad Lover.
Public Defender.
Carmen o the Klondike.
The Grain o Dust.
Hearts of the World.
The Crucible of Life.
Nine-tenths of the Law.
The Belgian.
The Zeppelin's Last Raid.
Those Who Pay.
Just a Woman.

Doo Lee Film Co., Inc., N. Y. State

The Woman Who Dared.....7 acts
The Libertine.....6 acts
Babbling Tongues.....7 acts
Married in Name Only.....6 acts
Her Bargain.....6 acts
A Man's Law.....5 acts
Human Clay.....5 acts
One Law for Both.....8 acts
Sins of Ambition.....7 acts
A Slacker's Heart.....7 acts
Cleopatra .....5 acts
The Lonesome Trail.....5 acts
Mothers of Liberty.....6 acts

JESTER SUPER COMEDIES
The Recruit.....2 acts
His Golden Romance.....2 acts
All Fur Her.....2 acts
The Wrong Flat... .....2 acts
It's a Great Life.....2 acts
Released one a month.
June — Fabulous Fortune Fumblers.....2 acts
July — Fred's Fictitious Foundling.....2 acts
Aug. — Freda's Fighting Father.....2 acts
Sept. — Fatty's Fast Fliver.....2 acts
Oct. — Freda's Frivilous Finance.....2 acts

GAUMONT
Gaumont "News" released every Tuesday.
Gaumount "Graphic" released every Friday.

M. S. Epstin

Raymond L. Ditmars' "The Depths of the Sea," in a series of four parts.

Export and Import Film Co.

Birth of Democracy.
Why the Bolsheviki?

Foursquare Pictures

The Sin Woman (Irene Fenwick, Clifford Bruce, Reine Davies).
The Bar Sinister (Edgar Lewis's production).
Her Fighting Chance (Jane Grey).
Madame Sherry (Gertrude McCoy).
The Silent Witness (Gertrude McCoy).
The Great White Trail (Doris Kenyon).
One Hour (Zena Keefe and Alan Hale).
A Trip Through China.
The Fringe of Society (Milton Sills, Ruth Roland).
The Cast-Off (Bessie Barriscale).
The Submarine Eye.
Whither Thou Goest.
Should She Obey?
Men.

Fort Pitt Corporation

The Italian Battlefront.

Frohman Amusement Corp.

The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith Jack Sherrill, Helen Arnold, Marie Shotwell and Robert Conness).....6 reels
Conquest of Canaan.....5 reels
God's Man .....9 reels
My Own United States (through Metro).

Gaumont Co.

The Hand of Vengeance.....

General Enterprises, Inc.

Mother (Elizabeth Risdon, McClure).....6 parts
The Warrior (Maciste) (McClure).....7 parts
The Liar (Jane Gail, Stanley Walpole)..6 parts

Jesse J. Goldburg

SCRANTON PHOTOPLAY VORP.
May 6. Cheerful Liars.
May 13. Fate and Fortune.
May 20. Parson Pepp.
May 27. The Ring and the Ringer.
RIALTO FILM CORPORATION
Apr. 15. My Husband's Friend.

D. W. Griffith

Hearts of the World.

Hiller & Wilk, Inc.

(Pictures handled in the Open Market)
"Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman."
"The Battle of Gettysburg."
"The Wrath of the Gods."
Sept. — "Sporting Life."

HART, FAIRBANKS, KEENAN AND TALMADGE RE-ISSUES
William S. Hart
The Patriot.
Captive God.
The Dawnmaker.
The Return of Draw Egan.
The Devil's Double.
Truthful Tulliver.
The Gunfighter.
The Square Deal Man.
The Desert Man.
Wolfe Lowry.

Douglas Fairbanks
The Good Bad Man.
Reggie Mixes In.
Flirting with Fate.
The Half Breed.
Manhattan Madness.
American Aristocracy.
The Matrimaniac.
The Americano.

Frank Keenan
The Thoroughbred.
Jim Grimsby's Boy.
The Sins Ye Do.
Bride of Hate.
The Drab.

Norma Talmadge
Children in the House.
Going Straight.
The Devil's Needle.
The Social Secretary.
Fifty Fifty.

Ivan Feature Productions

One Law for Both (Rita Jolivet, Vincent Serrano, Leah Baird, Pedro De Cordoba, James Morrison).....7 reels
Babbling Tongues (Grace Valentine, James Morrison, Arthur Donaldson).....7 reels
Married in Name Only (Gretchen Hartman, MBilton Sills, Marie Shotwell).....6 reels
Sins of Ambition (Barbara Castleton, Wilfred Lucas, Leah Baird, James Morrison) .....7 reels
Human Clay (Mollie King).....5 reels
Life or Honor (Leah Baird, James Morrison, Violet Palmer, Edward Mackey) .....6500 ft.

Jester Comedies

May — All "Fur" Her (Twede Dan)..2 parts
June — The Wrong Flat (Twede Dan)..2 parts
July — It's a Great Life (Twede Dan)..2 parts
Aug. — Oh What a Day (Twede Dan)..2 parts
Oct. — Ain't It So? (Twede Dan).....2 parts

Renowned Pictures Corporation

The Public Defender.....6 reels
Naked Hands .....5 reels
Mother Love and the Law.....7 reels
In Treason's Grasp.....5 reels
Should She Obey?.....7 reels

Frank J. Seng

Parentage .....7 reels

U. S. Exhibitors' Booking Corp.

Just a Woman (Charlotte Walker).
The Crucible of Life (Grace D'Armond).
Men (Charlotte Walker, Anna Lehr, Robert Cain, etc).
Those Who Pay (Bessie Barriscale).
The Belgian (Walker Whiteside, Valentine Grant).
The Zeppelin's Last Raid.

Ernest Shipman

W. H. CLIFFORD PHOTOPLAY COMPANY, INC.—Featuring Shorty Hamilton.
June — The Snail .....5 reels
July — The Ranger.....5 reels
Aug. — Pen Vultures .....5 reels
Sept. — The Prisoner of War.....5 reels
FRANCIS FORD PRODUCING COMPANY—
May — Berlin Via America..... 6
July — The Isle of Intrigue..... 6
AL. AND FRANK JENNINGS PRODUCTIONS.
First release—Lady of the Dugout.....6 reels
The Coast Guard Patrol—Seven Parts.
A Nugget in the Rough—Five Parts.
Trooper 44—Five Parts.
The Tiger of the Sea (Seven Parts—Drama—By Nell Shipman).
Bill Tinger's Poems—A series of one-reel comedy dramas issued semi-monthly.

(Continued on page 2062)

Short Subjects Current and Coming

Josh Binney Comedies

(FEATURING FUNNY FATTY FILBERT)

May — Fabulous Fortune Fumblers.....2 reels
June — Fred's Fictitious Foundling.....2 reels
July — Freda's Fighting Father.....2 reels
Aug. — Fatty's Fast Flivver.....2 reels
Sept. — Fatty's Frivolous Fiancee.....2 reels

Educational Film Corp. of Amer.

Aug. 5. The Southern Tourist (Bruce Scenic) ..... 1 reel
Aug. 5. His Dark Past (International-Hooligan) .....Half reel
Aug. 12. Mexico's Floating Gardens (Wright) ..... 1 reel
Aug. 12. Tramp, Tramp, Tramp! (International-Happy Hooligan) .....Half reel
Aug. 19. Quest of the Big 'Un (Chas. Maigne) ..... 1 reel
Aug. 19. Judge Rummy's Off Day (International-Silk Hat Harry).....Half reel
Aug. 26. A Mexican Venice (Wright).. 1 reel
Aug. 26. International Cartoon Comedy.Half reel
Sept. 2. Cigars for Kings and Millionaires (Harold Horton)..... 1 reel
Sept. 2. International Carton Comedy.Half reel

Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

PARAMOUNT BRAY PICTOGRAPHS

July 1. Schematography, The Art of Correcting Injurious Postural Habits; With the Deep Sa Anglers; Animated Technical Drawing—E. Dean Parmlee.
July 8. Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy, No. 1; Beauty to Order, The Advanced Art of Dermatology; Cartoon by Wallace Carlson.
July 15. Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy, No. 2; Preparing the Victory Army; In Nature's Gardens; Cartoon by Earl Hurd.
July 22. Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy, No. 3; An African Game Hunt; Motion Analyzed (first of a series analyzing motion); Cartoon by Bray Studios.
July 30. Why Batters "Fan Out" (second in a series analyzing motion); Animated Technical Drawing—E. Dean Parmlee.

PARAMOUNT BURTON HOLMES TRAVELOGUES

July 1. Auckland: The Metropolis of New Zealand.
July 8. Rotorua: The Yellowstone of the Antipodes in New Zealand.
July 15. Among the Maoris of New Zealand.
July 22. Wellington and the North Island of New Zealand.
July 29. Down South in New Zealand.

PARAMOUNT ARBUCKLE COMEDIES

Moonshine.
No release this month.
July 8. Good Night, Nurse.

PARAMOUNT MACK SENNETT COMEDIES

May 6. His Smothered Love.
May 20. Battle Royal.
June 3. Love Loops the Loop.
June 17. Two Tough Tender Feet.
July 1. Her Screen Idol.
July 15. Ladies First.
July 29. Her Blighted Love.

PARAMOUNT FEATURE—"THE SON OF DEMOCRACY"

Apr. 1. Down the River.
Apr. 8. The Slave Auction.
Apr. 15. Under the Stars.

Ford Educational Weekly

GREIVER DISTRIBUTING CORP. AND STATE RIGHTS

One Reel Each

111. Ausable Chasm.
112. Lake Champlain.
113. Kilauer Volcano.
114. Training Mechanics for Our National Army.
115. Work or Fight.

Fox Sunshine Comedies

July 28. A Tight Squeeze.....2 C
Aug. 25. The Diver's Last Kiss.....
Sept. 22. Roaring Lions on the Midnight Express. .....

Fox Film Corporation

MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOONS

Sept. 1. The Accident Attorney.....
Sept. 8. At the Front.....
Sept. 15. To the Rescue.....
Sept. 22. The Kaiser's New Dentist.....
Sept. 29. Bulling the Bolshevik.....
Oct. 6. Our Four Days in Germany.....
Oct. 13. The Side Show.....

General Film Company

BROADWAY STAR FEATURES
(O HENRY STORIES)

The Marquis and Miss Sally (Patricia Palmer, William Lester).....2 D
Springtime a la Carte (Agnes Ayres, Edward Earle) .....2 D
A Bird of Bagdad (Agnes Ayres, Edward Earle) .....2 D
Transients in Arcadia (Agnes Ayres, Edward Earle) .....2 D

(WOLFVILLE TALES)

Faro Nell, Lookout (Patricia Palmer, Bob Burns) .....2 D
Dismissal of Silver Phil (Patricia Palmer, Bob Burns) .....2 D
The Coming of Faro Nell (Patricia Palmer, Bob Burns) .....2 D
Winning of the Mocking Bird (Carol Halloway, Robert Burns) .....2 D
The Jest of Talky Jones (Carol Holloway, William Lester) .....2 D
The Widow Dangerous (Hattie Buskirk, Patricia Palmer, Robert Burns).....2 D
The Wooing of Riley (Kate Price, Otto Lederer) .....2 D
The Heir of the Broken O (R. N. Bradbury, Patricia Palmer) .....2 D

BLUE RIDGE DRAMAS
(Ned Finley)

The Return of O'Garry.....2 D
Mountain Law.....2 D
The Raiders of Sunset Gap.....2 D
O'Garry Rides Alone.....2 D
The Man from Nowhere.....2 D

ESSANAY
GEORGE ADE FABLES
ESSANAY COMEDIES (1 reel)

Our Little Nell.....1 C
Check Your Hat, Sir.....1 C
Wild Algy of Piccadilly.....1 C
All Stuck Up.....1 C
The Lie That Failed.....1 C
The Jazbo Sheriff.....1 C

SNAKEVILLE COMEDIES
(One reel each)

Sophie's Legacy.
Sophie Gets Stung.
Slippery Slim, Diplomat.
Slippery Slim and the Claim Agent.
Slippery Slim's Stratagem.
A Hot Time in Snakeville.
A Snakeville Epidemic.
Snakeville's New Sheriff.
Sophie's Birthday Party.

ESSANAY SCENICS

How Canada and the Farmer Co-operate in Grain Raising .....1 Sc.
Agricultural Opportunities in Western Canada .....1 Sc.
Water Powers of Eastern Canada.....1 Sc.
A Romance of Rails and Power.....1 Sc.
Grand Canyon of Arizona and Canyon de Chelley .....1 Sc.

CHAPLIN COMEDIES

By the Sea.....1 C
In the Park.....1 C
Work .....2 C
A Woman .....2 C
The Tramp .....2 C
His New Job.....2 C
A Night Out. .....2 C

JAXON FILM CORP.

"A DAUGHTER OF UNCLE SAM" SERIAL (Jane Vance, Wm. Sorelle) 12 Episodes .....1 D

JAXON COMEDIES

What Occurred on the Beach.....1 C
An All-Fools' Day Affair.....1 C
Beating Him to It.....1 C
Forced Into Matrimony.....1 C

JUDGE BROWN STORIES

Love of Bob .....2 C-D
Dog vs. Dog.....2 C-D
A Boy Built City.....2 C-D
The Three Fives.....2 C-D
Kid Politics .....2 C-D
A Boy Built City.....2 C-D
The Case of Bennie.....1 C-D

RANCHO SERIES

In the Shadow of the Rockies.....1 D
Where the Sun Sets Red.....1 D

CLOVER COMEDIES

From Caterpillar to Butterfly.....1 C
A Widow's Camouflage.....1 C
Love's Lucky Day.....1 C

EBONY COMEDIES

Busted Romance.....1 C
Spooks .....1 C
The Bully .....1 C
The Janitor .....
Mercy, the Mummy Mumbled.....1 C
A Reckless Rover.....1 C
Are Working Girls Safe?.....1 C
The Comeback of Barnacle Bill.....1 C
Some Baby .....1 C
Good Luck in Old Clothes.....1 C
When You Hit, Hit Hard.....1 C
A Black-and-Tan Mix-up.....1 C
Fixing the Fakir.....1 C
When You're Scared, Run.....1 C

INTERSTATE FILM COMPANY

The Last Raid of Zeppelin L-21 (War Event) .....2000 ft.

PROGRESSIVE FILM

On a Fox Farm (Educational) .....1 reel

CRYSTAL FILM CO.

Romeo and Juliet.....2 C

CRYSTAL COMEDIES

(Pearl White, Estelle Deland, Don Barclay, William Browning)

What She Did to Her Husband, Almost Lucky .....1 C
What's in the Trunk?.....1 C
Reuben's Romance .....1 C
The Lady Detective, His Wedding Day....1 C
Troubled Waters .....1 C
Her Necklace, His Hoodoo Day.....1 C

HIGRADE FILM ENTERPRISES, INC.

Billie in Society (Ray Hughes).....2 C
Buneo Billy (Billy West).....2 C
Billy in Harness (Billy West).....2 C
Bombs and Bull (Billy West).....2 C

OFFICIAL WAR PICTURES
(Committee on Information)

Our Bridge of Ships.....2 Sc.

SCRANTONIA PHOTOPLAY CORP.

Parson Pepp .....1 C
Fang's Fate and Fortune.....1 C

AMERICAN RED CROSS

The Historic Fourth of July in Paris.....1 Sc.
Soothing the Heart of Italy.....1 Patr.

RAINBOW COMEDIES

Nearly a Slacker (Lillian Vera-Eddie Bouldon) .....1 C

Goldwyn Distributing Corp.

CAPITOL COMEDIES
(Featuring "Smiling Bill" Parsons)

July 15. Dad's Knockout .....2 reels
July 29. Bill Settles Down.....2 reels
Aug. 12. Billy's Fortune .....2 reels
Aug. 26. Bill's Opportunity.....2 reels
Sept. 9. Up a Tree.....2 reels
Sept. 22. Bill's Sweetie .....2 reels
Oct. 7. Camping Out .....2 reels
Oct. 21. A Pair of Pink Pajamas.....2 reels

King Bee Comedies

June 1. Bright and Early .....2 reels
June 15. Straight and Narrow .....2 reels

George Kleine System

MONTGOMERY FLAGG'S COMEDIES
"GIRLS YOU KNOW"

May 8. The Starter .....Edison
May 22. The Spoiled Girl .....
June 5. The Lonesome Girl .....

ESSANAY

June 7. Broncho Billy's Grit.
June 14. Broncho Billy's True Love.
June 21. Broncho Billy and the Western Girls.
June 28. Broncho Billy Wins Out.
July 5. Broncho Billy Trapped.
July 12. Broncho Billy Rewarded.
Sept. 1. Broncho Billy and the Claim Jumper.
Sept. 8. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff's Office.
Sept. 15. Broncho Billy, Outlaw.
Sept. 22. The Accusation of Broncho Billy.
Sept. 29. Broncho Billy's Double Escape.

LINCOLN-PARKER WORLD TRAVELOGUE

Mar. 1. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 1.
Mar. 8. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 2.
Mar. 15. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 3.
Mar. 22. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 4.
Apr. 29. Peru and Scenes Around Lake Titicaca, Bolivia.

Metro Pictures Corporation

METRO-DREW COMEDIES

Mar. 18. Special Today.....1 C
Mar. 25. When a Man's Married.....1 C
Apr. 1. Gas Logic.....1 C
Apr. 8. A Youthful Affair.....1 C

Mutual Film Corporation

STRAND (BILLIE RHODES)

July 1. Miss Informed .....1 C
July 8. Her Disengagement Ring .....1 C
July 15. Like Mother Made.....1 C
July 23. On Her Account.....1 C
July 29. She Almost Proposed.....1 C
Sept. 17. All Kinds of a Girl.....1 C
Sept. 23. A Maid and a Man.....1 C

STRAND (ELINOR FIELD)

Aug. 6. What Will Father Say?.....1 C
Aug. 13. The High Cost of Weddings.....1 C
Aug. 20. Winnie's Wild Wedding.....1 C
Aug. 27. Her Friend, the Enemy.....1 C
Sept. 10. Cupid in Quarantine.....1 C
Oct. 1. Keep Smiling .....1 C

OUTING-CHESTER PICTURES
To be issued one a week

Aug. 4. A Coorial on the Orinoco.....
Aug. 11. A Dam Catastrophe.....
Aug. 18. Statia With a Past.....
Aug. 25. Pines Up and Palms Down.....
Sept. 1. Finfeather Picanninies .....
Sept. 18. Saba, the Astonishing.....

SCREEN TELEGRAM
Issued Sunday and Wednesday of Each Week

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Hearst-Pathe News released each Wednesday and Saturday

Monday, September 23, 1918

Official War Review No. 13.....
The Far Flung Battle Line (French Picture) .....1 reel
The Great Water Peril (Toto-Seymour-Johnson) Rolin .....1 C
A Hollandized Caribee (Dutch West Indies) Travel .....1 reel

Monday, September 30, 1918

Official War Review No. 14.....
Getaway Kate (Chadwick-Gzell) Astra.....2 D
Swing Your Partners (Lloyd-Daniels-Pollard) Rolin .....1 C
The Far Flung Battle Line (British Picture) .....1 reel
St. Kitts, The Mother Colony (Travel-Post Film) .....1 reel

Monday, October 6, 1918

Official War Review No. 15.
No Place Like Jail (Stan Larel) Rolin.....1 C
Antigua, British West Indies (Travel-Post Film) .....1 reel
The Far Flung Battle Line (French Colonial Troops) .....1 reel
Triumph of Transportation (Leggett-Gruen) .....1 reel Ed.

BRITAIN'S BULWARKS
(Official Government Pictures—One reel each)

July 7. No. 9, King George and Queen Mary Witness the Black Arts of War...
July 14. No. 10, With the Policemen of the Allies on the North Sea.....
July 21. No. 11, The Canadians on the Western Front .....
July 28. No. 12, The Canadians at Vimy Ridge .....

"THE HOUSE OF HATE" (ASTRA)
(Serial) Two reels each
(Pearl White, Antonio Moreno, Paul Clerget, John Webb Dillion, Peggy Shaner)

June 2. Thirteenth Episode, Enemy Tliens.
June 9. Fourteenth Episode.
June 16. Fifteenth Episode, The False Signal.
June 23. Sixteenth Episode, The Vial of Death.
June 30. Seventeenth Episode, The Death Switch.
July 7. Eighteenth Episode, At the Pistol's Point.
July 14. Nineteenth Episode, The Hooded Terror.
July 20. Twentieth Episode, Following Old Glory.

"HANDS UP" (ASTRA)
(Serial) Two and and three reels each
(Featuring Ruth Roland and George Cheseboro).

Aug. 18. First Episode, The Bride of the Sun.
Aug. 25. Second Episode, The Missing Prince.
Sept. 1. Third Episode, The Phantom and the Girl.
Sept. 8. Fourth Episode, The Phantom's Trail.
Sept. 22. Sixth Episode, Flames of Vengeance.
Sept. 29. Seventh Episode, Tossed in the Torrent.
Oct. 6. Eighth Episode, The Fatal Jewels.

Triangle Distributing Corp.

TRIANGLE COMEDIES

Mar. 3. A Discord in A Flat.....1 C
Mar. 3. His Hidden Shame.....1 C
Mar. 10. Wives and Worries.....1 C
Mar. 10. She Didn't Do It.....1 C

KEYSTONE RELEASES

May 19. Newspaper Clippings (Francis McDonald, Claire Anderson) .....2 C
May 26. Are Wives Unreasonable? (Ed. Brady, Claire Anderson).....2 C
June 2. The Poor Fish (Ed Brady, Claire Anderson) .....2 C
June 9. Flapjacks (Geo. Hernandez, Josie Sedgwick, F. McQuarrie).....2 C
June 16. Isn't it Warm? (Bill Dyer, Harry Depp, Claire McDowell).....2 C
June 23. Cupid and the Cop.....2 C
June 30. Pearls Without Price.....2 C

Universal Film Company

Monday, September 2, 1918

NESTOR—Their Sporting Blood (Pat Rooney) .....1 C
UNIVERSAL SPECIAL—How Charlie Captured the Kaiser.....1 reel

Wednesday, September 4, 1918

L-KO—Her Whirlwind Wedding (Eva Novack) .....2 C

Monday, September 16, 1918

NESTOR—Pat Turns Detective (Pat Rooney) .....1 C

Wednesday, September 18, 1918

L-KO—A Pullman Blunder (Harry Gribbon, Mae Emery, Helen Lynch, Harry Mann).2 C

Monday, September 23

NESTOR—The Slow Express (Victor Potel(.1 C

Wednesday, September 25

L-KO—Hello Trouble (Babe Hardey and Eva Novak) .....2 C

Monday, September 30

NESTOR—Parted from His Bride (Kerrigan) .....1 C

Wednesday, October 2

L-KO—Nuts and Noodles (Eva Novak and Charlis) from the Orient.....2 C
"Fighting for Freedom," Episode o. 1, "Admiral Beatty's Fleet in Action" (one reel).

Monday, October 7

NESTOR—His Royal Nibs (Comedy Cast).1 C

Wednesday, October 9

CENTURY—Untamed Ladies (Alice Howell).2 C

WESTERN AND RAILROAD DRAMAS

Aug. 3. The Human Target (Kingsley Benedict, Claire Du Brey) .....3 D
Aug. 10. The Trail of No Return (Neal Hart, Eileen Sedgwick).....2 D
Aug. 17. Roped and Tied (Hart-Sedgwick).2 D
Aug. 24. The Whirlwind Finish (Marie Walcamp) .....2 D
Aug. 31. Beating the Limited (Neal Hart)..2 D
Sept. 7. The Flame of the West (Cleo Madison) .....2 D
Sept. 14. Danger Ahead (Helen Gibson)....2 D
Sept. 21. The Human Tiger (Eileen Sedgwick) .....2 D
Sept. 23. Under False Pretenses (Helen Gibson) .....1 D
Sept. 30. All for Gold (Eileen Sedgwick)....2 D
Oct. 12. The Fast Mail (Helen Gibson)....2 D

UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY

Sept. 4. Number 40.
Sept. 11. Number 41.
Sept. 18. Number 42.
Sept. 25. Number 43.
Oct. 2. Number 44.
Oct. 9. Number 45.

UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE

Sept. 7. Number 87.
Sept. 14. Number 88.
Sept. 21. Number 89.
Sept. 28. Number 90.
Oct. 5. Number 91.
Oct. 12. Number 92.

UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS

Sept. 7. Number 69.
Sept. 14. Number 70.
Sept. 21. Number 71.
Sept. 28. Number 72.
Oct. 5. Number 73.
Oct. 12. Number 74.

LYONS-MORAN STAR COMEDIES
(One reel each)

Aug. 5. Don't Shoot .....
Aug. 12. Give Her Gas.....
Aug. 19. Damaged Goods .....
Aug. 26. Housecleaning Horrors .....
Sept. 2. The Extra Bridegroom.....
Sept. 16. Nearly a Chaperone.....
Sept. 23. Please Hit Me.....
Sept. 30. Frenzied Film .....
Oct. 7. The Price of a Rotten time.....

SERIALS

"THE BULL'S EYE"
Two Reels Each
(Eddie Polo)

May 6. Fourteenth Episode, The Firing Squad.
May 13. Fifteenth Episode, The Stained Face.
May 20. Sixteenth Episode, Running Wild.
May 27. Seventeenth Episode, In Irons.
June 3. Eighteenth and Last Episode, The Runaway.

"THE LION'S CLAWS"
Two Reels Each
(Marie Walcamp)

July 1. Fourteenth Episode (Hell Let Loose).
July 8. Fifteenth Episode, The Bridge of the Beast.
July 15. Sixteenth Episode, The Jungle Pool.
July 22. Seventeenth Episode (The Danger Pit).
July 29. Eighteenth Episode (Triumph).

"THE BRASS BULLET"
(Two Reels Each)
(Juanita Hansen, Jack Mulhall)

Aug. 19. Third Episode (Locked in the Tower).
Aug. 26. Fourth Episode (Smoked Out).
Sept. 2. Fifth Episode (The Mock Bride).
Sept. 9. Sixth Episode (A Dangerous Honeymoon).
Sept. 16. Seventh Episode (The Depth Bomb).
Sept. 23. Eighth Episode (The Magnetic Bug).
Sept. 30. Ninth Episode (The Room of Flame).
Oct. 7. Tenth Episode (A New Peril).

BOY SCOUTS TO THE RESCUE
Universal Special

Apr. 15. Aides of a Nation, No. 1.....2 reels
Apr. 22. On the Trail, No. 2.....2 reels
Apr. 29. The Great Mine Disaster, No. 3.2 reels
May 6. The Spies, No. 4.....2 reels
May 13. Treachery at Sea, No. 5.....2 reels

Vitagraph

BIG V COMEDIES

Aug. 5. Dunces and Dangers.
Aug. 12. Shines and Monkey-Shines.
Aug. 19. Dukes and Dollars.
Aug. 26. Flappers and Friskies.
Sept. 2. Mutts and Motors.
Sept. 9. Capers and Crooks.
Sept. 16. Wild Women and Wild Waves.
Sept. 23. Stripes and Stars.
Sept. 30. Hula-Hulas and Hocus-Pocus.

BIG V SPECIAL COMEDIES

Sept. 23. Huns and Hyphens (Semon).....2 C

THE WOMAN IN THE WEB (Serial)
(Hedda Nova, J. Frank Glendon)

July 1. The Hidden Menace (Thirteenth Episode).
July 8. The Crash of Fate (Fourteenth Episode).
July 15. Out of the Web (Fifteenth Episode).

A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS (Serial)
(William Duncan, Edith Johnson, Joe Ryan)

July 15. The Snare (First Episode).
July 22. Flames of Peril (Second Episode).
July 29. The Secret Stockade (Third Episode).
Aug. 5. The Precipice of Horror (Fourth Episode).
Aug. 12. The Path of Thrills (Fifth Episode).
Aug. 19. The Spell of Evil (Sixth Episode).
Aug. 26. The Gorge of Destruction (Seventh Episode).
Sept. 2. In the Clutches (Eighth Episode).
Sept. 9. The Escape (Ninth Episode).
Sept. 16. The Secret Tunnel (Tenth Episode).
Sept. 23. The Noose of Death (Eleventh Episode).
Sept. 30. The Tide of Disaster (Twelfth Episode).
Oct. 7. The Engine of Terror (Thirteenth Episode).
Oct. 14. The Decoy (Fourteenth Episode).
Oct. 21. The Sealed Envelope (Fifteenth Episode).

THE IRON TEST (Serial)
(Antonio Moreno, Carol Holloway)

Oct. 21. The Ring of Fire (First Episode).
Oct. 28. The Van of Disaster (Second Episode).

DREW COMEDIES
(Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew)

July 15. The Honeymoon Baby .....
July 22. The Cub and the Daisy Chain.....
July 29. Their Agreement .....
Aug. 5. Miss Sticky-Moufie-Kiss .....
Aug. 12. Diplomatic Henry .....
Aug. 19. By Might of His Right.....
Aug. 26. The Professional Patient.....
Sept. 2. Mr. Blink of Bohemia.....
Sept. 9. A Lady in the Library.....

WHARTONS, INC.

The Eagle's Eye (Serial), featuring King Baggott, Marguerite Snow, twenty episodes—two reels each.

Independent Releases

(Continued from page 2060)

CORONA CINEMA COMPANY PRODUCTIONS.

Mother, I Need You.....6 reels

UNITED FILM CORPORATION

Crime of the Hour.....7 reels

W. H. Productions Co.

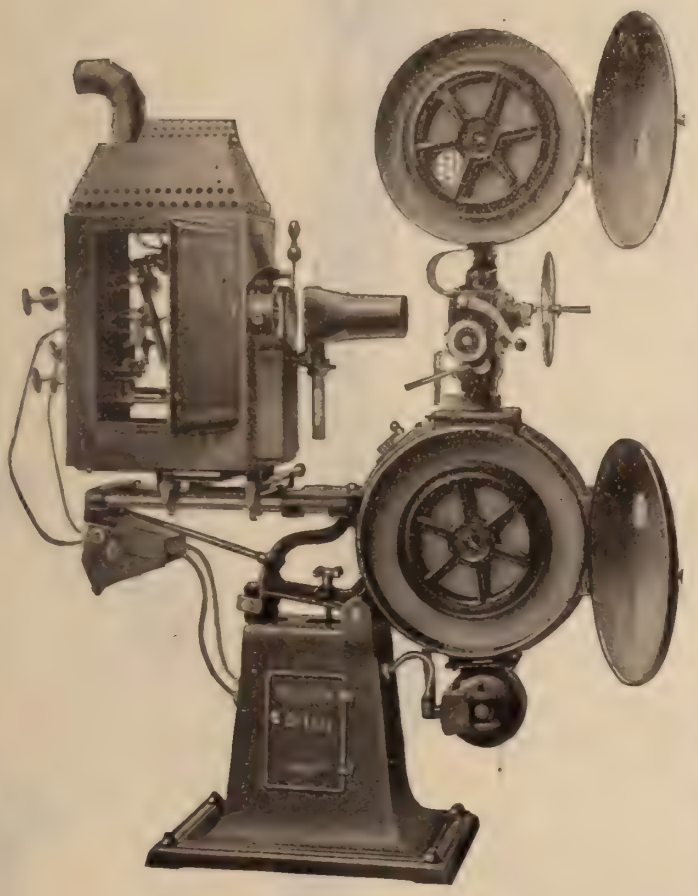
William S. Hart as Two Gun Man in "The Bargain" .....6 reels
William S. Hart in "The Bandit and the Preacher" .....5 reels
William S. Hart in "The Hell Hound of Alaska" .....5 reels
Also Series of two-reel W. H. Hart productions.
Satan's Pawn (Bessie Barriscale).

Romayne Superfilm Company

Me und Gott or "The Awakening of America," 6 reels

Edward Warren Productions, Inc.

Souls Redeemed.
Weavers of Life.



Western Import Co.

Mickey (Mabel Normand).

Equipment Service

UNCLE SAM'S BIG WORD TODAY

"CONSERVATION"

Are you doing your bit by buying equipment that gives perfect results and made to insure long life?
Did you ever hear of a MOTIOGRAPH gear wearing out?
Or a slide disc showing wear?
NO—Even dealers, in towns where 60% of the projectors are MOTIOGRAPH, don't carry these parts in stock. WHY?—The users don't need them.

A saving of steel is just what Uncle Sam wants to help WIN THE WAR. Over 500 MOTIOGRAPHS used in United States Cantonments. Many of them have now been used over a year and not 1% sent to factory for inspection or repair.

A logical reason why MOTIOGRAPHS were selected.

England has placed a big order for MOTIOGRAPHS for entertaining her soldiers.

They, too, investigated.

You don't take a chance on Motiograph—they have been thoroughly tried by such theatres as "New California," San Francisco; "The Howard," Chicago; "New Dayton," Dayton, Ohio; "The Duplex," Detroit, and many others.

(Write for Motiograph De Luxe Booklet)

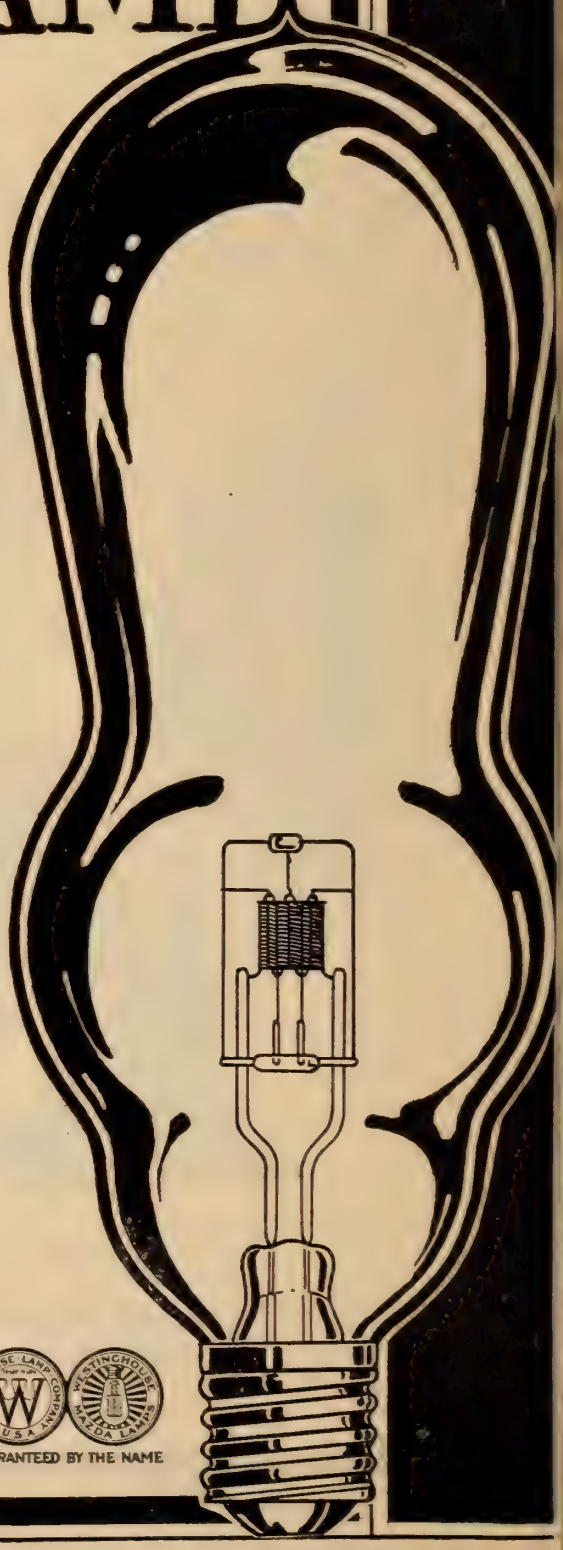
THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY
561 West Randolph Street Chicago, Illinois

Projection Music Laboratory Studio Theatre

WESTINGHOUSE MAZDA LAMP

for Motion Picture Projection

Every progressive motion picture exhibitor is continually on the alert for developments that will promote the comfort of his patrons, improve the tone of his house, or better the quality of his attractions or the showing of them.



The longest step that has yet been taken in all three of these general directions is the adapting of the WESTINGHOUSE MAZDA LAMP for the projection of motion pictures.

It is safe to predict that this lamp is destined to become, in the near future, the standard light source for motion picture projection.

Not only is it far more economical than the arc light, but it is easier and simpler to operate and produces better pictures.

It gives a soft, smooth light which is just as agreeable to the eyes of those sitting near the screen as to those in the rear of the theatre.

Don't fail to see this lamp at our exhibit at the Motion Picture Show to be held at Madison Square Garden, October 5th to 13th.

Westinghouse Lamp Company

165 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Sales Offices and Warehouses Throughout the Country

FOR CANADA—Canadian Westinghouse Company, Limited, Hamilton, Ontario.

GUARANTEED BY THE NAME

CINEMA CAMERA CLUB OF CALIFORNIA, INC.
EXCHANGE BLDG. LOS ANGELES
MAIN 7634

Sept. 5th 1918

r. Wm. A. Johnston
ditor Motion Picture News
29 Seventh Ave.
ew York. N. Y.

Dear Mr. Johnston :-

I have been requested by members of the above organization if it is possible for you to mail the club the articles on Cinematography which have been appearing in the columns of the News in the past.

We have found the articles very helpfull to us and would like to have them in the club rooms for refrences.

Trusting to hear from you in the near future I am,

Very truly yours,

Victor Miller

Secretary.

EK/VM

he above letter is gratifying as it proves to us that our service ideas are appreciated. The fact that our Camera Department is helpl to those taking care of this branch of our industry proves to us that we are on the right track. We trust that the Camera men will further and will take advantage of this department for the interchange of their individual ideas. We would suggest that they write any suggestions which they may have in the form of articles on questions, which we can publish or answer in the Department.

E. K. GILLETT.

Equipment Operating Projection Questions Answered

80

Computation of Screen Intensity

Mr. R. W. Joyce, Portland, Oregon, writes as follows: "Was much interested in a recent article in your Projection columns, where the light losses in the lens system of a projection machine were figured out. Information of this kind is interesting, and for my part I wish there was more like it published. In the article in the NEWS of August 17 the light lost in the lens system only is stated, but could you not tell us how the amount of light reaching the screen is figured?"

In reply: We stopped at the revolving shutter in our previous calculations on projection illumination because we wished to avoid the use of mathematical formulae, which appear to be unpopular with some of our readers.

What was set forth on the previous occasion therefore only represents the efficiency with which the light source of a projector is utilized by the optical system and the 4.80 per cent of the radiation from the source which was represented as getting past the revolving shutter (under very favorable circumstances) represents the transmission coefficient of the projector optical system, or, more strictly stated, of the projector, since the revolving shutter is partly responsible for the reduction of the light.

The intensity reaching the screen may be expressed by simple mathematical relationships which, however, involve the transmission coefficients of the various components of the projector optical system.

It will prove useful, therefore, to set forth these coefficients (as previously found) in the form of a convenient reference table. As before, the light source considered is the D. C. arc crater, and for the purpose of compiling the table, its brilliancy is taken as unity. We have, therefore, the following percentage transmissions at various places in the projector optical system,

Transmitted by the condenser system—
25.75 per cent of light from source.
Transmitted by film picture at aperture—
50 per cent of preceding.
Transmitted by objective—
75 per cent of preceding.
Transmitted through revolving shutter—
50 per cent of preceding.

Now the intensity, I, of the illumination projected upon the screen by an optical lantern (stereopticon or motion picture projector) is given by the expression:

$$I = \frac{a^2 \times B \times c}{v^2}$$ where

a = The diameter of the entrance-pupil of the projection objective or, roughly stated, the diameter of the front component of the objective.
B = Brightness per unit area of the source.
v = The length of the throw, i.e., the image distance.
c = The transmission coefficient of the projection objective and revolving shutter. This is a constant for a given objective and shutter.

For the benefit of the more elementary readers a few words may not be amiss regarding the significance of the terms in the above expression, and the values which are assigned to them in working it out.

The numerator, $a^2 \times B \times c$, represents light flux projected to the screen and it is easy to see that the volume of flux so projected must be that part of the light source (required to be at the focus of the objective), of brightness B, which can pass through the opening, or aperture, a^2, of the projection objective. But as some of this light is lost in passing through the objective and the revolving shutter, the product of $a^2 \times B$ has further to be multiplied by the transmission co-efficient, c, of the objective and the revolving shutter. This coefficient has a numerical value of about .25 assuming 25 per cent loss in traversing the objective and 50 per cent cut off by the revolving shutter, as explained in detail in our previous article.

This product, $a^2 \times B \times c$ has now to be divided by the sq of the length of the throw, represented by v^2. The throw image distance, v, must be squared in compliance with the ph metric law of inverse squares.

A further point requires explanation and that is the value t assigned to the term B, which represents the brightness per area of the source in our expression.

As the expression is based on optical as well as photom considerations, it will only hold good if the light source is position conjugate to the screen, which means that if the objec is in place and focussed for projecting pictures the value o must be determined at the location of the film picture, i.e., at projection aperture, and must be taken as the brightness tr mitted through the film picture, which then passes to the objec Thus the illuminated film picture at the aperture may be sidered as a secondary light source whose brightness B (in the above expression) will only be about 12.85 per cent of of the original source (arc crater).

The foregoing expression for screen intensity shows how calculated result is arrived at in general, but we will also s how the same may be applied to the determination of the sc brightness in lumens, which as we know, are the modern of illumination measurement. We therefore proceed to de some further terms which will be required. From elemen optical considerations we have:

$$\frac{v}{F} = M \text{ (The magnification of the screen picture).}$$

and

$$\frac{F}{a} = A \text{ (The effective aperture).}$$ where, as before,

v = The length of the throw, or image distance.
a = The free aperture of the objective.

and

F = The equivalent focus of the objective.

These derivations are readily apparent when it is recalled the magnification, M, of an optical image is given by the quo of the image-distance (in this case the throw, v) divided by object-distance (in this case the focal length, F, of the objec representing the distance to the film picture or object), the effective aperture, A, is the quotient of the diameter of entrance-pupil, a, (the free diameter of front component is enough for present considerations) into the focal length, F, o objective. Every camera user is acquainted with the signific of these expressions.

Proceeding again to the measurement of screen illuminatio modern units which involve the areas of the illuminant and illuminated surface, our expression for the screen intensit will now read:

$$I = \frac{B \times c}{M^2 A^2},$$

where all the terms have their previously assigned meanings.

It is only a few steps now to an expression which will, worked out, give a result direct in lumens, for if we put:

P = The area of the screen picture

and

p = " " " " film picture

we can write our expression in the form:

$$I \times P = \frac{B \times p \times c}{A^2}$$

Now, as it has recently been shown (Projection Departr August 24, page 1275) that a lumen may be conceived of as volume of light represented by a cone of unit dimensions w cross-section is in a certain ratio to its height (or length) apparent that I × P in the above equation represents the lun in the light cone projected to the screen, hence the screen iens are given by:

$$L = \frac{B \times p \times c}{A^2},$$

ere the various terms have the meanings previously assigned.

NOTE—In each of the preceding expressions the same units of gth, area and intensity should be used in the terms representing se respective quantities).

t remains to point out that the screen intensities found from above expressions only hold good for perpendicular incidence the light, i.e., at the center of the screen, because a well known tells us that in the case of oblique incidence of the light rays illumination falls off in proportion to the fourth power of the ine of the angle of incidence which the rays make with the mal to the screen; that is:

$$I = I \cos^4 \phi,$$

ere ϕ is the angle of incidence with respect to the normal. hus it is seen that the illumination at the edges of the projected ure is not so intense as at the center, and the falling off, i.e., values of $I \cos^4 \phi$ for the various angles of incidence have been ulated (see Camera Department of NEWS, December 29, 1917. e 4607). As, however, the angular extent of the projected ure is usually very moderate, being seldom in excess of 10 rees (at which figure the marginal intensity is 90 per cent of t in the center) the loss due to obliquity of incidence can be lected, except in the case of relatively short focus objectives, en the intensity at the margins of the image is noticeably less n that at the center.

further cause of decreased intensity at the margins of the jected picture arises in the fact that the extreme edges are served by the entire effective aperture of the objective, but s vignetting action is also so slight in most cases as to be left of consideration, and may be further decreased by the use modern types of projection objectives, and by proper adjustnt of the projector optical system.

ed Cross Institute Has School of Motion Picture Operating for Cripples

VE have always taken the stand that motion picture operating is a regular trade, or profession, and as such can only be pperly learned by actual apprenticeship, whereby its requirents and details are learned under actual operating conditions, d at the expenditure of sufficient time on the part of the student insure his gaining complete mastery of both the theoretical and e practical phases of the work.

Naturally, in view of this attitude, we have never looked with vor upon the schools of motion picture operating which have me into existence from time to time, because in the past no hool of motion picture projection has offered a course of inuction which would be comparable to the experience gained by prenticeship in a theatre, and because, furthermore, the various hools have been solely started with a view to trading upon the sceptibilities of many people who entertain the idea that posins in all branches of the motion picture industry are highly munerative.

The sole aim of these various schools of motion picture operatg, therefore, has been to teach their pupils how to pass the nicipal operators' license examination, rather than how to skillly and properly project motion pictures, for which latter the hools have neither adequate equipment nor competent instructors. Although we have in the past been obliged to condemn these erator schools on countless occasions, this course has not been ompted by a narrow viewpoint in the matter, and we are pleased set forth in the following our impressions of a school of otion picture operating recently visited by us, which does not long in the category with the ordinary schools.

This is the school, or class, in motion picture operating, inaugted about two months ago, and maintained by the Red Cross stitute at 331 Fourth avenue, New York City, where cripples are ved from lives of idleness by teaching them useful trades—us making them independent and self-respecting members of e community.

This worthy work of rehabilitating crippled youths and men was ndertaken experimentally by the Red Cross Institute with the view assisting the large number of soldiers who will undoubtedly turn from Europe in a more or less disabled condition, and hile the influx of war cripples has not as yet become noticeably large, the Institute is giving their plan a thorough tryout by maintaining classes composed of crippled civilians, who are taught printing, mechanical drafting, oxy-acetylene welding, the manufacture of artificial limbs, jewelry making and motion picture operating. The practical instruction in these various trades is carried out on an extensive scale in rooms, or shops, well equipped with modern machinery, and a trip through the Institute will prove an eye-opener to the average able-bodied civilian. As, however, the work of the Institute is fully described in its various booklets and is receiving notice in the public prints, we will proceed to describe the section in which we are here primarily interested—the class in motion picture operating.

A Corner of Projection Class-Room Red Cross Institute

The class is instructed by James R. Cameron, who combines extensive experience with the patience so necessary in successful teaching, and the class-room is on the third floor of the Institute building. A corner of the room is shown in the illustration, from which it will be noted that there is an extensive array of the necessary operating equipment. This is being rapidly added to, through the kindness of the equipment dealers and film producers, and includes amongst other items: complete Power and Simplex projectors, Acme portable projector, Hallberg economizer, Powers inductor, Hallberg motor-generator, Hallberg four-in-one regulator, a complete distribution board (shown in the photo) fitted with voltmeters, ammeters, and a variety of wiring systems. To the extreme right in the photo will be noticed a corner of the asbestos booth installed in the class room, which is completely equipped with operating appliances. The Simplex projector is installed in this booth, and as the class room looks out on a large assembly hall below, a good sized picture may be projected across this room to the opposite wall.

Since the accompanying photo was taken Mr. Cameron has added many puzzling connections and complicated circuits to the distributing switchboard, which must all be unravelled by his pupils in the course of their tuition, while they are frequently called upon to go over a circuit from the cellar up, to locate a short-circuit "planted" by the instructor.

Electricity does not form the major portion of the instruction given by Mr. Cameron, who has endeavored to present a well rounded course, giving due consideration to the optical and mechanical phases of projection as well, and including the necessary safety precautions which an operator must always bear in mind.

It will be contended by many, and perhaps with some justification, that the operating-room of a theatre is not a place to be entrusted to the charge of a cripple. We have known instances where a one-armed man has made good as a projectionist, and not a few instances have been heard of where leg-cripples presided over the projection in theatres. An arm-cripple is manifestly at a disadvantage when attempting to project motion pictures, but it appears that a leg-cripple whose powers of locomotion are not seriously impaired, or who is provided with artificial limbs, should be capable of assuming the work of an operator, and it is this sort of disabled men who are taught motion picture projection at the Red Cross Institute.

The Essential Requirements
for Improved Projection
are
SPEER CARBONS

SPEER Alterno Combinations
for A.C. Work
and
SPEER Hold-Ark Combinations
for D.C. Work

Produce Incomparable Results

Write today for descriptive folders. Read the unbiased opinions of operators

Place an order now with your Supply House

"The Carbons with a Guarantee"

Manufactured by
SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS, PA.

PREPAREDNESS

Don't wait until your machine breaks down before buying a new one.

Remember "A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE." We will sell you a NEW MACHINE, taking in your old one as PART PAYMENT, either for cash or on the MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN.

Write us today advising what machine you have and we will give you our exchange proposition.

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY
Largest Exclusive Dealers to the Moving Picture Trade
300-302 Mallers Building 5 South Wabash Avenue
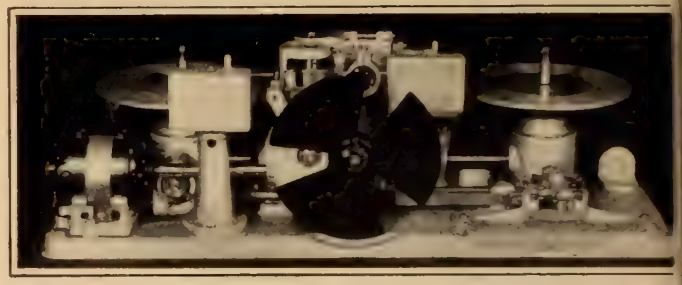
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
Dealers in Motiograph, Standard and Simplex Moving Picture Machines, National Carbons, Minusa Screens and Everything for the Theatre
WE SELL ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN

PERFECTED PROJECTION

THE mechanism of the DeVry Portable Motion Picture Projector is so wonderfully simple as to commend itself instantly to the amateur operator, while it combines all the necessary qualities of perfected projection to delight the appreciation of the professional.

Adopted by the United States Government in all Departments where motion pictures are used, and by the American Red Cross, at home and abroad. Used also in all Y. M. C. A. work, on transports, at home and "over there."

Write today for our Catalogue H-3



The DeVry Corporation
109½ North Wells Street Chicago, U. S. A.

As it is not the purpose of the school to make money, instruction is carried on in a natural manner and without unc haste; thus the pupils are learning under conditions fairly co parable to real apprenticeship. That Mr. Cameron is achiev results is now becoming apparent, for those of his pupils who h taken the preliminary (written) examination for their license h succeeded in passing and some have doubtless been gran licenses ere now.

The Institute is able to secure positions for those who obt their license to operate, and it will prove interesting to study h these men get along in the field of practical projection.

The Attractograph

A NEW type of motion picture machine for office, conventi show window and terminal station has been brought out the Attractograph Company, Inc., 220 West 42nd street, New Yo City. This machine displays pictures which can be readily se in broad daylight, as well as at night and its operation is entir automatic. After the reel is projected it is automatically wound and then displayed again, so that after the machine is ranged and started it will continuously operate for an indefin period without auy further attention. The outfit consists of t separate parts, the moving picture machine and a miniature th atre in which the pictures are displayed. The moving picture m chine is operated by a standard type universal Westinghou motor, which will operate on either direct or alternating curre Two horizontal discs carry the film which passes in one directi for projection and in the opposite direction for rewinding.

Projecting Mechanism of Attractograph

A 250-watt Mazda stereopticon lamp, with concentrated filamer furnishes the light, which is automatically extinguished when t machine stops and also during the process of rewinding. The m chine is equipped with two automatic safety switches, which a provided in case the film breaks, in which event the machine sto and the light goes out, if this occurs while projecting. In ca the film breaks while rewinding, the machine simply stops, t light being out. All parts of the machine are made from an al minum composition, so that it weighs but thirty-five pounds. The is a dust-proof and sound-proof cover provided which acts as carrier for the machine, as well as a cover.

The projector is placed about a foot from the miniature th atre, so that the light enters an aperture in the base; here strikes a mirror set at an angle of 45 degrees, and is reflect upwards on to a screen, set on what would be termed a stag Another 45-degree mirror reflects an image of the screen ou wards, making the picture appear to the audience to come fro a screen on the rear wall of the theatre. Standard non-i flammable films in lengths of 50 to 500 feet can be exhibited. Th outfit draws 2½ amperes and is approved by the National Boa of Fire Underwriters.

Power Co. Has Impressive Honor Roll

UPON the walls of the Nicholas Power Company at 90 Go street there hangs a remarkable picture to which they poi with pride.

It is a pen and ink sketch, 28 x 40 inches, done in five color and the ability of the artist, James Stillman, purchasing age of the company, would put many a professional craftsman the blush.

It is the Honor Roll of the Nicholas Power Company, Inco porated, and beneath the sixteen flags of the Allies are engrosse the names of those 61 employees who have gone to the front.

Even in these days of large Honor Rolls and impressive servi flags this is a distinctly fine showing.

New Wage Scale of Local 306 Meeting Approval of Theatres

IT not infrequently happens that when a labor organization increases the compensation which its members must receive from employers, such increase does not meet with the employers' approval.

However, the recent wage increase for its members, put into effect by Local 306 I. A. T. S. E. and M. P. M. O., of New York City, has been willingly paid by most all local theatres employing union operators, as it has been apparent to the managers that the increased cost of living made a higher compensation for the operator imperative.

The attitude of the theatre managers, in New York and vicinity, toward the new wage scale of Local 306 is well summed up in the following notation, appended by M. J. Gerson of Whitestone, L. I. to the notice of the increase sent out by the organization, and mailed to the Recording Secretary. Mr. Gerson said:

"Your new schedule received and same will be O. K. Some of us are even paying more. It is a good move and I approve of it."

Recent Simplex Installations in Pennsylvania

THE Hollis-Smith Company, 1201 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., exclusive distributors for the Simplex projector in the states of West Virginia and western Pennsylvania, has reported to the Simplex Company forty-four sales of Simplex projectors made within the last four weeks.

The installations included machines placed in the Grand Amusement Co., Johnstown, Pa.; Pastime theatre, Lewiston, Pa.; Olympic theatre, Latrobe, Pa.; Bellevue theatre, Bellevue, Pa.; Temple theatre of the Harry Davis Enterprises, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Sagamore theatre, Sagamore, Pa.; Avelon theatre, Avelon, Pa., and the Lowrie theatre, Troy Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.

In addition to the machines sold to these theatres, the Hollis-Smith Company has installed during this period several Simplex projectors in schools, churches and Government munitions plants.

National Anti-Misframe League

Pledge

AS a motion picture operator who has the interest of his profession at heart and is willing to assist in eliminating some of the evils practised in the operating-room, I promise that I will to the best of my ability return films to the exchange in first-class condition. Furthermore, I will when it becomes necessary remedy all misframes, bad patches, etc., that may be in the film which I receive and in this way co-operate with my brother operators and give greater pleasure to those who make up the motion picture audience by showing films that are free from such defects. I also promise that I will not make punch marks in film, and when film is received by me, with punch holes, I will notify the exchange to that effect so that they may use their efforts to correct this evil.

Membership cards are now ready and are being sent out as fast as possible. There are a number of operators, however, who have neglected to send in the desired information. If you will fill out the blank and mail to this office, button and membership card will be forwarded.

Member's Name .....

Home address .....

Name of theatre where employed.....

Address of theatre and name of manager.....

SILVERTIP

THE STANDARD DIRECT CURRENT MOTION PICTURE CARBONS

The Silvertip carbon used with a Columbia upper gives a light source that is hard to beat. The Silvertip is a quality product that has received the stamp of approval of the best operators in the country.

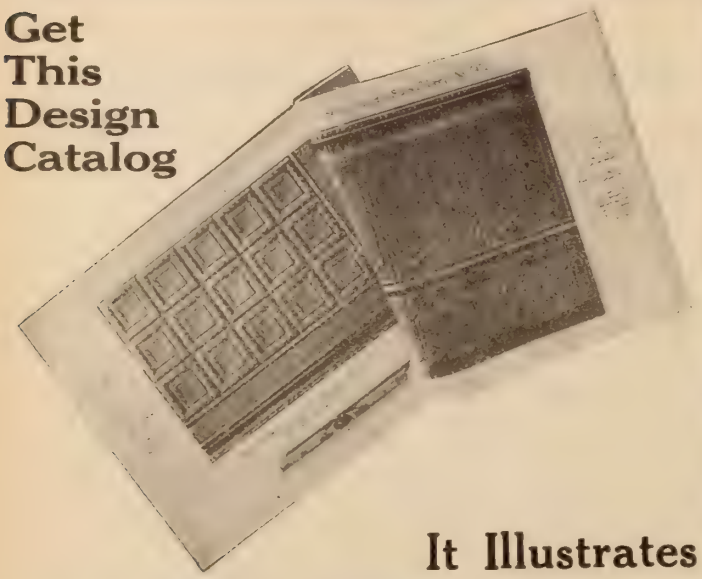
THE COLUMBIA-SILVERTIP COMBINATION GIVES:

1. Absolutely steady screen illumination free from flickering shadows. The small diameter of the Silvertip causes it to burn with a sharp point which keeps the arc steady, and also eliminates the shadows on the screen.

2. A powerful, flexible light source. The arc can be varied at the will of the operator, according to the density of the film within a reasonable limit of the rated amperage of the combination used.

NOTE: SILVERTIPS ARE FOR DIRECT CURRENT ONLY

FOR ALTERNATING CURRENT PROJECTION USE



WHITE A. C. SPECIAL CARBONS

These carbons give a pure white light of high intensity and flickerless illumination. No change of apparatus

WRITE TODAY FOR OUR CIRCULARS

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio

Get This Design Catalog

It Illustrates Many Designs of

"BERGER'S Classik" STEEL CEILINGS

that are particularly suitable for theatres.

It shows theatres in which "Classik" Steel Designs have been used for

Ceilings and Sidewalls Proscenium Arches and Box Fronts

"Classik" Steel Ceilings and Sidewalls offer you faultless reproductions of beautiful plaster designs in steel—Permanent beauty for your new theatre—Splendidly effective in remodeling an older building for theatre purposes.

You should know more about the possibilities of good Steel Ceilings and Sidewalls.

While this catalog is too elaborate—too expensive for very general distribution, we will gladly send a copy to any theatre owner or manager

ADDRESS DEPT. D-45

The Berger Mfg. Co.
Canton, O.

BRANCHES: Boston New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, San Francisco

Export Department: Berger Building, New York City, U. S. A.

Found NOT Wanting

Let No Branch of the MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
Permit itself to be found wanting when the results of the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive are figured up and announced to the world

Begin Now to make the grand "Jump Off" a Grand Success

Elsie Ferguson, in the White Dress, Presents a Reward to a Winner of a Picture Lovers' Campaign

Camera Laboratory — Picture Making — Studio Technique

The Sun-Light Arc, a Super Light-Source for Cinematography

RECENT years have seen great developments in high-power searchlights, and a studio arc lamp for cinematography, designed along similar lines, has been perfected within the last two years.

This is the Sun-Light Arc, made by the Sun-Light Arc Company, Inc., of 218 West 48th street, New York, which is shown in the accompanying illustration. This powerful light source was kindly demonstrated for us by Mr. J. J. Harmer, of the Sun-Light Company, and an account of its capabilities may prove of interest to our readers.

The Sun-Light Arc

Like its prototype, the modern high-power searchlight, the Sun-Light lamp utilizes the carbon arc, and one of its most important features is the mechanism for feeding the carbons. In the Sun-Light lamp the carbons are fed automatically, and the lamp will burn for about one hour without feeding the carbons or any other attention, after which the carbons are entirely consumed and must of course be renewed.

It is requisite that a light source used for cinematography be absolutely steady burning and free from flickering, a difficult requirement to fulfil in an arc, but which is accomplished in the Sun-Light lamp in the following manner: The upper, or positive carbon, bearing the light-giving crater is caused to rotate slowly and steadily by a mechanism attached to the carbon holder, so that a perfect and symmetrical crater is maintained at all times. The upper carbon is also fed downward automatically, and the negative carbon fed upwards, by independent mechanisms.

This monster light-source is alleged to furnish an illumination of 100,000 candlepower per lamp, and each arc operates at 150 amperes of direct current. An idea of the power of these Sun-Light Arcs is gained when Mr. Harmer exhibits, in the demonstration studio of the Sun-Light Company, a motion picture made in the grand ball-room of the Hotel Astor with the aid of only two Sun-Light lamps. This motion picture is fully exposed and shows splendid detail in every scene, and when the size of the grand ballroom is considered, the power of the Sun-Light Arc becomes readily apparent. On another occasion successful motion pictures were also made of the Motion Picture Directors Association ball, at the Hotel Biltmore, where only one Sun-Light Arc was used. Both this film and the one made in the Astor ballroom are free from the confusing multiplicity of shadows which are sometimes apparent when a large number of separate light sources are used in lighting a scene.

Just recently these powerful light sources have been used in the Metropolitan and the Manhattan Opera Houses, in filming the ensemble scenes for the picture in which Enrico Caruso is to appear. At the Metropolitan Opera House three Sun-Light Arcs were used, while two were employed in the work at the Manhattan.

The Sun-Light lamp is also a powerful illuminator when photographing outdoor scenes at night, and by the addition of a parabolic mirror behind the arc an intense parallel beam may be projected a distance of many miles. Mr. Harmer has an interesting photograph showing the giant Woolworth Building, New York City, fully illuminated by a parallel beam projected from a location in Brooklyn a mile and a half distant. The beam is substantially parallel due to the use of the parabolic reflector, and the lighted towers of other neighboring skyscrapers rear themselves above the outline of the path of light.

The Sun-Light Arc is mounted on a rigid tripod of metal tubing, as shown in the illustration, and its weight is about 180 lbs. The Sun-Light Company do not sell the lamps outright but rent them by the day or week accompanied by an operator to install the lamp and control its performance. A smaller lamp of about 50,000 candlepower will shortly be available for industrial work, which will also be exploited on a rental basis.

X-Ray- and Micro-Cinematography

Mr. H. N. Wilkins, Astoria, L. I., inquires: "Which, if any, of the books on cinematography give details of the methods of making the interesting X-ray and microscopical film subjects one sometimes sees? I am interested in learning all particulars of this class of work."

In reply: Interesting as the results of scientific research are, when recorded and exhibited cinematographically, there does not seem to be any systematic attempt to produce this class of pictures in the United States, although we must be thankful for the occasional film of this character which comes along.

The French, on the other hand, have extensively demonstrated the possibilities of cinematography as a means of recording scientific experiments, and the history of motion pictures shows that the French were scientists in this work from the start, as evidenced by the pioneer experiments of Marey.

It is to the French text-books on cinematography that the correspondent must look for information on the production of the X-ray and the microscopical film subjects, although even in those most thorough works the subjects now under consideration have received all too scant a description. In Ducom's "La Cinematographie Scientifique et Industriel," Paris, 1911, there are some pages devoted to micro-cinematography, but X-ray work in connection with the motion picture camera appears to have escaped the attention of the French writers in spite of the splendid showing of their movie producers along this line.

In view of the general scarcity of published information on the methods of X-ray and micro-cinematography, the following brief outline of the necessary procedure may be of some interest and service to the readers. Either class of work could be made the subject of an extended article, but on the present occasion we can but glance at the more important details of the respective procedures.

In X-ray cinematography the object to be depicted (usually some part of the human body) is rayed in substantially the customary manner, but as the X-rays will not be refracted by a camera objective to form a satisfactory image, a fluorescent, or intensifying, screen is used to intercept the rays passing through the object being studied, and the image projected upon this intensifying screen is then photographed by a cine camera focused thereon. It is in substantially this manner that the successful X-ray motion pictures have been made, but the method is in no wise as simple as the above would lead one to infer, because special precautions have to be taken at every stage.

As wood is transparent to X-radiation, the camera must be en-

The film that first made motion pictures practical is easily identifiable by the words

"EASTMAN"
AND "KODAK"

on the film margin.

EASTMAN KODAK CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

A GOOD PLAN

Entrust the developing and printing of the films to Evans and avoid disappointment as to quality.

Our service has reached the highest stage of perfection in every detail. (Ask those we serve.)

EVANS FILM MFG. CO.

416-24 West 216th Street New York City

Telephone: St. Nicholas 3443-44

"NEWMAN" BRASS FRAMES AND RAILS

A FEW REASONS

why "NEWMAN" METAL FRAMES have been chosen by all the big circuits and best class of theatres.

1—Because the constant exposure to all sorts of weather conditions cannot affect "NEWMAN" NON-CORROSIVE METAL FRAMES.

2—Because of their richness in beauty and design, they liven the entrance and render the lobby more inviting than any other kind of frames.

3—Because they will outlast a dozen wood frames. They are practically un-wear-out-able.

INSIST ON THE NAME "NEWMAN" WHEN BUYING FRAMES

Write for New 1918 Catalog

THE NEWMAN MFG. CO.
Established 1882
717-19 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati, Ohio
68 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois
Canadian Representative—J. T. Malone, Rialto Theatre Bldg., Montreal, Canada
Pacific Coast—G. A. Metcalfe, San Francisco, Cal.

We manufacture the frames in various finishes which do not require polishing

Frames, Easels, Rails, Grilles, Signs, Choppers, Kick Plates, Door Bars

cased in lead to prevent the fogging of the negative film stock, and it is also customary to have a partition covered with sheet-lead between the camera and the tube from which the X-rays emanate, the subject being also on that side of the partition and the intensifying screen (upon which the camera is focused) being located in an opening in its center.

While the camera casing is in a measure transparent to X-rays, the photographic objective is quite opaque to radiation of such short wave-length, when judged by the usual standards of photographic intensity, or rapidity, and an objective made of quartz is required in this class of work, in combination with the most rapid negative film obtainable. Even then sufficient exposure in the negative images can hardly be secured at the usual cine taking rate of 16 pictures per second, and such films are most all photographed at a greatly reduced speed. To protect the subject from excessive action of the X-rays, which, as is well known, can cause serious and irremediable burns, the French workers connect the tube circuit with a circuit-breaker controlled by the camera crank, which shuts off the radiant while the camera shutter is passing the objective.

Micro-cinematography is carried out in identically the same way as ordinary photo-micrography, although more difficult of successful accomplishment on account of the small dimensions of the cine image, which requires painstaking focussing, indeed, in the case of high power work.

While both horizontal and vertical cameras are extensively used in ordinary micro-photography, the vertical arrangement seems to be preferred by most workers in micro-cinematography.

The draw-tube of the microscope is connected to the lens-opening in the camera front, the photographic objective having been removed. For most classes of work the eye-piece, or ocular, of the microscope serves as the objective and projects the magnified image onto the film at the exposure plane of the camera. A projection eye-piece is perhaps to be preferred in all classes of micro-photography where an eye-piece is used to project the image onto the sensitive photographic surface, but fine work can, and has been, done with the ordinary oculars. For some classes of work the magnified image is projected to the exposure aperture of the camera without the intervention of an eye-piece.

It is a most necessary convenience for the cine camera used in micro work to be provided with a small bellows attached to the front-board around the lens opening. This bellows has its own front-board, to which the draw-tube of the microscope is attached, and should be capable of extension by rack and pinion. By adjusting the distance between the microscope and the exposure plane in this way the image on the film is brought to the desired size, after which the final focusing is accomplished by the fine adjustment of the microscope.

To shorten exposures the illumination must be critical, i. e., an image of the illuminant must be focused upon the specimen on the stage, or as nearly so as is consistent with an evenly illuminated field. Wide-angled cones of light and objectives of high N. A. give the best results when photographing minute structures, for when narrow cones are used diffraction bands are liable to surround small details in the image, and false markings, not present in the original object, are also liable to appear. While a wide-angled cone from the condenser sometimes floods a microscopic specimen with light to the extent of obliterating details in the image, this is generally counteracted in micro-photography by the use of contrast color filters, which have to be used in a great many cases in order to give contrast to the resultant photograph. To get the full benefit of color filters panchromatic negative film has generally to be used, but even with the available film stock of this variety it is difficult to secure good micro-movies of some objects, owing to insufficient contrast, and a slower, more contrasty negative stock (preferably color sensitive) would be desirable.

Microscopists are well aware that by the use of special apparatus in conjunction with the usual microscope particles much smaller than the theoretical resolving limit of half a wave-length may be observed and photographed. We have applied the Siedentopf-Zsigmondy method of narrow slit, dark-field, illumination to the photography of ultramicroscopic particles in colloidal solutions with the motion picture camera, and with proper appliances there seems no limit to the smallness of a particle which can still be photographed, provided it reflects enough light to impress the photographic film. If, however, these ultramicroscopic particles are to be seen as individual particles they must be separated from one another in the solution by a distance of at least a half wave-length of the observing light.

Business Offerings

FOR QUICK SALE: 350 ft. Prestwich 75 mm. Cooke lens—6 magazines, spot dissolve and all attachments for trick work. No. 1 Williamson Printer complete with motor, etc. Complete outfit slightly used. Cost $700.00. Price $350.00. Act quick. Canady & Gleichman, Stillman Theatre Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

CAMERA-MAN
TEN YEARS' EXPERIENCE
AT LIBERTY
Box 650, care of Motion Picture News, New York City

MOVING PICTURE MACHINE MOTOR
$18.00
Alternating or Direct Current Complete with variable speed lever. Immediate delivery.
Fidelity Electric Co Lancaster, Pa.

MOTORS
and speed controllers for 6A, including switch and cover, 110 V., 220 V. A. C. and D. C. Guaranteed perfect, $40.00. A few used mechanisms 6A at bargain.
The Stern Manufacturing Company
1023 Race Street
Philadelphia, Pa.

Frederick W. Sweet Dies

FREDERICK W. SWEET, late traveling representative of the Nicholas Power Company, Inc., died at his home in Winthrop, Mass., on Sunday, September 1, after a lingering illness.

He was for many years identified with the Nicholas Power Company and, as their traveling representative, he was well and favorably known throughout the country. His long experience gave him a broad and comprehensive knowledge of the motion picture machine business which rendered his services of great value.

Fox Buys Six Simplex Machines

THE Fox Film Corporation has bought six Simplex projectors from the Precision Machine Company, Inc., 317 East Thirty-fourth street, New York, N. Y., for installation in the American Theatre, Clinton avenue, Newark, N. J.; the Liberty theatre, 1123 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, N. J., and the Folly theatre, Graham avenue and Debevoise street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This order makes forty Simplex machines bought by the Fox Film Corporation for its offices, laboratories and theatres on the Atlantic coast.

Camera men, Laboratory men, Producers and Experimenters

Submit your Problems to the Picture Making Department

Theatre and Exchange Mailing List Service

We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 20 to 50% in postage, etc.

MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO. N 181
80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK Phone, 3327 Chelsea
Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

TransVerteR
Automatically supplies only such voltage as arc requires. No waste of current in ballast.
HERTNER ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.
W. 114th St., Cleveland, Ohio, U.S.A

WE FIX IT
Motion Picture Equipment problems. Every known accessory. Orders shipped day received. Let us quote you.
INDEPENDENT MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY
729 Seventh Avenue, New York
Sixth Floor

Unless You Have The
Automaticket System
You Are Losing Money
1733 Broadway, New York

The Accessory Department teems with Items of Interest to Operator and Exhibitor alike.

Theatres near you have installed the Estey Theatre Pipe Organ. Write for names. Judge for yourself.
THE ESTEY ORGAN CO.
Brattleboro, Vt.
See our page ad in the October 12 issue of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS

TYPHOON COOLING SYSTEM
TYPHOON FAN COMPANY 1544 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

MODERN EQUIPPED STUDIOS FOR RENT

UNEXCELLED FILM LABORATORIES AND STUDIOS CO. INC.
120-124 School St.
YONKERS, N.Y.
TELEPHONE — 4600 YONKERS

HIGH CLASS DEVELOPING AND PRINTING

For Better Music
The Fotoplayer
62 West 45th Street AMERICAN PHOTO PLAYER CO. New York City

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

Cue Sheets Latest Hits — Music — Musical Equipment

Motion Picture Theatre Organs and Their Use

THERE has appeared in our various magazines for the past five years, article after article on Music and the Picture, but most of them have been devoted to musical presentation, and what different leaders consider right and wrong in motion picture playing. However, my article is going to be on the Organ as it is being used, in connection with pictures.

As this article is for the benefit of the exhibitor and organist, I hope that what I might say, will help to put on a higher plane, organ music in connection with motion pictures.

The other day the writer visited five theatres where the organ is being used (some of these houses were also using orchestras), and I never really knew till I made this visit, how much asleep some people are. That goes for both the exhibitor and the organist. While I only spent about an hour in each house, it was enough to know that things were not as they should be.

To begin with, I must admit that ninety per cent. of our theatre organists are what we call one legged. For the benefit of the exhibitor, a one-legged organist is one that whangs away on low C and G with his or her left leg, while the right one is forever on the crescendo pedal, and whose pedal keys are as good as new from the middle register up. You exhibitors who have organs in your theatres, just go and look at the pedal keyboard, and I'll venture to say that while there are, as a rule, thirty or more keys —you will find about sixteen or seventeen of them as new and unscratched as they were the day they left the factory. Yet that doesn't mean you have a poor organist, for I've heard many one-legged organists who can play all around a legitimate two-limbed enthusiast, but it does mean that your organist is not bringing out all there is in the organ, and from a business standpoint you are entitled to all there is there.

In one of the theatres visited, I sat directly back of the player, and for one-half hour she didn't touch a stop, although there were seventeen of them—but just simply had one pedal stop down which was coupled to the swell, two down on the great (Dulciana and Viola), four down on the swell (stopped diapason, flute, viol de orchestra, vox humana and the beloved tremolo). Think of it, for thirty minutes that combination. But, oh, she didn't forget there was a crescendo pedal, and her pet right foot just stuck to that, which squeeked up and down about every four or five measures of whatever she was playing. And what was more she didn't turn a page of music the whole time I was there, and I know she wasn't playing from the piece in front of her.

Now, organists, is that treating your employer fair? And is it giving the public value for the money they spent in coming in? Absolutely no, and you know it, but you don't stop to think. Do you suppose for one minute that your manager could run the same pictures week after week and stay in business? And yet you play the same tunes year in and year out, and collect your salary at the end of the week with a smile on your face. Highway robbery and nothing else. I claim the organist should take as much pains in scoring a picture as the orchestra leader, yet I know of exhibitors who will screen a picture for their leader, while the regular and relief organists are peacefully sleeping at home, where as matter of fact they should have been sitting right alongside of the musical director, taking cues just the same as he does. There is no reason why the organist shouldn't play the picture even better than the orchestra, for in the first place, a good modern organ is a complete orchestra in itself, and if you know your organ you can do things an orchestra could never think of doing.

In our theatre we screen the picture two days ahead of showing date. Present at this screening are the musical director—regular and relief organists. The orchestra leader takes down the cues, and the relief organist sits right with him and takes down the same cues, each scene is timed and each situation properly scored until a picked title for the organ comes, then I take up the cues and score each situation while the relief organist follows me, and in that way, when the first show is put on two days later, every thing runs just as smooth as if it were the last day of the showing. The organists must have their music laid out just as the orchestra—none of this lights out, a couple of stops down, foot on the crescendo pedal, one eye on the picture, and the other on some friend in the front row, left foot hitting and missing, tremolo on all the time—none of that will pass at our theatre, and it should be that way at all theatres where organists are employed.

Now organists wake up. First, buy some music, not only that, but keep on buying some. Get something new each week, so when the public pays their good money to come in, they will know that you are trying to please them as well as your employer. Cut out this forever wandering from one piece to another, headed for no place and never getting there. Lay out your program, just as though you were the leader of a thirty-piece orchestra, and have your first show run as smooth as your last. Keep your organ light on and your head with you, and use both to advantage. Get variety in your organ playing by using different stops, show your employer and also the public just what the organ really can do. Try to use the unison off once in a while, juggle your couplers, experiment, and you will find out you can do things you never dreamed of doing. And a word to exhibitors—keep after your organists, tell them you want something different, something new for a change. Get them to wash the glue from off their right foot and try to persuade them to separate from a dollar or two each week for new music. Wake up and find out that good music is half your show, and you will be surprised how quick the public will find it out.

JULIUS K. JOHNSON,
Organist and Manager New Garrick Theatre, Minneapolis, Minn.

EDITOR'S COMMENT

We have read the above article by Julius K. Johnson with great interest, and can only say that he has struck the "nail on the head." We practically agree with him in every point of issue, but fail to see why the organist or, musician in fact, should be blamed in every instance. We know many exhibitors who engaged good, live organists who after several weeks have given up in despair, and practically resigned themselves to musical doggeral, the reasons for this being two handicaps; first, their small wages, and, secondly, no allowance for the purchase of music. Mr. Johnson's target is the musician, while we are going to criticize the exhibitor.

The exhibitor who thinks it is not necessary to follow the picture or pictures with the proper musical accompaniment is far behind the times, and we are sorry to say that during our last ten years of experience as musical editor and musical director, we have met many who are using the best pictures in their theatres and not making any effort to obtain the proper musical programs. Many exhibitors, if they haven't a "Rialto" or "Rivoli" with an orchestra of at least forty men, often express this opinion, "What's the use, we'll never get there anyway." At the same time, during our long years of experience in arranging music for the film, we have had occasion to come in contact with numerous exhibitors who have only an organ, and must admit that the one-man orchestra, if played by a professional operator, is the only means by which an exhibitor can obtain the best musical results, if his name is not S. L. Rothapfel and he is not surrounded by a symphony orchestra.

The great musical problem which confronts the exhibitors of today should be a matter of serious consideration, but instead of considering the situation, the exhibitors have gone ahead without the least bit of thought and employed cheap piano players, or even worse, cheap organists, while those employing good organists have in most cases failed to provide them with a sufficient salary to buy enough music of the right kind. A great many exhibitors are also in the habit of decreasing their musical equipments as soon as they notice diminishing box-office receipts. Very few of them realize that by increasing such musical appurtenances, there would be such inflation in their box-office receipts that not only would it cover the expense of their increase, but also leave them much more liberal profit.

Mr. Exhibitor: we wish you to bear one fact in mind, that it is not we, as Musical Editor of this paper who condemns your ideas as far as music is concerned. It is your patron, your ticket-buyer who does the same thing. It is up to you to help your musicians, to see that your music is, if not a predominating influence, at least an important factor of your performance. By doing so, you will in a very short time notice the difference in the attitude of your audience when music is played which is adapted to the photoplay. You can easily afford to give the people not only good pictures, but in fact double value for their money, a good photoplay and a fine concert.

We congratulate Mr. Johnson on his splendid ideas of performing his duties, and are sure it will be to the greatest advantage of not only the musical profession, but also the exhibitors in general, if everybody would try to improve musical conditions in the motion picture theatres.

EDITORS.

Review of Latest Compositions

1—"Savannah," a thrilling, wiggling one-step. It has an unusually catchy melody, a remarkable swing for dancing and some up-to-date work, bells and railroad effects. (Belwin, Inc., 701 Seventh avenue, New York)

2—"Razzberries," Jazz one-step. This is a real riot. It's one of the Victor Co.'s famous "best sellers." By Frank Banta, Jr. (Richmond, 151 W. 45th street, New York.)

3—"A Foxy Cure for the Blues" (Also known as "Harry Fox Trot"). Full of surprises. As featured in Joe Howard's new Broadway production, "In and Out" as the "Shimmie" dance. Recorded on every phonograph and piano roll. (Richmond.)

4—"Valse Divine," a most impressive waltz on popular classic melodies such as "Oh, Paradise," from "L'Africaine," by Meyerbeer; "A La Bien Aimee," by Schuett;" "Parla Waltz," by Arditi; "Kamennoi Ostrow," by Rubinstein, and "Humoreske," by Dvorak. (Belwin, Inc.)

5—"The Battle Song of Liberty." Tremendously popular "Over There" and everywhere. Set to the music of the famous Harvard College Football March, "Our Director." Words by Jack Yellen. (Walter Jacobs, 8 Bosworth street, Boston, Mass.)

6—"Peter Gink," one-step, adapted from "Peer Gynt," Suite 1 by Grieg, is positively the greatest novelty number yet reeled off by George L. Cobb, the most prodigious writer of popular music of the present day. (Walter Jacobs.)

7—"Military Tactics," for concerts, theatrical use, hotels, dancing, political, regimental and social gatherings. The skill that the famous March writer, Mr. Rosey, has shown in creating this new March sensation is beyond criticism; it's simply marvelous. "Military Tactics" will hereafter be known as the representative favorite for patriotic music, every theme of it being truly American.—(Belwin, Inc.)

8—"Red Rose," waltz, by Charley Straight. Positively the most haunting melody since "Merry Widow"—(Ted Browne Music Co., 329 W. Madison street, Chicago, Ill.)

9—"Sweet Memories," a great new waltz by the well-known writer, Chas. L. Johnson. (Forster Music Pub., Inc., 736 So. Michigan avenue, Chicago.)

10—"The Whirling Dervishes," by Rollinson. A desert episode in a wild style and galop tempo. Good for any wild scene, excitement, etc., in the silent drama. (Oliver Ditson, 178 Tremont street, Boston.)

11—"Among the Roses," reverie by M. L. Lake. A composition destined to become a nation's favorite. A melody which will thrill, inspire and charm even the coldest audience. (Carl Fischer, Cooper Sq., New York.)

12—"Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," one-step. Irving Berlin's Bugle Song that has made such a hit in that Broadway Success, "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!" Waterson, Berlin & Snyder Co., Strand Theatre Bldg., New York.)

13—"A Selection of Favorite Melodies," a medley arrangement of excerpts from famous and standard works such as "Summernight's Dream," by Suppe; "Naila," by Delibes; "Gioconda," by Ponchielli; "Aragonaise, by Massenet; "To Spring," by Gounod, and "Whispering Flowers," by Blon, etc. (Belwin, Inc.)

LATEST MUSIC CUES

"THE BURDEN OF PROOF"

(Select-Marion Davies)

Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

Love Theme: "On the Banks of the Wabash, Far Away" (Ballad) by Dresser

Plotting Theme: "The Crafty Spy" (a Mysterious Tone Picture) by Gaston Borch

1—Love Theme (1 minute and 55 seconds), until—T: "Robert Ames prominent."

2—"Al Fresco" (Moderato), by Etienne (40 seconds), until—T: "The Ames mansion."

3—Continue to action (30 seconds), until—T: "George Blair a power."

4—"Military Tactics" (American Bugle March), by Rosey (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Yes, I need a little vacation."

Note: pp during interior; ff during exterior scenes.

5—Continue pp and slow (30 seconds), until—T: "Elaine, daughter of——"

6—"Impish Elves" (Allegretto Intermezzo), by Borch (1 minute and 35 seconds), until—T: "Elaine's mother, Mrs. Brook."

7—Love Theme (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Her own heart's choice."

8—Continue ff (1 minute and 10 seconds), until—T: Doctor Charles Camp."

Note: Watch for railroad effects.

9—"Melody" (Andante Moderato), by Gluck (3 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "I am not to be disturbed."

10—Plotting Theme (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—S: Elaine and Ames on bench in garden.

11—Love Theme (30 seconds), until—S: Flashback to interior of office.

12—Repeat Plotting Theme (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—T: "Where a thousand eyes."

13—"Dramatic Fantasia" (Maestoso), by Bach (1 minute and 10 seconds), until—T: "If I am wanted."

14—Continue pp (20 seconds), until—T: "While at the Capitol."

15—"Valse Moderne," by Rosey (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "You guessed she promised."

16—Love Theme (1 minute), until—T: "Jack bids Elaine."

17—"Love Song," by Abbott Lee (2 minutes and 25 seconds), until—T: "Back in the whirl."

18—"L'Adieu" (Moderato), by Karganoff (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—T: "Doing her bit."

19—"America" (National Song) (45 seconds), until—S: Soldiers marching.

20—"Red, White and Blue," followed by "Dixie" (1 minute and 20 seconds), until—S: Soon after the young couple.

21—Plotting Theme (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—T: "On the eve of their departure."

22—"Lento Allegro" (from Symphonette Suite), by Berge (2 minutes and 10 seconds), until—S: After girls leave Elaine.

23—Love Theme (1 minute and 55 seconds), until—T: "Pardon me, I must make——"

24—"Reve D'Amour" (Melodious Allegretto), by Zemecnik (3 minutes and 20 seconds), until—T: "Be certain to place."

25—Plotting Theme (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—T: "Your suggestion was wise."

26—"Sinister Theme" (Moderato Mysterioso), by Levy (1 minute and 35 seconds), until—T: "The long delayed return."

27—"Le Retour" (Allegretto Mysterioso), by Bizet (4 minutes and 35 seconds), until—T: "This incident shows."

28—Plotting Theme (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "In the nick of time."

29—"Dramatic Tension No. 1," by Levy (4 minutes), until—T: "Dont act rashly."

30—"Cavatine" (Dramatic Moderato), by Bohm (4 minutes and 10 seconds), until—S: Elaine on balcony.

31—Love Theme (1 minute), until—T: "Jack Mills betrayed."

32—"Heart Wounds" (Dramatic), by Grieg (2 minutes and 20 seconds), until—T: "Whether you are guilty."

33—"Dramatic Recitative," by Levy (1 minute and 50 seconds), until—S: Elaine on balcony.

34—Love Theme (45 seconds), until—S: Interior of office.

35—Repeat "Dramatic Recitative" (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—T: "I've set a little trap."

36—Plotting Theme (2 minutes and 50 seconds), until—S: Elaine in room.

37—Love Theme (1 minute and 20 seconds), until—T: "Elaine, darling, it is all clear."

38—"Broken Melody" (Dramatic), by Van Biene (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—T: "What you have done to me."

39—"America" (National Song), pp (25 seconds), until—T: "Why would I not give?"

40—Love Theme (45 seconds), until * * * * * THE END.

Note: Play Cue No. 40 pp until final scene—then ff until Theme is finished.

Complete Plan Book begins on page 2079

MUSIC CUE SHEETS

Special Releases

¶ Prepared under the personal supervision of our Music Editor can be secured through our Service Department by sending ten cents for each cue sheet to cover the cost of postage and typeing. Remember it takes time to get these cue sheets to you—don't wait till the last minute to write us.

Alimony
All Woman
A Nymph of the Foothills
At the Mercy of Men
TheAuction Block
Back in the Woods
Blindness of Divorce
Babbling Tongues
Blue Blood
Boston Blackie's Little Pal
The Beloved Traitor
The Belgian
The Burden of Proof
Carmen of the Klondike
Cecilia of the Pink Roses
Clutch of Circumstances
The Changing Woman
The Claw
The Danger Mark
The Death Dance
Deemster (The)
DeLuxe Annie
The Co-Respondent
The Conqueror
The Call of Her People
The Crucible of Life
The Danger Game
A Daughter of the Gods
The Devil Stone
The Fair Pretender
The Face in the Dark
Fedora
Flower of the Dusk
Forbidden Path
For the Freedom of the World
The Flame of Yukon
A Gentleman's Agreement
The Glorious Adventure
The Grain of Dust
The Great White Trail
The Garden of Allah
The Heart of the Sunset
Her Final Reckoning
The House of Glass
The House of Mirth
Her Only Way
How Could you Jean?
Her Fighting Chance
In Again Out Again
In Judgment Of
Inside the Lines
Joan of Plattsburg
Joan the Woman
Just a Woman
Jack and the Beanstalk
The Kingdom of Youth
The Knife
Lest We Forget
Legion of Death
Les Miserables
The Lost Chord
Men
Money Mad
My Own United States
Madame Du Barry
The Marionettes
The Million Dollar Dollies
Nine Tenths of the Law
The Narrow Trail
Ordeal of Rosetta
Out of a Clear Sky
Over There
On Trial
One Hour
One Law for Both
Feck's Bad Girl
Price of a Good Time
Revelation
The Reason Why
Rough and Ready
Rose of the World
The Rose of Blood
Redemption
The Submarine Eye
The Safety Curtain
The Savage Woman
The Service Star
Social Ambition
The Splendid Sinner
A Successful Adventure
True Blue
Trail to Yesterday
Shirley Kaye
The Silent Woman
The Spy
The Studio Girl
The Silent Man
The Slacker
Suspicion
Thais
A Tale of Two Cities
The Tiger Woman
To-day
To Hell With the Kaiser
The Turn of the Wheel
The Venus Model
Woman and the Law
The Warrior
Wolves of the Trail
Woman and Wife
When a Man Sees Red
When Men Betray
The Whirlpool
Within the Law
Womanhood
The Zeppelin's Last Raid

¶ Cue Sheets for the following regular program releases can usually be obtained from the companies releasing the pictures. If these cannot be had we will be glad to cooperate in seeing that they are supplied to you.

Artcraft
Bluebird
Fox
Four Square
Goldwyn
Metro
Mutual
Paramount
Pathe
Select
Universal
U. S. Exhibitors
Vitagraph
W. H. Productions

The list of special releases is brought up to date every week. Watch the changes.

MUSIC CUES
Continued from Preceding Page

"THE SILENT WOMAN"

(Metro-Edith Storey)

Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

Theme: "Peacefulness" (Characteristic Andante Moderato) by Gaston Borch

1—"Frills and Furbelows" (Rondo Rococo), by Crespi (2 minutes and 45 seconds), at screening.
2—"Melody in F" (Andante Moderato), by Rubinstein (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Mee want Nan."
3—"Scherzetto" (Symphonette Suite), by Berge (3 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "Nan Renault only a clerk."
4—"Peacefulness" (Characteristic Moderato Andante) (Theme), by Borch (2 minutes), until—T: "Thanks, I'll save it for my."
5—"Venetian Love Dance" (Moderato Rubato), by Rich (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—S: When Nan leaves store.
6—"Silent Sorrows" (Andante Pathetique), by Borch (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—S: When Nan Dismounts from horse (doorbell).
7—"Dramatic Tension," by Levy (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—S: When Mrs. Lowery ascends stairs.
8—"Dramatic Agitato," by Hough (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—S: When Mrs. Lowery throws rose.
9—"A La Mode" (Popular One-Step), by Rosey (1 minute and 30 seconds), until T: "Sometime later matrimonial—" (horses' hoofs).
10—Theme (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—T: "I'm going back to New York."
11—"Vanity Caprice" (Allegro Ma Non Troppo), by Jackson (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "Dr. Robson a close friend."
12—"Cupid's Frolic" (Moderato Intermezzo), by Miles (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "The Doctor is right."
13—Theme (3 minutes), until—T: "It's for the boy's sake."
14—"Impish Elves" (Winsome Intermezzo), by Borch (2 minutes), until—T: "A quiet wedding and a home."
15—"Heavy Mysterioso," by Levy (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—S: When Aunt Laura leaves.
16—"Dramatic Tension No. 67," by Shepherd (2 minutes), until—S: When child enters.
17—"Valse Divine" (Characteristic Valse Moderato), by Rosey (3 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "Trying to hide in a round."
18—"Dream Chimes" (Andante Moderato), by Wyatt (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—T: "Jove, who would have."
19—"Andante Dramatic," by Herbert (3 minutes), until—T: "You haven't treated me."
20—"Yester-Love" (Andantino Intermezzo), by Borch (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Haunted by the shadow of—."
21—"Dramatic Andante" (Characteristic), by Berge (4 minutes), until—S: When Nan picks up letter.
22—"Furioso No. 60," by Shepherd (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—S: At Beresford's home.
23—Theme (2 minutes), until—T: "He's not worthy it"—until the END.

"THE KINGDOM OF YOUTH"

Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler.

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

Theme: "The Golden Youth" (Characteristic Valse Lento) by George Rosey

1—"Water Lilies" (4/4 Andante Moderato), by St. Clair (4 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "I just saw a sailor."
2—"Dramatic Recitative," by Levy (3 minutes and 5 seconds) until—T: "And like all young."
3—"Comedy Allegro," by Berge (2 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "Before the eyes."
4—Theme (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Ruth's Aunt Sophronia."
5—"Valse Divine" (Valse Lente), by Rosey (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Young woman, are you so free?"
6—"Trombone Sneeze" (Comic Allegretto), by Sorenson (55 seconds), until—T: "I am married little bird."
7—"Silence" (just produce bird effects) (15 seconds), until—T: "Parting."
8—"Erotik" (Dramatic), by Grieg (2 minutes and 35 seconds), until—T: "Mrs. Ella Rice, the widow."
9—"Visions" (Moderato Intermezzo), by Buse (2 minutes), until—S: Mail wagon arrives.
10—Theme (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—S: Mrs. Rice playing piano.
11—Vocal Solo (with piano accompaniment to action) (1 minute and 5 seconds), until—T: "Oh, Jimmy, tell me everything!"
12—"Sparklets" (6/8 Moderato), by Miles (1 minute and 35 seconds), until—T: "Now let it be understood."
13—"The Vampire" (Dramatic), by Levy (1 minute), until—T: "And after a week has passed."
14—Continue pp (35 seconds), until—T: "Weeks go by."
15—"Impish Elves" (Winsome Intermezzo), by Borch (4 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "My dear child, don't you."
16—Theme (2 minutes and 55 seconds), until—T: "And later it was all."
17—"Valse Moderne" (Valse Lente), by Rosey (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "I don't think you should."

(Continued on next page)

(Continued from preceding page)

18—"Intermezzo" (Moderato), by Huerter (3 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "Ruth determines that."
19—"Capricious Annette" (Allegretto Caprice), by Borch (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "I know you're scheming."
20—"Dramatic Andante" (Characteristic), by Borch (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—S: Interior of garage.
21—"Half-Reel Hurry" (for general use), by Levy (2 minutes and 40 seconds), until—T: "You did that."
22—Continue pp (1 minute and 5 seconds), until—S: Madge reading a book.
23—Continue ppp and very slow (35 seconds), until—S: On deck of yacht.
24—Theme (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until * * * * THE END.

"SUSPICION"

Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

Love Theme: "May Dreams" (Andantino Romance) by Gaston Borch

Sinister (Spy) Theme: "Sinister Theme" (Andante Molto e Misterioso) by Vely

1—"Valse Moderne" (Valse Lente), by George Rosey (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "Washington, the brain of the world war."
2—"Review March," by Berge (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Get me the Secret Service."
3—"Piano Solo" (improvise to action) (50 seconds), until—S: Automobile on driveway.
4—"Tacet" (20 seconds), until—S: Girl at piano.
5—"Piano Solo" (improvise to action) (40 seconds), until—S: Girl leaves piano.
6—Love Theme (3 minutes and 50 seconds), until—T: "Evening the time for music."
7—Violin and piano duet to action (1 minute), until—S: Violin player stops.
8—Violin solo to action (composition for beginner) (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—S: Girl stops playing violin.
9—"Golden Youth" (Valse Lente), by George Rosey (2 minutes and 35 seconds), until—T: "A nest of spies."
10—Sinister (Spy) Theme (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—S: Interior of the Forrest Apartment.
11—"Babillage" (Allegretto), by Castillo (3 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "By Jove, some people."
12—"Turbulence" (Allegro Agitato), by Borch (1 minute and 5 seconds), until—S: Interior of rooms.
13—"Dramatic Tension," by Levy (3 minutes), until—T: "I would prefer to speak."
14—"Melody," by Friml (6 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Maybe it's the study."
15—Sinister (Spy) Theme (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—S: Interior of reception room.
16—"There Waves the Flag" (patriotic song), by Borch (50 seconds), until—S: Leonard playing a violin solo.
Note: Play as vocal solo with violin and piano accompaniment.
17—"Violin Solo" to action (35 seconds), until—S: Guests applauding.
18—"Valse Divine" (Valse Lente), by George Rosey (1 minute and 50 seconds), until—S: Leonard and Mrs. Forrest in garden.
19—"A La Mode" (French One Step), by George Rosey (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—T: "Hasn't it been a wonderful night."
20—Love Theme (4 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Were you dreaming?"
21—"Pathetic Andante," by Vely (3 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "To serve Germany."
22—Sinister (Spy) Theme (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Who was in your room?"
Note: Watch shots.
23—"Dramatic Recitative," by Levy (3 minutes and 50 seconds), until—S: Doctor Forrest wounded in chair.
Note: "FF during fight—watching shots."
24—"Heart Wounds" (Dramatic Pathetic), by Grieg (4 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "A new day."
25—Love Theme (4 minutes and 50 seconds), until—T: "You have destroyed——"
26—"Erotik" (Dramatic), by Grieg (2 minutes and 35 seconds), until—S: Mrs. Forrest on floor.
27—"Tragic Theme," by Vely (2 minutes), until—T: "No, she is out of danger."
28—Love Theme (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "I was detailed to guard."
29—Sinister (Spy) Theme (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—S: Mrs. Forrest in bed.
30—Love Theme FF (1 minute and 25 seconds), until—T: "Goodby, I will be——"
31—Eight Bars "America" Only (15 seconds), until—T: "The second anniversary."
32—"Impish Elves" (Light Intermezzo), by Borch (1 minute and 5 seconds), until—* * * * * THE END.

"OUT OF A CLEAR SKY"

(Paramount-Marguerite Clark)

Theme: "May Dreams" (Moderato Romance) by Gaston Borch

1—"Hurry" (for railroad scenes), by Minot (1 minute and 5 seconds), at screening.
S: Railroad effects.
T: "On one of the Pullmans."
2—Continue pp (20 seconds), until—T: "In the same car."
3—"Heavy Mysterioso," by Levy (2 minutes and 35 seconds), until—T: "Bob Lawrence—."
S: Railroad effects.
S: Effects of water-falls.
4—"Le Retour" (Mysterious Allegro), by Bizet (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "And because she so."
S: Young man whistling for dog.
S: Railroad effects.
5—Continue to action (1 minute and 10 seconds), until—S: Railroad on bridge.
6—Theme (3 minutes and 20 seconds), until—S: Young man and girl dismount from horse.
T: "On the trail."
T: "Supper is ready."
7—"Dramatic Narrative," by Pement (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—T: "Look here, little girl."
T: "It is that in Belgium."
8—"Pathetic Andante," by Vely (1 minute and 50 seconds), until—T: "When came the time."
9—"Bombasto March," by Farrar (35 seconds), until—T: "Then came the Germans."
T: "My uncle proved."
10—"L'Adieu" (Dramatic), by Karganoff (1 minute and 5 seconds), until—T: "As if I were a pawn."
S: Germans marching.
S: Effect ad. lib. small drum.
11—Continue to action (55 seconds), until—T: "My father was killed."
12—"Battle Agitato No. 48" (pp), by Shepherd (45 seconds), until—S: In trench.
S: Watch shot.
13—"Broken Melody" (Dramatic), by Van Biene (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—S: Flashback to interior of palace.
T: "I hate you."
14—"Dramatic Recitative," by Levy (1 minute and 35 seconds), until—T: "Then Mees Jane."
S: Watch shot.
T: "Give me the knife."
15—"Furioso" (pp. or ff. to action), by Levy (1 minute and 5 seconds), until—S: Sunset and sunrise.
T: "Don't be afraid."
16—"Melody" (Moderato), by Huerter (3 minutes and 10 seconds), until T: "Morning."
T: "Damn the old chain."
T: "You're mighty wet."
17—Silence (20 seconds), until—S: young man on horse.
NOTE: Just produce storm effect and watch for explosions.
18—"After Sunset" (4/4 Moderato), by Pryor (4 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "We just got out."
T: "The reason why Mamie."
S: Baby crying (produce effect).
S: Girl and boy near bed.
19—Theme (2 minutes and 20 seconds), until—S: Bob knocking on door.
T: "I was afraid."
20—"Valse Moderne" (Valse Lento), by Rosey (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Granny White."
S: Baby crying (produce effects).
T: "He is a child."
21—Theme (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "Now little girl."
T: "I am going to lead."
22—"Impish Elves" (Winsome Intermezzo), by Borch (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Confidences, the next morning."
T: "There is not a."
23—Continue to action (2 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "You mean he needs."
T: "I had not before known."
24—"L'Adieu" (12/8 Dramatic), by Favarger (25 seconds), until—T: "A bit of her dress."
25—Continue to action (4 minutes and 50 seconds), until—T: "An apt pupil."
T: "Bob told me to warn you."
S: Watch girl sneeze.
T: "Desdemona has such."
26—"Dramatic Tension," by Levy (2 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "It's not too late."
T: "Do not grieve."
27—"Babillage" (Allegretto Intermezzo), by Castillo (1 minute and 50 seconds), until—T: "In the days that followed."
S: Dog barking.
S: Cat meowing.
28—Theme (2 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "In my country."
T: "You are breaking my heart."
29—"Golden Youth" (Valse Lente), by Rosey (3 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "Miss Jane returns."
S: Railroad bell (watch railroad effects).
S: Close-up of letter.
S: Railroad effects.
30—Theme (35 seconds), until—T: "Some men are so stupid."
S: Train leaves.—Until the END.

THE BARTOLA

Is a combination of a beautiful pipe organ and orchestra manually played.
IMMEDIATE DELIVERY IF NECESSARY. Write for catalogue.
CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 707-712 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Factory, Oshkosh, Wis.

UP-TO-DATE INDEX OF THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

Picture, Brand and Star.	Issue	Page
"Angel Child" (Plaza-Hodkinson) Kathleen Clifford	Sept. 7	1606
"Atom, The" (Triangle) Pauline Starke	Sept. 21	1920
"Beans" (Bluebird) Edith Roberts	Sept. 14	1756
"Brazen Beauty" (Bluebird) Priscilla Dean	Sept. 21	1914
"Burden of Proof, The" (Select) Marion Davies	Sept. 21	1919
"By Hook or Crook" (World) Carlyle Blackwell)	Sept. 14	1763
"By the World Forgot" (Vitagraph) Nova-Glendon	Sept. 21	1916
"Daughter Angele" (Triangle) Pauline Starke	Sept. 7	1603
"Fame and Fortune" (Fox-Victory) Tom Mix	Sept. 7	1593
"Flower of the Dusk" (Metro) Viola Dana	Sept. 7	1605
"Girl Who Came Back, The" (Paramount) Ethel Clayton	Sept. 7	1594
"Green God, The" (Vitagraph) Morey-Blythe	Sept. 7	1602
"He Comes Up Smiling" (Artcraft) Douglas Fairbanks	Sept. 21	1923
"Her Country First" (Paramount) Vivian Martin	Sept. 14	1762
"Hun Within, The" (Paramount) Dorothy Gish	Sept. 7	1599
"Italy's Flaming Front" (First National)	Sept. 7	1598
"Johanna Enlists" (Artcraft) Mary Pickford	Sept. 14	1754
"Japanese Nightingale, A" (Pathe) Fanny Ward	Sept. 7	1600
"Kultur" (Fox-Victory) Gladys Brockwell	Sept. 14	1755
"Law of the North, The" (Paramount-Ince) Charles Ray	Sept. 21	1915
"Love's Law" (Mutual) Gail Kane	Sept. 7	1597
"Marriage Ring, The" (Paramount) Enid Bennett	Sept. 21	1922
"Modern Love" (Universal) Mae Murray	Sept. 14	1757
"Mystic Faces" (Triangle) Jack Abbe	Sept. 14	1760
"Nymph of the Foothills" (Vitagraph) Gladys Leslie	Sept. 14	1759
"Prisoners of the Pines" (Hampton-Hodkinson) J. Warren Kerrigan	Sept. 14	1761
"Prussian Cur, The" (Fox Special) Miriam Cooper	Sept. 7	1592
"Queen of the Sea" (Fox Special) Annette Kellermann	Sept. 14	1752
"Riders of the Purple Sage" (Fox-Standard) William Farnum	Sept. 21	1913
"Sauce For the Goose" (Select) Constance Talmadge	Sept. 7	1595
"Secret Code, The" (Triangle) Barney Sherry	Sept. 14	1764
"Silent Woman, The" (Metro) Edith Storey	Sept. 14	1758
"Talk of the Town, The" (Universal) Dorothy Phillips	Sept. 21	1923
"That Devil Bateese" (Universal) Monroe Salisbury	Sept. 7	1607
"Till I Come Back to You" (Artcraft) All-Star	Sept. 7	1601
"T'other Dear Charmer" (World) Louise Huff	Sept. 7	1596
"To Him That Hath" (World) Montague Love	Sept. 21	1921
"Turn of the Wheel, The" (Goldwyn) Geraldine Farrar	Sept. 14	1753
"Untamed" (Triangle) Roy Stewart	Sept. 7	1604
"Your Fighting Navy" (Educational)	Sept. 21	1912
"Why America Will Win" (Fox Special)	Sept. 21	1918

In This Issue:

Advance Reviews	2079
"The Yellow Dog"—(Jewel)	2080
"When a Woman Sins"—(Fox)	2081
"Bonnie Annie Laurie" (For)	2082
"Peck's Bad Girl"—(Goldwyn)	2083
"Sporting Life"—(Tourneur)	2084
"The Better Half"—(Select)	2085
"Mr. Logan, U. S. A."—(Fox)	2086
"The Girl of Today" (Vitagraph)	2087
"Just for Tonight"—(Goldwyn)	2088
"A Woman of Impulse"—(Paramount)	2089
"Money Isn't Everything"—(American)	2090
"A Soul Without Windows"—(World)	2091
"A Society Sensation"—(Bluebird)	2092
Advance Reviews (continued)	2093

Everything the Showman Needs on Every Picture Released

The Complete Plan Book

Under the Direction of Peter Milne

Advance Reviews

[In addition to Advance Reviews—covering pictures shown too early to be included in The Complete Plan Book—readers will also find under this heading each week the reviews of short features and serial episodes.]

" A Woman's Experience "

(Bacon-Backer Film Corp.—Six Reels. State Rights)

EXCHANGEMEN and exhibitors better be sure to look this over for a more promising state rights feature has not been put on the market in some time. It is an adaptation of a play by Paul M. Potter, entitled "Agnes," and presents one of the strongest domestic dramas based on the eternal triangle that has been seen in some time. The story builds with accumulative interest to an intense climax. The wife, the body of a dead man concealed behind a screen, interviews her husband regarding his financial worries, the while successful in keeping from him the knowledge of the present tragedy. The plot concerns the adventures of the married couple in New York, and how they learned the value of peace and quiet in the country as compared with the steady rush and roar, the nerve-racking wear of the great city.

The cast is exceptional. Every one of the players does great work. Mary Boland, once John Drew's leading woman, acts the part of the wife with skill. Sam Hardy, well known on the stage, does great work as the husband. Robert Cain, a popular villain, gives a polished performance, and Corinne Uzzell does the best acting of her career as a woman of the world.

The production which Perry Vekroff has given the picture is most appropriate. He also made the scenario, and did intelligent work in this department also. The settings and photographic work will come as a revelation.—Peter Milne.

" The Embarrassment of Riches," with Lillian Walker

(Lillian Walker-Hodkinson—Sept. 23. Directed by Edward Dillon)

IN spite of the fact that the situations in this offering have been put into pictures at innumerable times in the past—settlement workers vs. political crooks—it will please, because it deals more with the happy side of life and has been handled intelligently. It contains some human element, a little suspense and a thrill or two towards the end (when the police raid the gambling house). The action keeps at fairly steady pace.

The story concerns the heroine, a factory girl who is suddenly made rich through an inheritance. This does not turn her head. She seeks happiness in alleviating the sufferings of the less fortunate. Eventually she meets the man of her heart.

The picture is of the light type, the kind that are in demand just now. It is not big, but will offer your patrons clean and wholesome entertainment.—P. S. Harrison.

Additional Advance Reviews on page 2093

" Orange Blossoms "

With Mildred Harris

(Jewel—6 Reels. Release Date Not Yet Announced. Directed by Lois Weber)

THERE is some class to this production. You will find genuine art in it. Really one couldn't expect anything less from Miss Weber after a display of such directorial capabilities as shown in "For Husbands Only."

"Orange Blossoms" is the kind of a picture that unfolds itself in a smooth way and grips and holds you before you become conscious of the fact. The plot may not rightly be called original, but it introduces an unexpected twist that places it on that class.

The hero allures the heroine, a girl of poor circumstances, by the display of splendor. With the vision of the drudgery of her life before her eyes, she is tempted to follow the easy path, but at that moment the place is raided by the police. Horror stricken, she escapes. In the end Orange Blossoms bind them to life-long happiness.

Mildred Harris, as well as Lewis Cody, again display rare artistic talents. The interior scenes are remarkable for their splendor. Evidently the private home of some wealthy person had been used for the purpose. It will tickle the hearts of your women patrons. There is one situation in the picture that is suggestive, the hero asks the heroine to deviate from her virtuous path. But it is only hinted at, no brute force being used, and as they marry in the end, it may get by even with overcritical audiences.—P. S. Harrison.

" The Border Raiders "

(Pathe—Oct. 6—5 reels. Directed by Stuart Patton)

THIS attraction will please a great number of picture-goers, mostly those who are not so critical, because it is of a nature that usually has universal appeal—opium smuggling by Chinamen as well as whites, with Government Secret Service men after them. Had the continuity been better, however, it would have pleased a larger number.

The locale of the story is given as the Mexican border, and the time, after the Mexican war.

The Chinese den is realistic and the characters convincing.

A few thrills, suspense and some heart interest (the faithful cowboys stick to the heroine until she is out of trouble), will be found in several of the situations.

This offering will have a stronger appeal with audiences that like the melodrama.—P. S. Harrison.

The Complete Plan Book

Appears Every Week—Fifty-two Times a Year—Covers Every Feature Released

"THE YELLOW DOG"—JEWEL

"Pleasing and Amusing," Says Harrison

THIS picture was reviewed on page 1911, the advance section of last week's issue.

I wish to state again that this attraction will please not because it is a patriotic subject alone, but also because it contains many of the elements that are necessary in a picture that is expected to do its part towards amusing picturegoers.

The energetic nature of young America is set in motion towards foiling the schemes of German propaganda, who always worked in the dark even before our government declared war against Germany.

The title is catchy and if the picture is backed up by proper publicity no reason in the world why it shouldn't draw.

It is a clean offering.—Released Oct. 15.—Length, 6 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

"Nosey" White.....Antrim Short
Alexander Cummings.....Frank Clark
Karl Schneider.....Will Machin
Albert Walker.....Arthur Hoyt
Jones.....Frank Hayes
Babbitt.....Frederic Starr
Kate Cummings.....Clara Horton
Mrs. Blakely.....Ruby La Fayette
Tom Blakely.....Ralph Graves
His Sweetheart.....Lily Clark
Max Kummich.....Fred Kelsey

Directed by Colin Campbell, Scenario by Elliott J. Clawson, Story by Henry Irving Dodge.

Story appeared in Saturday Evening Post issue of May 4; published in book form by Harper and Brothers.

THE STORY

The story of "The Yellow Dog" deals with present-day social conditions in any average American town—in the picture the town is Danforth. One of the leading citizens of Danforth is Albert Walker, a typical American, tolerant of the average weaknesses of the human race but utterly disgusted with the lack of patriotism displayed by so many of his friends of the village. This attitude on the part of the townsfolk takes definite shape in the expressions of doubt voiced by many of the people, the circulation of foolish rumors regarding our war activities, etc.

But Walker shortly notices that these attacks on the Government are growing into more than just mere thoughtlessness. He suddenly comes to the realization that the Doubting Thomases are the direct result of carefully laid German propaganda. Thoroughly aroused he denounces all the defamers of the United States as "Yellow Dogs." To make efficient his plan he organizes all the patriotic boys of the neighborhood—there are no "Yellow Pups"—and lectures them one evening on a definitely laid plan of action. He proposes that whenever one of the boys hears a "Yellow Dog" speak, he hand him a card telling him just what sort of a sneak he is, at the same time demand "How Do You Know?"

The boys take enthusiastically to the idea and commence a widespread campaign with the result that soon the town is purged of "Yellow Dogs." But more than that. The plan, so humbly begun, frustrates a plot to blow up shipyards on the eve of the launching of a fleet of vessels. A dangerous spy is unmasked and brought to justice. "The Yellow Dog" disappears forever from Danforth.

AD TALK

It is not often that the management of the _____ theatre deliberately books a picture with a "message." Messages, particularly those heralded as great moral lessons, are often distasteful. However, on _____ of _____ week we will make an exception to the rule. We have no hesitation in stepping right out and saying that "The Yellow Dog," our attraction for those days, is a "message"—moreover, it is a message that every citizen of _____ should see and profit by.

All of which leads up to the fact that "The Yellow Dog" is an attack against those Doubting Thomases within the limits of our country who go about saying, "Did you hear that there are great big casualty lists which are being withheld?" "We can never get a decision on the field in this war," "France and England want to make peace but the United States won't let them," and kindred lines. You know this sort of a fellow don't you? There are far too many of them. Well, in "The Yellow Dog" he gets his.

Mind you, we don't mean that these fellows are traitors—not intentionally so, at any rate. Perhaps they mean well—but they don't know how to go about it. Well, a little town called Danforth rid itself of this bunch of doubters in shipshape, just as soon as it got wise to the fact that the rumors were all circulated by agents who received their pay from the Central Powers. It will do your heart good to see how Danforth cured its doubters. And just take a tip and see if you can't work it on the fellow who comes up to you and whines: "There was a transport torpedoed last week which we never heard about in the papers." Get up and tell him that your Uncle Sam isn't afraid to look disaster square in the face—if there is one to look at. "The Yellow Dog" will give you the inspiration to help along the fight at home—with a vengeance.

CATCH LINES

If there is a Yellow Dog on your block ask him "How do you know?" the next time he starts complaining against the Government. He won't be able to answer you.

There won't be any Yellow Dogs in this town after "The Yellow Dog" has been shown.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says not to tie cans to the tails of helpless dogs. But there is one dog you can tie a can to any time you want. He's the Yellow Dog.

Don't forget that the calamity howler within is every bit as harmful as the enemy without. Get rid of him.

If a Yellow Dog chances to witness "The Yellow Dog" he'll come out white.

A yellow streak is the meanest thing in the world. Wipe all of them out.

You owe it to the United States of America to kick every Yellow Dog in the seat of his troubles whenever he starts to yelp.

The boys in the trenches have proven there

(Continued on page 2090)

Striking 24-Sheet Furnished With "The Yellow Dog"—Other Paper is of Similar "Money-Pulling" Design

"WHEN A WOMAN SINS"—FOX

Theda Bara in the "Vamp" Role Her Followers Want

IF you happen to be located in a wicked city inhabited by very, very bad people, this picture will make them see the light. Sinners will weep and be glad to reform.

It is a combination of a vampire play and a sermon. The heroine is introduced as a very young girl, yet in her 'teens, who is called to nurse a feeble old man. The latter is shown as unable to suffer the presence of old women. He would rather see young blood caring for him.

His son, a minister, falls in love with her, but he soon casts her off because he apprehends her giving the old man an innocent kiss. She then gets angry and becomes a great actress and a vampire.

Throughout the play she is shown now as a vampire then as a penitent. In one of her wicked spells she causes the minister's cousin to commit suicide. In the end she forsakes broadstreet and weds the minister.

The star is handicapped by a poor story. None of the scenes are vulgar, but it shows father and son in love with the same woman.—Released Sept. 1st.—Length, 7 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Lillian Marchard, Later Poppea.....Theda Bara
Mortimer West.....Joseph Swickard
Michael West.....Albert Roscoe
Dr. Stone.....Ogden Crane
Augustus Van Brooks.....Alfred Fremont
Reggie West.....Jack Rollens
Mrs. West.....Genevieve Blinn
Direction by J. Gordon Edwards.
Scenario by E. Lloyd Sheldon.
Story by Betta Breuil.
Photographed by John W. Boyle.

AD TALK

Theda Bara, a screen star who has a perfect right to the descriptive "Incomparable," returns to the screen of the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week in her latest Fox picture entitled "When a Woman Sins." In this production Miss Bara carries a role the type of which has proven vastly popular. She portrays a young woman whose innocent actions are mistaken by the man she loves as bits of evidence to damn her. In her sorrow she enters into the night life of the city with a reckless abandon that soon earns for her a notorious name. But despite this superficial attitude of inane frivolity, her heart bleeds. She still loves the man who scorned her and in one way or another attempts to win back his affections.

How she accomplishes this makes a story truly intensely dramatic, and one which builds to a denouement of terrific force. The management of the ——— theatre is sure that admirers of Miss Bara and her excellently developed art will find in "When a Woman Sins" a picture patterned exactly to their liking.

Like all the productions in which Miss Bara has appeared, this picture is endowed with a lavish setting, well befitting the type of story presented. The direction was in the capable hands of J. Gordon Edwards, Miss Bara's director on all her successes of the past two years. E. Lloyd Sheldon, who has written a number of her pictures and is so well conversant with the style of material required, prepared the scenario from an original story by Betta Breuil. Albert Roscoe is seen opposite the star.

THE STORY

Lily Marchard is the nurse of old Mortimer West, a man who has wrecked his life with excesses. Michael, West's son, a divinity student, returns home to visit his father and falls in love with the beautiful Lily. The doctor warns Lily that West has little longer to live and that any severe shock will prove fatal. With this in mind Lily brings herself to endure his loathsome caresses, lest antagonism toward him prove too much. In reality, however, she is deeply in love with Michael.

One night full of the joy of living she dances on the lawn only scantily clad. A greedy spectator is West. When she retires to her room he follows her and attempts to take her in his arms. Horrified, she struggles with him and in this situation Michael discovers them. He denounces Lily. The shock proves too much for West and he dies. Michael accuses her of causing his death and orders her from the house.

Disillusioned she plunges into the gay life and becomes known as Poppea, a dancer. She attracts Reggie West, Michael's cousin, who soon becomes mad about her. Michael visits her to plead the boy's cause. And later comes his mother. Moved, Poppea agrees to send the boy away if Michael will visit her. On his arrival she tries to lure him back to her and eventually he capitulates. Reggie standing across the street sees their shadows on the window shade and kills himself. Loathing comes over Michael again and he leaves Poppea.

Weary of life Poppea gives a wild revel at the height of which she climbs to the table and announces she will auction herself off to the highest bidder. This frightful joke in sway she is about to drink a glass of poison when a pot of lilies is handed her, and in the flowers is a message of forgiveness and love from Michael, who realizes now he misjudged her in the beginning.

CATCH LINES

Theda Bara's latest and most pretentious production.

The lack of faith in a young divinity student led the woman to the verge of destruction—his faith regained, she was saved.

Theda Bara's latest role in which she depicts the regeneration of a modern vampire.

(Continued on page 2082)

"WHEN A WOMAN SINS"—WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

Electros and Mats of This Cut at Fox Exchanges

"BONNIE ANNIE LAURIE"—FOX

THIS picture will please picturegoers. Although the story is very pathetic, it is not the kind that will make people unhappy. It will affect the emotions in somewhat the same manner as "Missing," produced recently for the Paramount program by J. Stuart Blackton. It will move even a hard-hearted person.

Barring the title, which is also the name given to the heroine, nothing else is borrowed from the song of the same name.

The basic idea of the plot is true love. The heroine's betrothed leaves for the trenches. She nurses back to life a shipwrecked man with whom she falls in love. Eventually, however, she marries her first love.

The Scottish atmosphere has been reproduced faithfully. It is gratifying that the picture is free from any suggestiveness; therefore, it will offer a satisfactory entertainment to all audiences.—Released Sept. 1st.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

CAST

Annie Laurie.....Peggy Hyland
Sandy Laurie.....Henry Hallam
Captain McGregor.....William Bailey
Lieutenant Hathaway.....Sidney Mason
Andy McGregor.....Dan Mason
Nan, the nurse.....Marion Singer
Written by Hamilton Thompson.
Staged by Harry Millarde.

CATCH LINES

A picture inspired by the beautiful song of Robert Burns.

Peggy Hyland in her latest Fox picture.

A human and appealing story of the war that doesn't preach or point a moral.

A story of rivals for the hand of a Scotch lassie—who first meet on the wastes of No Man's Land.

Not a patriotic preachment but an appeal to the hearts of all true patriots.

It will make you shed tears—not of sorrow but of gladness.

The land made immortal in Robert Burns' song faithfully shown on the screen.

Love of country came before love of home with Bonnie Annie Laurie.

When it comes to a question of duty to home or country which swings the scales? See "Bonnie Annie Laurie" and how a Scotch lassie decided.

AD TALK

Something new in the way of war pictures will be offered on the screen of the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week when the latest Fox feature starring Peggy Hyland entitled "Bonnie Annie Laurie" is shown. The scenes of this production are laid in Scotland and France—the battlefields of France—and the story concerns a Scotch lassie, her admirer from her home village and her devoted lover from the United States. Chance places the girl in a position where she is obliged to choose between the two men. And whichever way she chooses she knows full well she will break a heart. It is this appealing situation which forms the crux of the action of "Bonnie Annie Laurie"—it is a dramatic moment that will bring tears to the eyes—tears of pity and admiration.

The picture has been excellently handled from every standpoint. Not alone is the atmosphere of Scotland faithfully reproduced on the screen but Director Harry Millarde has gained some strikingly realistic effects of the battlefields of France. Miss Hyland does beautiful work in the title role and receives adequate support from her two leading men, William Bailey and Sidney Mason.

The story of "Bonnie Annie Laurie" was inspired by the memorable poem of Robert Burns. While of course the story cannot be traced through the lines of the verses, it was the picture painted of the girl, Bonnie Annie Laurie, that gave the author, Hamilton Thompson, the will and the inspiration to conceive the plot of the play. And it is a picture which, in every way, does justice to the cause of its inspiration. It is not just a "hurrah" war picture, but a human, vital story—really a chapter from life.

THE STORY

In Scotland Sandy Laurie has long desired that his daughter, Bonnie Annie, marry Donald McGregor and so when the latter receives his orders to leave for the front she is betrothed to him. McGregor is commissioned a Captain and is soon fighting on the battlefields of France.

It is some time later that Annie rescues an unconscious man from the sea and nurses him back to health. Sandy, foolishly strict in the matter of Annie's conduct, orders the man from the house as soon as his health will permit. But real love has come to Annie and so she follows him, overtaking him in a lonely hut where he lies ill with fever. There is a storm that night and the stranger, delirious, wanders away and Annie cannot find him. She returns home but is cast out by her father who believes that she has betrayed her vow to McGregor.

The stranger wanders to London finally where he hears a band playing the national anthem of the United States. It is this which restores his memory. He is Lieutenant Hathaway of the United States Army and had been lost when the Tuscania went to the bottom of the sea. He proceeds to the trenches and is billeted with the same company in which is Captain McGregor. After a charge he assists the Captain back to the trenches and is severely wounded. McGregor is blinded.

There in the hospital is Annie as a Red Cross nurse. She is torn by her love for the one and her pity for the other but eventually she decides to keep her vow to McGregor, blind and helpless. So they are married while the American goes back to the trenches.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two 1-sheets; two 3-sheets; one 6-sheet.
LOBBY DISPLAY PHOTOGRAPHS: — Ten 8 x 10; ten 11 x 14; three 22 x 28 (colored).
SCENE CUTS:—Five two-column; six one-column. All cuts are attractive, many showing Miss Hyland in poses in Scotch kilts, etc.
ADVERTISING CUTS:—Include one and two-column display and type advertisements.
Cuts are furnished at small cost. Mats of all cuts obtainable free of charge at Fox branches.
SLIDES, MUSIC CUE.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in Motion Picture News August 24 issue, page 1162; September 14 issue, pages 1642 and 1643.

SUGGESTIONS

The title of the picture offers opportunities for a novel line of advertising and publicity exploitation. Robert Burns' poem which inspired the author to write the picture can easily be found and probably the newspapers would print it. Dwell on the fact that while it is a story of the Great War, it is thoroughly human and appealing and that it leaves all the "hurrah" stuff out.

(Continued from page 2081)

In despair she stood mid the half-drunken throng of admirers and announced her intention of auctioning herself off to the highest bidder. And the bids were high, for Poppea was a much sought after woman. But gold was not the purchasing price—it was a pot of lilies.

The shallowness of the underworld life of fast society compared with the light of true love.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet; one twenty-four-sheet. All this paper reflects the title of the picture to a startling degree. The scenes have real pulling power and give a glimpse of the picture that passers-by will be certain to notice.
PHOTOS:—Twelve 8 x 10 black and white; twelve 11 x 14 black and white; three 22 x 28 colored.
CUTS AND MATS:—Five one-column cuts and mats; three two-column cuts and mats. Two of the single columns show Miss Bara in striking poses. The other three are well selected scenes from the production. The two-column cuts contain scenes that will be effective in newspaper display.
ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—Three one-column; four two-column (display); three two-column; nine one-column (type). The display advertisements all contain scenes or star poses and are excellent for this type of production. A particularly effective one-column (display) contains no picture, but a large interogation point with a small amount of interest-awakening reading matter.
MUSIC CUES AND SLIDES.

Type of Star Cut Supplies Which Will Suggest Character of Production

"PECK'S BAD GIRL"—GOLDWYN

Mabel Normand in Subject That Exhibitors Have Demanded

EXHIBITORS who have been demanding that the Goldwyn company reintroduce Mabel Normand to her old comedy tricks will be partially satisfied in this her latest production with that company. "Peck's Bad Girl" gives her a number of opportunities to play havoc with the entire cast. She causes a run on the town bank and demoralizes the village fire department in true old Kentucky style.

The film also possesses a slight thread of romance and a share of melodrama by which the climax is brought about.

While it can not be said that Miss Normand has completely returned to her once popular sphere (a sphere which is still popular from all reports), "Peck's Bad Girl" is the nearest thing to it she has done since becoming a Goldwyn star. The production, which includes a complete set of a village main street, is adequate.—Released Sept. 9.—Length, 5 reels.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Mabel Penelope Peck.....Mabel Normand
Dick.....Earle Foxe
Hortense Martinot.....Corinne Barker
Miss Olivia..... Blanche Davenport
Adam Raskell.....Ryley Hatch
Willie Raskell.....Leslie Hunt
Peck.....E. M. Favor
Pearson..... ....Edwin Sturgis
Walker.....Joseph Granby

By Tex Charwate.
Directed by Charles Giblyn.
Photographed by Louis Physioc.

AD TALK

Mabel Normand, the idol of many fans, comes to the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week in her latest Goldwyn picture, entitled "Peck's Bad Girl," written specially to exploit her talents, by Tex Charwate. This film is notable, in that it marks Miss Normand's return to the type of picture which made her famous under Mack Sennett's management. She is to be seen as the harum-scarem tom-boy-girl of the town, who thinks nothing of arguing with the bank president and putting the village fire department out of order. Nor does she stop at capturing a trio of crooks who arrive in the village to purloin gold from the vaults of the bank. However, we proceed too fast. That is the end of the picture.

In the beginning, Peck's bad girl drags her father to town in a futile effort to secure nine dollars due him from the president of the bank. Their pleadings all for naught, our tom-boy-girl takes revenge on the president by pasting a sign up over the bank door to the effect that the noble institution is, in plain language, "busted." A run starts, and to quiet it, or rather, to make matters considerably worse, the village fire department is called out. However, instead of dispersing the mob the fire department succeeds in dispersing itself, owing to interference from one party or another. The hose breaks loose and havoc reigns.

But it is futile to elaborate on the many comical points of "Peck's Bad Girl." Suffice it to say that Miss Normand has never had a feature comedy that could compare with this Goldwyn picture. It is the type that her admirers have been asking for for quite a while. That the Goldwyn Company has produced it is a great credit to the concern itself as well as a compliment to the choice of the fans. Earle Foxe is the leading man and the supporting cast is fine from beginning to end.

THE STORY

Penelope Peck is the village scamp of Yaptank. Her father is a no-account and lets his daughter run wild. On a certain day he goes to the town bank with his daughter to demand the nine dollars due him for services rendered as night watchman. Penelope helps her father out in his demands. But it is useless. For revenge, the girl paints a sign telling of the fact that the bank has gone on the rocks. A run on the old pile is soon started and pandemonium reigns. The fire department is called out and becomes completely demoralized, owing to mob interference. Yaptank never saw such a day.

There comes to the town one, Hortense, who opens a modiste's shop and there also comes to the town one, Dick, who opens a jewelry store. Dick and Peck's bad girl meet and there is something resembling love at first sight as a result. Penelope is made perfectly happy when she secures the position of model to Hortense. Penelope is made happy, yes. But Hortense and the customers have rather a strenuous time of it. The model appears in a low cut evening gown, showing a broad expanse of woolen undershirt beneath, which is hardly the correct thing for models to do.

Then there come others to town. Two gentlemen of smooth tongue but rough exterior who proceed to find out from the bank president when his largest shipment of money is due. This done, they enter Hortense's shop and proceed to dig through into the bank. It might have come off well for the gentlemen of the underworld had not Peck's bad girl interfered. She happened to be in the store and by using her wits and her strength, succeeds in making the two gentlemen captives and also, incidentally, Hortense, who, it develops, was in on the little game. As for Dick, he is a detective, and seeing that Peck's girl, who is not bad at all, is so clever, he decides to go into partnership.

CATCH LINES

Mabel Normand returns to the type of picture in which she first gained popularity and fame.

Mabel Normand in her latest and best Goldwyn picture.

It's a Goldwyn which is, generally speaking, enough said. This one, however, has Mabel Normand as its star. Which is a plenty.

The town bank and the town fire department wrecked by the prank of a tom-boy-girl.

The judge of the Yaptank court was dignified enough until Peck's bad girl came along. After her case he felt like resigning and going to the old gentlemen's home.

Mabel Normand, the shining light of many an old Keystone comedy, in a picture that transports one back to those hilarious days.

Goldwyn's best production featuring Mabel Normand.

If it is comedy you want, and most people do want it these days, don't miss Mabel Normand in Peck's Bad Girl."

A comedy-melodrama, the best tonic in the world for tired nerves.

Written by Tex Charwate, author of "The Turn of the Wheel," with Geraldine Farrar.

ADVERTISING AIDS

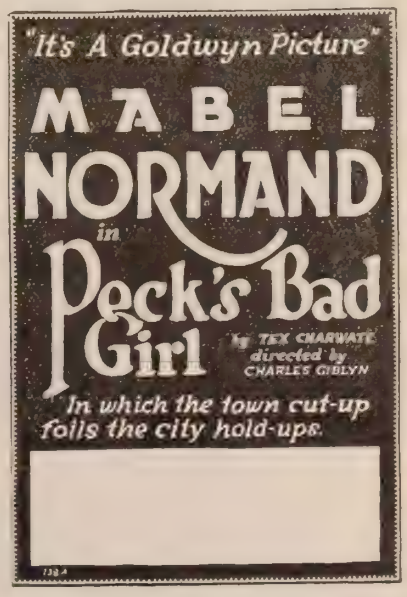
PAPER:—One, three, six and twenty-four sheets and rotogravures in one-sheet size include scenes of production and photographs of star. Stock twenty-four sheet procurable. Also twenty-four sheet advertising this special production.

PHOTOS:—Sets of stills are provided in three sizes: 8 x 10, 11 x 14, 23 x 28, all attractively colored.

CUTS AND MATS FOR NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY AND ADVERTISING:—Ad cuts include two one-column and two two-column of different sizes. The small one-column contains display lettering. The others have Mabel Normand in poses characteristic of the production.

Publicity cuts include two one-column star cuts, one two-column star cut (pose), one two-column cut of Miss Normand in comical scene and one two-column of Miss Normand and Earle Foxe.

SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE.



SUGGESTIONS

Feature Mabel Normand and dwell on the fact that in "Peck's Bad Girl" she returns to the type of picture in which she gained her fame and popularity. Chicago critics on seeing the production acclaimed it great, and added that "Goldwyn had 'found' Mabel Normand." It went well during a week's run at one of the largest of the Chicago houses. With this in mind the exhibitor may well consider the feature one which may be boosted as Mabel Normand's best Goldwyn.

If "The Turn of the Wheel," with Geraldine Farrar, has been played it would be well to mention the fact that this is by the same author, Tex Charwate. The subjects are of a totally different nature. For advertisements the exhibitors will find some clever ones in the Goldwyn press sheet. Many of the first run exhibitors have taken to the practice of clipping the Goldwyn ads in the trade papers and using them in their own dailies. Foreseeing this Goldwyn has electros and mats on hand, in regular newspaper screen, for distribution to exhibitors who wish to use them in this way. It is a good idea, as these advertisements are attractively worded and gotten up.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in MOTION PICTURE NEWS September 21 issue, page 1778.

Cuts Similar to the Above Furnished in One and Two-Column Sizes. The Two-Column Are Display Ads Illustrated, and Are Gotten Up in Attractive Style—Mabel Normand's name and Picture Always Prominent

"SPORTING LIFE"—MAURICE TOURNEUR

"Sporting Life," Maurice Tourneur Productions

THIS offering may well be considered a Film Classic. It will take its place among the leading productions that helped to make history for the Motion Picture Art. It contains all the dramatic elements that make a picture stand out like an oasis in a desert.

To begin with it is full of powerful situations, in the language of the exhibitor called "Punches." For instance, the drugging of the prize-fighter in the ring, just before the fight starts; the hero's appointment of himself as a substitute, a thing no one expects, and when everybody thinks the fight is to be declared off as a logical consequence; the kidnaping of the hero on the eve of the horse races as the result of a conspiracy, in order to have his horse "Scratched"; the fight in the ferry-boat and the rescuing of the hero; his arrival in the track on time; the jockey's outwitting of the guards, jumping on the horse and participating in the races, and many others.

The most interesting thing of all, however, is the unfolding of two independent, major situations,—the prize-fight and the fight in the lonely house for the recovery of the race horse—at the same time, showing scenes now of the one, then of the other.

The signalling of the horse, by striking his foot on the floor, thus making his presence known, looks thoroughly human.

There is one situation that is suggestive.—The prize fighter wrongs the girl.—But, as he marries her in the end, I am sure it will get by with any audience.

Release plans not yet announced.—Length, 7 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

John Earl of Woodstock.....Ralph Graves
Joe Lee.....Warner Richmond
Miles Cavanagh.....Charles Eldridge
Malet de Carteret.....Charles Craig
Straker .....Henry West
Norah Cavanagh.....Constance Binney
Kitty Cavanagh .....Fair Binney
Olive de Carteret.....Willette Kershawe

Scenario by Winthrop Kelley.
Directed by Maurice Tourneur.
Distributed by Hiller and Wilk.

AD TALK

Next week the ———— theatre has booked the special attraction "Sporting Life," a pretentious production based on the famous Drury Lane melodrama of the same name. This picture is significant in more ways than one. To begin with it is considered to be the biggest melodrama that ever came forth from that vast storehouse of melodramas—Drury Lane. With its wonderful replica of the greatest sporting event in the world, the English Derby, its thrilling scenes in the National Sporting Club of London, the home of all the big prize fights on the other side of the water and with its exciting action, with villainy pitted against fine heroics, it can well be classed among the big features of the day.

It is said that at the first New York showing of the picture the audience applauded the hero and hissed the villain with vigor. And that is going some! Most people like to relegate such conduct back to the days of the ten, twenty, thirt', but here was an audience in a big Broadway house so swept away that the emotions completely took possession of the brain! A picture that can furnish such a great amount of enjoyment in times as these is indeed worth coming far to see and because of this the management of the ———— theatre has booked the picture for an extended run.

The film was produced under the direction of Maurice Tourneur, one of the big directors of the day. He will be remembered for his fine work on "The Blue Bird," "Prunella," "The Poor Little Rich Girl" and other prominent pictures. These were all productions of an entirely different type and it will be interesting for his admirers to watch his career in this, his newer field. We can promise them no disappointment and earnestly request that they come early during the week for large crowds are anticipated.

THE STORY

The young Earl of Woodstock is greatly in debt but has two plans by which to make a fortune and regain his financial standing. His one hope is placed in Joe Lee, a gypsy boxer whom he is backing, his other and greater, in his horse, Lady Love, who is entered to run in the great Derby. De Carteret, the sworn enemy of Woodstock, determines to frustrate both chances. He forces his wife Olive to attempt to make Joe Lee break training. The fighter, however, is loyal to Kitty Cavanagh, the youngest daughter of the earl's head trainer. Kitty has loved the gypsy not wisely but well and when Olive starts practicing her charms on Joe Lee she runs away. Unsuccessful in her attempts to attract him, Olive arranges to have Lee drugged in the ring.

On the night of the fight Woodstock's string of horses is being transferred through London from one station to another. De Carteret plans to steal the horse. Kitty has attempted suicide and Cavanagh and his elder daughter Norah, whom Woodstock lives, are summoned to her bedside. Cavanagh learns of the plot to drug Lee and hurries to the ring. Norah superintends the transfer of the horses. Cavanagh frustrates the plot and takes the place of Lee's traitorous second. But just before the announcements he discovers that Lee is responsible for Kitty's sorrow. As a consequence he drugs him himself.

Woodstock, however, jumps into the ring and fights the fight himself, winning after a hard and lucky battle. De Carteret's men have succeeded in stealing Lady Love but Norah proves the better at trickery and regains the valued horse. De Carteret makes another attempt to spoil Woodstock's chances by kidnapping him but Joe Lee comes to the rescue this time and the earl gets to the races in time to enter his horse and see her win. All ends happily for Woodstock and Norah are married while Joe Lee speedily makes amends for his injustice to Kitty.

CATCH LINES

Maurice Tourneur's masterly production of the famous Drury Lane melodrama.

Drury Lane was the home of British melodrama and "Sporting Life" was the greatest attraction produced there.

Maurice Tourneur, producer of the artistic masterpiece "The Blue Bird," scores again in the field of big melodrama with "Sporting Life."

Faithful reproductions of the English turf classic, the Derby, and of the National Sporting Club where all the big bouts of London are held.

A melodrama so well done that it makes you forget the passing of years and takes you back to the time when you cheered the hero and hissed the villain—and you can't help so expressing yourself when you see this modern production.

That particular thrill that can only be produced by the clang of the bell—the start of the horses around the track—and the neck-and-neck finish has been communicated to this great melodrama!

Maurice Tourneur's first independent production with an exceptional cast.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two 1-sheets; two 3-sheets; one 6-sheet; one 24-sheet. Effective scenes taken from the production will also be furnished by the Kraus Manufacturing company. These are procurable in 30 x 40 size with easel back at $12.50 each; size 40 x 60 with easel back are $22.50 each. The casing in each instance is extra.

LOBBY DISPLAYS:—Eight 8 x 10; eight 11 x 14; two 22 x 28.

NEWSPAPER CUTS:—Two 1-column; two 2-column; two 2½-column; two 3-column; one 4-column.

HERALDS AND PLATES FOR HERALDS.

SLIDES:—Two styles.

(Except for the Lithographs all advertising matter can be obtained direct from Kraus. Lithos are procurable from the Alpha Lithographing Co.)

SUGGESTIONS

In advertising this production be sure to emphasize the fact that it is a picturization of the great Drury Lane melodrama of the same name; that it contains faithful reproductions of the English Derby, an international classic, and that the scenes in the ring are modelled after the National Sporting Club in London. It can be heralded as a pretentious production which it truly is. Let people know that it is crammed with thrills and the high lights that are only possessed in a Drury Lane melodrama.

The fact that it is Maurice Tourneur's first independent production is also of considerable interest. Heretofore his name has been attached to totally different types of pictures such as "The Blue Bird," "Prunella," "The Poor Little Rich Girl," and others. Stories regarding his versatility and his true knowledge of dramatic technique which enables him to go from one extreme to the other should make interesting reading.

Cuts Like the Above of the Producer Furnished by Kraus at a Charge of Thirty-five Cents Each. There Are a Wide Variety of Scene Cuts. Proof Sheets of Cuts Will be Sent on Request

"THE BETTER HALF"—SELECT

Alice Brady Stars in a Dual Role

"THE BETTER HALF" is an adaptation from a novel entitled "Michael Thwaite's Wife," which disclosed a type of fiction increasingly popular with the novel reading public of today. It makes what is generally termed an average picture telling how the more virtuous of twins took her sister's place by her husband's bedside when he was recovering from a blow that seriously endangered his sight. Alice Brady takes the dual role in the picture and though she plays with sincerity and well defines the two characters, no performance, however good, is quite able to overcome the handicap created by the double exposure and "doubling" work that must of necessity be introduced.

Furthermore "The Better Half" seldom shows a real vital spark. The scenario appears well builded and progresses steadily, but the situations of the story never quite inspire. David Powell and Crauford Kent give the star sterling support. The adaptation was made by Louis Sherwin, dramatic critic of the New York Globe.—Released in September.—Length, 5 reels.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Louise.....
Trixie.....
.....ALICE BRADY
Michael Thwaite.....David Powell
Hendrick Thurston.....Crauford Kent
Judge Thorley, the twins' uncle....W. T. Carlton
Mrs. Cortlandt, their aunt...Isabelle O'Madigan
Doctor.....Richard Allen

Scenario by Louis Sherwin.
From Miriam Michelson's novel, "Michael Thwaite's Wife."
Directed by J. S. Robertson.
Photography by H. L. Broening.

AD TALK

Alice Brady, Select's talented dramatic actress, is to be seen on the screen of the ———— theatre next ———— in "The Better Half," an adaptation of Miriam Michelson's novel, "Michael Thwaite's Wife." Under the expert handling of the producers this novel has been made into a picture of force and power. Michael Thwaite is wedded to the more selfish and extravagant of twin sisters. Married life palls on her. She leaves her husband the very night he is struck down and rendered temporarily blind by thugs. And lest the shock cause a permanent affliction, Louise, the wife's twin, takes her place by his bedside.

Here, indeed, is a situation as strong and as replete with dramatic possibilities as it is unusual. To disclose the denouement at which the picture arrives would be to spoil the picture for our patrons, so all are urged to be present on either ———— of ———— week. Miss Brady is called upon to play the dual role of the twin sisters. This is difficult work under any circumstances, but the situations in "The Better Half" call for some brilliant work in order to give them the proper strength and force. It is unnecessary to add that the star rises to every opportunity and scores yet another clever performance—or dual performance.

Miss Brady is supported by an exceptional cast headed by David Powell, one of the most polished leading men on either stage or screen. Crauford Kent is the heavy, and gives a fine performance, while others are W. T. Carlton, Isabelle O'Madigan and Richard Allen. Louis Sherwin, dramatic critic on the new York "Globe," and one of the ablest men in his profession, prepared the novel for screen use, while the direction was in charge of J. S. Robertson.

THE STORY

Michael Thwaite marries Trixie, the more extravagant and selfish of twin sisters. Success comes to him in his chosen profession only after hard application to his work, which often leaves his wife quite alone. She seeks company in a fast set, a leader of which is Hendrick Thurston. One night after a supper party in Thurston's rooms, Trixie returns home to find Michael awaiting her. In anger he tells her never to go near Thurston again, as his reputation is none too good. Trixie quarrels with him. She retires to her room to pack some things and leave. Just a little later Michael comes to her room, intending to patch up the quarrel, but she has gone.

She seeks refuge with her sister, Louise, a nurse in a downtown hospital. When Louise hears the story she immediately 'phones Michael, telling him to come for his wife. On his way down he is attacked by thugs and struck heavily over the eyes. He is carried to the hospital stunned. Trixie is not there. Despite Louise's entreaties she has gone to Thurston. So to save Michael from a shock, Louise takes her place. Posing as Trixie she nurses him in his long illness, through which he remains blind.

In South America Thurston deserts Trixie. Helpless, she returns to New York to claim her old position. Discovering the circumstances and realizing that she is unworthy she takes her life. That very day the bandages are removed from Michael's eyes. He is the only one who immediately sees that Louise is not Trixie. At first he upbraids her, but then he hears the whole story, and, knowing that all was done for the best, he hastens to make amends. And later when time has dimmed the past, Louise makes Michael happy as his wife.

CATCH LINES

Alice Brady at her "double" best in a dual role.

Miss Brady recently returned to the New York stage in "Forever After," a popular success, which many credit to the star's long training on the screen.

Alice Brady in a dual role in which she portrays the extravagant, selfish, reckless woman and her sister—the exact opposite.

When Trixie deserted her husband, Louise, her twin sister, took her place by his sick-bed. Was she right in concealing the truth from him?

Alice Brady, the popular star of screen and stage in her latest photodramatic success, "The Better Half."

A remarkable story concerning the predicament of a woman who took her twin sister's place after she had deserted her husband!

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One 1-sheet (scene of production); one 1-sheet (star, personal, for this production); one 3-sheet (scene of production); one 3-sheet (star, personal, for this production); one 6-sheet and one 24-sheet, each containing scene of production.

Select also has ready for order new stock star one-sheets of Miss Brady, executed in six colors.

CUTS (ELECTROS):—Two 1-column (production); two 2-column (production); one 3-column (production); one half-column (star); one 1-column (star); one 2-column (star).

In addition to these cuts on the production Select has a new set of coarse screen electros of Miss Brady, executed on a new pattern. These are included in the new line of accessories furnished by Select for advertising the new star series.

PHOTOS:—Nine 8 x 10 black and white scenes and title card; seven 11 x 14 colored scenes

(Continued on page 2087)

Two-Column Cut of Miss Brady and Mr. Powell Furnished by Select Exchanges in Electro Form at Small Cost.

"MR. LOGAN--U. S. A."—FOX

Harrison Says It Should Prove Satisfactory

THIS picture will prove very satisfactory, especially to Tom Mix fans. Its entertaining values are not derived from the story, which has been put into picture many times in the past, but from the different stunts the hero introduces, some of which are novel.

For instance, the hero is brought to jail with his hands tied behind his back. After locking him up, the sheriff unties him through the bars. The hero then uses the rope in lassoing the gun of the sheriff, hanging on his side, while at his desk, thus turning the tables on him.

The star exhibits such other daring tricks as riding his horse up and down the stairs, jumping him on to a motor truck, from the porch in the first story of the house, then on the ground, and many others, including some dare-devil horse riding.

The only fault one could find with it is that it contains too many subtitles, which in turn consist of too many words. It is a pity some producers have not yet realized the advantage of few and short subtitles.

It is a spy subject in which some Germans try to cause a strike in a mine. It is thoroughly clean.—Released Sept. 8.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Jimmy Logan.....Tom Mix
Suzanne Morton.....Kathleen Connors
Uncle Billy Morton.....Dick La Reno
Jim Crosby.....Charles Le Moyne
Olsen.....Jack W. Dill
Meier, alias J. Alexander Gage.....Val Paul
Dolly Dugan.....Maude Emery
Written and staged by Lynn Reynolds.

AD TALK

An exciting story of the activities of a member of the American Secret Service on the Southern border of the United States will be presented at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— next week when the Fox Victor picture, "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," is exposed to the public gaze. This picture has as its star Tom Mix, one of the most daring, if not the most daring of all stunt actors. He has become dear to the patrons of the screen by his many characterizations of fearless people of the West and North, but in "Mr. Logan, "U. S. A.," he performs new and amazing feats of daring.

The story of this picture which was written and transferred to the screen by Lynn Reynolds, a director of considerable note, and no little ability, concerns a supposed drifter who lands in a little New Mexican town giving his name as Jim Logan. The principal reason for the town's existence is the fact that there is a large tungsten mine situated there. And tungsten is a valuable war product. How Jim Logan frustrates a German-paid agitator sent to the scene of action to bring on a strike and how, for the time being, he sacrifices his love for a girl, in order to fulfil his duties to his country, make a photoplay teeming with action and thrills.

Mix, as has been said, does stunt after stunt. The average man would quake at the thought of being only asked to do them. Mr. Reynolds, whose abilities are best shown when he essays the picture dealing with outdoor life, has fashioned the photoplay admirably and patrons of the ——— theatre will, as a result, be assured of a class A1 entertainment.

THE STORY

In New Mexico one of the large tungsten mines is owned and operated by William Morton, affectionately known by his associates and employees as Uncle Billy Morton. At the outbreak of the war he increases his activities as this metal is of great value to the Government for war purposes. Uncle Billy lives near the shaft of the mine with his niece, Suzanne. When things at the mine are humming a man giving his name as Gage arrives in the town. He is in reality an agent of the German government, come with the purpose of instigating a strike among the miners. His accomplice turns out to be the superintendent of the mine.

About the same time Jim Logan comes to town. He shortly wins Suzanne's gratitude and admiration by shooting a gila monster as it is about to strike at her and then rescuing her from a perilous position on the side of a cliff, where in her nervous fright she fell.

Gage is successful in persuading the miners to call a strike, but Logan succeeds in frustrating his plot for the present by breaking up the meeting. To discredit him with Suzanne, Gage circulates stories about his relations with a chorus girl in the public place by the name of Dolly Dugan. Uncle Billy is beset by four of the plotters and is rescued by Logan. But Gage again plays against him. On a trumped up charge Logan is arrested by the sheriff. Dolly aids in his escape.

Gage kidnaps Suzanne and lays plans to blow up the mine. But Logan at last gains the upper hand. He routs the strikers with the assistance of some mule skinners and their animals and captures Gage and Suzanne after a long pursuit. Not until then does he disclose the fact that he and Dolly are Secret Service operatives and so, of course, all ends happily.

SUGGESTIONS

Play Tom Mix up as a stunt actor. He is known as absolutely fearless. Few if any of his stunts are faked. And you can go the limit on this production for it has thills and fast action galore. Play up the fact that it is a rousing story of a Secret Service operative who for the moment sacrificed his interest in the girl he loved in order to fulfill his duties to his country. You certainly can not plug any Tom Mix picture too hard from the stunt angle. And "Mr. Logan U. S. A." is by no means an exception to this rule.

CATCH LINES

Tom Mix, greatest dare-devil of the screen, in his latest and best Fox picture.

If you hanker for thrilling stunts, for fine red-blooded action, for pretty romance—all enacted in the great outdoors of the Southwest—don't miss "Mr. Logan, U. S. A." Tom Mix is the star!

If you dislike thrill upon thrill, action that makes your blood tingle, romance that gives you the glad feeling around the heart—if you dislike all this then DON'T come to the ——— theatre when "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," is shown.

(Continued on page 2088)

TOM MIX in MR. LOGAN U·S·A· WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

One, Two and Three-Column Cuts Like the Above Are Available

"THE GIRL OF TO-DAY—VITAGRAPH

Corinne Griffith, Spies, Patriotism and Thrills!

VITAGRAPH also steps to the fore with a spy melodrama in "The Girl of Today," which features the fascinating Corinne Griffith. The picture was made last winter and includes many snow scenes which make an excellent setting for the action.

The New York State Constabulary assisted in making the production and an insight into the fine work done by this and similar bodies of men throughout the country is given.

The story is keyed at a fast pace which, in passing, is the only key for a spy melodrama. There are many thrills, rousing speeches and German Kultur comes in for an amount of exposition and fine, patriotic panning. There should be real hisses at the German spy and real plaudits for the American heroine, the hero and all their assistants.

Corinne Griffith is, as usual, completely captivating. She is sincere and capable in her work besides.

Marc MacDermott is a suave and villainous spy, while Webster Campbell is the long suffering hero.

—Released Sept. 23.—Length, 5 reels.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Leslie Seldon.....Corinne Griffith
Dr. Wolff.....Marc MacDermott
Morris Wynn.....C. A. Stevenson
Jack Wynn.....Webster Campbell
Mrs. Wynn.....Ida Darling
By Robert W. Chambers, Directed by John Robertson.

AD TALK

Corinne Griffith, who is generally considered the prettiest girl on the screen today, comes to the ———— theatre on ———— of ———— week in her latest Vitagraph picture, "The Girl of Today." There is no actress better qualified to assume the title role in such a picture than Miss Griffith. She is the typical "girl of today." She possesses youth, beauty, vivaciousness, and a personality that is winning to the extreme. Patrons of the ———— theatre who have enjoyed her previous Vitagraph productions such as "The Menace," "Who Goes There!" and "Love Watches," in which she won the unanimous praise of newspaper and trade critics will certainly have an additional treat in store for them when they lay eyes on "The Girl of Today."

This, her latest picture, is a spy melodrama in which the New York State Constabulary assisted in making. A troup of men were loaned the Vitagraph Company specially for this production and if they perform their duties as efficiently in real life as they do in this picture the absolute safety of the Empire State is forever assured. The manner in which Leslie Seldon (Miss Griffith) succeeds in rounding up a band of German spies who had planned to cripple the great city of New York and how she saves the life of the young man she loves makes vastly stirring pictorial entertainment.

The picture abounds in a number of attractive snow scenes while glimpses of certain water works which supply the city of New York the year round, bridges, and sections of the Barge Canal, lend the picture additional interest. Webster Campbell is seen as the hero opposite Miss Griffith while Marc MacDermott appears thoroughly despicable as the head of the German spies.

THE STORY

Leslie Seldon, the adopted daughter of the Wynns, is in love with Jack Wynn, the son of the house, but her love begins to wane when, after the outbreak of the war, he does not don a uniform. She even goes so far as to receive marked attentions from Dr. Wolff, a distinguished citizen, despite the fact that Jack warns her that he is a German spy. A series of explosions in war factories takes place and Jack traces one of them to the doctor's door. His parents and Leslie do not take this information seriously when he eagerly imparts it to them.

Jack finally visits Wolff and accuses him point blank of being a spy. At first Wolff laughs at him but then seeing that the boy knows what he is talking about makes him a captive. He writes a note to the Wynns purporting to come from Jack saying that he has disappeared in order to evade the draft. Leslie is loathe to believe this of Jack and begins to think that the boy's suspicions regarding Wolff must have had some ground.

As a consequence she gets him to invite her and Mrs. Wynn to his home. She succeeds in installing a detectaphone in one of the rooms, while a member of the State Constabulary takes the other end to a house near by. Later Leslie's suspicions are confirmed. She hears Wolff discuss a gigantic plot to render New York City helpless by blowing up the water works, the barge canal and several bridges. The Constabulary, however, prevents such a disaster by hustling right on the job.

Later Wolff is shot just as he is about to kill Jack. The boy rescued, his honor vindicated, he enlists in the army of his country and bids Leslie a fond farewell.

CATCH LINES

Corinne Griffith, the most beautiful girl on the screen, in her latest Vitagraph picture.

How a young American girl foiled a group of German plotters and so saved the city of New York from a terrible calamity.

She thought her sweetheart was a slacker but he proved himself a real hero.

An expose of Hun frightfulness.

We think Carinne Griffith the prettiest girl on the screen today—Come and see whether you agree with us.

The story of how an American girl, in search of her vanished fiance. unearths a gigantic German spy plot to cripple the city of New York.

Her faith in her sweetheart was so great that when she received a note purporting to come from him saying he had disappeared to avoid the draft she refused to take it as true.

Corinne Griffith, a girl who combines beauty and brains, and who, as a result, is an excellent screen personality.

How an entire band of German spies was foiled by the discoveries of a single girl.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One 1-sheet; one 3-sheet; one 6-sheet.
PHOTOS:—Two 22 x 28 colored; eight 11 x 12 black and white and a title card. Set of 5 x 7 black and white photographs of scenes obtainable for cut reproduction. There are also 8 x 10 photographs of Miss Griffith suitable for framing.
CUTS:—Include either 2-column or 1-column pen sketch of Miss Griffith, one-column scene cut and two-column scene cut.
MUSIC CUE.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in Motion Picture News Sept. 21 issue, page 1775.

SUGGESTIONS

Play Corinne Griffith up as she is a sure bet. With the photographs and portraits of her supplied by the Vitagraph exchanges a most attractive lobby display can be gotten up. Any superlatives describing her beauty and charm will be quite in order.

The picture is a spy melodrama and if your patrons eat such stuff up go the limit on it for the story is a good thriller. Tell them of the manner in which a young American girl saved the city of New York from disaster at the hands of the Hun. If, however, you think your patrons are tired of the war stuff play up Miss Griffith and say nothing of the picture's character.

"flats" colored scenes; one 22 x 28 star portrait, colored, upright (stock).

Select exchanges have also been supplied with new star portraits in black and white. There are several original and stunning poses of Miss Brady.

SLIDES:—A handsome slide advertising "Her Better Half"; also stock star lantern slides (included in new Select service).
MUSIC CUE SHEET.

(Continued from page 2085)

SUGGESTIONS

Excellent press matter is contained in the issue of "Select Pictures Magazine" devoted to the exploitation of this offering. It contains a well written and novel interview with the star, a long story on the production, and several "shorts," all of which could be made use of.

In advertising it might be well to play up the fact that Miss Brady has returned to the New York stage this season (not meaning to give up picture work, however), and that she has scored a success. Many critics contribute this to her screen work, an angle which would interest.

The picture contains nothing in the least offensive, and advertising should be directed to all. The synopsis will give an idea as to how catchy, interest-awakening advertisements could be prepared.

CORINNE GRIFFITH
In Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature
"THE GIRL OF TO-DAY"
Coarse Screen Cut Supplied for Newspaper Use

"JUST FOR TONIGHT"—GOLDWYN

A Romantic Comedy for Goldwyn's New Star

TOM MOORE'S first starring venture for Goldwyn is a pleasing romantic comedy, nothing in the least extraordinary but one which should satisfy everyone. It contains a lot of smart, novel incidents which Charles Logue always seems to introduce in pictures bearing his authorship, while the titles are so written as to liven up things considerably. Many of them will probably bring response in the way of hearty laughter.

The film is ideally set, the scenes, the majority of which are exteriors, being attractive shots on some country estate. They are well photographed in the bargain.

There is no reason why Tom Moore shouldn't be made into a good drawing card. He has a fetching, clean personality, is good looking and thoroughly conversant with all the tricks of the camera.—Released Sept. 16.—Length, 5 reels.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Theodore Whitney, Jr.....Tom Moore
Betty Blake.....Lucy Fox
Crandall.....Henry Sedley
Major Blackburn.....Henry Hallam
Theodore Whitney, Sr.....Robert Broderick
Lady Roxenham.....Ethel Grey Terry
Detective Chase.....Edwin Sturgis
Butler.....Phil Ryley
Mrs. Blackburn.....Maude Turner Gordon

By Charles A. Logue.
Directed by Charles Giblyn.
Photographed by Lloyd Lewis.

AD TALK

The ——— theatre will present a romantic comedy, "Just for Tonight," on ——— of ——— week. Special interest is attached to the exhibition of this feature owing to the fact that it marks the debut of Tom Moore as a Goldwyn star. During the past year Mr. Moore has played leads to Madge Kennedy and other members of the Goldwyn constellation and those acquainted with the history of the screen know full well that he was one of the first prominent actors in the picture art. "Just for Tonight," however, is his first appearance as a star with the Goldwyn company. The reason for his elevation to the ranks of stardom was due to the fact that theatre patrons throughout the country, including many of the regular visitors to the ——— theatre, practically demanded it. The results will be awaited with interest.

Suffice it to say now regarding "Just for Tonight" that it is a romantic comedy of the highest type, written specially for the star by Charles Logue, author of "The Service Star." It relates the fascinating adventures of one Theodore Whitney, Jr., who takes a fancy to a young girl he passes while motoring. He tries long and hard to be properly introduced to her but failing time after time, finally resorts to the practice of a little clever deceit. Just what this clever deceit is, it is not our pleasure to tell you at the present writing. But if you hanker for a smile and a laugh—many of them rather—just drop 'round to the ——— theatre on any day of the showing and you will be sure to be pleased.

And by the way, Mr. Moore's leading lady, a newcomer to the screen by the name of Lucy Fox, is a true charmer. You don't blame Theodore Whitney, Jr. in the least for his mad pursuit of her.

THE STORY

Theodore Whitney, Jr. is the only son of a wealthy broker. Theodore Whitney, Sr. is worried—extremely worried—as a certain block of stock he once held is now worth many times the amount paid for it. This stock certificate is hanging on the wall of an inn, appropriately framed in mourning. Whitney has employed a detective to locate it and when it is at last found he sends Theodore, Jr. to buy it at the lowest possible figure.

But stock certificates are far from Theodore, Jr.'s mind. He is quite madly in love with a young girl whose real name is Betty Blake but who poses before him as Mary Smith. Theodore's acquaintanceship with her is limited to a few passing glimpses in an automobile and a joint session with a speed cop. But Whitney's detective opens a way for the gallant lover. This fellow is scheduled to enter the home of Major Blackburn, Betty's uncle, as an English nobleman, the reason being that thieves have worried the Major's friends and they believe a detective must be present.

So Theodore, being a man of infinite resourcefulness, pays the detective to drop the case while he proceeds to pose as the nobleman—Lord Roxenham. And here are complications! Though Theodore is delighted basking in the presence of Betty, he is quite thoroughly astonished when a Lady Roxenham puts in an appearance. Then, havoc! Betty will have nothing to do with him. All his words of love make him out a vile hypocrite. But then Theodore proves himself a good detective after all. He discovers that the supposed Lady Roxenham is none other than one of the gang of crooks who had planned to rob the Major. And it appears that Betty had bought the stock certificate so dear to Whitney's heart—so what could be better than this happy climax to affairs.

CATCH LINES

Tom Moore, Goldwyn's new star, in an ideal romantic comedy.

He was a plain American who introduced himself into a strange family as Lord Roxenham in order to be near the girl he loved. But he never bargained on Lady Roxenham appearing. Here he was an unmarried man, violently in love with a sweet, young thing—and then a wife claiming him.

Tom Moore has supported others so long that Goldwyn decided he could well support himself—and he does in "Just for Tonight," his first starring picture.

"Just for Tonight" sounds delightfully romantic, sort of makes you think of the moon and the stars and such things doesn't it? And the picture is just that sort of a picture. Such romances are all too scarce these days.

SUGGESTIONS

As this is Tom Moore's first starring venture in Goldwyn pictures it is well to proclaim it as extensively as possible. The fact that he has built up a large following during the past year as leading man for Madge Kennedy and other Goldwyn stars has placed him well in the hearts of the fans. If you showed Goldwyn pictures last year don't overlook this angle on the advertising.

"Just for Tonight" can be advertised as a clean, highly satisfying romantic comedy. It is not inflicted with any war or spy stuff as are many of the pictures of today and this is something of a welcome change. Play up this fact if desirable. The chances are that it will appeal.

Tom Moore is a clean cut, manly, good looking, likable actor who never betrays the fact that he is acting. His debut as a star was brought about practically by request of exhibitors, so don't forget his popularity.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One, three, six and twenty-four sheets and rotogravures in one-sheet size include scenes of production and photographs of star. Stock twenty-four sheets with space for advertising this special picture also procurable.

PHOTOS:—Sets of "Stills" are provided in three sizes—8 x 10, 11 x 14 and 23 x 28, all attractively colored.

CUTS AND MATS FOR NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY AND ADVERTISING:—Ad cuts include two one-column and two two-column of different sizes. Each has scene from production in which Moore is prominent. They are well gotten up with spaces left for name of theatre and balance of program.

Publicity cuts include one one-column star cut of Moore; one one-column scene cut of Moore and Miss Fox, one two-column scene cut of Moore and Miss Fox and one two-column scene cut of Moore holding a character up at the point of a gun. A large two-column star cut is also supplied.

SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in MOTION PICTURE NEWS August 24 issue page 1143; September 14 issue, page 1623; September 21 issue, page 1779.

(Continued from page 2086)

Tom Mix gives more thrills as a Secret Service operative working for the United States against the enemy of the day.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two 1-sheets; two 3-sheets; one 6 sheet; one 24-sheet.

LOBBY DISPLAY PHOTOGRAPHS:—Ten 8 x 10 black and white; ten 11 x 14 black and white; three 22 x 28 colored.

SCENE CUTS:—Four 1-column (25c. each) six 2-column (40c. each). All scene cuts show stirring character of production, the two-column being melodramatic in character the one-columns showing Mix in poses and scenes.

ADVERTISING CUTS:—One, two and three column ad cuts in display and type composition are tastefully worded and in many instances decorated with stirring scenes from the production.

SLIDES, MATS OF ALL CUTS, MUSIC CUE

Attractive One and Two-Column Ad Cuts Like the Above Furnished on This Production

"A WOMAN OF IMPULSE"—PARAMOUNT

An Average Story That Doesn't Give the Star a Chance

THIS is only an average picture. The story is very weak. It offers the star an opportunity to display her beauty and grace, but it contains hardly any situations that will get as far as the heart strings.

The star unquestionably possesses emotional abilities, but she has never yet been furnished with the proper medium to display them. Too much attention is paid to the artistic end of the production at the expense of the chief factors that make a picture entertaining.

The heroine in this melodrama, a woman blessed with a rare voice, marries a nobleman who is jealous of her and suspicious of every innocent move she makes.

The story is not entirely clean, since the villain has unlawful relations with his mother's Creole servant. There is no offensive scene shown, however. The Creole murders him in the end.

There may be trouble for exhibitors situated below the Mason-Dixon line on account of the misuse of the name "Creole" as applying to a mullato. Besides, the violation of this mullato by a white man is not a very pleasing situation.—Released Sept. 29.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

"La Vecci," a Prima Donna.....Lina Cavalieri
Nina, Her Sister.....Gertrude Robinson
Count Nerval, a Spanish Nobleman,
Raymond Bloomer
Phillip.....Robert Cain
Mme. Gardiner.....Ida Waterman
Dr. Paul Spencer.....Leslie Austern
Mr. Stuart.....J. Clarence Handysides
Mrs. Stuart.....Mrs. Matilda Brundage
Cleo.....Corinne Uzzell
Author: Louis K. Anspacher.
Adapter: Eve Unsell.
Director: Edward Jose.

AD TALK

Mme. Lina Cavalieri, one of the noted opera singers of the present day, will be the star to be seen at the ——— theatre next ——— in "A Woman of Impulse." This is a Paramount picture and owing to its many unusual features will doubtless prove exceptional, even with the fine record of achievements of this producing company in mind. "A Woman of Impulse" supplies Mme. Cavalieri with a role in which she is thoroughly at home, for as Leonora she appears as a great opera singer. It is only natural that the star should give a striking and realistic interpretation of this part, considering the experience she has had on the operatic stage and her present high position in this art.

The picture is an adaptation of a play by Louis K. Anspacher, one of the best known of modern playrights. Leonora, its central character, marries Count Nerval, an exceedingly jealous Spaniard. And while Leonora loves him dearly, she is so attractive to all men that she has but to move about in society to give her husband fears. The climax of affairs is reached in America, where Nerval's native cousin insists on paying the charmer attentions, much to her discomfort. A tragedy results from this which only misses ruining the lives of Leonora and her husband.

The picture was staged under the direction of Edward Jose, who comes from Europe originally, and who is therefore quite able to introduce a correct continental atmosphere into any picture which calls for it. "A Woman of Impulse" is particularly striking in this respect. Included in the cast supporting the star are Robert Cain, Raymond Bloomer, Gertrude Robinson, Leslie Austern and Corinne Uzzell.

THE STORY

Leonora is the daughter of a poor lace-maker. She possesses a beautiful voice, but is not aware of the opportunity it offers her. It remains for Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, wealthy Americans, to discover its powers and on the death of her mother they adopt Leonora, together with her younger sister, Nina. Shortly afterwards she blossoms forth in Paris as its idol. She is now La Vecci, a much admired and sought after prima donna.

One of her most ardent suitors is Count Nerval of Spain, whom Leonora refuses to marry because of his unusually jealous disposition. She does, however, love him. His American cousin, Phillip, also becomes infatuated with the singer. Jealous of this new rival, Nerval almost forces Leonora to marry him. They depart for America for their honeymoon. Nina, accompanying them, meets a young doctor, Paul Spencer, aboard ship and the two fall in love.

Leonora goes on tour in the States and when in the South receives an invitation to visit Phillip and his parents. He again makes love to her, but she remains faithful to her marriage vows. So Phillip, being fickle, turns his attentions toward Nina. The jealous Nerval breaks for the time being with Leonora because of her presence in his cousin's home.

Nina receives a letter from Paul saying he is coming for a visit. Leonora takes this letter and shows it to Phillip, asking him to discontinue favoring Nina with his attentions. It is night and Phillip attempts to kiss the charmer. She, afraid, tries to stab him with a dagger. He easily defends himself and seizes her in his arms. She faints. But when she revives she discovers Phillip dead. When Paul arrives he conducts an investigation and proves that Leonora could not have inflicted the wound. Soon after a creole girl confesses to the deed. She had loved Phillip. Later Leonora and her husband are reunited.

CATCH LINES

Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the famous operatic star, whose beauty is as celebrated as her voice, in her latest Paramount picture.

By Louis K. Anspacher, author of the great success, "The Unchastened Woman."

A beautiful woman—a jealous husband—a dangerous combination.

The star of "The Eternal Temptress" and "Love's Conquest" in another beautiful picture.

A noted opera singer seen in the role in which she is thoroughly at home—that of a noted opera singer.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two 1-sheets; two 3-sheets; one 6-sheet; rotogravure 1-sheet; 24-sheet stand. 1-sheet containing striking portrait of star, with announcement; 1-sheet scene. Each 3-sheet has scene from production. 6-sheet is handsome pose of star.

PHOTOS:—Eight 8 x 10 black and white; eight 11 x 14 sepia; one 22 x 28 sepia; 8 x 10 photos of star.

CUTS AND MATS:—Five 1-column; three 2-column; two 3-column (production); same number and size on star.

SERIES OF ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—Including deep three-column ad containing scene; deep two-column ad with scene; deep one-column ad with star.

MUSIC CUE AND SLIDE.

SUGGESTIONS

As Lina Cavalieri has received national publicity for a considerable length of time, her name is generally well known and is well worth featuring. Advertise the production as an adaptation of Louis K. Anspacher's play which centers around the career of an opera singer and dwell on the fact that Mme. Cavalieri is also a noted opera singer. An advertisement following such lines should catch the eye because of its novelty.

Lay stress on the beauty of the production, for it has been lavishly staged. If it is the custom to play up the director and the supporting cast, the exhibitor will find that these contributors to the good of the production are well known figures in the picture world.

REPRINTS

ARRANGEMENTS Have Been Completed by Which Motion Picture News Will Be Able to Furnish Reprints of pages in The Complete Plan Book to Manufacturers at Actual Cost.

They Make a Most Valuable Aid to Every Exhibitor Booking Your Picture.

Paramount Has on Hand Similarly Dressed Cuts in All Sizes

"MONEY ISN'T EVERYTHING"—AMERICAN

Absurd, But Will Please Your Audience

ALTHOUGH the story is absurd, this offering will please, because no attempt has been made to present it as a serious thing. It is an adventurous little drama of the light type, which includes some romance and a little high class comedy. It also offers some thrills towards the end.

The scenario is based on the novel, "Beauty to Let," by Fred Jackson. The heroine's beauty is utilized by the hero, a poor lawyer, in a business enterprise. Eventually the two are united in marriage.

Joyfulness and cheerfulness prevail throughout the play. Your patrons will enjoy it because they won't have to think hard. In general, it offers clean and wholesome entertainment.

Released Sept. 29.—Length, 5 reels.—(Available at Pathe Exchanges.)—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Margery Smith.....Margarita Fisher
Franklyn Smith.....Jack Mower
Henry P. Rockwell.....J. Norris Foster
"Diamond Tim" Moody.....Wedgwood Nowell
Betty Nan.....Kate Price
Directed by Edward Sloman.
Story by Fred Jackson, from novel, "Beauty To Let."

THE STORY

Margery Smith is on her "uppers." So is Franklyn Smith, attorney at law, who has a nice diploma but no clients. What could be more natural then, than for the two to combine forces. Certainly there would be nothing to lose and perhaps much to gain. This partnership is not, however, a marriage contract. It is a corporation entitled "Beauty To Let." Franklyn is the president, Margery the vice-president and the office force.

The plan is simple. When any man wants a beauty to dine with him or to dance with him or to accompany him to a reception he applies at the Beauty To Let Corporation for Miss Margery Smith. And Margery, properly chaperoned by Betty Nan, stout and quite able to take care of her charge as well as herself, fills the bill. Customers are plentiful but they soon narrow down to two. These are Henry Rockwell and "Diamond Tim" Moody, rich customers, both of them, and each eager to acquire Margery for life and for better or for worse.

But Margery has fallen in love with her business partner, quite unbeknownst to him and is piqued when he lays Rockwell's proposal of marriage before her. She is even more piqued when he announces that he has bought excellent bachelor quarters. She is not considered at all! But the manner in which Margery finally manages to extract a proposal from the man she really loves, and at the same time cheat Moody, the cheater, out of a slice of money, brings on a happy ending to the story. The climax is staged at a farewell dinner party given by Moody and complications arise thick and fast to puzzle all the members of the cast—that is, all save Margery Smith, the partner and office force of the firm of Beauty To Let.

AD TALK

The ——— theatre will present on ——— of ——— week, Margarita Fisher in one of the cheeriest comedies ever produced. This is entitled "Money Isn't Everything" and is an adaptation of a magazine story called "Beauty To Let," by Fred Jackson, the well-known writer and playwright. There are few men better equipped than Mr. Jackson to write comedy. He has a high sense of this most valuable element in the construction of stories and plays, his plots are original and the situations which he evolves are never anything short of the best in the humorous line.

Those acquainted with the theatre will remember his highly successful farce, "A Full House," produced only a few years ago. Producers thought so much of this that during the current season it has been made over into a musical comedy and even now is playing on Broadway to capacity houses. Mr. Jackson is also the author of innumerable magazine stories many of which have been made into pictures.

Margarita Fisher, the popular comedienne, star of many American features, has a role well suited to her capabilities which she takes full advantage of. As the junior partner and chief worker in the "Beauty To Let" corporation she registers many a laugh on her own account and gets the most from the many humorous situations provided her by the author. The story is of a novel nature—nothing just like it has been done on the films heretofore, which is saying a lot in these days of "reissues" and revised productions. J. Morris Foster and Wedgwood Nowell are prominent in the supporting cast, while Jack Mower is seen in the role opposite Miss Fisher's.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One one-sheet, one three-sheet, one six-sheet. One-sheet contains attractive scene of Miss Fisher and opposite lead. Three-sheet contains light scene giving good idea of humorous nature of picture. Six-sheet contains scene of melodramatic character.

LOBBY DISPLAY:—Eight 11 x 14 photos and title card; all are good scenes suggesting light character of production. One 22 x 28 of scene; one 22 x 28 of star.

SUGGESTIONS FOR DISPLAY ADVERTISING INCLUDE:—One three-column, one two-column and one one-column.

SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE.

(Continued from page 2080)

isn't a yellow man in the lot. Let's prove there isn't a Yellow Dog at home.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Three 1-sheets; three 3-sheets; one 6-sheet; one 24-sheet stand; two styles of half-sheets and window card.

A wide variety of slides, heralds, photos, etc., have been prepared. In addition there is a seven-foot cut-out figure of Uncle Sam prepared as a part of an exceptionally novel lobby display.

A campaign book has been prepared for the exhibitor's use, with specially designed advertising. The newspaper stories for the exhibitors' use will identify the film as a patriotic inspiration that lends added impetus to the drive against the dangerous ramifications of the German spy system.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in Motion Picture News Sept. 7 issue, page 1555; Sept. 21 issue, page 1881.

SUGGESTIONS

Jewel has been conducting an immense campaign in behalf of this picture for the last few weeks. Many towns in the United States have societies inaugurated to stamp out "The Yellow Dogs." The original story gained followers when it originally appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. For display procure a few copies of this issue if possible—May 4th—and dress up your lobby with them. Have the issues opened to the pages on which the story appeared.

Also procure the address of the head of the "Yellow Dog" stamper in your town. From him get a list of his members. Circularize them. Have them attend the show in a body on the opening night. If there is no band in your town organize one of your own. Appoint some leading citizen to the head of it—yourself if need be. The papers will give you publicity on this if they see you are sincere—and you ought to be sincere.

There are innumerable ways of creating interest in the picture, contained in the advertising campaign book mapped out by Jewel. Don't let an opportunity go by. The picture has a story besides—and don't forget that—but lay emphasis on its patriotic character. It really is patriotic from any angle.

SUGGESTIONS

on "Money Isn't Everything"

This is a comedy of a light and intimate type and should be advertised with Margarita Fisher, the star, in view and Fred Jackson, the author. Miss Fisher has done many comedies with the American company and her past reputation will stand her in good stead with respect to this production.

Feature the name of Mr. Jackson if you cater to an intelligent clientele. He is the author of the Broadway play, "A Full House," one of the big successes of a few seasons ago. He also has many magazine stories to his credit, many of which have been made into pictures. A point of interest also is that Mr. Jackson is now serving his country in the Navy.

CATCH LINES

Margarita Fisher in her latest and best comedy produced by American.

Taken from the magazine story, "Beauty to Let," by Fred Jackson, popular writer and playwright.

Margery and Franklyn formed a partnership—not a marriage contract—but a corporation, and a closed one. The idea was to "hire" Margery out to customers who wanted a beauty to accompany them to social functions. Hence the name of the firm, "Beauty to Let." Of course, Margery was properly chaperoned by one who knew her duties well. But even such a bothersome person didn't prevent the beauty from falling in love. What happened after that is a state secret, to be revealed only at the ——— theatre on ———.

Written by the best author of light comedy the present generation has produced—Fred Jackson.

The star of "Miss Jackie of the Army" and "Miss Jackie of the Navy" is a better and more humorous picture.

There are many novel ways of making money, but the most novel of them all is revealed in this highly amusing American comedy, "Money Isn't Everything."

Star Cut of Margarita Fisher, Featured in American Productions Supplied for Newspaper

"A SOUL WITHOUT WINDOWS"—WORLD

Ethel Clayton in a Pleasing Offering

THIS is a good offering. It is far above the average picture released by the World Film Corporation. It contains some situations with heart interest and some suspense. The story is interesting and the action keeps steady all the way through.

It is about a hero who, disappointed in love, shuts the windows of his soul to smiles and happiness until he meets the right girl.

The acting of Miss Clayton is sincere. The photography is good. Most of the scenes have been taken outdoors and are pretty.

As it is a clean entertainment it should appeal to all.—Released Sept. 30.—Length, 6 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Hopama.....Ethel Clayton
Joshua.....Richard Clarke
Hannah.....Eugenie Woodward
Nehemiah.....Victor Kennard
Pedro Camillio.....David Davies
Murio.....Gus Pixley
Mrs. Mallory.....Zadee Burbank
Scott Mallory.....Frank Mayo
Faith Palmer.....Pinna Nesbit
Mr. Palmer.....Jack Drumier
Griswold.....Jack Roberts
Woman.....Sadie Schaeffer
Girl.....Violet Aksel

Directed by Travers Vale.

AD TALK

Hopama, of unknown parentage, was brought up in settlement of Shakers. Her high spirits and longing for freedom were ever at odds with the stern ideals of the people who had adopted her. One day a strolling musician came through the village with his violin. After he had rendered his selection Hopama seized the instrument and went through the very same piece almost without mistake. Later when the musician fell asleep she purloined his violin and went dashing through the woods, playing to her heart's content, full of the joy of living. Suddeenly she heard a man's voice say, "How do you do, Little Miss Woodland Elf?" and Hopama was frightened and dashed away.

Such is the beginning of the delightful romantic drama which the ——— theatre will offer its patrons on ——— of ——— week. How Hopama restores a lost faith into the life of the man she encountered in the forest and how she rose to be a great soloist and to discover that the very strolling musician of the old Shaker days is her grandfather makes an ideal picture entertainment. Our patrons are urgently requested, for their own enjoyment and peace of mind, to be present on one of the days of the exhibition of this picture. It is one of the most pleasing pictures that have come from the World Film studios in some time.

Ethel Clayton, a star by reason of unusual histrionic ability and close application to her work, is seen in the role of Hopama, while Frank Mayo, a truly versatile leading man, takes the opposite part. The picture has a variety of pretty settings—but the prettiest part of it is the story itself. Don't forget the date———

THE STORY

Hopama, the child of an unknown woman, has been brought up in a settlement of Shakers. Her life is by no means an easy one for any indulgences of the ordinary mortal are looked upon as sins by this group of ultra-religious persons. One day a traveling musician, Camillio, comes through the town with his small troupe of talent. He plays his violin before Hopama and the other village children, and when he is finished the girl seizes the instrument and plays the identical tune over again. Astounded, Camillio invites her to take lessons with him at any time.

Scott Mallory, a wealthy young man whose country residence is near the Shaker settlement, is engaged to Faith Palmer. One day while Faith is swimming she is seized with a cramp. Scott dashes in to rescue her and while he saves her life he also is taken by a cramp, from which he does not recover. The country doctor believes that he will remain paralyzed the rest of his life. In despair Scott breaks his engagement with Faith, realizing that she does not really love him.

When Mrs. Mallory visits the Shaker town she meets Hopama and invites her to her home. Eager to escape the severity of her environment, she accepts the invitation. It is she who restores to Scott his faith in the world. Later he is cured by a famous physician. Mrs. Mallory, not wishing her son to marry an unknown girl, tells Hopama that Scott is still engaged to Faith. Unable to stand this, Hopama runs away and goes to Camillio. She blossoms forth as a violin soloist at a concert.

It is in this way that Scott discovers her whereabouts. And the matter of her parents is cleared up, for it is proven she is the descendant of a good family, close friends of the Mallorys.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One 6-sheet; two 3-sheets, two 1-sheets.

LOBBY DISPLAYS:—Two 22 x 28 colored; eight 11 x 14 colored; eight 8 x 10 black and white.

CUTS AND MATS:—Cuts and mats for newspaper advertising have been prepared by World Film in one and two columns, showing tense moments from the scenes of production and the star. Matrices of these cuts are available, free of charge, at all World Film exchanges. Electros are available at a reasonable cost.

One and two-column type advertisements are suggested in the press sheet which has been prepared. These type ads give striking catchlines with name of theatre and date at bottom. Throw-aways have also been suggested with catchy phrases appearing on front and back. Two and three-column cuts and mats have been prepared, the matrices free of charge. The two-column cut shows star and boy whom he befriends. The three-column cuts show scenes from production with star and members of supporting cast.

SLIDES:—Slides "coming" and "current" are available at all World exchanges at a nominal cost.

CATCH LINES

Ethel Clayton in her best picture, "A Soul Without Windows."

The stern code of the Shakers was as prison walls to the free-born spirit of Hopama, and she rebelled.

A romantic drama of the most pleasing type—with a genuine star, Ethel Clayton.

It took the bright spirit of Hopama to cut windows in the soul of a man who had lost faith.

Hopama is a rather funny name isn't it? She was so called when she was discovered a wee mite by—but the picture reveals the why and wherefore much better than could this cold type.

SUGGESTIONS

This picture is a pretty romantic drama and should be so advertised inasmuch as there is such a lack of this type of production these days. It is a pretty safe bet that people have been more or less supersaturated with the war drama and the spy melodrama and the ordinary heavy subject. Let them know that this is pleasing romantic drama.

One and Two-Column Cuts Like the Above Are Available on World Releases

"A SOCIETY SENSATION"—BLUEBIRD

Was Formerly Called "Borrowed Duchess"

AN advance review of this picture was given in issue of Sept. 14 on page 1751, under the temporar title, "The Borrowed Duchess."

The picture will undoubtedly please picturegoers, as it is the sort they now demand, a ligh comedy and romance drama. It also keeps the interest well all the way through.

Miss Myers' pleasing personality helps the picture a great deal.

Being a clean attraction, it should prove suitable for all audiences.

Released Sept. 23.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Carmel Myers, Fred Kelsey, M. Rudolpho de Valentina, Harold Goodwin, Zasu Pitts and others are included in the cast.

Author: Perley Poore Sheehan.
Scenario by Hope Loring and Paul Powell.
Directed by Paul Powell.

THE STORY

Captain Parmalee, a fisherman, has an obsession that he is of royal family and descended from the nobility. He has dwelt on this idea for such a long time that he eventually comes to live the part as well as he is able, and dwells on a most brilliant future for his pretty daughter, Sydney. When Mrs. Jones, who is a social climber in San Francisco, hears of this she conceives the idea of playing a joke on Mrs. Bradley, the social leader of the town, who has gone out of her way to snub her on numerous occasions.

She convinces Captain Parmalee that she believes his claim to royalty. Flattered, Parmalee consents to "lend" Sydney to the clever Mrs. Jones. As a result, the fisherman's daughter is taken to San Francisco and introduced to society as a Duchess. But it soon develops that Parmelee's claim to noble lineage is false. Mrs. Jones, fearful lest her plan prove a failure, goes into conference with her lawyers, and when through she has arranged a family tree for the Parmelee's so secure that even an expert could not pick a flaw in it.

In high glee Mrs. Jones watches her plan go to success, for Mrs. Bradley's son falls in love with the fisherman's daughter, unaware of her true identity. When she believes the time ripe for her revelation Mrs. Jones makes the announcement that Sydney has not a drop of royal blood flowing in her veins, that she is an imposter and that she is purely and simply the daughter of Captain Parmalee, a fisherman.

But despite all this, young Bradley follows the girl of his heart back to the fisher village. He encounters a young fisherman who also loves the girl, and who suspects the sincerity of Bradley's motives. In a fierce fight Bradley wins out, and after that only a few minor complications remain to be swept away before the young people are united.

AD TALK

Carmel Myers, the rising young Bluebird star, will be presented in her latest picture, "A Society Sensation," on ——— of ——— week at the ——— theatre. This is a novel picture by Perley Moore Sheehan, author of many stories and photoplays, in which a fisherman's daughter is passed off in San Francisco society as a lady of nobility, to gratify the whim of a social climber who warns to be revenged on the social leader, who snubbed her. Her idea is to throw the girl and the son of the social leader as much as possible in each other's company, hoping that they will fall in love. And her hopes are well realized. When she thinks the affair has reached the dramatic moment, she tells the truth regarding the identity of the girl, hoping to humiliate the boy and his mother. But much to her chagrin the lovers rise above such petty things as lineage and name and remain happy with one another.

It is said that Mr. Sheehan's story is based on the facts of a similar case that occurred in San Francisco society only a short time ago, a case the details of which were suppressed out of regard for the girl and her family. But whatever the origin of the plot it remains that it makes one of the most entertaining phtoplays that the management of the ——— theatre has presented in some time.

Carmel Myers does dainty ad appealing work in the part of the fisherman's daughter. Those who are acquainted with her performances in the past can well realize that this role is exactly suited to her. Her support includes Alfred Allen, Fred Kelsey, M. Rudolpho de Valentina and others of note, The picture is attractively staged in respect to every scene. Don't forget the date, ——— for "A Society Sensation" is one of the real treats of the season.

CATCH LINES

A fisherman's daughter introduced to San Francisco as a Duchess—and getting away with it.

Carmel Myers latest and best Bluebird.

Captain Parmalee thought about royal lineage for so long that at length he began to imagine noble blood coursing in his own veins. As a consequence, he sent his daughter to San Francisco and introduced her as a Duchess—and San Francisco society took it all in good faith.

The popular Bluebird star of "My Unmarried Wife," "A Broadway Scandal," and "The Marriage Lie" in another success.

Because she bore a grudge against the society leader of the city, Mrs. Jones introduced a fisherman's daughter into her circle as a Duchess. The son of her rival fell in love with the girl and Mrs. Jones thought her triumph would be complete when she revealed the humble lineage of the imposter—but instead, she herself was humiliated, as the love of the young people rose above pride of race.

A story which takes you from a little fisher village on the coast of California to the highest society in San Francisco.

Directed by Paul Powell, one of the ablest pupils of D. W. Griffith.

Featuring Carmel Myers, the young star who has risen to fame in the short space of a year.

MANUFACTURER'S AIDS

PAPER:—Two 1-sheets, two 3-sheets, two 6-sheets. All the paper on this feature is unusually attractive.

PHOTOS FOR LOBBY DISPLAY:—Selection of scene and star stills for newspaper cuts and lobby advertising.

Advertising and text cuts for newspaper exploitation procurable at exchange. Stock cuts of Carmel Myers in one and two-column sizes available.

SLIDES, MUSIC CUE SHEET, WINDOW CARDS.

SUGGESTIONS

A romantic drama with a sustaining touch of melodrama is "A SOCIETY SENSATION." It also possesses a deal of comedy, an angle to l accentuated, as audiences seem to be desirir comedy these days.

Carmel Myers, a rising star in the Bluebirl co stellation, is featured and should be advertis prominently. She is becoming known throu the good pictures given her and her natural t ent.

A line to plug on the advertising is suggest by the fact that the story is based on fact, ha ing been derived from a similar case occurring San Francisco only a short while ago.

Perley Poore Sheehan is a popular fiction writ of the present day, many of his works having be adapted for the pictures.

Stock Star Cut for Newspaper Use Supplied All Bluebird Exchanges

FILE IT

The Complete Plan Book will be

Invaluable to You

"Come On In," with Shirley Mason and Ernest Truex

(Paramount—Sept. 22. Directed by John Emerson)

THE first half of this picture will make your sides ache from laughing. The other half will make you sit on the edge of your seat from excitement and thrill.

The comedy element is derived from the cleverly constructed subtitles, in broken English, as spoken by a German, calling "Boy" "Poy," and "Just" "Chust," naming one of the characters, representing a German spy, "Ophul Schmell" another one, "Mr. Bumstuff," and many other word twistings. They were written by the well known and only Anita Loos, who is unique in this line. There is none in the field who can equal her when it comes to putting humor and witticism in subtitles.

The excitement and thrills will be caused by the spies' kidnapping of the colonel and the latter's rescue by the hero.

The story is by John Emerson and Anita Loos. It is a travesty on the haughtiness of the Germans and their attempts to stop the United States from entering the war. In one instance a telegram is sent to the All-Highest—meaning the Kaiser—announcing the fact that some Mexicans had raided a border town, capturing three American mules. It is signed by Bumstuff, the arch-spy.

The only bad point in the story is the marriage of the heroine to the spy. It is in bad taste to have done so, since on one hand she is shown as doing detective work for the good of her country, while in the other as being too confiding. However, this is only a minor fault and it will not affect the entertaining values to a noticeable extent.

The picture is the first of a series to be produced by the Emerson-Loos combination and released through the Paramount program. It is clean and should please all.—P. S. Harrison.

"Behind the Lines in Italy"—Kleine

(Kleine—6 Reels. Released in October)

THIS picture has been produced with the co-operation of the Italian Government. Its purpose is to show to the American public what the Italian army in the front line and the people, back of the line have been doing toward winning the war. It shows the manufacturing of guns of large and small caliber, shells, bombs, automobiles, tanks, aeroplanes, and almost every instrument used in war.

Of course, similar pictures have been shown by the American and British Governments in the past, but these are more extensive and more comprehensive than most that have reached the screen.

One particular thing that will arouse interest is the manufacture of glass for lenses and prisms. This industry has sprung up since the war, and has never been seen in any of the pictures before.

It should be a matter of patriotic duty to run these pictures, as it brings home what our other Allies are doing, thus encouraging Americans toward redoubling our efforts.—P. S. Harrison.

"Love of Luxury," with Ruth Clifford

(Bluebird—Oct. 7. Directed by Elsie Jane Wilson)

THIS is just an average program offering. It may please some picturegoers, not on account of the merits of the story, but because of the emotional acting of Miss Clifford.

The story necessitates the employment of two characters that are anything but pleasing. For instance, "She" is supposed to be a young and pretty girl brought up in a convent. She meets "He, No. 1," and falls in love with him. He is a young farmer boy. Such a match doesn't bring any sympathy to either. Then comes "He, No. 2," a man about forty-five years old and, because he has the money, he tries to take her away from "He, No. 1." Love dealings between a man as old as that and a girl apparently seventeen, are not welcome to screen patrons. We will not argue that it doesn't happen almost every day. It is not the general rule.

The way it appears to an observer, there is a tug of war going on in this picture between a weak story, demanding displeasing casting, pulling on one side, and splendid emotional acting of the star, on the other, the latter winning by a narrow margin.

It is a clean attraction. Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

ADDITIONAL MUSIC CUES

(Continued from page 2077)

"A NYMPH OF THE FOOTHILLS"

(Vitagraph-Gladys Leslie)

Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

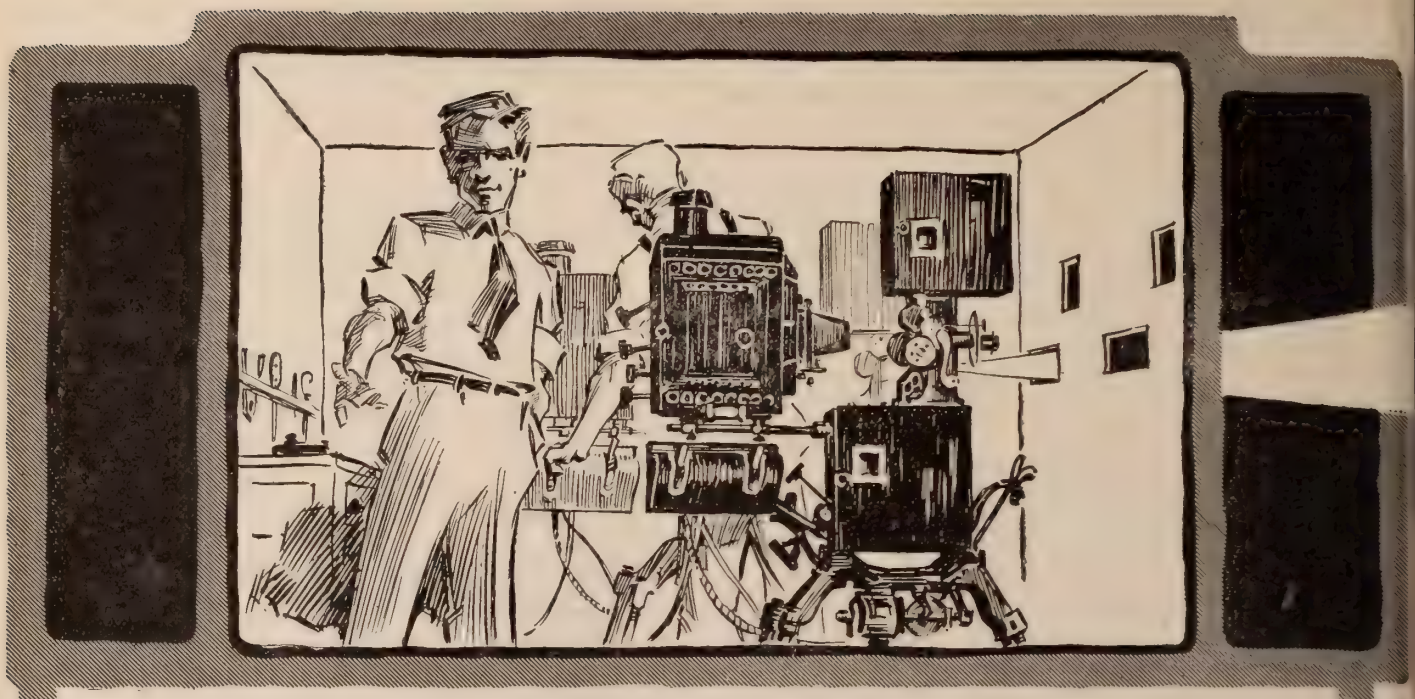
Theme: "Mountain Song" (Characteristic Andantino Moderato) by Gaston Borch

1—Theme (2 minutes and 15 seconds), at screening (water effects).
2—"Pulcinello" (Allegretto Intermezzo), by Aletter (3 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "Jeff Crandall, who has long."
3—"La Grace" (Characteristic Moderato Intermezzo), by Bohm (3 minutes), until—T: "Plenty of time to be" (rain and water effects).
4—"Pastoral" (Characteristic), by Kiefert (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Alky Hall, who lives as—."
5—Theme (3 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "You'd a made a ketch."
6—"Vivo Finale" (Symphonette Suite), by Berge (3 minutes), until—S: When fishing rod drops in water.
7—"May Dreams" (Moderato Romance), by Borch (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "But in spite of all" (water-fall effects).
8—Theme (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—T: "We too, might build us a."
9—"Agitato No. 49," by Shepherd (1 minute), until—S: When Emmey and Ben leave tree (shot).
10—"Dramatic Tension," by Levy (1 minute), until—S: When Emmey enters house.
11—Theme (2 minutes), until—S: When Emmey climbs through window.
12—"Furioso No. 60," by Shepherd (30 seconds), until—T: "She's run away with that."
13—Theme (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "This is the little woman."
14—"Andante Appassionato," by Castillo (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—S: When Emmey looks at ring (shot) (train).
15—"Tragic Theme," by Vely (3 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "At the home of the Kirklands."
16—"Sinister Theme," by Vely (4 minutes), until—T: "While back in the foothills."
17—"Serenade d'Amour" (Moderato Grazioso), by Blon (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Sometimes life is just one—."
18—"Hunkatin" (Half-Tone One-Step), by Levy (2 minutes), until T: "Social evolution."
19—Theme (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "Their first parting."
20—"Elegie" (Allegretto Semplice) Op. 38, by Grieg (3 minutes), until—T: "Where were you married?"
21—"Homeward" (Allegro Giocoso) Op. 62, by Grieg (3 minutes), until—S: When Emmey enters bedroom (train effects).
22—"Andante Doloroso No. 51," by Borch (4 minutes), until—T: "Back again with the cool—."
23—"Dramatic Andante," by Berge (3 minutes), until—T: "The scales of justice."
24—"Dramatic Tension No. 44" (Moderato Agitato), by Borch (2 minutes), until—S: When jury returns to court.
25—"Dramatic Finale" (Moderato Appassionato), by Smith (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—T: "This is a fine court" (shot).
26—Theme (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—T: "After long searching he—"—until the END.

Studios for Lease

PRODUCERS can solve Fuel Problem this winter by moving to Los Angeles. Save time, trouble and money by leasing Studio location through us. Most complete listings of all available Studios.

Personal attention given Moving Picture Business



R. A. ROWAN & COMPANY

200 Title Insurance Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

We Can Pay Attractive Prices for Old Moving Picture Films in Reels or Scrap

PETER LEONARDIS & SONS

132 Nassau St., New York City 55 to 59 River St., Newark, N. J.

Projectionist Ray

Says:

"Where POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH comes through again, is in the LAMP HOUSE.

All Lamps generate a great amount of gas and heat; unless you get rid of it properly, you'll break your condensers and chill your carbons.

"POWER'S LAMP HOUSE is scientifically ventilated. The air is heated before reaching carbons and condensers, and a steady circulation maintains an even temperature which greatly reduces expansion and contraction.

"And GRIP-O! Some carbon holder! Its everlasting non-slip grip, holds carbons in plumb and gives the top-notch area of contact for easy transmission of the 'juice.'

"POWER'S CAMERAGRAPH! Look it over and you'll never overlook it. I'm saying again:

"IT PUTS THE PICTURE ON THE SCREEN"

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY

INCORPORATED

Pioneers of Projection

90 Gold Street, New York, N.Y.

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW

CENTRAL STATES

NEW YORK OFFICE, 729 Seventh Avenue CHICAGO REPRESENTATIVE, 220 So. State Street

"Hearts of World" Scores in Dubuque at Majestic Theatre

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD," David W. Griffith's master production, opened a nine-day's engagement at the Majestic theatre, Dubuque, Iowa, Sunday, Sept. 8. From the very start it was plain that the picture would be a success. Everyone had heard so much about it, for truly, a picture was never advertised like this before, that they crowded to the theatre, afternoon and evening. Tuesday, Sept. 10, was cold and rainy, but the matinee crowd was even bigger than that of the previous days, and in the evening, in spite of a heavy rain, all the highest priced seats were sold at 6:45.

Many favorable comments came from all parts of the city; most people credit it with being the famous director's masterpiece; others say it did not come up to "The Birth of a Nation," but everyone agrees that it is the greatest picture dealing with the world war that has yet been produced. It is safe to say that it will remain the greatest war picture, unless Mr. Griffith makes another photoplay.

Robert Herron was at his best in the role of the American, who said that "a country good enough to live in, was good enough to fight for"; dainty Lillian Gish won the sympathy of everyone by her presentation of the girl, but it was Dorothy Gish who brought down the house by her wistful, quaint and whimsical characterization of the "Little Disturber." Little Ben Alexander must be given credit for his work as the little brother.

Fond du Lac Suffers from Express Service

FOND DU LAC motion picture theatres are complaining bitterly about the express service they are getting since the big merger went into effect. On one Sunday recently both the Bijou and the Orpheum theatres were obliged to close their doors because their films had failed to arrive while on another Sunday the Orpheum would have been obliged to close but for the fact that Manager Ainsworth was able to dig out his Monday program and put it on. The trouble seems to be with the faulty service in Chicago and in transit rather than with the local office. In a number of instances the packages have been carried by.

Manager Ainsworth of the Orpheum has sought to protect his interests by instructing all film companies serving him to ship a day earlier in order to give the new express company an opportunity to "make the loop" or, as he puts it, enable him to get the package on the rebound in time to be of service. Inquiry among other theatre managers it is said has elicited the information that this faulty express service so far as the picture theatre patrons are concerned, is general.

Capital Company Organizes in Lansing

THE CAPITAL MOTION PICTURE COMPANY has been organized in Lansing, Mich., for commercial and war work, and war films will be made a specialty of the new concern. The company consists of R. H. Carroll, manager, and Glenn R. Carrier, and has established laboratories in the Tussing building. Mr. Carroll is an expert photographer and Mr. Carrier retains his position as head of the Reo motion picture department, being a former Pathe "taker."

The Capital Motion Picture Company is said to be the only one of the kind organized in this section of Michigan. It has contracts with big concerns which require films of their work to show to the Government officials. The company will also film pictorial news features. Many local news features have been taken and are being shown throughout the country. The company will help in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive. A combination picture representing each state is one of the publicity schemes for the drive.

Evansville Novelty Renamed American

PURCHASED from Philip A. Holtzman by the Strand Theatre Company of Evansville, the old Novelty theatre has been revamped and re-opened as the American.

The policy of the new house is high-grade pictures exclusively; the same policy as is followed at the Strand theatre here is being used.

The name of the controlling company has been changed to that of the American Amusement Company to control both houses. Manager Russell of the Strand is at the head of both houses.

The American theatre, located at Seventh and Main streets, one of the most prominent corners in the city, has opened auspiciously under the new management. A $7,500 photoplayer has been installed and the entire house has been gone over thoroughly.

Special Service Section on
"Crashing Through to Berlin" will be found in this issue of the NEWS

THE CENTRAL STATES

September 28, 1918

With Milwaukee Film Men

MISS PEGGY RHEINS, who was formerly with Mr. Bostick, manager of the Merrill theatre, has been appointed secretary to Manager Tanzer of the Milwaukee Exhibitors' club.

"TRIPLE TROUBLE," a re-issue of the Essanay days of Chaplin, has been booked by the Milwaukee Exhibitors' club and will be shown in all of its houses.

"RAFFLES," which has been bought by the Milwaukee Exhibitors' club, recently had a most successful run at the Princess theatre. This theatre, which advertises itself as a "stone's throw from the avenue," does remarkable business when it is considered that it is located in a rather out of the way place. It advertises Gerard's "Four Years in Germany" for a popular run net week.

"THE BRASS BULLET," Universal's latest serial, which is running at the Palace theatre, is going over exceptionally big. In order to give full time to the serial the performances now start half an hour earlier than previously. The Palace management has also reinstated the Universal News Weekly.

VINCENT DeLORENZO has returned to the Universal fold after an absence of two and a half years. He will have the official position of booker.

"FOR HUSBANDS ONLY" will have a full week's run at the Alhambra theatre beginning Sept. 15. Mr. Fischer, when he reviewed it, said it was a sure winner.

"CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN had a wonderful run at the Auditorium theatre in Chicago and is now being booked by the houses in the Wisconsin district.

"HOW CHARLIE CAPTURED THE KAISER," an animated cartoon, has taken all of the houses in which it has been shown, by storm. In many houses it was booked as a supplement to a feature, and the result was that the feature failed to "feature" but the cartoon was a howling success. It is reported that at least forty of the forty-eight houses in the city have booked his film.

"THE GEEZER OF BERLIN" had a successful full week's run at the Whitehouse theatre, and the management announces that it has booked "The Sinking of the Lusitania" for a week's run.

I. GETTLESON, Jewel manager, has returned from a successful trip through the state.

J. RODERICK, manager of the local Universal Exchange, has taken a trip to the Windy City. As he is registered in that district it was necessary to take the trip in order to vote, and we must admit that we would like as plausible excuse to get to the far-famed city ourselves as it has been ages and ages since the dust of Wabash avenue dustied our shoes.

Doephia Browne, of Chicago, Was a Favorite at the Rothacker Studio During the Recent Convention

C. D. KOEHLER, who has been with the Universal people for over a year and a half, has been appointed assistant to Mr. Roderick.

THE MILWAUKEE EXHIBITORS' CLUB announces that it has secured for its houses motion pictures of vaudeville. These films, which have been made by Spanuth, are pictures of the biggest "dumb" acts of big time vaudeville. It has also added to its membership three more houses, the Murray, Apollo and Lincoln, bringing its list to thirty-one.

"THE ROMANCE OF TARZAN," which is a sequel to "Tarzan of the Apes," will be ready for booking the early part of October.

A FEW OF THE THEATRES in Milwaukee have in front of their outside lobbies a folding iron lattice door, which permits elaborate lobby display and still keeps out the mischievous youngsters who are ever-ready to do damage.

"VIRTUOUS WIVES," a story which is running in the Cosmopolitan magazine, is being filmed by Anita Stewart. The First National Exhibitors have signed up for all of the Anita Stewart features and big business is promised them.

"ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT" is having a full week's run at the Alhambra theatre, and so is Roscoe Arbuckle in his latest picture. In addition to this Frederick Carberry has resumed community singing.

THE BUTTERFLY THEATRE is having a wonderful run of "The Danger Mark," starring Elsie Ferguson. It announces that Marguerite Clark and Douglas Fairbanks will be shown soon in their latest pictures.

THE FIRST PART OF THE WEEK "The Silent Woman"

(Continued on page 4)

They Say in Dubuque That—

PICTURES GAVE WAY to the legitimate drama at the Grand theatre, Dubuque, Iowa, Monday, Sept. 9, but were resumed on Tuesday by the showing of "The Golden Goal," with Harry Morey. Morey's plays are well liked—they are strong features, with a powerful, virile actor, who never fails to win the plaudits of his audience.

J. E. BOYLE of the Dreamland has changed his program so that Triangle pictures will be shown on Sunday. The attraction on Sunday, Sept. 8, was "Marked Cards," with Marjory Wilson and Triangle players.

A WORLD FEATURE, "The Tenth Case," with June Elvidge and John Bowers, was presented at the Liberty theatre on Wednesday, Sept. 4. The Liberty is the only Dubuque theatre now showing World pictures.

MAE MARSH came to the Princess Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 4 and 5, in "All Woman." This Goldwyn production was up to the average in plot, setting and photography, but it was Mae Marsh's excellent acting that raised the picture above the ordinary.

"AN AMERICAN WIDOW," with Ethel Barrymore, shown at the Family theatre on Friday, Sept. 6, proved as delightful a photoplay as one could find. Ethel Barrymore is becoming more versatile in every picture—she is indeed a motion picture actress of extraordinary talent.

WILLIAM S. HART played at the Grand for two days, Thursday and Friday, in "The Lone Avenger." Manager Lorenx reported a very good house.

"THE MAN WHO WOKE UP," featuring Pauline Stark and William Mong, was the Friday program at the Liberty. "Shame," with Niles Welch and Zeena Keefe, was presented on Saturday.

A FIRST RUN PATHE RELEASE, "The First Law," with Irene Castle and Antonio Moreno, was shown at the Dreamland on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 4 and 5. As both of these players are good at drawing crowds, Manager Boyle has fine houses during the picture's engagement.

THE FAMILY presented Franklin Farnum and Juanita Hansen in "Fast Company" for its Thursday, Sept. 5, program. Farnum's pleasing personality dominated the entire story, making it one of Bluebird's best entertainments.

THE THURSDAY, Sept. 5, program at the Liberty was "Station Content" with Gloria Swanson.

BEATRIZ MICHELENA was starred in "The Unwritten Law" at the Grand on Wednesday, Sept. 4.

VITAGRAPH'S "FIND," Corinne Griffith, delighted Grand fans Sunday, the 8th, in a highly interesting five-act photoplay, "Love's Watches."

JULIAN ELTINGE held the boards at the Family theatre Sunday, Sept. 8, in his initial Paramount release, "The Countess Charming." The noted feminine impersonator drew much better than was expected—mostly due to the fact that the North End women seemed to have decided that they must see "the handsome Mr. Eltinge," and consequently they flocked to the theatre. The women liked Mr. Eltinge so well that Manager Yount is going to feature him as often as he can get his pictures.

UNION PARK THEATRE offered "Out of the Wreck," with Kathlyn Williams, for its Sunday, Sept. 8, program. An extra special attraction was the appearance of two local artists, Miss Emma Sumpmann, violinist, and Miss Martha Zehetner, pianist.

MISS MARIE TEMPES, ticket seller at the Princess theatre, has resigned her position there. Her place was taken by Miss Zeta Plamondon.

TWO STARS, Wallace Reid and Kathlyn Williams, played at the Princess theatre Sunday, Sept. 8, in "Things We Love." Manager Billos reported average business.

MARGUERITE CLARK'S acting in "The Seven Swans" was all that could be desired. During the picture's engagement, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 6 and 7, the Princess had the biggest crowds of the week.

THE FIRST EPISODE of "Hands Up," with Ruth Roland, was shown at the Liberty theatre Monday, Sept. 9.

"THE REASON WHY," with Clara Kimball Young, presented at the Princess theatre, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 9 and 10, showed the famous star in a role admirably suited to her brilliant personality. Milton Sills, in the role of Lord Tancred, had the best opportunity to display his talents since his appearance in the never-to-be-forgotten "Honor System."

LITTLE JUNE CAPRICE in "Blue Eyed Mary" was the star shown at the Liberty theatre Sunday, Sept. 8. All of

COMING

A series of 16 two-reel thrilling, sensational Western Comedy Dramas.

First release October 14th and every alternate week thereafter.

BEE HIVE EXCHANGE

Toy Bldg., Milwaukee Consumers Bldg., Chicago

For the Pick of the Pictures

THE DOLL-VAN FILM CORPORATION

207 South Wabash Avenue
Chicago, Ill.
D. M. Vandawalker, Jr.
Vice-President

Merchant's Bank Bldg.
Indianapolis, Ind.
Henry Dollman
President

June's followers were there in full force, for this was the first chance they had to see their favorite since July.

MANAGER YOUNT of the Family theatre presented "The Conquest of Caanan" for his Tuesday, Sept. 10, program. The picture drew famously.

THE ORPHEUM THEATRE at Lancaster will continue to show pictures three nights a week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On Thursday of the week of Sept. 1, Douglas Fairbanks was seen in "Headin' South"; Charles Ray played in "The Hired Man" on Friday and "In Bad," with William Russell, was Saturday's program.

A DOUBLE PROGRAM was offered at the Star theatre at Decorah, Iowa, on Thursday, Sept. 5. "Kidder and Co.," with Bryant Washburn, was shown first and was followed by "Shall We Forgive Her," with June Elvidge. There was no raise in admission. "The Mysterious Miss Terry," with Billie Burke, was presented on Friday.

MARY PICKFORD played in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" at the Palace at Waverly, Iowa, for two days, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 1 and 2.

"TARZAN OF THE APES" will come to the Cozy theatre at Bellevue, Sept. 15.

THE BELKNAP THEATER at Hopkinton, Iowa, has booked "Hands Up" with Ruth Roland. The first episode will be shown Wednesday, Sept. 18.

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS," the first United States Official War Film, was presented at the Blende theatre at Benton, Wis., Monday, Sept. 9.

THE MADONNA OF THE SCREEN, Alice Joyce, played at the New Majestic theatre at Elkader, Iowa, on Saturday, Sept. 7, in "The Song of the Soul." "We Should Worry," with Jane and Katherine Lee, was the Sunday program.

'THE HONOR SYSTEM," with Milton Sills and Miriam Cooper, was the Wednesday, Sept. 4, program at the New Majestic theatre at Elkader, Iowa. "A Daughter of the Gods," with Annette Kellermann, was shown Thursday.

FIVE FEATURE PHOTOPLAYS were shown at the Plaza theatre at Manchester from Sept. 5 to Sept. 12. They were "The Ghost House," with Jack Pickford and Louise Huff; "The Marionettes," with Clara Kimball Young; "All Woman," with Mae Marsh; "The Hungry Heart," with Pauline Frederick, and "Wolves of the Rail," with William S. Hart.

"HUCK AND TOM," with Jack Pickford, played at the Star theatre at Decorah, Iowa, Saturday, Sept. 7.

BILLIE BURKE, in "Let's Get a Divorce," made a big hit with the patrons of the Palace theatre at Waverly, Iowa, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 8 and 9. "The Matrimaniac," with Douglas Fairbanks, was presented Tuesday, and "The Things We Love," with Wallace Reid, was shown on Wednesday and Thursday.

"THE LEAP TO FAME," with Carlyle Blackwell, was the Sunday, Sept. 8, program at the Cozy theatre at Bellevue, Ia.

With Milwaukee Film Men

(Continued from page 2)

ran at the Strand theatre. The latter part of the week Edna Goodrich in "Her Husband's Honor" will be shown.

"THE FLOWER OF THE DUSK," starring Viola Dana, occupied the screen at the Merrill theatre the first part of this week. Harry Morey will complete the week in his latest picture.

Bunco Card Party and Studio Dance Given by the Girl Employees of the Rothacker Film Manufacturing Company, Chicago, Under the Auspices of the State Council of Defense for the Benefit of the Red Cross

News of Fond du Lac Theatres

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS," presented at the Bijou theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 9, 10 and 11, drew houses that exceeded all expectations. In fact the pictures went "big." Manager Smith had gone the limit in billboard and newspaper publicity and the returns were all that he could ask. A feature of the publicity campaign was a full page advertisement in the Daily Commonwealth paid for by the doctors and dentists of Fond du Lac.

THE MOVING PICTURE theatres of Fond du Lac are planning to do their bit in the forthcoming Liberty Loan campaign by making a place for the four minute speakers. This service was rendered in each of the three preceding campaigns and was found to be an effective means of awakening interest among the people in the campaign.

DIFFICULTIES which for a time threatened an open break between the Musicians' Union and the managers of the Fond du Lac moving picture houses have finally been adjusted by means of a compromise so that all is going smoothly once more. Notices were served on the several theatre managers some weeks ago that on and after Sept. 1 the union scale for leaders would be $30 and for side men $25. The managers objected to the advance and finally an amicable adjustment was reached at $27.50 for leaders and $22.50 for side men.

THE ORPHEUM THEATRE, which has now been under the management of W. E. Ainsworth for just three years, set out on its fourth year by breaking all records for the week ending Sept. 7. The program which made this possible consisted of Norma Talmadge in "By Right of Purchase," Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 2, 3 and 4, and William S. Hart in "Blue Blazes Rawden," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 5, 6 and 7. The Orpheum has had "stand out" crowds for six nights in succession.

MANAGER W. E. AINSWORTH of the Orpheum booked "The Great Love" for four days—Sept. 23, 24, 25 and 26. He also booked Lois Weber's latest, "For Husbands Only," for the latter part of September.

Advertise in
The Central States

Heard in Detroit Film Circles

A. J. GILLIGHAM, of the Empire theatre, Detroit, will inaugurate a two-day policy starting Oct. 1. In other words, there will be four changes a week instead of a daily change as at present.

L. J. GARDINER, manager of the Detroit branch of the United Theatre Equipment Co., has tendered his resignation in order to devote his entire time to the Gardiner Velvet Gold Fibre Screen which is manufactured in Detroit and sold through the various U. T. E. branches.

MESSRS. COHEN AND WARREN, of the Colonial theatre, have decided again to change the policy—this time from four changes a week to two changes—Sundays and Thursdays. Under this new plan the firm will do considerable advertising. The new policy starts week of Sept. 21.

"I AM CERTAINLY GRATIFIED at the big attendance at the Regent theatre the first week, under the new policy," said Charles H. Miles, lessee of that mammoth playhouse at Woodward and the Boulevard. "We are giving the people a tremendous costly show each week and our weekly overhead is a small fortune in itself, but I believe there are enough people in Detroit who want the kind of shows we are giving them, which is certainly indicated by the big crowds thus far.

T. H. Ealand is managing director of the Regent and will supervise the bookings, while C. A. Meade is the house manager.

ART W. BLANKMEYER, of the Carson Exchange, and an exhibitor as well, has organized the General Theatres Display and Advertising Co., and rented ground floor space in the new film building, Detroit. This company will do poster mounting and will specialize in the renting of paper and advertising matter on every picture produced. In other words, exhibitors will be able to save money on their paper order because they can rent it from this new company instead of buying it outright. All paper is to be mounted. The company will be ready for business about the 20th of Sept.

The company is capitalized for $6,000; the stockholders are Mr. Blankmeyer, Cash E. Hubbard and W. E. Newton.

CLARE AND GRAHAM HOFFMAN have leased the Duplex theatre, East Grand Boulevard, Detroit, taking possession Labor Day. They plan to continue the same policy and to give it their personal attention. The Hoffman brothers originally promoted and operated the Palace and Colonial theatres, Detroit. The Duplex is the only two-theatre auditorium building in the country under the same roof.

VERNON LOCEY is now managing the Temple theatre at Howell and the Coliseum at Edmore. His brother, Otto, is it war. Vernon, while comparatively new at the game, has jumped in with both feet and is meeting with good success.

Gathered in Green Bay

ROZIKA AND YANCI DOLLY were the headliners at the Colonial theatre Sept. 11-12 in their picture, "The Million Dollar Dollies." The originality of the film appealed to the audiences, and the Dollies won their way to the hearts of a majority of fans.

"THE GUN FIGHTER," a William S. Hart feature, was shown at the Grand theatre for the first half of the week of Sept. 8 in conjunction with vaudeville, which went back for the season.

EDITH ROBERTS played in "The Love Swindle," a Bluebird picture, at the Royal theatre, Sept. 7.

"THE LAW OF THE LAND," one of the first Madam Petrova Paramount releases, was shown at the Orpheum theatre Sept. 12, 13, 14, 15, in connection with the initial vaudeville bill of the new season.

"SOCIAL QUICKSANDS," featuring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, was produced at the Colonial theatre Sept. 9, 10.

ALICE BRADY in the Select picture, "The Death Dance," was the attraction at the Grand theatre Sept. 12-15.

MONROE SALISBURY and Ruth Clifford co-starred in the Bluebird offering, "Hungry Eyes," Sept. 11, at the Royal theatre.

THE TRIANGLE FILM, "Paying His Debt," with Roy Stewart in the lead, was presented at the Royal theatre Sept. 12. It proved a good offering.

"THE DECIDING KISS," featuring Edith Roberts, was screened at the Royal as a special attraction Sept. 9.

MADGE KENNEDY played in "Our Little Wife," a Goldwyn film, at the Colonial theatre, Sept. 13 and 14.

"THE GIRL IN HIS HOUSE," a Vitagraph, was shown at the Colonial theatre Sept. 8. Earle Williams played the leading role.

KITTY GORDON played the Royal theatre in the World film, "Tinsel," Sept. 13.

Are You Ready
for the Liberty Loan Drive?

SPECIAL

AN OIL REPRODUCTION OF AN ORIGINAL OIL PAINTING OF

PRESIDENT WILSON

Size of picture, 14 x 18, and in a beautiful gold frame, outside measurements, 18 x 22. Every theatre should have one in the lobby draped with an American flag. Order one, and if it is not worth the price in your estimation, return it immediately and your money will be refunded.

This reproduction is a secret process of the famous artist, Rudolph Bohonek. His painting of President Wilson is conceded by most critics to be his masterpiece.

BUY ONE WHILE THE PRICE IS RIGHT

Only $6.00

SEND FOR OUR LATEST BULLETIN

UNITED THEATRE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION

Chicago Branch. 512 South Wabash Ave.

R. H. FULTON, Manager

In Springfield Theatres

THE ROYAL put a strong list of pictures in the field for the week of Sept. 8-14. On Sunday Gus Kerasotes had on "The Test of Courage," with W. S. Hart, and Harry Morey in "Batchelor's Children"; Monday, "Her Second Husdand," with Edna Goodrich; Tuesday, "The Kingdom of Love"; Wednesday, "Masks and Faces," a World film with Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson and a wonderful cast; Thursday, "The Courage of Silence"; Friday, "Blue-Eyed Mary," a Fox picture with June Caprice; Saturday, "A Primitive Man," Mutual feature.

THE EMPRESS, south side neighborhood theatre, continues to ride along on the high crest of popularity and prosperity under its new management, Dr. B. L. Renfro, now operating the theatre.

BUSINESS continues exceptionally good at the Pekin, colored theatre, and at the North End Circle, neighborhood theatre at Eleventh and South Grand Avenues.

THE CAPITOL now has first run Triangle in this city. William Desmond in "The Sudden Gentleman," and Alma Rubens in "The Firefly of Tough Luck," were two pictures shown recently that pleased patrons of the Washington street photoplay palace.

GAUMONT WEEKLY and Official Allied War Review are making a hit at the Majestic. The Allied War Review is also shown at the Princess, the Majestic, "repeating" on the photoplay house.

"THE UNCHASTENED WOMAN" was given a screaming at the Princess one day this week, and will probably be shown by Manager Kunz sometime during October.

MANAGER WATTS certainly had some bill at the Vaudette for the four days starting Sunday, Sept. 8. Jack Barrymore in "On the Quiet," and Charlie Chaplin in "Triple Trouble," were the offerings. Barrymore was a scream in his play, and he had fine support. Chaplin's picture was evidently a rehash of former subjects, and was not at all up to his standard, yet it contained a number of laughs and made folks happy for a while. Only a few kicked on it, and none asked for their money back. Watts was careful in his advertising, and while he stated it was a new picture, that it was an Essanay-Chaplin.

WALLACE REID in "The Source" came to the Vaudette on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 12, 13 and 14. Ethel Clayton will follow in "The Girl Who Came Back."

THE SAVOY has arranged for the following bills for the week of Sept. 8-14: Sunday, Marie Walcamp in "A Whirlwind Finish"; also an L-Ko comedy and Current Events; Monday, William Duncan in "The Tenderfoot," and "Poor Peter Pious," a comedy; Tuesday, "Brown of Harvard," featuring Tom Moore and Hazel Daly; Wednesday, chapter 3 of "The Brass Bullet," with Juanita Hansen and Jack Mulhall, and "Give Her Gas," with Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran; Thursday, "Hungry Eyes," with Monroe Salisbury and Ruth Clifford, and a comedy, "Flat Harmony"; Friday, "Men," with an all-star cast; Saturday, a Nestor comedy, "Hickory Hiram," and several other pictures.

THE PRINCESS had a good week with Catherine Calvert in "A Romance of the Underworld," June Elvidge in "The Power and the Glory," and Gladys Leslie in "Wild Primrose." The last picture was substituted for June Elvidge in "Joan of the Woods," which the publicity department did not think was up to standard. The pictures mentioned were used the week of Sept. 1-7.

ADVERTISE
IN THE
CENTRAL STATES

ELSIE FERGUSON was seen at the Gaiety for four days in "Heart of the Wilds," and while it was a good picture, as pictures go, fans would rather see the beauty in another type of play. There are some who yet seem to think "Barbary Sheep," her first screen offering, was the best of her efforts thus far. Society dramas are Miss Ferguson's forte, and there she should be kept, say many.

MAE MARSH in "Money Mad" will come to the Gaiety on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 12, 13 and 14. "The Summer Girls," a Sennett comedy with Ford Sterling and Louise Fazenda will also be on the bill. "The Hun Within," an Artcraft special, with Dorothy Gish and George Fawcett, will come on the 15th for a four days' run.

BEN ROVIN says now that he has finished "The Woman in the Web" that he is "off" serials for awhile. He has booked the Allied War Review to take the place on the bill of the usual episodic feature.

"HANDS UP!" Pathe serial with Ruth Roland and George Chesebro continues to make Sunday a day of great joy for Ed Maisel down at the Capitol. Ed plays to all the kids in town on Sunday, and they sure do "whoop things up" when the thrillers are on.

THE AMUSE-U announces the following attractions will bid for public favor the week of Sept. 8-14: Sunday, a mixed program, including several short subjects; Monday, W. S. Hart in "The Great Unknown," and other features; Tuesday, William Duncan in "The Last Man"; Wednesday, "Fall of a Nation"; Thursday, Viola Dana in "Sleeping Memory," and a two-reel Toto comedy; Friday, Olive Thomas in "Broadway, Arizona"; Saturday, W. S. Hart in "The Apostle of Vengeance." The Gaiety announces Fatty Arbuckle in "The Cook," and Charlie Chaplin in "Shoulder Arms," as coming to the theatre shortly.

JUST WHAT THE NEW WAR TAX will do to Springfield amusements is worrying some of the managers at this writing. Some of the boys are undecided as to what to make the admission. It is probable that a meeting will be held in which all exhibitors will have a voice and the matter straightened out. From the way the public has been educated to pay high prices for all commodities it does not seem that it will object to paying a few more pennies for its amusement, especially when they are going to such a good cause.

THE SAVOY, ROYAL, AMUSE-U AND CAPITOL are going along at increased admission prices most serenely. Not one of the managers says he is sorry he raised and all emphatically deny they are thinking of going back to the old standard.

MABEL NORMAND in "Back to the Woods" was more or less of a disappointment. It was shown at the Gaiety on Sept. 6 and 7. "A Diver's Last Kiss," a Fox comedy, with "Slim" Summerville, helped the bill wonderfully.

THE VAUDETTE had a fair week's business Sept. 1-7 with Dorothy Dalton in "Green Eyes," and Enid Bennett in "The Marriage Ring." Funny about the two pictures, they had practically the same cast, outside of the stars. Ford Sterling and Polly Moran in "His Wild Oats," and a Screen Telegram were with "Green Eyes," while Billie Rhodes in "On Her Account" and a Screen Telegram were on the program for the last three days.

MANAGER W. W. WATTS of the Vaudette has booked the "Fatty" Arbuckle one-reel comedies from the Bee Hive Exchange, Chicago.

BEN ROVIN says there is just twice as much money in the cash drawer every night since he doubled his admission price at the Amuse-U. Ben is some "figurer."

FOR THE WEEK of September 8-14 Harry Loper had at the Lyric: Sunday and Monday, Jewel Carmen in "The Fallen Angel"; Tuesday and Wednesday, May Allison in "A Successful Adventure"; Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Constance Talmadge in "Good Night, Paul."

THE GAIETY had Elsie Ferguson in "Heart of the Wilds" and Mae Marsh in "Money Mad" for the week of September 8-14.

THE ROYAL, one of the downtown houses which changes every day, announces the following attractions for the week of September 1-7: Sunday, Anita Stewart in "Clover's Rebellion"; Monday, Mary Miles Minter in "A Bit of Jade"; Tuesday, Gladys Brockwell in "Her One Mistake"; Wednesday, "The Witch Woman," with Ethel Clayton; Thursday, Earle Williams in "The Maelstrom"; Friday, Virginia Pearson in "The Branded Scul"; Saturday, William Farnum in "When a Man Sees Red."

LOUIE KERASOTES'S SAVOY has as the bill for the week of September 1-7: Sunday, "Roped and Tied," with Neal Hart, and Alice Howell in "Hoot, Toot"; Monday, Earle Williams in "An American Live Wire" and Al St. John and Mae Busch in "A Polished Villain"; Tuesday, Maciste in "The Warrior"; Wednesday, second chapter of "The Brass Bullet" and Herbert Rawlinson in "Come Through"; Thursday, "The Girl in the Dark," with Carmel Myers; Friday, eighteenth and last chapter of "The Lion's Claws," an O. Henry picture and a Weekly; Saturday, "The Marriage Speculation," with Wallace McDonald and Mildred Manning.

THE MAJESTIC, vaudeville house, is featuring the Allied War Review and Gaumont Weekly over the vaudeville acts. Which shows that theatregoers are being catered to in the matter of good pictures, even by the variety people.

MABEL NORMAND in "Back to the Woods," a Goldwyn play, and "A Diver's Last Kiss," Fox Sunshine comedy, come to the Gaiety on September 5, 6 and 7.

BUSINESS at the North End Circle, a neighborhood theatre, is reported as tremendous. The same thing applies to the Empress, Palace and Pekin, all photoplay theatres. The last-named caters only to the colored population.

THE FIRST "gasolineless" Sunday proved to be a money-maker for the theatres. Every show house in the city did big business, and there isn't a manager in the city who would weep if Uncle Sam should keep the "request" in force for some time.

THE PRINCESS had "Power and the Glory," a World production, with June Elvidge on Wednesday and Thursday, September 4 and 5; on the 6th and 7th June Elvidge will be seen in "Joan of the Woods," which will just about terminate the Princess contract with World pictures. Manager Kunz says that only an occasional World picture is up to his house standard, and he cannot take all of them to secure that one.

LOUIS KERASOTES has booked "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," and will show it in about two weeks at five and ten cents admission.

LABOR DAY proved a great one for all the theatres. It rained steadily all morning, killing the parade, while thousands of visitors waited patiently for it to stop. It quit about one o'clock, then the rush for amusement began. Every house in town filled up quickly and a banner day resulted.

THE LYRIC had a good week the last seven days of August. William Farnum did well with "True Blue" for three, while Jewel Carmen in "Lawless Love" and Viola Dana in "Opportunity" had two profitable days each.

THE VAUDETTE continues to run along with a nice account on the right side of the ledger every week. Billie Burke in "In the Pursuit of Polly" and Mae Marsh in "The Glorious Adventure" played to fine business the last week of August. On Sunday, Sept. 1, Dorothy Dalton opened for four days in "Green Eyes," and big business was the result. Ford Sterling in "His Wild Oats," a Sennett comedy, and a Screen Telegram were also shown. The last three days of the week will go to Enid Bennett in "The Marriage Ring."

Directory of Chicago Exchanges and Supply Houses

RALPH O. PROCTOR
Division Manager
PATHE EXCHANGE
Consumer's Building
FRANK B. ROGERS
Branch Manager

RALPH BRADFORD, Manager
Triangle Distributing Corporation
Maller's Building 5 South Wabash Avenue

Elgin Items of Interest

MANAGER RALPH CROCKER, of the Star, took another of his vacations-on-the-installment-plan the week-end of September 5, 6 and 7, from duties as cashier of The Elgin Daily Courier. He spent the time largely at the Exhibitors' Convention in Chicago, keeping on the job at the Star the while.

MISS MAYME RORIG, daughter of Manager H. P. Rorig, of the Orpheum, Elgin, who assisted her father and brother with duties at their showhouse while in town, left early in September for the West. She will teach school this year at Ely, Nevada. Previous to her departure a great many social affairs were arranged by Elgin friends in compliment to her.

THE STAR has completed the serial, "The House of Hate," with Pearl White, and begun the showing of "A Fight for Millions." The Pearl White play was exceedingly popular as the Friday night thrill feature of "small boy and business man" night.

THE GRAND began the first of September to substitute musical comedy for pictures on Sunday entertainment bills. This reduces the features to three features a week, shown two days each, instead of three two-day and one one-day (Saturday) picture.

FEATURES at the Star theatre the week of September 8 were announced to include: George Larkin in "Zongar—the Dare Devil of Romance"; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew in "By Right of Might," Creighton Hale and Gladys Hulette in "Waifs," the comedy, "Love"; Fatty Arbuckle in "Good Night, Nurse"; Billy West in "The Scholar," "The Roundups," Earl Williams in "An American Live Wire," Polly Moran in "Taming Target Center," George Walsh in "The Kid Is Clever," "Sheriff Nell's Tussle," Alice Howell in "Hey, Doctor"; Billy West in "The Orderly," chapter three of "A Fight for Millions," Harry Morey in "All Man," and Toto, the Clown, in "Beach Nuts."

IN the second week of September the Orpheum showed as features: Barbara Castleton and Irving Cummings in "The Heart of a Girl," May Allison in "A Successful Adventure," Norma Talmadge in "Ghosts of Yesterday" (from the Rupert Hughes' drama, "Two Women"); Clara Williams in "Carmen of the Klondike," and Kitty Gordon in "Tinsel."

THE TEMPLE makes Monday its popular night in running big program, Judge Brown and serial features and several comedy reels. It led off the week of September 8 with the Monday showing of "Marrying Off Dad" (Judge Brown), sixth episode of "The Bull's Eye," Fatty Arbuckle in "Fatty Butts In," and latest edition of the Universal Animated News Weekly. In other days of the week it featured: Alma Reubens in "The Ghost Flower," Bobby Vernon in "Just Plain Folks," Edna Goodrich in "Her Husband's Honor," Billy Rhodes in "She Almost Proposed," Harry Carey in "A Woman's Fool," the photoplay song, "You Are All Out of Step but Jim," Pauline Stark in "Daughter Angeline," comedy, "His Blighted Career," Ruth Clifford in "Fires of Youth," Vod-a-Vil movies, No. 6, William Desmond in "Wild Life," comedy, "Know Your Neighbors," and William S. Hart in "The Desert Man."

THE program for the week of August 18 at the Cozy theatre at Bellevue, Iowa, was as follows: Sunday and Monday, "The Witch Woman," with Ethel Clayton; Thursday and Friday, "Good Night Nurse," with Fatty Arbuckle," and "The Strong Way," with June Elvidge; Saturday, "The Salt of the Earth," with Peggy Adams.

FRIDAY, August 16, was a big day at Cascade, Iowa, for it was Grand Ball Night. The big special feature of the evening was the showing of the William Fox photoplay "A Daughter of the Gods," with Annette Kellermann, at the Cascade theatre hall.

"MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY" was presented at the Hatch Opera House at Lancaster, Iowa, for two days, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 20 and 21.

THE Sunday (August 18) program at the New Majestic theatre at Elkader, Iowa, was "The Firebrand," with Virginia Pearson. On Thursday, "Camille," with Clara Kimball Young, was shown.

"A MODERN MUSKETEER," with inimitable Douglas Fairbanks, was presented for two days at the Palace theatre at Waverly, Iowa, this week.

TWO big features were shown at the Belknap theatre at Hopkinton, Iowa, this week. They are "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," and "Bridges Burned."

MARTINI TORREY, owner of the Elite theatre, broke all records with "My Four Years in Germany."

CHAS. C. PYLE, Chicago sales manager of the Bartola Company, is back at his desk, having just returned from a well earned vacation.

FRANK J. FLAHERTY, until recently maanger of the Foursquare Chicago office, has returned from the East feeling fine and will soon announce his new connections.

JOE FRIEDMAN, of the Celebrated Players, has just taken over Wisconsin for the Gaumont News Weekly.

JACK MEREDITH has resigned from the Ascher Bros. forces to go back into the selling game and will handle the North Side for Goldwyn.

AS usual, Manager Rosenthal of the Majestic theatre is right on the job when it comes to writing catchy ads. The following one brought Jake a fine three days' business: Majestic—Sunday, Monday, Tuesday. Just think of it! You can see it for a dime! Theda Bara in the Kate Klaxton 1918 version of "The Two Orphans." Shows that Theda Bara can be great in other than vampire roles. Admission 10 cents.

TUESDAY is Select Pictures Day at the Family theatre. On August 20 Clara Kimball Young was starred in "The Price She Paid."

Evansville and Southern Indiana

THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE at Washington, Ind., recently was the host for all the old soldiers and sailors of the county when Government war pictures of the present war were shown. The veterans were admitted free and about fifty took occasion to compare present-day warfare with that of former years.

THE PRINCESS THEATRE here has been successful with a policy of "live and let live prices" for the summer. Attractions showing at 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for children have drawn big crowds during the summer. Manager Merrill has upheld the standard of the pictures even at the lower prices.

HUGH DAWSON, treasurer and publicity man for the Majestic theatre here, looked too long and too well at a war film in which German atrocities were shown. He is married and has a child, but he enlisted in the army, saying he intended to keep the Huns from coming to the United States to commit such acts.

PLANS TO RE-OPEN the Riverside theatre here have been abandoned by owner and manager, William Huddy. He gives as the reasons that more than 3,000 young men from the county are in military service and that he does not believe the present patronage of the motion picture houses here justifies the entrance of a new house into the field.

Gathered in Green Bay

MADGE KENNEDY in the Goldwyn production "Friend Husband" was the feature attraction at the Colonial theatre August 30-31. The picture did not make as big a hit as the last picture in which Miss Kennedy played, "The Vamp Cure." A Lyons-Moran comedy and an Outing-Chester picture were other numbers on the bill.

"THE REASON WHY" proved a good feature at the Grand theatre August 29-30-31 and September 1. Clara Kimball Young is the star of the production. The picture is taken from the novel by Eleanor Glynn.

THEDA BARA played in "The Forbidden Path," a Fox film, at the Orpheum theatre Sunday, September 1. The picture was intensely interesting.

"A WOMAN OF REDEMPTION," a World feature, starring June Elvidge, and a Pathe Weekly were the pictures shown at the Royal theatre August 30. The program was well received.

GIRLS have been employed as ushers for several weeks at the Grand theatre, and it has been found that they are capable of doing the work as well as young men.

THE TRIANGLE FEATURE, "The Hand at the Window," with Margery Wilson and Joe King co-starring, was presented successfully Sept. 3 at the Royal Theatre.

"ONE DOLLAR BID," a Paralta play featuring J. Warren Kerrigan, was presented at the Colonial theatre Sept. 4-5.

THELMA SALTER was seen in "The Crab" at the Grand theatre four days, beginning Aug. 29.

"MONEY MAD," the latest of the Mae Marsh-Goldwyn productions, was screened at the Colonial theatre Sept. 6-7. It proved delightful and was considered by patrons as one of the best things in which Miss Marsh has played lately.

THE WEST COAST

Communications Pertaining to "West Coast" Section Should Be Sent to Our
LOS ANGELES REPRESENTATIVE Telephone Pico 280, F 4661 429 SO. FIGUEROA STREET

Select Changes Affect Western Exchanges

SEVERAL IMPORTANT CHANGES in the West Coast and intermountain territory exchanges of the Select Pictures Company have been made recently which will affect all exchanges except the one at Los Angeles. Harry H. Hicks, who opened the Los Angeles exchange for the Selznick Pictures Corporation, which later became the Select, and who was later promoted to the more important position of the San Francisco exchange, is to go to Seattle where he becomes manager of the exchange which supplies Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana. Mr. Hicks is one, if not the best known exchange man of the West Coast. He was originally salesman in Seattle following a career in newspaper work. He later became manager for the General Film Exchange, and from that position was promoted to the office of special representative for that company in the days when it was the most important organization of the film world. The promotion from the Seattle office is one Mr. Hicks is certainly entitled to for the excellent work he has done for the company in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Prior to leaving San Francisco he made several very important contracts, one specifying the rental of thirty-two first run pictures to the largest and finest house in San Francisco, the California. Mr. Hicks took up his new work at Seattle, Sept. 18.

H. L. Knappen, former branch manager at Denver for Select, has been transferred to San Francisco, and H. E. Lotz, former Triangle special representative in the West Coast states, becomes manager at Denver. Lotz has had several important film distributing positions. He served the General as Canadian manager, and has been identified with other important companies. Knappen was formerly manager of the International Exchange at San Francisco, and is therefore acquainted with the field.

Francis Hawkins Falls to Death

FRANCIS HAWKINS, father of F. J. Hawkins, of the distribution department of Haworth Pictures Corporation of Los Angeles, was found dead in an elevator shaft of a Los Angeles ladies' garment store this week. It was not determined at this time how Mr. Hawkins' death occurred, but the theory is that he found the elevator door open and stepped into the shaft, thinking he was walking into the elevator.

F. J. Hawkins, his son, is well known in motion picture circles on the Pacific coast, and the news of his father's death was received with regret.

Lesser Plans More "Hearts of World" Exploitation

THE CENTRAL WEST STATES are to be given some West Coast theatre management ideas, according to plans made by Sol Lesser, of the All Star Feature Distributors, who has all the territory west of the Mississippi, including Illinois, for D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World." Mr. Lesser has sent J. A. Brehaney to Chicago to act as manager, and install the West coast presentation ideas in theatres where "Hearts of the World" is booked. Mr. Lesser now has twelve companies out with this big war spectacle, four in California territory, three handled in the Northwest by M. Rosenberg, of the De-Luxe Feature Film Exchange, three in Denver, six will be out of Chicago, and others from St. Louis, Minneapolis and other principal cities.

In every locality where "Hearts of the World" has been shown it has created new box office receipt records. This is especially true at San Francisco, where the picture is now in its thirteenth week at the Alcazar theatre. The booking provides for at least three weeks more, and probably longer. At the Shubert theatre, in Minneapolis, the film opened September 1, and the first week did almost $10,000. Similar reports are sifting into the Lesser All Star exchange at San Francisco wherever the film opens.

Spokane Company Goes Into Receiver's Hands

F. K. McBROOM, former city commissioner of Spokane, has been appointed receiver for the Washington Motion Picture Corporation, with studios at Minnehaha Park, Spokane. E. W. Cole appeared before Judge Huneke of the superior court and declared the company insolvent. The receivership follows rumors that plans were on foot by which the present officials were to be removed and the control of the company pass to a new management. Mr. McBroom was named as receiver to take full charge of the company's affairs and assets. He filed a $10,000 bond at the request of litigants. Officials of the company estimated that stock to the amount of about $165,000 had been sold throughout the Inland Empire. W. W. Zent, attorney for the company, estimates that the film which has already been printed would bring the company about $75,000. The film was made under the direction of Larry Trimble, well known in the motion picture field. Tyrone Power, the first actor brought to the city, was dropped from the payroll about two months ago.

THE WEST COAST

Naugle Declares Vitagraph in Good Shape

H. D. NAUGLE, Western manager of Greater Vitgraph, has returned to Los Angeles after seven weeks of traveling in the East and the Middle West in company with A. W. Goff, general manager of Vitagraph. He planned to leave immediately for an extensive trip to Seattle and other principal cities on the Northern Pacific coast.

"The Vitagraph business this year is the best it has ever been," is the enthusiastic way in which Mr. Naugle put it. "I found that exhibitors everywhere are smiling and preaching good business, and with good business they are spreading the doctrine of optimism.

"The new policy of producing each week a Big-V two reel comedy is progressing nicely. These comedies are in demand, and virtually all the principal exhibitors of the country have signed contracts for them.

"Another plan of the company, that of rotating the stars—or the plan of having one star appear every six weeks—is meeting with the approval of the exhibitors, and I can safely say that one-third of the theatres of the country have made contracts with us on this plan. There will be eight releases of Earle Williams and Alice Joyce, and nine releases of Harry Morey, Gladys Elsie, Corinne Griffith and Bessie Love.

"'The Common Cause,' directed by J. Stuart Blackton and backed by the British government, will be released within the next two or three months. We believe this will prove one of the biggest patriotic attractions yet placed on the American screen."

Breck Photo Supply Settles Into Better Quarters

NOW located in their new home at the corner of Jones street and Golden Gate avenue, "Film Row," San Francisco, in quarters especially built to fit the needs of this firm, the Breck Photo Supply Company, under the general management of Thomas Maguire, its president, is in still better quarters to care for the needs of their many patrons of theatres and film exchanges.

The Breck Company carries on a wholesale as well as retail business, and covers the entire West coast in the matter of distributing the Simplex machines. This company was incorporated January 1, 1916, when Mr. Maguire became president and general manager following ten years' experience as a theatre owner and manager. Mr. Maguire was located at Portland for a long time, and also served as manager of independent exchanges. His experience being varied, qualifies him for his present work, and he is indeed capable of being of great service to the patrons of this firm. One of the co-operative features of this organization is that they plan projecting rooms for exhibitors, insuring that all details will be worked out to the advantage of the theatre.

The quarters built for this company include basement, main and mezzanine floors, with workshop, demonstration room, and all in all constitutes an excellent display place for theatre equipment.

The firm are distributors for Simplex projectors and National carbons, and have a big supply on hand at all times.

Bourke Makes Good Start in Butte

GEORGE BOURKE, the new manager of the Universal Film Exchange in Butte, is putting a lot of pep into his work. For instance he is just placing the serial, "The Brass Bullet," in Montana houses and he is starting it off with a crash, using a lot of newspaper space to advertise it. The following houses in Butte and environs will start the serial on the dates named: Dream theatre, Wallerville, Oct. 6; Liberty, Butte, Sept. 13; Orpheum, Butte, Sept. 16; Harrison, Butte, now showing; Grand, Meaderville, Sept. 18; Crystal, Butte, Oct. 15, and Lyric, Butte, Oct. 30. This certainly looks like a record booking of a serial in this neck of the woods.

Roth and Rothchild Go East

EUGENE H. ROTH, manager, and Herbert Rothchild, treasurer of the Market Street Realty Company, owner of the California theatre, San Francisco, have left for the East. It is understood these men are interested in a new organization for the distribution of pictures, but before their departure for the East stated that plans were not well enough developed to make any statement.

News of the Week in Portland

CAPTAIN KUHN of the Kuhn theatre, Lebanon, Ore.; J. B. Sparks of Heppner, Ore.; Ross Nelson and H. W. Henkle of the Isis theatre, Independence, Ore.; Denny Hull of the Liberty, North Bend, Ore.; W. H. Durham of the Grand, Camas, Wash.; C. G. Matlock of Pendleton, Ore.; George Bligh of Salem, Ore.; Lew Cullins of the Casino, The Dalles, Ore.; Charles Schram of the Grand, Oregon City, Ore., were among recent exhibitor visitors in Portland.

THE ELKS' CONVENTION brought a number of the boys in from Oregon and Washington points.

THE OPENING of the new Liberty theatre at Coquille, Ore., has been postponed. It was scheduled for Sept. 1, but Manager Gage put it off a short time in order that everything might be in readiness for the public.

MANAGER WITTENBERG of the Grand theatre, Portland, has reopened his house after a month of darkness for enlargement and remodeling.

THE NEW LIBERTY THEATRE at Centralia, Wash., is rapidly being completed and soon will be ready for formal opening.

THE MOTION PICTURE THEATRE at Riddell, Ore., was burned by fire recently, a part of the town going in the conflagration.

C. W. MEIGHAN, former president of the Motion Picture Exhibitor's League of Oregon, and manager of the Liberty theatre, Astoria, has been in Portland for a week. He is reported to have quit the Liberty, which has been highly successful under his management.

In Spokane Theatres

"MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY," based on the book by James W. Gerard, former American ambassador to Berlin, played a seven-days' engagement at the Majestic.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "The Matrimaniac," and Charles Murray and Mary Thurman, burlesque funmakers in the Sennett comedy, "Love Loops the Loop," made up the first program at the Lyric theatre.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE scored a big hit at the Clemmer in "A Pair of Silk Stockings," the sparkling little comedy drama evolved from Cyril Harcourt's book. Charley Chaplin gets on the same program in a ludicrous cartoon comedy by Pat Sullivan, "How Charley Captured the Kaiser."

THEDA BARA packed the Class A theatre with the 1918 version of "The Two Orphans," one of her greatest screen triumphs. Charley Chaplin was on the same program with "The Landlady's Pet."

What Exchanges and Theatres Are Doing

THE SECOND official war film, "America's Answer," handled in the California territory by Sol Lesser, has been booked at the Rialto theatre, San Francisco, for a two week's run beginning September 22. Special plans are being made by the exchange for publicity matter on this picture, and the theatre will have the co-operation of the officers of all camps and training stations in and near San Francisco.

J. HESSER WALRAVEN, former publicity manager for Paralta, has been engaged by Howard Sheehan and Louis Larie, owners of the Rialto theatre at San Francisco, to serve as manager for this house, and he has arrived in San Francisco and taken up his new work. Fred Lucas has been retained as manager of publicity for the theatre.

HOWARD GRANGER, special representative of William Fox and Winfred Sheehan, who is making a tour over the country, has visited Seattle and San Francisco, and is now at Los Angeles. He is going over with exchange managers and salesmen, the new policy for the Fox organization.

LEON NETTER, formerly manager of the Masterpiece Film Exchanges at Cleveland and Philadelphia, following several years with the All Star Feature Distributors at San Francisco, has returned to San Francisco, his home, for a few days' vacation before entering the Liberty Army.

THERE HAS BEEN a great demand for "If You Only Knew," formerly issued under the title, "Me Und Gott," according to H. E. White, who has just purchased the rights of the picture in California, Nevada and Arizona.

E. WILLIAMS, formerly with the All-Star Features' office in San Francisco, has accepted a position with the Los Angeles office as a road man. He was formerly manager of the Edison theatre of San Francisco. Having had much experience in lobby advertising, he will devote his energies to instructing various theatre managers in this art in connection with his other work of securing contracts for All-Star Features.

BESSIE LOVE, working on a new picture under the direction of David Smith, has been on location this week near Riverside. It is a Bret Harte story.

DAVID BERSHON, manager of the Universal Film Exchange, distributors of Universal, Jewel, Lois Weber, Blue Bird and Century productions, announces with pride the large number of Universal pictures being shown this week at Los Angeles theatres. They are "The Sinking of the Lusitania," at the Kinema; "Modern Love," with Mae Murray, at Quinn's Rialto; Mary MacLaren in "Bread," at Symphony; Monroe Salisbury in "That Devil Bateese," and "Charlie Capture the Kaiser," at Superba; "Her Body in Bond," at the College; Dorothy Philipps, in "A Soul For Sale," at the Optic; "The Long Chance," with Frank Keenan, at the Regent.

THREE FOX SUPER-PRODUCTIONS are playing at Los Angeles theatres this week. They are "Salome," with Theda Bara, at Clune's Auditorium; "The Prussian Cur," with Von der Goltz, the German spy, as the lead, at the Kinema, and "Other Men's Daughters," with Peggy Hyland, at Miller's theatre.

TOM MIX, Fox western lead, was in charge of the Rodeo on Admission Day at Exposition Park in Los Angeles, September 9. His next release will be shown at the Kinema theatre.

BRANCH MANAGER B. E. ROPER, of Select Pictures, announced this week that G. A. Bush, president and manager of four leading theatres in San Diego, has just closed a contract for Select Pictures to be run in his Superba theatre.

A COPY of the "Chain of Blue," a weekly program published by G. A. Bush, of San Diego, received much favorable comment this week at the offices of Select Pictures.

PLANS TO ENTER the picture, "Over There," in a special Liberty Loan campaign drive, are being perfected by Select Pictures, Branch Manager Roper announces. He says that the picture, as a patriotic vehicle, has been of exceptional value in government propaganda work.

W. S. RAND, district manager of the General Film Exchange, left Los Angeles this week for an indefinite visit to San Francisco, Seattle and other Northern Pacific cities.

H. W. STUBBINS, branch manager of the M. & R. Feature Film Company, returned this week from his vacation. He immediately predicted that his office would begin to outline a big fall and winter program.

J. E. FOESE, salesman for the M. & R. Feature Film Company, visited the home office in San Francisco during the past few days. He is making arrangements to answer the call to service, having established a record of 100 per cent perfect in his physical examination this week before Board No. 17.

THE ROBERT BRUCE SCENIC FILMS, released in Los Angeles by the M. & F. Feature Film Company, will be shown at Grauman's theatre, Branch Manager Stubbins announces. They are one-reel subjects, and the first installments will present scenes filmed in Mexico.

C. H. HASFELT, owner of the Parker theatre, at Parker, Ariz., has written E. D. Tate, branch manager of Pathe Exchange, that his theatre at Parker was burned a few days ago, but he adds that the house will be rebuilt immediately and that he hopes to be open for business on October 5. He will start the new program with war films.

MILLER'S theatre in Los Angeles, of which Carl Ray is manager, has booked solid its next year's program with Fox productions, according to announcement by Manager Walsh, of the Fox Exchange.

MERRILL HOWELL, owner of the Belvidere and Grand theatres at Riverside, announces this week that his new house now under construction at Riverside, will be completed about November 1. The new house will exhibit only the larger productions and special subjects, Mr. Howell says. The theatre will seat 1,000 people.

W. H. HEPBURN, branch manager of Vitagraph, while motoring from San Bernardino to Los Angeles this week, accompanied by Mrs. Hepburn, was compelled to face the muzzles of two revolvers and a blinding bulls-eye. He was also requested to hand over all money in his possession. He says he complied with the request without a protest. The sum he parted with amounted to about $20. "We were told to halt while sailing along the Foothills Boulevard," he said. "Then we were told to drive down a byroad. It was about 11 o'clock at night. When the performance ended, the footpads glided away in their Ford, but not until they had damaged the engine of my machine so I could not make an immediate report. I have been told since then that the sheriff is on their trail. Some people may like experiences of this kind, but no more of it for me. That's all."

J. SLIPPER & COMPANY have forwarded a Minusa gold fibre screen to E. D. Drachman for his Broadway theatre at Tucson, Ariz. Mr. Drachman was in Los Angeles this week and he booked a number of Pathe subjects for his winter program.

A. T. CONNARD, prominent exhibitor of Taft, Cal., was in Los Angeles this week lining up his fall bookings. He made several new contracts.

ACCORDING to Nick Diamos, of Nogales, Ariz., prominent exhibitor of that city, he would not be surprised any day if the Mexicans should make a raid on American theatres across the border, capture the films, and carry them back to Mexican theatres. He says the Mexican populace is thirsting for amusement in the form of American pictures.

F. M. STEELE, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Parex Film Corporation, announces that G. M. Anderson's first five-reel picture, "Red Blood and Yellow," will be released on October 2. His second production, "Son-of-a-Gun," will be released on October 28.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER, district manager of the William L. Sherry Service, who is visiting all Coast exchanges, reported this week that business is exceptionally good.

J. M. GAWNE, special field representative of Vitagraph in California, after a busy trip to Riverside, Hemet and San Jacinto, reports that all theatres in these towns are doing a thriving business because of the large number of farmerettes working in the adjacent territory and because of the augmented forces of all canneries in this district.

FIRST HAND NEWS of how the battle between American and Mexican military forces at Nogales a few weeks ago caused a sudden suspension of business between 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:30 o'clock was received this week by C. J. Marley, manager of the Triangle exchange at Los Angeles, from the manager of the Nogales theatre at Nogales, Ariz. "The films you sent us were hardly used," the letter says. "There was continuous firing from the time the battle began until it ended. One of our posters were shot through while standing in front of the ticket office We had a very strenuous evening. We immediately closed our place of business. All other business in the city closed also."

REISSUES of all Fairbanks, Hart, Keenan and Talmadge subjects heretofore handled by the Sunset Film Corporation will hereafter be handled by the Triangle Distributing Corporation, according to Manager Marley. The transfer of this business was made to the Triangle this week. The Sunset offices in the Knickerbocker Building have been closed. John C. Moore, district manager, had not announced at this time his future plans.

BECAUSE of the big demand from Mexico for American pictures, especially Western subjects, a commission of Mexican film exhibitors are in

(Continued on page 4)

DUHEM
MOTION PICTURE MFG. CO.
Films Made to Order
EXPERT DEVELOPING, PRINTING AND COLORING
CAMERA OUT-FITS AND RAW FILM SUPPLIED

CAMERA MEN
SENT ANYWHERE

985 Market Street, San Francisco, California

Telephone: Hollywood 1290
GEORGE W. CHAPMAN CO.
Incorporated
EVERYTHING IN MOVING PICTURE PROPS.
Specialties: Miniature Sets and Plaster Breakaways
5155 Santa Monica Boulevard
Los Angeles, Cal.

SLIDES Title Cards and Film
L. A. SLIDE & FILM CO.
122 WEST THIRD ST., LOS ANGELES

THEATRE SETTINGS
We Have Installed Hundreds From $100 to $10,000 Each
BEST SCREENS, SCENERY
EDW. H. FLAGG SCENIC CO.
Largest in the World
Los Angeles San Francisco

WINFIELD-KERNER COMPANY
Established 1905
Manufacturers of Actinic Ray Arc Lamps for Motion Picture Producers and Photographers. Effect Lamps and equipment. Resistance and Magnet Coils made to order.
Phones: Pico 2646 A 2216
325-27 E. Sixth St., Los Angeles

Seattle Exchanges and Accessory Firms

L. J. SCHLAIFER ATTRACTIONS
2022 Third Avenue Seattle, Washington
Parentage-Ivan Productions—2 Reel Jester Comedies—2 Reel Hart Re-Issues
AND OTHER BOX OFFICE PICTURES

NOW BOOKING—NORTHWEST TERRITORY
"FALL OF BARBARY COAST"
OR "FINGER OF JUSTICE"
RAN FOUR CONSECUTIVE WEEKS AT REX, SEATTLE.
G. M. SANDERSON, MANAGER, 2016 THIRD AVENUE, SEATTLE

Exhibitors Film Exchange
INCORPORATED
Member of First National Exhibitors Circuit
-- NOW BOOKING --
A DOG'S LIFE
MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY
TARZAN OF THE APES
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS
THE STILL ALARM
ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT
ETC,. ETC.
-- COMING! --
SHOULDER ARMS
(Second Chaplin Comedy)
ROMANCE OF TARZAN
ANITA STEWART SUPERFEATURES
1200 FOURTH AVE.
SEATTLE, WASH.
F. V. FISHER, Manager

GREATER FEATURES COMPANY
2020 Third Avenue
SEATTLE, WASHINGTON
Rep. Consolidated Film Corp.
Showing
LITERARY DIGEST NEWS
CARTOONS—NEWMAN TRAVELS
JACK LANNON, OWNER

Lantern Slides
J. C. COREY SIGN CO.
3rd & University St., Seattle
Cutouts and Lobby Displays

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM
Perfection Pictures
W. J. DRUMMOND
Branch Manager
2012 Third Avenue

Washington on a special mission to see if the embargo against the shipment of films into Mexican territory cannot be lifted. Information to this effect was received this week by the Triangle offices from Nick Diamos, of Nogales, head of a large amusement company operating theatres in Arizona and New Mexico. Mr. Diamos says the demand for American pictures comes not only from Americans across the border who are employes of various mining companies, but from the Mexicans as well.

FRED WILLIAMS, who has been identified with the All-Star San Francisco Exchange, has been transferred to Los Angeles, where he will serve as salesman.

THE ALHAMBRA THEATRE at San Francisco is now being fitted with a ten thousand dollar De Luxe model American Photoplayer, which has been purchased by M. L. Markowitz, owner of the theatre. This instrument replaces an orchestra of six people. Considerable alteration of the stage and orchestra pit was necessary for the installation of this instrument, but the work was carried on without the loss of any time to the theatre.

L. D. PURDY, formerly manager of the General and Pathe exchanges at Salt Lake, has been engaged by Manager Arthur Lamb, of the Los Angeles Metro Exchange, and Special Representative Harry Lustig, and will serve as salesman in the Southern California and Arizona territory.

THE DUHEM MOTION PICTURE COMPANY, of San Francisco, has just completed a contract for the U. S. Government Allied War Exhibit consisting of 4,000 feet of edited negative taken at the exposition at San Francisco in July, and another picture of 5,000 feet taken at the exposition in Los Angeles. This together with prints has been shipped to the department at Washington. The camera work was personally done by Raymond Duhem, general manager of the company, and the film makes an excellent history of two expositions which brought home to West Coast people a realization of what United States soldiers are seeing on the western front.

SOL L. LESSER has purchased the negative and all American rights for the short subject, "How Stars Twinkle Away from the Studio," and will shortly be ready to place this on the market. The film was taken in Los Angeles several weeks ago at a big meeting of motion picture celebrities, and shows the celluloid stars in their happiest moments.

M. J. COHEN, West Coast representative of the George Kleine System, has been called to Chicago for a conference with the officials of the company, and left for the East Sunday, September 15. He will return to the Coast by the way of Los Angeles, and will then make a trip over the territory.

In and Around Denver

FROM all over Colorado come reports from exhibitors to the effect that they have done a splendid business throughout the summer season and early fall. The former war tax bugaboo has been forgotten, and a good business is confidently anticipated for the balance of the year.

RUBYE DE REMER, a well-known Denver girl, has been selected the co-star with Harold Lockwood in a second picture, having completed "Pals First" in a part opposite the popular hero.

NORMA TALMADGE passed through Denver recently on her way to New York from Bernardsville, New Mexico, where she secured scenes for her next release in which she will be seen as a Chinese maiden. The scenes were made in a Chinese garden owned by a wealthy resident of Bernardsville.

MANAGER KANAGY, of Sherry Service, announces that the America theatre here will show "Facing Death on the Blumlisalp," beginning September 12 and 13. The picture is one of a series of thirty in the Burlingham Travel Series. One will be released in Denver territory every two weeks.

CHARLES K. TOOLEY, recently of Concordia, Kan., has joined the Sherry Service sales force, and has made his initial trip covering northern Colorado and Cheyenne.

H. BRADLEY FISH, secretary of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club and Denver manager for Goldwyn, was stricken with a sudden attack of appendicitis on Thursday evening, September 5. He was rushed to Mercy Hospital, where an operation was successfully performed the following morning.

R. H. McCLUSKEY is covering the Western slope for Mutual, and will go from there to Salt Lake and Idaho territory.

P. G. ARMBUS, of Gering, Neb., who has operated the Royal theatre there for several years, announced during his visit to Denver a few days ago that he had arranged to enlarge his activities by taking over the Liberty theatre there, which was formerly conducted by Howard & Hastings. While in Denver he signed up for Universal pictures for both Gering and Manville.

NOAH G. BREWER, of Sidney, Neb., who is very prominent in automobile circles there, is building a new theatre which will be ready for business around Thanksgiving Day. The new theatre will seat nearly 1,000, and will feature Universal Service seven days a week. Mr. Brewer recently purchased the U. S. A. theatre at Sidney from H. A. Du Buque, and will close it as soon as his new house is ready for opening.

EARL NYE, manager of the Amuse theatre at Cheyenne, was a recent Denver visitor. He came down to arrange new fall and winter bookings.

ED SCHOLLKOPF, owner of the Opera House theatre at Idaho Springs, visited Film Row this week.

MRS. ASHBURN, manager for Woodward & Co., owners of the Princess theatre at Sterling, is in Denver at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Frank Hamilton, who is seriously ill at Mercy Hospital.

EARL P. BRIGGS, local manager for the American Film Company, Inc., is down in New Mexico this week. He has booked first runs in every city and town he has visited so far.

HARRY D. WOODS is covering New Mexico for Pathe.

MANAGER MAX KOHN, of the West theatre at Trinidad, visited Denver last week and signed up for first run on "Crashing Through to Berlin."

HARRY J. QUINN, formerly manager of the Denver Universal Exchange, is one step nearer the Rhine. He is now stationed at Camp Travis, Texas. He requests his friends to address him there, "Company D, Thirty-fifth Infantry."

M. F. DOBBS, Western auditor for the Mutual Film Corporation, visited their local headquarters this week. He departed Monday night for Seattle.

H. A. KYLER, road man for Supreme Photo Plays, is covering Western slope territory.

I. EHRENSOFT, sales manager for Supreme, announces that "The Whip" is booked solid for September, October and the first half of November. "Eyes of the World" and "Redemption" are also nearly solid for October. "The Whip" was shown to a big business at the Atlas theatre in Cheyenne August 31 and September 1, and has been booked for a return engagement at the same house.

MRS. CARBERRY has resigned her position as cashier for Goldwyn, and will be succeeded by Miss Mae McCoy.

G. W. WHITNEY, of General, is visiting exhibitors in Colorado and Nebraska. He says everybody is booking "Historic Fourth of July."

H. E. LOTZ, local manager for Select, has left for Salt Lake City on business. Mr. Lotz is advised by the home office that a big special feature, "The One Woman," by Thomas Dixon, starring Clara Williams and directed by Reginald Barker, will be released in Denver territory in October. This is the first of six new Select features to be released within their present fiscal year.

"HOW CHARLIE CAPTURED THE KAISER" is cleaning up for exhibitors in this territory, according to Manager Armstrong, of Universal. Since its release he has made exactly sixty-three bookings on the comic special.

ADVERTISE IN THE WEST COAST

What Coast Studios Are Doing

BERT LYTELL, Metro star, has begun work on his new picture, "The Spender." The scenario, adapted from the story by Frederick Orin Bartlett in the "Saturday Evening Post," was written by George D. Baker and Tom Geraghty. It is the story of a man whose philosophy is "that it is better to spend than to hoard."

MAY ALLISON will this week finish "Kate of Kentucky," her latest screen effort. Her next picture will be entitled, "Thirty Days," and the story was provided by Luther Reed. The scenario was written by George D. Baker and Tom Geraghty.

WILLIAM S. HART will this week finish his new Artcraft vehicle, "Branding Broadway," when he will leave immediately for New York, accompanied by his entire company. He goes to the Eastern Metropolis to take up Liberty Loan work. "Branding Broadway" is a story intermixing comedy and drama. Seena Owen is his leading lady. Other members of the cast are Arthur Shirley and Andrew Robinson.

"HOPE CHEST," the new Paramount picture, in which Dorothy Gish takes the lead, was delayed in its production this week because of the death of the mother of Elmer Clifton, her director.

D. W. GRIFFITH has just about finished his third Artcraft release, with Lillian Gish and Robert Harron. Members of the supporting cast are Elmo Lincoln and Fred Butler, Jr. The picture has not been named.

THE PICTURE, "Love's Payday," starring Rosemary Theby, was finished this week at the Triangle studios. The story relates to the fisherfolk of Newfoundland.

"CROWN JEWELS," with Clara Anderson in the lead, was another subject finished at the Triangle studios. It is a crook drama.

BESSIE BARRISCALE this week began work on a new story, "Two-Gun Betty," under the direction of Howard Hickman. It is a comedy-drama, and was written by Mr. Hickman, with continuity by Jack Cunningham. This subject, it was stated by Hickman, is not to be released as a Paralta picture.

KITTY GORDON, who recently arrived in Los Angeles, will produce her new pictures for the United Picture Theatre Corporation at the Brunton studios, according to announcement at the studios. It is expected that active production will begin within the next few weeks.

LILLIAN WALKER has arranged to film some new subjects at the Brunton studios.

KENNETH O'HARA, formerly publicity director for Triangle and Paralta, was this week married to Beulah Booker, Paralta's leading lady. O'Hara is now an aviation cadet at a training field in Texas. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Evans at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at Hollywood. The wedding is a sequence to a whirlwind courtship, and rumor has it that Miss Booker married O'Hara in spite of the fact that her grandfather had stipulated that if she wanted a portion of his fortune she was not to wed until she reached the age of 21 years.

DIRECTOR CLIFF SMITH, of the Triangle Culver City studios, and E. Mason Hopper, returned to the studios after a deer hunting trip in the Santa Monica Mountains. Jim Adamson, the Triangle barber, was the only member of the party to bring back "deer steak."

"THE MOON MAN" is the title of the third Triangle vehicle for Taylor Holmes. It is an original story by Hazel Flynn and Leigh Metcalfe. Daniel Carson Goodman is preparing the scenario.

DANIEL CARSON GOODMAN has completed a one-reel farce-comedy entitled, "The Great Idea." It will be sent to George Creel at Washington, chairman of the Bureau of Public Information, and will be released as a Fourth Liberty Loan propaganda picture. Taylor Holmes plays the stellar role.

What Seattle Exhibitors Say

JOE BRADT, of the Echo, Portland, Ore., reopened his theatre, after having it closed for a few weeks for remodeling.

W. W. Kofeldt, manager of the Majestic, Portland, has enlisted in the Marines.

HARRY CRISMAN, of Pe Ell, Wash., has closed his theatre.

JOHN LEONARD has leased the theatre of H. H. Yates in Oakesdale, Wash.

THE AURORA in Aurora, Ore., has been closed.

THE AMERICAN, Dayton, Wash., has reopened.

C. H. DUNLAP has purchased the Rex in Lakeview, Ore.

MANAGER HOLTZCLAW, of the Circle, Portland, attracted a large crowd to his theatre one hot evening by giving away 30 ice-cooled watermelons.

AMONG the recent visitors to Seattle was R. W. Lynch, the popular vice-president of the "Triangle Distributing Company," from New York. The only story he would give was that he was surprised at Seattle's remarkble growth, but was disappointed at her climate, for he had always heard that it rained like the ——— out here, and, instead, he found the sun shining, the birds twittering, the lovers whistling, etc., all the time he was here, while reports from New York and Chicago read that people in those cities were prostrated with the heat.

MR. RAIL ROAD NAVE, as he is known among his friends, has been appointed Northwest manager of "The Triangle" office since H. H. Hurn has gone over to Camp Lewis with his wrist watch, given to him by the Seattle Board. R. R. Nave is well known in the Northwest, having been connected with "Triangle" for a long time.

MISS C. OLNESS has been appointed as booker for "tringle."

B. W. COPELAND is back in Seattle. He is here representing "The American," and will have his office located with the Pathe Company on Film Row, Seattle. Mr. Copeland is one of the oldest and best known film men in the Northwest. He was selling films out here when the old-timers were giving the Indians some of that prohibition stuff for five or six hundred acres of land on which now stands a 42-story building or million-dollar movey. Copeland had theatres of his own around Spokane for years. He also had an office near 729 Seventh avenue, New York, where THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS is published, and he says that is the reason he knows the paper is always full of live stuff, for the heads work hard for it and ALL the fellows, especially Johnston, the editor, are square fine fellows, always hustling for the news.

H. L. PERCY, of Medford, Ore., one of the best small towns in the Northwest, is building a theatre patterned after the Liberty in Portland, Ore.

FRANK KING, formerly one of the foremost San Francisco exhibitors, is opening an artistically-built theatre in Astoria, Ore. He is remodeling the Columbia and painting a scene of the Columbia River on the curtain and the outside of the theatre.

G. G. MAXEY has just returned from his territory in Montana where he has been selling "My Four Years in Germany" with much success for "The Exhibitors' Film Exchange."

Salt Lake News and Views

MANAGER J. B. RODEN, of the Salt Lake office of the Fox Film Company, is persistently in Idaho these days. To the question, "What do you hear from him?" a member of his office force answered, "Just contracts."

CLAUDE A. GRAY, traveling representative of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, returned recently from a trip through the northern part of Utah, with a report of having booked the picture, "Italy's Flaming Front," in every town.

JOSEPH STOUT, former manager of the Triangle and World office in Salt Lake, now has the state rights for "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Utah and reports heavy bookings.

GUS HAGER, manager of the Salt Lake office of the Universal Company and W. E. Shiples, manager of the Empire theatre, went to Brigham City for Peach Day there. They got back.

MRS. M. B. LA GRAN, manager of the Photoplay theatre, is taking a vacation in California.

DETERMINED to have a peep behind the films, J. S. Barlow, manager of the Empress theatre at Magna and the Happy Hour theatre at Murray, has gone to Los Angeles with the declared intention of making the rounds of the moving picture studios.

HENRY JOHNSON has opened the Rex theatre in Logan again, after closing it for summer vacation and renovation.

JEAN GARBAZE, representative out of Denver of the General Film Company, is on a four-week-trip through Utah. He reports 100 per cent. bookings of his service in Salt Lake.

F. A. WAGNER, manager of the local office of the Pathe service, is living with his young son again. When at the tender age of two months the boy left his father, going with his mother to Mt. Pleasant, the two returning when the pride of the family had reached the mature age of five months. If Wagner is to be believed, the boy has exhibited such signs of development that it will be impossible to deny him a position with the firm as a salesman.

MOVING PICTURE managers from over the State who have been in Salt Lake contracting for services in the past few days include R. B. Graham, of Gingham; O. E. McIff, of Marysvale; E. G. Epperson, of Manti; J. H. Miller, of Heber; H. H. Jensen, of Hyrum; R. B. Thatcher, of Logan; R. E. Ryan, of Brigham City, and from Idaho, Mrs. J. W. Tanner, of Filer; G. Ridgeway, of Kimberly, and Herman J. Brown, of Boise.

SEE

THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

IN THIS ISSUE

Directory of Los Angeles Exchanges and Supply Houses

PAREX FILM CORP.
FURNISHING
WM. L. SHERRY SERVICE
SAN FRANCISCO — 180 Golden Gate Ave., C. I. LUNTZ, Mgr.
SEATTLE — 2022 Third Ave., L. A. TODD, Mgr.
LOS ANGELES—511 W. Eighth St., F. M. STEELE, Mgr.
WM. ALEXANDER, District Mgr. Headquarters—LOS ANGELES

LOUIS HYMAN
Manager
ALL STAR FEATURE DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.
514 West Eighth Street

J. SLIPPER & CO.
Projecting Machines
Simplex, Baird, Motiographs
Hertner Transverter
Theatre Equipment and Supplies
728 South Olive Street
Write for Catalog

The George Kleine System
Perfection Pictures
E. H. SILCOCKS
Branch Manager
209 Knickerbocker Building

AMERICAN FILM CO., INC.
William Russell Margarita Fisher
Mary Miles Minter Productions
C. J. CROWLEY, Representative
Distributed Through Pathe Exchange
732 So. Olive St.

UNIVERSAL FILM EXCHANGES, INC.
Successor to California Film Exchange
DAVID BERSHON, MANAGER
Distributors of Universal, Jewel and Lois Weber Productions, Blue Bird Photoplays, Century and Lyons & Moran Comedies
822 S. OLIVE ST.

H. F. CHARLES
District Manager
American Photo Player Co.
737 South Olive Street

VITAGRAPH
So. California and Arizona
W. H. HEPBURN
Branch Manager
Knickerbocker Building
643 South Olive Street

What Butte Is Doing

A. MALOTTE, the Fox representative, is in Butte, from his headquarters, in Seattle, looking after business with Montana patrons.

THE PEOPLE'S HIP has supplemented its vaudeville program by the addition of a feature "movie" at each performance, afternoon and evening. The Gaumont weekly is also being used at Bailey's playhouse.

PHIL LEVY of the Ansonia has booked "To Hell With the Kaiser" for his house for four days beginning Sept. 15.

THOUSANDS OF PIECES of cardboard in the shape of shapely "silk stockings" were used this week by Advertising Manager Raleigh of the American to announce to the Butte public the showing of "A Pair of Silk Stockings," with Constance Talmadge starring. The feature drew good business. As a special inducement for the girls to attend the management gave away a pair of silk stockings at each show.

WITH FATTY ARBUCKLE in "The Cook" and William Farnum in "Riders of the Purple Sage" the Rialto stood them out into the streets at the opening Sunday and good crowds were noted nightly during the showing of this big bill. The Allies' Official War Review rounded out a program that was honestly advertised as "a whopper."

D. E. SCHAYER, special representative of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, is in Butte from Salt Lake, closing up the local exchange of that firm. The furniture, fixtures, lithographs and other equipment used at the local office are being shipped to Salt Lake.

The Mountain-Plains Theatre Supply Co.
1514-18 Welton Street, Denver, Col.
106 So. 14th St., Omaha, Neb. 136 E. 2nd So. St., Salt Lake City, Utah
Distributors for Simplex and Powers Machines. Everything for the Motion Picture Theatre. Also distributors for latest in Reels and Film Shipping Cases.
Write for Catalogue

Around the Vitagraph Studios

DIRECTOR DAVID SMITH has Vitagraph's Bessie Love Company at Riverside for a week of picture making. The company is staying at what is ranked among one of the world's most wonderful hotels, that of the Mission Inn. The Bret Harte story which is being filmed by Director Smith is half way completed. It will be released in November under the title of "The Dawn of Understanding."

GRACE DARMOND, leading woman for Earle Williams in a number of recent Vitagraph Blue Ribbon features, was the honor-guest on Thursday afternoon, September 5, at the Kinema Theatre's Red Cross Tea Room. The Red Cross attendants in charge stated that the Tea Room had more visitors that afternoon than on any since the shop's opening. Thus was proven the popularity of Vitagraph's blonde leading woman.

HEDDA NOVA is enjoying a vacation up at Big Bear, where she has taken her Russian wolf hound and is awaiting a call from Studio Manager W. S. Smith of Vitagraph's Hollywood studio.

BLANCHE PAYSON, the beautiful giantess who appears in Lawrence Semon's Big V Special Comedies, has been sworn in as a deputy sheriff of Los Angeles and has her badge ready for display in any emergency. Larry Semon is completing his comedy "Fights and Frenzy" in record time. Miss Payson, who is six feet three, and blonde Madge Kirby are comprising the feminine element of the Semon's comedy company.

THAT a picture in which a German submarine, camouflaged though it may be, is a "joneh," is the firm belief of Joe Rock, Director R. H. McCray and Earle Montgomery, of the Montgomery & Rock Big V Comedy Company. Several weeks ago this troupe went to Catalina island to make a submarine picture. It is just now that this picture has reached completion and this against a variety of odds that would have made the experiences of the Biblical Jonah seem commonplace. Everything from a mere drowning to a real wreck happened to the troupe while at Catalina. At that, this Big V comedy troupe predicts the submarine comedy will be a "knock-out."

TONY MORENO dares anyone to suggest to him a stunt which he has not already done in "The Iron Test," the Vitagraph serial in which he and Carol Hollyway are to be featured. More than three-fourths of the picture has been completed to date and Tony has become quite used to going from one stunt-thrill to another. He has decided that he prefers serials to feature pictures, and says nothing would please him better than to go on making serials indefinitely.

Fight Winds Up Duncan Episode

WILLIAM DUNCAN finished the first episode of his new serial, "A Man of Might," with a fight with Joe Ryan. This resulted with Bill Duncan's leaving a trail of blood on the set as he crept out of the concluding scene on his hands and knees. It happened like this:

Bill had just finished a fight with a gang of bandits and had entered the house just in time to see the heavy Joe Ryan seize Bill's leading woman, Edith Johnson. A scuffle ensued between the two men. Joe Ryan drew his gun to make a quick turn on Duncan. The only point to which Duncan makes any objection is the fact that Joe's elbow came back about eighty times faster than expected, with the result that the Ryan elbow hit the Duncan nose so forcibly that Scottish blood—that of Duncan—spilled itself generously over Mr. Duncan's shirt and left its trail throughout the set.

"And thus ended the first episode!" was the benediction uttered by Mr. Duncan as he borrowed a third handkerchief from Cameraman Stephens Smith and ordered a new set-up for the afternoon.

"I think this is going to be a pretty good serial," commented Bill Duncan. "Whenever blood is spilled at the start of a serial, that always means it's going to be a corker. So also," he added, as he looked into somebody's make-up mirror, "is my nose. That certainly was a wallop Joe's elbow gave me and it's turning black and blue already. Well," he concluded, starting off for his dressing room, "just so I can cover it with make-up for work it's all right. I don't give a hang about how it will look for social appearances. I can always have a good time—even with a black and blue nose."

Duncan has managed to have Studio Manager W. S. Smith in the first episode of each of his Vitagraph serials. He is firmly convinced that the appearance of Mr. Smith in the first episode of each serial is a good luck omen. Therefore Mr. Smith could not avoid appearing in a Duncan serial no matter how much he side-stepped the performance of what, to him, has now become a duty.

"I had an awful time working a part in for him in this first episode," said Duncan, as Studio Manager Smith stood ready for his cue and the making of his first appearance in "The Man of Might" serial. "Then I decided to have a man injured and use Mr. Smith in the role of doctor, so there he is!"

And there he was, with a doctor's bag, the professional expression—meaning one of responsibility—and his son, David Smith, photographed him as he went through the several scenes, which to Bill Duncan insures the success of his newest Vitagraph serial.

Vitagraph Reception Keeps Them Talking

FOLKS in Los Angeles are still talking about the benefit reception and dance given recently at the dedication of a new light stage at the Vitagraph Hollywood studio. Margaret Whistler, in charge of property and wardrobe department, and Jack Duffy and Harry Russell, of the Vitagraph Technical Department, supervised the decorating of the big stage. Huge branches of the eucalyptus trees had been cut on the studio lot and these, covering the dressing room buildings and the exterior of the new stage, converted the place into a woodsy-looking location. Lights were strung from the main entrance of the studio back to the stage, and by way of emergency for an overflow attendance one of the other stages was put in readiness for dancing also. The proceeds of the evening were donated to the hospital fund of a Motion Picture War Service Association, and the sum realized was sufficient to bring to the Vitagraph Company a vote of official thanks from the director of the Service Association. Donations from the various members of the Vitagraph lot were many and made the occasion a most successful one.

William Duncan donated the music, Earle Williams the fruit punch, Antonio Moreno the cigars and cigarettes, Larry Semon the ice-cream, Montgomery and Rock the chewing gum, Grace Darmond and Nell Shipman cakes, and the extra people and workmen at the plant donated their services in decorating the big new stage and putting it in complete readiness for the arrival of the studio's guests, representative of all the studios in the California colony.

Directory of San Francisco Exchanges

TURNER and DAHNKEN
BRANCH OF
FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS' CIRCUIT, Inc.,
Music Rolls Exchanged—Supplies of All Kinds
131 Golden Gate Avenue San Francisco, California

CONSOLIDATED FILM CORPORATION
90 Golden Gate Avenue SAN FRANCISCO
2020 Third Auenue SEATTLE
DISTRIBUTING KATZENJAMMER AND HAPPY HOOLIGAN CARTOONS—DITMAR'S LIVING BOOK OF NATURE—BRUCE SCENICS—NEWMAN TRAVELS—GAUMONT NEWS AND GRAPHIC AND LITERARY DIGEST (SEATTLE ONLY)

KALE-ALTA SLIDE CO.
B. O. YOUNGMAN
24 Hour Slide Service
The Quality is the best
Latest Song Slides for Community Singing. Best Patriotic and Stock Slides on the Coast
1028 Market St., San Francisco

PERFECTION PICTURES
Distributed Through
The George Kleine System
M. J. COHEN
Branch Manager
183 Golden Gate Avenue

M AND R
SOMETHING NEW COMING
730 So. Olive St. Los Angeles
107 Golden Gate Ave. San Francisco

BRECK PHOTOPLAY SUPPLY COMPANY
DISTRIBUTORS OF
Simplex Projectors
Theatre Equipment and Supplies
NATIONAL CARBONS
98 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco

M. H. LEWIS
Branch Manager
PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT

Boost
for the Liberty Loan
and War Savings
Stamps

UNITED STATES OFFICIAL WAR FILMS

Presented by

THE DIVISION OF FILMS
Committee on Public Information

Geo. Creel, Chairman — Chas. S. Hart, Director

Released in California by

SOL. L. LESSER

Chairman Division United States Official War Films
State Council for Defense for California

191 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco
514 West Eighth Street, Los Angeles

NOW BOOKING

"AMERICA'S ANSWER"

EIGHT REELS

A masterpiece of living action of what has been done in France by our boys and the United States Government

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS"

SEVEN REELS

Khaki-clad millions of Americans sweeping on to meet the foe

"OUR BRIDGE OF SHIPS"

TWO REELS

Visualizing the tremendous energy of America aroused to defeat the U-boat menace

"OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW"

ONE REEL

AUTHENTIC ACTION IN THE WAR ZONE

From the Governments of the United States, France, Great Britain and Italy. Released every week

Photographed by the United States Signal Corps, A. E. F.

Simplex

The advantage is not always with the "big fellows"

In some lines of business the "little fellow" is up against it because his larger competitors have so many advantages, in purchasing power, lower prices, influence, etc., etc.

AN EXCEPTION

The Motion Picture Business is a refreshing exception to this in the most important commodity it produces and sells—PROJECTION.

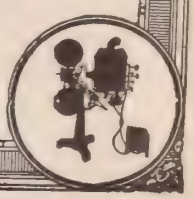
A TRUTH

True, the biggest and finest Houses in the country have the highest quality Projection obtainable; but exactly the same high quality of Projection is within the reach of any of the smaller Houses.

A REASON

You see, the large Houses must use Simplex Projection to have the best; and Simplex Projection is Simplex Projection no matter where you find it.

It is just as steady and clear-cut and lifelike and eye-soothing when enjoyed from a wood seat as when viewed from a seat upholstered in real leather.



A CONCLUSION

So the "big fellows" have nothing on you in this respect. You are able to buy the Machines they use and therefore can equal the Projection of the biggest and best of them—by getting the Simplex kind.

It's how you project what you project; that's what determines your success.

THE PRECISION MACHINE CO. INC.
317 East 34th St. New York

"FOR HUSBANDS ONLY"

"The Whole Family Will Love It"

featuring

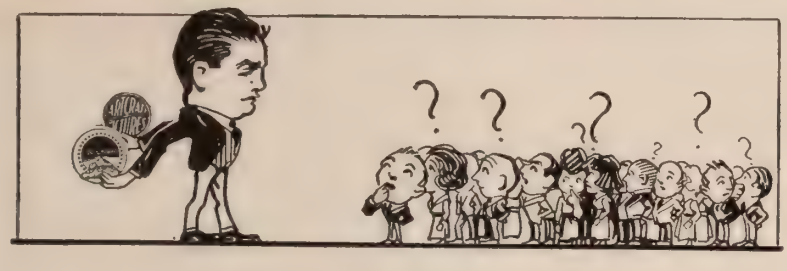
MILDRED HARRIS

The appealing heroine of the great Jewel Successes "The Price of a Good Time" and "The Doctor and the Woman" in the newest

Lois Weber Production

Book thru your nearest Jewel Exchange

Jewel Productions



1600 Broadway New York City

OCTOBER 5, 1918

Motion Picture News

Reg. in U. S. Patent Office

DOMINATES THE FIELD

Don't Make Them Guess!

Life's too short to play grab-bag. Stick those trade-marks out to tell them you're showing

Paramount and Artcraft Pictures

(NATIONALLY ADVERTISED)

Then your patrons will know that they're putting their money on a sure thing.

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Vice Pres. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General
NEW YORK

L. XVIII-NO. 14 Entered as Second Class Matter, October 15, 1913, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3rd 1879 PRICE 15 CENTS

Chicago — 729 Seventh Avenue, New York — Los Angeles

The Brilliant Favorite

Fritzi Brunette

and big cast in one of the most gripping box office attractions of the season

"The Velvet Hand"

Book thru your nearest Bluebird Exchange

BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

1600 B'way. N.Y.

Paramount and Artcraft Pictures

ARE NATIONALLY ADVERTISED—IN THE NEWSPAPERS

IN THE MAGAZINES AND ON THE BILLBOARDS

NATIONAL advertising turns the glare of the spotlight on the product advertised, and on the place where that product can be obtained.

It makes the nation's millions want that product, persuades them to test it.

Advertising, therefore, shows up the bad points as well as the good ones.

Only a commodity that can stand every test, can afford to advertise nationally, for advertising forces the nation to make a decision as to whether the commodity is good or bad.

Advertising is the death of bad products. It is the life of good ones.

The National Advertising of Paramount and Artcraft Pictures has been a tremendous aid to America's exhibitors.

It is significant that the productions of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation are the only motion pictures that the nation has been urged to test.

Paramount

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

ADOLPH ZUKOR, President JESSE L. LASKY, Vice-President CYRUS E. WOODS, Treasurer

NEW YORK

ARTCRAFT PICTURES

Invest your profits in W. S. S.

A NEW ERA IN VITAGRAPH

BLUE RIBBON FEATURES AND SERVICE

GLADYS LESLIE STAR SERIES

October 7, 1918—"The Mating," to be followed by eight other Gladys Leslie Features on these dates:

November 18, 1918	May 5, 1919
December 30, 1918	June 16, 1919
February 10, 1919	July 21, 1919
March 24, 1919	August 18, 1919

Every foot of Liberty Loan Film that you show in your theatre brings the Liberty Boys of 1918 a foot nearer Berlin.

Albert E. Smith Presents

GLADYS LESLIE

in The First of Her Nine Star Series Releases

"THE MATING"

A FIVE PART BLUE RIBBON FEATURE

Written by MILLICENT EVISON

Directed by FREDERIC THOMSON

Here is a real Happy Picture, with little golden-haired Gladys Leslie in a "little mother" role which will draw the sympathy of your audiences at the outset.

And the sunlight and shadow of this clever comedy-drama set off as never before the delightful whimsies of this daintiest of stars.

Supporting Miss Leslie is a strong and excellently selected cast, including Herbert Rawlinson, who commands a large following as an individual favorite, and other Vitagraph notables.

VITAGRAPH

Following the Meteoric Success of "The Fighting Trail," "Vengeance and the Woman," "The Woman in the Web" and "A Fight For Millions."

VITAGRAPH

Whose Serials Have Made Box-Office History

Presents

"THE IRON TEST"

Featuring

ANTONIO MORENO and CAROL HOLLOWAY

BUY W.S.S.

In 15 Episodes

Speed—thrills—death-defying stunts! A hand-to-hand struggle in the cockpit of a speeding airplane, thousands of feet in the air—leaps for life and battles with Death—fights—countless contests of brain and brawn. And through it all a delightful story of a true and abiding love, and the stealthy, fascinating figure of Evil—the mysterious Red Mask! These are never-failing thrills for your patrons, to keep them coming back again and again.

VITAGRAPH

ALBERT E. SMITH
President

This 24-sheet stand which will be posted in all the important centers of the United States and Canada will be one of the countless aids to get you the business on

VITAGRAPH'S Latest and Greatest Photoplay Serial "THE IRON TEST"

by ALBERT E. SMITH and CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Featuring

ANTONIO MORENO and CAROL HOLLOWAY

Directed by Paul Hurst

Run a Liberty Loan Film Every Day

You know Vitagraph Serials by this time. You know their box-office power. You saw "The Fighting Trail," "Vengeance—and the Woman" and "The Woman in the Web" CLEAN UP all over the country, and now William Duncan in "A Fight For Millions" is smashing their records everywhere.

Book "The Iron Test" NOW—then get ready to take care of FIFTEEN WEEKS of capacity business.

VITAGRAPH ALBERT E. SMITH President

They've Gone Over Big!

"MISFITS AND MATRIMONY"
featuring Montgomery and Rock, released
September 16, has proved the Laugh-Power of Vitagraph's New

TWO REEL "BIG V" SPECIAL COMEDIES

W.S.S. WAR SAVINGS STAMPS ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

W.S.S. WAR SAVINGS STAMPS ISSUED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

And the following will intensify their success:

Sept. 23—"Huns and Hyphens", featuring Larry Semon
Sept. 30—"Roofs and Riots", featuring Montgomery and Rock
Oct. 7—"Bears and Bad Men", featuring Larry Semon

AND ONE TWO-REELER EACH WEEK OF THE YEAR TO BRING MORE JOY TO YOUR PATRONS AND MORE BUSINESS TO YOU

VITAGRAPH

ALBERT E. SMITH
President

"We Will Try to Accommodate Them All"

IN spite of the fact that the thermometer registered 90 in the shade, "Over the Top" was witnessed by about 10,000 enthusiastic spectators on Sunday, its opening day, and the general expression of approval stamps this attraction as a genuine patriotic picture. We expect about 50,000 people will attempt to see "Over the Top" in the next three days, and we will try to accomodate them all. More pictures such as "Over the Top" will elevate the industry. Congratulations.

A. Karzas, WOODLAWN THEATRE. Chicago, Ill.

The Unity of a Nation is once more reflected in the record crowds that are everywhere taxing the capacity of theatres to see

The Greatest Box Office Feature Ever Produced

"OVER THE TOP"

With
Sergt. Arthur Guy
EMPEY (Himself)

(Now in the ranks—in the Tank Corps)

Supported by Lois Meredith and James Morrison

A Marvelous Photo Play of Empey's World-Famous Book

Directed by Wilfrid North

Under the personal supervision of ALBERT E. SMITH

IT'S HARD ON THE THEATRE EMPLOYEES!

We ran continuous, matinee and evening, on "Over the Top," and the house was packed the three days. On Thursday, the big day of the week, we opened at 2 o'clock and ran until 12.30 without stopping—the operator, piano player, drummer and ticket seller never leaving the theatre to take time to eat.

R. J. Relf, STAR THEATRE, Decorah, Ia.

Prove Your Patriotism by Running Liberty Loan Films Every Day

VITAGRAPH Albert E. Smith President

Joseph M. Schenck-presents

NORMA TALMADGE

NEVER before has any one star succeeded in making a series of pictures so universally popular and so widely successful as has been the First Series of Select Pictures in which Norma Talmadge has been starred. The value of this series to a theatre which has not already played these pictures can hardly be overestimated. Norma Talmadge is acclaimed by critics everywhere, and everyone wants to see her.

"THE MOTH"

"'The Moth' is an intense story of high society life, one that holds undivided attention through its multitude of surprising situations and its many clever character studies."
—New York Telegraph.

"SECRET OF THE STORM COUNTRY"

(A Sequel to "TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY")

"In it Norma Talmadge is at her impulsive, wistful-eyed, tempestuous affectionate best; and Norma at her best would make any picture."
—Mae Tinnee in Chicago Tribune.

"GHOSTS OF YESTERDAY"

"This will stand as the daddy of them all. There is not a man, woman or child who can leave a theatre where 'Ghosts of Yesterday' has been shown and refer to one shortcoming."
—Motion Picture News.

"BY RIGHT OF PURCHASE"

"The star distinguishes the picture by her radiant personality and clever acting, which is better even than in her past few productions."
—Exhibitor's Trade Review.

"DE LUXE ANNIE"

"Norma Talmadge is at her best as 'De Luxe Annie the second.' Her piquant beauty is more noticeable than ever, though she sacrifices it dauntlessly."
—Exhibitor's Trade Review.

"THE SAFETY CURTAIN"

"Norma Talmadge brings to this role all those varied capabilities for which she has justly gained fame as one of the greatest, if not the greatest of emotional actresses on the screen."
—Motion Picture News.

"HER ONLY WAY"

"This is the story that men will like and women will praise to the skies. Norma Talmadge is at her best, and her support is perfect."
—Exhibitor's Herald.

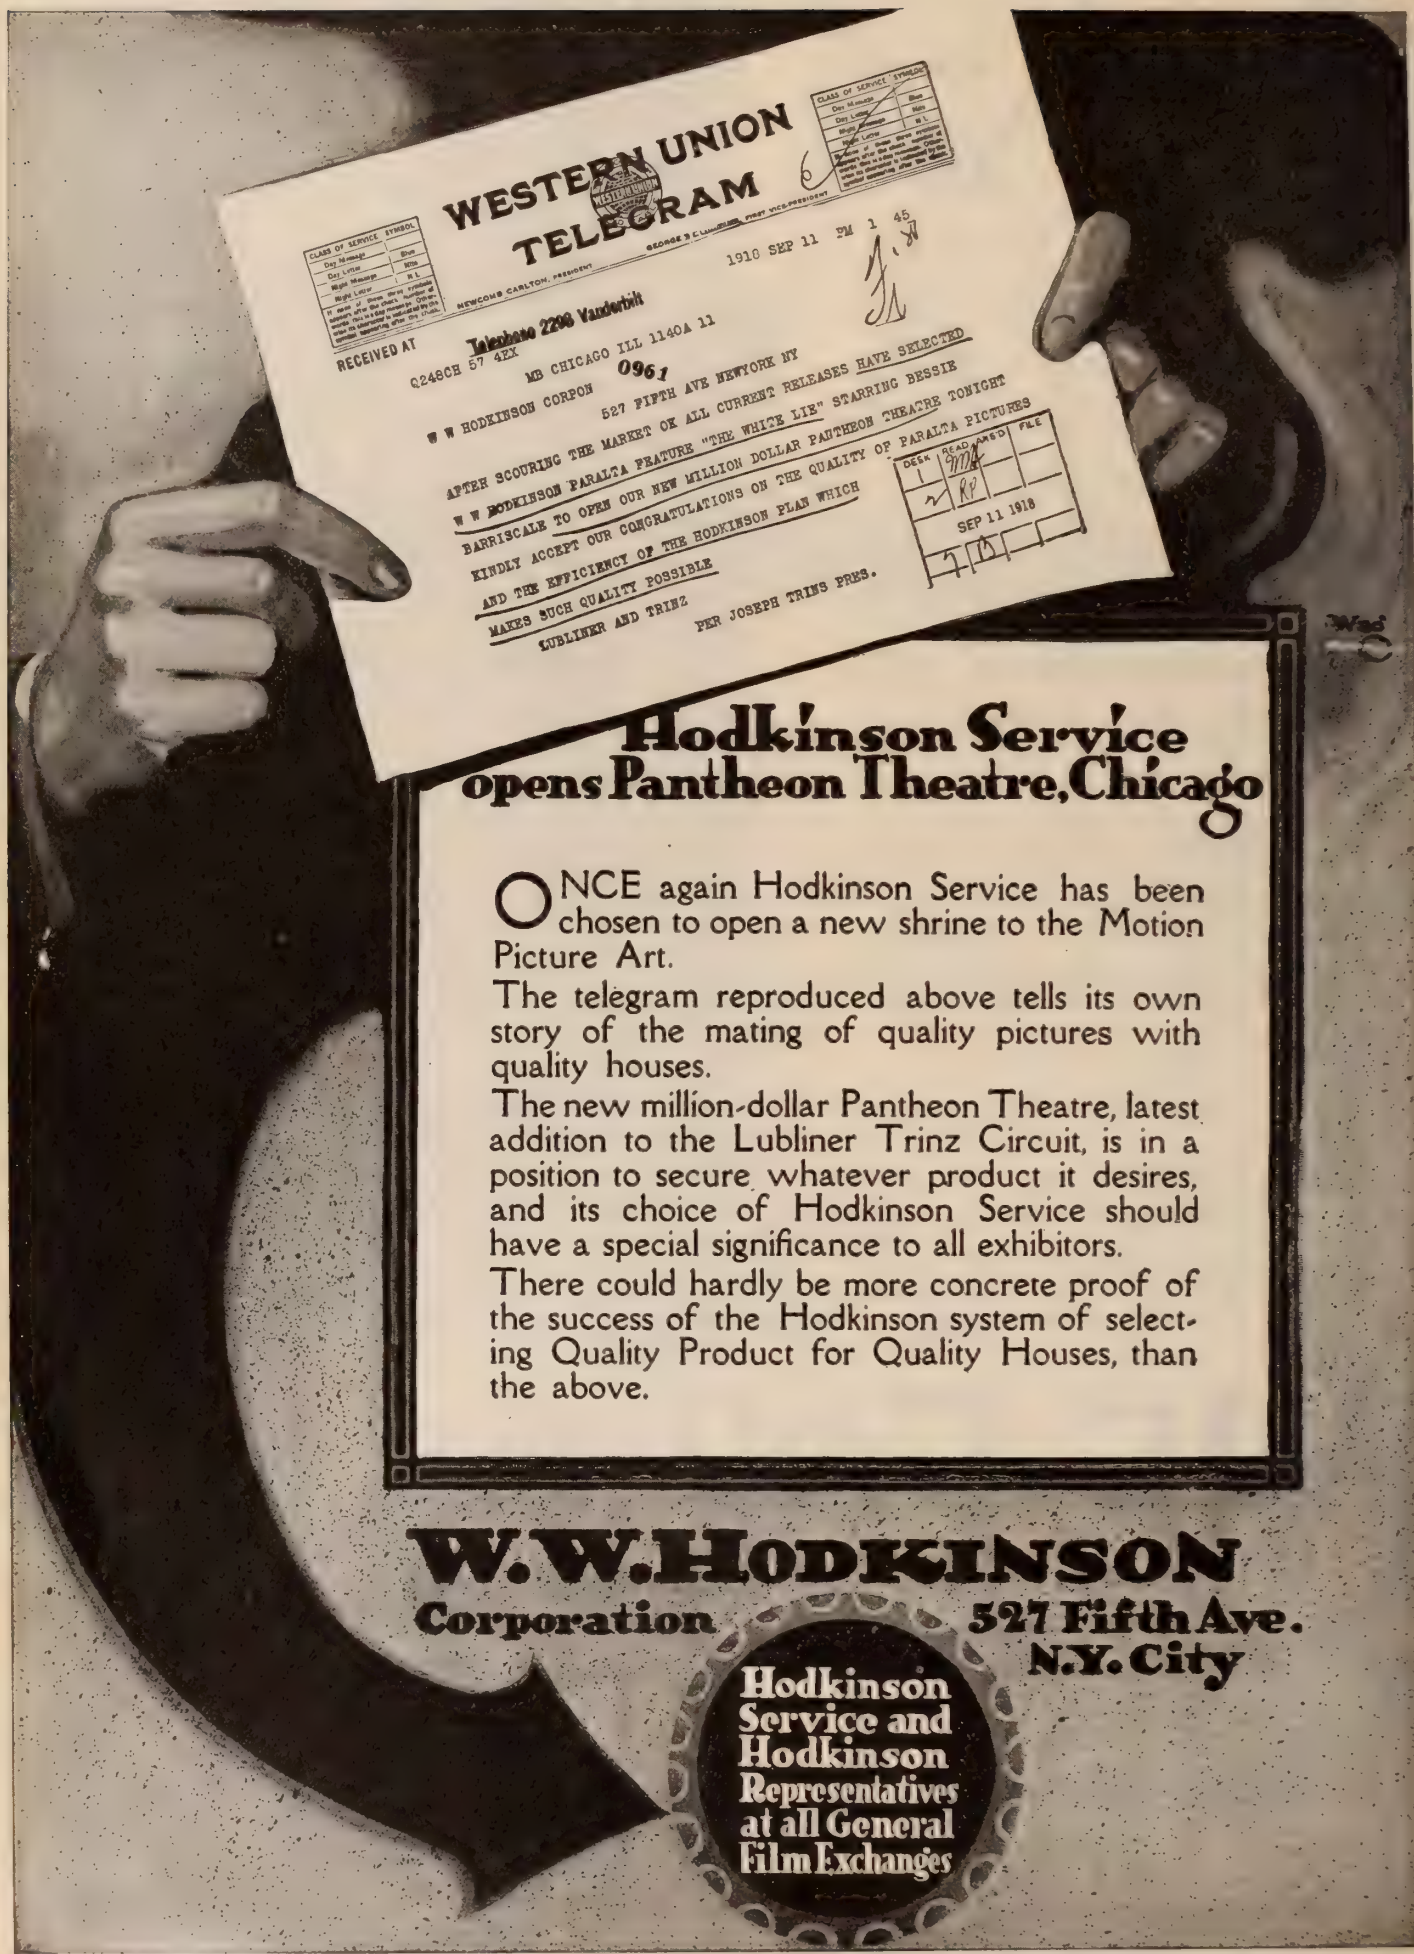
SELECT SP PICTURES

YOU as a buyer of pictures, know what a new Norma Talmadge production means to your theatre. If you are so lucky as to hold one of the Select contracts which brings "The Forbidden City" to your screen you have extra cause to be glad — for this is Norma Talmadge's finest photoplay, the top achievement of her busy young life. You can make good with this picture —make friends with it! Tell your patrons about it! Give it the superb presentation it deserves!



"The Forbidden City" is the first of Norma Talmadge's Second Select Series

THE FORBIDEN CITY"

Story by George Scarborough

Scenario by Mary Murillo

WESTERN UNION
TELEGRAM
NEWCOMB CARLTON, PRESIDENT
GEORGE W. E. ATKINS, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT RECEIVED AT
Telephone 2290 Vanderbilt
1918 SEP 11 PM 1 45
Q246CH 57 4EX
MB CHICAGO ILL 1140A 11
W W HODKINSON CORPON
0961
527 FIFTH AVE NEWYORK NY
AFTER SCOURING THE MARKET OF ALL CURRENT RELEASES HAVE SELECTED
W W HODKINSON PARALTA FEATURE "THE WHITE LIE" STARRING BESSIE
BARRISCALE TO OPEN OUR NEW MILLION DOLLAR PANTHEON THEATRE TONIGHT
KINDLY ACCEPT OUR CONGRATULATIONS ON THE QUALITY OF PARALTA PICTURES AND THE EFFICIENCY OF THE HODKINSON PLAN WHICH MAKES SUCH QUALITY POSSIBLE
LUBLINER AND TRINZ
PER JOSEPH TRINS PRES.
DESK
READ
FILE
SEP 11 1918
Hodkinson Service
opens Pantheon Theatre, Chicago
ONCE again Hodkinson Service has been chosen to open a new shrine to the Motion Picture Art.
The telegram reproduced above tells its own story of the mating of quality pictures with quality houses.
The new million-dollar Pantheon Theatre, latest addition to the Lubliner Trinz Circuit, is in a position to secure whatever product it desires, and its choice of Hodkinson Service should have a special significance to all exhibitors.
There could hardly be more concrete proof of the success of the Hodkinson system of selecting Quality Product for Quality Houses, than the above.
W. W. HODKINSON
Corporation
527 Fifth Ave.
N.Y. City
Hodkinson Service and Hodkinson Representatives at all General Film Exchanges

Goldwyn Pictures

Five Tremendous Hits in a Row Insure This as "A Goldwyn Year."

FROM Jacob Lourie's Modern-Beacon theatres, Boston, to J. J. Parker's Majestic, Portland, Ore.—and at all in-between points—Geraldine Farrar in "The Turn of the Wheel" has registered the biggest success of her screen career and packed theatres to capacity.

From Keith's, Portland, Me., to E. H. Hulsey's Old Mill, Dallas, Mabel Normand in "Peck's Bad Girl" has been acclaimed once more in the type of Mabel Normand stories that millions know and love best. Result: Crowded houses.

From the Finkelstein & Ruben New Garrick, Minneapolis, to the Farley Majestic, Montgomery, Ala., Tom Moore in "Just for Tonight" has strengthened the exhibitors' faith in a personality they themselves discovered. Big business everywhere.

From Jones, Linick & Schaefer's Orpheum, Chicago, to M. L. Markowitz' Strand, San Francisco and to Chas. H. Williams' Strand, Providence, Madge Kennedy in "The Kingdom of Youth," has scored the biggest hit of her screen career in her best picture.

This week from from S. L. Rothapfel's Rivoli to Emil Kehrlein's Kinema, Los Angeles, Rex Beach's "Laughing Bill Hyde" with Will Rogers is beginning a career that, we believe, will stamp it as the most successful of all the Beach pictures.

Goldwyn promised exhibitors everywhere "a Goldwyn Year" of successes. These are but five out of a total of fifty equally successful productions offered you under the Goldwyn Star Series sales policy.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President EDGAR SELWYN, Vice President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

Goldwyn Pictures

Mabel Normand Sweeps the Nation

Scores Her Biggest Success in Goldwyn's PECK'S BAD GIRL

AMERICA'S exhibitors were RIGHT when they demanded that Goldwyn return Mabel Normand to broad comedy. By heeding the shrewd and well-informed advice of the country's theatre-owners—who have the opportunity to gauge popular tastes from their own patrons—the screen's greatest comedienne now has the most popular and successful story and production of her entire career.

MABEL NORMAND in Peck's Bad Girl

By Tex Charwate Directed by Charles Giblyn

playing simultaneously in the largest cities of America has set the new standard of her coming Goldwyn Star Series Productions, assuring exhibitors of a year of even greater successes with this nationally-loved favorite.

Goldwyn Pictures

DESERVED PRAISE of CRITICS EXHIBITORS and TRADE PRESS

MOVING PICTURE WORLD: Edward Weitzel—"Peck's Bad Girl" is worth a dozen sad dramas of the screen. Mabel Normand will delight her many admirers.... The laughs begin early and last to the end.

VARIETY—Mabel Normand, one of the greatest of all comediennes, has a capital picture in "Peck's Bad Girl."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE: Mae Tinee—This is the Mabel Normand that millions like best. Take my tip and go see "Peck's Bad Girl." Everybody is going to like it.

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE—Popular Mabel Normand has the big hit of her career this week at the Strand. She has no rival in stories like "Peck's Bad Girl."

H. C. HORATER, Alhambra, Toledo—Keep Mabel Normand in pictures like "Peck's Bad Girl." It will break this year's attendance records for me.

JACOB LOURIE, Modern-Beacon, Boston—Goldwyn has found the real Mabel Normand. "Peck's Bad Girl" went over big in my two houses.

BERNARD DEPKIN, Parkway, Baltimore—Better than any picture Mabel Normand has ever made before. A big success.

MINNEAPOLIS DAILY NEWS—Mabel Normand is superb in "Peck's Bad Girl" at the Liberty. A deserved hit.

HARRY M. CRANDALL, Washington—"Peck's Bad Girl" has done a splendid business for me. Big hit with my audiences.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS: Peter Milne—Mabel Normand has never had a feature comedy that could compare with "Peck's Bad Girl."..... She returns to the comedy in which she first gained her fame.

G. W. CURTISS, Doric, Kansas City—Despite rainy weather and strong competition "Peck's Bad Girl" did a wonderful business. Am overjoyed at results.

JOSEPH GROSSMAN, Standard, Cleveland—The best thing Mabel Normand has ever done. "Peck's Bad Girl" has meant a week's big business for me.

S. L. BAXTER, Isis, Denver—Splendid business on "Peck's Bad Girl." I am quite pleased with its success.

THE MORNING TELEGRAPH: Frances Agnew—It's true! Mabel Normand is back at her old tricks.... the Mabel Normand of earlier screen history with all of her cunning mannerisms and quick comedy movements.

EXHIBITORS' TRADE REVIEW: Russell E. Ball—Far ahead of anything Mabel Normand has done.

DRAMATIC MIRROR REPORTS—East: Good. Very fine drawing card. South: Good. Picture just fits Mabel Normand. A hit.

CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL TRIBUNE—Mabel Normand's return to the screen in broad comedy was hailed with delight by her thousands of admirers here who saw "Peck's Bad Girl" at the Gifts Theatre.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President EDGAR SELWYN, Vice President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

REX BEACH PICTURES

Premiere American Release at S.L. Rothapfel's

RIVOLI

Week Beginning September 22nd.

What the National Board of Review enthusiastically terms "one of the most powerful and appealing pictures we have ever seen and the most unusual Beach picture ever made."

REX BEACH'S

Human Drama of Redemption—

Laughing Bill Hyde

with WILL ROGERS

Directed by Hobart Henley

Mr. Rothapfel, a daring pioneer in brainy and imaginative showmanship and an inspiration to all producers committed to the policy of "better pictures," has booked Goldwyn's entire series of Rex Beach productions for the Rivoli. He says:

"The humanness of 'Laughing Bill Hyde' makes it rank as one of the successful productions of the year . . . . a story and production of which Mr. Beach and Goldwyn can both be proud."

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

CAPITOL COMEDIES

Scenes from "BILL CAMPS OUT"

Twelve Short Comedies Have Made Him A Nation-wide Favorite.

THAT is the really remarkable thing about the tremendous success that has been scored in the brief period of five months by

"SMILING BILL" PARSONS

in CAPITOL COMEDIES

26 a Year Every Second Monday

He has accomplished in 150 days what other comedians have failed to do in years on the screen. He was instantly liked. Exhibitors said "Here's a good bet." The public welcomed him. 2,500 theatres now feature him. These are the reasons for his popularity.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

You Can Have An Entire City or Town Flocking To Your Theatre

To see a tremendous patriotic melodrama depicting the ousting of the Hun from Siberia.

To see the first Chinese star of the screen—Lady Tsen Mei.

To see the United States, Japan and China, as Allies, battling for Civilization.

Hundreds of theatres without even seeing, but realizing the tremendous box-office drawing value of the

Betzwood Film Company's thrilling and historic drama

FOR THE FREEDOM of the EAST

With LADY TSEN MEI

The Screen's only Chinese Star
Directed by IRA M. LOWRY have booked and demanded immediate playing dates for a production that is the first big independent attraction of the 1918 Fall season.

The 5,000 exhibitors who played the other great Ira M. Lowry production, "For the Freedom of the World," at a big profit represent the largest group of exhibitors ever before interested in an unseen and as yet unreleased production.

Every element of popular appeal that can be packed into one story has been skilfully woven into "For the Freedom of the East." The exhibitor who fails to book this production through his nearest Goldwyn exchange will have the remainder of the year in which to regret an overlooked box-office winner.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

SCREEN TELEGRAM

The news reel is today the most essential expression of the motion picture, essential to the public and essential to the exhibitor. There are cheaper news reels than the SCREEN TELEGRAM but the bookings at the high class theatres may be taken to indicate that there is no better one.

DISTRIBUTED BY THE MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

JAMES M. SHELDON, President

HARRY GARSON
Presents
BLANCHE SWEET
In A Story that is Different from All Other Stories
THE HUSHED HOUR
And A Cast that is Different from All Other Casts Including
MILTON SILLS · · ROSEMARY THEBY WILFRED LUCAS
HARRY NORTHRUP MARY ANDERSON WYNDAM STANDING
EDWARD MKIMBALL GLORIA HOPE LYDIA KNOTT

Now Ready for Release

Aeolian Hall

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

says: "'THE UNPARDONABLE SIN' is a very, very strong story. It teaches just the lesson our people should know. I am mighty glad Major Hughes wrote it."

HARRY GARSON

is sparing no pains nor expense to make "THE UNPARDONABLE SIN" the greatest screen production of the present day—a picturization of the sensational facts that sooner or later must be brought home to our people.

BLANCHE SWEET

is pouring her heart and soul into "THE UNPARDONABLE SIN," fully conscious of the vast importance of faithfully portraying to the American public the astounding lesson Major Hughes has penned only too well.

MARSHALL NEILAN

is giving his entire time and undivided attention to the direction of "THE UNPARDONABLE SIN," and no detail known to this wizard of the screen is being left undone to make this the pre-eminent production of this eminent director.

HARRY GARSON
Presents
BLANCHE SWEET
In the Most Widely Discussed, and Best Advertised Story of the Day
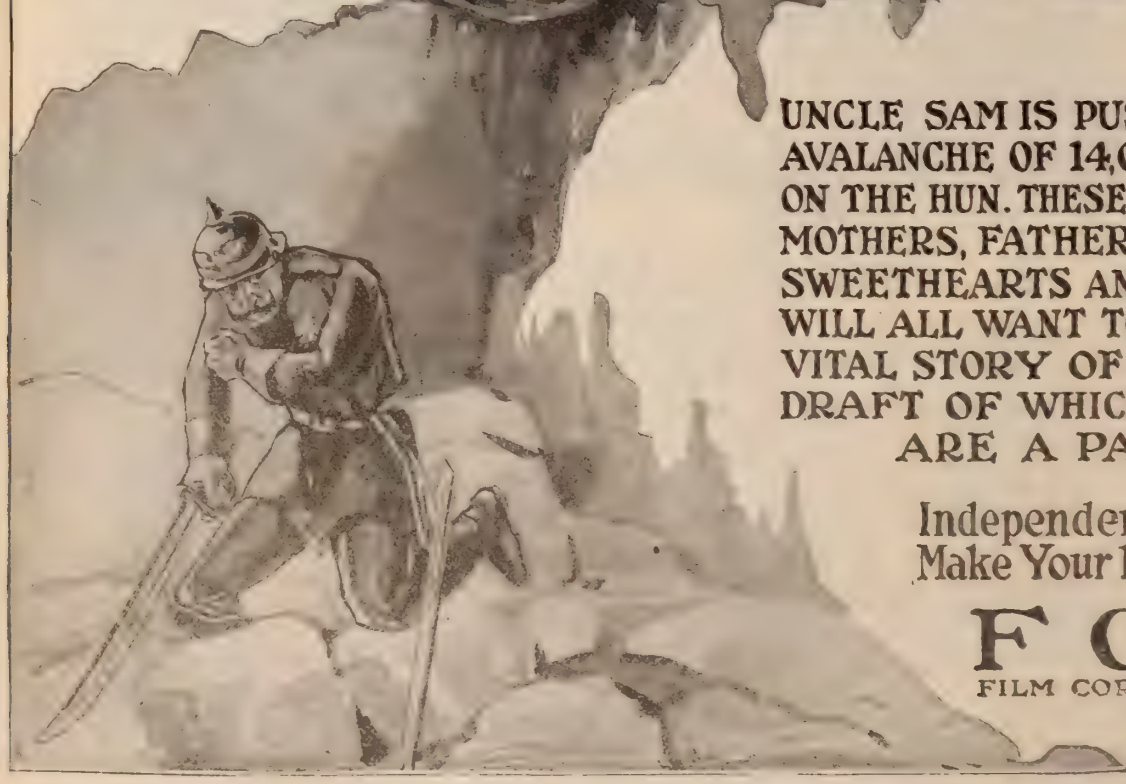
THE UNPARDONABLE SIN
by RUPERT HUGHES
Directed in Person by
MARSHALL NEILAN

New York

Ready for Release by Oct. 15



GOING OVER

WILLIAM FOX
Presents

18 TO 45

MADE BY
R.A.WALSH

UNCLE SAM IS PUSHING THIS AVALANCHE OF 14,000,000 MEN ON THE HUN. THESE MEN, THEIR MOTHERS, FATHERS, SISTERS, SWEETHEARTS AND FRIENDS, WILL ALL WANT TO SEE THIS VITAL STORY OF THE NEW DRAFT OF WHICH WE ALL ARE A PART.

Independent Release
Make Your Booking Now!

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

THE GRIPPING STORY OF AN ARTIST'S MODEL WHO CAME TO FEAR HER OWN BEAUTY AS SHE FEARED HER TITLED HUSBAND

WILLIAM FOX
PRESENTS

EVELYN NESBIT

AND HER SON RUSSELL THAW
IN

The WOMAN WHO GAVE

STAGED BY KENEAN BUEL

BOOK STANDARD PICTURES NOW!

AND GET THIS TREMENDOUS WINNER

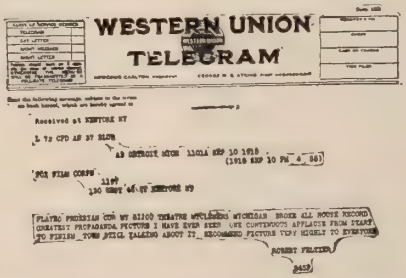
FOX
FILM CORPORATION



The biggest American in the world today is

General John J. Pershing

Newspapers are devoting thousands of columns a day to stories of his military achievements! Mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, sweethearts—all are carefully scanning every line of news from the front! Pershing is the national hero and a Pershing picture is the biggest asset any exhibitor in America can have today. Here's the proof:

WESTERN UNION
TELEGRAM

Received at KENYON NY

L 72 CPD AS NY BLUE

AS DETROIT MICH 11CDA SEP 10 1918
(1918 SEP 10 PM 6 58)

FOX FILM CORP

110P
130 WEST 46 ST NEWYORK NY

PLAYED PERSHIAN CUR NY 61100 THEATRE NYCLUDING MICHIGAN BROKE ALL BOOOK RECORD GREATEST PROPAGANDA PICTURE I HAVE EVER SEEN ONE CONTINUOUS APPLAUSE FROM START TO FINISH TOMB JESUS TALKING ABOUT IT RECOMMEND PICTURE TOO HIGHLY TO EVERYONE

ROBERT FELTZER

Why America Will Win

Directed by RICHARD STANTON

is cleaning up from coast to coast! It's the intimate life story of a man whose career has been crowded with thrills and dangers! Advertise it as a PERSHING picture and chains won't be strong enough to keep the crowds in line!

Booked Independently.

Now! Now! Now!

IT IS THE ONE BEST BET. It is strong and should prove a big drawing card.
—MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Cleverly devised—exhibitors should be measureably enriched. "The Prussian Cur" should make a lot of money for all concerned.
—MOVING PICTURE WORLD.

Its success is assured.
—EXHIBITORS' TRADE REVIEW.

THE PRUSSIAN CUR

is the biggest thing ever attempted by WILLIAM FOX or achieved in motion pictures! An exposé, thrilling and truthful, of Hun plotting in America—the outstanding triumph in war films!

Directed by R. A. WALSH

BOOKED SEPARATELY

You can get it now—
if you hurry!

FOX

FILM CORPORATION

William Fox is now offering the most amazing, most fascinating, most unusual photoplay of present times—a striking morality picture that dissects marriage, laying bare the pitfalls, snares, selfishness, cruelty and heartlessness that often characterize wedlock—a pitiless exposé that will make many husbands squirm and cause wives to see life in a new light!

William Fox presents

the sensation of the season

"Why I Would Not Marry"

Directed by RICHARD STANTON

a tense, gripping, overwhelming tale of a beautiful young woman, besieged by suitors, who refuses them all because by occult aid there is pictured to her the life she would lead as the companion of each—the picture of her sacrifice on the altar of Mammon!

INDIVIDUAL BOOKINGS

INVESTIGATE NOW
AND AVOID REGRETS!

BEVIES OF NYMPHS
SHAPELY MERMAIDS
SUBMARINE MARVELS
SHIPWRECK IN MID-OCEAN
BATTLE BENEATH THE WAVES
MARVELOUS 85-FOOT DIVE
FIFTY BREATH-TAKING THRILLS

These are a few of the reasons why progressive exhibitors everywhere are booking the WILLIAM FOX sub-sea phantasy

Queen of the Sea

But the best reason of all is because its star is America's greatest swimmer who stands supreme in physical development—the envy and pride of her sex and one of the most widely advertised women on earth—

Annette Kellerman

Released recently, every print of "Queen of the Sea" has been working continuously ever since. Thousands have seen the picture; millions will see it! Are you going to profit?

AN INDEPENDENT RELEASE.

MAKE YOUR BOOKING TODAY!

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

SECRET SERVICE REPORTS PROVE ACCURACY OF "KULTUR" PLOT

to complete the evidence the circulars are themselves penciled with the cipher signature of the head of the German secret service bureau.

Would Destroy Documents.

These two circulars apparently had been obtained by some Russian agent in Germany and transmitted to Russia. The German General Staff evidently wished to get them back in order to destroy them. By the order of the German General Staff and with the "consent" of Lenine and Trotzky they are turned over to the Germans to be destroyed. Why? Because they are conclusive proof that on June 9, 1914, the German Government was preparing for war, several weeks before the assassination of the Austrian Archduke, which was made the pretext for war.

One circular is an order from the German General Staff, dated June 9, 1914, informing "all industrial concerns" in Germany to open the sealed envelopes containing their "industrial mobilization plans and registration forms," so that they might be prepared for the war for which the excuse had not yet been found.

Mobilization Ordered.

The second circular is an order from the German General Staff of the High... dated Nov. 29, 191...

(1. Gr. General Staff, Central Abtheilung, Section M, No. ——, Berlin.

Circular of June 9, 1914.

Bezirkscommendanten:

Within twenty-four hours of the receipt of this circular you are to inform all industriel concerns by wire that the documents, with industria mobilization plans and with registration forms, be open, such as are referred to in the circular of the commission of Count von Waldersee and aprivi of June 27, 1887.

...bilization section

PROFIT BY THE NEWS OF THE HOUR

WILLIAM FOX
PRESENTS

GLADYS BROCKWELL

IN HER MIGHTIEST DRAMA—A STARTLING, AUTHENTIC STORY OF HUN PLOTTING, THE BEGINNINGS OF THE GREAT WAR AND THE PRIVATE INTRIGUES OF AUSTRIA'S MONARCH

KULTUR

DIRECTED BY EDWARD J. LE SAINT

IT SHOWS HOW GERMANY COMBED THE WORLD FOR AN EXCUSE FOR WAR

BOOK VICTORY PICTURES NOW AND GET THIS THRILLER

FOX FILM CORPORATION

VICTORY PICTURES

FOX FILM CORPORATION

AW! LET 'EM SMILE!

YOUR PATRONS DON'T WANT TO WEEP ALL THE TIME. THEY NEED AN OCCASIONAL BIG, PUNCHY, HIGH GRADE COMEDY.

WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS IT

JANE and KATHERINE LEE

SUPPORTED BY AN ADULT CAST

IN

SWAT THE SPY

STAGED BY A.E. GILLSTROM, NATIONALLY KNOWN EXPERT IN COMEDY DIRECTION

YOU CAN GET IT BY BOOKING EXCEL PICTURES

FOX

FILM CORPORATION

BETTER THAN A VAUDEVILLE ACT

BOOK CAPTAIN BUD FISHER'S

MUTT AND JEFF

THE BEST THING THEY'VE PULLED YET IS

BULLING THE BOLSHEVIKI

WHEN YOU'VE RUN THAT YOU'LL WIRE FOR
"OUR FOUR DAYS IN GERMANY"
"THE SIDE SHOW"
AND ALL THE REST

FOR A LONGER LAUGH, BOOK

HENRY LEHRMAN'S

SUNSHINE COMEDIES

SOME OF THEM:

"ROARING LIONS ON THE MIDNIGHT EXPRESS"
"THE DIVER'S LAST KISS"
"WHO'S YOUR FATHER?" "A TIGHT SQUEEZE"

FOX
FILM CORPORATION

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers

INCREASE YOUR PROFITS!
USE FOX PRESS SHEETS!

NAVAL RESERVES SPELL IT OUT IN LIVING LETTERS

Think It! Talk It! Act It!

¶ Victory is the biggest word in the English language—the biggest thing on earth today—the supreme event for which a whole world waits in anxious expectation!

¶ Victory is the all-important event now—not the victory of a few miles of territory, but of a culminating series of successes—the mighty triumph that shall free mankind from the bondage of autocracy and of war!

¶ Victory Pictures lead the way to such a triumph for the exhibitor. Victory Pictures are a development of this war—an outgrowth of exhibitor and public demand for the best productions for the best stars—a new series—a new brand with a new trade mark, typifying the highest possible expression of dramatic and photographic art!

¶ Victory Pictures are made for the best theatres everywhere. They satisfy the most exacting, the most critical audiences. They are rousing thunders of applause in houses that are proverbially cold; they are waking the echoes of forgotten triumphs—revivifying theatres long lapsed into profitless pursuits. They are getting the coin—everywhere!

¶ Victory Pictures are punch pictures! They've got the real stuff! In stars, stories and supervision, they combine those elusive qualities that register a fair-and-square bull's eye with the universal audience! It's going some to be able to say of any picture that it hasn't scored a miss anywhere in a trip across this country, and it's going a lot further to be able to say the same thing of a whole series—a brand—of productions. But that's the record of Victory Pictures to date—a record as clean and bright and sound as a new-minted quarter.

Victory Pictures have the dash and snap and piquant flavor that win audiences from the start and hold them to the end. They're the sort of pictures of which there's never enough—pictures freed every foot, every inch, of useless or uninteresting action—pictures that have required big brains to originate and real money to make.

¶ Victory Pictures have the three greatest actors of their respective classes in the films today:

GEORGE WALSH—the athlete supreme:

TOM MIX—the cowboy who never fakes a scene;

GLADYS BROCKWELL—greatest dramatic actress of modern times.

Victory Pictures are the pictures of big stunts and big drama—the best balanced, most uniform series of productions yet marketed—sure money makers for successful houses and certain trade builders for houses that have seen better days—the one outstanding, supreme value "buy" on the market today!

¶ Book Victory Pictures now—now, while you still have the chance, and get these masterpieces that the trade press is proclaiming the big winners of the new season:

Tom Mix in MR. LOGAN, U. S. A.

Gladys Brockwell in KULTUR

George Walsh in ON THE JUMP

Tom Mix in TREAT 'EM ROUGH

Gladys Brockwell in THE STRANGE WOMAN

George Walsh in I'LL SAY SO

Tom Mix in FAME AND FORTUNE

F · O · X
FILM CORPORATION

The Motion Picture Industry is in the

THE Motion Picture Industry has pledged itself to sell One Billion Dollars' Worth of Liberty Bonds of the Fourth Issue.

Stars, directors, executives, scenario writers, camera men, and all others have done much in making and exploiting pictures advertising the Loan.

To the exhibitor comes the greatest opportunity and the greatest honor. His contribution towards the winning of the war can be greater, almost, than that of any other class, except the actual fighting men. Others can only buy Liberty Bonds, but he can sell them. The Industry has been declared essential. Here is our chance to prove that it is essential, and to keep it so.

Every exhibitor in America is going to help to the utmost. Here is what he must do:

Thirty-seven stars have made special motion pictures for the Loan. The names of these pictures and the exchanges at which they can be secured free are listed below.

Book one of these pictures for every day during the drive. Secure subscription blanks for Liberty Bonds from your local Federal Reserve Board. Take subscriptions in your theatre.

Then—this is essential—report the amount of Bonds sold to the Committee undersigned, on blanks provided for this purpose and supplied by your exchange.

Every exhibitor must do all these things. It is his patriotic duty to do them.

The Industry Depends on Him To Do Them. The Government Depends on Him To Do Them!

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY
UNITY of ACTION SPELLS SUCCESS

Committee On Co-operation with the United States Treasury Department

Adolph Zukor, Chairman
Walter W. Irwin — Marcus Loew
George K. Spoor — J. E. Brulatour

Al Lichtman, Manager of Distribution
John C. Flinn, Director of Publicity
485 Fifth Avenue, New York

Front Line Trenches

Here Are the Star Pictures and the Exchanges at which they Can Be Booked

Alice Joyce	V	George Beban	FP
Gladys Leslie	V	Mr. & Mrs. Sidney Drew	FP
Corinne Griffith	V	Harold Lockwood	M
Harry T. Morey & Betty Blythe	V	Edith Storey	M
William Duncan	V	Emily Stevens	M
Earle Williams	V	Nazimova	M
W. S. Hart	FP	Alice Brady	S
Lillian Gish	FP	Norma Talmadge	S
Mack Sennett	FP	Geraldine Farrar	G
Charles Ray	FP	Goldwyn All Star Cast	G
Dorothy Dalton	FP	Mae Murray	U
Enid Bennett	PP	Charles Chaplin	FN
Mary Pickford	FP	William Farnum	F
Douglas Fairbanks	FP	Sessue Hayakawa	MU
Wallace Reid	FP	Dustin Farnum	GF
Elsie Ferguson	FP	Kalem All Star Cast	GF
Marguerite Clark	FP	Frank Keenan	P
George M. Cohan	FP	Rawle's Spirit of America	Fed.
William Faversham	FP
"Fatty" Arbuckle	FP

V-Vitagraph Company of America
FP-Famous Players-Lasky Corporation
M-Metro Pictures Corporation
S-Select Pictures Corporation
G-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation
U-Universal Film Mfg. Corporation
FN-First National Exhibitors' Circuit
MU-Mutual Film Corporation
F-Fox Film Corporation
GF-General Film Company
P-Pathe Exchange Inc.
Fed-Federal Reserve

$1,000,000,000

Is Our Pledge!

Leading Exhibitors Book New American Productions

Fisher, Minter, Russell Subjects Sold Direct Are Meeting With Approval of Nation's Leaders

SINCE the announcement of the American Film Company's new policy of selling direct the new series of feature subjects, starring Mary Miles Minter, William Russell and Margarita Fisher, hundreds of the biggest exhibitors throughout the nation have responded. Circuits everywhere—big chains of theatres—the biggest houses in the biggest cities—enterprising theatre owners and managers—have wired and written to the American Film representatives at Pathé Exchanges for contracts. The consistent high quality of American-made features and the box office drawing power of its stars have resulted in an overwhelming demand for these new subjects

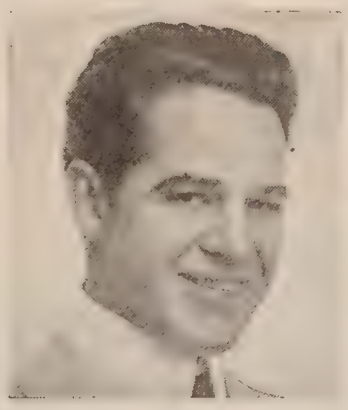
Among the Big Circuits—Marcus Loew, Turner & Dahnken, Goebel, Ruben & Finkelstein, Have All Signed Up for These New Subjects!

Shrewd film buyers—like Marcus Loew, Turner & Dahnken, Ruben & Finkelstein, the Greater Theatres Company—Goebel Brothers of Kansas City, Crosby of Fort Worth—and hundreds of other leading exhibitors have signed American Film contracts for the new features to be released under the new policy of selling direct. The houses these men represent are recognized leaders, catering to critical audiences. The judgment of these men is worth following.

If you haven't yet investigated the new series of high grade features produced by the American Film Company and being sold direct through American Film representatives at Pathé Exchanges—wire or write the American Representative at your nearest Pathé Exchange at once. Find out why these subjects are being booked by leading exhibitors everywhere—find out why these theatres have booked up for 2, 3, 4 day and full week runs:

	SEATS		SEATS
Tivoli, San Francisco	2000	Byers, Fort Worth	600
Lincoln Square, Detroit	1800	American, Denver	1400
Olympia, New Haven	2400	Palm, Rockford	1000
New York, New York City	1800	Albany, Schenectady	1200
Astor, Minneapolis	2000	Tivoli, Stockton, Cal.	2000
Merrill, Milwaukee	1380	Majestic, Memphis	1000
De Luxe, Chicago	1000	Nixon, Philadelphia	1000

The above are only fourteen reasons why you should book these new American features. There are several hundred more—too many to print.



These New American Features Offer You An Exceptional Opportunity! High Quality and Profits!

MARGARITA
FISHER
Eight Subjects

MARY MILES
MINTER
Eight Subjects

WILLIAM RUSSELL
Eight Subjects

THE announced policy of the American Film Company, Inc., for the season opening this Fall, is to provide three series of star subjects—eight featuring Mary Miles Minter, eight featuring William Russell and eight featuring Margarita Fisher. A half dozen of these subjects are already completed and can be seen at Pathé Exchanges throughout the United States. Others are in the course of production at our Santa Barbara studios. We want you to see every American feature before you book it—to compare every one of these features! That way you can judge their consistent high quality.

See These Superior Subjects:

Mary Miles Minter in "The Eyes of Julia Deep"

Margarita Fisher in "Money Isn't Everything"

William Russell in "Hobbs in a Hurry"

Mary Miles Minter in "Rosemary Climbs the Heights"

If You Want Profits—Book These Star Series at Your Pathé Exchange TODAY! Wire!

You want profits! You want stars of known box office value! You want productions with high quality photography, substantial sets, well-rounded casts. You want good stories by known authors. You want high class comedy-dramas and dramas that will send your audiences away happy and satisfied. You will find this combination in these new American subjects now being sold direct through Pathé Exchanges. See the American Film representative at your Pathé Exchange. Wire or go today!

American Film Company, Inc.

General Offices
6225-37 Broadway, Chicago
Studios
Santa Barbara, California

Samuel S. Hutchinson, President

Distributed by Pathé

Showing Something Good!

The exhibitor who plays

HAROLD LLOYD

in the famous Rolin one reel comedies is showing his audiences something more than good. He is giving them the best comedy entertainment that money can buy.
Make us prove it; ask your Pathé exchange to screen some of these comedies for you!

One Comedy Every Other Week

PATHÉ

The Most Widely Shown Picture That Has Ever Been Screened-

OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW

What with 3000 days in the biggest vaude-ville circuits in the land and the large majority of the representative picture houses, both large and small, the Official War Review is ~ undoubtedly shown in more places and to MORE persons than any other picture ever screened.

There's a reason. See it and it will be evident.

Official government pictures of France, Italy, Great Britain and the United States.

Presented by
COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION
George Creel, Chairman
DIVISION OF FILMS
Chas. S. Hart, Director

Distributed by
PATHÉ

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS"

rousing Photoplay Prophecy of THE DAY hen he finds his place in the Sun

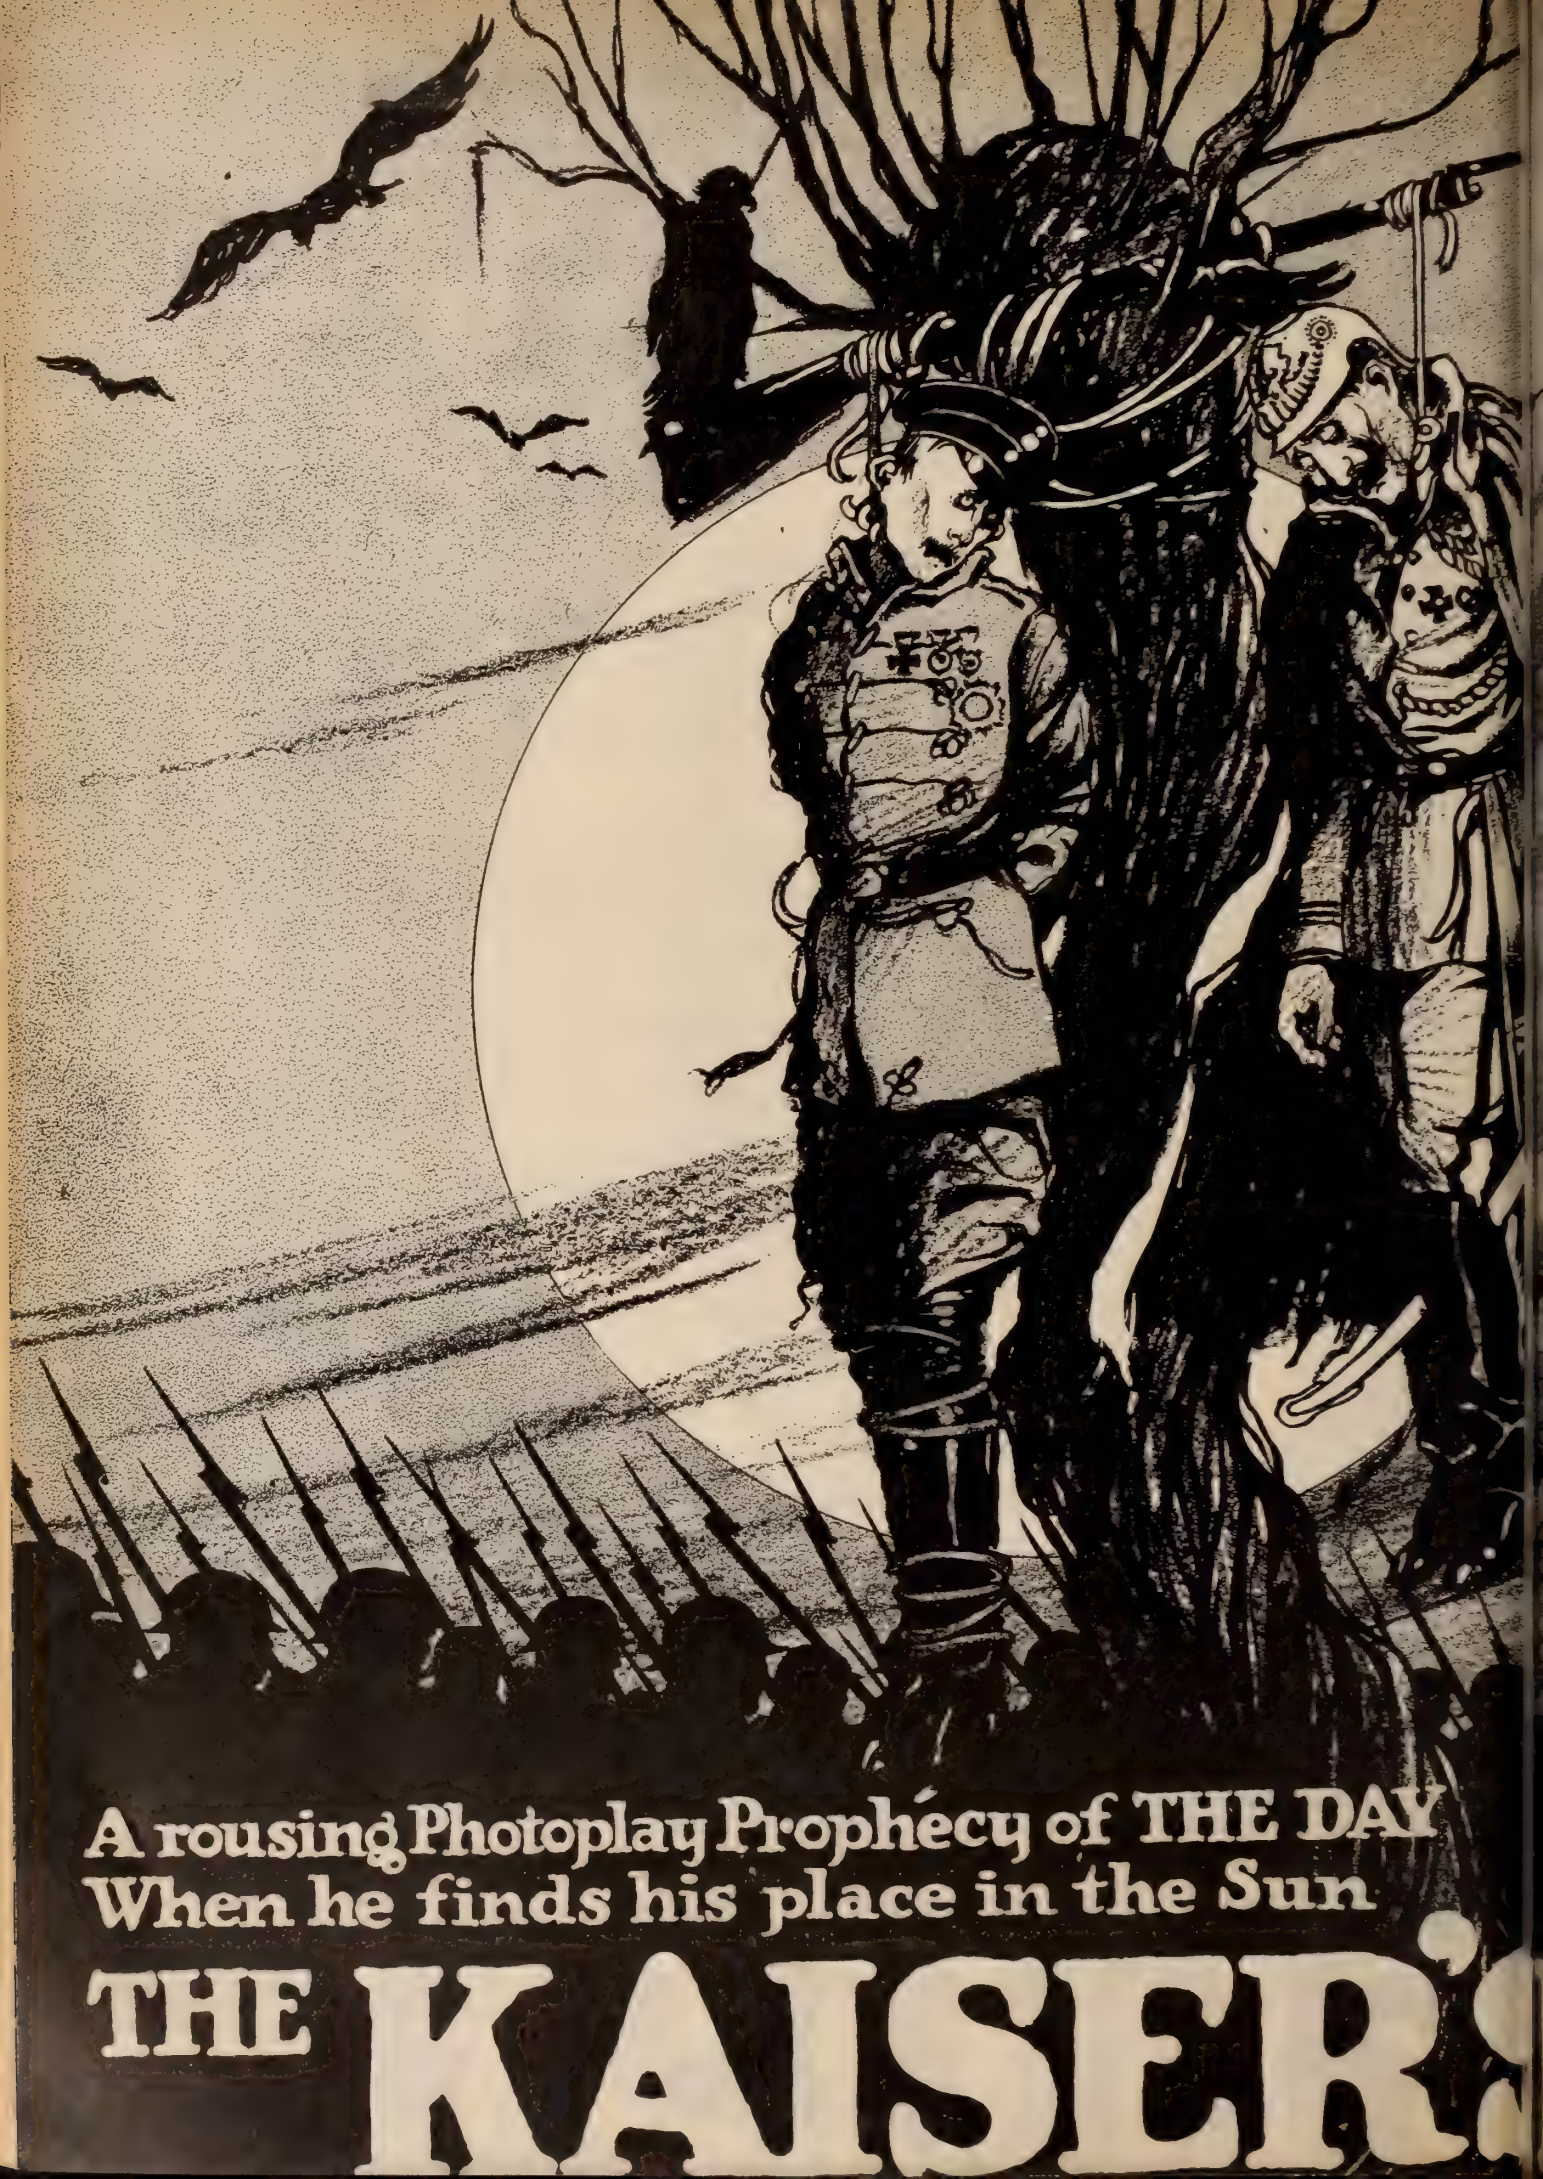
HE KAISER'S

We're All Ready To Spring It!

Positively and unequivocally the great big smashing knockout of the film year. Seven reels of thunder and lightning melodrama that starts with a rush, gathers speed like an avalanche and ends with

"THE KAISER'S FINISH"—

That's the title, and like the film it's built for the box-office.



The visualization of the world's wish—
Can you imagine a more compelling theme?
Our Nation is massed for it—
Our boys are fighting for it—

The fans will go wild over the pictured event.

It's the Film of the Hour—
The National Wish—

FINISH—

A rousing Photoplay Prophecy of THE DAY
When he finds his place in the Sun

THE KAISER'S

We Wrote the Scenario in Crowded Theatres where the 'Kaiser' films were getting the coin —packed theatres—filled with red blooded, high spirited Americans—Americans roused as they never have been before.

We know what made them cheer—and hiss —and howl—and applaud.

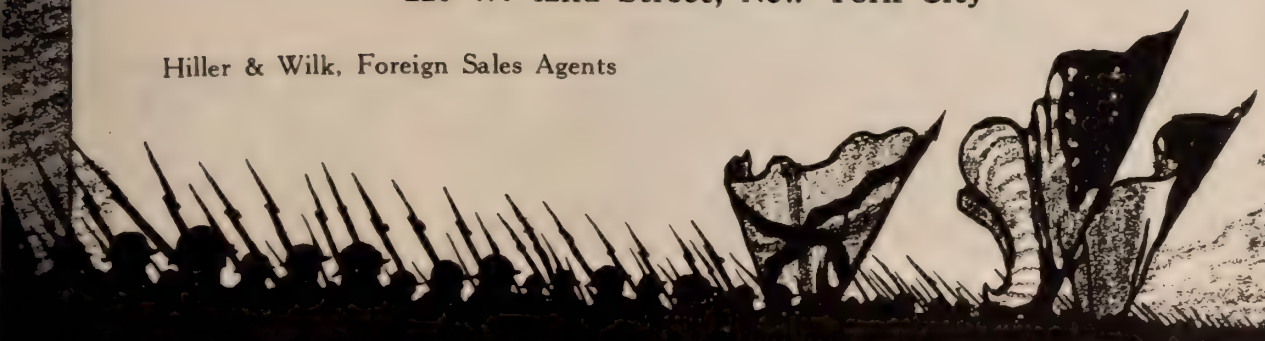
We took the measure of popular taste—we have been feeling the public pulse—we know what they want and we've put it all in—

"THE KAISER'S FINISH"

Jump the first train for New York—

If you're a showman you'll only need to see it—

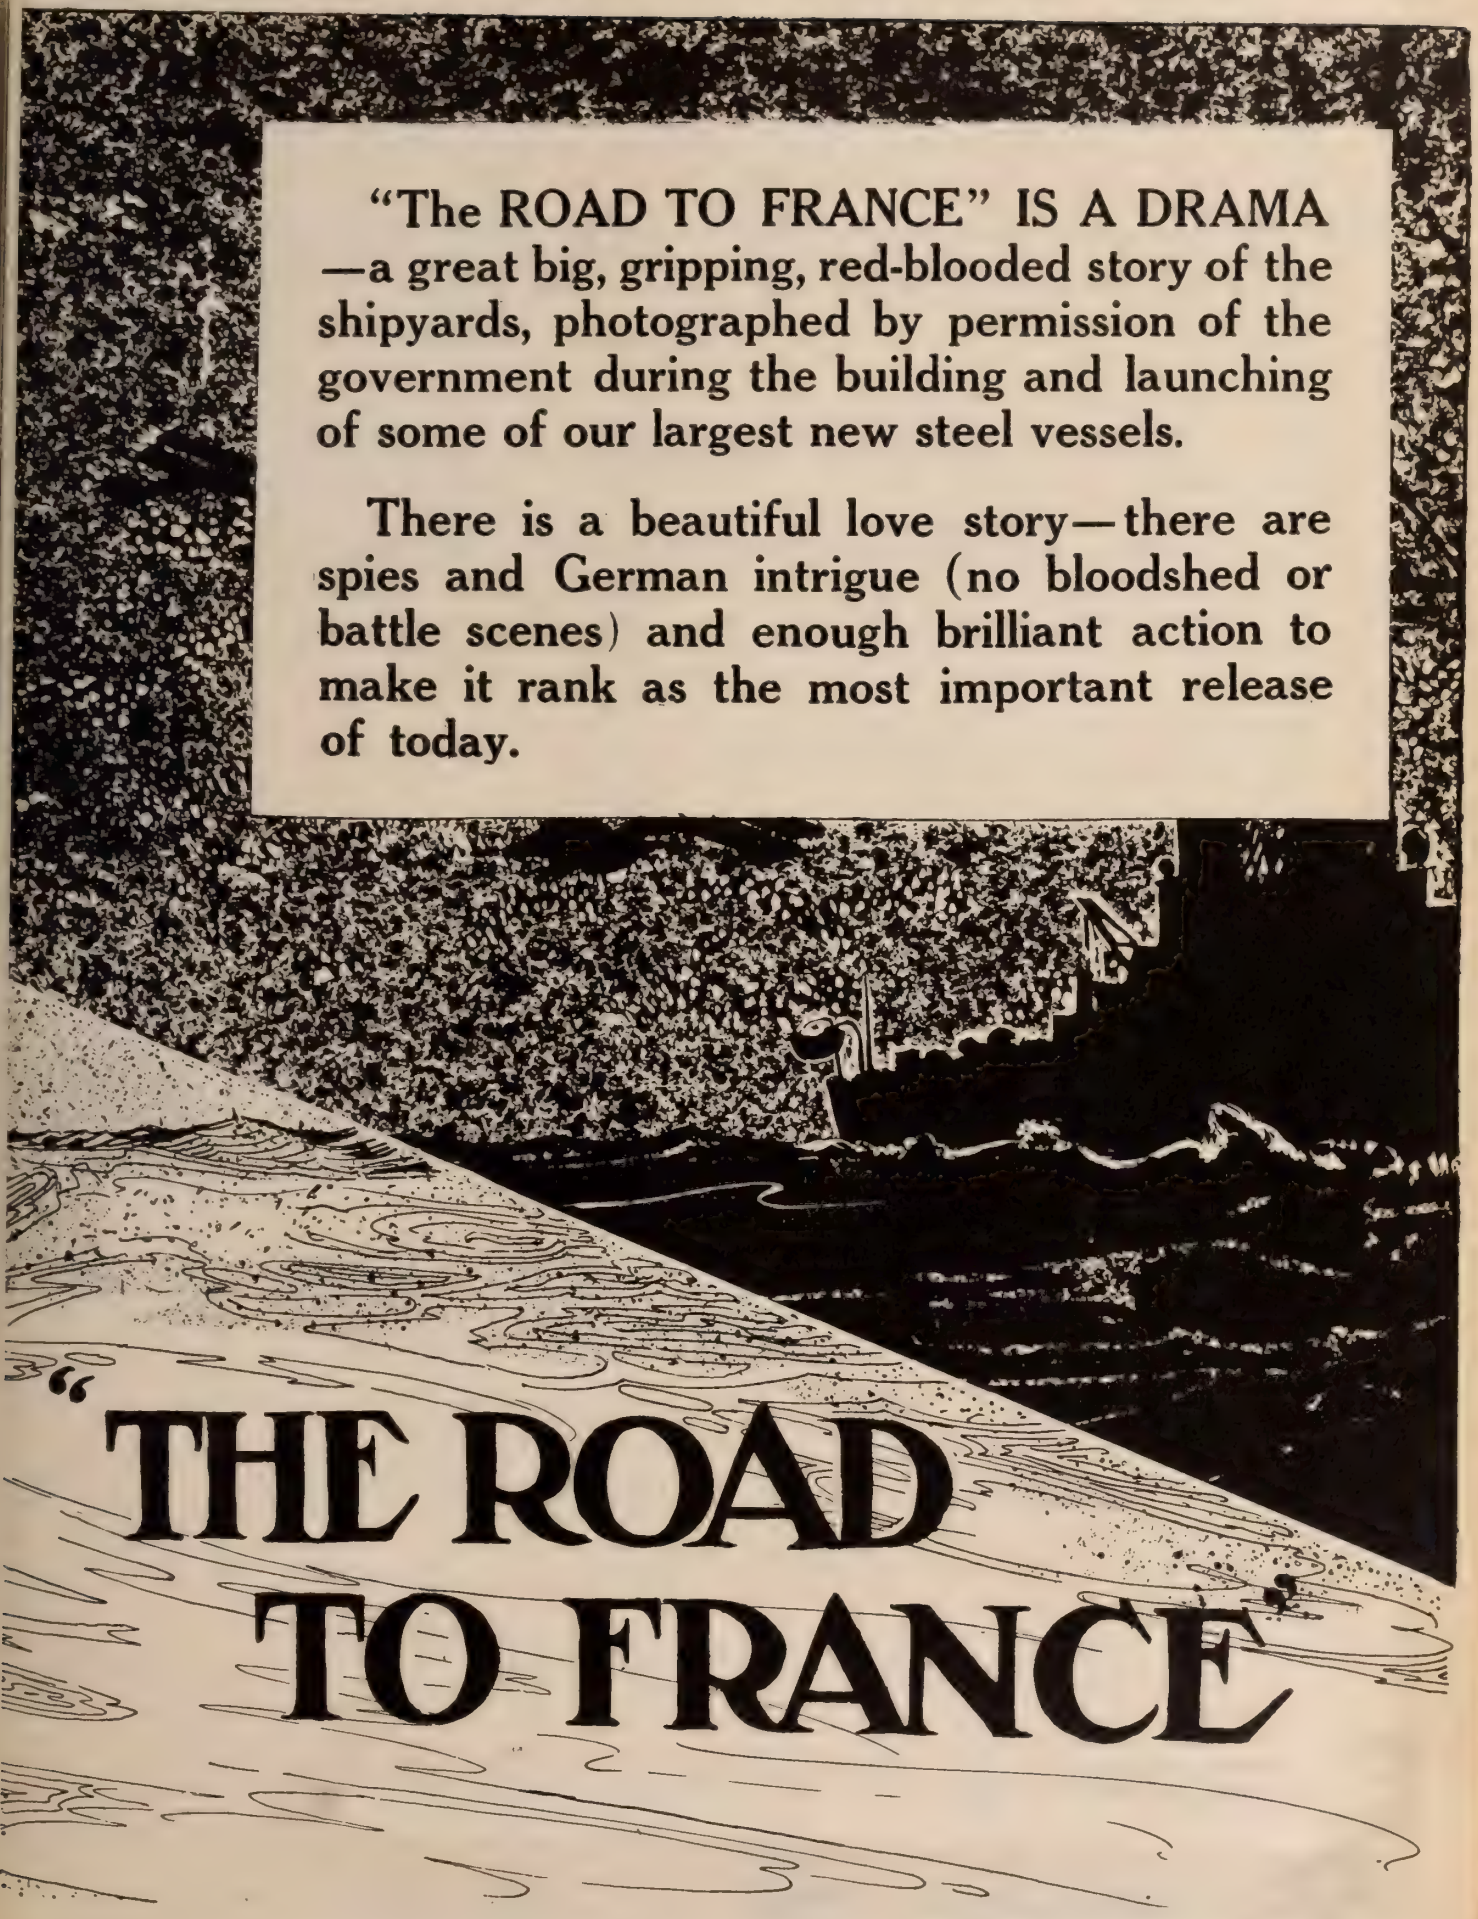
It's ready for release—



All kinds of advertising to go with it—

Produced by S. L. WARNER

FOR TERRITORY, APPLY TO A. WARNER



220 W. 42nd Street, New York City

Hiller & Wilk, Foreign Sales Agents

FINISH—

WORLD-PICTURES
"THE ROAD TO FRANCE" IS THE RIGHT KIND OF A PICTURE FOR YOUR SCREEN. It will bring cheer and encouragement to all America—that's your duty now!
CARLYLE BLACKWELL
AND EVELYN GREELEY
IN
IT IS A WONDERFUL MONEY GETTING PICTURE BECAUSE—it breathes the spirit of free America—it carries the note of the unquenchable love of freedom that no tyrant can subdue—it has that wonderful message that the folks at home are sending to our boys over there. It means comfort, cheer and pleased audiences everywhere, for it shows what Chairman Hurley meant in saying "A BRIDGE OF SHIPS" is "THE ROAD TO FRANCE."

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

"America's Answer"

The United States Government has become one of the largest producers of films in the world

Read what President Wilson says on the opposite page about

"AMERICA'S ANSWER"

Send your application for booking by wire, 'phone or letter—now—to
WORLD FILM CORPORATION
Nearest Branch

COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION
George Creel, Chairman
DIVISION OF FILMS, Charles S. Hart, Director

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

16 September, 1918.

My dear Mr. Hart:

Mrs. Wilson and I saw "America's Answer" when it was given here at the Belasco Theatre, and came away feeling that it was one of the most remarkable and one of the most satisfactory portrayals that we had seen of the great task which America has performed with such enthusiasm and in a fashion which cannot leave the results in doubt.

Cordially and sincerely yours,

Woodrow Wilson

Mr. Charles S. Hart,
Committee on Public Information,
Washington, D. C.

SCREEN CLASSICS INC.

presents

HAROLD L

in the supreme production

Directed in 6 ACTS by Edwin Carewe ·

Distributed Exclusively by METRO PICTURES CORPORATION ·

OCKWOOD
PALS FIRST

Produced by Yorke Film Corporation · Adapted from Lee Wilson Dodd's dramatization of Francis Perry Elliott's famous novel published by Messrs. Harper & Bros.

NOW BOOKING

THE MOTION PICTU
AND EVE

NATIONAL MOTION PICTURE EXPOSITION
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
October 5th to 13th Inclusive

Is Receiving the Support of Practically All of the Big Companies in the Business. The Following Have Contracted for Space and are Rapidly Selecting Their Locations:

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.
VITAGRAPH COMPANY OF AMERICA
FOX FILM CORPORATION
METRO PICTURES CORPORATION
SELECT PICTURES CORPORATION
WORLD FILM CORPORATION
WILLIAM A. BRADY PICTURE PLAYS
FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION
NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY
PRECISION MACHINE COMPANY
NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY
AMERICAN COIN REGISTER COMPANY
EDISON LAMP WORKS OF THE GENERAL ELECTRIC CO.
NATIONAL LAMP WORKS
WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC COMPANY
COOPER HEWITT ELECTRIC COMPANY

THE ORDNANCE DEPAR
STATES ARMY WILL HAV
TION SHOWING EVERY I
WARFARE. THERE WIL
UNITED STATES SOLDIER
STRATE THE WAY THES
OUR SOLDIERS IN FRANCI
CLUDE RIFLES, REVOLVE
KINDS, ANTI-AIRCRAFT
HAND GRENADES, AERIA
THE VARIOUS FORMS O
VARIOUS KINDS OF LIGH

Negotiations are under way with a number of other companies with whom contracts will be signed in the immediate future. Owing to the vast quantity of space that has been requisitioned by the various departments of the Federal Government, all of which are enthusiastic over the opportunity that has been offered them to exhibit at this show,

THE DESIRABLE SPACE IS RAPIDLY BEING DISPOSED OF

RE IS OVER THERE
RYWHERE

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Has Arranged for 2,500 to 5,000 Square Feet of Space for the Purpose of Driving Home to the Public the Enormous Shortage of Labor in the War Industries. They will Exhibit, in Co-operation with The Ordnance Department of the Army and Navy, The United States Shipping Board, the Aircraft-Board and the Quartermaster's Department, Every Form of War Activity in Which the Government Is Engaged for the Carrying On and Winning of the War. They Will Show

NT OF THE UNITED N ELABORATE EXHIBI-
OF WEAPON USED IN
E A LARGE DETAIL OF UNIFORM TO DEMON-EAPONS ARE USED BY
THIS EXHIBIT WILL IN-MACHINE GUNS OF ALL
S, TRENCH MORTARS,
OMBS, DEPTH BOMBS, AS BOMBS, AND THE RTILLERY.

MINIATURE SHIPS BEING BUILT ON THE WAYS SHELLS GUNS
TRENCH HELMETS
MACHINE GUNS
CANNON
ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS
MINIATURE AEROPLANES IN THE COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION
UNIFORMS AND ACCOUTREMENTS AND
EVERY FORM OF WAR WORK NECESSARY TO EQUIP AN ARMY OF 4,000,000 MEN

ON ACCOUNT OF THESE EXTRAORDINARY FEATURES SUPPLIED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT THIS WILL BE THE BIGGEST EXPOSITION EVER HELD IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. IT IS A REAL WAR SERVICE EXPOSITION. CLIMB ON THE BAND WAGON WHILE THERE ARE STILL SOME VACANT SEATS.

Contracts and information upon application to

THE MOTION PICTURE EXPOSITION COMPANY

806-807 Times Building Telephone Bryant 10337 NEW YORK CITY

Wid SAYS "WE ARE GOING TO HAVE EXHIBITOR CO-OPERATIVE DISTRIBUTION. ALL THE MISTAKES THAT ANYONE MIGHT MAKE CAN'T KEEP IT BACK."

UNITED SAYS CO-OPERATIVE DISTRIBUTION IS THE ESSENCE, WHOLE BODY AND MEANING OF UNITED AND ITS MOTTO IS: -

FOR THE EXHIBITOR
BY THE EXHIBITOR
OF THE EXHIBITOR

FOR THE EXHIBITOR — BECAUSE UNITED ENABLES HIM
(1) TO BUY THE SUPER-BEST AT ROCK-BOTTOM WHOLESALE COST PRICE.
(2) TO SELL DIRECT TO HIMSELF ELIMINATING WASTEFUL INTERMEDIATE CHARGES AND UNNECESSARY OVERHEAD
(3) TO INCREASE HIS PROFITS

BY THE EXHIBITOR — BECAUSE UNITED GIVES HIM THE POWER TO BE INDEPENDENT AND THROUGH HIS ADVISORY BOARD TO OBTAIN THE QUALITY OF PICTURES THAT HIS BOX-OFFICE NEEDS..

OF THE EXHIBITOR — BECAUSE 9,000 OF UNITED'S 10,000 MEMBERSHIP SHARES GO TO HIM AND PUT THE CONTROL OF THE COMPANY IN HIS HANDS

MEMBERSHIP FILLING FAST — JOIN UNITED TODAY

UNITED PICTURE THEATRES OF AMERICA INC.

J.A. BERST
PRESIDENT

A NATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION OF EXHIBITORS

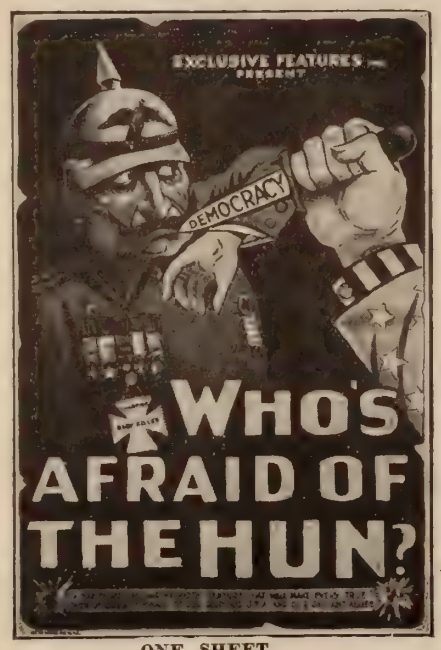
HOME OFFICE
1600 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

THESE ARE THE FIRST STARS FOR UNITED MEMBERS

FLORENCE REED — IN SIX MASSIVE MODERN FEATURES OF SPECIAL IMPORT

KITTY GORDON — IN SIX MAGNIFICENT SUPER-PRODUCTIONS

DUSTIN FARNUM — IN "THE LIGHT OF WESTERN STARS" AND SIX OTHER STUNNING SUPERFEATURES



AND NEXT ——————— ?

UNITED PICTURE THEATRES OF AMERICA INC.

J.A. BERST
PRESIDENT

A NATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION OF EXHIBITORS

HOME OFFICE
1600 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

ONE SHEET

STATE RIGHT BUYERS

THESE WIDE AWAKE EXCHANGEMEN HAVE ALREADY SECURED THEIR TERRITORY FOR WHO'S AFRAID OF THE HUN?

(TWO REELS)

NEW ENGLAND STATES—Eastern Feature Film Company, 57 Church Street, Boston, Mass.

DELAWARE, MARYLAND, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA AND VIRGINIA—W. H. Film Company, 412 East Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA AND WEST VIRGINIA—Quality Film Company, 414 Ferry Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GREATER NEW YORK—Exclusive Film Company, 126 West 46th Street, New York City.

MICHIGAN—Strand Features, 201 Film Exchange Building, Detroit, Mich.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—Frank Gersten, Inc., 130 West 46th Street, New York City.

TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA—Southwestern Film Corporation, 1911½ Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas.

Playing this week at JOHN H. KUNSKY'S MILLION DOLLAR LIBERTY THEATRE, DETROIT, MICH.

Step Lively—Grab YOUR Territory Now. The Greatest Box Office Attraction Ever Offered.

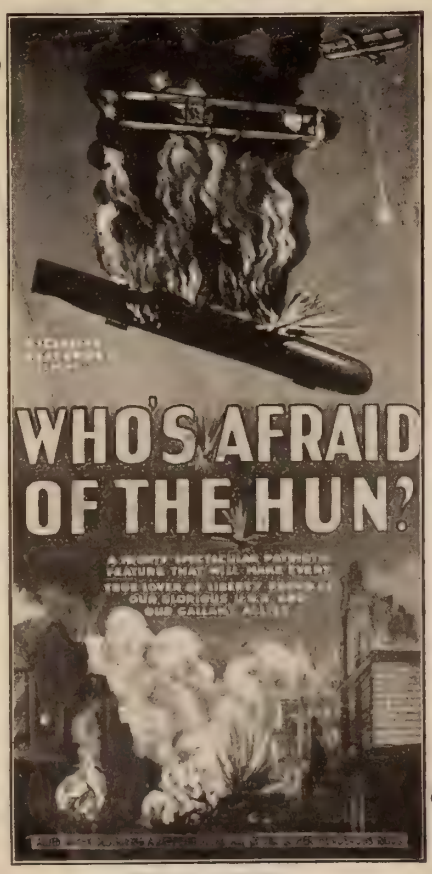
SEE

How Giant Zeppelin Is Brought to Earth in the Act of One of Its Murderous Raids.

The Type of Men Who Have Shocked the Entire Civilized World.

Our Gallant Boys Go Over the Top.

Thousands of Hun Prisoners Taken.



SEE

An Entire Belgian Village in the Act of Being Destroyed by the Savage Hun.

Our Noble Red Cross, Tenderly Ministering to Our Wounded Fighters in the Midst of Shot and Shell.

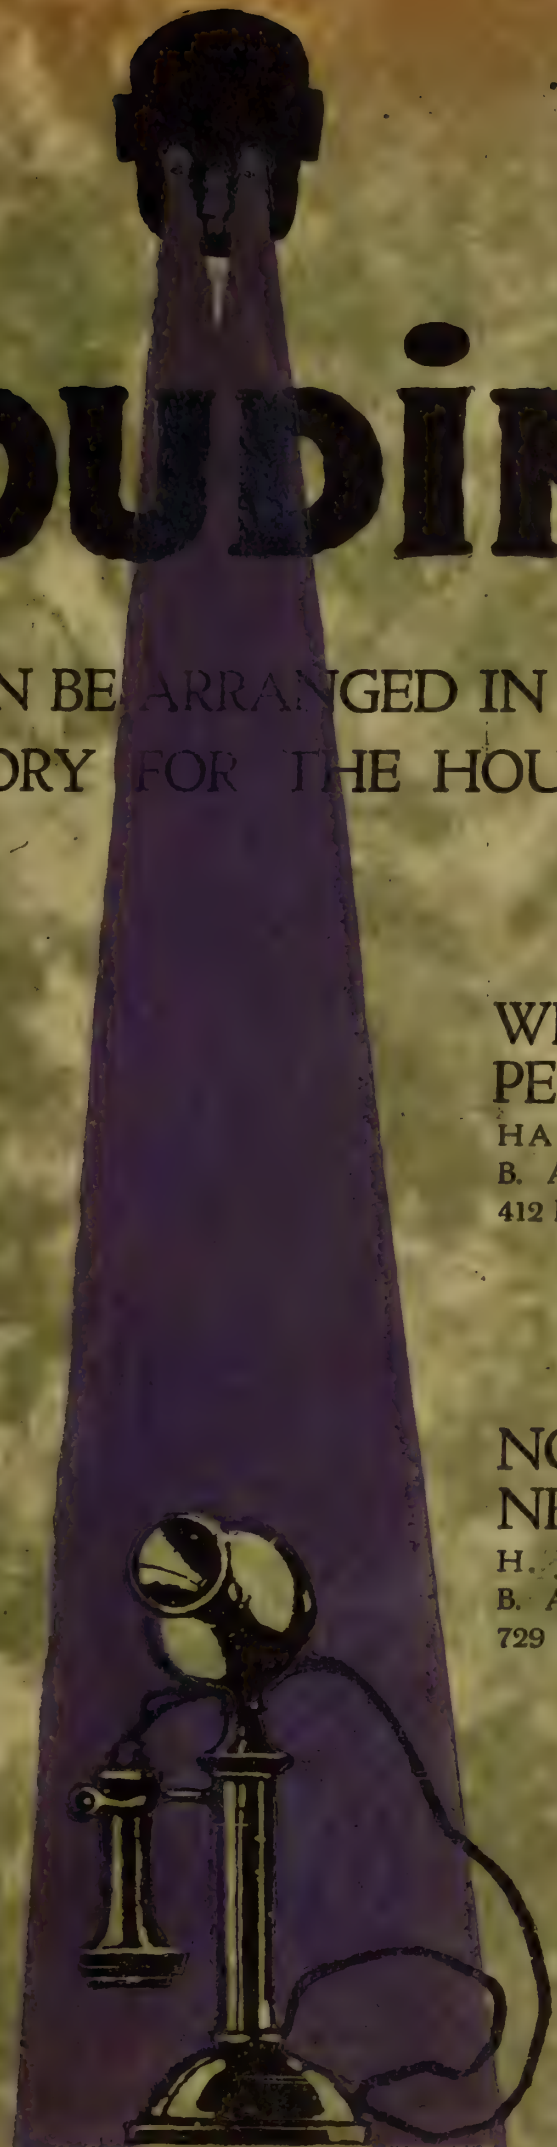
Thousands of Our Fearless Boys Going to the Front with a Smile.

See the Kaiser Kicked Off the Earth.

THREE SHEET

SIX SHEET

ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO



EXCLUSIVE FEATURES, Inc.

Telephone Bryant 6436

130 WEST 46th STREET

HOUDINI

BOOKINGS CAN BE ARRANGED IN THE FOLLOWING TERRITORY FOR THE HOUDINI SERIAL:

NEW ENGLAND

SAMUEL GRAND, President
B. A. ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
16 Piedmont Street Boston, Mass.

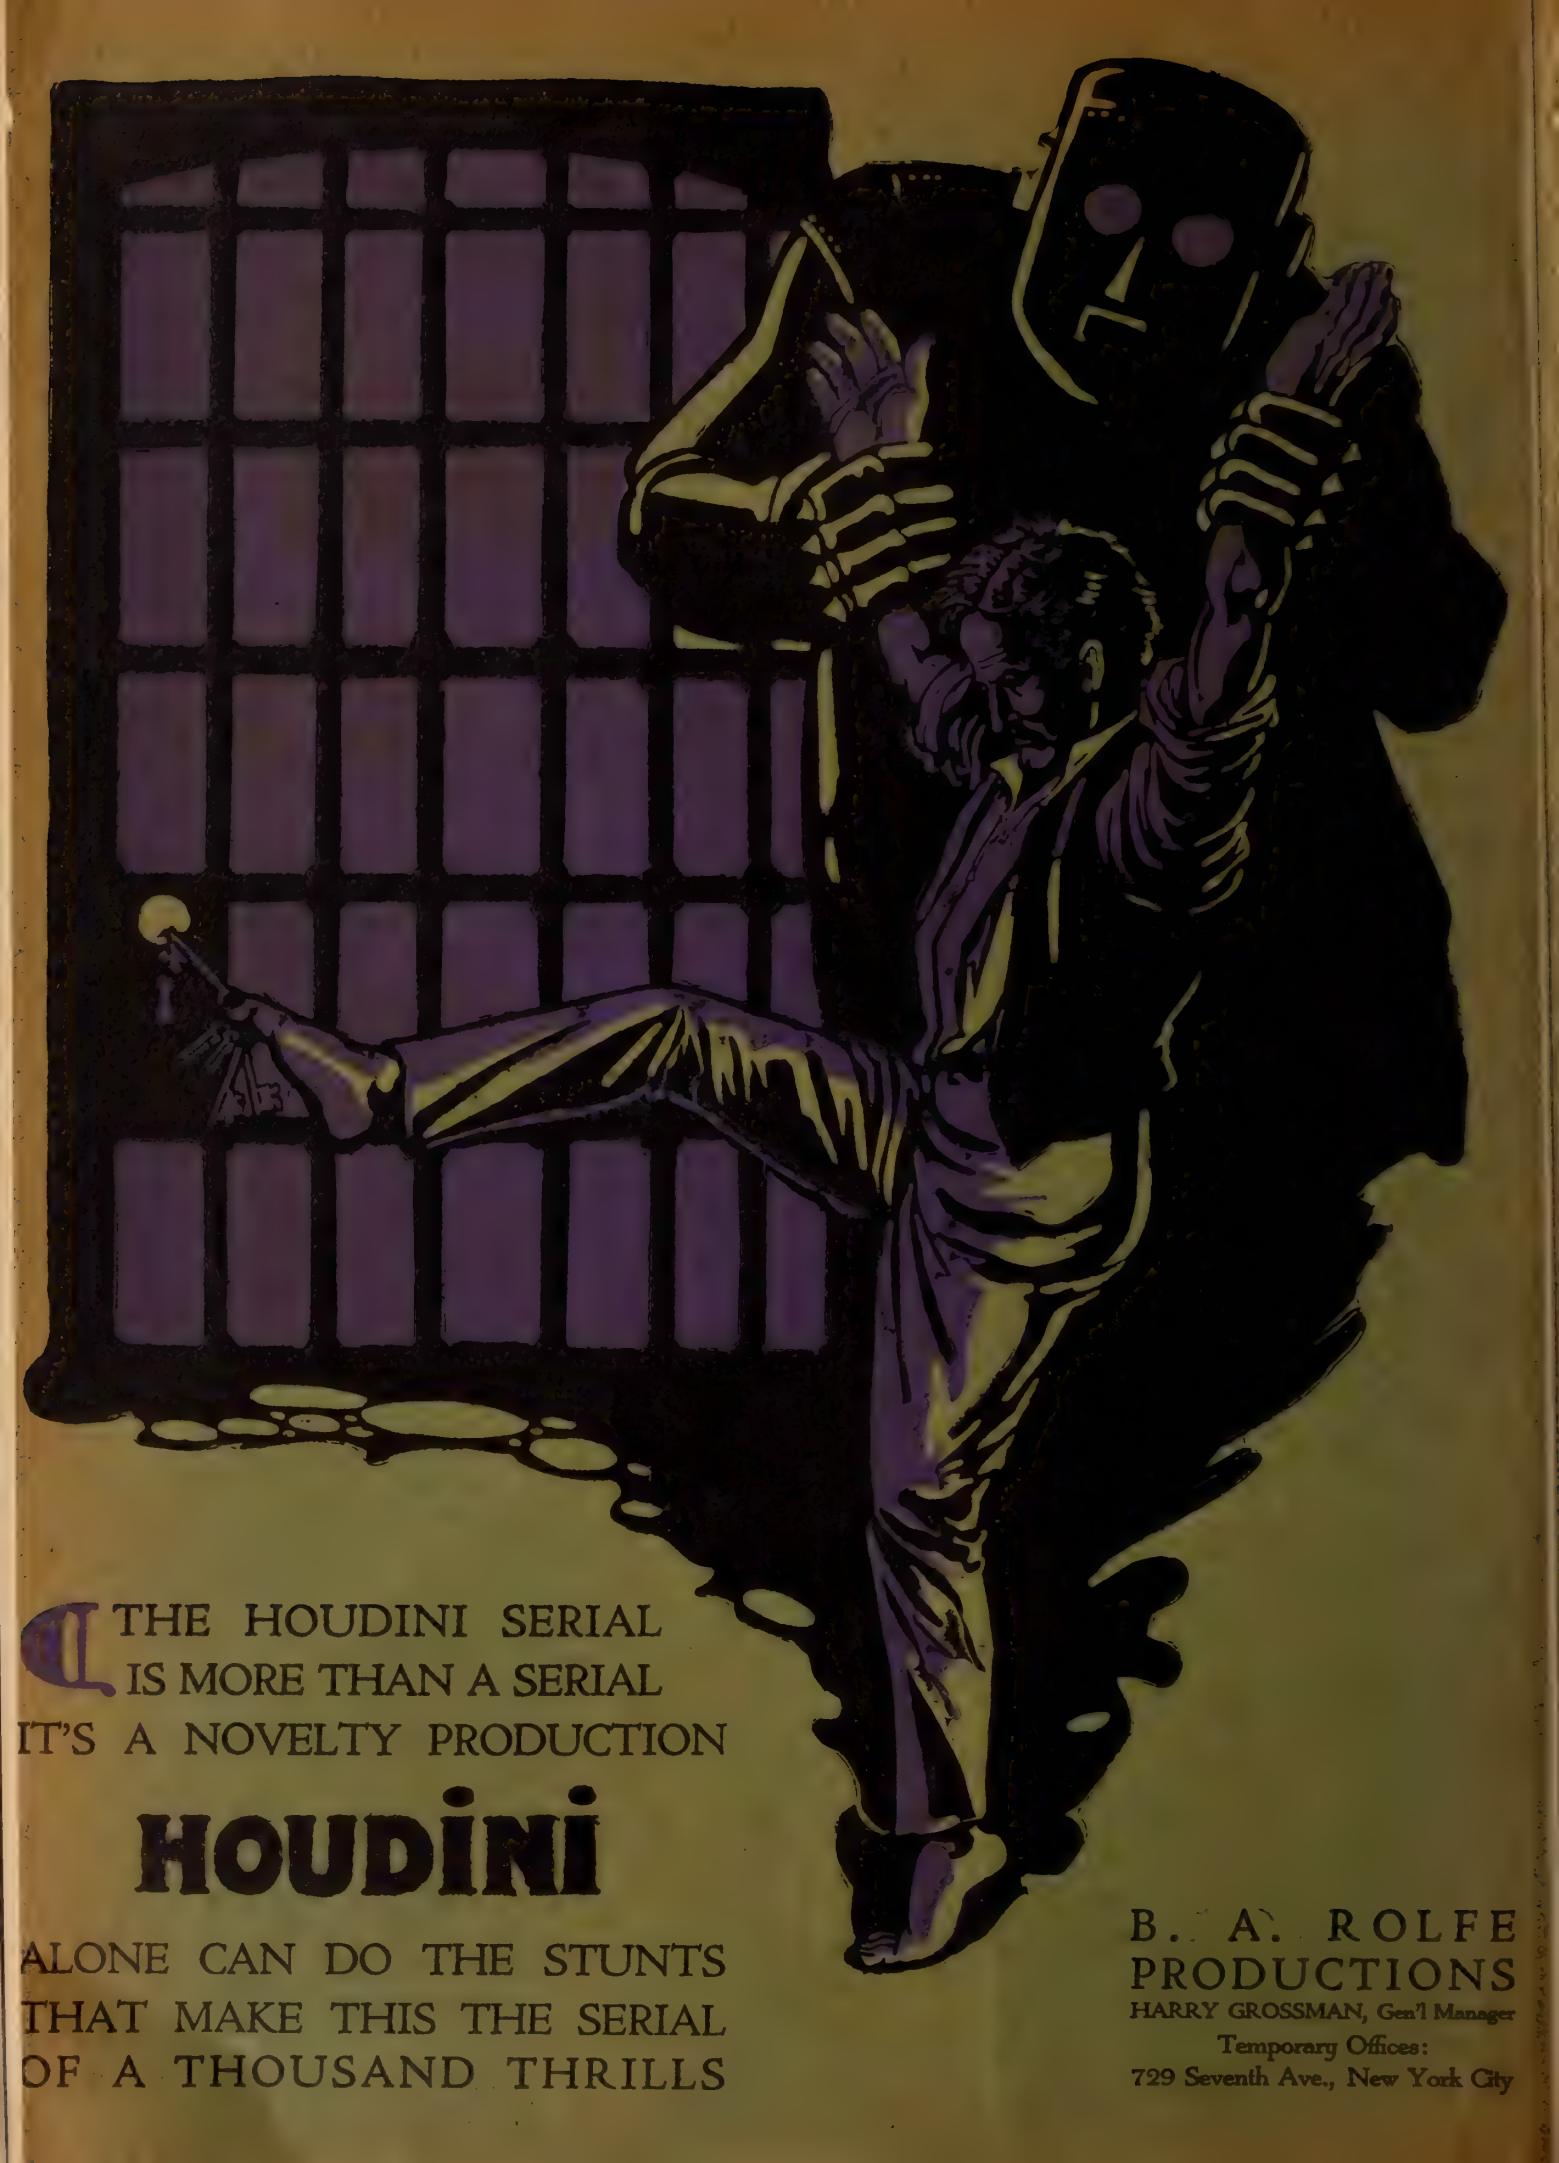
WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

HARVEY B. DAY, President
B. A. ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
412 Ferry Street Pittsburgh, Pa.

SOUTHERN TERRITORY

M. A. LIGHTMAN, President
B. A. ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
65½ Walton Street Atlanta, Ga.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY



H. JANS, President
B. A. ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
729 Seventh Ave., New York City

FOREIGN RIGHTS

EXPORT and IMPORT FILM CO.
729 Seventh Ave., New York City

B. A. ROLFE PRODUCTIONS

HARRY GROSSMAN, Gen'l Manager
Temporary Offices:
729 Seventh Ave., New York City

THE HOUDINI SERIAL
IS MORE THAN A SERIAL
IT'S A NOVELTY PRODUCTION

HOUDINI

ALONE CAN DO THE STUNTS
THAT MAKE THIS THE SERIAL OF A THOUSAND THRILLS

B. A. ROLFE
PRODUCTIONS
HARRY GROSSMAN, Gen'l Manager
Temporary Offices:
729 Seventh Ave., New York City

Gaumont Worth-While Pictures

THE NEWS REELS OF REAL NEWS

Gaumont News — EVERY TUESDAY

EVERY FRIDAY — Gaumont Graphic

The World's Greatest Pictorial News Service
The Only INDEPENDENT Screen News

The Hand of Vengeance

The Entrancing Record Breaking Photo-Serial in 10 Red-Blooded 2 Reel Episodes

Distributed by the
BEST STATES-RIGHT EXCHANGES

Gaumont Co.

FLUSHING, N. Y.

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS"

More than 8,000 other exhibitors feel the same way about it.

September Sixteen, 1918

MOTION PICTURE NEWS,
New York, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN:

Enclosed please find our check for $6.90, same being for "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund." It is the result of putting up a little box a short time ago to catch the pennies for this good purpose.

Now about your most excellent publication, when we first entered our subscription we gave it only casual attention, but gradually we leaned on it more and more, until at present we are almost managing our theatre with "THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS."

Your new "plan book" is simply great; it is a boon to exhibitors, especially to us smaller ones who may secure expert advertising advice for $2.00 a year. We have booked many of the larger features on the strength of their averages in your "Box Office Reports" and we have never gone wrong on one of them.

Keep up the good work, you are getting better all the time, and you should have the subscription of every exhibitor in the country.

With best wishes for your continued success,

Very truly yours,
K OF P THEATRE
By (Sgd.) G. O. COLE, Mgr.

ROCHESTER, NEVADA

From January 1st, 1918 to date (equal number of issues of all publications) Motion Picture News has carried 222¼ more pages than the next largest publication.

DITMARS'

"LIVING BOOK OF NATURE"

Only the "High Spots" of the Animal World

(Nothing Creepy or Crawly in These Pictures)

53 SUBJECTS — The Great Creatures of the Wilds that Thrill Every Spectator with their Grace, Beauty and Power.

500-FOOT LENGTHS — The Cream of the Ditmars Material with Each Subject Thoroughly Covered PROFESSOR DITMARS — Achieved His Utmost Triumphs in These Intensely Interesting and Scientifically Accurate Motion Pictures.

EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGES — Now Offer Them in a Schedule of Regular Releases.

"Give a Chapter from the Ditmars' 'Living Book of Nature' to Your Patrons Every Week"

EDUCATIONAL FILMS CORPORATION OF AMERICA

729 7th AVENUE NEW YORK, N.Y.

On The Way

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

By Sir Sidney Low

The Romantic Life Story of the Great Welsh Statesman

Produced by The Ideal Film Renting Co., Ltd., LONDON

(Under the sole direction of MAURICE ELVEY)

TEN PARTS TEN PARTS

Which allied Statesman, outside America, has most CAPTURED THE IMAGINATION and won the hearts of the world?

Beyond a doubt it is DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, the great little Welshman, who has fought his way up by sheer grit, FROM COTTAGE TO PARLIAMENT, from bootmaker's protege to the Champion of England and the cause of civilisation!

Fiction in its most fascinating pages contains no more captivating chapter than the real-life ROMANCE OF DAVID LLOYD GEORGE. The old saying that "Truth is stranger than Fiction" has received no more wonderful exemplification than in Lloyd George's great upward climb to leadership.

AMERICA AND LLOYD GEORGE

To-day the entire world hangs upon his every utterance and in particular no international figure makes so VIVID an APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA!

His picturesque speech, his freedom from the spirit of caste, his rise to fame from humble origins, his determination to make the common people prevail over TYRANTS IN PURPLE, all give him in especial degree the ear and the heart of the Democracy of the United States.

LIKE ABRAHAM LINCOLN

It is not to be wondered at that the Nation that produced an ABRAHAM LINCOLN should admire such a figure as DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, for there is something wonderfully akin n the characters and careers of the two men.

Like Lincoln, Lloyd George was of humble birth. Like Lincoln, he was brought up by a kind relative. Both men were SELF-TAUGHT. Each began life in the Law. Both were coldly received by the official world. Both were backed by the people. Both were moved by unconquerable enthusiasm for a great moral cause. Both spoke to their fellow-men in resonant tones that ring round the world. And even their very Christian names—drawn from Scripture—found justification in the Bible—inspired careers of the two Statesmen. Nothing more appropriate, then, can be imagined than that so PICTURESQUE A LIFE as that of Lloyd George—a life tingling with high-spirited action and resolve—should be made into a picture.

The "Ideal Film Renting Co.", whose famous master-pieces such as "MY OLD DUTCH" and "MASKS AND FACES", found a warm welcome in America, have been engaged for AN ENTIRE YEAR ON THE PICTURE!—such is their determination to make it accurate as well as realistic!

The life story of LLOYD GEORGE, besides its fascinating romance, will be the most vivid illustration of THE REAL OBJECTS OF THE WAR that has yet been anywhere exhibited.

Through it move such famous Americans as WASHINGTON, LINCOLN, WILSON, etc., and it is, otherwise, PACKED WITH INTEREST FOR THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA.

SHOWING SOON

THE LIFE STORY OF DAVID LLOYD GEORGE will be shown to the Trade in London in October.

Those who may be interested please communicate at the earliest moment with the "IDEAL FILM RENTING CO., LTD." 76-78 WARDOUR STREET, LONDON, W. 1., and arrange without fail to be represented at the Trade Show.

! A MODEL CINEBIOGRAPHY.
THE PICTURE THAT ALL AMERICA WILL WANT TO SEE !

Note:—The picture has been so constructed that it may be released in episodes or completely

JULIUS STEGER'S GREATEST PRODUCTION

EVELYN NESBIT

and Her Son

RUSSELL THAW

IN

"HER MISTAKE"

and the Balance of

THE TWELVE BIGGEST ATTRACTIONS OF THE YEAR AT

$10 $20 $30

BOOKED THRU THE FOLLOWING EXCHANGES

NEW YORK	Liberty Distributing Corporation, 130 W. 46th St.
BOSTON	American Feature Film Co., 60 Church St.
NEW HAVEN	American Feature Film Corp., 131 Meadow Street
CHICAGO	Silee Film Exchange 220 So. State Street
PHILADELPHIA	Quaker City Feature Film Co., 1325 Vine Street
PITTSBURGH	Day Film Corporation 412 Ferry Street
CLEVELAND	Success Film Productions 419 Sloan Building
WASHINGTON, D. C.	Exhibitors' Film Exchange 420 9th Street, N. W.

GENERAL FILM COMPANY

LOS ANGELES	738 So. Olive Street
SAN FRANCISCO	225 Golden Gate Avenue
SEATTLE	2023 3rd Avenue
PORTLAND	390 Burnside Avenue
DENVER	1533 Welton Street
MINNEAPOLIS	909 Hennepin Avenue
OMAHA	1508 Howard Street
KANSAS CITY	921 Walnut Street
NEW ORLEANS	343 Baronne Street
ST. LOUIS	3610 Olive Street
ATLANTA	111 Walton Street
DALLAS	1924 Main Street

DEMAND PROMPT AND EFFICIENT SERVICE AT THE ADVERTISED PRICES

PRODUCERS' DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

FRANK G. HALL, President

126-130 W. 46th Street, New York

Robertson-Cole Company

WORLD WIDE FILM DISTRIBUTORS

Performance—Not Promise—is the Evidence of Making Good

September Sales Include:

GREAT BRITAIN:
"The Eagle's Eye," "Nine-Tenths of the Law," "A Dollar Bid," "Burglar for a Night," "Prisoners of the Pines" and "Three X Gordon" featuring J. Warren Kerrigan. "Her Man," Pathe Special; "The Fringe of Society," Special Independent Production; "A Grain of Dust," Lillian Walker Production; "An Accidental Honeymoon," Harry Rapf Production, and four new Jester Comedies.

SOUTH AMERICA:
"The Fringe of Society" and Twelve Jester Comedies.

AUSTRALIA:
"The Eagle's Eye" and three new Jester Comedies.

CENTRAL AMERICA:
Twelve Jester Comedies.

SCANDINAVIA:
"The Romance of Tarzan," "A Dollar Bid," "Prisoners of the Pines," "Burglar for a Night," and "Three X Gordon" with J. Warren Kerrigan; "Her Man," Pathe Special; "Stolen Orders," Brady Special, and "The Fringe of Society."

EGYPT and HOLLAND:
D. W. Griffith's "Intolerance."

SPAIN:
"Raffles," "A Grain of Dust"; "Nine-Tenths of the Law," "Just a Woman."

INDIA:
"The Fringe of Society" and "Those Who Pay," Ince-Barriscale.

FRANCE:
"The Eagle's Eye," Wharton Serial, and Twelve Jester Comedies.

ARGENTINA, PARAGUAY and URUGUAY:
"The Passing of the Third Floor Back," "The Lust of the Ages," Lillian Walker Production.

BRAZIL:
"The Eagle's Eye."

BURMA, CEYLON, CHINA and JAPAN:
"The Fringe of Society" and Twelve Jester Comedies.

CHILE, PERU, BOLIVIA and ECUADOR:
"The Cast-off," "Men," "The Finger of Justice," "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," and "The Eagle's Eye," Wharton Serial.

GREECE and EGYPT:
"Those Who Pay," Ince Production with Bessie Barriscale.

ITALY, SPAIN and PORTUGAL:
Twelve Jester Comedies.

DUTCH EAST INDIES:
"The Eagle's Eye."

Foreign Buyers:

We have added to our catalog the new series of J. Warren Kerrigan features produced by Jesse D. Hampton. Four are completed, and they prove that Kerrigan and Hampton are a master combination of stars.

We have also taken the World's rights on Martin Johnson's South Sea Island travels among the cannibals—the great RIVOLI feature—and will announce the plan of distribution early in October.

Address: ROBERTSON-COLE COMPANY, 1600 Broadway, New York

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS"

ANTHONY PAUL KELLY'S
SCREEN MASTER PIECE

"THE WOMAN" THE GERMANS SHOT!

BASED ON THE SHOOTING OF THE BRITISH RED CROSS NURSE

EDITH CAVELL

THE MOST GRIPPING INCIDENT OF THE WAR

WITH

JULIA ARTHUR

SUPPORTED BY

CREIGHTON HALE

AND AN EXCEPTIONAL SCREEN CAST

DIRECTED BY JOHN G. ADOLFI

PRODUCED BY

JOS. L. PLUNKETT AND FRANK J. CARROLL

SUITE 908 · 220 WEST 42 ST. NEW YORK CITY

Keep your eye on the Eagle!

"Lafayette, We Come!"

(Pershing-1917)

Produced by Leonce Perret
featuring E.K. Lincoln and Dolores Cassinelli

Released By

AFFILIATED DISTRIBUTORS

Corporation
1476 Broadway
NEW YORK

Shipped From
MUTUAL FILM EXCHANGES

An Open Letter to:—

Messrs. WM. A. BRADY
PAUL BRUNET
WM. FOX
SAMUEL GOLDFISH
RICORD GRADWELL
W. H. HODKINSON
CARL LAEMMLE
JESSE LASKY
R. A. ROWLAND
JAMES SHELDON
ALBERT E. SMITH
LEWIS SELZNICK
FRANK TICHENOR
ADOLPH ZUKOR

and other Executives of Production and Distribution in the Film Industry.

Gentlemen:-

That there is a great deal of waste in the production and distribution of films is known to us all.

We can put our fingers on the collective waste, but refuse to find it in our own organizations, or cannot eradicate it, unless competitors do likewise.

On September 14th I sent a letter to the Priorities Committee of the War Industries Board at Washington, in which are recommended drastic curtailments in production and distribution, for the good of the Nation; and possibly also for that of the Industry.

Loudly proclaiming our patriotism, eagerly professing a wish to help win the war, some of us nevertheless increase production, piling Ossa upon Pelion, furnishing a Gargantuan feed to a market already overfed; we multiply distributing offices instead of reducing them; we cover the country with a swarm of traveling solicitors, while Uncle Sam needs able bodied men for war work.

Let's help the government by lessening our activities, not increasing them.

Action by Washington along the lines of my letter will have a vital effect upon the Industry. Therefore, I will send a copy on request to executives and others directly affected by such action.

Very truly yours,

GEO. KLEINE.

63 E. Adams St.
Chicago, Ill.

GEORGE KLEINE

PRESENTS

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN AMERICA

BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY

WID SAYS:—(In issue September 22nd)

INTERESTING AND COMPREHENSIVE FILM SHOWING ITALY'S WAR INDUSTRIES.

EVERY ONE WHO SEES THIS FILM IS GOING TO BE AGREEABLY ENLIGHTENED AS TO WHAT A REALLY TREMENDOUS FACTOR OUR ITALIAN ALLIES ARE!

NOW BOOKING FREE TO ALL EXHIBITORS IN THE UNITED STATES

"THE THOUGHT OF THE MOMENT"

AN INSPIRING LIBERTY LOAN FEATURE with

GRACE VALENTINE

Star of "THE UNCHASTENED WOMAN"

ARRANGE DATES NOW THROUGH THE NEAREST EXCHANGE OF THE

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM

State Rights Men Take Notice

A LARGE, responsible moving picture corporation wants, immediately, the name and address of every man interested in buying state rights productions, for the purpose of determining whether there are enough such prospective buyers in the field to warrant marketing certain big, fine feature pictures on the state rights basis or whether it would be better to arrange for distribution through one of the regular releasing channels.

We will not go into details about the pictures at this time, except to say that they are of state rights calibre to such an extent that the element of gambling is quite removed. They offer a sure chance of profit on investment to any man who knows the state rights business.

Please do not send in your name as an interested prospective buyer unless you are really looking for something that is somewhat hard to find—pictures of genuine state rights quality.

Address Box 55, care Motion Picture News

Motion Picture News

Vol. 18 No. 14. October 5, 1918

The Week in the Film World at a Glance

FEATURES

WAR! WAR! (WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON).....2165
EDITORIALLY SPEAKING 2166
THE HONOR ROLL.....2167
INDUSTRY STARTS LIBERTY DRIVE.....2167
CHICAGO GOOD ON WEEK DAYS.....2178
THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK.....2243

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Zip! Liberty Loan Under Way.....2167
Theatre Owners Meet in Albany.....2168
Anderson Forms League for Mutual Benefit.....2169
Division of Films Moves to New Quarters.....2169
War Spirit Rules Exposition.....2170
Well Organized for the Loan.....2171
Three New Washington Theatres.....2172
Newsy Reports from All Sections.....2173
Adolph Zukor Obliges British.....2174
Select Promotes Edith Koch.....2174
Live News from the Producers.....2190
In and Out the West Coast Studios.....2212
Items of the Studios.....2214
In the Independent Field.....2223
Complete Plan Book.....2243

OF SERVICE TO EXHIBITORS

Exhibitors' Box-Office Reports.....2175
Exhibitors' Service Bureau.....2178
Coming Program Offerings.....2210
Equipment Service 2227
Studio Short News.....2214
Projection Department 2230
Camera Department 2234
Music and the Picture.....2237
Theatres Worth While.....2241
Releases—Current and Coming.....2262
Index of Complete Plan Book.....2242
Complete Plan Book.....2243

COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

Plan Book Index.....2242
Advance Reviews 2243
"The Rainbow Trail" (Fox).....2244
"Laughing Bill Hyde" (Goldwyn).....2245
"Come On In" (Paramount).....2246
"Queen of Hearts" (Fox).....2247
"Pals First" (Screen Classics) 2248
"Out of a Clear Sky" (Paramount).....2249
"Kildare of Storm" (Metro).....2250
"Behind the Lines in Italy" (Kleine).....2251
"The Velvet Hand" (Universal).....2252
"Appearance of Evil" (World).....2253
"The Bells" (Pathe).....2254
"Diplomatic Mission" (Vitagraph).....2255
"Embarrassment of Riches" (Walker).....2256
"Vive La France" (Paramount).....2257
"Desert Law" (Triangle).....2258
"The Temple of Dusk" (Haworth).....2259
"The Border Raiders" (Pathe).....2260
Advance Reviews (continued).....2261

Newsy Announcements of the Week Found in the Ad-Pages

"The Velvet Hand," a Bluebird, With Fritz Brunette Starred 2098
Paramount-Artcraft on National Advertising.....2099
Triangle Presents "Tony America," Featuring Francis McDonald 2100
Gladys Leslie on Vitagraph Program in "The Mating"..2101
Another Vitagraph Serial Ready, "The Iron Test," With Antonio Moreno and Carol Halloway.....2102-03
The Big V Comedies.....2104
Records of "Over the Top".....2105
The Record Established by Norma Talmadge's First Series of Select Productions and Her First of the New Season, "The Forbidden City".....2106-07
A Telegram That Tells the Merit of Hodkinson Service....2108
Goldwyn Starts Season With Five Hits in a Row.....2109
About Mabel Normand in "Peck's Bad Girl".....2110-11
Two Opinions on Goldwyn's "Laughing Bill Hyde" That Are Worth Something..... ,2112
Bill Parsons' Success.....2113
Box-Office Value of "For the Freedom of the East"....2114
On the Screen Telegram.....2115
Harry Garson's Productions..... ...2116-17
About Fox's "18 to 45".....2118
Evelyn Nesbit in "The Woman Who Gave".....2119
Fox's Two Big Patriotic Bets, "Why America Will Win" and "The Prussian Cur".....2120
And Two Others That Are Soon Due, "Why I Would Not Marry" and "Queen of the Sea".....2121
Gladys Brockwell in "Kultur".....2122
Jane and Katherine Lee, "Swat the Spy".....2123
Mutt and Jeff and the Sunshine Comedies.....2124
Fox's Victory Pictures.....2125
Gaumont News Reels and Its serial, "The Hand of Vengeance 2151
The Industry's Pledge to the Nation on the Next Loan.2126-27
American Pictures—Four Winners—at Pathe Exchanges.2128-29
On Pathe's Rolin Comedies.....2130
Pathe's Latest Features, "Japanese Nightingale" and "The Bells".....2131-32
The Official War Review.....2133
An Announcement on S. L. Warner's Latest Production, "The Kaiser's Finish".....2134-35-36-337
World Film Corporation's Latest Picture.....2138-39
The Screen Classic Production, "Pals First," with Harold Lockwood 2142-43
The Exposition 2144-45
A Message from the Committee on Public Information.2140-41
Educational Presents the Ditmars' Series of Half-reel Subjects 2153
United Picture Theatres.....2146-47
Exclusive Offers "Who's Afraid of the Hun?" and Displays Some of the Paper on This Subject.....2148
The Houdini Serial.....2149-50
"The Woman the Germans Shot—Edith Cavell" Is Presented by Carroll and Plunkett.....2158
"Lafayette, We Come," at Affiliated.....2151
The Life Story of Lloyd George on the Way, in ten reels 2154-55
Evelyn Nesbit in "Her Mistake".....2156
Robertson-Cole 2157
On the Latest Releases Through George Kleine System.2160-61
A Message that State Rights Men Will Be interested in..2162
What Newspaper Critics Think of Chaplin in "Triple Trouble" 2164
"Crashing Through to Berling"—Jewel.....2202-03
"The Yellow Dog" Is Coming.....2204
"Around the Clock With the Sailor," Another Universal Attraction From the Y. M. C. A.....2205
"The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin", Big Enough for a Third Repeat 2206
"How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," a Sullivan Cartoon..2207
Universal News Reels.....2208

Wm. A. Johnston, Pres. and Editor. Henry F. Sewall, Vice-Pres. E. Kendall Gillett, Sec. and Treas.

Published on Friday every week by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, Inc., 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 'Phone 9360 Bryant. Chicago Representative, W. M. Hight, 220 So. State St.; 'Phone Harrison 7667. Los Angeles Representative, J. C. Jessen, 429 South Figueroa St.; 'Phones 780 Pico, F-4661. Subscription $2 a year, postpaid, in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Philippine Islands. Canada, $3. N. B.—No agent is authorized to take subscriptions for Motion Picture News at less than these rates Have the agent who takes your subscription show his credentials and coupon book.

Copyright, 1918, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

Newspaper Critics Call "Triple Trouble" Funniest Chaplin Film

READ THESE FEW EXCERPTS TAKEN AT RANDOM FROM HUNDREDS OF COMMENDATORY CLIPPINGS:

"You will laugh, you will scream and you will roar, when you see this brand new Charlie Chaplin comedy, 'Triple Trouble.'" —Columbia, S. C., State.

"Charlie Chaplin, in his latest comedy success, 'Triple Trouble,' is smashing all records at the Franklin Theatre this week. The crowds gladly wait their turn to get a chance to see Chaplin and laugh at his endless troubles."—Oakland, Cal., Enquirer.

"Charlie Chaplin, in 'Triple Trouble,' is easily the hot weather, surefire hit, and in one of his best Essanay brand comedies is attracting hosts of admirers."—Schenectady, N. Y., Star.

"Charlie Chaplin, in 'Triple Trouble,' injects a lot of new comedy never before presented by the king of comedians If you think you have seen Charlie in funny ones, take a peek at him in his newest comedy and you'll vote him the best ever."—Fall River, Mass., Globe.

"'Triple Trouble' is more fatal to a fit of blues than an attack of laughing gas. The picture is meeting with great success at the Strand this week and is proving one of the funniest of the Chaplin films."—Duluth, Minn., Herald.

"The Essanay Chaplin comedies have been listed among the most humorous the little comedian has made . . . and Essanay made one film—'Triple Trouble'—that was the funniest of any."—Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser.

LOOK AT THIS NEW CHAPLIN PICTURE YOURSELF!

ESSANAY
GEORGE K. SPOOR PRESIDENT

George Kleine System
Distributors

Perfection Pictures

"When you see it in 'The News' It's News"

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

"The Exhibitors' Medium of Communication"

Volume 18. No. 14 October 5, 1918

War! War!

Lay Aside Your Film Business and Consider Your Film Industry

LAST week, and the week before, we published two editorials of so grave a character that they seemed to us to be little short of explosive.

They stated a situation no less alarming than this: a great industry teetering on a fence as to its essentiality in war times; an industry faced with a plain edict from the government that priorities necessary to its operation will only be issued when it has proved its ability to conserve its resources—in strict accord with other industries and with the cold, relentless military needs of a nation at war.

These stipulations from the government are only such as should prevail in time of peace; in other words they—or at least the major stipulations—would, if adopted, insure the industry a sane, solid, prosperous future.

In time of peace we might expect no such action from the industry—and by the industry we mean primarily the makers and distributors of pictures.

We might not expect them to unite and curtail production and reduce the needless extravagance of distribution.

We would deem it utterly impossible in ordinary times for all of them to sit around a table and name a conservation commission to put their industry in economic order.

But—we did believe that the war situation put the matter in a totally new and different light.

They—the manufacturers and distributors—must know that the government, from dire and solemn necessity, is laying firm hands today upon every unit of man power and jealously guarding every pound of coal, every dollar of bank credit and every ounce of chemicals needed in war work.

Other industries are abreast of the situation; some under government administration, some under government control, some having swung their entire plants and resources into war work, some having hastened to adopt conservations which they knew would sooner or later be forced upon them.

So we felt that an urgent statement of so pressing and inevitable a situation would bring an immediate response.

It did not.

We felt that we had thrown a bomb.

But evidently this industry, in peace or war alike, is bomb proof.

"Wolf! Wolf!" has been cried too much, perhaps. Even War! War! has now no effect.

Suppose we give a dispassionate analysis of the situation in New York as we find it today, after having presented the facts, in person, to a number of producers and distributors.

There is a general appreciation of the full gravity of the outlook: but coupled with this is an equal feeling of helplessness or hesitation, or hopelessness, or utter selfishness.

The man who has curtailed production says the problem is the other fellow's, not his. The man who has tried to merge distribution says he has done his duty and the other fellow is to blame. The short-sided or selfish man is scheming how he can twist the day's situation to his own advantage.

The undercurrent of the whole layout brings sharply to the surface the two great and fatal weaknesses of the film business today; first its impulse to do business for the day only, and with no thought of the future; secondly, its preference for gambling as against the use of sane business thought and action.

A sorry attitude for the nation's fifth industry and first medium of expression!

You admit, gentlemen, that what your country now asks of you, in the way of conserving your resources, is only what your best business judgment tells you is best for your industry and best for your business in the long run.

You admit that what your country now asks of you in the way of conserving your use of men and materials is best in your country's best interests.

Yet do you admit helplessness?

We are not merely scolding.

This is not merely an editorial feature.

The gravity of the situation is utterly beyond all this.

We are simply presenting a case.

We are asking you to think—to lay aside mentally your film business and consider your film industry.

This industry must be made essential.

To make it essential, production must be curtailed and distribution wants eliminated.

In order to do this—to make all join hands in conservation, there must be power, power to untie the helplessness that now exists.

That power must be wielded intelligently, and with a keen, a practical, a sympathetic knowledge of the intricate machinery of the business—and a broad vision as to its future status.

Where is that power coming from?

What provision will you now make to see that it is a sympathetic, practical, intelligent power?

(Editorials Continued on next page)

(Editorials continued from preceding page)

Big Fields Ahead

THE opportunity for the motion picture was never so great as it is today.

The War—a war demanding the light of truth all over the world—has brought the motion picture into the world's limelight as an agent of vital need and tremendous power.

It is now a shaping force in the world's greatest crisis, and rising to its magnificent opportunity, as it has, it has indicated to the leaders of thought, the even greater part it can and must play in the future.

This war is the greatest crisis in the world's history; but it may be succeeded by a greater one.

Big men are breathing this thought today.

They know that after the war there must be a great social and economic readjustment.

They know that after the war the world must be made safe for democracy with perhaps greater odds against true democracy than the present odds of military autocracy, lust and greed upon the part of a single nation.

They know that democracy must be steered safely between great rocks, one of which is the radicalism that has recently shown its ugly head as never before in history.

And they know that education, the true education of the world's masses, will be the one and only steering force.

And they furthermore know that the motion picture will be the prime agent in the great and necessary regime of education.

So there are amazingly great fields ahead for the motion picture.

And it behooves this industry to prepare for them—if, indeed the industry and we who are now in it, are to expand as the motion picture will expand.

* * *

British Films in American Market

MR. H. ROWSON, of London, makes an interesting appeal, in the issue, for less insularity in the film trade. He believes that well made British pictures, for instance, can and should find a favorable market in America.

The subject is one of much discussion in the British trade press and should be as seriously viewed over here.

Looking at the matter in a purely practical way, it strikes us that there will be less insularity in the distribution of pictures provided there is less insularity in the making of them.

If American pictures go well throughout the world it is only because they contain the essential elements of popularity; and these we believe are due to their sharp action, story interest, enterprising and skillful direction, and those important effects only to be had through a considerable outlay of money.

Foreign made pictures when put upon the American market have to compete with American pictures. They will have the advantage of locale—the making of better pictures constantly emphasizes the necessity of staging the story in its true home; and they have the advantage of novel appeal perhaps.

But these pictures must meet the American public's demands for vivid appeal, effects and action.

American directors are important, we believe, to the production of foreign made films; and, to repeat, where the expenditure of considerable money is necessary there must be no hesitation and there need be none in view of the picture's potentially wider market.

A number of British pictures have done well here. Some have been given highest praise by the critics. Some evidenced a very high type of picture making organization.

As for subject matter, we believe Mr. Rowson's announcement of the new Ideal pictures, the life of Lloyd George, also in this issue, is proof of the fact that British pictures can be made of interest to the entire public.

* * *

Save the Pennies

EVEN if the big and obvious economies—such as reduced production and elimination of unnecessary exchanges—are not effected by the industry there are smaller savings that can be made.

They call for the patriotic effort and honor of the exhibitor, operator and exchange.

The operator who takes better care of his film is there by saving film footage and its valuable chemicals; he will also enable the exchange to reduce its help and release its employees to war industries.

The exhibitor and exchange should bring about, by mutual effort, a system which rents posters instead of the selling system now generally in vogue. Thousands of posters are now thrown away, after use, in the best of condition.

The prompt return of cuts and accessories by the exhibitor will enable exchanges to reduce the size of their stock.

These may seem to be minor savings, but they will loom large in the aggregate, and they will count heavily with many an exhibitor when the new and heavy taxes, which now seem almost certain, cut into or cut out his present meagre profit.

* * *

The Basis of State Organization

THE exhibitors of Anderson, Indiana, eight in all have formed a local league with the slogan "A square deal for all."

We believe thoroughly in these local leagues.

First they are necessary in order to handle quickly local situations involving the welfare of the picture theatres. No state organization is able to tackle these local situations.

Secondly, they make the ideal and necessary basis of a state organization of all the exhibitors.

Sydney S. Cohen, President of the New York State League, is organizing New York State through its fifty-one senatorial districts. Here is the sample principle—a state league made up of district locals, embracing exhibitor strength and activity and ready for local action or, in a body, for state action.

* * *

Conserve!

In a recent address Samuel Untermeyer declared:

"This country will be divided into just two classes when this war is over—into those who did their duty and those who did not. And woe be to those who did not!"

C. S. Hutchinson

Honor Roll

Spencer Tupman, formerly organist at the Leader, at Washington, D. C., has joined the service of Uncle Sam, entering the Bandmaster's Training School. It was Mr. Tupman who inaugurated organ recitals in the Washington picture houses and made them an attractive feature for music lovers.

Fred Goodwins, whose peculiar style of light comedy acting has won him numerous admirers in Paramount and Artcraft Pictures, leaves for England after the completion of "The Way of a Man with a Maid," Bryant Washburn's next starring vehicle, in which Goodwins plays a leading role. He will go to an officers' training camp.

Two more service stars were added to the L-KO service flag when Jack Ball, assistant director with the Jim Davis company, enlisted in the tank service, and when Frank Mock, assistant to Director Craig Hutchinson, was called to Texas for limited service. The L-KO flag now contains thirty-nine service stars.

Malcolm S. Boylan, assistant publicity director at Universal City, is now at Camp Kearny awaiting a call from the Signal Corps, to be trained as a war photographer. Boylan was leader of the men from his draft district when they entrained for the camp.

In a letter to Winfield R. Sheehan, general manager of the Fox Film Corporation, Aaron B. Bernd, formerly in the Fox publicity department and now a private in the American Expeditionary Force, says he is stationed at Bordeaux and is working in the Quartermaster laundry.

Oscar Cooper, of "Exhibitor's Trade Review" of New York, has gone to Camp Lee, Virginia, to enter the Infantry Officers' Training School.

Bobby Vernon reports for service at the Submarine Base on Monday morning, September 9th. For the past week this Christie Comedy juvenile has been utilizing his spare moments in breaking up housekeeping.

Thomas Evans, head of the Evans Film Manufacturing Co., of New York City, has been promoted to the rank of major in the Sanitary Corps, where he has important duties in connection with the Construction School at Washington.

Renwicke Wylie Abott, title editor of the Universal West Coast Studios, received telegraphic word this week that he had been appointed a captain in the Motor Transport Corps. He was ordered to Camp Holabird, Volgate Creek, Maryland.

Jack Holloway, who has been doing publicity work for Diando, has entered the Merchant Marine, having formerly held a mate's license on the Atlantic. He left the studio last week.

Industry Starts Liberty Drive

While Waiting for "Send-Off" Gong Producers and Stars Put in Preliminary Good Work for Flying Start

THE GOAL

THE motion picture industry is going to sell $1,000,000,000 of Fourth Liberty bonds in the campaign beginning Sept. 28.. That is the goal it has set, and it has built up a thoroughly live organization with which to reach it.

Every motion picture theatre in the country has been constituted a selling force. Full page advertisements telling of the industry's Liberty Loan activities are a part of the campaign.

During the last few weeks, thirty-seven of the most prominent movie stars have appeared before the camera in Liberty Loan plays. Each of the large producing companies is represented, and one film will be shown every day of the campaign, in every motion picture house.

The companies have combined their efforts in a committee of which Adolph Zukor is chairman, and arrangements have been completed for the release of the pictures free to the exhibitors, at the twelve largest exchanges. With the film will go report blanks for Liberty Loan subscriptions.

WHEN the morning of September 27 dawned the motion picture industry, literally speaking, was up with the larks and putting the finishing touches to its preparations to send the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive away to a flying start. Not a producer, distributor, star, or anyone who could help was found wanting, with the result that prospects for the industry closing the race with flying colors are brighter now than ever before.

One of the latest producers to enter the lists is George Kleine, who, not to be outdone by his brother producers, has made a Liberty film for distribution, and in which Grace Valentine is the star. The title of Mr. Kleine's picture is "The Thought of the Moment," and Miss Valentine appears as the "Soul of Woman." The announcements of Liberty films made previous to last week carried no mention of Mr. Kleine's contribution, as he kept it as a surprise to exhibitors. With this film, all the Liberty films are now ready for distribution, as outlined in MOTION PICTURE NEWS last week and in previous issues. The entire distributing organization throughout the country, of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation is ready for the handling of the Liberty Loan films allotted to this company for circulation. All decks have been cleared for a 100 per cent distribution of these prints, and full instructions have been sent to all branch managers by Al Lichtman, general manager in charge of distribution. Prints have been shipped to the Famous Players-Lasky exchanges and every detail in connection with the efficient handling of these films has been made clear so that there will be an absolutely systematic handling of the pictures.

In a letter to exhibitors, Vitagraph said: "From now until the close of the campaign, October the 19th, there will be available for your use, free of charge, the following subjects which were made for this particular purpose, namely: "Bonds versus Bonds," featuring Earle Williams; "The Choice," featuring Alice Joyce; "The Decision," featuring William Duncan; "The Grouch," featuring Harry Morey; "A Wise Purchase," featuring Corinne Griffith; "Her Last Pledge," featuring Gladys Leslie."

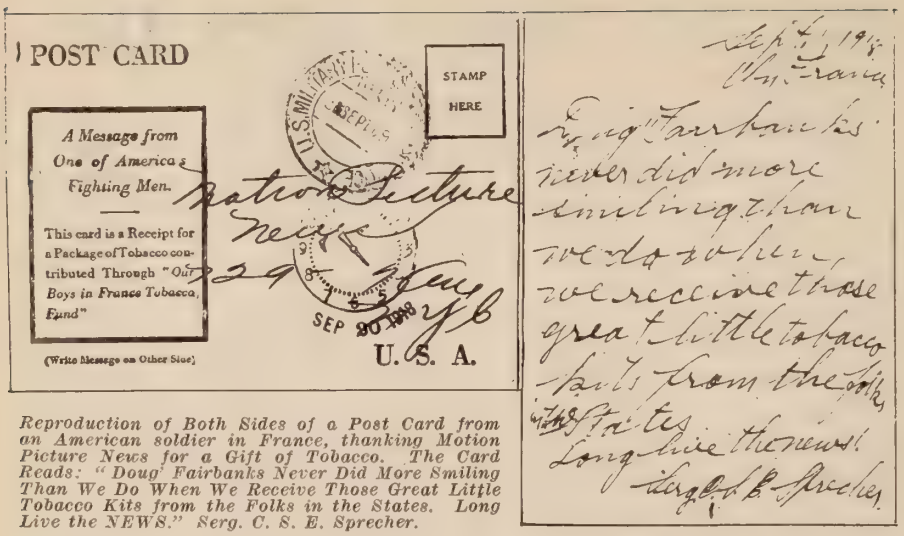
Other companies are exerting every effort to send the films over the top in first-class shape.

Carefully formulated plans to obtain the 100 per cent distribution desired by the Government for the Liberty Loan films contributed by the various stars and producing organizations of the industry, were announced last week by the Liberty Loan Committee of the Motion Picture Industry. The co-operation of the exhibitor, who will be one of the most important units of the industry in assuring complete success for the committee's projected campaign is earnestly sought by the industry. Reports received from the field indicate that the showmen will not be found wanting, and that they are preparing to extend the fullest possible co-operation to the Treasury Department and the Industry's committee.

The following letter, which was drafted by the Liberty Loan Committee of the Motion Picture Industry, and which explains in detail the regulation for the distribution of the prints to be used in the campaign, has been sent by each of the distributing organizations co-operating in the movement to all of its exchanges:

"Uniform rules and regulations for the handling of the Liberty Loan prints to be used in the Liberty Loan campaign are contained in the following letter, prepared by Al. Lichtman, manager of distribution for the Liberty Loan Committee of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, and which has been sent by the Home Office of each distributing organization to all of its exchanges:

"The Motion Picture Industry, collectively and individually, gives way to no other industry or group of individuals in patriotism, and in practical substantial aid to the Government. As evidence of this fact, 37 of the various motion picture stars have made negatives in aid of the Fourth Liberty Loan. From each negative, the Government is furnishing 112 prints to be distributed by the branch offices of the several distributing organizations, as follows:



"1st: Each company will distribute, through all of its offices in the United States, the prints in which its own stars appear.

"2nd: Bookings of the Liberty Loan prints shall be made to any exhibitor, whether or not he runs our product.

"3rd: Each branch office of each distributing organization will be held strictly accountable, not only by its Home Office, but by the Treasury Department, for booking solid each print from the date of receipt of each print, up to and including the 19th day of October. Shipment of prints will begin on September 15.

"4th: No exhibitor shall be permitted to book

(Continued on page 2169)

Reproduction of Both Sides of a Post Card from an American soldier in France, thanking Motion Picture News for a Gift of Tobacco. The Card Reads: "Doug' Fairbanks Never Did More Smiling Than We Do When We Receive Those Great Little Tobacco Kits from the Folks in the States. Long Live the NEWS." Serg. C. S. E. Sprecher.

Theatre Owners Meet in Albany

State Capital Is Scene of Appointment by Sydney S. Cohen of 51 Men to Look After Liberty Loan Campaign for Association

A CONFERENCE of the picture theatre owners of the state of New York, representing 1,600 screens, opened at the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany, N. Y., at noon on September 26.

The exhibitors throughout the state showed great enthusiasm on the matters brought to their attention by the president, Sydney S. Cohen, of New York. A letter from Guy Emerson, Director of Publicity, Second Federal Reserve District, outlining the plans of the Treasury Department, was read.

Resolutions were passed endorsing the Fourth Liberty Loan and lines were laid down in which an intensive campaign of bond selling will be waged throughout the motion picture theatres of the state of New York.

President Sydney S. Cohen appointed fifty-one representatives, one in each Senatorial district comprising the state, in order that the proper statistics could be compiled of what the theatre owners have accomplished in the selling of Liberty Bonds. A representative was designated in each of the three Assembly districts comprising each Senatorial district of the state.

When the question of Sunday opening was presented for consideration, the enthusiasm of the up-state men knew no bounds. It is the general belief that the efficient work and aid of the exhibitors in the support of Government Propaganda will do much to clarify the Sunday opening situation in the state of New York.

President Cohen made a strong appeal to the up-state exhibitors to make a gala week of October 5 to 13, during the Motion Picture Exposition to be held at Madison Square Garden. Many pledges were exacted, and New York City can look forward to the most notable gathering of theatre owners in its history.

The next Government picture now ready for screening, "America's Answer," was called to the attention of theatre owners. Hearty endorsement of same was given but many exhibitors expressed the opinion that the Division of Films could get much better results, if these pictures were released to all exhibitors on a percentage arrangement, in order that the smaller houses could play same and the fullest amount of screening could be given to this Government propaganda. Resolutions to that effect were passed.

The Brooklyn delegation to the conference presented a resolution endorsing the work of William A. Brady, the courageous National champion, an engraved copy of which will be presented to Mr. Brady by the president. This resolution was passed unanimously.

A resolution was passed authorizing the state president, Sydney S. Cohen, to urge the proper representation be given the exhibitors of the state of New York in the new affiliation of the national exhibitor organizations.

A resolution stating that a large percentage of the patrons of motion picture theatres being women, the president, Sydney S. Cohen, is urged to hold conferences with the leaders of the Woman's Suffrage Party of the state of New York, in order that a closer co-operation can be effected for their mutual benefit. A letter from the New York State Woman Suffrage Party was read, asking the exhibitors of the state of New York to show slides in their theatres urging the women of the state of New York to register on the coming registration days, October 7 to 12.

Four Dark Nights Decreed for Picture Houses

In co-operation with Fuel Administrator Garfield, Harry Crandall, representing the picture interests, has decreed four dark nights for the picture houses, from Monday to Thursday, inclusive.

Exhibitors declare that there is no lack of patronage on these nights, but they have substantially decreased their electric light bill, which amounts can be more advantageously used to help win the war.

Soldiers Abroad Thank News for Smokes

That the shipments of tobacco to our soldiers abroad through the "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund" are fully appreciated and welcomed by the lads in khaki was made quite evident last week by the receipt of over a score of post cards from the boys themselves. In one batch Motion Picture News received thirty-one post cards, each of which had been written by a soldier from the United States who has received the tobacco through the fund.

Many indications that this appreciation will spur the stay-at-homes to keep the stream of tobacco going to France have been noted by Motion Picture News. Theatres throughout the country have been doing noble work in supplying our lads with not only tobacco but other little luxuries, which they appreciate heartily. Exhibitors, although their time over here is dominated by the business of keeping "going," do not lose sight of the heroes' needs abroad.

F. I. L. M. Club to Honor William A. Brady

The F. I. L. M. Club of New York will honor William A. Brady, President of the National Association, and his daughter, Alice Brady, with a theatre party at the Central theatre, September 30, in witnessing Miss Brady's latest stage success, "Forever After."

Already there has been a large subscription list and it is expected "Who's Who" of the film industry will be present. The F. I. L. M. Club will also give a Dinner Dance at Reisenwebber's early in October.

Those who were present at the Dinner Dances for the members of the F. I. L. M. Club will remember what enjoyable affairs they were, and it is expected that this year will prove a repetition of last season's success.

This is only the forefun of enjoyable affairs that will be given by the F. I. L. M. Club during the current season. The dinner is limited to the F. I. L. M. Club members, their ladies, and friends.

Pathe Holds Convention "To Save and Serve"

Pathe celebrated on September 24, 25 and 26 by holding a "save and serve" convention which was attended by the managers of all the thirty exchanges. The convention was held at the home offices of the company in New York. It was the first time in the history of the company that representatives from points west of the Rocky Mountains have been called to the home office in a body.

Paul Brunet, vice-president and general manager of Pathe, has approved of an elaborate program prepared by Sales Manager Quimby, which includes discussions of many matters of interest to the sales force as well as generous plans for entertainment.

The keynote of the convention was conservation and economy in order to meet the war time expectations of the Government.

Industry Starts Liberty Loan Drive

(Continued from page 2167)

one subject for more than one day; nor to book two subjects for the same day, whether such subjects are handled by this or another company; in other words, no exhibitor shall have more than one of the 35 subjects for any day; nor shall any exhibitor be permitted to obtain a repeat booking for any subject.

"5th: No charge shall be made directly or indirectly to any exhibitor for the exhibition of any Liberty Loan print.

"6th: Instead of shipment being made to exhibitors by express, all such shipments are to be made by post under a Government frank, especially issued for the purpose. This frank will be evidenced by a label. These labels will be sent to you along with the shipment of prints. It, of course, follows that no postage will be necessary. One label is to be inclosed in each shipment for the exhibitor's use in returning the print. A heavy penalty is attached to the use of such labels for any other purpose.

"7th: At the top of each booking sheet you will write the words, 'Respectfully submitted to the Treasury Department of the United States Government.'

"8th: On October 20 you shall forward to this office the original booking sheets, or duplicates thereof, showing the specific theatres and the days for which each print was on exhibition, as well as the dates for which each print was in transit. Such information is not to be conveyed by signs or hieroglyphics; but, on the contrary, is to be plainly written, so that the actual facts are perfectly apparent to a layman totally unacquainted with the booking sheets and booking methods of the Motion Picture Industry.

"9th: For each day that each exhibitor books a Liberty Loan print, such exhibitor is to be impressed with the necessity of sending to you a record of the total amount of the Liberty Loan subscription taken at his theatre for that day. This record shall be carefully entered by you in a book kept solely for that purpose, and a transcript thereof daily sent to this office. Each page of such book shall be totalled, and the total carried over to the succeeding page, for it is quite probable that several times during the drive you will be asked to send by wire, the total of the subscriptions obtained to date by the theatres booking the prints assigned to you.

"10th: The prints allotted to you are Government property. Accordingly, you are held personally responsible for their safety. Immediately after the conclusion of the drive, you will be asked to return all prints to the Government. Shipping instructions for such return will be forwarded to you at a later date.

"11th: This same letter of instructions is sent by the Home Office of each distributing organization, to its respective offices. In other words, all exchanges handling the Liberty Loan prints, are receiving a uniform letter of instructions prepared by the Committee of the Motion Picture Industry, appointed by the Treasury Department.

"12th: No excuse or alibi will be entertained either by the Government or by this office, for permitting any print to remain idle on the shelf.

"It is, of course, recognized both by the Treasury Department and by the Liberty Loan Committee of the Motion Picture Industry, that all of the exhibitors of the United States are more than anxious to perform their patriotic duty, by exhibiting a Liberty Loan subject every day of the drive, and that, therefore, each exhibitor will see to it that he possesses complete bookings for the entire period.

"It is likewise recognized with equal force, that you, and each member of your organization, are just as anxious to do your bit in aid of the Liberty Loan, as the exhibitors are to do theirs, and that, therefore, you will see to it that each print is booked solid during the drive, so that each day for each print is accounted for, by the print being on actual exhibiton, or being in actual transit.

"'By this method both you and the exhibitors will execute a 100 per cent. result.

"'From the above, it is, of course, manifest to you that the purposes of this distribution are twofold; first, to perform, to the fullest extent, our duty to the great cause and to the Government; and, second, and very incidentally, to demonstrate to the Government, by actual figures, the extent to which the Motion Picture Industry is a practical aid; and, therefore, essential, and that all the members of this Industry, in all its branches, are more than ready and willing and capable of doing their bit to the extent of 100 per cent.'"

Goldman Appointed Censor

Mayor Cowgill has appointed Henry Goldman as film censor at Kansas City, to succeed Sydney J. Baker, resigned. Goldman was formerly assistant film censor, and previously was on the road as traveling salesman.

COLUMBUS DAY

Exhibitors Asked to Pay Tribute to Italy on That Day

THE National Security League, Inc., of New York, has asked the theatre managers and exhibitors of the country to join the league in a tribute to Italy on Columbus Day, October 12. It is suggested that theatres fly Italian flags and use as part of the musical program the Garibaldi Hymn.

Exhibitors played no small part in the celebration of our own national Flag Day, and it is felt that they will, as usual, come to the front and lead the populace in paying fitting tribute to our great ally, Italy.

The Security League has said: "The patriotic services of the industry cannot be overestimated. They have been ever ready to do their part."

Exhibitors who have formed no plan for this day are invited to get in touch either with the Security League, 19 West 44th street, New York, or MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Anderson Forms League for Mutual Benefit

Additional indications that exhibitors can accomplish more in league with each other for mutual benefit than by operating separately and pulling several ways were brought to the attention of MOTION PICTURE NEWS this week in a letter from F. G. Heller, an exhibitor of Anderson, Ind.

The letter follows: "As president of a newly formed local Exhibitors' League, I feel that we have some news that is worth publishing. As exhibitors in Anderson, we are all on most friendly terms and feel that we can accomplish much with a little organization of our own. This is unusual, nevertheless true. While Anderson has a population of perhaps 25,000 people, with eight theatres, seating approximately 5,000, we believe there is room for all of us if we conduct our theatres in the proper way, and to this end we intend to put forth our greatest efforts. The operators, musicians, electricians, stage hands, film producing companies and in fact most every branch of the industry are organized, so why not the exhibitors?

"While it is true that the exhibitors of Anderson have not experienced a great many difficulties with film companies, employes, etc., yet little things occasionally arise that can be more easily settled by an organization rather than by the individual.

"The new organization will be known as the Exhibitors' Co-operative League of Anderson and the motto adopted is 'A square deal for all.'"

Officers elected as follows: F. G. Heller, president; J. J. Ryan, vice-president; D. Fitzgerald, secretary and treasurer.

U. S. Division of Films in New Quarters

Coincident with the removal of the Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, to its new quarters in the big office building at 6 and 8 W. Forty-eighth street, Director Chas. S. Hart announces several important changes in the alignment of the staff.

W. J. MacInnes, who assisted in planning and furnished a great deal of the copy for the big advertising campaigns on different war activities, including the Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives, from their inception, and who came from Chicago to establish the "Official Film News," published by the Division of Films in the interest of the Government war pictures, is named as Director of Advertising and Publicity, and will have entire charge of all exploitation, except that of the Bureau for Community Co-Operation, which continues in charge of Ryerson Ritchie.

All publicity for the Division of Films, including the designing and placing of trade paper and daily newspaper advertising, poster and window displays, and other methods of stimulating public interest, will be included in the Department of Advertising and Publicity. Willard D. Coxey will be manager of the Press Bureau, under direction of Mr. MacInnes. Howard Herrick, recently in charge of press publicity, will be associated with Manager George Bowles as Assistant Manager of Feature Films.

At the present time the Division of Films is using only the sixth floor of the Forty-eighth street building, but when the work of fitting up the offices is completed three entire floors will be utilized. The Executive Offices will be on the seventh floor, the Sales Department on the sixth and the Educational Films Department on the fourth.

Peach Seeds Admissions for Kansas Theatre

Ten peach seeds was the admission price to the children at the Empress theatre, Paola, Kansas, September 14. More than nine thousand seeds were collected at the special matinee, with which the town started its campaign to meet the Governments appeal for peach seed.

Paola is the first town in Kansas to make an organized effort in this direction. Theatre patrons are expected to drop peach seeds in a box at the entrance all next week—in addition to the regular admission. A hundred thousand seeds by next Saturday is Paola's goal.

New Exhibitors' Branch Is Now Incorporated

Peter Schaefer of Jones, Linick and Schaefer of Chicago, informs MOTION PICTURE NEWS that the recently amalgamated exhibitors' organization, of which he is president, has incorporated under the laws of Illinois as "National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, Exhibitors' Branch."

Twenty officers and directors had attached their names to the corporation papers.

War Spirit Rules the Exposition

National Association of the Motion Picture Industry Announces the Stage as All Set for National Exposition at Garden

EVERY form of war industry in which the Government is engaged will be shown and exhibited at the National Motion Picture Exposition to be held in Madison Square Garden October 5 to 13, inclusive. The latest governmental department to requisition space at the war service exposition of the motion picture industry is the United States Government Employment Service of the Department of Labor.

The object of the exhibition of this department will be to visualize for the people of New York the vast variety of the war work upon which the Government is engaged, and in doing so call their attention to the urgent need for mechanics and laborers of every kind to engage in an essential war industry.

They are planning one of the most interesting and instructive exhibits that could possibly be imagined. It is planned to show miniature ships actually in the course of construction. Miniature ways and shipyards will be built in Madison Square Garden and workmen will actually build ships before the eyes of the public.

Working in co-operation with this department is the Ordnance Department of the Army and Navy. The exhibit which is being planned by this branch of the service will open the eyes of those attending the exposition and will serve the purpose of bringing the war to their very doors.

Plans are now being worked out to show every weapon that is used in modern warfare and the exact manner in which it is used. The Ordnance Department of the United States Army will have on view a specimen of every form of deadly weapon that is used in war.

They will also provide a large detachment of soldiers in uniform who will demonstrate to the public the exact manner in which these weapons are used. There will be the Lee Enfield rifle as adapted for use by the American Army, the various kinds of revolvers, machine guns, trench mortars, anti aircraft guns, the various kinds of hand grenades, bombs of all description, including the serial bombs and the depth bombs which are creating such havoc among the German submarines, all of the different models of light artillery, and such forms of the gas bombs as can be shown without divulging military secrets to the enemy.

The Gas Defense Division of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army has also been invited to take space at the show, and a letter which has been received from Lieutenant Jackson of this division states that he will take the question up with the commanding officer of the division and give an answer in the course of a day or two.

Francis Lawrence, publicity director, of the United States Government Employment Division of the Department of Labor, was wildly enthusiastic when an offer of unlimited space at the show was offered to him by officials of the exposition company. He immediately stated that his department would require a minimum of 2,500 square feet of space and would undoubtedy need 5,000.

It is just as important that men be recruited to engage in the essential war industries as it is to send an army to France. Without the right and proper kind of equipment the soldier on the fighting front is helpless. This exposition will furnish us with an opportunity to demonstrate to the people of New York and vicinity the great need for labor and permit us to visualize for them the great variety of the war work of the Government.

World Pictures, among others, has just contracted for a large space in the Motion Picture Exposition which will be held in New York City during the month of October. The space is prominently located near the main entrance to Madison Square Garden, where the exposition will be held, and it will be elaborately decorated for the event. The World is planning to have some of its stars at the space each evening during the progress of the exposition to greet the crowds of people who are interested in World actors and actresses and World productions.

Urges Concerted Effort to Better Express Service

Abe H. Kaufman, of Memphis, in a letter to MOTION PICTURE NEWS champions the idea of concerted action on the part of exchange men to secure better express and parcel post service on films.

"A concerted effort should be made by all exhibitors and exchangemen of the entire country to secure better express and parcel post service," declares Mr. Kaufman.

"The exhibitors in our territory are missing out on their programs regularly, and rarely a day passes that we are not called on to furnish some two to five emergency shows (which, of course, we do not object to). However, if this continues, the public will lose faith in the exhibitors' advertisements, as a good many of the exhibitors here are missing out on their programs more frequently than they show the one advertised.

"When you take into consideration the fact that a large portion of the films shown today are patriotic or propaganda subjects, a great part of the effectiveness of this necessary Government work is being lost when films are delayed, and this letter is being directed to you with the hope that you can furnish us with the names of the proper parties to whom this matter should be referred, and further that you will suggest to the entire industry to take it up with said parties immediately."

Junet to New York Pathe

Raoul Junet, for several years manager of Pathe's New Orleans office, has been appointed Sales Controller by Paul Brunet, vice-president and general manager of Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Mr. Junet will be located at the home office in New York.

Mexican Scenes Secured by Educational

George D. Wright returned to the "good old U. S. A." September 23 with 11,000 feet of "shots" of President Carranza, the Mexican Cabinet and Congress, the Mexican Army, the activities of Ambassador Fletcher and the recent doings at the Tampico oil fields, all of which will be released by Educational after it has been censored and formally admitted by the American Federal Government.

Mr. Wright's headquarters in New York is the Educational Film Corporation, for which he made his first series of twelve one-reelers, "Mexico Today," now in course of distribution. After launching that series last spring he went back to the Mexican capital and has been working there ever since, with the co-operation of the political authorities and the aid of his veteran cameraman, D. W. Gobbett. In speaking of the results achieved, Mr. Wright said:

"I have brought back the first motion pictures of the political life of Mexico, for, although individual scenes have been taken now and again by free lances, this is the first time that the Mexican Government has permitted its personnel and its activities to be picturized. I owe much to the kindness of Mr. Carranza, who gave me the freedom of Chapultepec and posed both with his official and his private family; to the American Ambassador, Mr. Fletcher; to the commanders of the Allied battleships in Tampico Harbor, and to Mexican officials of all grades who aided me with the military pictures and in recording the events of the Mexican Independence Day.

"The nature of the films cannot be fully disclosed till after they have been passed by the Committee on Public Information. There is no harm in stating, however, that they contain a great deal to stimulate American patriotism and to cement our present good relations with the Mexican Republic."

"America's Answer" Plays at Camp Upton

Considering the quarantine at Camp Upton and the possibility of the resulting necessity to cancel outside attractions in the Liberty theatre, E. L. Hyman, Director of Pictures, War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities, has booked a big feature picture for the week commencing Sunday, September 22.

"America's Answer" will be played Sunday and Monday. This is the second official Government picture, and this will be the first showing for it outside of the George M. Cohan New York theatre. "The Desert Man," with William S. Hart, Fatty Arbuckle and Mable Normand, Tuesday. Douglas Fairbanks in "The Americans" Wednesday.

Geraldine Farrar in her first Goldwyn picture, "The Turn of the Wheel"; also Mary Zentag, violinist virtuso, and Herbert Waterous, basso, will render solos on Thursday and Friday. Both of these soloists have donated their services through the courtesy of the Strand theatre, New York City.

Reviewers See More Liberty Pictures

The fourteen Liberty Loan pictures which the committee was unable to show at the Rivoli on September 18, were exhibited for the press in the Paramount projecting room on Monday. These include pictures with a number of Vitagraph stars, as well as the Goldwyn all-star appeal.

Corinne Griffith appeared as a girl who received money to invest in whatever pleased her most, and after looking at a number of pretty things decided to buy bonds.

Alice Joyce was a factory girl who invested her money in bonds instead of buying clothes. Her soldier-boy sweetheart neglected her at first, but soon saw her worth.

Edith Storey held up Joseph Kilgour, bandit, at the point of a gun and relieved him of his stolen money to put in bonds.

Kalem's "My Country" gave a pathetic picture of a woman who lost her grandson in the war, but still considered her duty undone unless she bought bonds.

Wallace Reid as Mr. Average American appeared in a very clever little picture with his wife and baby and members of the Lasky stock company.

George Cohan's consisted of a series of pictures of the star speaking and fine titles by Jerome Beatty. It's one of the best of the lot.

Elsie Ferguson dismissed maid and chauffeur and sent them into war work.

Enid Bennett tried to enlist in the army but was contented finally in doing her work at home, soliciting bond subscriptions.

In a conception of Charles Maigne's Alice Brady looks on the work which one bond accomplishes.

Harry Morey and Betty Blythe in "The Grouch" carry patriotism into a restaurant and succeed in putting the skids under a pro-German waiter.

Gladys Leslie reforms a burglar and gets his promise to buy bonds.

William Faversham spoke the words of O. R. Geyer.

Earle Williams, as the American army, used each bond issue as a file to break the chains binding Civilization. The Fourth File did the trick.

The Goldwyn All-Star film, which included in its cast Tom Moore, Pauline Frederick, Madge Kennedy, Mabel Normand, Mae Marsh and John Sainpolis, had some fine, clever subtitles, as the various nations were seen seated around a table playing poker. This is entitled "Stake Uncle Sam to Win Your Hand," and was written by Willard Mack.

Many of the pictures contain flashes of parades and some effective scenes of the battlefields.

Earle Will Direct for Lillian Walker

William P. S. Earle will direct Lillian Walker, according to Lester Park, and the new director leaves with Mr. Park for Los Angeles today.

The story will be an adaption of "Frau," by John Breckenridge Ellis, and will be the second of Miss Walker's new starring venture.

Well Organized for Loan Drive

Theatre Owners' Association of Southern California Will Meet Weekly Hereafter—Sets the Pace for Similar Organizations

Keep This in Mind:

LET us unite in making the next Liberty Loan a success beyond anything heretofore accomplished in Government finance and a victory comparable to those now being won by our army in France.

ALTHOUGH reports are coming in from all over the country that the motion picture industry is well organized and keyed up for the Liberty Loan campaign, exhibitors in Southern California seem to have advanced faster in perfecting a strong and permanent organization.

Patriotic talks concerning man-power, liberty loans, and co-operation with the Four-Minute-Men made up the program of the bi-weekly meeting of the Theatre Owners Association of Southern California this week, and it was then decided that the meetings hereafter would be conducted weekly every Wednesday instead of every other Wednesday as heretofore.

Recently many of the theatre owners of Los Angeles were presented with messages from President Wilson thanking them for the co-operation given the Four-Minute-Men. These were presented to the theatre men at the theatres, and in each instance they were asked to respond. A feature of the luncheon this week was that each of the theatre men was asked to again give their speech of acceptance. This provided a very enjoyable feature.

Report of what the Motion Picture Producers' Association is doing to add manpower in compliance with the "work or fight" ruling was made by W. J. Reynolds, secretary of the association in Los Angeles. His remarks showed that the number of extra men working at the studios had been reduced from 3,000 to 500. The 500 are now registered, and a report is made weekly to the local exemption board showing how much time each man has worked during the past week.

The extra men are now booked at the studios through an agency conducted by the Producers' Association. This prevents the police department and officers of the Army and Navy from raiding the studios, as was done before, in the search of slackers or men who should be working at occupations which would help toward winning the war.

Leo Ryan, who is conducting a school instructing women to operate projecting machines, reported that four had completed the course, taken the examination of twenty-four questions provided by the Fire Examiner, as well as the oral test on the operation of a machine, and that all had passed with a 100 per cent grade. Four graduates from this school are now employed in theatres. The school is conducted under the auspices of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association, and the members plan to fill vacancies caused by men leaving to serve in the army and navy, with graduates.

Mr. T. B. Miller, theatre owner of Salt Lake City, who is in Los Angeles as representative of the Exhibitors' Booking Association of the western states, made a short address on co-operation and its effect in the world war. His talk was a very eloquent one and brought those in attendance to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

In a discussion as to the handling of the Four-Minute-Men, it was decided that all theatres would carry a slide instructing the patrons of their theatres to remain seated until the end of the speech by the Four-Minute-Men, and also that the Four-Minute-Man would be properly introduced to the audience in each theatre by the owner when appearing upon the stage for his talk.

Plans for making the theatres one of the most important factors of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive were explained to the exhibitors by J. C. Jessen, of MOTION PICTURE NEWS, and these provide that stars shall be booked to appear at practically all of the theatres five nights of each week—Monday to Friday inclusive—and following the Four-Minute-Man make a short speech on the purchase of Liberty Bonds. The player or director who makes the personal appearance at the theatres will be accompanied by salesmen from Liberty Loan headquarters, and a sales campaign will be carried on in the lobby as the people leave the theatres.

Every theatre owner or manager is the executive of his respective institution, and will be in charge of the loan subscriptions there to his patrons, and also will be expected to see that every employee of the house purchases one or more Liberty Bonds. All bonds sold at the theatres will be turned into the motion picture subscription receipts on the theatre men's night at the Tank Victory in Central Park in Los Angeles, on October the 18th.

The proposition was presented to the theatre owners by Dave Bershon asking that one night each month they donate 10 per cent of their receipts to the Smileage Book Fund for the purchase of Smileage Books to be given men in training camps. A pledge to do this was circulated and signed by every theatre owner present. Ten per cent of the receipts will be forwarded the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities, Washington, D. C.

Universal Buys Interest in Symphony Theatre

It is announced that the Universal has become interested with Thomas Healy in the Symphony theatre, New York City, and that the initial production will be a Universal production.

Three New Washington Theatres

October Will See Three New Motion Picture Theatres Open Their Doors in Nation's Capital

OCTOBER will see three new picture houses open their doors to patrons in Washington. The ban on building construction other than for Government purposes has not affected these, owing to the fact that material and contracts were secured and provided for and the buildings were too near completion to be left unfinished. They were not requisitioned by Uncle Sam because they could not be used to advantage for war work.

These will be Loew's Palace theatre, F street near Thirteenth street, with entrance on F street; Crandall's Metropolitan, also on F street, near Tenth street, and Moore's Rialto, on Ninth street near G. These promise to have larger seating capacities than theatres now in use and to be the most up-to-date in construction, attractive in design and beautiful in decoration.

A recent statement from Walter Brownley, manager for Mr. Loew in Washington and Baltimore, announces that the Palace will be adapted for both screen and stage attractions and will be used for both as occasion demands. It will have a seating capacity of 3,000, which exceeds that of any other theatre in the city.

A unique feature will be the elimination of long flight of stairs, as the central lobby from F street will be so graded as to meet the natural slope of Thirteenth street, making the orchestra reached by a descent of six steps and the balcony by an ascent of about the same number of steps. Panel lights under each alternate step will enable patrons to easily find their way to the balcony.

The lighting system will be entirely new to the Capital City, as no lamps or domes will be visible. This will be effected by panels from the roof illuminated with cathedral lights. A 30-foot switchboard controls the lighting system and 146 "dimmers" makes possible the regulation of lights for varying effects to meet the demands of screen and stage performances alternatively.

There will be twelve private boxes provided, six on each side of the stage. Dressing rooms, scenes and full stage equipment will make this an ideal house for road shows. An exceptionally attractive set for the screen will occupy the stage for picture performances, in front of which will be located a large orchestra for accompaniment. When stage shows are installed the orchestra will take its place in the orchestra pit.

Already two large pipe organs have been installed, one on each side of the stage. These will be used alone and in conjunction with the orchestra for accompanying screen and stage productions. A cone system of heating under the seats will make the house comfortable in winter, while a monster typhoon fan will provide proper ventilation as well as make it cool during the hot weather.

Columns of French marble and mirror panels will give beauty and brilliancy to the lobby, which will be enhanced by an artistic color scheme. Rest rooms, smoking rooms and other comforts will be provided for patrons.

The promenade lounge on the balcony tier will be paneled in Mexican mahogany and provided with a cheering fireplace. This overlooks the lobby and offers opportunity for entr'act meetings.

Booking of "America's Answer"

Chas. S. Hart Announces Booking Conditions for the Second Official Government Feature Distributed by World Film

DIRECTOR CHAS. S. HART, of the Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, who recently announced the coming release of "America's Answer," the second U. S. official war picture, under conditions that will make it possible for motion picture houses, large or small, to show the picture at a profit without the necessity of increasing their admission price, now makes public the plan formulated by Dennis J. Sullivan, Manager of Domestic Distribution, for giving both the exhibitor and the public a fair deal.

As already announced, "America's Answer" will be released through the World Film Corporation. The date will be October 28, instead of October 14, as previously indicated. The plan does not comprehend a percentage of the receipts, but a straight rental of 33 1/3 per cent of the average daily business of the house, plus 25 per cent increase for the additional business that a Government picture insures.

For instance if a theatre's business has averaged $1,000 a day since November 1, 1917, 25 per cent, or $250, is added, thus figuring the prospective business for the official picture $1,250. The rental for the picture in that case would be $416.66. On the basis of a daily average of $100, plus $25, the rental would be $41.67. A small motion picture house, with a daily average business of only $15, would see the Government picture for the very small sum of $6.25.

The addition of 25 per cent to the average daily business of the theatre is considered very fair, because "Pershing's Crusaders" has increased the business of the houses from 50 to 200 per cent over the normal receipts.

Director Hart also makes another announcement of interest to exhibitors.

"In order to avoid any misunderstanding," he says, "exhibitors should bear in mind that the Government tax on theatre tickets is remitted only when the official films are shown directly under Government auspices. When the pictures are shown on a rental basis the usual war tax for motion picture theatre admissions must be collected."

Rowson Writes on British Film in America

In a letter of appreciation to MOTION PICTURE NEWS, H. Rowson, of the Ideal Film Renting Company, Ltd., London, speaks of British-made film in the American market. His letter, which follows, is of vast import and interest to the whole industry:

"I wish to thank you on behalf of my company for the recognition which you have given to 'Masks and Faces' in the 'Motion Picture News.'

"If I may be allowed to say so here, I think the time is coming when the trade will have to think hard over some of the problems concerning the showing of pictures from different countries. I recall the fact that one of the earliest attractions of the cinema was the display outside of mottos such as, 'We bring the world before you.' In recent years, however, the influence of manufacturers has tended toward a much more insular attitude.

"It would, of course, be mad folly to leave any opening for inferior pictures on any pretext whatever. I venture to think, however, it is just as bad for the trade in general that any system should prevail which prevents or handicaps unduly comparatively better pictures than are being shown. As an example of this, I would like to quote Italy and France, two countries which were undoubtedly pioneers in film productions. On account of their insularity they remain exactly where they were many years ago; in fact, it is a question whether they have not actually receded. On the other hand, America which was the first big country to utilize the resources of the world in different developments of the film and cinema industry has undoubtedly placed itself for the time in the front rank.

"The regularity of output and the identity of interest between manufacturer and distributor which was the chief feature of American production years ago undoubtedly achieved wonderful success, and contributed immensely toward the stability of the trade. It is undeniable that it was not in the direct interest of manufacturers to encourage the exhibition of foreign pictures, regardless of the effect on exhibitors. The time quickly came when there were practically no dealers in America to buy foreign pictures, in spite of the fact that a few foreign pictures have trickled into America during the last few years, which have been, on the whole, exceptional pictures and of rare merit.

"I have had too much experience as a distributor of films to deny or disparage the value to each country of home-made pictures. Of pictures which only reach average qualities, local atmosphere, local color, local manners, etc., will help a film to pass muster where it will entirely fail when shown in any foreign country. My experience, however, has also taught me that pictures of exceptional merit are exceedingly attractive independently of their origin.

"I look more to the trade press to deal with the question of foreign films in the proper perspective, and to exercise analogous functions of statesmanship as against interests of individuals.

"I would like to assure you that I have every cause for gratification at the reception of my company's pictures in America. Since we started producing in 1915, and during my visit in 1916, every one of our pictures were disposed of there. Some by myself, and others by the surreptitious means of duping pictures by the light-fingered gentry, which exists in the industry. In a way the best proof that American methods have been keeping out good pictures before and during the early days of the war, is to be found in the fact that so many pictures found their way there anyhow, and I believe were shown with great success in some of the best theatres in the country.

"I am trying to look at this matter dispassionately in what I hope is in the best interest of the trade. I want every manufacturer in every country to feel the incentive to progress. I want him to feel that there is room in every part of the world for pictures of outstanding merit. I believe that the permanent success of the cinema depends upon progress and the peculiar advantages it has of bringing the world in all its ramifications to every door. Odious comparisons in trade papers will not take the place of editing them intelligently for the public.

"What is the remedy? I suggest that the organizations which distribute films all over the country should have a department whose business it will be to look out for suitable pictures from foreign countries which shall also have the means of editing them intelligently for the American public.

"The natural advantages of the home-made article cannot really suffer by foreign competition, but must benefit if there is any truth in the idea that good pictures are preferable to indifferent ones.

"Yours very faithfully,
"H. ROWSON."

RUN LIBERTY FILMS

Newsy Reports From All Sections

Reel Fellows Add Members in Connecticut

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—Great strides are being made by the newly organized Reel Fellows' Club of Connecticut in their exploitation of good will and good fellowship amongst the salesmen and exchange managers of that particular territory.

Morris Rabanus, former Mutual representative in Connecticut, has left his post in New Haven and is now stationed at Camp Greenleaf, Georgia, in the infantry, having been drafted. In appreciation of his long term in the territory and the good will which he helped to create during his time as film salesman, the Reel Fellows are purchasing a handsome wrist watch which will be sent to him as a token of esteem from his brother salesmen.

The Reel Fellows have already taken up the matter of putting over big things in Connecticut on the new Liberty Loan, and promise grand results. New members who will be entered into the organization at the meeting of October 1 are as follows: Mr. Sam Farber, recently appointed manager of the New Haven office of American Feature Film Company; Mr. Jerry Wilson, representative for Sherry Service, and Mr. Michael Alperin, new representative of Famous Players-Lasky and formerly with Boston Goldwyn.

The Membership Committee is determined to establish a record.

Exhibitor Campaigns for War Savings Stamps Gains Ground

BALTIMORE, MD.—Louis A. DeHoff, manager of the New and Garden theatres, Baltimore, has done much recently toward boosting the sale of War Savings Stamps in Baltimore by lending his theatres to the War Savings Committees for rallying purposes. On the last occasion Mr. DeHoff invited June Caprice to partake in the entertainment and arranged a program that did much toward causing the meeting to show receipts of $250,000.

The meeting was held at the Garden, and, although Miss Caprice was suffering from a severe cold which had placed her in care of a doctor for several days, this did not prevent her from displaying her winsome personality in an address, in which she urged the audience to buy Thrift Stamps. After the address Miss Caprice bought $1,000 worth of War Savings Stamps and challenged the audience to do the same. They responded generously.

As the star was leaving the theatre to return to her hotel one man in the audience called out that if Miss Caprice would reappear he would add another $1,000 to his subscription. She was very ill at the time, but, nevertheless, she did return and laughed and sang the remainder of the evening.

Give Singing Privileges to Loan Committee

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Through a resolution tendering the privilege of using theatres controlled by its members to the Liberty Loan Organization for the Fourth Loan drive, the Executive Committee of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America, St. Louis branch, has cut the tangled skein by which it has become involved with various independent patriotic singing bodies of St. Louis, such as the Four-Minute Singers, the St. Louis Art League Singers, the Camp Community Service Singers and the Knights of Columbus Choral Club.

The Liberty Loan Organization will use its own judgment in selecting singers. The decision of the motion picture men is regarded as a victory for Herbert W. Cost, who organized the Four-Minute Speakers, and for I. L. Leonard, director of the Four-Minute Speakers.

The question of whether the Camp Community Service of the Four-Minute people should control the singing in the motion picture theatres was sharply debated and resulted in considerable acrimony.

The moving picture men first offered their theatres to the Four-Minute Singers, then withdrew the offer. Hector M. E. Paznezoglu, chairman of the moving picture men's meeting, deplored the fact that he had failed to bring about an amicable adjustment of differences.

Charles D. Cooper, director of the War Camp Community Service, representing the War and Navy Department Commissions on Training Camp Activities, says that he has been instructed from Washington to organize singers for service in the motion picture theatres during the fourth Liberty Loan drive and has carried out instructions with vast pains to himself. This procedure, Cooper says, has been in operation in Michigan, Indiana and other states and has achieved remarkable results.

Mr. Cost says the action of the local branch of the M. P. E. L. of A. means that the Four-Minute Singers will have undisputed use of the theatres controlled by the M. P. E. L. of A. during the period of the loan drive.

Exhibitors Entertain United Representatives

ST. PAUL, MINN.—The Motion Picture Exhibitors of St. Paul tendered a luncheon at the St. Francis Hotel to E. J. O'Donnell and D. G. Rodgers, representing the United Pictures Theatres of America, on Friday, September 20.

Among the exhibitors present were the following: H. J. Andrews, Mr. Marks, Mr. Ellsworth, E. N. Carter, Joe Freidman, Mr. Reisman, Mr. Gilosky, Clyde Hitchcock and H. Breilein.

Mr. O'Donnell took the opportunity at this meeting of the exhibitors to explain in detail the United Picture Theatres of America's plan.

Smaller Buffalo Theatres Refuse Operators' Plea

BUFFALO, N. Y.—At a meeting of exhibitors and operators this week no action was taken on the request of the operators for a twenty per cent increase in wages other than that the proposition was left to the individual managers.

The men working at the big houses, such as Sheas' Hippodrome, Strand, Palace, Elmwood, Victoria, etc., are now getting more than the union scale calls for, and these houses may even grant a slight increase to the men, but the small houses cannot afford a boost at this time.

It is said that at some of the smaller houses on the east side operators are getting $27.50 weekly for four hours' work each night, and managers of these places refuse to give more money now.

The agreement between the exhibitors' association and the operators' union does not expire for two years, so that unless the individual managers are favorable for the increase many operators stand little chance for an increase.

The men put the proposition up to the exhibitors in a fair and square manner, putting forth that with the ever-rising cost of living they were finding it a harder matter to "carry on."

They also pointed out that for men of their mechanical ability large wages were available at local war work plants. However, they said they preferred to stick to their first love as long as possible. It is now probable that some of the smaller houses may lose their men to the war industries.

"Colored" Theatres in Throes of Strike

MEMPHIS, TENN.—The four colored theatres in Memphis are in the throes of a strike among the operators. Three of these are owned by the Dixie Amusement Company, and, as the two managers are licensed union operators, two of their houses are getting by O. K., but the third, the Lincoln, which they recently purchased and have been operating on Saturday and Sunday only, is now closed.

The theatres here are enjoying excellent business and the exhibitors nearby report similarly good business. Mr. G. Carey, who operates the Princess theatre at Earl and Parkin, Ark., will reopen the Isis theatre at Paragould, Ark., very shortly.

Mr. Louis Rosenbaum of the Princess theatre, North Little Rock, Ark., has secured a site at Sheffield, Ala., and will erect a high class theatre there.

Recent visitors to Memphis were: Mr. T. G. Vawter, of De Witt, Ark.; Mrs. C. W. Hall, of Collierville, Tenn., and Mr. J. C. Farris, of Sommerville, Tenn.

"Hearts of the World" opened at the Lyric here September 15 for a week's run, at $1.50 top price.

Adolph Zukor Obliges British

Famous Players-Lasky Studio Plans Forwarded to England by Request to Serve as Model for British Official Studio

IN response to a request from the British Ministry of Information in London, the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has forwarded a complete set of plans and specifications of its big studio at Fort Lee, which is said to be one of the most perfectly designed and equipped plants of its kind in the country. The plans will be utilized in connection with the erection of a plant in England for the making of propaganda pictures for the British Government.

Negotiations for the co-operation of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation were opened during the past Summer between Lord Beaverbrock, of the British Ministry, and C. A. Clegg, manager of the Famous Players Film Co., Ltd., of London. At Lord Beaverbrock's request Mr. Clegg cabled the New York office asking if the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation could furnish a head for each department both for the construction and maintenance of a studio for producing the propaganda films, the expenses of every nature to be paid by the British Government.

President Zukor immediately cabled Mr. Clegg to advise Lord Beaverbrock that arrangements could be made to lend from the Famous Players-Lasky forces whatever department heads might be requested and that there would be no charge except for the compensation of the men actually engaged, any further organization assistance necessary to be gladly contributed gratis. The request for the studio plans and specifications followed and they were duly forwarded through the British Bureau of Information in New York.

The following letter of acknowledgment has been received by Mr. Zukor from Lord Beaverbrock:

Ministry of Information,
Norfolk Street, Strand,
London, W. C. 2.

DEAR MR. ZUKOR:—I have received your cable and I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you very much for your kind co-operation.

It is a great help to me to know that I have your organization behind me in this matter, and I have every hope that we will make a great success of it.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) BEAVERBROCK.

The correspondence, beyond the fact that it pays tribute to the organization of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for motion picture production, serves strikingly to show the British Government's recognition of the value of films in spreading official propaganda. The contemplated action is undoubtedly the direct result of the splendid work which has been accomplished by the American Government through the co-operation of the American producing and distributing companies.

Edith Koch Promoted by Select

Personal Secretary of Lewis J. Selznick Is Now Manager of The Foreign Department of Select Pictures

MISS EDITH KOCH, recently appointed manager of Select Pictures' foreign department, has been on a brief business visit to Montreal, the first trip which she has made in the new capacity to which she has just been elevated.

Everyone who knows Louis J. Selznick, president of Select Pictures Corporation, knows Miss Koch, who, for the past year and a half has been his private secretary. During this period Miss Koch has earned an enviable reputation among the many big business men of the picture industry with whom she has come in contact for her astuteness and diplomatic tact, which have been much admired. Miss Koch will continue to act as personal secretary to the head of Select Pictures Corporation, at the same time exercising her duties as manager of the foreign department.

Edith Koch, who is still a young girl, has had varied and interesting experiences in the moving picture industry. She was with Louis J. Selznick while he was vice president and general manager of the World Film Corporation. Due to the ill health of her mother, and the latter's desire to have her daughter home with her, she gave up this position and moved to California.

After a few months of idleness, however, she once more answered the call of business, and eager to get back into harness accepted a small position with the Jesse L. Lasky Company at their studio in Hollywood. From this she was soon advanced to be the secretary of the scenario editor, who at that time was Harvey Thew.

Presently Miss Koch was doing a little editing of her own, and also having a finger in the continuity work. This led William C. De Mille to draft Miss Koch to his staff as a writer, in which position she continued for some time. In order to return to the employ of Mr. Selznick Miss Koch had to relinquish this position.

About this move she says: "I realized that I was giving up a splendid opportunity but was anxious to get back to the active and exciting end of the business. Mr. De Mille was charming when I told him I was leaving, and told me that any time I wished to come back 'the key was in the door, and all I had to do was turn the knob.'"

Back in New York Miss Koch became secretary to Alexander Beyfus, who was then personal secretary to Mr. Selznick, to which latter position she shortly succeeded. Miss Koch admits that Mr. Selznick wished to put another man in this position, and took her on with doubt and misgiving and only after she had given him a thorough sales talk. How well justified was Miss Koch's confidence in her ability to please Mr. Selznick is proved by the recent advance which she has earned in the Select organization.

National Press Club Sees Liberty Films

The Treasury Department, Washington, on September 24 made arrangements for a formal showing of the Fourth Liberty Loan Motion Picture Films, before the National Press Club, on the evening of September 27, at the Central High School Auditorium, Washington.

Geraldine Farrar sang on this occasion and Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall spoke. The remainder of the evening was devoted to a showing of some of the Fourth Liberty Loan Films, produced and distributed through the patriotic co-operation of a Committee of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry, consisting of Adolph Zukor, chairman; Messrs. J. E. Brulatour, George K. Spoor, Marcus Loew, W. W. Irwin, Al Lichtman and John C. Flinn.

In a letter of invitation the Treasury Department said: "We cannot begin to tell you how deeply grateful the Treasury Department is for the magnificent co-operation which the entire moving picture industry has given it in this great drive to raise the sinews of war. We trust that the wide use to which the Treasury Department intends to put these films will constitute abundant proof of our belief in their efficacy."

Mutt and Jeff Cartoons Selected for Camps

Testifying to the popularity of Capt. Bud Fisher's Mutt and Jeff Animated Cartoons is the War Service Bulletin for September 1 for motion pictures selected for use in training camps of the Army and Navy. With six Mutt and Jeff cartoons on the list the Fox Film points out, Fisher's famous comic characters outstrip all other brands of humorous pictures selected for Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors.

The Mutt and Jeff cartoons listed are "The Extra Quick Lunch," "Hunting the U-boats," "Hotel de Mutt," "Joining the Tanks," "An Ace and a Joker" and "Landing a Spy."

Other Fox pictures listed are Jane and Katherine Lee in "Doing Their Bit," Gladys Brockwell in "The Bird of Prey," Virginia Pearson in "The Liar" and Jewel Carmen in "Lawless Love."

Goldwyn's Boston Manager Passes Away

M. Ralph Camp, since last June manager of the Boston office of Goldwyn Distributing Corporation, died in Boston at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon of pneumonia resulting from Spanish influenza, epidemic in that city.

Mr. Camp's illness did not take an alarming turn until a few hours before his death, and his mother, Mrs. Anna Camp, and his sister, Mrs. Charles Lafayette Jones, both of New York, were on their way to Boston to care for him when word reached the home office that he had passed away. He was thirty-five years old.

(Complete Plan Book on page 2243)

Exhibitors Box Office Reports

LAST MINUTE REPORTS

The Following Individual Reports Came in as Motion Picture News Was Going to Press

"The Savage Woman" (Young-Select)—"C. K. Y's most pretentious Select subject but story is not very well suited to pictures. C. K. Y. did not look a bit 'savage.' Business good, but—"

"Inside The Lines" (Stone-World)—"Very fine story, continuity great, did big business despite lack of well known stars, interesting every bit of six reels, not enough pictures like this."

"He Comes Up Smiling" (Fairbanks-Artcraft)—"Best Fairbanks, extra big for three days."

"Riders of The Purple Sage" (William Farnum-Fox)—"Great. Extra big four days. Going to have a return engagement."

"The Model's Confession" (Universal)—"Extra good program feature. Gave excellent satisfaction. Big business."

"Shark Monroe" (Hart Artcraft)—"Well the fans are tiring of Big Bill."

"Italy's Flaming Front" (First National)—"Splendid picture, went big at raised prices and pleased. Photography fine considering conditions under which taken."

"Money Mad" (Marsh-Goldwyn)—"Good pleasing picture."

"Our Mrs. McChesney" (Ethel Barrymore-Metro)—"Went big for two day run."

Editor's Note: The Box Office Report chart includes all pictures released since July 1 on which a sufficient number of exhibitor reports have been received to base a verdict. In the column "Average of Exhibitors' Reports" the term "Extra Big" indicates a picture which far surpassed expectation; "Big" means a picture doing better than the usual business for that day under average conditions; "Average" is the grading given the production on which business held up to normal; "Poor" indicates the picture falling below normal in box office and entertainment value.

The comments given are no indication of the number of reports received, as many exhibitors merely check off the grading without comment.

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
ALL MEN (Morey—Vitagraph)....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Good picture."
ANNEXING BILL (Astra—Pathe)....July	Poor	"Fair."
BACK TO THE WOODS (Normand—Goldwyn)...July	Average	"Not bad; rather tame; got by, that's all." All out door; rather thin story, but well produced." "Good picture." "Picture only fair; poor ending." "Mabel don't draw."
BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY (Kleine—Perfection) Sept.	Average	"On second and last week; picture good educational, attracting big percentage of Italians.
BELOVED BLACKMAILERS, THE (Blackwell—World) Aug.	Average	"Average story and average business."
BERLIN VIA AMERICA (Fordart—State Rights).....	Average	"Fair picture; good money maker; three days to big business."
BEYOND THE SHADOWS (Desmond—Triangle)..July	Average	"Average picture."
BIRD OF PREY, THE (Brockwell—Fox).....Aug	Big	"Extra big." "Good show." "Brockwell's all right, but Oh that American stuff." "Good but people don't want Mexican stuff." "Blood and thunder; pleased here." "Just a big melodrama."
BOUND IN MOROCCO (Fairbanks—Artcraft)....Aug.	Average	Big drawing card but not altogether pleasing on account of weakness of plot. Only 'Doug could get away with it." "My patrons expected more than they received." "Doug. is story, cast and all." "Extra big." "Big to start, average on week." "Full of pep; no story; took well. Few didn't like it; good business." "Fair."
BOSTON BLACKIE'S LITTLE PAL (Lytell—Metro) Aug.	Average	"Average picture to average business." "Picture good; star not known yet." "A dandy picture; Lytell coming to the front; it's pleasing; Joey Jacobs classy."
BREAD (MacLaren—Universal).....Aug.	Big	"Went very big." "It was well advertised and brought good patronage money and satisfaction; the title put it over."
BURGLAR FOR A NIGHT (Kerrigan—Paralta)...Aug.	Big	"A good picture with lots of class." "A dandy picture; they like him dressed up; went big all four days."
CITY OF DIM FACES, THE (Hayakawa—Para.)..July	Big	"Very good business." "Business above average." "One of the Jap's best." "One of Jap's best pictures; average business." "Best yet." "Good picture." "Fair."
CLAWS OF THE HUN, THE (Ray—Paramount).July	Extra Big	"Fine, went over big." "Very fine production." "Big opening two days. Dropped slightly." "Big. Very strong." "Excellent. Very good picture; good acting; brought them back." "Star liked; play liked." "Big for week." "Biggest thing he ever made."
CRUISE OF THE MAKE-BELIEVES, THE (Lee—Paramount).....Sept.	Average	"A new Paramount star that registered fairly well for first picture." "Fair picture." "Fair."
DANGER MARK, THE (Ferguson—Artcraft).....July	Average	"Very good." "Not the kind of picture that has drawing power." "Poor business for three days." "Star does not draw." "Great acting; story slightly muddled." "Ferguson" best." "One of Miss Ferguson's best pictures; patrons well pleased." "Average for week." "Star big favorite." "Good." "Good picture."
DEATH DANCE, THE (Brady—Select).....Aug.	Average	"Not considered Brady's best, but very good."
DECIDING KISS, THE (Roberts—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Just ordinary." "Ordinary program picture; no star."
DOING THEIR BIT (Lee Children—Fox).....Aug	Average	"Lees good, picture poor." "Average picture." "Went big." "Average." "Good picture, did not draw."
DREAM LADY, THE (Myers—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Average picture." "Fair." "Good."
EMPTY CAB, THE (Bluebird).....July	Average	"Bluebird falling down."
FALLEN ANGEL, THE (Pearson—Fox).....July	Average	"Good society drama." "Fair, have seen better." "Just Fox; that's not much to brag about." "A sex play; star does not draw."
FEDORA (Fredericks—Paramount)..... Aug.	Average	"Rotten picture." "A good picture, but the title kept people away." "Average." "Big." "Good." "Big." "Fair."
FLOWER OF THE DUSK (Dana—Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Give us more pictures like this; pleasing, well handled." "Viola Dana is fine, but the pictures they pur her in are holding her back." "Well acted, but too morbid." "Big, extra big, and average respectively in three day run."
FOR HUSBANDS ONLY (Jewel).....Aug.	Big	"Exceptionally good."

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
FRIEND HUSBAND (Kennedy—Goldwyn).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Big." "Good light picture." "Fine picture." "Big." "Average.' "This star is a big failure for us; picture good."
GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT, A (Shipman-Vitagraph).....July	Average	"Good picture; no drawing card."
GHOST OF ROSY TAYLOR, THE (Minter—Mutual) July	Big	"A good bet." "Big." "Ordinary picture, but pleasing." "Pleased nicely." "Good." "Average." "Big."
GHOST OF THE RANCHO, THE (Washburn—Pathe) Aug.	Average	"Good film, but poor crowd." "Fair show."
GIRL WHO CAME BACK, THE (Clayton—Paramount) Sept.	Average	"Pleasing; a few weak spots." "Fair picture."
GLORIOUS ADVENTURE (Marsh—Goldwyn)....July	Big	"Audience well pleased." "One week to average and big business." "Audience well pleased." "Not much—story improbable; acting and settings pull it through." "Good picture; drew fair for hot weather." "A pleasing picture, but no drawing power for me." "One of Mae Marsh's best. Drew well in extremely hot weather." "Pleasing picture." "Average." "Average." "Marsh's poorest picture, did not please." "Star doesn't draw."
GOLDEN FLEECE (Triangle).....July	Average	"Good entertainment; no drawing power."
GOLDEN WALL, THE (Blackwell—World) .....July	Average	"Good picture.
GREEN EYES (Dalton—Paramount).....Aug.	Big	"A very fine picture." "Average." "Not liked very much." "Great settings; interesting story; there on the first night advertised." "Good picture, big business."
GREAT LOVE, THE (Griffith—Paramount).....Aug.	Extra Big	"Great picture, a little slow at the start." "Great picture." "A 100% picture; timely, well balanced, splendid cast, great all around." "Extra big." "Regular riot, pleased all.' "Extra big." "Not a Birth of a Nation by any means; drags slow until last reel or two." "Big business to average." :'Many said better than Hearts of the World and not so sad." "Pleased every patron." "Second week extra big; pleased all patrons."
HEARTS OF THE WILD (Ferguson—Paramount) .Sept.	Big	"Picture and business big." "This story did not fit the star."
HEARTS OF THE WORLD (D. W. Griffith Special)....	Extra Big	"Now in its fourteenth week." "Greatest picture of all times." "Good picture, but only fair business. We make more real cash on our regular programs." "Best picture ever made." "Wonderful, did capacity business two days, could have stayed week."
HELL BENT (Carey—Universal Special).....July	Average	"Good lively Western play. This star should be pushed ahead."
HELL'S END (Desmond—Triangle).....July	Poor	"Poor picture.'
HER BODY IN BOND (Murray—Universal).....July	Extra Big	"Hot weather, but picture went big."
HEREDITY (Castleton—World).....Aug.	Average	"Very good picture, but weather against it." "Poor." "Well liked."
HER HUSBAND'S HONOR (Goodrich—Mutual)..Aug.	Average	"Poor business two days."
HER ONLY WAY (Norma Talmadge—Select).....Aug.	Extra Big	"Big City, High Class." "Miss Talmadge as usual pleased all." "A very good picture. You can always bank on Norma." "Extra good." "Good."
HER PRICE (Pearson—Fox).....July	Big	"Went big here for six days." "Had nice returns from this one." "Sex type; failed to draw. Dark picture all through." "Average." "Ordinary picture." "A very creditable picture."
HIS BIRTHRIGHT (Hayakawa—Mutual).....Sept.	Big	"Went over with a bang, but not much picture." "One of his best; well directed; superbly acted."
HOUSE OF MIRTH, THE (Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Very good, patrons well pleased." "A good picture, but title has no drawing power." "Fair picture." "Above average."
HUN WITHIN, THE (Paramount Special).....Sept.	Big	"A great picture."
INSIDE THE LINES (Stone—World) .....Aug.	Big	"Dandy war picture on a new theme. Star fine, but not known here. Business average for two days with slight decrease the third day." "An exceptionally good picture." "Great picture."
IN PURSUIT OF POLLY (Billie Burke—Para.)...Aug.	Average	'Hit everybody hard, a corking good comedy." "A very weak picture; it took two reels, to tell the people that there was going to be a race." "Picture went over fairly well." "Best Burke picture yet." "Very pleasing comedy drama; average business three days." "Average." "Billie not as big a drawing card as she was."
IN JUDGMENT OF (Nilsson—Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Very good picture and star well liked here, but business only average." "Average picture. "An excellent production; well liked." "Fair picture." "Good." "A very good picture ; holds interest throughout." "Average." "Good program picture." "A dandy picture , fine story."
ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT (First National).....	Big	"Went big solid week."
JOAN OF THE WOODS (Elvidge—World).....July	Average
KAISER'S SHADOW, THE (Dalton—Paramount)..July	Average	"Poor title, but good business for two days."
KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN (Jewel).....	Extra Big	"The best drawing card." "Big."
LESS THAN KIN (Reid—Paramount).....July	Big	"Very good." "Extra big." "Big to average." "Good."
LIAR, THE (Pearson—Fox).....Aug.	Average	"Entire week; big to poor." "Very good." "Average." "Not a desirable film, and one that didn't help the star; business fair."
LOVE SWINDLE, THE (Roberts—Bluebird).....Aug.	Average	"Big." "Average." "Average Bluebird."
LOVE'S LAW (Gail Kane—Mutual).....Sept.	Average	"Fair picture; good bits throughout picture. Miss Kane liked here; slowed up on third day."
MAID OF THE STORM (Barriscale—Paralta).....July	Average	"Poor business." "Good; pleased them all.
MARRIAGE RING, THE (Bennett—Paramount)..Aug.	Average	"Not Enid Bennett's best." "Good."
MERELY PLAYERS (Gordon—World).....Aug.	Big	"Good business for four days. The public likes Gordon, no matter what the exhibitor may think." "Excellent picture; good business for hot weather." "Big."
MISS INNOCENCE (Caprice—Fox).....July	Average	"June Caprice gets no business." "Average." "Fair story." "Fox only average here." "Splendid production; June Caprice's best vehicle since 'Miss U. S. A.'."
MONEY MAD (Marsh—Goldwyn).....Aug.	Average	"Fair picture."
MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY (First National)..	Extra Big	"Best feature of the year. Crowded houses at 105 in the shade. Applause nearly raised roof. My opinion a 100% picture." 'Big business to advanced prices." "Best picture of war by far." "Repeated back for ten days after running week in 2,000 seat house in 4,500 population." "Big." "Extra big; return engagement."
MY OWN UNITED STATES (Daly—Metro).....	Average	"Fine picture." "Very good." "This picture pleased everyone." "Poor business for a week.' "A very good picture; we played to average business." "One of the best patriotic screen stories going and fine star but not known here, and public would like to write 'Finis' to all propaganda stuff; sick of it; business poor for a big picture like this."
NEIGHBORS (Evans—World).....July	Average
NINE O'CLOCK TOWN A (Ray—Paramount)....Aug.	Average	"Ray could have scored heavier in a more suitable role." "Weak story, but went over on account of Ray's popularity." "Average Ray picture." "Not up to recent Ray standard.'" "Big."
NO MAN'S LAND (Lyttel—Metro).....July	Big	"Very good." "Average." "Big." "Fair."
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS (Earle—Vitagraph) .July	Average	"Not drawing card for Saturday."
OPPORTUNITY (Dana—Metro).....July	Average	"Average picture." "Star well liked; poor picture." "Big. Good clever comedy." "Good program picture." "The kind that makes you forget your troubles." "Very good." "Star liked; picture good." "Big." "Average." "Average picture." "Star liked best in this kind."
OTHER MEN'S DAUGHTERS (Hyland—Fox)....July	Average	"We did an average business for a whole week." "A good picture." "Very good program offering." "Not a very wholesome story."
OVER THE TOP (Empey—Vitagraph).....	Extra Big	"Big business for one solid week." "A great picture." "Well liked; good business." "Extra big." "A wonderful picture; pleased immensely; capacity crowds." "Poor, but pleased. Print bad condition." "Second day better than first; a top notcher." "Extra big." "One of biggest hits we ever had."
PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS (Norma Talmadge—Select).....	Big	"Star becoming more popular with each release." 'Big."
PAIR OF CUPIDS, A (Bushman-Bayne—Metro)...July	Average	"Picture went over fairly good." "Excellent comedy drama." "Best picture these Cupid killers have ever done." "Handled cleverly." "Why the producers continue making comedies I can't see. The public don't want them." "Best Bushman-Bayne in some time."
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS (Com. Pub. Inf —First National).....	Extra Big	"Average. Three days." "Suggestive of animated weeklies. Patrons said, 'Not enough action and romantic interest for a long feature." "Wonderful show." "Big." "Pleased." "Did not draw." "Broke all house records." "Standing room only at advanced prices." "Extra big for week." "The biggest card of all." "Extra big two weeks." "Some liked it and others did not. Not a good picture of its kind." "All old stuff like news reels."
POWER AND THE GLORY, THE (Elvidge—World) Sept.	Average	"Just an average picture; pleasing."

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
PRUSSIAN CUR, THE (Fox).....Sept.	Extra Big	"Admission increased from twenty-five to fifty cents; turned them away afternoons and evenings." "Only fair propaganda picture. Party playing Kaiser and party playing Wilson very rotten. Worst character for Kaiser ever seen."
RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE (Farnum—Fox).Sept.	Big	"One of Farnum's best." "Extra big four days."
RIDDLE GAWNE (Hart—Artcraft).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Hokum De Luxe." "A regular Hart picture, but poor; Hart is going. I think he is gone." "One of Hart's best." "Made many new Hart fans." "Hart is played out here." "One of Bill's best." "Big." "Average." "Average business." "Best Hart in longtime ." "Best Hart picture."
SAFETY CURTAIN, THE (Norma Talmadge—Select) July	Big	"A great picture." "Good production—kept business to average in exceptionally hot weather." "Average Norma picture; her's are always good." "Good; star is extremely popular." "Norma is as popular as ever." "Fine show." "Fine picture; good business two days." "Big three days, average four days."
SANDY (Jack Pickford—Para.).....July	Average	"Good." "Fair program offering; average business two days." "Fair picture." "Dandy picture." "Fair only; not Jack's best by any means." Satisfied everybody." "Good story." "Too bad Jack leaves us." "Fair." "Big." "Went big." "Big." "Jack Pickford well liked in this." "Only a fair day."
SAVAGE WOMAN, THE (C. K. Young—Select)...Aug.	Poor	"Went poor." "Too improbable a story." "First day fair, second day poor; not the kind of picture for star."
SILENT WOMAN, THE (Storey—Metro).....Sept.	Average	"Good picture, poor business." "Average."
SOURCE, THE (Reid—Paramount).....Sept.	Average	"Fine picture." "Picture was poor; star well liked." "Star's makeup was poor, but picture well liked." "Great."
SUCCESSFUL ADVENTURE, A (Allison—Metro) July	Big	"A real good Southern picture is good for a change." "Good." "Good picture, but weather too hot." "Excellent." "Not a good drawing card. Picture well liked."
STILL ALARM, THE (Pioneer—State Rights).....July	Big	"Went extra big solid week amid hottest weather in history of city."
TANGLED LIVES (Morey, Blythe—Vitagraph).....July	Average	"Good picture."
TARZAN OF THE APES (First National).....	Extra Big	"At advance prices extra big." "Made big hit." "Extra big one week." "Extra big. Interesting picture but bad finish." "Fine picture, but extra business did not materialize." "Great picture, out of the ordinary." "Big drawing card." "Elegant." "Two days to big business with thermometer above 100 mark." "Extra big." "Drew fine for five days. Public wants this kind of picture. It's different." "Extra big for three days." "Causing comment and interest or curiosity to see." "Big."
TILL I COME BACK TO YOU (De Milles—Artcraft) Aug.	Extra Big	"A great picture and one of De Mille's best." "This is a story that was liked by all." "Hits kids, women and men alike. Clean and thrilling. We mopped up with this picture." "Very good." "Best picture director ever made; class this as a super-production." "Great."
TINSEL (Gordon—World).....July	Average	"Poor title; did average business for two days." "Four days. Many good comments." "One of the best Worlds." "Average." "Average seven days."
TO HELL WITH THE KAISER (Screen Classics).....	Extra Big	"Broke house records. Capacity three nights." "Best thing yet; three days run; record breakers." "Good patriotic picture with wonderful pulling powers." "Great thriller." "Two days to capacity; very fine." "Good drawing card." "Has Beast of Berlin skinned to a frazzle." "Return date; went big." "Opened up big, but fell down awful."
TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER (Joyce—Vitagraph).July	Average	"Fair picture, and star one of the best going with her flowerlike face and womanly appeal; but for the love of Mike, what's wrong with the pictures they give her. Business rotten." "Poor picture." "Good show and good acting." "Poor picture, took off second day." "Good."
T'OTHER DEAR CHARMER (Louise Huff—World) Sept.	Average	"Very good picture. New star for our house."
TURN OF THE WHEEL (Farrar—Goldwyn).....Sept.	Big	"Held out very well for long run." "Excellent picture; should go big." "A splendid production of a commonplace story."
UNBELIEVER, THE (Kleine—Edison).....	Extra	"Returned for a week and went big." "Greatest patriotic picture ever." "Very good." "Five week knockout." "Great picture. Gave best of satisfaction." "This picture properly put over makes a big hit, and pulls them in." "Wonderful picture; pleased immensely—capacity houses." "Great." "Extraordinary picture, went big, a winner."
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN (Clark—Paramount).....July	Average	"Just a fair kid's picture; pulled off pronto." "Good for matinees—poor for night. Good picture of its kind." "Average for me." "With aid of colored singers in lobby managed to put this over. Personally thought it awful." "Average." "Big." "Took great; stood them up; star liked." "Average." "Didn't draw." "The best Clark picture in many months." "Poor." "Nice picture; Clark good." "Fair."
VAMP, THE (Bennett—Paramount).....July	Average	"Fine picture, but name against it." "Very interesting picture; good star." "Good."
VIGILANTES, THE (Bear State Film Co.).....Aug.	Big	"Starting second big week's showing."
WAIFS (Astra—Pathe).....Aug.	Average	"Clean, comedy drama."
WE CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING (DeMille—Artcraft).....July	Average	"All star cast; great play; not satisfactory; too intricate for all to absorb it; too jumbled up." "Excellent." "From big to average in week's run."
WILD PRIMROSE (Leslie—Vitagraph).....Aug.	Average	"Picture went big; good picture." "Average."
WINNER TAKES ALL (Salisbury—Bluebird).....July	Big	"Went big; Salisbury good card." "Picture pleased." "Better than average Bluebird; Salisbury coming along good."
WOMAN'S FOOL, A (Carey—Universal Special)..Aug.	Big	"Big to average." "Extra big." "Good story, but poorly produced. Not enough action."

FLASHBACKS

Individual Opinions on Earlier Releases Received During the Past Week

"Cecilia of the Pink Roses" (Select)—"Too much sad religious stuff."

"Honeymoon" (Constance Talmadge-Select)—"Good-night comedy-drama."

"Venus Model, The" (Goldwyn)—"Good, Goldwyns are as a rule." "Good." "Good picture."

"Say, Young Fellow" (Fairbanks-Artcraft)—"Some picture, pleased 100 per cent., average business." "Extra big for week."

"Little Sister of Everybody" (Pathe)—"A good picture."

"How Could You, Jean?" (Pickford-Artcraft)—"Extra big for week." "Extra good picture."

"Revelation" (Nazimova-Screen Classics-Metro)—"Big for three days."

"Hit the Trail Holliday" (Cohan-Artcraft)—"Average for seven-day run." "A prohibition sermon."

"Love's Conquest" (Paramount)—"Poor."

"Girl in His House" (Vitagraph)—"Very pleasing."

"Ace High" (Mix-Fox)—"Big three days." "Fair."

"The Whirlpool" (Alice Brady-Select)—"Story went over strong. Alice was really not at her best. Leading man did not appeal at all. Production satisfactory."

"Under the Yoke" (Bara-Fox)—"A stirring drama with some splendid battle scene." "Picture not good."

"The Scarlet Road" (Brockwell-Fox)—"Not a strong story for Brockwell." "Good."

"Joan of the Woods" (Elvidge-World)—"Average program."

"We Should Worry" (Fox)—"Good picture." "Lee kids popular here."

"Shark Monroe" (Hart-Artcraft)—"Extra big to big, then average seven days." "Very good."

"Smashing Through" (Rawlinson-Universal)—"Good picture, went well." "Only fair."

"Up Romance Road" (Russell-Mutual)—"Good."

Exhibitor Service Bureau

Chicago Good Week Days

Four of the Newspapers Show a Real Desire to Cooperate With Daily Photoplay Columns

LAST week we discussed the Chicago situation with special reference to the directory style of advertising and dwelt especially on what two of the papers which carry the most of the motion picture advertisers are doing. It is rather strange to find that the papers which are carrying the most advertising are doing less for motion pictures, especially during the week.

In these articles we have urged persistently upon you the idea that you should advertise every day in the week and not simply be content with a big splash on Sunday and then forgetting all about your attractions until the following Sunday. That policy does not prevail in cities where advertising conditions are at the best. We have just come across one city where the motion picture theatres are cutting their advertising down on Sundays and using a great deal more during the week because of their belief that the TODAY idea is the one that pays.

There is no question about the fact that the ideal sort of advertising is that based on the days on which you need it the most. We might consider that the theatre with a week's run would run a large advertisement on Sunday and that it would expect this and the criticism of the performance to carry it over Monday so that small advertising would suffice for that day and then to come back strong on Tuesday, slightly less on Wednesday, a new punch on Thursday to call the attention to the picture of those who have failed to be convinced and then with Friday partly devoted to the bill for the next week, and the larger part of the Saturday bill given over to the new show that starts Sunday.

So the successful theatres in the best advertising cities have found that they have to keep at advertising every day in the week to keep up the interest and get the maximum amount of patronage. Now admitting that this is true, don't you see that a great deal depends on what the newspaper is doing for you during the week? You can easily see that if the newspaper gave you a splendid photoplay department on Sunday alone and never referred to motion pictures during the week you would not be getting the maximum results. The ideal situation would be to have a splendid motion picture department in your papers on Sundays and this supplemented by a daily column in the newspapers.

Chicago furnishes an anomaly in that respect for though all of the papers are giving little in the Saturday and Sunday issue there are four of the papers that are publishing daily departments that are interesting. And one only needs to have some experience in the newspaper game to see that these papers regard this daily matter as one of the real features of the week-day issues. In brief, with the disposition that many of the Chicago theatres show to advertise, if these papers gave the same percentage of cooperation in their Saturday or Sunday issues with a regular section that they do in their dailies, Chicago would almost be an example for the rest of the country.

Kitty Kelly was associated with the Tribune during the period that paper was doing the most for motion pictures. It is not doing so much now and she is with the Herald and Examiner, where she is conducting a lively photoplay column each day of the week. There is about a column of this matter including reviews of first run performances, general motion picture matter and gossip of the players. A picture of a player illustrates this column with each issue. In its advertising columns, grouped together, the paper carries the advertisements of 42 theatres, most of them mere card matter.

The Evening American, which is under the same ownership, does just about the same for the photoplay. Here the editor is known as "Rob Reel" and he follows the same plan of criticism and gossip. The page that we have reproduced has been taken hap-hazard from a file of the papers, but it contains more than four columns of motion picture advertising, certainly sufficient to justify the paper in the amount of space that it gives to the news matter, even if the stuff was pure press-agent's matter, which it is not. It carries the advertising of 62 theatres making it the third paper in Chicago in the number of houses represented.

There is an interesting twist to the matter prepared daily by Virginia Dale in the Evening Journal, which is illustrated daily by a single-column scene cut of pictures of some of the players appearing at one of the local theatres. Only fourteen houses are represented in the copies of the Journal that we have examined.

While the Post has the smallest circulation of any of the Chicago papers it also has a similar daily column conducted by Genevieve Harris and devoted largely to reviews of pictures. Sixteen theatres advertise here.

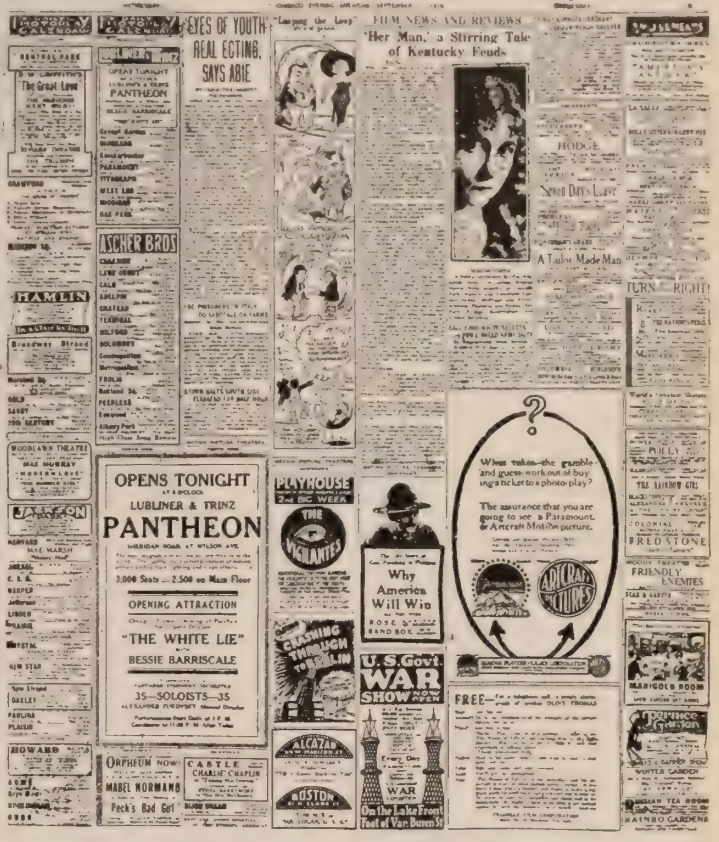
We recall the statements made in the article last week that the Daily News regularly carries the advertising of eighty theatres and that it gives the motion pictures representation on Saturday only and nothing during the week. The Tribune carries the displays of seventy-two, but gets larger space and devotes about a column to the photoplay on Sunday and now and then something during the week.

Naturally the question of circulation enters into this and the Tribune and Daily News are credited by the Lord and Thomas newspaper directory with the largest circulation in Chicago, morning and afternoon respectively. Yet they are not far behind the Herald and Examiner, morning, and the American, afternoon.

Yet there is another reason. Wherever we have gone into the heart of the motion picture advertising situation we have found that there is deep down in the heart of a lot of the exhibitors a feeling that any reference to motion pictures which is not connected directly with the name of their theatre is not worth while. This feeling we have found existing in cities where there are no reading notices accorded, and certainly there never was a mistaken feeling.

Now let us look at this motion picture matter from a news point of view—and if the editor is running his newspaper from the point of view of the readers' interest he is going to look at this. You, as the proprietor of a motion picture theatre, ought to know that the more people that you get interested and keep interested in motion pictures, the greater share of the business that you are going to get. You ought to know that if the general public comes to know a column in a newspaper as matter that is given in the return for advertising, the larger part of that public is going to avoid it. It is a proven fact that more people will read a display advertisement—something that is frankly bought—than they will a department that they know to be devoted covertly to the advertiser.

In a city like Chicago where the larger theatres have week's runs a column would become tiresome that day after day had reading notices about the same production. And in the same way, suppose that after a certain picture had run for a week at one of the larger houses and then was playing single day's engagements at other theatres and the newspaper gave each one of those engagements a reading notice about the photoplay? You can imagine how long such a department would be read.



Now we are not disparaging the value of the "reading notice." If you can get it day after day it is going to do you some good, though as we have said that daily column is not going to attract the attention of anything like the number of readers that it would attract if they knew that to be real news. Take the case of the week runs. A story about the picture, something about the character of it, an outline of the plot or matter about the character of the role that the star has will be interesting in the Saturday or Sunday issue—but not repeated every day in the week. On Monday we would be glad to see short and interesting reviews of the

(Continued on page 2180)

Telling the Chicago People About the Motion Picture Every Day

At the top at the left is a daily page from the Herald and Examiner and then one from the American. Below at the right a daily page from the Evening Journal and one from the Evening Post. They show the daily news being accorded the photoplay pictures, but in case of week's runs there are going to be lots more readers of the column if it tells the real news and gossip of the photoplayers.

Four Chicago Newspapers Have Daily Departments on Motion Pictures

(Continued from page 2178)

Naturally conditions change where the bill shifts in the middle of the week and under other conditions, but the main point that we want to make here is that the motion picture manager, especially in the larger city should keep away from the idea that he is to get a pure reading notice, praising the quality of his production every day of the week. It will get by in the big city but not in the smaller one.

But if your newspaper is printing the real news in a lively department day after day you are going to find that interest in the photoplay is kept high. You are going to find that there are a considerable percentage of the people of your neighborhood who are reading that matter every day because of the pure interest of it, that they are going to be stimulated in the desire to motion pictures and that one of the net results of this daily department is going to be for them to turn to the "directory" and pick out the picture they want to see that night. And if you are a consistent advertiser you need not be worrying about your share of the business.

These four Chicago papers are doing splendid work during the week and we only wish that we could say that all of them had real photoplay departments in the Saturday or Sunday issues, accordingly as the paper is afternoon or morning. We know that there are thousands of people reading these daily columns, and they are good ones. Now suppose to supplement this in the Saturday or Sunday issues there were real departments. Let us suppose that there were first reading notices about the attractions at the leading houses for the coming week and there were scenes shown in the general layout. And suppose that there was an illustrated column about the players and added to this a question and answer department, and then general news matter about the industry. Here the reader would get in the Saturday or Sunday issue reading for a half hour or more and the motion picture fan would be happy.

And then day after day during the week there would be enough of this real news matter and reviews to keep him interested. You can immediately see that this would stir the interest in every theatre in the city.

These four Chicago papers are doing their part on week-days, but none has the sort of Saturday or Sunday department that we have mentioned. There are traces of the ideal in the Chicago situation, but it merely approaches it.

Daily advertising is essential to your theatre, and daily motion picture NEWS matter is just as much an essential to insure full co-operation with the theatre and the complete interest of the fan in the theatre and in the newspaper.

Each morning let us say: Out of the year THIS is the day.

Lobby display at Rex theatre, Seattle

Lavish Exploitations Used on "America's Answer"

With the opening of "America's Answer" at the Rialto theatre, San Francisco, the management has arranged new stage settings that will be a permanent feature of the theatre. About half of the old stage of the theatre was taken for an enlarged orchestra pit, there being twenty-one musicians employed under the new policy.

The Rialto arranged for a special advanced showing at the Palace Hotel, under the patronage of Commandant Russell, of the Twelfth Naval District and the State Council of National Defense. Eight hundred people were invited, including the leading military and naval officials and Government workers.

During the run of this picture the street cars are carrying posters with the announcement, and bands are being used in various sections of the city. The newspaper advertising campaign was one of the biggest that San Francisco has known.

ADVISORY BOARD, EXHIBITORS SERVICE BUREAU

Samuel L. Rothapfel, Rialto and Rivoli theatres, New York.
Thomas D. Soriero, Park theatre, Boston, and Strand theatres, Lowell.
Harold B. Franklin, Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo.
Edw. L. Hyman, Film Director, U. S. Liberty Theatres, New York.
E. Mandlebaum, Loew's Stillman theatre, Cleveland.
Mrs. Joseph Gressman, Standard theatre, Cleveland.
George J. Schade, Schade theatre, Sandusky.
H. C. Horater, Alhambra theatre, Toledo.
S. Barret McCormick, Circle theatre, Indianapolis.
Theo. L. Hays, New Garrick theatre, St. Paul.
M. W. McGee, Majestic theatre, Detroit.
Chas. G. Branham, Strand theatre, Minneapolis.
Leo A. Landau, Butterfly theatre, Milwaukee.
Charles C. Perry, Buffalo theatre, Camp Upton, N. Y.
W. S. McLaren, Majestic and Colonial Theatres, Jackson, Mich.
Miss Flossie A. Jones, Waukesha Amusement Co., Waukesha, Wis.
Willard C. Patterson, Criterion theatre, Atlanta, Ga.
E. V. Richards, Jr., General Manager, Saenger Amusement Co., New Orleans.
Ernst Boehringer, Liberty theatre, New Orleans.
C. A. Lick, New theatre, Fort Smith, Ark.
F. L. Newman, Royal and Regent theatres, Kansas City, Mo.
H. M. Thomas, Strand theatre, Omaha.
Ralph Ruffner, Rialto theatre, Butte.
A. H. Hilton, Paramount Theatre, Lewiston, Idaho.
George E. Carpenter, Paramount-Empress theatre, Salt Lake.
Sam W. B. Cohn, Liberty theatre, Spokane.
G. F. Fullerton, Advertising Manager, Greater Theatres Co., Seattle.
E. J. Myrick, Liberty theatre, Portland, Ore.
A. S. Kolstad, Liberty theatre, Hood River, Ore.
P. E. Noble, Publicity Manager, Liberty and Columbia theatres, Seattle.
Eugene H. Roth, California theatre, San Francisco.
J. A. Partington, Imperial theatre, San Francisco.
Sidney Grauman, Grauman's theatre, Los Angeles.

Here's How Paper Changed on the Photoplay

IMMEDIATELY following the announcement from the Government that baseball had been ruled a non-essential this department urged the exhibitors of the country to take advantage of that fact and ask the newspapers to devote a share of the space that they had been giving to sports to the news of the photoplay.

We called your attention to the articles that have been printed in this department week after week on the co-operation of motion picture theatres and newspapers in various cities—articles all printed with the purpose of getting more attention to the motion picture—and urged you to call the attention of them to the newspapers of your city. If you have not done so you have been overlooking something that is distinctly to your advantage.

BUT IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO MEND.

In the June 1 issue we reviewed the situation in Toledo, O., and we said of the News-Bee, an afternoon paper:

> Advertising is made comparatively easy for the exhibitors of that city because there are only three newspapers and only one is published on Sunday. This is the Times, which is also the only morning paper. The afternoon newspapers are the Blade and the News-Bee, which is credited by the Lord and Thomas newspaper directory as having more circulation than the two others put together. Yet this newspaper gives the least co-operation of the three—mighty short-sighted policy. . . . . The News-Bee's policy is not encouraging

BUT the News-Bee has shown that it is a newspaper that knows what is going along in this old world and that it is taking advantage of opportunity. The issue of that paper for Saturday, September 8, which we have just received, contains eight pages of eight columns, all devoted to motion pictures and more than half of it advertising. Twenty theatres are represented in addition to page advertising from Famous Players-Lasky.

Let a letter from the advertising department of the News-Bee speak for itself:

"The News-Bee is one of those papers which has seen the coming of a new era in advertising. Some lines that are now comparatively dead issue must be supplanted by others that are practically undeveloped and which will stand an extra amount of advertising to build beyond mere 'contentment.'

"There has been a curtailment of 'sport' publicity and an enlargement of motion picture news, until now the News-Bee is carrying daily announcements from practically every motion picture house in Toledo. We also publish special motion picture features four days a week and other days if anything special develops. Every Saturday the movie houses receive the same detailed attention both in news and art that the legit houses formerly enjoyed.

"There is more than one reason why it pays newspapers to give considerable space to the motion picture news, to make the column bright, snappy and absolutely up-to-the-second. People read it. One editor said, 'Why they actually eat it.' That editor does not allow a single line of re-print copy or stereotyped stuff to slip into his pages. He has a good reporter on the job and a good editor to see that everything is strictly up to style of the rest of the news. * * * *

"IN soliciting advertising for this section we put the proposition up to the local managers this way: This is a section primarily for the motion picture houses. We want the people of Toledo to see that the motion pictures are on the map, that it is the only form of amusement left, that it is patriotic to attend motion pictures because a good percentage of the money goes to the Government. Second, this section will prove a good thing for the News-Bee. While we will not get rich from it, giving all this publicity, etc., yet the result on the theatre patronage will enable the house managers to use larger space in the future.

"And all this has proven correct. The people of Toledo began talking about the patriotic side of attending the movies immediately. Patronage is booming. The motion picture houses feel more kindly toward the News-Bee than ever. We have the circulation to back up such a system of co-operation as we have attempted and will continue to give.

"EVERY motion picture house represented in our section with two exceptions have annual contracts with the

War Tax Helps Uncle Sam

The Toledo News-Bee

War Tax Helps Uncle Sam

Photoplay Section Drama

Lila Lee, Valentine — Nazimova, Allumette — Geraldine Farrar, Temptress — Charles Ray, Princess — Viola Dana, Home Camp

Go To The Movies And Help Win War, Is Slogan Of Managers

Tom Mix, Colonial

GRIFFITH SHOWS AT VALENTINE

MOVIE GOSSIP

Programs For Next Week

STARS OF MOVIE WORLD WILL SHOW AT COLONIAL THEATER THIS WINTER

Sunday Marks The Beginning Of 'New Year' In The Movie World

Front Page of the Toledo News-Bee Photoplay Section

News-Bee. The local field is limited, but we covered it with a high percentage of 'direct hits.' If film concerns would back up our publicity with News-Bee advertising space, they could benefit two-fold: First, by increased attendance to houses, showing their pictures, and, hence, a resultant benefit, better representation in outskirt houses. To increase patronage means to increase the field for the film companies. Not to take advantage of the publicity and the money local exhibitors are investing every day in newspaper advertising, means that the film companies are losing a big bet.

"As to publicity for our advertisers, we guarantee nothing. If they have a picture that is worth the news story, the picture and the house gets it. The News-Bee movie news is news first, last and all the time. There is no connection between the advertising and publicity through news columns. Three of the larger houses now have press agents.

"Advertising has proven conclusively that a picture that really has merit, but which did not go over big in other cities where it did not have the newspaper space backing, played to packed houses in Toledo when given proper advertising publicity.

"WE know of several instances where pictures, that fell flat in the East, went over with a bang in Toledo because they were given newspaper advertising that they deserved.

"WE are doing all we can in Toledo to enlarge motion picture advertising, for we know that it means enlarged patronage for the theatres. With greater patronage it means still more advertising. We don't see why any leading newspaper in any city in America cannot do what we are doing here. Today the News-Bee is carrying 421 inches of movie advertising—a usual amount for Saturday."

Your Idea and Ours

ARTHUR G. STOLTE, manager of the Strand theatre, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, uses twelve inches across four columns in advertising "For Husbands Only." Now one glance at this display in its reduced form as shown here leaves the impression of too much type, but that is not the case. It will be read because of the spicy sort of reading matter that it supplies. The face of Mildred Harris at once attracts attention to the display and the next thing that gets the eye is the title. Then when you get that far you probably are attracted to the boxed matter at the left, and when the ad gets you that far you are hooked, because you are going to read it all.

The reason is simply this: As long as you have something to say go ahead and say it. The main thing you want to do is to put your message over. If you can do it in fewer words all the better, but if you can keep adding the punch, better still. We can't see how this could have been improved by trimming it. The only suggestion is that the name of Lois Weber might have been a little more prominent.

Lots of us pay more attention to the lines before the box-office than we do to seeing that the lines on the faces of the departing patrons are happy ones.

HERE is an excellent example of the circus style of advertising. Rialto theatre, San Francisco, used a half page in this display and did mighty good work all the way through. While we generally object to adjectives, here is a picture that is built around the feats that the star accomplishes and the more lurid language is permissible in describing them.

Note that the designer of this had brought out the name of the star in immense letters, and then has devoted the greater portion of the space to telling some of the feats that he performs. The sketch at the left give the thrill atmosphere desired. It is certainly the sort of an advertisement that will appeal to the masses. In the first place it is big enough to attract attention, and then the way the name of the star is displayed is going to make everyone read it because of curiosity. It will certainly be read, and it frankly tells the sort of a picture that it is, and it ought to bring to the theatre every one who loves the thrill and the desperate deed on the screen.

In motion picture advertising believing is SEEING.

LAST week we commended an advertisement of the Holman theatre, Montreal, which was something on this order. We say "something" for the Colonial theatre, Indianapolis had devoted practically all of the 8½ inches across three columns to getting the attention of the eye, and then the very smallest type to the selling argument on the picture.

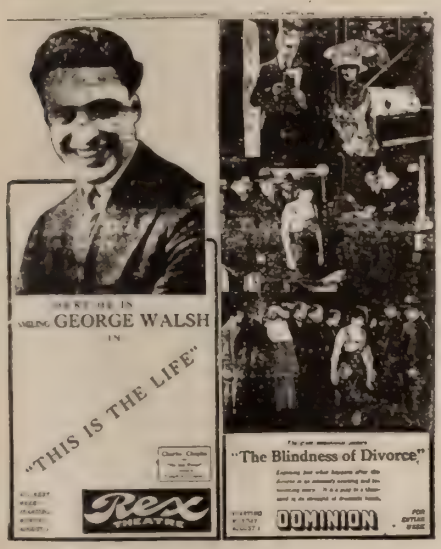
Yes, it will get the attention of the eye just as soon as the page is opened, but we are afraid that the eye won't linger long. The lines get the eye, but there is nothing to hold the attention. "The Seal of Success" line doesn't mean a thing so far as we can see. One might ask whether it refers to the theatre, to the production or to the scene which appears in the "seal."

As a bare announcement it is good work, but it will go no further than a mere announcement to most people, for we don't believe that it is going to be read.



TAKEN all the way around this is about as poor an advertisement as one could well imagine. It comes from the Pearl theatre, San Antonio, Texas. In the first place the Mary Pickford picture is a reissue and it is played under a descriptive line that the makers never gave it, "Paramount de luxe" picture. In other words the theatre allowed the public to think that it was a new production and about half of the pulling power was lost by not advertising it properly. As a matter of fact both of the others are old pictures.

But the thing to which we object most strenuously is the line: "Barnum said there's a sucker born every minute and you are a sucker if you miss today." This is not only slangy, without any excuse for being in the display, but almost insulting to the general public. If the patronage of your house is of high grade there are a lot of people who are going to regard this as an invitation to stay away from the theatre. A touch of slang is all right when it is attractive and apt, but there is nothing of either about this.

One smile from your employes brings nine from your patrons.

VANCOUVER, B. C., theatres are not afraid to advertise. In an issue of the Daily Province there are three theatres using a half page each, and all of them make the cuts the main thing. We reproduce one page on which appear the advertisements of the Rex and Dominion theatres, both on Fox pictures. These advertisements are remarkable for the few number of words. On the George Walsh picture there are only twenty-one words used and only thirty-seven on "The Blindness of Divorce." Cuts are depended upon to sell these pictures and the theatre managers have not hesitated to make the expenditure for half tones. But it is a pity that the newspaper did not afford better press work for they do not come out as strikingly as they should. The scenes on "The Blindness of Divorce" are not separated as they should have been, though better printing would have brought them out more. A slight line of white space between the three would have had better effect. We would have omitted the top cut, which is without punch and have featured the title of the picture much stronger. The diagonal line in the George Walsh ad is bad. The name of the star and the title would have come out better had they been used straight across and in larger type.

What Live Wires are Doing

If you are conducting your theatre merely as a gamble, you'll make more money by going out in the alley and shooting craps with the newsboys and the porters.

ADAMS THEATRE, Detroit, certainly has not passed up any chance to appeal to the sensual in this three column, eight-inch advertisement. In fact there is nothing else to it, for the display does not refer to the fact that this is based on the Biblical story of John the Baptiste. In fact, when a reference is made in the boxed matter to the request of Salome to the prophet he is simply called "John," as if he were some fellow in the next block.

"Sinuous, seductive" are the words used in describing Theda Bara and thinking that this is not enough the designer of the display adds "Princess of Passion."

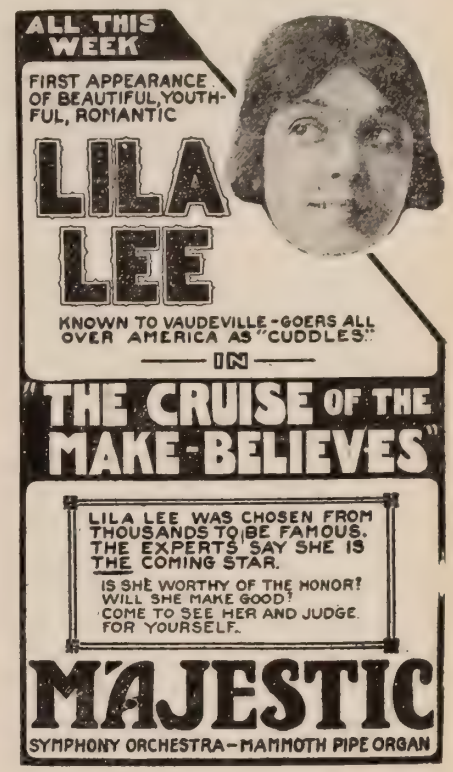
Then comes the line "She Danced and Seven Veils Fluttered from Her Airily." Now that line by itself would have gotten by, but after the other lines there can be but one impression left.

There is no appeal made in this display to the greatness of the story, its Biblical source or the magnificence of the production. The one selling argument is, as the writer of the display himself has indicated, "Passion."

This is the sort of advertising that makes people who never even see the pictures come out for censorship.

Success begins with an "S" for Sunday and ends with another one for Saturday.

THERE are mighty few people who would take twelve inches across three columns for an advertisement and then give more than half of that over to white space. But that is just what the Strand theatre, Salina, Kan., has done in exploiting "The House of Glass."



The first thing that commends itself about this display is dignity. Now it is perfectly conceivable how the use of the same wording in big type would have made an ultra-sensational appeal on this picture. But it is avoided here and the sales argument is put over in a way that will convince every one. The same illustration has been used in several other displays that we have reproduced and it is one of the most effective that had been produced in a long time. There is a slight improvement that we would suggest—that the rule be broken into the name of the theatre and the date at the bottom instead of being taken below it. Then all of the matter inside of the rule would have borne directly on the picture. But this is a very slight matter.

A narrow gauge railroad gets there as quick as a broad gauged one, but it doesn't carry the same amount of freight.

THIS seven-inch double-column advertisement of the Majestic theatre, Columbus, O., is the best display on the first Lila Lee picture that we have seen. It really makes you acquainted with her, and then gives the personal appeal of leaving it up to you whether you are going to like her or not.

Now note that the theatre does not assure you in advance that she is just about the greatest find ever or any of that sort of stuff. First you have her smiling face to put over its own appeal. Next you are told of her success in vaudeville. Then we have the statement that experts say that she is the coming star, and finally there is the appeal to you yourself: "Is she worthy of the honor? Will she make good? Come to see her and judge for yourself." We'll wager that this sort of a display will not only attract more people to the theatre than an advertisement that assured you how great she is, but that it will result in making more friends for the little girl than if you had assured your public that she was the latest wonder. In the latter case you would simply be inviting the public to pick her work to pieces, In this display you are almost taken into the confidence of the management and you are made to feel that if you do like her and praise her work that you are really sharing the making of a new star.

See that every one of your BILLS is a RECEIPT to the public for satisfaction.

Seeing Rialto and Rivoli with Rothapfel

JUST as surely as is true the little jingle of our youthful days that ran along about little drops of water and little grains of sand, it is just as certain that little touches of music have a lot to do with making a motion picture presentation stand out and be DIFFERENT from others.

Those of you who have followed these articles know how much emphasis we have placed on the music end of the performance and this week we have to offer to you the Rivoli bill as what we consider the very best in the adaptation of music to the picture and to the various other numbers. They are the touches that make the people remember YOUR house when they have forgotten all others.

Of course we know that you of the smaller theatres haven't big orchestras and cannot employ high priced singers and all of that, but there are a lot of these little things that ought to give you a hint what you can do not only with the same pictures, but these ought to suggest little things that you can do with other pictures that you present. If you can use just a couple of bars of an old song so that everyone will get your meaning and that it will be remembered for weeks, don't you think that you have gained a lot of attention to your theatre?

"March Slav" is the overture at the Rivoli this week. This Tschaikowsky classic is founded on a Serbian folk song, "Come Dearest, Why Art Thou So Sad?" and the former Russian national anthem. At first it is crooning and sad and romantic and then it bursts into the martial, compelling. For this the lighting is all in gold.

Then comes "Picturesque Industries of Mexico," one of the releases of Educational Film's "Mexico To-Day." It shows the natives making sandals and feather work. First the music is "Spanish Adante" and then there follow through "Estudianta" waltz, "Los Banderillos" and "The Pearl of Iberia."

Now Rothapfel puts in the first of his suggestive strains in connection with the next number, the appearance of the Rialto Male Quartet, and increases the effect threefold by the setting that he gives the number. The lights of the theatre are almost out, only a blue cast given with the lights in the dome as the first violin, harp and organ play several strains from "Mighty Lak a Rose," and just at the end the curtains part and reveal the members of the quartet. There is no light on the stage except red, directly on their faces, and they begin to sing, without music, "Sand Man," and then, after a dull roll of the drums, "The Drum." It is remarkably effective.

To get the punch in the Animated this week Mr. Rothapfel has broken into the Allies' Official War Review and the arrangement of the entirely Animated is worth remembering as a chance to get the most out of the material that you have.

FOR YOUR PAPER

IF you have passed the story about what the Toledo, O., News-Bee is doing for coperation with the motion picture theatres turn back to page 0000. Read it first yourself and make up your mind whether you are willing to advertise and cooperate with the papers in your town. You are assured that it is going to help business. Then take this article and show it to the men in charge of your local papers. It will be a convincing argument in behalf of using more photoplay material and it comes at a time when sporting matter is practically nil and when the newspaper people will be more apt to adopt a similar policy.

Don't expect the newspaper man to see it himself. The MOTION PICTURE NEWS does not send free copies to the press and it seeks to confine its circulation entirely to exhibitors, so that the chances are that the argument will be lost unless you yourself see that the newspaper knows about it.

With the roll of drums and bugle calls comes the usual opening, and then with Gaumont pictures of naval recruits drilling at the Great Lakes station we have the drum solo, and trio only from "Anchor and Star" march and then "Chantyman's March." Screen Telegram then presents a picture entitled "Here They Come," with the announcement that 313,000 more Americans landed in France in August. These pictures show the men landing, then their first hour on French soil waiting to fall in, truck loads of them going forward and then Brand Whitlock reviewing the troops. The music for this starts out with "Over There," the chorus being played once through, and then follows "I Hate to Get Up in the Morning" and "Hands Across the Sea."

Screen Telegram follows with pictures of the prisoners taken by two platoons of marines and then a picture of their captors, and the big audiences simply go wild. "Semper Fidelis" is used with the picture of the prisoners, and then "Marine Hymn," one verse and two choruses, and then "Semper Fidelis" as replacement divisions of the marines go forward to the battle line. Bugle calls add to the effect here.

From the same source come pictures of the members of the Foreign Legion visiting New York. These include shots from the top of a Fifth Avenue bus and the cheering crowds that greeted them. And the pictures are greeted by even more cheers as the orchestra plays "La Pere de la Victoire," one of the most stirring compositions that has ever been written and one that will always thrill your audiences.

Then starts the Official War Review. The first picture is titled "The Men Moving Forward," and shows British cavalry sweeping into action to capture a wood, and here "Il Guarany" is used throughout. Other pictures show the French watching the German shells from their trenches and then moving forward. The audiences are in constant applause during these pictures.

Then the scene switches with Gaumont pictures of the submarine chasers in review on the Pacific. The pictures show the men marching and then forming a human U-boat and showing what will happen to it. Now watch the reason for this breaking into the Official War Review. It was simply to give more power to the ending of it by switching you back to America and showing you more of our boys. These next official pictures are captioned "America Goes Forward Over the Ocean," and open with a picture of a lookout on one of the transports, and then follows with pictures of the vessels loaded with troops in the distance and then coming closer until we seem almost alongside of them. The thunders of applause that we had already heard seemed almost feeble in comparison. These pictures show preparations made to meet a submarine attack and the activity on board the ships. Then we are shown pictures first of the officers and then of the stokers, and the latter get the bulk of the applause. Ending of the Animated comes with pictures of sailors spelling the word "Victory" with a huge flag superimposed, waving, over the picture. For this great thrill at the end from the time that the official war pictures were resumed the music is first "Before the Mast," played through twice, and then "Our Jackies," until the word "Victory," when the orchestra swings into "Red, White and Blue," playing the last eight bars.

Now note the effect of the arrangement of this Animated. It opens with the pictures of our boys arriving on the other side. It impresses one with the might of the force that this country is sending abroad month after month. Then we are shown the heroic work of our allies on the other side, and then we are switched back to America with more pictures of our own boys, who are keeping the seas clear, and with the end comes the other pictures of the men on the transport, clinching the spirit of our might. It couldn't have been better as a convincing portrayal so far as pictures are concerned that the Hun Thing is going to be eternally licked.

With the second musical number the orchestra is all in blue, with very little light in the theatre. After just a little music the curtains part showing a beautiful Chinese setting representing a veranda with a Chinese cabinet and an idol in the outdoor scene with a temple in the background. There are two hanging Chinese lights, and the whole atmosphere that John Wenger has given the setting is perfect. Miss Leeta Corder is seated Chinese fashion on the floor and begins to sing "China Dreams." Near the end of the selection the members of the quartet, who are seated in the orchestra and unseen by the audience, join with her in the closing bars.

Then comes the delightful feature, "Laughing Bill Hyde," with Will Rogers playing the name role. There have been few features shown at the Rivoli that have pleased as well as this one, and, after the show, when Mr. Rothapfel introduced us to the star, we were mighty glad that the audience had given it such a big reception, for Mr. Rogers is just the happy, care-free, unassuming, genuine sort of a fellow that "Laughing Bill Hyde" proves to be in the end. And the Rivoli audiences do not hesitate to show that they like the feature.

There are two themes used in the musical score, "Valentine" for "Laughing Bill" and "Wayside Flower." The score opens with "Symphonette," which is played until the appearance of "Laughing Bill," when the music turns to the chorus of "Valentine," followed by "Who Is Who," and then during the attempt of the prisoner to have his chum we have "Mountain Music" No. 3 up to the point where the doctor's sweetheart is shown, and then we have the second theme introduced, "Wayside Flowers." Then we get back to the first theme when we are shown "Laughing Bill" reaching the coast, and there follows through "Chiffonette" and "The Valley of the Poppies," without introduction, and then two choruses from "Valentine" as we are shown "Laughing Bill" at work among the other passengers' baggage. "Only a Year Ago," "Zephyr" and "Lily" are played up to the point where Bill picks up the picture of the doctor's sweetheart, and then we have "Wayside Flower" again. Shortly after that the organ takes up the music until the girl arrives and goes to the cabin of the doctor, and then we have "Wayside Flower," with the organ and one violin, most effectively done. Then follows one of the numbered selections and, at the title "Bill Was Not Accustomed," we get the last eight bars of "Valentine" and then "Told at Twilight," followed through with "Valentine" twice as Bill is playing the trick, and then numbered selections until the moment Bill sells the "salted" mine to the crook, when we have "Valentine" once more, followed by a special arrangement of "Isle of Palms" and then "Love Bells" at the end. This description does poor credit to one of the most pleasing scores that we have heard and one that fits this delightful production perfectly.

Selections from "The Pink Lady" follow, and here we have the main dome in pink, the proscenium arch in blue. Of course, we are not expecting a special setting here, but just toward the end of the number the curtains part, showing the wood, with nouveau art effect, slender trees with wisteria hanging from them and at either side of the stage the outlines of larger trees.

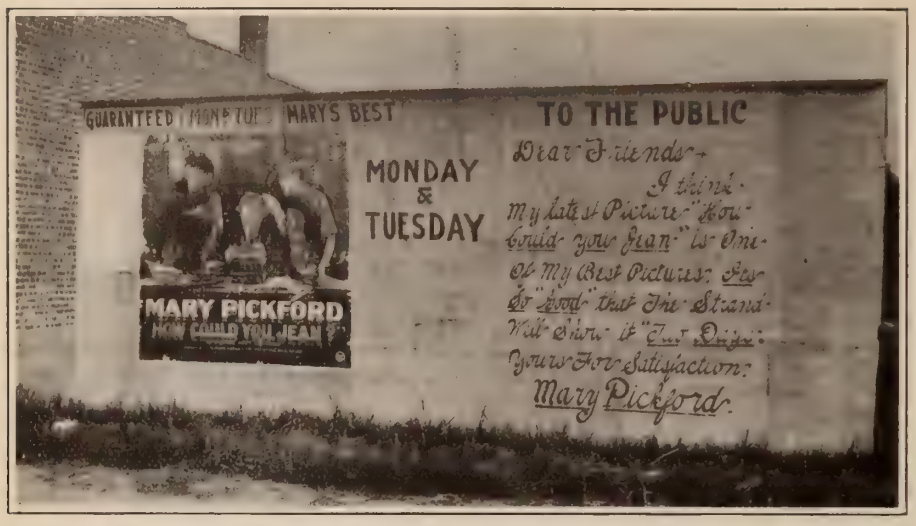
Attractive Stage Setting of the Palace, El Centro, Cal.

And now comes the thing that we spoke of at the start of this article, and, in our mind, one of the cleverest things that has ever been done in a motion picture house. The comedy that follows is one of the old Biographs, featuring Fred Mace, which has been revived at the request of a number of patrons. Now, just before this starts on the screen, there is just a bar of "Auld Lang Syne"—just enough of it to recall the words "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot," and no more. You see the immediate effect. It is one of the delicate little touches that make a presentation stand out.

"Pucciana," representing selections from the best works of Puccini, forms the pleasing overture at the Rialto, and it is played with the lights of gold. "Through the Fjords of Norway," a Beacon film, follows, and "Rhapsodie Norwegienne" is the music used through the many beautiful scenes. With all the lights red, Sascha Fidelman, concert master of the Rialto, then plays Vieuxtemps's "Polonaise" as a violin solo.

Rialto Animated magazine includes a few of the same pictures that are presented at the Rivoli, but the arrangement of them makes it appear entirely different. It opens with the celebration of California's birthday in San Francisco, and the pictures of the marching men stir great enthusiasm. Here "Liberty Bells" is played, continuing through Gaumont views of the visit of the Italian journalists to the Mare Island Navy Yard. As Screen Telegram shows billions of fish being sent out to kill mosquitoes we have "Vivienne," this also being used for the pictures of the ugly duckling that follows. The growth of the ducks is cleverly shown by the camera, being shifted from pen to pen as the birds appear. Then come Screen Telegram scenes from the funeral of Cardinal Farley, and here "Come Back to Erin" is used on the organ with the tolling effect of the chimes. Gaumont then presents pictures of the weekly line-up at one of our aviation fields, and here we have "Air Queen" used.

We are shifted to France, with Gaumont pictures of "Our Boys Over There," and the orchestra plays "Over There" as they are shown landing from transports and moving forward in lorries. Then with the view of the Hun prisoners captured by the Marines at Chateau-Thierry, then the group of boys who took them, and the review by Brand Whitlock we have "Semper Fidelis" swinging into the "Marine Hymn."



Hearst-Pathe shows pictures of President Poincare visiting the wounded, and "Sambre et Meuse" becomes the music and continues through Hearst-Pathe pictures of the veterans of the Foreign Legion visiting New York. Screen Telegram then shows us pictures of the way that Kewanee, Ill., is obeying the proclamation of the mayor calling for a moment of prayer each day, and there could be no more fitting music with this than "Old Hundred."

There is a smashing end to the Animated with a cartoon effect that shows Austria seeking peace, and then coming back battered with the "Nothing Doing" label. Then we get a quotation from the statement of Lloyd-George, and the answer of President Wilson, and you can imagine what applause that brings forth, especially with "La Pere de la Victoire," counterpointed with the national airs.

With the lights all in blue, and before the Byzantine setting, Miss Eldora Stamford then sings "The Star," and the feature, Marguerite Clark, in "Out of the Clear Sky," follows. "When You're Away" is the theme, but most of the other music consists of the Rothapfel numbered selections.

The audience is delighted with selection from "Floradora."

"Sleuths" is a typical Mack Sennett comedy, and gives the orchestra a chance for some of its clever efforts. The selection, in the order that they are played, are: "Hezekiah," "When a Maid Is Knocking at Your Heart," "Your Wife," "I May Stay Away," "Go Get 'Em," "Who Is Who?" "Down in Zanzibar" and "Hop Along."

J. C. Hewitt, manager of the Strand and Grand theatres, Robinson, Ill., is something of an artist himself and this is a sample of the way that he is doing his posting. He used one of the company's six sheets and then painted in the rest of the matter to get a direct appeal to his clientele.

Buffalo Arranges One Hundred Per Cent Effort in the Liberty Loan Campaign

BUFFALO exhibitors have jumped into the coming Liberty Loan campaign with both feet and the association feels especially honored that two of their number, Harold B. Franklin and Earl L. Crabb, have been appointed on the Features Bureau Committee, the former as manager. This week the exhibitors met with the advertising committee at Liberty Loan headquarters and there after three hours' conference, the exhibitors decided to practically turn their screens over to the local committee during the campaign and to do all in their power to put Buffalo's quota over the top.

One of the interesting stunts to be staged by the exhibitors will be the erection at Main and Genesee streets of a mammoth reproduction of the Boche 75-mile gun, which will be used as a booth. Here the managers and their representatives will be in attendance at all hours of the day and far into the evening to do their part in selling bonds of the fourth issue. On one side of this booth will be painted in large letters the words of President Wilson praising the part of the motion picture in helping to win the war.

At Lafayette Square, Mr. Franklin announces that he is designing a large screen, upon which will be thrown all the Liberty Loan pictures being made by the screen stars. Special war features will also be projected each evening to hold the crowds while the loan speakers are holding forth. The screen will be quite an elaborate one and as Lafayette Square is in the center of the city ideally situated for just such stunts, it is expected that this screen will be the center of attraction for the evening throngs on Main street. Of course every theatre in town will also show the loan films and use space in the newspapers, advertising the fact. Some of the exhibitors are planning special lobby displays, and salesmen will be installed here to sell bonds.

As manager of the Features Bureau, Harold B. Franklin, of Shea's Hippodrome, is now practically giving up all his time to the work of staging attractive and "different" stunts to be put over during the campaign. He has an office in the Liberty Loan Building. He is putting in "Edison hours" these days. Mr. Franklin's philosophy on this subject is that those at home have got to do more than their bit. That is the attitude of all the local managers.

The one big point in this co-operation of the exhibitors is that it will make a decidedly favorable impression on the Government officials as well as the public. During the last campaign the theatres of the city were used more than any other place by the Four Minute Men and Loan speakers and thousands of dollars' worth of bonds were sold each evening. This will be repeated this month and with more force than ever.

It is interesting to note that the theatre men are the only ones to erect a special booth for the campaign and that 75-mile gun booth is going to be a knockout, according to Mr. Franklin. Another novel stunt to be staged by Mr. Franklin will be a street car float, upon which will be reproduced the sinking of the Lusitania, with the words BUY LIBERTY BONDS running through the wireless system. At night this float will be elaborately illuminated by incandescent bulbs.

Several theatres are planning to hold Liberty Loan weeks, putting the entire receipts of the week into bonds. In order to interest patrons they will be told that their money will bring them a goodly measure of entertainment and also help Uncle Sam win the war. Some theatres are planning to give away Bonds at the end of the week to the holders of lucky numbers on coupons which will be given out.

No stone will be left unturned by the managers to show the Government that they are an essential link in the propaganda chain and when Buffalo's total is counted for the Fourth Liberty Loan, it is certain that a large figure will be placed opposite the motion picture houses.

LIBERTY LOAN

This Is Doing No One a "Favor," But Yourself a Duty

DURING the next few weeks we hope to be able to record in these pages the different things that scores of exhibitors are doing to co-operate in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

You are not doing any one a favor by sending in these accounts as much as you are doing yourself a service. There is no question that the eyes of the government are on the motion picture houses and that their co-operation in this campaign is going to be watched.

There are lots of good ideas that are going to be developed by exhibitors in this campaign and they owe it as their duty to the nation and the Triumph of Democracy to pass those ideas along so that others may use them and that the tide of bonds that will sweep the Hun from the face of the earth may be speeded up.

Send these ideas in to the MOTION PICTURE NEWS and they will be promptly reproduced here. The idea may be working well in your theatre, but why not let it work in others, too, and in that way do duty many times for the government. When possible accompany the stories by photographs showing just what you are doing, or send in clippings of any advertising which you do and which bears on the Loan.

Texan Turns His Theatre Over to Local Red Cross

Moore's theatre, Vernon, Texas, is probably the first motion picture house in the country to be operated by the Red Cross. Robert Moore, the owner, recently decided to co-operate with the local chapter and made an offer to allow the women to operate his theatre on the "fifty-fifty" basis. He gives his attention to the technical side and contributes his knowledge of pictures, while each day one of the members of the chapter is in charge of the theatre and the remainder are always constant boosters for the picture. The arrangement has been a financial success to all concerned.

Star Present Prize at Showing of "Bread" on Coast

Mary MacLaren, Universal star, decided that she would pull something on her own hook in connection with the showing of "Bread," a feature in which she is starred, at the Symphony theatre in Los Angeles. So Mary offered a prize of $5 for the best recipe for Victory Bread, and presented the money in person to the housewife who sent in the formula for the most wheatless loaf.

Scenes from the tableaux, "The Girls They Left Behind," and a dance pageant at the Circle theatre, Indianapolis

"Smashing Through to Berlin" Brings Out Big Advertising By Theatres

BIG advertising is marking the campaign of exhibitors in leading cities in putting over "Smashing Through to Berlin," the Jewel production of the history of the war.

Striking page displays appeared in the Chicago papers at the start of the run of the picture at the Auditorium theatre, and it is being followed up with distinctive displays from the big advertising book issued by Jewel. One of the page displays uses the center of one of the page displays so prepared and in the corners appear cuts of Generals Foch, Pershing, Petain and Joffre.

Quarter pages were used during the run of the picture at Quinn's Rialto in Los Angeles. This advanced showing was put on before the regular exploitation matter was ready and the copy was prepared by the Rialto's advertising department. However, all of this was built on the fact that this picture records actual events and that it shows all that has happened since the start of the war and why we are fighting. One of the Los Angeles displays printed quotations from the various local critics. The production got unusually strong notices and therefore the reproduction of them in display space added to the business.

This imitation newspaper is prepared by Jewel productions and supplied to theatres in mat form. Name may be filled in at bottom

Quarter page advertisement of the Rialto, Los Angeles

In addition to the advertising matter for newspapers the Jewel offices have prepared the fac similie of a newspaper, which is furnished in mat and cut form and which the exhibitor can use to get out an "extra" at the time of showing the picture. There is a space left for the name of the theatre and this is all that the exhibitor will have to supply. The idea of getting out these imitation newspapers has proven popular and managers in various sections have reported that it brings increased receipts.

The campaign book which has just been issued is full newspaper size and includes three full page advertisements, two half page across the page, four four columns full, four quarter pages, one three column, seven two column and four singles, so that an exhibitor may pick just the sort that his space will permit him to use.

McCormick Believes That Dance Is to Become Part of Photoplay Bills

By Davis Hampton

I WASN'T surprised when they told me that six cylinder cars and horses and ponies and sledge dogs and camels had been used in the Circle theatre, Indianapolis, performances, for I had seen enough of the stage spectacles produced by S. Barret McCormick to expect anything from the Fall of Babylon to Noah's Ark reproduced in detail, but shades of the Czar and the Russian Ballet.

When I found a real live ballet and the property list, and learned that almost from the opening of the Circle, McCormick had been producing ballets on an elaborate scale I agreed with the enthusiastic Indianapolis citizen who declared the Circle was a civic institution.

In America the ballet has almost become the dodo bird of amusements. The beautiful art, through abuse and neglect, has almost become extinct. Occasionally some ambitious grand opera impresario will put on a "double header" and keep you up until after midnight looking at the graceful pantomine, but it may remain for the motion picture theatre following the McCormick lead to bring the ballet back into vogue.

The ballet at the Circle is used frequently. Occasionally it serves to give an atmospheric effect to a picture, as in the case of "The Primeval Forest," a morality play done in dance as an embellishment to "Tarzan of the Apes." At other times characteristic and folk dances of the various nations are presented, while other programs will offer idyllic ballet creations as individual features in themselves.

Just as music had become a vital part of photoplay presentation so may its kindred art of dance eventually reach the great masses through the theatres designed primarily for the shadow players.

Paramount theatre, Lewiston, Idaho, and the two girl ushers and attendant

Small City Theatres Prove Necessity of Ushers and Orderly Conduct of the House

LAST week there appeared in these pages an article about the use of girl ushers, with particular reference to the plan that is followed by Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo, and the experiences of Harold B. Franklin, the manager, in the employment of young women. But that this attractive feature need not be confined to the larger houses, and that attention to details counts just as much in the smaller cities is proven by the success of A. H. Hilton, manager of the Paramount Theatre, Lewiston, Idaho.

We have already told you that Mr. Hilton is one of the biggest and one of the best advertisers in the country. He uses three and four full columns, which occupy the left-hand space on the first page of the second section of the local paper; and this is "going some" for a city with a census population of 6043. But he has proven that big advertising pays him when it is well done, and there is not a man in the country today who is a firmer believer in the most liberal use of the newspapers.

But he goes further than this, and surrounds his theatre with just as much atmosphere as the biggest theatre in the country. In that way he keeps everything just right. Courtesy and cleanliness go hand in hand at the Paramount, which is one of the best examples in the country of the truth of the statement that a theatre does not have to have size and be a million-dollar product to make it an "institution," for the Paramount is just as much an institution in its section of the country as the Circle or the Rialto or the California in theirs.

If the labor problem is acute in the larger cities, and the younger men that are usually employed by theatres are called to the army, there is likely to be all the more shortage in the smaller communities, and, therefore, all the more need for girls. It is unfortunate that with many managers, simply because they are located in smaller cities, the policy seems to be simply to let the people find their way to their seats in any way they can, and with the most of the houses very dark during the showing of the pictures, this causes great confusion, to say nothing of the discomfort.

Two years ago the writer visited a theatre in a town of about 10,000, a manufacturing centre, with two or three big plants that employed hundreds of people. In addition, there was a wide, surrounding country, though sparsely populated, in which there was no motion picture house, and the manager was absolutely in command of the situation. Now, in that town there were enough people outside of laborers themselves to support a theatre well. The officials of the companies, down to the clerks, were there in large numbers and the women element of the community had little amusement, and it was logical that they would form the greatest element of the audience. Good pictures were being shown, the outside of the theatre appeared neat, and when we went inside we expected to find the house filled with women and children.

Instead, we found a handful of men and a few children. We were surprised at first, but not for long. In the first place at the door was a young boy who was paying more attention to talking to others than he was in taking the tickets. We entered and found seats as best we could, and then things started to happen. One child climbed up on the seat in front of us and stood there. We moved and in front of us there was a woman with a young baby that cried continually, and no effort was made to suggest that she might take it outside to quiet it. Two men were seated on the aisle throwing peanuts on the floor, and children were running up and down the aisles having a great time. This, of course, was a rather radical case, but it was an actuality.

A little conversation with the manager revealed that he knew that things were bad. "But," he explained, "you cannot do things here as you do in a large city. If we told the woman that her baby was disturbing the others she would get mad and not come back any more. The only thing that we could do with the children would be to keep them out. It was suggested to him that a child was always impressed by order and that if he had a couple of ushers who would take them to seats as they entered and they felt the air of dignity about the house, it would take few reproofs to tame the recalcitrant ones.

This summer we visited the same theatre again. There were two boys of about sixteen acting as ushers. The house was orderly, and it was crowded with people, and it was very evident that the theatre was getting the patronage of a much better element than at the time of our first visit. Curiosity led us to ask for the manager to learn how he had carried out the reforms. But it was a new manager. He had taken charge about six months before simply because the former manager had not been able to pay the rent.

What he had done every exhibitor can do. He got new employes and impressed them with the desire for order and neatness. He was troubled at first with the same annoyances there had been under the former management, but he stuck on the job and kept after his patrons. Some of them were driven away, but in their places came two or three for one, and the house had been showing a splendid profit. He declared that he had so drilled his employes that his presence was not needed, and that it was rare that there was any disorder.

Mr. Hilton believes in the same thing. He keeps the front of his house attractive, as the picture of it when "The Unbeliever" was shown proves. The two girl ushers and the doorman are clean looking and intelligent. Certainly all these things give atmosphere to a house that is going to be distinctly forbidding to rowdyism.

Take a look at the two pictures at the top and then think if doing the same sort of things in your theatre isn't going to make the box office swell.

"Teaser" Campaign Is Used on "For Husbands Only"

Manager James Jackson relied largely on the title in putting over "For Husbands Only" at the Rialto theatre, Atlanta, Ga., and did big business as the result. He inserted a number of personal advertisements in the "want" columns of the newspapers, in addition to his regular display advertising, and tagged all of the automobiles he could reach with the name of the picture.

Camouflage display at Broadway theatre on "Geezer of Berlin"

Lobby Display Gets Laughs and Pulls In Crowds to See "The Geezer of Berlin"

CROWDS are stopping in front of the Broadway theatre this week, laughing awhile and then going immediately into the theatre or deciding that they will see the picture at a certain later date. The reason for this is the unique display that M. Kashin has provided on "The Geezer of Berlin."

Real camouflage forms the main portion of the decoration of the front of the house and the vivid colors are enough to stop anyone in their tracks, and the eye is then directed to the center piece which shows the Kaiser and his minions behind the sort of wire fence that hold in the prisoners. "Fighting for Peace" is the sarcastic caption on this.

In many ways this is the simplest display that Mr. Kashin has yet evolved, but after the smash that it puts over one is led to study it further, and one finds that the humorous spirit of the production is carried out through the remainder of the display. On either side of the front of the house there are "The Geezer" and "The Clown Prince," burlesque figures of them with humorous reading matter, and on the inside of the projecting columns are "Hindebug" and "Turpentine," similar caricatured.

Inside the lobby the display consists most in the lettered matter, all of which cerries the same spirit. Two cartoons by James F. Ring in the magazine "Cartoons" are reproduced here in large posters. They are entitled "Gott of Germany" and "Der Crown Prince," and they carry with them recitals that certainly give a thrill with the laugh. In other words the whole display is simple because it has been the idea of Kashin to give the public a quick flash of the character of the picture and to bank on the desire to laugh at the expense of the Hun bunch to pull business in. And the patronage is proven that he banked wisely.

In connection with the showing of this picture Kashin pulled one of the most unique things on record and there was no fake about the actual performance of it. He figured that it would be a good exploitation idea to send a cablegram to the Kaiser, through his pals, the Bolsheviki, offering him an engagement at the Broadway and then use the matter for exploitation. So he framed a message to Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier, asking him to transmit the message to the Kaiser and took it to the cable office. There it was turned down until it should be O.K.'d by the censor, and there it was finally given approval. The cable company assured the manager that there was every chance of it getting through to Lenine and then Kashin planked down his fifty-nine iron men.

Here is the message that was sent:

"Nikolai Lenine,
Bolshevist Premier,
Moscow, Russia.

Will you kindly act as intermediary between me and Wilhelm II, Kaiser of Germany, and communicate to him the following request:

Inasmuch as he evidently believes that all the world is a stage, and that he is ordained to have the limelight, and since his present engagement is due to terminate soon, would he be averse to accepting an engagement at the Broadway theatre, Broadway and Forty-first street, New York, to appear personally in conjunction with the showing of "The Geezer of Berlin," salary to be decided later. You are authorized to intimate to him that we can positively assure him a permanent engagement for the rest of his life. Please cable reply at our expense.

(Signed) M. Kashin, Manager,
The Broadway Theatre."

Naturally this was not done for the purpose of getting a reply from the Kaiser, but immediately afterwards Kashin had thousands of fac similes of the cable message printed and they were distributed through his mailing system. It caused laughs all over New York, and scores of them came to the Broadway to see what it was all about.

And then he utilized the message still another way to create the word of mouth advertising on the part of the people who saw the picture. Just before the start of it he inserted film giving the text of the message and then the alleged reply of the Hun which read:

"Kamaraden: I would be glad to appear before you, but the Yanks won't let me.
"Wilhelm II."

You can imagine that nearly everyone went away from the theatre talking about the stunt and that what they said brought others there.

Other printed matter was distributed and "The Geezer" was one of the most thoroughly advertised pictures that has been shown in New York.

BY McCORMICK

Articles on Advertising to Be Resumed Very Soon

THOSE valuable articles on advertising motion pictures by S. Barret McCormick, managing director of the Circle theatre, Indianapolis, will be resumed within a very short time. They were postponed for a time while the policy of the Circle for the next year was being arranged.

This policy has now been fixed for week runs of pictures and Mr. McCormick will discuss his advertising of various pictures illustrated by specimens that he has used. They will also point out what he regards as the selling point of the particular production and how he put it over.

These will not only be invaluable guides for the specific pictures, but they will aid you to get the selling points of other productions and give you many money-getting ideas.

Woman Becomes Manager of One of Ascher Theatres

Ascher Brothers, the big Chicago operators of motion picture theatres, have named their first woman manager. She is Sara Maxon, who has been given charge of the Peerless, which is located at Fortieth Street and Grand Boulevard. She had had a number of years' experience as a singer and was employed by S. L. Rothapfel during the time that he conducted the Colonial theatre in Chicago.

Live News from the Producers

U. S. Rights Sold for "Mickey"

"The Birth of a Nation" Syndicate Has Purchased United States Rights for "Mickey" from W. H. Productions Company

"THE BIRTH OF A NATION" Syndicate, formed to handle a series of special big features, has purchased the rights to "Mickey" for the United States, with the exception of New York State, which has been sold to Magnet Film Exchange. "Mickey" will be the first production to be launched by this syndicate.

Practically all of the world rights have now been sold by W. H. Production Company, with the exception of Canada and a few foreign countries, viz., South Africa, Egypt, Switzerland, Italy, Argentine, Uruguay and Paruguay. The foreign countries which have already been sold are England, France, Spain, Portugal, Australia and New Zealand, Brazil, Japan, China, India, Burma, Ceylon, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands, Malay Peninsula, and Dutch East Indies.

W. H. Productions Company advertising and publicity campaign exploiting "Mickey," was a material factor in the rapid disposition of most of the world rights. Even before the campaign was in full swing, most of the foreign territories were already sold. This was also a great factor in prompting this syndicate to procure "Mickey" as their opening feature.

This campaign which has been outlined in previous issues of MOTION PICTURE NEWS, has proven one of the most unique, concentrated, thorough and practical exploitation campaigns ever devised for any motion picture production.

It is estimated that the talking machine companies, music roll companies and the song distributors, will reach forty million people in this country alone through their various advertising mediums, consisting of specially prepared campaigns in the national magazines and newspapers, in booklets, cut-outs, window displays, special announcements, leaflets, etc.

Inquiries have been received from every prominent independent exchange man and exhibitor throughout the country, for "Mickey." Many exhibitors have already placed orders with the music publishers, talking machine and piano roll companies for copies of the musical production "Mickey," which they are planning to use in connection with their local advertising when "Mickey" is shown at their theatre. Due to the unique and huge exploitation campaign it is asserted that everyone is waiting to see "Mickey," and every exhibitor is waiting to show "Mickey."

In closing the deal with the "Birth of a Nation" Syndicate, W. H. Productions Company agreed to co-operate as much as possible with them in exploiting the production, and the advertising campaign as inaugurated by W. H. Productions Company will be utilized in every way. Negotiations are now being made for a prominent Broadway theatre for a preliminary New York showing of "Mickey."

Semon in Second "Big V" Special Comedy

"Huns and Hyphens," featuring Lawrence Semon, is the second Big V Special Comedy release by Vitagraph since it introduced its two-reel weekly feature comedy service, and it will be followed by "Roofs and Riots," featuring Earle Montgomery and Joe Rock.

The fourth release, scheduled for October 7, will be "Bears and Bad Men," featuring Lawrence Semon.

Attractive Posters for "Border Raiders"

For the exploitation of "The Border Raiders," the first of the Pathe Program Feature releases, starring George Larkin and Betty Compson, an unusually attractive poster display has been prepared—one, three and six sheets, set 11 x 14 photographs, cuts and slides, all of which show the high spots of this swiftly moving drama of the West, written by Frank Beresford and directed by Stuart Paton.

Jack Abbe, Triangle Featured Player, Is Presented In "Mystic Faces"

Famous Players Strives for More Service

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation announced this week that, in keeping with its enlarged producing and distributing plans for the new year which has just started, it will increase its service to exhibitors.

"We are endeavoring to give the exhibitor a real service such as has never before been attempted in the motion picture industry," said Walter E. Greene managing director in charge of distribution, last week. "With our producing and distributing plan just doubled since September 1, it is our earnest desire to give our patrons co-operation in the handling of Paramount and Artcraft pictures commensurate with this increase in quantity of product, the exceptional quality of which is firmly established in the mind of the patron as well as the manager of the motion picture theatre.

"The recent Paramount and Artcraft Week offered one example of what we mean by 'real service.' In this drive we shared with the exhibitor his billboard charges and gave him gratis a tremendous newspaper and magazine campaign in which his theatre was not only mentioned but given display together with his program of entertainment for the week. Other ideas of 'real service' will be disclosed from time to time as the year progresses."

"Of No Use to Germany," Red Cross Reel

The latest American Red Cross film release is called with splendid irony "Of No Use to Germany," showing, as it does, the stream of very young children and very old adults that is received at the Red Cross station of Evian-les Baine on the Swiss-French border as they come out of Germany from the captured areas of Belgium and France.

"Of No Use to Germany" is the third of the single-reel subjects issued by W. E. Waddell, director of the Bureau of Pictures of the American Red Cross, with the co-operation of General Film Company as distributor.

Edna Goodrich Breaks House Record

A wire report from Milwaukee on the success of "Her Husband's Honor" to the Mutual Film Corporation says:

"Edna Goodrich in 'Her Husband's Honor,' presented at the Strand theatre today, broke all matinee records except one of a big state rights picture. For the night show the lobby was crowded with people waiting for admittance until 9.40."

Select Passes Its First Milestone

Shows Remarkable Progress Since General Manager Kane Took Over Eleven Original Offices—Exchanges Now Located in Principal Cities

WITH the first week in October Select Pictures organization rounds out its first year as a releasing concern. For it was at the beginning of October that the first Select Picture was presented to the country. This was "The Moth," with which Norma Talmadge started her series of Select successes.

Altogether October is a momentous month in Select's calendar, for it was also during this month that the first phase of Select's business organization was brought into shape. The corporation started business August 6th, 1917, with sales branches throughout the United States to the number of eleven, which, before the week was out, had been increased to thirteen.

New Exchanges Opened

These existing exchanges were located in New York, Boston, Buffalo, Washington, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Dallas, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Cincinnati, the latter being a sub-office, to be elevated to the dignity of a buying exchange at a later date.

General Manager Arthur S. Kane took hold of the eleven original offices on August 6 and immediately opened exchanges in Boston and Washington. With these as the nucleus of Select's present sales system, he applied all the organizing genius for which he has won a reputation in the moving picture industry. Bringing to the situation methods which he had formulated and proved in the past, Mr. Kane bent his energies to establishing Select's sales organization upon the high plane which it today occupies. And his efforts have been crowned by a repetition of the success which he had previously met in launching new enterprises and organizing them.

In a statement this week concerning Select progress, the company said:

"Aiding Mr. Kane in getting the new machine going smoothly was John J. Rotchford, who joined the Select forces early in September, 1917, becoming assistant general manager. Mr. Rotchford had assisted Mr. Kane in 1914 in establishing the exchange system of Pathe Exchange, Inc., which, organized in March, had established by mid-summer a reputation as the hardest hitting selling organization in the business. It is interesting to recall that when Mr. Kane left Pathe Freres, in October of that year, it was to go as assistant general manager with Mr. Lewis J. Selznick, now Select's president, in his then newly organized World Film Corporation.

Chicago Joins Forces

"Following the opening of its original thirteen offices, Select on September 1 took over the Chicago exchange now in charge of Fred C. Aiken, and on October 1 took over exchanges previously handling in part the same product in Philadelphia, St. Louis, Kansas City and Des Moines, the latter branch being subsequently moved to Omaha. On October 15 an exchange was opened in Detroit, bringing the number of Select branches up to twenty. At this figure the list remained until February 10, when Select opened its New Orleans exchange, completing the organization now in operation. Meanwhile, on November 10, the Cincinnati office had been raised from a sub-office to a buying exchange. Both this and the Detroit exchange were placed under the efficient supervision of Sam E. Morris, East Central general manager and manager of Select's Cleveland branch.

Norma Talmadge, Select Star, in "A Tale of the Forbidden City"

"As evidence of the good judgment and acumen with which men have been selected for positions as managers of the various Select exchanges, it may be recorded that although the exchange manager is supposed to be a man without a home, eighteen out of the twenty-one branch executives were branch employes of Select at the time that its exchange system was completed, and seventeen of these branches are now administered by the same men then holding positions as branch managers. In addition, J. S. Woody, who was a branch manager at the time of the completion of Select's exchange system, has been promoted to the position of field manager, which he now occupies. Eleven are managers in exactly the same exchanges as when first appointed by General Manager Kane at the opening of the Select system. Two others are still with Select as branch managers, but have been transferred to other offices. One man, previously an employe of a Select exchange, has been elevated to the managership of that exchange.

"Stability Counted Rare"

"Such stability in a sales organization is an exceedingly rare thing in the moving picture business. It shows that splendid selections were made by General Manager Kane in choosing men to command the various Select branches; and it also shows the success with which Select is conducting its exchanges. Not only do the executives in the field satisfy the home office, but also the home office manages to keep its men on the firing line happy and contented.

"If any confirmation were needed of the success which has attended Mr. Kane's efforts in the organization of his field forces it would be found in the fact that competitors throughout the industry acknowledge the strength of the Select organization and the desirability of gaining identification with it. The reports of district managers and traveling representatives who circulate throughout the various branch territories affirm this condition. Managers and executives of other companies have openly advised their friends to seek places with Select. A place in the organization has become the goal of many.

"There is a reason for this, and it can best be summed up by quoting from a recent sales bulletin issued by the general manager to all exchanges just before the beginning of the new film season last August. Mr. Kane wrote his managers:

Highest Quality Present

"'No account of the fortunate position in which the Select organization finds itself would furnish a complete explanation which overlooks the unusual character of the goods which Select has upon its shelves. The man selling Select pictures deals with the highest quality of product presented in its highest form—in short, with feature photoplays made by famous stars. Here are no short-ends of production; no sixes and sevens of the film factory; no experiments of today to disappear on the morrow. No other company can present so clean-cut and concise a line. Select pictures typify the salesman's ideal merchandise.'

"A complete list of the men who represent Select in its twenty-one exchanges at this beginning of the company's second year of production comprise:

"Atlanta, T. O. Tuttle; Boston, Charles R. Rogers; Buffalo, Sherman S. Webster; Chicago, Fred C. Aiken; Cincinnati, A. M. Muller (under supervision of Sam E. Morris); Cleveland, Sam E. Morris (East Central general manager); Dallas, Claude C. Ezell; Denver, H. E. Lotz; Detroit, James O. Kent (under supervision of Sam E. Morris); Kansas City, A. H. McLaughlin; Los Angeles, Bernard E. Loper; Minneapolis, Harry A. Rathner; New Orleans, H. G. Till; New York, Henry Siegel; Omaha, C. W. Taylor; Philadelphia, M. Milder; Pittsburgh, Leo F. Levison; St. Louis, J. C. Ragland; San Francisco, H. L. Knappen; Seattle, Harry H. Hicks; Washington, Vivian P. Whitaker, and John S. Woody, field manager.

New Vitagraph Plan Installed

New Booking Policy of Vitagraph Goes Into Effect This Week—Heralded as "Democratic, Not Autocratic".

THIS week marks the beginning of a new chapter in the life of Vitagraph, its new booking policy of Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature service now being in active operation. The announcement is made from the home office of the Vitagraph distributing organization that the response of exhibitors to its declaration of "A democratic, not an autocratic booking plan and policy" has proved a splendid endorsement of that policy already, and that Sept. 30th will see the inauguration of Vitagraph service in many of the important theatres of the country which have not been on a regular weekly basis. These are in addition to the thousands of houses which have been steady users of Vitagraph features for years past.

Among the hundreds of prominent theatres which have enlisted under the Vitagraph banner for first run showings under the new plan are the Riviera, of Chicago, which, it is said, will be one of the handsomest theatres in the country; the Clemmer, Seattle; the Turner and Dahnken chain in California, the Orpheum in Chicago, the Jefferson in Dallas, the Regent in Newark, the New Grand in Montreal, the America, leading theatre in Denver; the New Theatre in Baltimore, the Park, Boston.

No figures are available at the Vitagraph offices, but it is asserted that every branch office of the company has reported a vast increase in the number of bookings since the company made its announcement of producing and booking plans a few weeks ago, with the result that the company now has on its books more theatres than at any other time in its history. This is attributed to the fact that exhibitors, accepting Vitagraph's pledge of service on a definite and liberal basis, see in it a fair chance to operate their houses at a profit.

A striking instance of the exhibitors' faith in the new Vitagraph booking plan is cited from Milwaukee, where in one day a representative of the company signed sixteen houses for the Blue Ribbon service.

Under its new booking plan, which, at the outset provides exhibitors with the dates on which the productions of each Vitagraph will be released during the coming year, Vitagraph will supply the following:

Eight Earle Williams productions.
Eight Alice Joyce productions.
Nine Bessie Love productions.
Nine Harry T. Morey productions.
Nine Corinne Griffith productions.
Nine Gladys Leslie productions.

World Will Produce "The Forest Rivals"

"THE FOREST RIVALS," a photoplay story by Charles Forsythe, scenariozed by Harry O. Hoyt, will be put in work next week by the World Company. Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley are to be the stars. Prominent in the cast are Jack Drumier, Johnnie Hines and Albert Hart. Dell Henderson will direct the actors. The company leaves for Fredericksburg, Virginia, on Monday, where a great part of the picture will be made.

The name of Charles Forsythe attached to the manuscript concealed the identity of one of America's best-known magazine writers. His contribution to motion picture fiction came about through a discussion at which were present a half dozen of the most prominent of fiction writers whose names are constantly before the public through representation in current magazines. One of those present said that the amount picture companies paid for stories was in ratio to the prominence of the author. This was denied by "Forsythe," To prove his contention he said he would write a story and send it to a company selected by lot from a half dozen of the best known producers in the motion picture industry.

The World received the story and it was read by the scenario department and accepted within twenty-four hours and a check was sent to "Forsythe." It was not until the check came back with its several endorsements that "Forsythe's" identity was disclosed. Mr. Forsythe asked that his name be kept "under cover," until after he had seen the finished product.

Three Mix Pictures by Same Author

Three stories in a row by the same author is the record just established by Tom Mix, the William Fox cowboy-star. Mix has begun work at Hollywood on a new picture called "The Coming of the Law." This is an adaptation of a magazine story written by Charles Alden Seltzer.

Mr. Seltzer also wrote the story from which "Treat 'Em Rough," the play Mix has just finished at Prescott, Ariz., was made. The third Seltzer story on Mix's list is "Fame and Fortune," which is an adaptation of the novel, "Slow Burgess," which ran in one of the popular magazines.

Clara Morris to Metro, Opposite Lytell

Clara Morris has been engaged by George D. Baker, Metro's Western manager of productions, to play opposite Bert Lytell in "The Spender," the young star's next picture. "The Spender," adapted by Baker and A. G. Kenyon from the Saturday Evening Post story by Frederick Orin Bartlett, will be Lytell's sixth starring vehicle produced on the West Coast.

Miss Morris, despite her name, is not related to the Clara Morris of stage fame. She is a Western girl, who, at the age of 19 has already served an apprenticeship of three years in motion pictures, and Metro predicts she will be heard from.

Albert Capellani, Well-Known Director, With Metro

Persons, Studio Manager for Doris Kenyon

In order to provide Doris Kenyon with the very best talent obtainable, both on and off the screen, Theodore C. Deitrich, president of De Luxe Pictures, Inc., has made several additions to the De Luxe organization. Thos. A. Persons has been retained as studio manager and will be in direct control of productions, working under the personal supervision of Mr. Deitrich, in the Biograph Studios.

Mr. Persons was for many years studio manager for Col. William Selig, both in Chicago and on the Pacific Coast, assuming complete charge of Col. Selig's vast production interests.

Another recent addition to the De Luxe organization is Joseph I. Clement, who has been engaged as technical director. Mr. Clemont, who is a Frenchman, became known through his work with the productions of Maurice Tourneur, Emil Chautard, Albert Cappellani, and more recently with Clara Kimball Young.

Still another addition to the organization is Ned Van Buren as cameraman, who is working on the latest Doris Kenyon production, "Wild Honey," in conjunction with J. Badaracco. Francis J. Grandon, who is directing "Wild Honey," will leave this week with 200 persons and 50 horses, who are working in the picture, for the Adirondacks.

R. Wm. Neill to Direct Lila Lee

R. William Neill, formerly a director for Thomas H. Ince, has been engaged to direct Lila Lee in a new Paramount picture by Monte M. Katterjohn. Mr. Neill directed Dorothy Dalton in many Paramount films.

Work will begin shortly on the production at the Lasky studio in Hollywood. Miss Lee recently completed "The Secret Garden" and has meantime been making several personal appearances in San Francisco and vicinity.

On the Left, Before the Gorgeous Setting, is Theda Bara in "Salome," Which William Fox Considers a Best Bet. In the Center is Field Carmichael, Foreign Representative for Mr. Fox, and at the Right are the Lee Kids, in "Swat the Spy"

Garson Gets Bobby Connolly for Parts

Bobby Connolly, child actor and one who has carved his name and winning personality into the hearts of fans, has left for the Coast with his mother and little sister, Helen, to join the Garson forces on the Coast. Bobby will be seen in "The Unpardonable Sin," Rupert Hughes' smashing war story, in which Blanche Sweet will be starred, and which is being directed by Marshall Neilan.

Reports from the Coast are to the effect that work is progressing rapidly, and the picture will be ready to release about October 15. It has not yet been decided just how the Blanche Sweet pictures will be released.

Blackton Loans Star to Maurice Tourneur

By special arrangement with J. Stuart Blackton, Maurice Tourneur has engaged Sylvia Breamer for the leading feminine role in his new production, "My Lady's Garter," by Jacques Futrella.

Miss Breamer, who is featured with Herbert Rawlinson in Commodore Blackton's forthcoming production, "The Common Cause," completed her part in that superfeature, and it was found that she would have time to complete her part in "My Lady's Garter" before she is called to play the featured feminine lead in "The Battle Cry of Liberty," which is to be Commodore Blackton's next big war special, after "The Common Cause."

"Tell That to the Marines" Flagg Comedy

"Tell That to the Marines!" is the title of the Third Paramount-James Montgomery Flagg comedy, and the producers, Town & Country Films, Inc., Jack Eaton and Eltinge F. Warner, assert that it is as good as Mr. Flagg's poster of the same title.

The scenes for the new comedy have all been taken and the film is now being assembled and the titles inserted.

Statement of Chaplin's Policy

Chaplin and First National Officials Declare High Standard of Quality Set by Comedian Responsible for Intermittent Releases

RUMORS and alleged authentic statements that dissension, politics, dissatisfaction and other difficulties have been responsible for the intermittent release of Chaplin comedies are answered in a statement issued this week from the offices of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, which carries an explanation from Mr. Chaplin of the exact conditions under which he is working and the policy that actuates his production efforts.

It was made plain by First National officials that the statement was not prompted by any interest in the text of those few of the hundreds of rumors constantly in circulation which relate directly to Chaplin comedies, but that it was issued for the purpose of making known to exhibitors the protection afforded them under their contracts by the very infrequency of Chaplin releases.

First National officers declare that there is no difficulty attached to making footage for Chaplin releases. The difficulty is in making footage for Chaplin comedies.

Under the terms of his contract with the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Mr. Chaplin is to make a total of eight comedies. No definite dates of delivery for each subject are specified. This contract became operative last year. Figured on the basis of ordinary comedy production, for two or three reel subjects, the eight productions could have been made and delivered in four months, averaging two weeks of studio work for each.

When Mr. Chaplin signed his contract with the First National Exhibitors' Circuit he had just started the construction work on his new studio. This structure he had especially designed for comedy work, and in it he had provided for every improvement and facility which would contribute to the quality of Chaplin productions. Many of his ideas for mechanical and technical equipment are innovations.

He did not begin "A Dog's Life" until late in February, and this was despite the fact that the continuity for it was prepared in rough draft early in January. Pride in the quality of his comedies has outweighed every other consideration. Letters from exhibitors requesting a greater output have each met with the same response:

"Each Chaplin release has got to have in it the very best work of which I am capable. Comedy situations are much more difficult to work up than the action of dramatic scenes. There is no trick in grinding out scenes that might be called amusing, but to get real laughs and actual humor out of situations demands study, the utmost concentration and eternal experimenting."

"Entirely apart from our business relationship with Mr. Chaplin," said one of the First National officials, "every one of us feels that he is deserving of a genuine appreciation from the public, exhibitors and the industry generally for having the courage to make the quality of his productions first in importance and quantity and income last, and for adhering strictly to that purpose in the face of every kind of conjecture and comment."

In addition, it is pointed out that Mr. Chaplin has donated a great deal of time to work in behalf of the Liberty Loan and the Red Cross. Only recently he completed the production of a special propaganda picture for the United States Government, entitled "The Bond," and which is to be used in the campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan. And he is working now on similar propaganda subjects for the British and Canadian governments.

This patriotic work has demanded time which otherwise would have been devoted to his regular production activities, and has been partly responsible for the delay in completing "Shoulder Arms."

See the Government Exhibits at Motion Picture Exposition in New York, week October 7

Lady Tsen Mei, Chinese Star of Betzwood Films, is Presented Via Goldwyn Distribution in "For the Freedom of the East"

Jewel Reviews Its First Year

First Year's Progress Satisfies Jewel That the Public Wants Big Special Productions and Willing to Pay the Price

H. M. BERMAN, salesmanager of Jewel Productions, Inc., is celebrating with his pencil and pad and a stock of reports the first anniversary of his organization. The actual birthday of Jewel occurred some time in August, but Mr. Berman has just been able to mobilize the records this week to fittingly commemorate the event.

"Two things have been established by the success of Jewel," said Mr. Berman. "One is the fact that the public wants crackerjack, big pictures, and is willing to pay for them. The other is that human nature is the same in Oshkosh as it is in New York. That second point is important, because a lot of film producers, distributers and exhibitors have been operating on the theory that small town people somehow are different from those who dwell where high buildings grow.

"Jewel has proved beyond doubt that big feature pictures can be made a success in small towns. It has absolutely emancipated the small town exhibitor from the fear of tackling a big proposition. Jewel pictures have made money for those who dared.

"There are thirteen high-class productions under the Jewel banner, all of which have won their laurels," said Mr. Berman. "Two other big features will be released November 4. They are 'The Yellow Dog' and 'Borrowed Clothes.'

"I have found in my correspondence that these pictures have developed a new science in publicity work by the exhibitor and in lobby decorating."

Then Mr. Berman called attention to the correspondence from the West.

There was a telegram from J. I. Schnitzer, in charge of the Indianapolis office. It read as follows:

"Three cheers for 'Crashing Through to Berlin.' Opened up with great newspaper campaign. Played to over 4,000 admissions. Receipts, $1,005. All seats 25 cents. Public accorded picture most enthusiastic reception. Send two more prints for Indianapolis office."

Another letter was from an exhibitor in Platte Centre, Neb., in which he asserted that from a population of 500 he took in $177 gross on "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

There was a letter from W. E. Smith, who signed himself manager, janitor, operator and publicity man for the People's Theatre at Stanfield, Ore. Mr. Smith announced that with a population given (for advertising purposes) as 400, and with a seating capacity of 150, he took in $178.50. He said he was conducting the theatre as a side line, and had never previously paid over $25 for a picture. He gambled $100 on "The Kaiser" for the foregoing results.

Fourth "Big V Special" Released Oct. 7

"Bears and Bad Men" is the title of the fourth Big V Special Comedy to be listed by Vitagraph since the inauguration on September 16 of its two-reel weekly feature comedy service. This subject has for its star Lawrence Semon and is scheduled for release on October 7. It is said to be the best picture that Semon has made since he began his career as a screen comedian and director.

The Big V Special Comedy is now a part of the weekly programs of many of the leading theatres of the United States and Canada, the latest chain of theatres to be listed being that of Ascher Brothers in Chicago.

"America's Answer" Scores Heavily in Chicago

In Chicago, where "America's Answer" was given its first showing at Orchestra Hall September 9, they have responded in ever-increasing numbers to the call of this big war picture. The plan which proved so successful in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other cities of selling out the house on specified nights to firms and organizations has been profitably followed in Chicago.

On the first night a large part of the house was taken by the Chicago Athletic Club. On Friday night the entire house was purchased by the International Harvester Company, which acted as host for its employees. George Ranney, treasurer of the company, and Judge Post, made addresses, and a fifty-piece band of jackies from the Great Lakes Training Station gave a preliminary concert. Several other nights were also sold entire.

The plan formulated by Dennis J. Sullivan, manager of Domestic Distribution for the war pictures of the Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, by which "America's Answer" can be secured through the World Film Corporation by motion picture houses, large and small, on a basis that will permit a profit without any increase in prices, is said to be meeting with hearty response from exhibitors all over the country.

Both Mr. Sullivan and the World Film Corporation are receiving hundreds of letters, commending the plan, and indicating a desire to show this successful official war picture. It is expected that by the time the picture is released for general distribution on October 14 more than 75 per cent of the houses will be in line.

The plan of giving a widely advertised showing in the big cities before the general release has, naturally, aroused a desire to see it in the smaller towns. An intensive advertising campaign has also been a very material aid in accentuating interest in the picture.

"The Lure of Luxury," a Bluebird, Promises Many Entrancing Moments Like This

Bryant Washburn Visits New York for Scenes

Bryant Washburn, Paramount star, accompanied by his director, Donald Crisp, arrived in New York Monday to take exteriors on a forthcoming picture in which Washburn is to star, entitled "Venus in the East." They intend to be on their way back to the coast again by Monday.

"Venus in the East" is a Saturday Evening Post story by Wallace Irwin and the producers thought that owing to the story's "ready made" audience the exteriors should be taken in New York where much of the action takes place.

Scenes in Washington Square and in front of the Metropolitan Opera House are among those included in the list to be filmed here. Anna Nilsson and Margery Wilson will appear with Mr. Washburn in 'Venus in the East."

"All the World to Nothing" Next Russell Picture

"All the World to Nothing" is the next picture made by the William Russell Productions for the American Film Company. At the Santa Barbara studios they are also completing a picture starring Margarita Fisher, called "American Ann." The latest Mary Miles Minter production is a comedy farce that has not as yet been named.

"Hobbs in a Hurry" and "Rosemary Climbs the Heights," Russell and Minter pictures, respectively, are said to be enjoying great bookings.

Hollander at Brooklyn for American Film

William H. Hollander, formerly president of the Brooklyn Exhibitors' League, now first vice-president and formerly manager of the old Post Office theatre, accepted a new position as Brooklyn representative for the American Film Company, which is releasing Mary Miles Minter, Margarita Fisher and William Russell features through the Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Mary Miles Minter, in the American Picture, "Rosemary Climbs the Heights"

This Map Was Prepared by Pathe as a Guide to Its Pretentious Poster Campaign on "Wolves of Kultur," Which Serial Stars Leah Baird

Constructive Campaign on Serial

Pathe Promoting Comprehensive Advertising Campaign on Newest Serial, "Wolves of Kultur" —Small Towns to Be Posted

FROM the days of the "Perils of Pauline," Pathe has believed in advertising serials extensively. The newspaper advertising campaign on that first serial was of a scope, variety and cost that at that time seemed to be without precedent, but the results justified the expense.

That policy has been continued with each of Pathe's twenty-two serials, and to-day in speaking of his plans on the latest serial for Pathe to put out, "Wolves of Kultur," Paul Brunet, vice-president and general manager of Pathe Exchange, Inc., calls attention to the fact that the advertising campaign is a most elaborate one, and in many respects covers ground not covered in advertising any previous serial.

In the first place the campaign is a constructive one. Money is being liberally spent in many places where the returns on previous serials would not seem to justify any special advertising effort on "Wolves of Kultur." But it is believed that with such a strong and timely title, and with a story in which every American should be interested, showing as it does the machinations of the German spy system in this country, with thrilling incident and rapid action, that in every place in the country which supports a motion picture theatre the serial should be run.

Therefore on the billboards of hundreds of towns of from only two or three thousand population up, the twenty-four sheet on "Wolves of Kultur" is now being posted. It is believed that the billboard campaign on this serial will reach more persons than any of their previous campaigns.

Nor are the larger cities neglected. The campaign has been so planned that a traveler starting from the state of Maine on a trip to the coast, whether by train or automobile, wherever he goes, could never be far from a twenty-four sheet on "Wolves of Kultur," at any time. North, South, East and West, is literally being plastered with the paper on this serial. Certain cities, also, have been singled out for newspaper advertising.

That this extensive advertising is having its effect is said to be evidenced by the advance bookings. They are most encouraging despite the fact that the record breaking "Hands Up" has virtually only just started and the release date of "Wolves of Kultur" is still several weeks off—October 13.

The publicity and advertising material for exhibitor's use is very extensive, representing a considerable advance in both scope and variety. This material is now ready, which means that the various exchanges are in a position to meet every demand made upon them several weeks before release. That such is the case is a matter of gratification both with Pathe and with the Western Photoplays, Inc., the producers.

Bert Lytell Starts on "The Spender"

Bert Lytell has started work on "The Spender," his sixth picture as a Metro star, at Metro's west coast studios in Hollywood. "The Spender" is from Frederick Orin Bartlett's original story which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, and was adapted for the screen by George D. Baker, Metro's western manager of production, and Albert G. Kenyon, of the scenario staff.

Clara Morris, a young and very promising leading woman, will play opposite Lytell in the sympathetic role of Helen Stetson. The cast also includes Thomas Jefferson, son of the late Joseph Jefferson, as old man Bisbee; William V. Monag and Clarence Burton. Charles Swickard is directing, with Robert B. Kurrle operating the camera.

"Treat 'Em Rough" is the Title of Tom Mix's Most Recent Fox Picture, and Prescott, Ariz., Was Picked Out as a Good Spot to Film It In

Calvert Now on Her Fifth Keeney Picture

SURROUNDED by a strong cast and with Sidney Olcott as director, Catherine Calvert has begun her fifth picture with the Frank A. Keeney Pictures Corporation, "Her Family's Honor," by E. Lloyd Sheldon.

Actual work was started in the new Keeney Studios, 308-12 East Forty-eighth street, on the morning of Wednesday, September 18. Mr. Keeney bought the studios about a month ago. The intervening time was spent in putting the interior of the building in first-class condition and installing equipment, facilities and properties which would enable him to make his productions absolutely up-to-date in every detail.

As leading man Mr. Olcott has selected Edward Burns, who has appeared opposite the following well-known stars: Valeska Suratt in "The Slave"; June Caprice in "Unknown 274"; Kitty Gordon in "Her Hour," "Diamonds and Pearls" and "The Wasp"; Violet Merseau in "The Morgan Raiders"; Gladys Leslie in "The Soap Girl"; Corinne Griffith in "Love Watches"; Mme. Petrova in "The Life Mask"; Virginia Pearson in "Queen of Hearts," and Elsie Ferguson in "The Danger Mark" and "Under the Greenwood Tree." He had just completed the last-named picture when he was engaged to appear with Miss Calvert.

Among other well-known names in the cast are Georgio Majeroni, Henry Sedley, Anna May and Blanche Davenport.

Some exceptional sets have been constructed for the picture by Mr. Keeney's art director, S. M. Unander, whose work showed in two previous Keeney pictures, "Out of the Night" and "Marriage."

The photography will be in the hands of Larry Williams, who has done this work in all the Keeney pictures thus far. Jay Packard is manager of the studios. All the Keeney pictures have been and will continue to be released through the William L. Sherry Service.

"To Hell With the Kaiser" Converts Many

"TO Hell With the Kaiser," the seven-act Screen Classics, Inc., patriotic production, has developed a new phase of its usefulness. Not only has the picture been shown in munitions plants and training camps, by official recommendation, in recognition of its importance as a patriot-builder, but this power has now been demonstrated in a new way, by the use of the patriotic superfeature to convert "conscientious objectors."

One Metro official said: "Pacifists and objectors have been rounded up and taken to see 'To Hell With the Kaiser.' At a recent performance in an Eastern city three-fourths of the audience was made up of this class of spectators. By the time the seven reels were over there was cheering in all parts of the house, and many of those who came as pacifists and objectors announced their intention of enlisting, to give expression to their change of heart. 'To Hell With the Kaiser' had converted an audience."

"To Hell With the Kaiser," starring Lawrence Grant in the part of the Hohenzollern monarch, with Olive Tell as the American girl, Alice Monroe, has also been shown at quarantine stations, near navy yards, and other centers where enlisted men and officers could have an opportunity to view it, and has been hugely enjoyed by men in blue and khaki.

Stuart Holmes of Metro Is Poster Artist

Stuart Holmes, who is prominent in the support of Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in their forthcoming Metro production, "Little Miss Moneybags," has completed a poster for the fourth Liberty Loan Drive upon which he has been working all summer.

The drawing shows all the countries representing a face, with Germany illustrated by an ulcer. Uncle Sam dressed as a surgeon is shown cauterizing poisoned Germany.

Walsh Picture Has Topical Plot

The newspapers of the country recently carried columns of first-page stories announcing that a large interest was held by Germans in a certain newspaper.

This incident has been turned to account in "On the Jump," a William Fox photoplay featuring George Walsh. In this play a wealthy man, in the interest of the Kaiser, has bought a newspaper which is a power in his state and is using it to foment a strike in a big munitions plant. Through the alertness and daring of the hero this scheming pro-German is exposed.

Warren Kerrigan's New Hampton Production

Jesse D. Hampton, in his new studio in Los Angeles, is busy putting the finishing touches on the newest J. Warren Kerrigan picture, entitled "Three X Gordon." Kerrigan will have the support of Lois Wilson, Walter Perry, Jack Gilbert, Beatrice Joy, and Ernest Warde is in charge of the production. The story is by Kenneth B. Clarke, author of "Prisoners of the Pines."

Eugene O'Brien Joins Paramount-Artcraft

The rumor that Eugene O'Brien had signed a long-term contract to appear in Paramount and Artcraft pictures was confirmed by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation last Wednesday. The contract, which was arranged through Arthur Butler Graham, representing Mr. O'Brien, is for four years, and the popular leading man has already started work opposite Elsie Ferguson in her newest Artcraft picture, "Under the Greenwood Tree."

In motion pictures Mr. O'Brien made his first appearance opposite Mary Pickford in "Poor Little Peppina." He later again played lead to Mary in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," and his most recent work was in eight pictures with Norma Talmadge.

Eugene O'Brien Has Signed With Famous Players-Lasky for Four Years

Pauline Stark, the Clever Girl of the Triangle Forces, Is Next Presented in "Daughter Angele"

American Film On Big Circuits

Sales Force of American Film Company Represented at All Pathe Exchanges Reports Many Important Circuit Bookings

HAVING ramified its sales organization through all the Pathe exchanges of the country, the American Film Company now announces an extraordinary success on the part of their sales force in booking some of the biggest circuits and individual exhibitors for the new subjects of William Russell, Margarita Fisher and Mary Miles Minter.

"The success," states Mr. Hutchinson, president of the company, "is due not only to the efficacy of the new selling system, but also to the superior quality of story, plot and execution of the new five and six-reelers, eight of which will be made for each of the three stars."

It is said to be a question as to which is the best of the three pictures—"Hobbs in a Hurry," a serio-comical narrative, or "The Eyes of Julia Deep," a sweet, human-interest story, starring Miss Minter, or "Money Isn't Everything," a vivacious, prankish yarn with Margarita Fisher as the capricious, artful heroine.

An unusual story, "Rosemary Climbs the Heights," featuring Miss Minter, gives this young actress considerable latitude, inasmuch as she plays at first a role of an unsophisticated village child, and later a girl just out of the flapper age, whirling about in a maelstrom of metropolitan studio life.

The fact that Marcus Loew, Turner and Dankin, Goebel, Ruben and Finkelstein and other circuit men, as well as big individual exhibitors in the leading towns throughout the country, have signed up from two days to week runs is taken to indicate that the products of the American Film Company more than measure up to the demands of the theatre owners who appreciate quality.

In all of these pictures the declared policy is:

	Per cent.
Good story at least	60
Light comedy	20
Pathos	10
Light, frothy puffle	10
Total	100

And with this formula the greatest possible percentage of the whims of the audiences should be catered to successfully.

Metro Chooses Lytell's Next Film

"The Spender," by Frederick Orin Bartlett, will be Bert Lytell's next Metro picture, his sixth starring vehicle under the parrot brand. "The Spender," a short story, appeared in the Saturday Evening Post several months ago. It has been made into a photoplay scenario by Albert G. Kenyon and George D. Baker, Metro's Western manager of production.

A new philosophy of wealth forms the basis of the plot of "The Spender." Lytell will have the role of a young man, fresh from college, who takes a job with his close-fisted millionaire uncle at $5 a week, and then is "fired" because he suggests that he is worth $5,000 a year. He is restored to his job under unusual conditions after he has shown his relative that it is more blessed to spend than to hoard.

Jewel Offers Feature for U. S. War Library

Officials of Jewel Productions, Inc., are informed that the United States Government is collecting millions of feet of film depicting war incidents, and intends to establish a permanent library of these subjects. Jewel purposes to supply a print of "Crashing Through to Berlin," which has been highly indorsed by government officials, as part of the war library.

Military officials and diplomatists in general who have seen "Crashing Through to Berlin," declare this picture is a remarkably complete, powerful visualization of the war from its beginning to the present, as many of the scenes are said to provide absolute evidence of the many crimes of the Huns in invaded territory.

Graham Returns from Abroad

Forms New Distributing Organization for Famous Players-Lasky in South America—Office Opens Soon in Peru

AFTER an absence of three months, John Cecil Graham, general foreign representative of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, has returned to New York from South America, where he has completed arrangements for the distribution of Paramount and Artcraft Pictures in Chile, Peru and Bolivia. Headquarters for the new distributing company, known as the South Pacific Paramount Company, have been established at Estado 250, Santiago, Chile. Here the entire floor of a large building has been fitted out with all modern appliances used in the conduct of a big film distributing business.

Senor Eduardo Suarez, who has again become Chilean Ambassador to the United States, is President of the South Pacific Paramount Company, with Senor B. Villar, Local Manager. There will be two releases a week of Paramount and Artcraft Pictures, selected with special regard for local demands, and actual distribution has already been commenced on this schedule. Within six months an office will be opened in Peru, arrangements having already been made for same by Mr. Graham before his return.

In connection with the South American situation and his activities during the past three months, Mr. Graham said: "There are big opportunities awaiting progressive exhibitors in Chile, Peru and Bolivia. Managers there at present are somewhat restricted in various ways due to war conditions abroad which prevent them from obtaining necessary material to enhance their shows. The exhibitors, however, are showing initiative, and it is safe to say that after the war they will be giving entertainments that will compare favorably with our own. There is a crying need for trained operators, and in most cases only one projecting machine is used, with long waits between reels.

"The formation of the South Pacific Paramount Company completes our distribution throughout South America. Arrangements have already been made for the first-run presentation of our films in the largest theatres of the territory which this organization covers, including the Comedia and Union Central of Santiago, the Colon of Valparaiso, the Olympo of Vina del Mar, the Royal of Concepcion, and the Bidwell-Lorraine theatres in northern Chile at Coquimbo, Antofogasta, Iquique and Arica. After passing through these first-run theatres, all films will continue to work on circuits through other theatres in these respective localities."

"The Mating," Vitagraph, with Gladys Leslie, October 7

"The Mating," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature which is scheduled for release the week of October 7, is said to present Gladys Leslie in a role of unusual strength and appeal.

It is a real love story of a true blue American girl from the pen of Millicent Evison, widely known writer of fiction, and the screen version is credited with suspense, plenty of mystery and also plenty of action.

New Vitagraph Serial Is Praised

Exhibitors Send Enthusiastic Letters to Vitagraph, Boosting the William Duncan Serial, "A Fight for Millions"

IN the midst of congratulatory letters and telegrams arriving at the Vitagraph offices from exhibitors of "A Fight For Millions," the latest William Duncan serial, there came a telegram from the star himself. It was addressed to Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph Company, and read as follows:

> "If you think 'A Fight For Millions' is good, wait until you see 'The Man of Might.' It will make 'millions' look like three plugged nickels."

"The Man of Might" is the serial in which Duncan, supported by a strong cast, including Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan, is now engaged at the company's western studio. Like "A Fight For Millions," it was written by Albert E. Smith and Cyrus Townsend Brady, authors also of "The Fighting Train," "Vengeance — and the Woman," "The Woman in the Web," and "The Iron Test." The latter is the next serial scheduled by Vitagraph, and it will start on its course October 21, with Antonio Morano and Carol Holloway as the featured stars.

The telegram from Duncan, star and director, would seem to indicate another big success for Vitagraph's serial business, because Duncan, who is known as "Silent Bill," doesn't often give voice to opinions. The only other time he ever commented on a picture in which he was working was when he predicted success for "A Fight For Millions," because it was a "regular he-man story." His forecast on this production has been more than borne out and the company is said to be in receipt of hundreds of letters and telegrams from exhibitors pronouncing it the greatest serial success they ever have known.

Two letters, from widely separated sections of the country, are typical of all of them, and were in the bundle which arrived at the Vitagraph New York offices last week. One, from Dr. Charles J. Allemen, proprietor of the Bijou theatre, Church Point, La., reads in part as follows:

"'A Fight For Millions' opened up here last night to bigger business than any ever known for a serial in our house. Our patrons have come to know the fine quality of Vitagraph serials, they having seen 'The Fighting Trail' and 'Vengeance—and the Woman,' both of which made us big business. These western plays seem to be peculiarly adapted to our patrons' tastes and Vitagraph knows how to make them with greater 'punch' in them than any other we have ever used. This, coupled with the fine, equable policy of the New Orleans Vitagraph exchange, is bound to make staunch friends of the exhibitors with business alertness enough to have given Vitagraph service a fair trial."

A letter from a woman exhibitor, Mrs. F. E. Wilk, of Syracuse, Neb., was even more remarkable than the one quoted above. She writes glowingly of the success she had in a town of 840 population, against severe opposition, and says she had to run "A Fight For Millions" four times in one evening to satisfy her patrons. Her letter reads as follows:

"Here's my record for opening show of 'A Fight For Millions': In a town of 840 population, I ran in opposition to the Opera House, where they had a troupe of players and offered as a drawing card a diamond ring to the most popular lady, a pig given away free, also money and cigar prizes. They chalked the walks, had boys out with banners and a bugler—all this against me. Here's what I did: I had a dandy lobby display, used about 800 heralds, chalked the walks, went out with my 'bill boys' myself, and as a result we had to run our show four times that night. Can you beat it for a town of this size?"

That "A Fight For Millions" scored so strongly against the opposition outlined by Mrs. Wilk is a splendid testimonial, not only to Vitagraph and its serial but to the entire motion picture industry, because it shows that the public will support photoplays of real merit no matter what other attractions may be offered to them.

Paramount-Artcraft Big October Schedule

THE Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has just completed its schedule of releases for October, presenting a pretentious line-up of attractions. Four new celebrities will make their initial appearance as Paramount and Artcraft stars next month. They are Enrico Caruso, the opera star; Harold R. Peat, the soldier-author, better known as "Private Peat"; Dorothy Gish, prominently identified with D. W. Griffith productions and Bryant Washburn, the well known screen star.

The initial films of the month scheduled for October 6 release are William S. Hart in "The Border Wireless"; Wallace Reid in "The Man from Funeral Range" and Dorothy Gish in her initial Paramount vehicle, "Battling Jane."

October 13 marks the release of the big Paramount-Artcraft Special, "Private Peat," Enid Bennett in the Ince production, "When Do We Eat?" and Lila Lee in "Such a Little Pirate."

Enrico Caruso in "My Cousin" makes his bow as an Artcraft star on October 20, the Paramount releases for this date being Billie Burke in "The Make Believe Wife" and Bryant Washburn in "The Gypsy Trail," the last mentioned serving as Mr. Washburn's first Paramount vehicle.

The last releases of the month on October 27 are Ethel Clayton in "Women's Weapons," Pauline Frederick in "A Daughter of the Old South" and Vivian Martin in "Mirandy Smiles."

New Wm. Russell Picture Well Received

None of the former William Russell pictures have met with such a cordial reception as "Hobbs in a Hurry," the first of a series of eight features to be made by the William Russell Productions for the American Film Company and released through Pathe Exchanges.

In this picture Russell does some diversified acting in the role of a society man, a wild, dynamic youth, a woolly westerner, a black-face Pullman porter, a gun fighter, and an ardent lover, but always full of subtle humor and light comedy.

Alice Brady's Big Week in New York City

Alice Brady, the Select star, will have a big week in New York City. During the entire week, as usual, Miss Brady will appear in her new stage starring vehicle, "Forever After," at the Central theatre, and the week will also find her in "The Death Dance" at the Savoy, Morningside, Mt. Morris, Marcy, Oxford, New Kingston, Olympia, 77th Street, Adelphia, Hamilton, Majestic and Roana theatres.

During the same week she will be seen in "The Whirlpool" at the 34th Street theatre, Park, Village, Webster, Lincoln, 14th Street, Globe and Myrtle theatres, while "The Ordeal of Rosetta," another Alice Brady picture, will be seen during the selfsame week at the Amphion, Model, Mt. Vernon, Columbia, Hooper, Auditorium (Fort Lee), Bergen (Newark), Strand (Bayonne), Hyperion (Corona), Apollo, Greenwich and Tiffany theatres.

Christie Comedies Earn Twenty-four Sheets

The Christie, the Fairbanks and the Chaplin pictures combined to make an all-comedy bill the attraction during the week of September 8 at the Palace theatre in Los Angeles. The giving of twenty-four sheet honors to a one-reel comedy release was rather a departure from exhibitor's advertising methods generally, but according to Exhibitor H. B. Beckwedel, of the Palace theatre:

"I am going to advertise the Christie Company's one-reel comedies frequently hereafter by the method of twenty-four sheets which I have arranged to be placed throughout Los Angeles and Hollywood. Christie comedies have meant a great deal to me in the building up of a steady clientele for my theatre."

Norma Talmadge in Appeal for Liberty Loan

At the request of Ben F. McCutcheon, manager of Publicity for the Fourth Liberty Loan, Norma Talmadge has given a three-hundred word appeal for the Loan which is to be syndicated in 3500 newspapers throughout the country.

Kathleen Kirkham, to Appear With Douglas Fairbanks in "Arizona"

George Walsh, as He Prepared to Leap Overboard in "On the Jump," a New Fox Production

Special Couriers Deliver Select Pictures

Due to laboratory difficulties Marion Davies' "The Burden of Proof" arrived late and first-run accounts had to be reached by special messengers. The cities that were reached in this manner by Select's special service were Louisville, Ky., Chicago, Ill., Washington, D. C., and Richmond, Va.

In order not to disappoint these first-run exhibitors, General Manager Arthur S. Kane of Select Pictures decided to impress members of the home office force to act as special messengers. John Cosentino left Select headquarters in New York on Thursday, barely in time to catch the Wolverine to Chicago at 5 o'clock.

Walter J. Porges, of the Home Office, left on the 11.30 Pennsylvania train Friday night, arriving in Dayton, Ohio, the next afternoon, and relayed the film to Louisville.

Vivian M. Moses, Select's publicity director, took passage on the Baltimore-Washington express, and reached the capital less than an hour later than he would have had he caught the famous flier. Employees of the Washington exchange were on hand to relay the film to Richmond.

"Wolves of Kultur" Will Have Trade Showing

A special showing of "Wolves of Kultur," produced by Western Photoplays and released through Pathe, will be made on the New York Roof on Tuesday, October 1, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This serial, featuring Leah Baird with Sheldon Lewis, is based upon many actual happenings of German spies working in this country, and with the exhibitors who are invited are included government officials and representatives of the principal patriotic societies. The first three episodes will be shown.

"The Maid and the Man," New Strand Comedy

Odd little twists of every-day life—the funny and very human things that make life worth living for people with a sense of humor—are being used to make the Strand-Mutual comedies, starring Elinor Field in happy farces.

Sherry Gunning for Big Game

William L. Sherry Has Habit of Going Away on Still Hunts and Coming Back with a Bunch of Contracts

WILLIAM L. SHERRY, he of the newly established Wm. L. Sherry Service, has long been known as a king bee of film service contractors. When his colonels and captains and lieutenants all fail to contract the Sherry Service in some certain theatre that Sherry sets his heart upon serving, then Sherry gets busy himself. He takes down his fowling piece from over the fireplace and starts out on a silent trail to bag the bucking birds.

That is what Sherry is doing at the present time. He is out gunning for big game. It is an old trick of his. When he was head of the Paramount film distributing organization in New York, before he established the Sherry Service in the Godfrey Building, he had a way of disappearing for days at a time and nobody knew where he went. Then about the time that the home office began to wonder what had become of the "old man," and about the time that the "five—count them—five" Sherry daughters were in tears because father had forgotten his promise to "kick in" with five new hats, and about the time that Mrs. Wm. L. Sherry was thinking about getting a divorce because she knew he had never loved her anyhow—then Bill Sherry would come back leading a captive exhibitor with a rope around his neck and a contract for film service in the Sherry pocket.

And that is what Sherry is doing just now. Rounding up a few "hard ones," somewhere out in the woods, just over the horizon. Of course, this is no attempt to disparage the sales ability of Dan Savage, general sales manager of the Wm. L. Sherry Service, or any of his lieutenants. They are a bunch of contract hounds.

On rare occasions, however, it happens that an exhibitor gets away from the entire posse and hides out in the woods. It is then that there is deathly silence and inward quaking, when the hunting crew sneaks back into the home office.

Presently there comes a steely glint into Sherry's eyes. He gets up. He goes to the fireplace. He takes down his trusty fowling piece and examines it carefully. Then with a terrible look at the quaking delinquents, the "old man" starts out—alone. And that is what he is doing now. To use a bit of ecclesiastical slang, he is "hitting-the-trail." And soon we may expect Bill Sherry back to New York leading a flock of captive exhibitors with Sherry Service tags on them, according to his office force.

Paralta Owners Issue Statement to Trade

JOHN E. DE WOLF and Herman Katz, who control the affairs of Paralta, had the following to say in regard to the future plans of Paralta:

"There have been so many rumors regarding Paralta's plans for future productions that in justice to the stockholders and to the company's many friends we feel that it is advisable for us to make a statement.

"In about a year we have produced nearly two dozen large pictures, which are now in process of distribution here and abroad. Our pictures are doing splendidly. Our only troubles have been internal, which are now adjusted. The undersigned are now owners of a vast majority of the common stock and the control of the company is entirely in our hands.

"Early in the spring we secured the advice and counsel of Mr. Benjamin B. Hampton, who went to Los Angeles at our request. Mr. Hampton found that we had built an excellent studio and had created a very valuable property. In the confusion surrounding our affairs temporarily, this valuable property was jeopardized, but we succeeded in adjusting all our matters at Los Angeles by selling the studio to Robert Brunton and his associates on a plan that has entirely settled all our Coast troubles.

"Mr. Hampton has done a great piece of work for us and we are most appreciative. We knew we had a valuable property, but it was tangled up and our experience in the business was not enough to enable us to disentangle it. Mr. Hampton has assisted us materially in straightening out our affairs and now we can see our way clear to success. The company's equities in its released pictures are very valuable.

"We are confident that when we announce our new program of productions the announcement will be so important that it will be enthusiastically welcomed by exhibitors. Paralta's progress in the first year of its existence has never been equalled in the industry. We confidently predict that its second year will be far greater than its first."

American Campaign Book is Reported Success

Reports from various Pathe exchanges, through which the American Film Company has released its next Minter feature, "The Eyes of Julia Deep," declare that the premiere of this picture came as a pleasant surprise to both exhibitors and audiences.

In conjunction with this report the American Film Company is informed that the so-called campaign book, a volume of diversified information for salesmen and exhibitors, has proven a great success. Some of the salesmen declare now that they could not do without it. "Hobbs in a Hurry," the first of a series of eight features made by the Russell Productions, and Margarita Fisher's picture, "Money Isn't Everything," are said to be scoring successes.

"Two's Company" Is Now Al Christie Comedy

"Two's Company" is the title of a new comedy just completed by Al. Christie, featuring Bobby Vernon and Clare Seymour.

At the Right and Left Are Moments in "Hidden Fires," in Which Goldwyn Pictures Presents Mae Marsh. In the center "Smiling Bill" Parsons Appears to Be Doing a Bit of Explaining. The Capitol Comedy is "A Pair of Pink Pajamas"

Goldwyn Reviews Fall Opening

The New Season Has Been an Auspicious Opening for Goldwyn's Second Year, According to Declarations from Exhibitors

THE first smashing blows usually determine the final result of any campaign, whether it be a military engagement, a football contest, a Government's fight for trade conquest, or an exhibitor starting a new amusement year. The "big punches" at the beginning are the determining factors of victory.

"Exhibitor letters and telegrams, reviews of productions by the critics of the motion picture trade journals and the reviews of the critics of the larger dailies in the big cities give proof that Goldwyn Pictures' new Star Series season has been planned in accord with the methods of the best military tacticians," declared a Goldwyn official, "and Goldwyn's big guns in inaugurating its second successful season for exhibitor profit throughout the nation have tremendously stimulated theatre patronage everywhere."

Geraldine Farrar's desertion of costume drama in favor of the stronger modern emotional drama is said to have been hailed with delight by exhibitors and the public. Her first Goldwyn production, "The Turn of the Wheel," has resulted in record-breaking business from Maine to California, according to report.

"Mabel Normand and Goldwyn did the spectacular thing when the little comedienne appeared as the star in 'Peck's Bad Girl,'" said another Goldwyn official, "and since Miss Normand suddenly decided to return to the old and favorite style of stories in which she won her world-wide fame—broad comedies—the Goldwyn home office has been able to hear the exhibitor cheer and applause from as far distant as the Golden Gate.

"It was a foregone conclusion that Tom Moore would be a successful star from the start," he continued. "As much pride as it takes in him and his success, Goldwyn cannot and does not claim the honor of making Tom Moore a star. The exhibitors of the country made him.

"'Just for Tonight,' his first picture, is a fascinating, speedy, romantic drama. His second story, 'Thirty a Week,' would make him if he were not already made.

"Madge Kennedy gets better all the time. 'The Kingdom of Youth,' the best thing she has done so far, has achieved splendid box office results. Her next picture is 'A Perfect Lady,' by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf.

"The kind of story Rex Beach never before has done for the screen—that's 'Laughing Bill Hyde.' And the kind of human, lovable star you have never before seen on the screen—that's Will Rogers. This production was given its first pre-release presentation at the Rivoli Theatre, New York, the week beginning September 22.

"Next week Mae March, in 'Hidden ires,' the best Mae Marsh story and production since the 100 per cent. perfect 'The Cinderella Man.' 'Hidden Fires' is released October 7."

Fairbanks Films Artcraft's "Arizona"

The motion picture world as well as the public is said to be deeply interested in the announcement that Douglas Fairbanks is to appear shortly in a film version of Augustus Thomas' most successful play, "Arizona," for Artcraft.

This is a considerable departure for the popular star, though his most recent picture, "He Comes Up Smiling," was also adapted from a stage play.

The cast will include Theodore Roberts, as Canby—a part to which he brings the weight of years of experience and a great talent for characterization. Frederick Burton will play Col. Bonham, and the heavy role of Capt. Hodgeman will be interpreted by Harry Northrup. Kellar is to be enacted by Frank Campeau. Estrella is played by Kathleen Kirkham, Bonita by Marjorie Daw and Lena by Marguerite de la Motte. Dick Rosson does Tony, the unforgettable Mexican lover; Albert McQuarrie is Hatton. Robert Boulder and Katherine Griffith have important roles.

Cost of Filming Pictures Told by World

The statistician of the World Studio, at Fort Lee, has spent some interesting time in working out the figures of just what a production costs and his work forms the basis of a conservation propaganda which should have a far-reaching influence.

"The nominal time for the filming of a story," he says, "is based on a four weeks' schedule. This arranges for delays growing out of weather conditions.

"Each picture averages three hundred scenes. With a working day of eight hours this gives the daily quota of twelve and one-half scenes on a twenty-four-day basis. The average cost of a picture is $25,000. This makes the cost of each scene, including titles and subtitles, $83.33. A day's work represents $1,040.66. This includes all overhead of the studio. Each minute represents an expense of $2.17.

"The Bells" Pre-Release at Rialto Theatre

The high artistic and dramatic excellence of "The Bells," the second of the Pathe Extra-Selected Star Photoplays, with Frank Keenan, is declared to be attested by the fact that S. L. Rothapfel, manager of the Rialto and Rivoli theatres, after seeing the picture, at once booked it for a pre-release at the Rialto theatre beginning the week of September 15.

The original version of "The Bells" was by Leopold Lewis and adapted from Erckmann-Chatrian. The scenario of the screen version, presented for the first time at the Rialto theatre, is by Gilson Willets, the novelist and writer for the screen. It was under the direction of Ernest C. Warde and will be released October 20.

Hodkinson Appointments

This week finds Hodkinson Service represented in every General Film Exchange except Seattle by a special representative of the W. W. Hodkinson Corp.

The last appointments to be made were C. Hanschel in Philadelphia, E. C. Moore in Pittsburgh, H. C. Simpson in Atlanta and W. O. Edmonds in San Francisco.

"Over the Top" Holds Crowd Until 3 A. M.

Out in Ohio "Over the Top," Vitagraph's big patriotic special is holding the crowds until the cows come home. Or, rather, until the cows are ready for their day's work.

A letter received at the home office of the Vitagraph Distributing Organization last week told of an extraordinary record made by the picture at the Park theatre, Millersburg, Ohio, when the last performance closed at five minutes to three in the morning.

The house ran three complete shows with "Over the Top" in one evening, and a group of formers, while waiting outside to get into the last show, said that they didn't care what time they got home just so they arrived in tome to do the milking in the morning. This 3 a. m. showing establishes a record for the industry, so far as the data at hand shows.

"Wilson or the Kaiser?" Next Screen Classics

Preliminary scenes have already been photographed in connection with "Wilson or the Kaiser?" Screen Classics, Inc.'s next propaganda picture. The story proper will be placed in immediate production under the direction of Charles Miller at the Metro Studio.

Maxwell Karger is the author of "Wilson or the Kaiser?" which has been scenarioized by Albert Shelby Le Vino, and the picture will be specially released as a multiple-reel production, and distributed by Metro.

"The Beautiful Mongrel" for Carmel Myers

"The Beautiful Mongrel" is the title of Carmel Myers' next play, which will be put into production under the direction of Paul Powell at the Bluebird studios this coming week.

Miss Myers is enjoying a brief vacation after completing "One Bright Idea," also under Powell's direction. M. Rodolpho de Valentina is again to be the star's leading man.

Marie Walcamp Stars in Five-Reel Bluebird

Marie Walcamp, the serial star of "The Red Ace," "Liberty, a Daughter of the U. S. A.," and "The Lion's Claws,'" all Universal serials, is now to be seen in a five-reel Bluebird melodrama.

She has just completed a photoplay version of Bret Hartes famous story of California of '49. "In the Carquinez Woods." The title will be changed. Colin Campbell was the director.

Artcraft Buys "Sporting Life"

Artcraft Corporation Secures United States and Canada Rights for Maurice Tourneur's Latest Production, "Sporting Life"

Here's a Good Glimpse of Mary Pickford's Curls, in "Johanna Enlists," Artcraft

FOR the first time in the history of the Artcraft Pictures Corporation arrangements have been closed to buy a production made by an independent organization for the open market. The compliment implied in this statement goes directly to Maurice Tourneur, whose first picture, "Sporting Life," has been bought by the Artcraft Corporation for the United States and Canada.

The offer made to the Maurice Tourneur Productions by Mr. Zukor on behalf of the Artcraft was said to be so flattering and unusual that there was very little left for Mr. Tourneur to do other than accept the offer and the assurance that "Sporting Life" would be distributed by Mr. Zukor's organization in a manner fitting such a production.

"Sporting Life" is the first of the Maurice Tourneur Productions made for the open market. His second picture will be offered shortly and, since it involves a very unique theme handled in Mr. Tourneur's manner, it seems certain that it will create as much of a sensation in its way as "Sporting Life" has. It will be offered in the open market through Hiller & Wilk, Inc., their selling agents. There will be a Broadway showing at one of the major Broadway theatres.

Program News on Page 2210

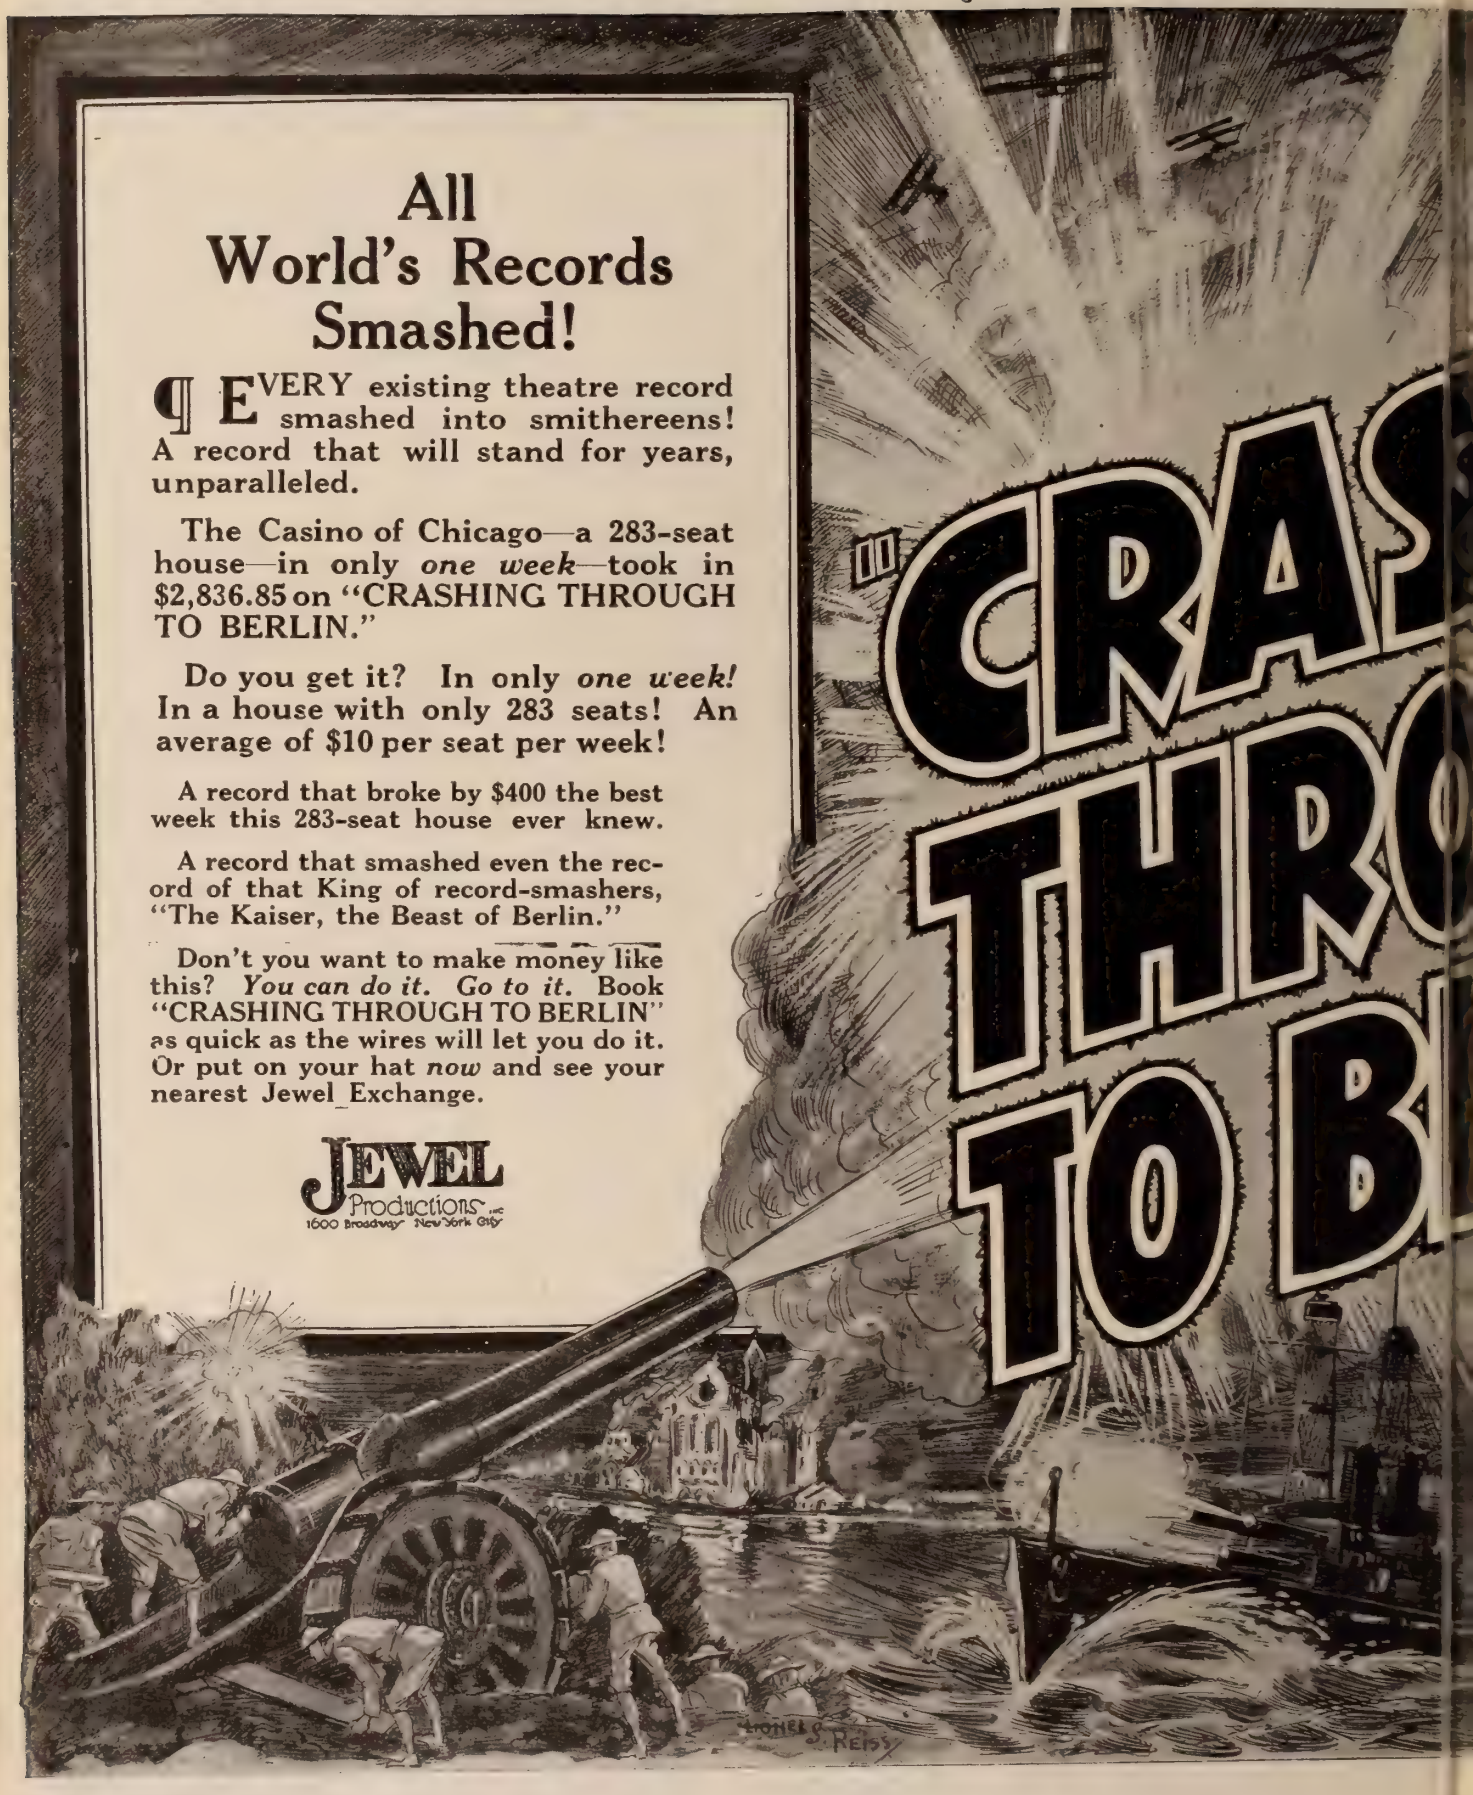
In the cast that Mr. Tourneur selected are the following artists: Paul Clerget, the French actor, who scored in a pantomime, "Pierrot the Prodigal," at the Little theatre; Flore Revalles, the dancer, who was a leading member of the Bakst Ballet Russe. She appeared during the American seasons of the ballet, appearing as "Cleopatra"; Gloria Goodwin, the dancer; Chester Barnett, screen juvenile; Ethel Hallor, of the Century Grove; Lyn Donaldson, George West, Fair Binney and Warner Richmond.

That "Sporting Life" has unusual value in the foreign market is evident in the quick sales that have been made of distribution rights, and comparatively very few countries are available at the present writing. The following territories are open, but negotiations are pending for the sale of rights for these territories: Panama, South America, South Africa, India, China, Japan, Dutch East Indies, Italy, Spain and Russia.

The New Rainbow Comedies Full of Promise

Several officials of the United States Motion Picture Corporation of Wilkes-Barre were in New York last week conferring with executives of General Film Company and during the session some new unreleased Rainbow Comedies were screened for critical review. The result was a feeling of high satisfaction over the quality of the forthcoming releases and a prosperous career for the new comedy series.

Distribution of Rainbow Comedies has just begun through General Film Company. The first releases are in this order: "Nearly a Slacker," "My Lady's Slipper" and "Some Judge." In each of these Lillian Vera, well known as a light comedienne of the screen, and Eddie Boulden, screen comedian, play opposite each other. A stock cast carefully chosen for consistent strength helps put over the fun.



The Rainbow Comedy releases are scheduled two weeks apart, and the first three subjects have already been sent to the exchanges of General Film.

Gail Kane of Mutual Selects Story

Gail Kane is said to be busy selecting a story for her forthcoming production, the third of the series of eight special pictures which Gail Gane Productions is making for release through Mutual exchanges.

"You have no idea how much work it is," said Miss Kane, "in selecting just the right kind of a story. Since I have become my own producer I have realized for the first time that the right story is hard to find."

Additional Producers' News on Page 2209

All
World's Records
Smashed!
¶ EVERY existing theatre record smashed into smithereens! A record that will stand for years, unparalleled.
The Casino of Chicago—a 283-seat house—in only one week—took in $2,836.85 on "CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN."
Do you get it? In only one week! In a house with only 283 seats! An average of $10 per seat per week!
A record that broke by $400 the best week this 283-seat house ever knew.
A record that smashed even the record of that King of record-smashers, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."
Don't you want to make money like this? You can do it. Go to it. Book "CRASHING THROUGH TO BERLIN" as quick as the wires will let you do it. Or put on your hat now and see your nearest Jewel Exchange.
JEWEL Productions Inc
1600 Broadway New York City
CRA
THRO
TO B
LIONEL S. REISS

HING
UGH
RLIN'

Keep your eyes open!
It's Coming!
JEWEL
Productions, Inc. present
"The YELLOW DOG"
HELP AMERICA GET RID OF THE BEAST
Henry Irving Dodge's big Story vividly dramatized
From the Saturday Evening Post and Harper & Bros. Book

The great Y.M.C.A. Special "AROUND the CLOCK with the SAILOR"

A Sensational Hit!

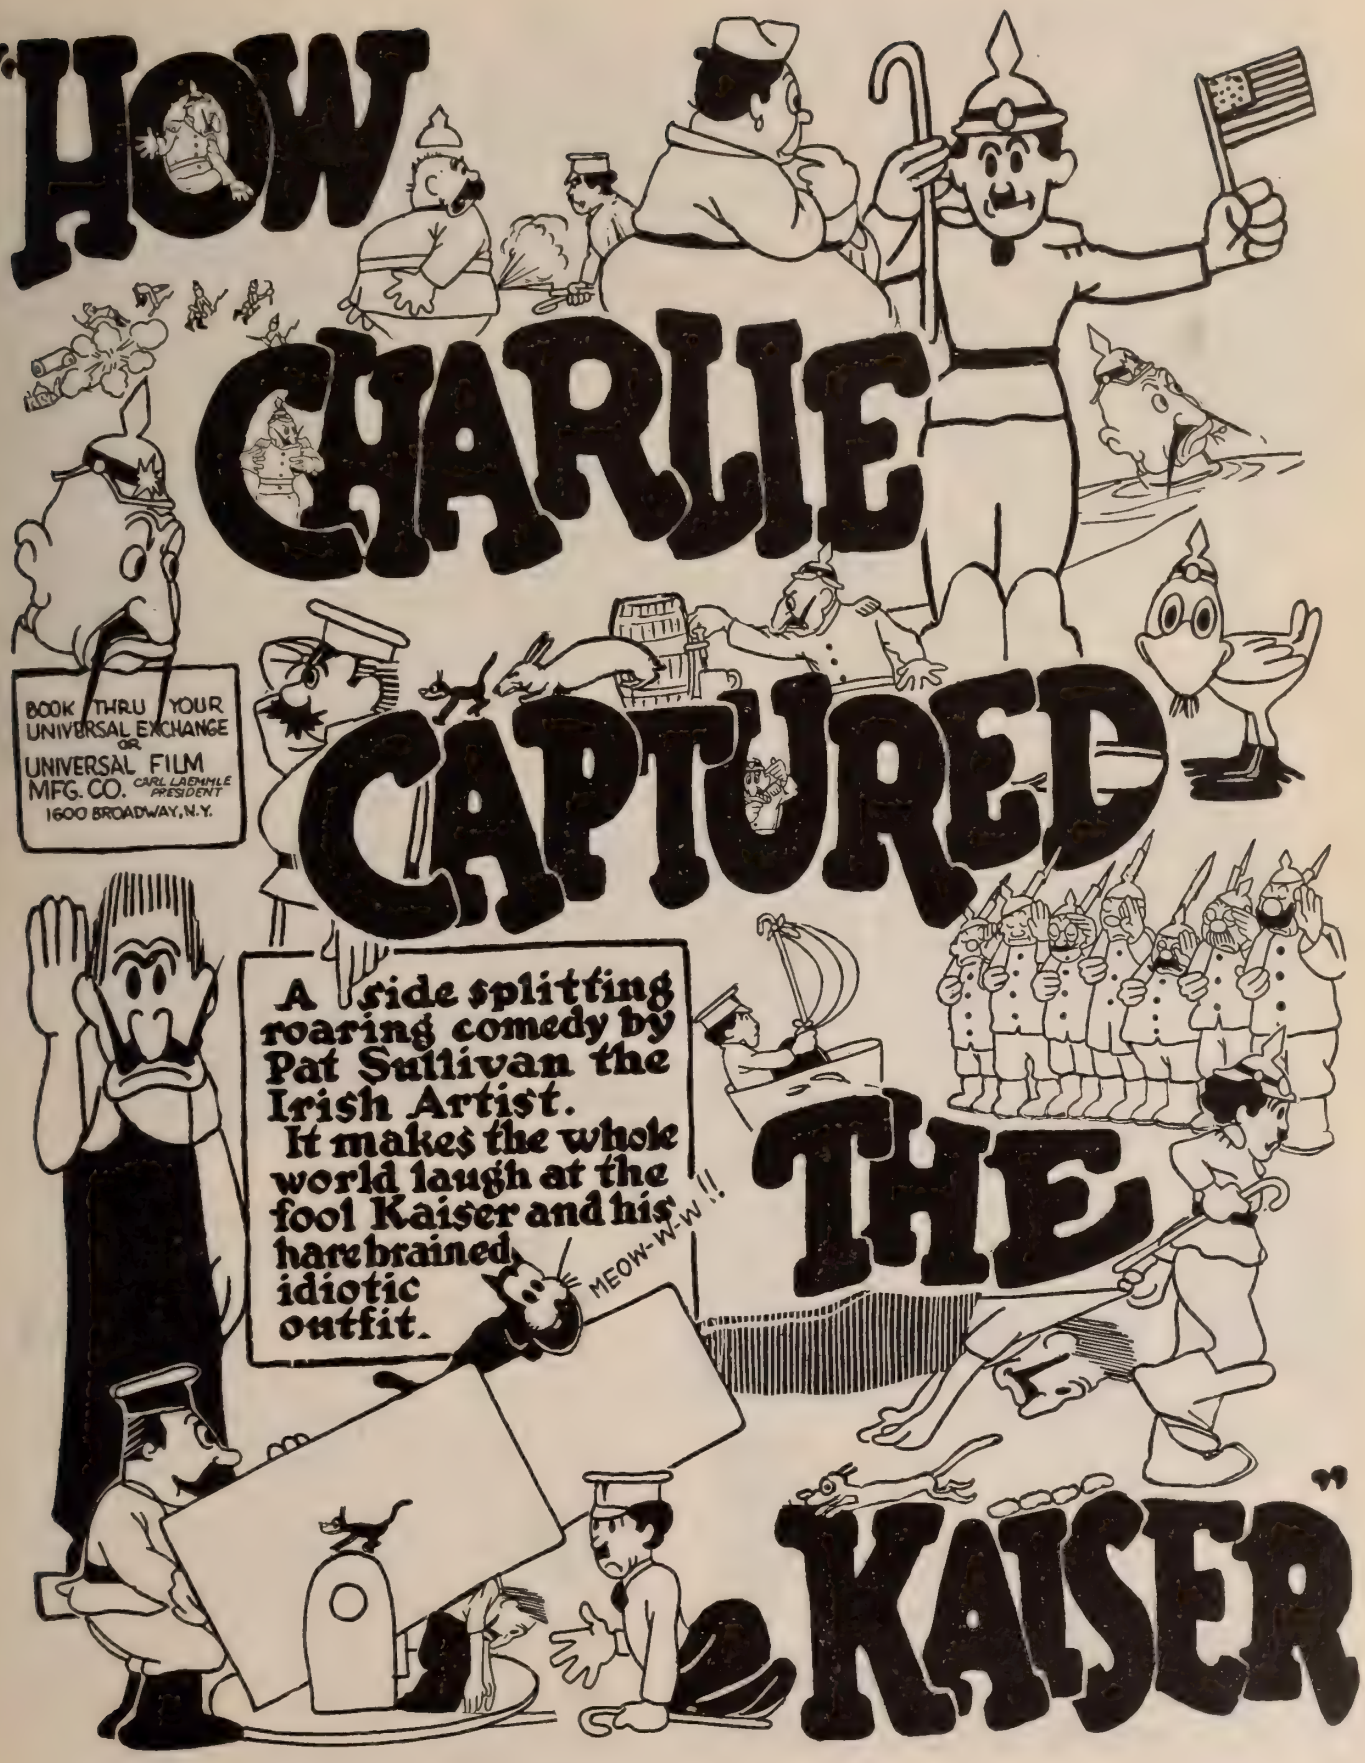
Book It—Book It—Book It!

THE first of these wonderful Y. M. C. A. Specials—"AROUND THE CLOCK WITH THE ROOKIE," is going over in hundreds of houses like wild fire. Millions of fathers, mothers and relatives are packing these houses to see their boys. Now comes the second big release—"AROUND THE CLOCK WITH THE SAILOR." The release that will jam your house exactly like the first one. It shows what our Sailor lads are doing. It's a surprise and the delight of millions.

BOOK the first release—"AROUND THE CLOCK WITH THE ROOKIE"—and boost it. Then book "AROUND THE CLOCK WITH THE SAILOR" and boost that. You can't imagine what the responses are to these timely specials, and the great big point for you to consider while booking is that YOU HAVE THE ENTIRE Y. M. C. A. BACKING to help you put it over in your territory. Call on the local Y. M. C. A. officials. Tell 'em you've booked these Y. M. C. A. SPECIALS and watch your bank roll grow. BOOK 'EM TODAY. Get the exclusive.

Book thru your nearest Universal Exchange, or communicate with the UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO., Largest Film Mfg. Co. of the Universe; Carl Laemmle, President, 1600 Broadway, New York

"'THE KAISER, the Beast of Berlin,' is the greatest money-making picture ever shown in the city of Springfield. The receipts were far in excess of my wildest dreams.



"Despite the fact of its being here before (please note this fact) I jammed them in and turned hundreds away on both days.

"It is big enough, strong enough, and lasting enough for a Third Repeat, and, if I can book it for two days again in September, my house is ready for it."

Gus Kerasotes
ROYAL THEATRE
SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS

JEWEL Productions, Inc.
1600 Broadway New York City

"The KAISER— the Beast of Berlin"

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

BOOK THEM BOOST THEM

The Biggest Team of Money Getters on the Entire World's Market

THE UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY AND UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS constitute the most powerful team of money getters every week that you can possibly book. Hundreds of theatres have awakened to the Box Office power of the U Weeklies. Can it be possible with the facts of rapidly mounting receipts in all these houses with these U Weeklies that you are going to do without them? If you do, you're in the wrong business. BOOK 'EM BOTH TODAY. Keep your crowds coming REGULARLY every week.

Book thru your nearest Universal Exchange or communicate with the UNIVERSAL FILM MN'FG CO.

Largest Film Mn'fg Co. in the Universe — CARL LAEMMLE, Presidn

1600 Broadway, New York

Additional Live News from the Producers

(Continued from page 2201)

"Hidden Fires" is Mae Marsh's Newest Starring Subject for Goldwyn

Six Goldwyn Star Series Now Underway

While Mabel Normand is completing under the direction of Charles Giblyn the last scenes of her newest comedy, "A Perfect Thirty-Six," at the Goldwyn studios in Fort Lee, other stars are busy with productions scheduled for release after October 21.

Geraldine Farrar has completed "The Hell Cat," her second Goldwyn picture, and is far along in her third production for Star Series release, being directed by Reginald Barker.

With "Laughing Bill Hyde," Rex Beach's great story, with Will Rogers in the name role, given a successful pre-release showing at the Rivoli theatre, New York, Director Hobart Henley has begun work on the second Beach story on Goldwyn's Star Series schedule.

Madge Kennedy has returned to Fort Lee after a two weeks' vacation following the completion of her newest Goldwyn picture, "A Perfect Lady," made from the famous Rose Stahl stage success by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf, and is ready to begin work on a new production.

Mae Marsh has completed the picture which is to follow in the regular order of her releases after "Hidden Fires," scheduled for October 7. The story of this was written by Burk Simon, for many years stage manager for David Belasco.

Tom Moore, who made his debut as a star in Goldwyn's "Just for Tonight," has completed his second Goldwyn starring vehicle, "Thirty a Week," under the direction of Harry Beaumont, director of the famous "Skinner" series of pictures.

Jewel and Universal Announcements

Jewel Productions has arranged to release a feature picture which was formerly called "Orange Blossoms," in which Mildred Harris is starred. The title has been changed to "Borrowed Clothes." This picture will be released November 4th.

About New Pictures

That a more perfect picture for entertainment purposes could not be devised, is the report of those who have witnessed "The False Faces," the Paramount-Artcraft Special in the making and seen advance reels projected. Thomas H. Ince is producing the picture.

Herbert Rawlinson is the featured star with Sylvia Breamer in the all-star cast to be seen in "The Common Cause," the war picture made by J. Stuart Blackton, under the auspices and with the assistance of the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission.

In "Whatever the Cost," Anita King's second Plaza picture for the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation, the star has another of the boyish outdoor roles. As Jess Farley, a smuggler's daughter, she lives a secluded life on a rocky coast.

"Johanna Enlists," Mary Pickford's newest picture, has been moved up on the Artcraft schedule for release September 15. In this picture not merely one but, practically speaking, three leading men attend upon the fortunes of quaint little Johanna, the character which Miss Pickford portrays.

The first showing of Rosemary Thebe's picture, "Love's Pay Day," at the Triangle exhibition room demonstrated that this actress can portray emotional roles with more than ordinary success. It was at the solicitation of her director in this picture, E. Mason Hopper, that Miss Thebe came to play the leading role in this picture of Newfoundland fisher folk.

Over three thousand pounds of explosives were fired for "Behind the Front" (working title) and L-Ko comedy, in which Hughie Mack is the central attraction for all bombs and hand grenades. The movie battle was staged at the same place in Los Angeles where the Allied War Exhibit was held.

A notable feature of J. Stuart Blackton's "The Common Cause," the eight-part special he is now completing for release through the Vitagraph Company's distributing organization, is the appearance therein of the British tank "Britannia."

May Allison wears trousers in "Kate of Kentucky," her newest Metro production, which is nearing completion at Metro's west coast studios in Hollywood. Miss Allison wears 'em for a short while only, and has a worthy motive for doing so. It is to save her sweetheart from tar and feathers at the hands of some Kentucky moonshiners.

The wonders of the insect world are revealed in the latest issue of Universal's Screen Magazine. This picture gives glimpses into the lives of interesting specimens from the tropics. Walking leaves, giant centipede and other queer creatures are made to show their secret feet and fangs.

Every American girl craves romance, but most of them sooner or later come down to "brass tacks." That's why "Romance and Brass Tacks," the second Paramount-Flagg comedy, which is released September 29, has such a human and general appeal, Paramount insists.

Old Trinity churchyard is one of the interesting "flashes" of New York City to be seen in "Five Thousand an Hour," Metro's first vehicle for Hale Hamilton as an individual star. "Five Thousand an Hour" is a picture version of the George Randolph Chester story.

Mme. Myrle Wagner White of the Chicago Opera Company makes her first screen appearance in "What Love Forgives," a World picture, in which Barbara Castleton is the star, Perry N. Vekroff directing. Mme. White is a native of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Harold Goodwin, the boy actor, has an important part in "A Romance for Roma," Edith Roberts' latest Bluebird starring vehicle now being made under the direction of Tod Browning at the Bluebird west coast studios. Harry Hilliard is the leading man and others in the cast include Molly McConnell and Blanche Gray.

Tefft Johnson, having directed "The Latch String," with Madge Evans," World Pictures star, has begun on "The Love Defender," in which June Elvidge, Madge Evans and Frank Mayo are to play principal roles.

William S. Hart, Presented by Thos. Ince in "The Border Wireless," an Artcraft Picture

"Good Gracious Annabel" for Billie Burke

The screen rights to Clare Kummer's play, "Good Gracious, Annabel," have been purchased by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and it will be used as Billie Burke's next Paramount starring vehicle following "The Make-Believe Wife," which Miss Burke recently completed at the Fort Lee studio.

"Good Gracious, Annabel," was presented by Arthur Hopkins and Robert Edmund Jones at the Republic theatre, New York, October 31, 1916, and enjoyed an extended run through the greater part of that season. A cast of unusual excellence, headed by Lola Fisher as Annabel, was featured. May Vokes as a slavey had one of the funniest characterizations of her career, and Walter Hampden and Edwin Nicander were conspicuous.

Russell - Fisher - Minter in Coming Attractions

Advance arrangements are being made for the new pictures of the three stars of the American Film Company—Russell, Fisher and Minter. The vehicle for "Big Bill" is called "When a Man Rides Alone," to be followed by another called "Where the West Begins."

These two subjects are almost solely Western in character, and will follow "Hobbs in a Hurry" and "All the World to Nothing," two pictures, just finished, where the atmosphere and scenes are laid chiefly in homes of the well-to-do and where Russell also acquits himself well in the roles of a man of wealth and adventurous inclination, as well as "one who has seen better days."

Earl Rodney Joins Christie

Earl Rodney, formerly with the Thomas H. Ince forces, has been engaged by Al Christie to appear opposite Ethel Lynn in Christie comedies, it was announced at the studios. Rodney has been appearing in some pictures with Enid Bennett.

Coming Program Offerings

A Riotous Moment in Vitagraph's Blue Ribbon Feature, "A Diplomatic Mission," in Which Earle Williams is Starred

Campaign Book on New Vitagraph Serial

THE complete campaign book on "The Iron Test," the Vitagraph serial which is scheduled to follow "A Fight for Millions" in the theatres of the United States and Canada, was mailed to exhibitors last week. It is a forty-eight page book, including a colored insert, and declared to be one of the most serviceable books ever put out in the industry. In addition to the many helpful suggestions which it contains, it had an added value to exhibitors in being sent to them so far in advance of the release date of the serial—October 21.

"The Iron Test" is the second release under Vitagraph's new policy of four serials a year with alternating stars, William Duncan, in "A Fight for Millions," supported by a cast including Edith Johnson and Joe Ryan, was the first star introduced, and this serial is declared to be one of the greatest of all Vitagraph's serials. Mr. Duncan and his company are now at work on "The Man of Might," which will follow "The Iron Test."

Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway are the stars of "The Iron Test," which was written by Albert E. Smith and Cyrus Townsend Brady.

In addition to all of the service angles in the complete campaign book, the exhibitor is shown reproductions of the episode posters which are to be supplied, the banner, slide and herald that go with the serial and the twenty-four sheet which is to advertise the serial throughout the United States and Canada. Vitagraph is going to post these twenty-four sheets in all of the principal cities and towns of the two countries, and in addition will give free to exhibitors all the extra twenty-four they will post in their own territories.

Beginning with "The Fighting Trail," Vitagraph has put out splendid campaign books on all of its serials. Those for "Vengeance—and the Woman," "The Fighting Trail," "The Woman in the Web," and "A Fight for Millions" have all been declared most effective adjuncts in the successful handling of these serials, and taking the success of these as a basis, the campaign book on "The Iron Test" should prove the greatest of them all.

Fairbanks' Newest Artcraft Pronounced Best of His Career

Douglas Fairbanks' newest Artcraft picture, "He Comes Up Smiling," which has been scheduled for release September 29th, has its pre-release showing at the Rivoli theatre, New York, the week of September 8th.

The cast is headed by Marjorie Daw, Frank Campeau and Herbert Standing, and includes Kathleen Kirkham, Albert McQuarrie, Bull Montana and Billy Elmer. Frances Marion wrote the scenario and Allan Dwan directed.

Next Goodrich-Mutual Is "Treason"

"Treason," the next Mutual special production starring Edna Goodrich, scheduled for release on September 29, is being sought be exhibitors for pre-release bookings at a number of the Mutual exchanges.

The cast in support of Miss Goodrich includes Stuart Holmes, Howard Hall, Mildred Clair and Clarence Heritage. The direction was by Burton King.

"Zaza" Is Success Series Release September 22

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has scheduled as its Success Series release for September 22d the Paramount picturization of "Zaza," with Pauline Frederick in the title role, under the direction of Edwin S. Porter and Hugh Ford.

Julian l'Estrange appears in the leading male role, and the cast includes Ruth Sinclair, Mark Smith, Charles Butler, Walter Craven, Maude Granger, Blanche Fisher and Helen Sinnott.

Four Success Series Releases in October

FOUR subjects, among the most popular screen successes they have produced, have been scheduled by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation as the Success Series releases for the month of October. They are John Barrymore in "The Man from Mexico," October 6; Jack Pickford in "Seventeen," October 13; Victor Moore in "Snobs," October 20, and the special production, "The Cheat," in which Fannie Ward and Sessue Hayakawa are featured.

"The Man from Mexico," the first release of the month, is declared to be one of the most popular pictures in which John Barrymore ever appeared. It was written by H. A. DuSouchet, and Thomas Heffron directed. In the cast are Harold Lockwood, Wellington A. Playter, Pauline Neff, Anton Ascher, Fred Annerley and Winona Winters.

Jack Pickford appears in "Seventeen," the Paramount adaptation of Booth Tarkington's classic on puppy love, which is the Success Series release for October 13. Louise Huff appears opposite Jack in this his first starring venture, and the cast also includes Winifred Allen, Madge Evans, Walter Hiers and Anthony Merlo.

George Bronson Howard wrote "Snobs," which Oscar Apfel directed for Paramount, with Victor Moore in the stellar role. Anita King, Constance Johnston and Ernest Joy are in the supporting cast.

"The Cheat," the final Success Series of the month, is said to be one of the most intensely dramatic productions ever made. The cast, headed by Fannie Ward and Sessue Hayakawa, includes Jack Dean, James Neill, Utaka Abe, Dora Ong and Hazel Childers. Cecil B. De Mille directed from the story by Hector Turnbull.

"Salome" Opens October 6 in New York

Heralded as having achieved a tremendous success wherever it has been shown elsewhere in the country, the Theda Bara super-production, "Salome," will begin a limited engagement Sunday evening, October 6, at the Forty-fourth Street theatre, as a special William Fox attraction. Two performances will be given daily thereafter.

No production ever shown by William Fox has scored the triumph.

Virginia Pearson, Popular and Talented Star in Fox Pictures

Pathe Program for Week September 29

Pathe's program for the week of September 29 presents Ruth Roland in the seventh episode of the swift-moving Western serial, "Hands Up." Helene Chadwick in a two-reel comedy drama called "Getaway Kate," produced by Astra and Harold Lloyd, in a farce entitled "Swing Your Partner."

The Poster Travel Pictures shows "St. Kitts—Mother Colony," in the West Indies. St. Kitts and its dependency, Nevis, which are separated by a strait, only two miles in width, have been associated with English names that have figured prominently in American and English annals.

The Official War Review No. 14, released by Pathe the week beginning September 29, shows as one of its high points of interest "Ypres of Today"—the point that has figured so much in the news—the spot where the tide of battle has swirled back and forth and where thousands of Britain's heroes have bravely fought and died.

"The Lure of Luxury" for October 7

"The Lure of Luxury," the Bluebird feature, formerly entitled "The Bargain True," featuring Ruth Clifford, has been definitely scheduled for release October 7. The picture was adapted by Fred Myton from a story by Nalbro Bartley that appeared recently in the Saturday Evening Post. It was directed by Elsie Jane Wilson.

Miss Clifford plays the role of Dale Aldis, a convent bred girl who has been left alone in the world by her mother, with romance and mystery surrounding the latter's memory.

Fritzi Brunette Featured

Fritzi Brunette is featured in the Bluebird film released November 4th. It is entitled "The Cabaret Girl." The film is being directed by Douglas Gerrard. It was taken from the story by Hope Loring. The working script is by Rex Taylor.

Program Glances

According to report the first Paramount picture starring saucy, bewitching, whimsical Dorothy Gish which boasts the unique title, "Battling Jane," will prove a record-breaker in point of attractiveness and entertaining quality when it is released October 6.

"A Diplomatic Mission," starring Earle Williams, the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature scheduled for release the week of September 30, is the first to be released under the company's new booking plan. It is described as a swift moving drama of love and adventure, with action from start to finish in which Earle Williams is "doing something" all the time.

Gilbert Douglas, American actor, will make his screen debut in "Five Thousand an Hour," the forthcoming Metro production, which will introduce Hale Hamilton as an individual star. Mr. Douglas has the part of the arch-villain, Paul Gresham, who makes it his special business to try to ruin Johnny Gamble (Mr. Hamilton) financially.

"Hidden," a story by Evelyn Campbell, author of "A Soul for Sale," a recent Dorothy Phillips success, and "Bread," Mary MacLaren's newest Universal special attraction, has been bought by Universal to be made into Mary MacLaren's next starring vehicle. Rupert Julian, who directed "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," will handle the megaphone on this newest MacLaren attraction.

In the Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy, "Sleuths," released September 22, Ben Turpin, Charley Lynn, Marie Prevost and Tom Kennedy will be seen as the chief fun makers. Lynn and Turpin have the parts of Heinie and Ben, a pair of slickers.

"Western Atmosphere" is the title of Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran's latest Star comedy. In it the clever pair of fun makers burlesque the activities of such Western stars as Harry Carey, Bill Hart and Tom Mix. Dorothy De Vore has the leading feminine role.

September 22 has been decided upon by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for what in truth will be a quadruple premiere. For this is the release date of "Come on In," the first John Emerson-Anita Loos Production for Paramount, in which Shirley Mason and Ernest Truex will make their initial appearance as Paramount stars.

The third of the series, "Says Uncle Sam," from the scenario by the Committee on Public Information and produced by the Bray Studios, Inc., appears as part of the September 29 release of the Paramount-Bray Pictograph, "the magazine on the screen."

The latest issue of the Universal Animated Weekly affords a striking example of what the news camera is doing for Uncle Sam's big war job. The Weekly is just chock full of live, sparkling pictures portraying America's work at home on the war task.

"The Runaway Bride" is the title of the fifth episode of "Hands Up," the stirring western serial featuring Ruth Roland, which heads the Pathe program for the week of September 15. Echo Delane, the heroine, whom the Incas have chosen as the bride of their prince, starts to seek safety in the East. The Indians intercept the train by a short cut over the mountains and drop upon it from a bridge.

"The Magnetic Bug" is the title of the eighth episode in Universal's serial drama, "The Brass Bullet," featuring Jack Mulhall and Juanita Hansen. This episode will be released soon. As the episode opens, Rosalind is being carried off by King in a motor boat.

Yvette Mitchell, Universal ingenue, has been loaned to the L-Ko Comedy Company to appear as a rose of old Pekin in an Oriental comedy being made with the famous Celestial comedian, "Charlie of the Orient," as the star.

Madge Evans is at work on a new photoplay for World Pictures. It bears the title of "The Latch String." It was written by Mrs. Backus, late instructor in the Connecticut Normal College. Tefft Johnson is directing the picture. Many of the scenes were made on the New England coast.

Naomi Childers, popular on both stage and screen, will have an attractive role in Ethel Barrymore's next Metro offering, "Lady Frederick." The picturization of this W. Somerset Maugham drama was made by June Mathis and Katharine Kavanaugh.

Maxwell Karger, Manager of Productions of Metro in the East

General Issues Fourteenth of "Wolfville Tales"

Another of the Alfred Henry Lewis "Wolfville Tales" has been put on the screen for Broadway Star Features' program by Vitagraph, making the fourteenth of the series, and are said to be reaching a point where audiences over the country are thoroughly engrossed with the conflicting motives of the highly picturesque characters in the legendary border town. The citizens of Wolfville have become so real to readers of the Lewis books and to motion picture fans that the latest turmoil comes rather as a climax to many preceding it.

The title of this story is "The Rose of Wolfville," and Patricia Palmer again plays the leading role. She appears in town as the new clerk of the "New York Store," and the male population falls in love with her. Two hot-headed young cowpunchers use every art to win her, the more daring going even so far as to kidnap her. Tragedy is in the air, when the proprietor of the store reveals that she has been his wife for a month, and indignation directed at him for concealing the fact is only allayed because Rose is so appealing—and they don't lynch him.

General Film Company announces that the release following this Wolfville Tale will be another O. Henry story.

Change Announced in Next Glaum Release

Owing to the difficulties attending the production of "The Goddess of Lost Lake," a Robert Brunton production starring Louise Glaum and scheduled for release by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation on October 30, which have resulted in a delay, a Bessie Barriscale feature, "The Heart of Rachael," completed for several weeks, will be released in its place.

"The Goddess of Lost Lake," the Louise Glaum picture, is a romance of a girl who is one-quarter Indian. Wallace Worsley directed and W. Lawson Butt and Frank Lanning are in the supporting cast. It will be released October 14 by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.

In and Out of West Coast Studios

By J. C. Jessen

Universal Newsettes

Thurston Hall will be the leading man in Carmel Myers' new picture "The Beautiful Mongrel," according to announcement this week. "The Beautiful Mongrel" is a story of a girl of the slums who is married on a dare to a rich young man of New York's west side. The screen script was prepared by Fred Myton from an original story by Sonya Levien.

Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber are to be featured in a series of one-reel comedy dramas, under the direction of Mr. Wilson. "Let's Fight" is the title of the first one. It was written to order by William E. Wing. In the supporting cast are Joseph W. Girard, Evelyn Selbie, Yvette Mitchell and others.

"Home James" is the tentative title of Ruth Clifford's next film play. The story was written by Gladys Johnson and put into screen form by Catherine Carr. Elsie Jane Wilson will direct the production, which will be a comedy drama.

George Nichols has been engaged by Universal to support Monroe Salisbury in his latest Bluebird drama, "Breathes There a Man." Nichols started in the motion picture game as assistant director to D. W. Griffith at the old Biograph studio. Before entering shadowland he put in fourteen years with stock companies in San Francisco and Chicago. Millard K. Wilson, recently playing with Ruth Roland in "Hands Up," has also been engaged to support Salisbury in his new screen production.

Live Triangle Items

The next Triangle vehicle of Olive Thomas has been selected. It has a working title called "The German-American." Production will begin the latter part of this week. It is an original story by Miss Verna Aldrich. Joe King will play the opposite lead. Mrs. Harry Van Kirk, mother of Miss Thomas, traveled from Pittsburg this week to see Miss Thomas at work in the new play. It is said that she had never before seen the inside of a motion picture plant until she reached the Triangle studios on the present visit.

Alma Rubens is in the California Hospital this week. She underwent an operation for appendicitis. As a result the work on her picture, "Marriage," or "Those Restless Ones," has been held up indefinitely. The star, however, expects to be back at work at the earliest opportunity. The picture is being directed by William Dowlan.

Jack Conway has returned to the directing game and he will handle the megaphone in Pauline Starke's new vehicle, "Down Our Alley." The story was written by Harry Looney and the continuity was written by Doris Schroeder. In this picture Miss Starke will be seen as a ragamuffin.

E. Mason Hopper was last week finishing "Wife or Country," a propaganda picture, with Harry Mestayer in the stellar male role. The story was written by Mr. Mestayer, and Adela Rogers St. Johns, Gloria Swanson and Gretchen Lederer have strong parts. Jack Richardson plays the heavy, and Charles West is a Secret Service operative. The story revolves around a young American lieutenant in the Secret Service, in which the German espionage and intrigue in the United States is exposed.

The Red Cross tea at the Triangle studios this week netted that war organization more than $150; said to have broken all previous records for receipts at the studio auxiliary. The tea is a weekly feature at the studio.

Paramount-Artcraft

The directorial staff of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has been increased by the addition of R. William Neill, who until now has been director of Dorothy Dalton subjects at the Ince plant. Neill has had very wide experience in directorial work in this country as well as in England and France. He has written a number of plays and playettes which were produced and proved successful. He has been in pictures for several years, in three of which he has been associated with Thomas H. Ince. Mr. Neill's first work will be the direction of Lila Lee in a picture titled "Young Love," written specially for the star by Monte Katterjohn. Comedy is said to be predominate in the subject.

Lila Lee last week appeared at all the evening performances at Grauman's theatre, Los Angeles, where her first Paramount release, "The Cruise of the Make-Believes," was the feature of the program. A special sketch was prepared for the former ingenue singer of Gus Edwards' Musical Review, by which in song she told the big audiences her experiences in pictures as compared with those on the vaudeville stage. Miss Lee was introduced by Kenneth McGaffey.

Bryant Washburn, accompanied by Donald Crisp, director, and several members of the company, has gone East for a few scenes for his next Paramount subject. It will require a day in Chicago, where a great portion of the play is laid, and then he will return to the Coast.

Fox Studio Doings

Tom Mix, Fox western star, has begun the filming of his new screen play, "The Coming of the Law." It is taken from the book by Charles Seltzer. Lynn Reynolds is the director. Jane Novak is playing the feminine lead. Some of the principal scenes are laid in New Mexico. An exciting incident in the play is where Mix arrives in a town on a certain day when a general roughhouse has been started by somebody. He does the novel stunt of pitching right in without gun and with his bare hands, turns the rough element upside-down and establishes order in the place. What follows is woven into a story that is to find its way to the screen.

With Al. Selig, personal publicity representative of Theda Bara, already on his way to visit several Southern cities, the way was cleared here this week to eliminate the Theda Bara company from Los Angeles entirely for the time being. Miss Bara will leave for New York next Sunday, her original plans to go to the Eastern Metropolis having been delayed by illness. J. Gordon Edwards, her director, will also leave for the east this week. While in New York he will hold a number of conferences with William Fox, it is announced, relative to new productions being planned for another season.

Gladys Brockman is this week taking a short vacation between pictures.

About Metro Players

May Allison began a new play last week for Metro. It is called "Thirty Days," and is from the story written by Luther B. Reed. The subject was scenarioized by George D. Baker and Thomas Jefferson Geraghty. Jack Mulhall is her leading man, and the picture will be filmed under the direction of Joseph DeGrasse. Miss Allison takes the part of a young woman who lives in a small town where "blue laws" hedge everyone about. Particularly are there laws against speeding. Owning a new car, Miss Allison gets into many difficulties, eventually arriving at the day when the judge solemnly announces, "thirty days." Before beginning work on the new subject Miss Allison just completed "Kate of Kentucky," a story with its principal scenes laid in the moonshine districts of the Bourbon state.

Bert Lytell, Metro star, has completed the second week's work on his production, "The Spender," directed by Charles Swickard. Clara Morris, namesake of the famous American actress, but not a relative, is playing the feminine lead. One of the scenes this week called for a California bungalow. The bungalow, despite the fact that thousands of real houses of this type dot the Los Angeles landscape, had to be of a certain type, and a bungalow was erected on the stage. George D. Baker, Metro scenario writer, was so impressed with the bungalow that he says he will remove it to some quiet spot in Los Angeles and adopt it as his future home.

Richard A. Rowland, president of the Metro Film corporation, left this week for New York, after announcing that plans for a new west coast studio had been submitted to the War Industries Board at Washington for approval before construction work on the proposed plant can be started. He was accompanied by Count Cippico, husband of Rita Jolivet, and a stockholder in the Metro company.

Joseph Engel, treasurer of the Metro company, let it be known this week that he has during his film career made nineteen trips between New York and Los Angeles. Incidentally he suggested that he will make his last trip some day and that thereafter he will remain in Los Angeles.

With Pathe Players

Under the direction of William Bertram Diando this week began work on "A Rag Doll," Baby Marie Osborne's latest release. In the supporting cast are Claire DuBrey, Jack Connelly, William Quinn and Sunny Sammy. Shortly after completing her last picture, "The Old Maid's Baby," Baby Marie went for a short stay at Catalina Island. She was accompanied by her governess.

Since the enlistment of W. A. S. Douglas in the Tank Corps of the United States army, Leon T. Osborne has added the work of president to his other duties at the Diando studio. It is possible that Mr. Osborne may enter the service a little later, according to studio rumors.

Here and There

Bessie Barriscale, working with her own producing company which has not as yet been named, began filming this week her first picture with the new company. The story is called "Two-Gun Betty." It was written by Howard Hickman and is being produced under Mr. Hickman's direction. Jack Cunningham wrote the screen version. Miss Barriscale's leading man is L. C. Shumway, formerly with the Universal and Fox companies. The supporting cast is composed of Mabel Van Buren, Helen Hawley, William Ellingford, Richard Wayne and Albert Cody.

"Two-Gun Betty" is a comedy drama, with a western setting. Miss Barriscale takes the part of a young woman raised on a ranch, now working as a farmerette, who makes a wager with friends that she can successfully impersonate a man. Cattle hands are scarce because all good ranch hands have gone to war, so Miss Barriscare goes to a neighboring ranch and begins her duties as a ranch hand. The complications that follow form the basis of what is said to be an interesting plot.

Sid Chaplin returned this week from Chicago to resume the management of the Chaplin studios. His first announcement was to the effect he will soon begin producing five-reel releases starring himself. He refuses to announce the nature of the pictures he contemplates making.

"Proposing Bill" is the title of the Capitol comedy being produced this week at the National studios in Hollywood under the direction of William Chaudet. "Smiling Bill" Parsons plays the role of a "swivel chair strategist."

The work of cutting and preparing the prints of "The Girl of My Dreams," starring Billie Rhodes, which was finished last week under the direction of William Chaudet, is being done this week. When the picture has been completed in every detail the entire company will spend the week-end at Arrowhead Hot Springs at the invitation of the hotel management. Mr. Chaudet will take with him a print of the picture, and during a banquet Saturday night, which will be tendered in the company's honor, the subject will be flashed on the screen as a surprise to the hotel manager and his guests at the hotel.

With "Three X Gordon" completed at the Jesse D. Hampton studios in Hollywood, work has been started for the filming of "The Unfinished Story," which was adapted from the original Canadian North Woods story by Kenneth B. Clark, well known magazine writer. Jesse D. Hampton is to direct the filming of this picture, and he has selected William Conklin, Casson Ferguson and Walter Perry for the principal parts in support of J. Warren Kerrigan and his leading woman, Lois Wilson. This subject is to be made for the Hodkinson's productions program.

Hollywood Hookum

OCT. 5, 1918 NEWS MORE NEWS

Jesse Lasky is still in town.

Lillian Walker is coming to town.

Bill Hart is on his way to Broadway.

Carl Laemmle is coming West some time.

Lee Ochs from New York town is with us.

Phil Smalley is back in town from a trip to New York.

Henry Lehrmann is said to be working in "twin six time" these days.

A shower hove in sight early this week, and lit—otherwise warm.

Dorothy Dalton denies the story that she is going to play a vamp role.

Carmen Phillips admits she is not a Spanish senorita, but just took that name.

Sessue Hayakawa don't care what happens to him. He even lost his registration card.

Many of our fellow-townsmen have quit eating so as to be prepared for the Fourth Liberty Loan.

No new rumors were heard about H. O. Davis this week, and therefore it's a quiet week.

Thomas H. Ince was seen to arrive at the studio at seven o'clock one morning this week.

Margarita Fisher has invented a new kind of a curl, which is shortly to be introduced in our best circles.

Doug. Gerrard has been pointed out as the most temperamental director on the U lot. Aside from that, he's Irish.

We are not to see the nifty mustache of Fred Goodwins for a long time, for he's gone and joined the English army.

Not a whimper has been heard from the Mary Pickford office for a week, even though the girl is still out of a job.

Jack Nelson has been induced to go back to Universal City, because he can play opposite Ruth Clifford in "The Cabaret Girl."

William Bertram is expected in town this week from Glendale. That may not seem like an important item, but, nevertheless, it is.

L-Ko were put to additional expense this week in the making of a war comedy. The trenches had to be enlarged for Hughie Mack.

Jack Kerrigan, now that he has built a home, claims he is a poorer man—the reason being that the more one has the poorer one is.

Syd Chaplin is back in town after negotiating and conferencing in the East, and so the General Manager of Charlie Chaplin is again "on the job"

Louis Fazenda is wearing a stocking in her next comedy that has a big patch on it, all of which shows—hard times have hit the movies.

On the 10th of September Al Christie found it convenient to break another straw hat, but he had a picture of it taken before the crash came.

Frank Keenan is negotiating for a new contract, but has decided to put in three weeks on the Liberty Loan drive before he will talk business to anyone.

Ben Turpin took a day off last week and had his neck shaved, and, because of the length, the barber, charged him double price, which in these days, the h. c. of l. was some sum.

J. P. McGowan started Episode 13 of "The Lure of the Circus" serial on Friday the 13th. Let's see—wasn't it General Pershing who decided to come into the world on that day?

Charley Murray is the latest victim of the loaning habit. He is going to play in regular "drammer" made at the Lasky studio—even if he has been in Mack-Sennett Comedies for five years.

Roscoe Arbuckle is in a great quandary. This being between seasons, he don't know whether to make a fishing story or one laid in the mountains—so until he decides he is taking a vacation.

Bill Russell is sojourning in Bakersfield, and now an L-Ko director has decided that he can make a funny comedy by showing how the movies are made. This is a good story, but it's been done before.

Kitty Gordon has come out to enjoy the climate and scenery, and has had a horrible time with the newspapers, denying their various allegations about a certain divorce suit. Hookum don't know anything about it.

Bryant Washburn has what we call an ideal job. They sent him back to spend the day in Chicago, so he can romp along the lake front and do Michigan Boulevard at sixty miles per. He is chaperoned by Donald Crisp.

Monte Katterjohn, the student of screen craft, is nonchalantly flying about in a new bus—the first of this particular type to alight in our mist. "Landaulet" is what he calls it—and, sure enough, that's what it must be.

C. B. de Mille is going to be a little helper on the Fourth Liberty Loan, as he will fly over Southern California towns and drop propaganda matter—if he gets his machine fixed up from its last nose dive in a freshly-plowed field.

New York is to have some noise shortly, for George Melford is on the way East to direct Billie Burke. Out here they call him "whispering George," but it is prophesied he will have to put a muffler on when he starts to talk through his megaphone back there.

Doug. Gerrard went through a Ford turn-over without serious injury, and now gets lots of sympathy because many believe he is a recent comeback from the western front. When Doug. recovers he's going "over there."

Real estaters are urging renters to become leasers with the argument that our town is to be overrun by movies this winter—the fuel administrator won't permit them to make even so much as a positive print back there.

Reports from LaBrea Boulevard way lead one to expect Charley Chaplin will have "Shoulder Arms" ready for midnight matinee release New Year's Eve. Incidentally, the social "scandal" to be heard now concerning Chaplin may be reported. The rumors concerning an engagement contain the name of Mildred Harris, and intimate friends talk of a wonderful diamond ring and a beautiful limousine. Whether there is any truth in this or not, no one seems to know, for Charley and Mildred both refuse to be interviewed—for once in their lives. The limousine and ring may, or may not, be the sign of an engagement, for those who are familiar with Chaplin's studio know he does not believe in signs, at least there is not anything about the studio, front or back, that would indicate to the passerby that it is a film play producing plant. No, sir, his name is no place about. Charley and Mildred say it ain't so.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM THE STUDIOS

Mary Miles Minter is Said to Be Bewitching in "Rosemary Climbs the Heights," American Production

Fritzi Brunette, the star of the Universal Film Mfg. Company, is arranging to drop her nickname and resume the real one of "Florence," by which she was christened, because of the Teutonic character of "Fritzi."

Dorothy Phillips, Universal's emotional star, narrowly escaped serious injury when a huge tree in Bear Valley, set afire by a flash of lightning during a severe thunderstorm, almost crashed on top of her. It happened during the filming of "Will We Meet Again?" Miss Phillips' newest production.

Lady Tsen Mei, star in the Betzwood Film Company's "For the Freedom of the East," was once among the vaudeville headliners. During a performance in Washington at which Von Bernstorff and a party of aides were present, she announced that she would give a vocal imitation of any bird or animal the audience might suggest. One of the aides exclaimed: "Make a noise like me," whereupon the little Chinese produced with flawless accuracy the grunt and terrified squeal of a pig. Blame the press agent.

Carmel Myers, who is starring in "One Bright Idea," Bluebird photoplay, has been made godmother to two outfits of our military forces. She has under her supervision the collection of tinfoil at the studio, and recently appeared at six of the large Eastern cantonments. At each camp she told the soldier boys that she would be more than glad to take back to California any message from those boys who had relations there. Since her return to Los Angeles she has been kept busy delivering all the cheering words entrusted to her care.

June Elvidge and Montagu Love expect to finish their picture, "The Quickening Flame," this week. Miss Elvidge will immediate start work on "The Love Defender," a story similar in theme to "The Things That Count," with Frank Mayo as leading man, and Teft Johnston directing.

When May Allison, Metro star, and her mother were to be separated for a week for the first time in years, not long ago, Mrs. Allison presented her daughter with a packet of nineteen letters, one to be read upon leaving Hollywood and three for each day of the trip. Miss Allison answered every one of these letters, in spite of the fact that the company was virtually buried among the San Bernardino peaks.

When a large crowd gathered the other day to see Corinne Griffith make scenes on Riverside Drive for her next picture, "Miss Ambition," the Vitagraph star rose in her car, and, after surveying her audience for a moment, said solemnly: "Look here, people, this isn't a free show. It's standing room only, but you have to pay parquet prices. Get out your purses, please. The entire proceeds of this performance goes to the Red Cross." Borrowing Walter McGrail's hat

Madge Evans, the World Pictures star who has just completed "The Latch String," under the direction of Tefft Johnson, has embarked in the hat manufacturing business and is introducing the hats by making personal appearances at the leading department stores in the bigger cities. She personally introduced the hats in a big New York department store; before this she appeared in Brooklyn, and she will also go to Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo and other points.

The latest World actor to make his appearance before the footlights is Arthur Ashley, who is prominently cast in "One of Us," at the Bijou theatre. Mr. Ashley will be remembered for his work in "Broken Ties," "Shall We Forgive Her," "The Beautiful Mrs. Reynolds," as well as for those he directed, "Rasputin, the Black Monk," and a number of others.

Frank Williams, cameraman, for the latest Bushman and Bayne Metro picture, "Little Miss Moneybags," has patented a tank for photographic under-water sea effects which will be used in Metro productions at an early date. This device makes it possible to photograph undersea scenes without the blurs and shadows which formerly seemed to be a necessary evil in connection with such pictures.

In Bert Lytell's latest Metro production, which is as yet unnamed, five kiddies—four boys and one girl—furnished one of the refreshing comedy bits in the forthcoming picture. When the day's work was completed each boy was given a bright new gun while the little nurse received a big box of candy. Their mothers had to keep them by main force from going to the studio the next day.

Ethel Barrymore, Metro Star, in "Lady Frederick"

Lucille Lee Stewart, who plays opposite Hale Hamilton in "Five Thousand an Hour," the Metro picturization of George Randolph Chester's story of the same name, used to believe in "hunches"—but doesn't any more. During a recent race she played her "hunch" and bet on Star Class. But Star Class did not live up to her name and Miss Stewart lost—well, she says it was only a "very little," but just how "little" she will not say.

One of the attractive features in "Lady Frederick," the latest Metro play in which Ethel Barrymore will be seen, is a gaming room in a fashionable French resort.

A panorama picture, quite a new idea in dramatic screen productions, will be seen in "Kildare of Storm," the latest Metro picture in which Emily Stevens is starred. The picture begins with the mansion of Storm, turns to the smaller home of the young doctor and his mother, and then to the humble cabin of Mahaly. The idea of this unusual feature came from Director Harry Franklyn, who was aided in carrying out the effect by Cameraman Arthur Martinelli.

Metro studios have again felt the draft's imperative call when one of the members of the "Little Miss Moneybags" company, in which Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are starred, was called away to camp. In one of the scenes in this play the "peacock alley" in the Hotel Biltmore is reproduced in duplicate, and a bell boy known as "Billy" was prominently placed in the foreground. It was this important young person who was missing on the second day of the taking of the big scene. It was then that the importance of even a "bell hop" was discovered as several hundred feet of the picture had to be retaken to delete Billy and replace him with a younger boy.

May Allison's latest picture is "Kate of Kentucky," by George D. Baker and Tom J. Geraghty. The star will seen in the title role, which is one written expressly for her and, as did her previous picture, "A Successful Adventure," will give her the part of a Southern girl.

Gordon Griffith, the twelve-year-old actor, has been cast for an important role in Bert Lytell's latest picture, which is as yet unnamed. Gordon plays the part of the heroine's youngest brother, who is largely responsible for the happy outcome of her romance. He recently played the child Tarzan in "Tarzan of the Apes."

Miss Emmy Wehlen has an entire new wardrobe for her latest picture, in which she will shortly appear, called "Sylvia on a Spree," a Metro production, written by E. Forst.

Nazimova, star of the forthcoming Metro production, "Eye for Eye," has just completed a patriotic Liberty bond picture for the Government. She is the author as well as leading lady of the play, which she has named "Women of France." It is a romance dealing with a vital situation "Somewhere in France."

Darrel Foss, who has played opposite May Allison in her latest pictures, "The Return of Mary," and "The Testing of Mildred Vane," is planning a short vacation to be spent at Bear Lake, California. It will be his first holiday in seven years and even this is taken under protest and only in compliance with his doctor's orders.

Willie Hopkins, a sculptor who fashions funny figures in mud for the Universal Film Mfg. Company, has written to France offering his services to remodel the faces of wounded soldiers.

Barbara Castleton is being starred by World Pictures in "What Love Forgives." Perry Vekroff is in charge of the direction of this cinema entertainment. Prominent in the cast are John Bowers, John Hines and Muriel Ostriche.

In "The Goddess of Lost Lake," a Robert Bruton picture to be distributed by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation, Louise Glaum is supported by W. Lawson Butt, the well-known English actor, as the hero, and Frank Lanning, who portrays another of his famous Indian impersonations, the villain.

Geraldine Farrar's second Goldwyn Picture, "The Hell Cat," announced for release November 11, is said to be not alone a powerful story. It provides the star with a colorful, highly dramatic role as well—a character, Geraldine Farrar declares, which is more like her famous "Carmen" of the opera than any she has ever had.

Dorothy Dalton Refuses to Drink a Toast to Our Enemies in "Vive La France," an Ince-Paramount Feature

Dorothy Phillips

in "The Talk of The Town"

A Universal Special Attraction

LIONEL S. REISS

DOROTHY

"The TALK

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTION

PHILLIPS

IE TOWN"

The Utmost in Photoplays

UNIVERSAL SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

HARRY CAREY
"Hell Bent"
"A Woman's Fool"

HERBERT
RAWLINSON
"Smashing Through"

PRISCILLA
DEAN
"The Two-Soul Woman"

MAE MURRAY
"The Bride's Awakening"
"Her Body in Bond"

MARY
Mac LAREN
"The Model's Confession"
"Bread"

See them - book them at your nearest Universal Exchange or

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. COMPANY

1600 Bway., N.Y. Carl Laemmle President

Special Service Section on

"The Talk of the Town"

GIVEN a popular star and a striking title the exploitation of a picture should be the simpler. Both of these are supplied in the Universal Special Production, "The Talk of the Town," with Dorothy Phillips.

Here you have a title that is almost equivalent to a popular expression and it should be capitalized as far in advance of your presentation of the picture as possible. And here a simple reiteration of the title is sufficient to do it.

It is easy enough to build up a campaign on a picture if you never take into consideration that in the meantime the exhibitor is showing other pictures and that he has to sell them to the public. And of course any campaign that centers all of the interest on one production unless it be one planned for an unusual run is bad business for the exhibitor.

Here is a case where you can arouse the advance interest without weakening the exploitation of your current offering. We would suggest that the exhibitor, two or three weeks before the booking of the picture run at the bottom of his regular advertisements simply the title, "The Talk of the Town." The type can be very small and the space charge will be slight.

WITH the first appearance of these words the reader will think that they refer to the current attraction, but when it is repeated day after day everyone will begin to wonder what it means. Now in most cases of teaser advertising the public loses much of the connection, but when you are using the title of the picture itself the connection will become obvious when you make your specific announcement of the production.

This plan can be made as elaborate as the length of your run and the amount that you can spend justifies. Instead of sending out any particular letters on this picture, we would suggest that you simply have printed a small card about the size of a woman's calling card, and that across this you have the title of the attraction and nothing more. A further elaboration would consist of buying a number of copies of the local newspaper and clipping out of the various copies some local story of interest, being careful to select a story that will offend no one. Get a rubber stamp with the words, "Talk of the Town" and stamp it across the clipping in red ink. Several days later use another series of clippings about another story and mail them in the same way.

BUT there is no teaser advertising in the world that is worth a continental unless you follow it up with the smash on the picture itself. Don't think that simply because everyone in your community has seen the words "Talk of the Town" and wondering what they mean they will come to your theatre just as soon as you make the announcement that it is a picture. Most teaser campaigns fail because you let the public down with a thud when you reveal the secret, and your patrons say, "Why, that's only a motion picture," and a great share of them will not take the trouble to find out what the picture is really about.

First, before we outline any advertising, let us look at the story. It concerns Genevra French, who has been raised in seclusion by her widowed father. She is kept in ignorance of things that a developing girl should know, practically a prisoner in her home and in school. Finally she gets possession of a forbidden book, "Attracting the Opposite Sex," and begins to practice on one of her father's younger friends, Lawrence Tabor. She does it so well that he falls in love with her. She marries him to escape from her bondage and then announces to him that she does not love him and that she is seeking only liberty.

Her husband yields to her appeal and grants her the liberty that she has so craved, but her lack of knowledge of life leads her almost to the brink when she begins to practice her wiles on Jack Langhorne, a man about town. Her association with him introduces some cabaret scenes into the production and gives it a rather spicy flavor, coming to a climax when he takes her to a roadhouse and apparently tries to attack her. When the husband appears at just the proper moment she realizes the mistake that she has made and begs to be taken home and allowed to be a real wife. The denouement reveals that the husband had resolved to take radical means of curing his wife of her innocent folly and had hired the "lounge lizard" to apparently attack her. In the end Langhorne refuses to accept the pay for his work, but announces that instead of leading the life of a "lounge lizard" he is off to fight in France.

AS this is written the actual cuts which Universal exchanges are supplying to exhibitors had not come from the engravers so that reproductions do not appear here. However, they are in one and two column sizes and very striking, bringing out the picture of the star in the role that she has here.

If you want to design your own advertising you have an excellent opportunity here. The name of the star and the title are the two big things that you want to bring out. If you are having cuts especially made, be sure to use a striking one of Miss Phillips. There are a number of attractive scene cuts furnished from which her figure might be taken. You will find scene pictures, showing her as a little girl at school and then as the rebelious, but still unlearned young wife who is content with the follies of life. One of these used in either corner of your display will attract immediate attention.

When the use of larger newspaper space is sure of attracting more people to your theatre you are more than justified in using it, and here is a case, in our opinion, where you can afford to put over a smashing appeal.

YOU have a story filled with selling arguments. Here are a few of the lines that will attract attention:

She thought that she had learned of "life" from a book, but when the innocent wife tried to fascinate the second man the truth was brought to her with a sudden shock.

Military rule is a necessity in the

(Continued on page 2222)

A HAPPY PICTURE

Bring That Point Out in Your Exploitation

ONE of the things that you should bring out in your exploitation is that "The Talk of the Town" is a happy picture. It does not mean that there are not plenty of thrills and that the interest is not held up to the unusual ending, but everything turns out all right, even to the extent that the "lounge lizard" hears the call of his country and goes to France a redeemed man.

There is plenty of comedy in it, too. Genevra as a girl loves the things that all little girls love and she will appeal to your patrons. There is a funny incident where she invites the ragamuffins into her home.

People like happy pictures these days, especially productions in which there is interest with the happiness. A good line to use in your advertising is: "It is a happy picture."

Two striking scenes from "Talk of the Town," one bringing in comedy element

Many Lobby Displays Available on "Talk of the Town"

THERE are any number of special lobby displays that can be made on "The Talk of the Town" ranging from the most expensive down.

When this picture was shown at the Broadway theatre, New York, M. Kashin, who is noted the country over for his striking work took as his selling point the simile of the girl in the gilded cage, bringing out that Genevra French, in the story, was kept practically a prisoner from the world by her father.

Over the main entrance was featured a heavy gilded cage in which the figure of a handsomely gowned woman was placed. The box office in the middle of the entrance was built in the form of a cage and at the top of this a wise old owl was placed. The interior of the lobby was simple except that there were a number of cages from which canaries constantly sang. This was described and illustrated on page 2,017 of the September 28 issue of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Another thing that will suggest itself is to build the front in the form of either the exterior or the interior of a cabaret. Settings of the interiors are quite expensive and require a great deal of room and we would suggest using one unless you can go to the expense of getting a realistic effect. The exterior effect can be secured with a painted drop and the generous use of electric lights, if you are permitted to employ them in your locality.

A STRIKING and a very simple effect can be obtained by having the figure of Dorothy Philips seated and turning the pages of a book, on the cover are the words, "How to Attract the Opposite Sex." In that case make this the dominant feature of your whole display and simply use below this a sentence saying that Genevra French "learned but almost too well in a book," but you will learn her lesson in 'Talk of the Town.'" Then devote the rest of your display to scenes from the production and pictures of Miss Phillips.

Above everything else keep the title of the production in big letters across your theatre. That is one of the biggest drawing cards you have, and it, with the name of the star should never be made secondary to anything else.

The paper with this production is especially attractive and lends itself to cut outs so that you will have ample material for this.

If you have been successful in getting the co-operation of your local merchants in connection with window displays, you have an opportunity here in connection with stores furnishing handsome gowns. If you can arrange to place beside each of these figures in the show windows a card bearing the words, "The Talk of the Town," you will not detract from the pulling power of the display so far as the merchant is concerned and you will benefit by getting the phrase on more lips.

We keep repeating that one of the big points for you here is the name of the picture, and the more that you can put this before the public, the more people you are going to get to your theatre. But this should be done well in advance as possible, for you want to start this word-of-mouth advertising before yon announce that it is a picture, the name of the star and the character of the picture. And these other selling points are so strong that you want to take advantage of them and therefore you will have to give the mystery away in advance of the showing.

But the work will already have been done for you and the picture ought really to be "the talk of the town" during its engagement.

FOR A FOLDER

Inexpensive Idea Will Make the People Talk

HERE is an idea that while not strictly original is likely to make the people of your community talk. It is inexpensive, and the best thing about it is that every recipient will probably show it to some other person. When you can get the public to working for you, you have accomplished a great deal.

Simply use a little four-page folder and on the cover the words "How to Attract the Opposite Sex." Then inside you can use something like this:

"We'll admit we don't know, but Dorothy Phillips will show you what she learned in 'The Talk of the Town' at the Empire next Friday."

If you can arrange a contest either with your newspaper or operated by your theatre for the best short answer to that question you will attract lots of attention. The newspaper could have lots of fun out of it by printing the answers without giving the names of the authors, if desired, for some of them would doubtless be ridiculous.

Why not show the newspaper the possibilities and offer to provide the prize? But be sure your advertisement announcing the attraction appears in the same issue that carries the award of the winner.

Shown at Two Big N. Y. Theatres

"Talk of the Town" made a record in New York City in being presented in two of the leading houses showing motion pictures. It was first shown at the Broadway for a week's run, and then reopened the new Symphony Theatre, one of the finest neighborhood houses in the country. Over a thousand people were turned away at the presentation at the Symphony, although the new management of the house had to rely almost entirely on the title of the picture and the name of the star, since the arrangements for lobby displays and other advertising at the Symphony had not been completed.

Cabaret scene and one of the strong dramatic moments which should be used in your lobby displays

Dorothy Phillips Should Be Featured In Every Way

DOROTHY PHILLIPS is a star of great popularity and one that has been featured in a number of productions that have attracted attention recently, and you should be sure to take advantage of that fact in all of your exploitation.

While you want to use the matter in small type, we would advise you to say in your larger advertising that she was starred in "Hell Morgan's Girl," "Pay Me," "The Price of Silence" and "Paid in Advance." Those who saw her in those productions are pretty sure to want to see her again.

We believe in playing the star strong when she has done things worth while, and you have this opportunity here in good measure. In this particular case we would talk to the public about the role which Miss Phillips has. In the first part of the picture she appears as a young girl, and a whole lot of people are going to be anxious to see her in such a character. And she does it so well that her work is going to delight all of her admirers and make new ones for her.

Her picture should be placed prominently in the advertising, as we have already suggested, and it should be made a feature of the lobby. If you can collect a number of different photographs of her it would be a good thing to put them in a special display for a few days before the start of the run. There is nothing simpler than this and we know of nothing that attracts more attention than a series of pictures of the same player, provided she is popular.

THIS is a good point to bear in mind in case of all Dorothy Phillips productions, and for that matter in the case of any star of unusual drawing power. Begin now collecting the photographs of the players that appear at your theatre. File these away together and retain them after you have used them once. If you buy the scene pictures outright you will find that after you have used these in the regular lobby display of her current offering they are still useful. Make cut outs of one or two of the most attractive of them and then preserve them. You will soon have enough to make a display, and then paste these on attractive cardboard with neat lettering telling the role that she had in the particular production. You will find that these will excite great interest, and you can use the display with picture after picture, by simply keeping them up to date.

All exhibitors who have tried it have found that it pays to keep a list of the patrons who like particular stars and to send them special notices when their favorite is about to appear. It will pay you to do this in the case of Dorothy Phillips or any other one that has such a large following as she.

Use her name prominently and if possible a picture of her on your announcement slide. If you are able to say when she will appear in her next production at your theatre, or even the approximate date it will be a good idea to have this as a slide at the end of the picture or so placed in the theatre that those going out of the house can see it, but not those coming in.

THERE are a number of other points to be brought out in the advertising. Almost everyone is fascinated by cabaret scenes when they are well produced and you have elaborate ones in this production.

Feature in at least one of your advertisements that Una Fleming, the celebrated dancer of vaudeville fame appears in these scenes and that they are perfect representations of the finest of cabarets.

Another novelty is the real Chinese jazz band that takes part in the picture. Nearly everyone knows that the negroes are great with the Jazz stuff, but mighty few ever heard of a Chinese aggregation of this sort and you will arouse a measure of curiosity.

Alan Holubar, the director, is another point to bring out. He has been responsible for such productions as "A Soul for Sale" and "Paid in Advance," and there will be a lot of people who will want to see more of his work.

William Stowell and Norman Kerry have the principal male parts and they have many friends that will come to the theatre to see them. And then little Gloria Joy, the child actress, who attracted so much attention when she was with Balboa, appears in the opening scenes as the baby Genevra French (Dorothy Phillips).

LET US KNOW

What Did You Do to Put This Picture Over?

AS you know the Exhibitors Service Bureau seeks to record the best things that exhibitors of the country are doing. This work is for the benefit of others and the general prosperity of the industry.

Outlined in these pages is the character of "The Talk of the Town" and some general suggestions for its exploitation, Perhaps you have better ones that you are using to get increased business. We would like to print every one of the valuable hints.

Send in your story. Where possible accompany the account with photographs of any special lobby displays or stage settings or copies of any unusual advertising that you do.

In center one sheet and at either side three sheets on "Talk of the Town"

WITH the presentation of "The Talk of the Town," at the Broadway theatre, an exceptionally striking musical setting was arranged by James C. Bradford, musical director of that theatre and also of the Symphony theatre. The same score was used at the latter house when the picture was shown there.

1—At screening—"In the Tavern"—Jensen; 3/8 Valse Brilliante.
2—T: At Fifteen—"The Gum-Suckers March"—Grainger; 2/2 Allegro Moderato.
3—T: Won't You Play With Me?—"Danse De Salammbo"—Arends; 3/4 Allegro con grazia.
4—D: Children Chase Dog—"Tarentella"—Bohm; 6/8 Allegro assai.
5—D: Major Leaves Carriage—"Sinbad"—Romberg (Fast One-Step); 2/4 Con Spirito.
6—T: As Trees and Flowers Leave—"Serenade"—Moszkowsky; 2/4 Andante grazioso.
7—D: Genevra Runs Down Walk—"Badinage"—Herbert; 2/4 Allegro Rubato.
8—T: A Year—"Only for You"—Romberg; 3/4 Tempo di Valse.
9—T: A Thing Forbidden—"Scene De Ballet"—Tscherepnine; 2/4 Allegro.
10—D: Genevra Posing—"Brise Du Soir"—Gillet; 3/4 Tempo di Valse.
11—T: Please Chase One for Me—*"The Flame of Love"—Friml; 4/4 Moderato.
12—T: With the Subtile Instincts—"Petite Barcarolle"—Champoux; 6/8 Moderato.
13—T: I Want Somebody—*"The Flame of Love"—Friml; 4/4 Moderato.
14—T: No Trace of Her—"Butterfly"—Densmore; 3/4 Allegro con molto grazia.
15—T: The Awakening—"Mother's Garden"—Fery; 3/4 Valse Lento.
16—T: The Transformation—"Aragonaise"—Massenet; 6/8 Allegro brilliante.
17—T: When Men and Women—"Land of Joy"—Valverde (Fast One-Step); 2/4 Allegro non troppo.
18—T: Jack Langhome—"Sunbeams"—St. Helier; 4/4 Moderato e Grazioso.
19—T: When a Woman Won't—"Oriental Nights"—Grant; 3/4 Tempo di Valse.
20—T: Babbling Tongues—"Whispering Willows"—Herbert; 4/4 Moderato Grazioso.
21—D: Genevra and Langhome Start Dancing—"Smiles"—Roberts (Fox-Trot); 4/4 Moderato.
22—D: Leave in Auto—"Intermezzo"—Arensky; 2/4 Presto.
23—T: You Are Going—*"The Flame of Love"—Friml; 4/4 Moderato.
24—T: The Moth and the Flame—"Jump Jim Crow"—Romberg (Fox-Trot); 4/4 Moderato.
25—T: Just Playing With Me—"Andante Appassionato"—Castillo; 4/4 Moderato.
26—T: Morning Sunbeams—"Smiles, Then Kisses"—Ancliffe; 3/4 Tempo di Valse.
27—T: Time Works Wonders—*"The Flame of Love"—Friml; 4/4 Moderato.

* Theme.

Points to Bring Out

(Continued from page 2219)

army, but it has no place with a young girl in the home. A father's rigid rules almost cost this girl wife a life's unhappiness.

He loved the wife who spurned him so much that he hired another man to teach her the dangers to which her follies led her.

Because she did not know she became the talk of the town, but when she learned she was transformed to the loyal wife.

She thought that she merely fluttered about the light of joy, but scandal singed her wings until she snuffed it with the realism of the loyal love.

We would not go much further than that with the lines, for this is really a clean picture, the only incident that borders on the improper being the scene where the lounge lizard is shown as if he were attacking her. But any sting to this scene is removed when you learn that this was a mere trick suggested by the husband to bring her to consciousness of what she was risking.

Ample Exploitation Aids for Exploitation of Picture

UNIVERSAL exchanges will supply a full line of exploitation aids on "The Talk of the Town," including striking one and two-column advertising cuts which were not ready for reproduction at the time that this special service section went to press.

The paper includes a twenty-four sheet, two one-sheets, two three-sheets, one six-sheet and a litholette. The heralds consist of striking scenes in rotogravure and for the lobby there are eight 8 by 10 scene pictures, in black and white, eight 11 by 14 gelatine scene pictures and 22 by 28 pictures of the star.

There are one, two and three-column scene cuts and one and two-column cuts of the star. Exhibitors will do well to buy cuts of Miss Phillips and to keep them for use in connection with the exploitation of not only this picture and others in which she will appear. If his newspaper is one of those that is willing to use genuine news stories from time to time, he should keep a close watch on the MOTION PICTURE NEWS and on his press matter for stories about Miss Phillips. When one of these is available he should take it to the newspaper and try to get in printed.

Keep your stars before the public on every opportunity. Remember that when you are advertising something that you have to sell next week you are creating an asset for your theatre.

In the Independent Field

Edna Britton, in B. A. Rolfe Productions

"Who's Afraid of the Hun?" Proves Popular

The popularity of "Who's Afraid of the Hun?" is attested by the experience of Herman Rifkin, manager of the Eastern Feature Film Company, of Boston, Mass. Mr. Rifkin purchased the rights of "Who's Afraid of the Hun?" for the New England territory, and originally ordered two prints. He thought the pair would be sufficient to take care of his section of the country. But the picture is said to have proved so popular that Mr. Rifkin was obliged to put in an order for two additional prints, making four in all.

From all sections where this two-reel feature has been shown, good reports have been received. "Who's Afraid of the Hun?" is being offered to state rights buyers by the Exclusive Features, Inc., 126 West Forty-sixth street, New York.

Jester Comedies in Three New Territories

William Steiner, of the Jester Comedy Company, has disposed of the rights for the Jester (Super) Comedies for Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan to the Standard Film Service Co., of Cleveland, Ohio.

The Unity Photoplays Co., of Chicago, Ill., who have the rights to the Jester Comedies for northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, have added to their territory by securing the rights to these comedies for the entire State of Indiana.

The Equitable Film Corporation, 928 Main street, Kansas City, Missouri, have acquired the rights to the Jester Comedies for the State of Kansas and western Missouri.

Priest Secures a New Feature

Controls World Rights to "What Becomes of the Children?"—Corra Beach and Walter Shumway in Leading Roles

ROBERT W. PRIEST, president of "The Film Market, Inc., has secured the world rights to the feature photodrama, "What Becomes of the Children?" written by Corra Beach.

This production was made by the Corra Beach Pictures Corporation at Jacksonville, Fla. Miss Beach played the leading female role and Walter Shumway was co-star in the principal male character. Other leading parts were acted by Morgan Jones, Billy Sullivan, Gladys Dore, Louis Westner and Grace Stevens.

The story, which is told in six reels, is one that will particularly appeal to women because of the timeliness of its subject and its compelling sentimental interest. A couple become estranged through the neglect of the wife by her husband, who is completely absorbed in his business. The inevitable divorce follows, and the children, a son and a daughter, are left unguided and unguarded in the formative period of their lives. What becomes of them forms the leading motive of a very sensational plot.

Miss Beach made her stage debut in comic opera, playing the soubrette role in "His Highness, the Bey," produced by the opera stock company at the La Salle theatre, Chicago. She played the prima donna role in support of Eva Tanguay in "The Sambo Girl," and succeeded Violet Dale in the title role in "The Girl from Rector's." For several seasons she played in her own playlets in vaudeville with Walter Shumway as co-star.

Mr. Shumway, who has played the lead in several photoplay productions, began his stage career with noted stock companies in Pittsburgh and Cleveland. He is the owner of Grand View Farm at Painesville, Ohio. His hobby is the breeding of Jersey cattle, and he has acted as cattle judge at many agricultural fairs in the Middle West.

"Ruling Passions" Has Trade Showing

"Ruling Passions," a new society problem photo-drama, written and directed by Abraham S. Schomer, was given a trade showing at the New York Theatre Roof, Thursday, September 26.

Although "Ruling Passions" is the first production to be released by the Schomer Photo Play Producing Co., Inc., it is not Mr. Schomer's first effort at photo-dramatic writing, for he is the author of the popular dramas "To-day" and "The Yellow Passport."

Julia Dean, Edwin Arden, Claire Whitney and Earl Schenck are featured.

Corra Beach is Author and Star of "What Becomes of the Children?" Walter Shumway is Co-Star in the Production

One of the Dramatic Moments in "The Woman the Germans Shot," the Plunkett-Carroll Production in Which Julia Arthur Is Starred

Some United Exhibitors Form Social Clubs

"WITH co-operation and co-operative movement already the universal topic of Motion Picture interest they are going even one better out Minnesota way, where co-operation is no longer to be limited to the confines of the business day," declared one United official.

"Minneapolis, Duluth and other Minnesota centres want further outlet for the co-operative spirit, with the result that that spirit is now invading social life in the Twin Cities territory. A prime mover in the latest ramification of the improvement of the industry and promulgator of the basic principles which underlie the co-operative plan is Thomas Furniss of Duluth, one of the most prominent exhibitors of the North West.

"Mr. Furniss and a considerable body of his many friends in their desire for mutual helpfulness are setting up a new field for their co-operative energies in the form of a social club."

"We are forming," says this well known Duluth citizen, "a United Theatres Club in which to discuss among ourselves the many points of interest which arise from time to time in connection with the co-operative movement, its aims and advantages and their bearing not merely on the exhibitor but on the star, director, producer, in fact on all who come within the scope of co-operation in our industry."

In connection with the United movement E. J. O'Donnell, United's special representative in the territory, reports a numerously attended luncheon tendered last Friday to the exhibitors of the district. Addresses from representative exhibitors bore testimony to the spirit of United co-operation prevailing in Minneapolis and throughout the Minnesota section, according to report.

David G. Rodgers, former Minneapolis exhibitor and lately manager for American Film Company, has been appointed manager of the United office in that city.

Fox Production Based on Life of Pershing

"WHY AMERICA WILL WIN," the Fox drama based on the life of General John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, was released out on independent basis this week by William Fox, as one of his series of Big Timely Pictures.

The release date of this photodrama was timed to coincide with the birthday of General Pershing, Friday, September 13. Starting from the days when Pershing was a boy in Laclede, Mo., "Why America Will Win" pictures his principal activities up to the present day.

"Although 'Why America Will Win'," said an official of the Fox Film Corporation this week, "is a strong dramatic offering in itself, part of the success it has already established is due to the fact that it is one of the most timely pictures ever made. At this moment the eyes of the world are on General Pershing and the army he commands What greater theme, what greater figure could be used in a motion picture?

To emphasize this timeliness, the Fox Film Corporation points to the fact that in more than 100 newspapers throughout the country there is now appearing a 32,000-word serial story of the life of General Pershing. The number of people who will read this story, which in its advertising is closely linked up to the picture, is set at millions.

Kaufman of Memphis Buys "Topics of the Day"

Abe H. Kaufman, of Kaufman's Special Exchange at Memphis, Tenn., has just secured "Topics of the Day" films for distribution of this weekly release for Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi. The subject is issued under the auspices of Literary Digest.

Mr. Kaufman says: "Our first release was on September 15, and, judging from the rapid manner in which bookings are coming in, it will be necessary for us to purchase one or more additional prints. This week we released the third Shorty Hamilton five-reel feature, 'The Pen Vulture,' these being the brand new releases produced by the W. H. Clifford Photoplay Company (not reissues).

"We are subdistributing in a portion of Tennessee for the Big Feature Rights Corporation of Louisville, Ky. (First National Circuit Exchange), and are receiving one feature every week. The first four being 'The Mad Love,' 'On Trial,' 'Alimony' and 'Marvelous Maciste.'"

United Theatres Jubilant Over First Picture

Judging from reports from those who have seen advance showings of its inaugural picture, United Picture Theatres of America, Inc., is jubilant over "The Light of Western Stars," the super-feature in which Dustin Farnum stars for United and in which he is said to have registered his best screen work to date.

W. H. Releases Another One-Reel Chaplin

W. H. Productions Company announces the release this week of the single-reel Charlie Chaplin comedy, another one of the series of twenty-six one and two-reelers.

This comedy is entitled, "The New Porter," former title being, "The New Janitor."

Nathan Hirsh, of the Pioneer Film Corporation

Independents and General Distribute for Hall

Evelyn Nesbit in "Her Mistake" and the balance of the special productions released by the Producers' Distributing Corporation, embodying Frank Hall's plan of features at fixed rental prices of ten, twenty and thirty dollars per day, will be distributed through large independent exchanges in the East and through the General Film Company in the West and South.

Frank Hall accompanied the announcement of the exchanges which will handle the Producers' Distributing Corporation subjects with the following statement:

"I feel that the exchanges through which our pictures are now being booked are especially well qualified to meet the conditions peculiar to their separate territories.

"In New York and New Jersey the Liberty Distributing Corporation will take care of our franchise-holders, while the American Feature Film Company is headquarters for New England, Silee Film Exchange for the Illinois section, Quaker City Feature Film Co. for Eastern Pennsylvania, Day Film Corporation for Western Pennsylvania, Success Film Corporation for the Ohio section, and the General Film Company is taking care of the extensive territory, including the states west of the Mississippi and the South."

Schomer Releases Feature This Week

It was announced this week by the Schomer Photoplay Producing Company that it will begin its releasing schedule immediately. This follows the initial presentation of its first play, "Ruling Passions," at the New York Theatre Roof on Thursday, September 26.

"Ruling Passions" was written and directed by Abraham S. Schomer, who is author of "Today," "The Yellow Passport," and "The Inner Man." Julia Dean, Edwin Arden, Claire Whitney and Earl Schenck, its featured artists, are supported by what is said to be an all-star cast.

Founded upon a policy that eliminates all manner of sex or problem plays and which aims to cheer the public with happy, wholesome and heart-interesting stories, filled with the brighter things of life, though touching whenever necessary to accentuate that brightness upon the tragic or the serious fact or ideal and doing its plays in a careful manner, the Schomer Photoplay Producing Co., Inc., declares it will continue its producing efforts, aiming always to make those efforts a refined and refining source of pleasure.

Stonehouse Resumes Work

Ruth Stonehouse, whom B. A. Rolfe especially engaged to play the vampire role in his Houdini serial, by Arthur B. Reeve and Charles A. Logue, has resumed work after a sudden and serious siege of appendicitis.

Miss Stonehouse returned to the studio in Yonkers much against the advice of her physicians, but she felt that her absence was holding up Mr. Rolfe and the entire company.

Re-Issues Pronounced Success

W. H. Productions Company Announces That Exhibitors Report Big Summer Business on Re-issues with Small Attendant Expense

THIS summer W. H. Productions Company put out on the market several series of re-issues. They released a series of twenty-four single-reel Fatty Arbuckle comedies, and a series of sixteen two-reel Shorty Hamilton western comedy dramas. From the following reports, the exhibitors are congratulating W. H. on these re-issues, which have enabled hundreds of them to keep their theatres open during the hot weather.

"We have just received several complimentary letters from exhibitors in Buffalo," writes the Gardiner Syndicate of Buffalo, who are handling some of W. H. Productions Company productions. "In part, one exhibitor writes as follows: 'These re-issues have been a life-saver. My patrons were greatly pleased with them, and I was able to keep my theatre open during the hot weather, when ordinarily my audiences are not as large as during the winter months.'"

Greater Features Company of Seattle, Washington, write as follows: "Several letters regarding the Chaplin comedies are now on my desk, and I know it will interest you to hear that these exhibitors are praising the Chaplin re-issues. Most of them have had an exceptionally successful summer business, which they attribute to these Chaplin re-issues. Will you kindly keep us advised of any new re-issues you have ready for release, as you may depend on it we want them?"

Peerless Film Service of San Francisco, Col., says: "The Arbuckles are going over great. We have a mighty satisfied lot of exhibitors, due to these re-issues. They have kept the exhibitors open all summer, making money for them as well as for us."

"These Shorty Hamiltons are certainly going over strong," writes the Standard Film Corporation of Kansas City, Mo. "Our exhibitors are strong for re-issues, and if you are ready to release any more, we would be pleaesd to have you advise us immediately."

W. H. Productions Company announces the release shortly of a new series of one-reel Keystone re-issues, featuring Mabel Normand and Ford Sterling. They will also release a series of two-reel Kay-Bee Western dramas.

Hopp Hadley Announces New Music Picture

HOPP HADLEY, who has been making a special study of combining the charms of music and pictures for several years, now announces another innovation which promises to attract considerable attention in musical and picture circles. His first production along musical lines, completed last spring, was the five-reel drama, "The Lost Chord," especially arranged to feature the theatre orchestra, pianist or organist by the introduction, in appropriate parts of the story, of scenes illustrating the symphony played by the musicians. He called "The Lost Chord" a Cinema-Symphony, and it is now being distributed through the Four Square Exchange.

Mr. Hadley's new effort combines several high class baritone solos with a picture telling a complete story, but with the picture so closely allied to the songs that the words of the soloist appear on the screen as the subtitles of the drama. He calls this production a Cinema-Song-Cycle, as it tells the story of the world-famous song-cycle "Eliland," the beautiful songs of which are found on concert programs everywhere.

"The title of the first Cinema-Song-Cycle is 'The Vow,'" said Mr. Hadley. "The negative is now being cut and I hope to give a private showing in about a week. The song-cycle 'Eliland,' which it illustrates, is too well known to need any introduction. I believe that it will mark the introduction of motion pictures into the concert world."

Educational Announces October Releases

ON the Educational's menu for the month of October will be some new Bruce Scenics, with more of Wright's Mexican travels as pieces de resistance and Happy Hooligan and Silk Hat Harry providing the cartoon comedy appetizers. The newest Robert C. Bruce offering is entitled "Tales of the Tall Timber." The scene is laid in the redwoods of northern California, and all the processes of cutting and logging the world's most majestic trees are portrayed. Mr. Bruce also has ready another film of the same general theme, but descriptive of the water transportation of timber. He has achieved what is believed to be the first authentic picture ever taken of the breaking up of a redwood log jam—perhaps the most thrilling spectacle of all in the colorful lumber industry.

"Mexico Historic and Architectural" and "Picturesque Industries of Mexico" are handled by George D. Wright in his October Educational releases. Both films were shown in pre-release at the Rothapfel theatres the month preceding. Mr. Wright, who, by the way, will soon revisit New York, is at his happiest in picturing the Mexican monuments and the primitive industries of the people. He has the historic sense with the business man's gift of seeing the worth while and the significant in lowly labor.

"The Bold, Bad Man," International's latest cartoon comedy distributed through Educational, shows Happy Hooligan aspiring to deeds of deviltry, "all on account of the movies." His efforts to outdo William S. Hart and Douglas Fairbanks are said to be as funny as anything Gregory La Cava has ever hit upon in his amusing satires of present-day fads.

"Sporting Life" Wins Newspaper Praise

MAURICE TOURNEUR'S production of the Drury Lane melodrama, "Sporting Life," was presented at the Rivoli theatre in New York City, for its world premiere, and all the newspapers were lavish in praise.

"Few motion picture directors equal, and few surpass, Maurice Tourneur in the art of making scenes for the screen," said the New York Times. "By this work he stands out prominently, even among the small group of exceptional men who appreciate the peculiar powers of the camera and know how to employ them in the production of a photoplay. Once more, and in some ways more than ever, he has revealed his creative genius in 'Sporting Life,' the featured film at the Rnvoli theatre this week. The spectators who viewed the picture were drawn into the excitement of the play's episodes, applauding and exclaiming at the succession of climaxes, as people do only when they are thrilled by a sense of participation in what they see or hear," concluded the Times.

"Decidedly, 'Sporting Life' is a success," said Harriette Underhill in the Tribune. "A stunning photoplay—a thrilling picture," said the World. "It fulfilled the advance notice promises of being 'crammed full of thrills of every sort'," remarked the Sun. "Stirring," commented the Herald.

The Evening Post placed the stamp of "remarkably good" upon "Sporting Life." "Drury Lane melodramas make excellent pictures," said the Evening Telegram, and one of the best of these is "Sporting Life." "The film scores over the old drama in that the spectacular effects unfold before the eyes of the audience, instead of being faked by clumsy off-stage devices," stated the Globe, as usual, "the direction of Maurice Tourneur is flawless." "Full of thrills," was the opinion of the Evening Sun.

"Maurice Tourneur has turned out a remarkably good production," commented the Evening Mail. "It is the first picture depicting sporting events that the writer has seen that gives a realistic presentation of sport."

The releasing of "Sporting Life" throughout the country is being arranged by Hiller and Wilk, Inc., who handle the distribution of all Maurice Tourneur productions.

Alperstein Completes Trip for New Serial

THE return of A. Alperstein, general manager of Western Photoplays, Inc., to New York this week culminates an extensive trip throughout the middle west upon behalf of their fifteen episode serial "Wolves of Kultur" starring Leah Baird.

The itinerary included a stop-over in Chicago during convention week and Mr. Alperstein there collaborated with Mr. Quimby, sales manager for Pathe, who are the distributors of this patriotic production for the United States and Canada.

In conjunction with the exchange managers of Pathe and various leading exhibitors from the different states a big campaign has been outlined that will carry with it tremendous advertising and publicity advantages obtained by the association and co-operative efforts of the producing company, the distributing company, the screens of the leading exhibitors and the use of every available medium of print, newspaper, magazine or otherwise.

"This serial with Leah Baird is rapidly earning the sobriquet 'the serial for the first-run theatre,'" states Mr. Alperstein. "In conjunction with the Pathe sales force our booking plans are being extended into theatre circles that never before considered a serial.

"In the first place our star, Miss Leah Baird is universally knows as a high-class artiste, whose productions have always been shown in the biggest and best theatres, and whose following is legion among the elite of picture-goers. Second, our production is away from the usual serial, clap-trap and has a strong patriotic punch that is both timely and compelling—third, our distributing organization, Pathe, is the best in the business—and fourth—we have inaugurated and placed the greatest advertising campaign ever concentrated on one picture production."

Wits Against Wits in Gaumont Serial

Just such a capable crime investigator as was made famous by Emile Gaboriau and Conan Doyle, to say nothing of those heroes of our boyish imagination, "Old Sleuth" and "Old Cap Collier" is said to be pictured in the brainy detective who is so industrious in his attempts to bring the guilty to justice in the new Gaumont photo-serial, "The Hand of Vengeance," which is now running in theatres of the United States and Canada.

But even cleverer than this Scotland Yard official is that adventurer who possesses the mysterious name of "Ultus," and who eludes the detective so successfully in every reel.

United Representatives in General Offices

In accordance with the announcement made last week of the arrangement between United Picture Theatres of America, Inc., and General Film Company whereby the latter's exchange service will handle the physical distribution of United's film product and whereby General's well equipped system of offices in each city are to be the gravitation centers of United exhibitors, President Berst's organization announces that their representatives, Messrs. Aaronson, Edwards and Lewis, in Pittsburg, Kansas City and St. Louis, respectively, have already completed the necessary arrangements and have established themselves in the local General office.

Gaumont Graphic Number 26 Is Varied

In the Gaumont Graphic released September 20th, the following subjects are shown:

On the Pacific.—"Sub" chasers show efficiency. Hard working boys at naval training station ready for the Kaiser's undersea skunks.

Chicago, Ill.—Their boys across the seas. These heart-hungry women are mothering our boys while they are here. Buttons sewed on while you wait.

Sacramento, Cal.—Low water stops steamboats. Great wheat crop held on wharves when Sacramento River reaches lowest ebb in history. Resting on the river bottom. Saying "Food must be shipped," Uncle Sam takes a hand.

With Our Boys in France.—Our transports are pouring a steady stream of fighting men into France—over two million are there now. Troops of the Second Division, 140th to 146th companies, being rushed to the line in motors. Battery B, 12th Field Artillery, Second Division, and their camouflaged commander's station. Hun prisoners, among them several officers, captured at Chateau Thierry by men of the 5th Regt., U. S. Marines. These are the "Teufelhunden" (Devil dogs), outnumbered 4 to 1, who took the first batch of prisoners. Getting rid of the cootie. Truck trains bring the men to the "delousing" station. U. S. Minister to Belgium, Brand Whitlock and his wife, attend a review of the 130th Field Artillery. Aix-les-Bains, France, a famous watering place where our boys will recuperate while on furlough.

Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Recruits in Grand Review.—Thousands witness brilliant scene at naval training station. The peacocks of the Navy. Largest military band in the world.

"Manx-Man" Salesman Is Frenzied Railroader

Sales Director J. K. Kempner of the "Manx-Man" company is a strong believer in making every minute count while "on the road." The result is that he emphasizes this point in his sales letter to "Manx-Man" traveling representatives. Early this week in a letter from Representative Leon Schlessinger, who is touring Illinois and Indiana with the Chicago Goldwyn office as his base, came startling confirmation that the Kempner injunction was being faithfully observed. Said this letter:

"I arrived at North Judson, Ind., at noon, closed the contract in thirty minutes after I landed, had my lunch and learned there wouldn't be another train out until 5:18 p. m. I didn't want to lay around for four hours and learned that a fast freight would go through at 2 p. m. I got hold of the conductor of same and landed here at 5:30, beating the passenger train in by a few hours. Rode in the caboose because the conductor was a movie fan and at the same time enjoyed the experience, and in the bargain a nice nap all stretched out, with a soft cushion for my head. Such is the life of a 'Manx-Man' speshul representative!"

Equipment Service

How Much Would the KAISER Tax Your Business?

Think this thought twice over: "If we should fail to win this war what would happen to my business?"

What is left of business in the invaded districts of France and Belgium? What will be left of business here, if we fail to crush the sinister power of Prussian militarism? How much would you have left after paying the taxes and levies imposed by a victorious Germany?

Defend Yourself With LIBERTY BONDS

This is not only a war for Democracy and Liberty, but a war of self-defense. Germany menaces our rights, our self-respect, our homes, and our means of livelihood.

Every citizen—every business man—has weapons of defense ready to his hand. These weapons are Liberty Bonds. We cannot all fight with guns and bayonets, but we can all fight with Liberty Bonds.

Buy to Your Utmost

Of course you have bought Liberty Bonds. Every one has. But how many more will you buy? The success of the Fourth Loan and of the war itself depends on your answer to that question.

Buy all the bonds you can. Go to your bank and make your arrangements. Buy more than you ever thought you could buy.

Buy to Your Utmost

This Space Contributed to Winning the War By

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Projection Music Laboratory Studio Theatre

4 ONE SHEETS 1 THREE SHEET

UNIT SYSTEM

LOBBY DISPLAY FRAMES AND WALL CASES

Three styles—three finishes—Combinations to fit any wall space—any decorative scheme—any amount you wish to spend. Write today for FREE Catalog in colors, and how to get FREE sketch of a decorative scheme for your lobby—ARCHITECTURAL PLAN.

FREE You don't know how little money it takes to improve your lobby till you have our plans in detail.

MENGER, RING & WEINSTEIN, Inc.

Largest Manufacturers of Lobby Display Frames and Wall Cases
304 West Forty-second Street, New York

DU PONT AMERICAN INDUSTRIES

Modernize Your Theatre

By installing seats like this. They will remain beautiful, comfortable and serviceable for years because they are covered with Du Pont Fabrikoid, Craftsman Quality, which doesn't wear shabby; isn't affected by heat or moisture and is as cleanable and sanitary as glass.

Du Pont Fabrikoid Co.
Wilmington, Delaware
Canadian Factory and Office
New Toronto, Canada

No. 248
Made by

Wisconsin Cabinet & Panel Co.
105 West
40th Street
New York

DU PONT

BETTER SATISFACTION

This notice is addressed to the minority of our subscribers who do not regularly answer advertisements. The service described is, however, open and free to all who wish our help.

We do not wish to discourage you from writing direct to our advertisers; in fact, you do not do enough of it for your own good, but we do want you to get the proper goods to fit your needs.

There are many, perhaps you, who are too busy to write each company separately; therefore we are offering our co-operation, which means that you will receive full information on any subject which you may designate by merely filling out the coupon, designating by numbers the goods in which you are interested.

Your inquiries thus received will be forwarded to reputable manufacturers, even though the goods on which you wish information are not advertised in the "News."

1. Advertising Novelties
2. Architectural Suggestions
3. Arc Controllers
4. Brass Rails
5. Building Material
6. Cameras—Camera Attachments —Camera Lenses
7. Carbons
8. Chairs
19. Chair Upholstery
10. Change Making Machines
11. Condensers
12. Converters and Transformers
13. Developing Material
14. Developing and Printing
15. Developing Tanks
16. Disinfectants and Perfumes
17. Economizers
18. Electric Signs
29. Elevators and Escalators
20. Exterior Lighting
21. Film Cabinets
22. Film Carriers
23. Film Cement
24. Film Cleaners
25. Film Dyes
26. Film Stock
27. Fire Extinguishers
28. Floral Decorations
29. Gas Engines
30. Generators (See Gas Engine Card)
31. Heralds
32. Interior Lighting
33. Interior Telephones
34. Laboratory Apparatus
35. Lenses
36. Lighting Sets
37. Lithographers
38. Lobby Display
39. Lobby Novelties
40. Metal Ceilings
41. Motors
42. Mural Paintings
43. Musical Instruments
44. Paints
45. Perforating Machines
46. Printing Machines
47. Programs
48. Projection Booths
49. Projection Lenses
50. Projection Machines
51. Projection Machines (Homes)
52. Rectifiers
53. Reels
54. Rewinders
55. Rheostats
56. Safety Exit Locks
57. Screens
58. Slide Ink
59. Slides
60. Slip Covers
61. Stage Setting
62. Studio Lights
63. Tickets
64. Ticket Selling Machine
65. Ticket Taking Machine
66. Tripods
67. Uniforms
68. Vacuum Cleaners
69. Ventilating and Fans

Gentlemen: Please send me descriptive matter on the subjects marked in the above lists.

Name.....

Theatre.....

City.....

State.....

Equipment Service

Devoted to the technical branches of the motion picture industry, containing records of the latest accomplishments in the mechanical and scientific field; projection helps, inventions and suggestions; camera devices analyzed and commented upon; musical cue sheets for important feature pictures; improvements and innovations in the building and furnishing field.

No charge is made in these departments for answering questions of any nature. Correspondence is invited.

E. KENDALL GILLETT.....Editor

ALFRED S. CORY.....Technical Editor

Theatre Conservation

THE new draft is making many changes in conditions and the methods of conducting business, and will make still more. Men are being lsot to the industries of the country who could have been ill spared a year or two ago. Young men or men of mature age are being called in to fill the gaps which are opening up every day. Many industries, flourishing before we entered the war, are closing their doors and suspending all activities until it is over.

The condition is serious. It is one with which we cannot take chances. We must look at it as it is and plan for any contingency which may arise continually, figuring that the strings of necessity will of necessity be drawn tighter about us than at present seems possible.

This is the case to-day with the owners and managers of Motion Picture Theatres. A couple of years ago it was not a case of hunt for a man to fill a certain place, but merely a matter of choosing any one of a dozen who could be obtained without thought or trouble. Now we find that things are different. Our door man leaves us and we are at once "up against it," for we must have a man of a certain type. Fill the place? Yes, but not as we did. It now takes time, for there is no chance of selectin as in the past. It is almost sure that some girl will take the job, and make good. They are doing it every day.

Ushers are no more, or if they still exist in places they are becoming few and far between. This is one of the positions in the theatre which can be filled by girls, and probably just as satisfactorily as by the men whose places they have taken. Properly uniformed they present a better appearance as a rule than the men who are at once released for heavier work, where they are far more appreciated and needed.

In the operating booth it is a different story. Here the man must stay, though rumors are current of women gradually fitting themselves for this most important work. It is our opinion that this is a step in the wrong direction, as the position must be filled by some one of quiet nerves and not by a woman who nine times out of ten is excitable and who is apt to faint or run should the film ignite. A man should always be in the booth.

The one most noticeable place where men can be spared in the larger house is the orchestra. In the past we have found many houses with from five hundred (500) seats up employing orchestras of three pieces and over. This music may be efficient and pleasing, yet it is not conserving the country's man power, though this can be conserved without impairing the drawing power of the house. We have to-day musical instruments which contain all the effects of the large orchestra, and when properly operated are as efficient for picture playing as any form of picture music. Many houses have already recently adapted them and more are following suit. One manufacturer told me the other day that his output had fallen to one-third of the normal, whereas the theatre demand had more than doubled. This is significant, though it is bound to happen with two million men in uniform, and what is more the condition will be worse before it is better.

There is no doubt that every Motion Picture Theatre is essential to the country. This is acknowledged by the Government, yet we must realize that just because this is the case we are not given the right to overlook the various forms of conservation which we might put into play. It is up to every theatre man to cut down. He should feel it his duty to release all the men possible for duty elsewhere.

Make CONSERVATION your slogan.

E. K. GILLETT.

Equipment Operating Projection Questions Answered

The Characteristics and Efficiency of Projection Screens

ANY effort to increase the efficiency of the motion picture projector from the viewpoint of light, or energy, conservation must also take into consideration the character of the screen upon which the pictures are projected, and likewise its efficiency as a reflector for returning the projected light to the eyes of the spectator.

It seems logical, therefore, to follow up our recent articles on the efficiency of the projector optical system with some particulars as to the efficiency of projection surfaces, and we are fortunate in being able to present some intimate and accurate data on this subject, as the result of investigations made at the Research Laboratory of the Eastman Kodak Company.[1]

The information contained in the article cited deserves to be widely known amongst operators, exhibitors and manufacturers of projection appliances, and is freely used in the preparation of the following paragraphs, which are not, however, in all particulars a literal reprint of the original communication.

Projection screens vary from mat white walls and cloth screens to special surfaces and coatings intended to concentrate the light within a narrow angular field relative to the normal to the screen surface. When there is an abundance of light there is no question but that a highly diffusing surface, such as a white plaster wall, gives a minimum of eye discomfort to the spectator.

However, the question of obtaining sufficient screen illumination must be considered, on account of the expense and difficulty of operating intense light sources, such as high-power arcs, and on account of the liability of injury to the projected material when excessively high illumination is used.

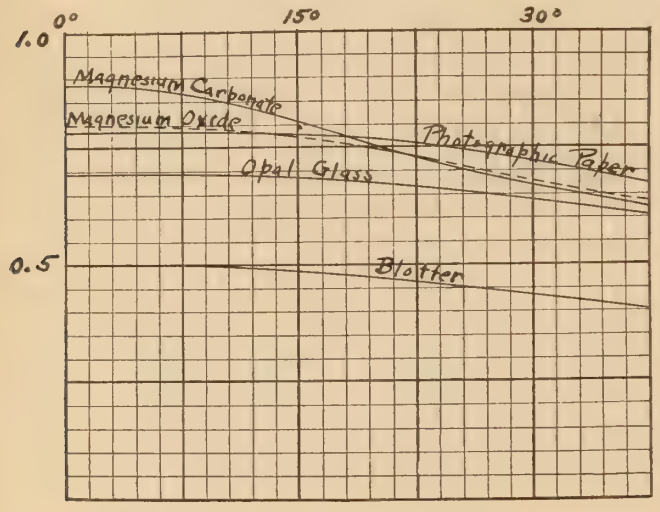

FIG. 1

Accordingly, numerous attempts have been made to increase the efficiency of projection screens by increasing their reflecting power, and by so designing their surfaces that the light which they reflect is nearly all concentrated within an angle of 30 degrees from the normal to the screen surface. Some of these specially prepared screens, however, produce considerable eye discomfort, hence the problem of selecting the best possible screen for different sizes and shapes of auditorium, or theatre, is very complex. To insure a comprehensive grasp of the problem the reflection analyses of various types of screens and surfaces now in use will be discussed, then the properties of the ideal screen will be considered, and lastly the maximum efficiency which can be realized in a projection surface. In the subsequent data it is assumed, unless otherwise specified, that about 20 per cent. of the light incident upon the screen is absorbed and therefore lost.

Table I gives the percentage of the incident light reflected by various surfaces, which have been used or experimented with as projection screens, at various angular distances from the normal to the screen surface. In obtaining the data contained in Table I the various surfaces were illuminated at perpendicular incidence by a disc source subtending a solid angle of .01 steradian, and the reflection values obtained are reduced to percentages of that for a perfectly diffusing surface having 100 per cent reflecting power under the same illumination.

(Note—The steradian is the unit of solid angular measurement. It is derived from the radian, a unit of angular measurement. Angular measurement in radians is represented by the length of the arc for a given angle divided by the radius of the corresponding circle, and the radian, or unit in this method of measurement, is an arc equal in length to the radius of the circle of which it is a part. Now it is seen that the steradian, mentioned above, is the solid angle subtended at the center of a sphere by an area on the surface of the sphere equal to the square of the radius, or, in other words, a steradian is the solid angle subtended by unit surface on a sphere of unit radius.)

TABLE I

Screen	Angles of Observation
	0°	5°	10°	15°	30°
1. Magnesium carbonate block	0.875	0.875	0.875	0.875	0.832
2. Magnesium oxide	0.80	0.80	0.80	0.80	0.77
3. Mat photographic paper	0.78	0.78	0.78	0.78	0.78
4. White blotter	0.76	0.76	0.76	0.76	0.73
5. Ground opal glass	0.69	0.69	0.69	0.69	0.68
6.
7.
8.
9. Mat varnish on foil	0.83	0.715	0.615	0.49	0.28
10. Mirroroid A (Aluminum)	1.01	0.85	0.66	0.52	0.25
11. Mirroroid B (Aluminum)	1.18	1.04	0.87	0.71	0.28
12. Becker compound	1.93	1.80	1.70	1.53	0.83
13. Mirror with ground face	4.9	4.55	3.86	3.03	0.78

The numerical data of Table I is shown plotted in the form of curves in Figs. 1 and 2, where the ordinates represent percentage reflection and the abscissae the angular distances from the normal to the screen surface. Fig 1 includes the flatter curves of the surfaces which give practically even reflection over a wide angular field, while Fig 2 shows the curves for those surfaces which reflect most highly within an angle of about 30 degrees. Fig. 2 is plotted to half the scale of Fig. 1, and it will further be noted that the curve for No. 13 (mirror with ground face) is plotted in two sections. It is obvious that section b must be added to section a in order to graphically represent the percentage reflection at, and in the vicinity of, the normal.

A large percentage of the projection screens in use are far below maximum efficiency and a slight accumulation of dust will lower the efficiency 50 per cent. Many roller screens of painted cloth of the non-metallic type reflect less than 40 per cent. of the incident light when new, whereas a reflection of at least 70 per cent is easily attainable in this type of screen.

Efficiency of Projection Screens

If we take as the ideal screen a screen which reflects all the light projected upon it, uniformly within a given angle from the normal (say 30 degrees), then a rational measure of diffusion efficiency in any screen is the ratio of the light reflected within this angle to the total light reflected. The light reflected within a given angle is obtained by multiplying the numerical values of the ordinates of the brightness curves (such as are plotted in Figs. 1 and 2), at the various angular distances from normal, by 2 × sine a × cosine a, where a represents the angular distance from the normal in the case of each ordinate, and then summing these results over the angular field for which the total reflected light is desired.

[1] Projection and Focusing Screens—by P. G. Nutting Communication No. 26 from the Research Laboratory of E. K. Co. Trans. I. E. S., Vol. 11 (1916), p. 92.

(Note—The numerical values of the sines and cosines of all angles are published in the form of tables which may be consulted in making calculations like the above.)

In the following table are given the values of the 30-degree diffusion efficiency, the total reflecting power and the 30-degree total efficiency calculated in this manner from the data given above.

Screen	30° Diffusion Efficiency	Reflecting Power	Total Efficiency
No. 1. Magnesium carbonate	0.25	0.87	0.22
No. 10. Mirroroid B (aluminum)	0.55	0.25	0.14
No. 12. Becker compound	0.54	0.63	0.34
No. 13. Ground mirror. . . .	0.69	0.92	0.64
Ideal screen (see below)	0.90 to 1.00	0.92	. .

The reflecting power given in the preceding table is the ratio of the total reflected to the total incident light, while the total efficiency is the ratio of the light reflected within 30 degrees from the normal to the total incident light.

It is seen from the table that even the mirror with ground face reflects considerable light at angles greater than 30 degrees from the normal, and, although the brightness at large angles of reflection is low, the entire solid-angle is so large that considerable light is represented.

Coming now to the ideal projection screen, the nearest possible approach to such a surface would probably be a mirror, the front face of which was composed of tiny hexagonal facets, each of which was a minute concave lens of just sufficient diameter to refract light at a maximum angle of 15 degrees with its axis. This is the case when the radius of curvature of each elementary lens is approximately equal to its diameter. Owing to the necessarily hexagonal form of each little lens, the angle of reflection would not be sharply limited.

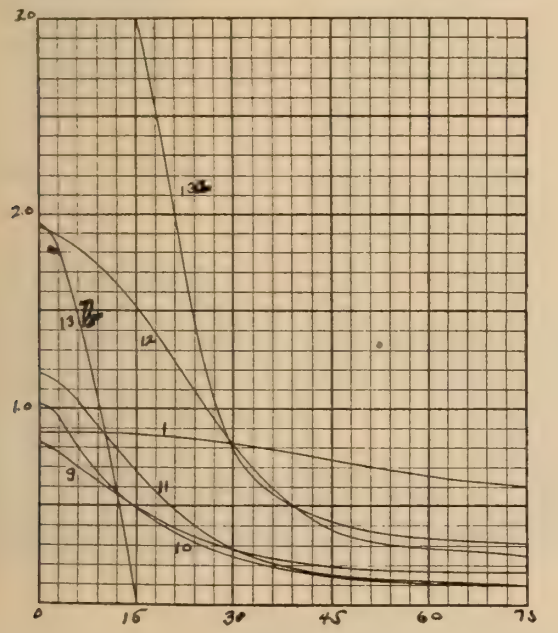

FIG. 2

Glare in Projection

Quite frequently a projected motion picture appears so bright to the spectator as to cause eye discomfort, in which case the screen result is said to be glaring. The term "glare" has an esaablished meaning among illuminating engineers, and may be defined as any brightness within the field of vision, which is of such a character as to cause discomfort, annoyance, interference with good seeing, or eye fatigue.

Discomfort in viewing projected images may be due to one or more of several causes; there may be excessive or insufficient screen illumination, excessive contrast, or veiling illumination, and there is always some displacement, or quivering, and some intensity flicker (due to the revolving shutter) present in cinematograph projection. Displacement fatigue, or the jumping of the picture, which is always apparent in some degree, is undoubtedly the chief cause of the eye fatigue incident to viewing motion pictures, this eye fatigue being largely sustained by the eye muscles.

The problem of the proper average brightness in a projected image (either motion picture or stereo) has not yet been thoroughly studied, but in the opinion of Dr. Nutting (whose experiments are embodied in this article) it is probably in the neighborhood of half a Lambert, with a tolerance factor of 5 per cent. either way.

(Note—The Lambert is the C. G. S. unit of brightness, and is the brightness of a perfectly diffusing surface radiating or reflecting one lumen per square centimeter. It derives its name from J. H. Lambert, who, in 1760, published the cosine law which expresses the brightness appearance of mat reflecting or visibly radiating surfaces.)

The contrast within the picture, or screen image, is determined chiefly by the contrast in the film or slide projected, while the contrast between the picture and its border (black or velvet, for instance) is determined by the relative reflecting powers of the screen and the border. The range of contrast in screen images varies from 1 : 1 up to about 1 : 100; the contrast between the picture and its border from 1 : 100 to very high values.

Another factor influencing the quality and contrast of the projected picture is the arrangement of the auditorium lighting, which may permit stray light to reach the screen. This must be guarded against as must stray light from the projecting machine also, as its effect is to veil the picture, thus decreasing the proper contrasts. Stray light, or veiling illumination, as it is termed, has specially to be guarded against and carefully excluded when highly reflecting screens are used.

(To be continued)

Society of Motion Picture Engineers Meet at Cleveland, Oct. 21st

THE usual fall meeting of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers will be held at Cleveland, Ohio, on October 21 and 22, according to an announcement by the president, C. Francis Jenkins.

Again the Society is fortunate in the choice of the meeting place, for at Cleveland are located two large concerns whose manufactures are utilized in the motion picture industry—these being the National Lamp Works of the General Electric Company and the National Carbon Company. Being held in such an illuminating city, the forthcoming meeting cannot fail to contribute greatly to the enlightenment of the Society, and between the sessions members will have the opportunity of studying, at close range, the manufacture of projector carbons and high-power Mazda lamps.

The meetings will be held at the Hotel Winton, which is to be the Society's headquarters, and, in addition to the consideration of new business, an ambitious program of papers will be read. The subjects of these papers, as announced to date by the Committee on Papers, are as follows:

The President's Address.....C. F. Jenkins
"The Carbon Arc for A. C. and D. C. Motion Picture Projection".....W. C. Kunzmann
"Incandescent Lamps for Motion Picture Work".R. P. Burrows
"Standardization of the Motion Picture Industry and the Ideal Studio".....J. W. Allison
"Natural Color Cinematography".....W. V. D. Kelley
"Making of Motion Picture Films".....G. A. Blair
"Sprocket-Teeth and Film Perforations, and Their Relation to Better Projection".....A. C. Roebuck
"Function of the Condenser in Projection Apparatus" .....Dr. H. Kellner
"Projection Room and its Requirements"....F. H. Richardson
"Advantages in the Use of the New Standard Narrow-Width Film for Portable Projectors".....W. B. Cook

The intelligent discussion of these papers in the meeting will be facilitated by printed copies, which have been prepared and will be in the hands of every member of the Society some time before the Cleveland meeting takes place.

Everything combines to make it worth the while of all members to be present at the Cleveland meeting, and a high attendance is expected.

The Essential Requirements
for Improved Projection
are
SPEER CARBONS

SPEER Alterno Combinations
for A.C. Work
and
SPEER Hold-Ark Combinations
for D.C. Work

Produce Incomparable Results

Write today for descriptive folders. Read the unbiased opinions of operators

Place an order now with your Supply House

"The Carbons with a Guarantee"

Manufactured by
SPEER CARBON COMPANY
ST. MARYS, PA.

THE SIMPLEX PROJECTOR

Remember the old saying:
"ALL IS NOT GOLD THAT GLITTERS"

Because a machine has a lot of nickle plate on it does not say that it is the most efficient.

The quality of a projector is the results obtained.

The performance of the
SIMPLEX MACHINE GUARANTEES ITS SUPERIORITY
Write today for catalog

AMUSEMENT SUPPLY COMPANY
Largest Exclusive Dealers to the Motion Picture Trade
300-302 Mallers Building 5 South Wabash Avenue
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
Dealers in Motiograph, Standard and Simplex Moving Picture Machines, National Carbons, Minusa Screens and Everything for the Theatre
WE SELL ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN

PERFECTED PROJECTION

THE mechanism of the DeVry Portable Motion Picture Projector is so wonderfully simple as to commend itself instantly to the amateur operator, while it combines all the necessary qualities of perfected projection to delight the appreciation of the professional.

Adopted by the United States Government in all Departments where motion pictures are used, and by the American Red Cross, at home and abroad. Used also in all Y. M. C. A. work, on transports, at home and "over there."

Write today for our Catalogue H-3

The DeVry Corporation
109½ North Wells Street Chicago, U. S. A.

National Anti-Misframe League
Pledge

AS a motion picture operator who has the interest of his profession at heart and is willing to assist in eliminating some of the evils practised in the operating-room, I promise that I will to the best of my ability return films to the exchange in first-class condition. Furthermore, I will when it becomes necessary remedy all misframes, bad patches, etc., that may be in the film which I receive and in this way co-operate with my brother operators and give greater pleasure to those who make up the motion picture audience by showing films that are free from such defects. I also promise that I will not make punch marks in film, and when film is received by me, with punch holes, I will notify the exchange to that effect so that they may use their efforts to correct this evil.

Roll of Honor

Edgar A. Nebinger	Steelton, Pa.
S. E. Shaw	Kitchener, Ont., Can.
Joseph Alter	Brooklyn, N. Y.
Edgar K. Haberman	Bucyrus, Ohio
Arthur Allen	Muskegon, Mich.
A. G. Smith	Dresden, Tenn.
Robert H. Davison	Hopewell, Va.
F. Floyd Taylor	Burley, Idaho
Eugene Sullivan	Texarkana, Tex.
Roosevelt Massey	Bessemer, Ala.

Members Previously Recorded	918
Members Recorded This Week	10
Total Membership to Date	928

Notice! Anti-Misframe League Members

Membership cards are now ready and are being sent out as fast as possible. There are a number of operators, however, who have neglected to send in the desired information. If you will fill out the blank and mail to this office, button and membership card will be forwarded.

Member's Name .....

Home address .....

Name of theatre where employed.....

Address of theatre and name of manager.....

This notice does not apply to those who have already sent in this information, but it is for those who have neglected doing so, many having merely given their names and name of city, without any street address, making it impossible for the post office to deliver the letters addressed to them.

Nu-Movie-Lite Co. Files Answer to Infringement Suit of Argus Lamp & App. Co.

IN the NEWS of August 24, 1918, page 1279, a notice appeared of the suit instituted by the Argus Lamp and Appliance Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, against the Nu-Movie-Lite Company, of Peoria, Ill., it being alleged by the plaintiff that the lamp casing and incandescent projection lamp exploited by the defendant concern constituted an infringement of U. S. Patent No. 1,257,132. This patent is one of a series quite recently granted to the Argus Company, and is claimed by them to cover features of the Sheck Adapter, which the Nu-Movie-Lite is said to infringe.

Mr. M. H. Livingston, president of the Nu-Movie-Lite Company and the inventor of the projection device of like name, has just $4500.00 Watson Picture Player Pipe Organ, complete, taken in on mortgage, for quick sale $1800.00. Write for full description.

OMAHA FILM EXCHANGE
Omaha, Neb.

Unless You Have The
Automaticket System
You Are Losing Money
1733 Broadway, New York

MOTORS
and speed controllers for 6A, including switch and cover, 110 V., 220 V. A. C. and D. C. Guaranteed perfect, $40.00. A few used mechanisms 6A at bargain.
The Stern Manufacturing Company
1023 Race Street
Philadelphia, Pa.

The Estey Theatre Pipe Organ can be adapted to any kind of good music — popular or classical
THE ESTEY ORGAN CO.
Brattleboro, Vt.
See our page ad in the October 12th issue of the MOTION PICTURE NEWS forwarded us a complete copy of the answer to the Argus Company's suit which has been recently filed by the Nu-Movie-Lite Company in the United States District Court, and we give the substance of the same in the succeeding paragraphs, as the contentions of both parties in the litigation are entitled to the same publicity. The statements made by the Nu-Movie-Lite Company, which have the most important bearing on the case, are as follows:

The Nu-Movie-Lite Company admits that it has had notice heretofore and prior to the bringing of the suit of the existence of the Letters Patent 1,257,132, but denies that it has ever manufactured, used or sold adaptors for motion picture projecting lamps embodying the invention disclosed and claimed in said Letters Patent and which are an infringement of said Letters Patent, and denies that it is making, selling or using, or threatens and intends to make, sell or use adaptors for motion picture projecting lamps infringing said Letters Patent, and further denies that it has in any way violated the exclusive rights of the complainant.

The defendant further avers that said Letters Patent are invalid and void, and the alleged improvement set forth in said Letters Patent was not the invention of said Oscar M. Sheck, and that in view of the State of Art at the date of the alleged invention, the production of said devices claimed in the said patent did not involve invention, and that the said invention was not novel at the time alleged; that the said alleged invention or substantial or material parts thereof were produced and sold by various manufacturers [named in the answer] more than two years prior to the application for said patent.

The Nu-Movie-Lite Company also claims that the following patents which are on record in the United States Patent Office show that the invention of the patent in suit was not novel at the time alleged:

Inventor	Number	Patent Date
H. Sangster	38,764	June 2, 1863
J. W. Hayward	441,555	Nov. 25, 1890
A. C. Wright	546,836	Sept. 24, 1895
H. F. Patton	1,075,789	Oct. 14, 1913
A. D. Robinson and A. P. Baller	1,160,764	Nov. 16, 1915
P. J. Walsh	1,174,208	Mar. 7, 1916
J. Darby	1,174,479	Mar. 7, 1916

The defendant says that it is engaged in the business of manufacturing lamp housings for motion picture machines, and that such devices are the invention of Maurice H. Livingston, president of the Nu-Movie-Lite Company, who made application for Letters Patent of the United States prior to August 31, 1917, the date of the filing of the Letters Patent sued upon.

TransVerteR

You Need a Transverter
The Motor-Generator that produces perfect arcs for Picture Projection
You can make a perfect dissolve with two-arc Transverter
The HertnerElectric & Mfg. Co.
1908 West 114th St., Cleveland, O.
Exclusive Canadian Distributors
PERKINS ELECTRIC CO.
Head Offices Montreal, Can.

WE FIX IT
Motion Picture Equipment problems. Every known accessory. Orders shipped day received. Let us quote you.
INDEPENDENT MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY
729 Seventh Avenue, New York
Sixth Floor

TYPHOON COOLING SYSTEM
TYPHOON FAN COMPANY 1544 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

MODERN EQUIPPED STUDIOS FOR RENT
UNEXCELLED FILM LABORATORIES AND STUDIOS CO. INC.
120-124 School St.
YONKERS, N.Y.
TELEPHONE — 4600 YONKERS
HIGH CLASS DEVELOPING AND PRINTING

For Better Music
The Fotoplayer
62 West 45th Street AMERICAN PHOTO PLAYER CO. New York City

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

Camera Laboratory — Picture Making — Studio Technique

The Featherstone Process of Two-Color Cinematography

AMONGST the majority of color cinematographers the two color processes are undoubtedly the most experimented with, and considerable work is still being done on both the additive and the subtractive methods.

Two principal methods of photographing and projecting these two-color motion pictures are commonly to be distinguished, the successive method, typified by Kinemacolor, in which successive exposures on the film are made through alternating red-orange and blue-green filters, and the multiple-lens method, typified by Gaumont Chronochrome (although previously proposed by Christensen), in which two or more exposures corresponding to arbitrary divisions of the spectrum are simultaneously recorded in adjacent positions on the film through the requisite number of separate objectives, mounted on the camera in close proximity to one another and capable of being inclined so as to superimpose the images of an object in some one selected plane.

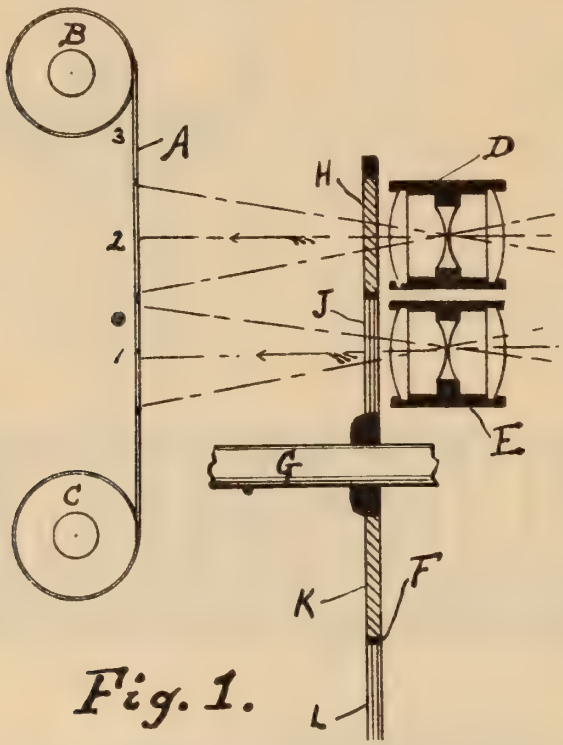

Fig. 1.

The negative records are, in either case, photographed on color-sensitive film stock, through color filters of well-known type, which, in the case of two-color processes, divide the spectrum in the yellow region—one filter thus being of red-orange hue while the other is of blue-green color. In projecting two color results additively a purer red is used as the red projecting color, while the green projecting filter should be pronouncedly bluish, these being the requirements for the production of bright colors and the attainment of a satisfactory white. Whatever the spectral characteristics of the filters used in subtractive two-color cinematography, the colors with which the positive images are dyed should be substantially the complementaries of the taking filters; the dyes used in coloring the pairs of images should also be complementary to each other, or else a good black will not be obtained.

Although much progress has been made in the production of two color motion pictures following the general procedures outlined above, certain defects have always been more or less in evidence in the exhibitions of such work. In the Kinemacolor and similar successive processes, for instance, the so-called color fringing i an annoying defect, due to the inevitable difference in the positio of a rapidly moving object in the successive images which ar projected through filters of different color, while in the multipl lens method of photographing there are differences of orientatio in the various images, in the cases of objects in all planes excep that upon which the several objectives have been converged an focussed, the result being that the projected pictures also hav a colored fringe, or border, around parts of the objects in certai planes. As this is due to what may be termed a stereoscopi difference in the appearance of a given object in the severa images forming one color cycle, or unit, in a process of this type the effect is known as stereo parallax.

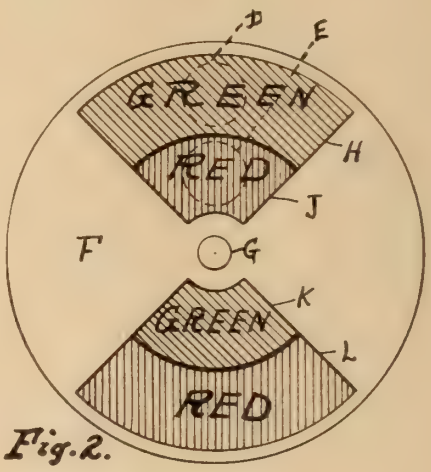

Fig. 2.

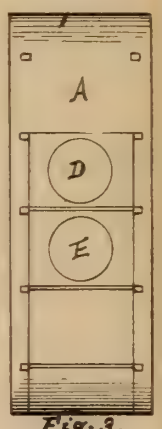

Fig. 3.

To eliminate color fringing and parallax from their results various workers on two-color cinematography have employed a single objective in conjunction with a suitable system of reflecting prisms or mirrors, which divide the light beam from the objective and send it along two separate paths, thus permitting the simultaneous recording of the red and the green images, which are, moreover, in this case, identical in viewpoint with respect to objects in all planes. With such a reflecting system and only one objective sufficient exposure through the color filters is not easy of attainment under all conditions of illumination of the subject to be photographed. For this and other reasons Mr. Willard B. Featherstone of Washington, D. C., devised the two-color system of taking and projecting motion picture in natural colors which will be described in the following paragraphs.

Mr. Featherstone's method of photographing the red-orange and blue-green color-sensation records required in the two color processes, U. S. Patent No. 1,209,420, employs two objectives on the camera, which is no point of novelty, but the feature of his system of photography is that each color-sensation image receives two exposures, first through the upper objective and then through the lower objective, both exposures of each image, however, being made through a filter of the same color. Thus, in spite of the extensive absorption of light by the color filters, each negative image receives an adequate amount of light action (due to its being twice exposed), while the parallax which one would expect to see, in all planes except the one for which the objectives were focussed, is decreased by the blurring in those planes caused by each image having them recorded from two different aspects. As this interesting photographic method of Mr. Featherstone possesses considerable practical worth, we present his detailed description of the same, as given in his patent specification:

It has heretofore been customary, when using a twin-lens projector and superimposing two images upon a screen, to use a positive film which has been printed from a negative taken with a camera which had but one lens, and hence when two successive images were superimposed there would be lack of register wherever a fast moving object crossed the foreground. This causes so-called color fringes which are much more noticeable and objectionable than the gray fringes from the ordinary black and white films.

Another defect arising from superimposing separately recorded scenes is that an unreal appearance is caused by the very fact that each color has been recorded only in every other view, causing undue reliance on so-called persistence of vision.

Fig. 4.

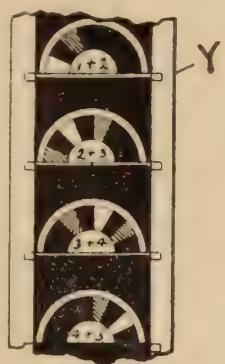

Fig. 5.

Mr. Featherstone overcomes these defects to a very satisfactory degree by employing a camera which has two or more lenses, according to the number of primary colors which are to be recorded. By this means each scene is recorded in each color, and each image area receives two exposures, which at present is another advantage as it insures ample timing whereas often a single exposure might be insufficient with ordinary panchromatic emulsions.

In the accompanying drawings one method of constructing such a camera is illustrated, but inasmuch as the same results may be obtained by a different style of shutter, for example, the invention is not limited to this particular construction, nor to the use of two lenses, as any other number (ordinarily three) may be used, but two are illustrated for the sake of simplicity.

Fig. 6.

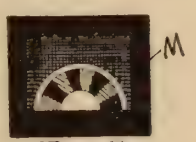

Fig. 7.

Fig. 8.

In Figs. 1, 2, and 3, A is the negative film-stock, which is being fed from reel B, and taken up on reel C, while D and E are lenses at the proper focal distance from the film. The shutter F, revolves on the shaft G, and may be either in front or behind the lenses. The shaft is connected by suitable gearing, not shown, so that it will revolve only half-way around each time that the film is advanced one picture distance. Thus in the position shown in Figs. 1, and 3, the color aperture, H, is opposite the lens D, while the aperture J, is opposite the lens E. Now, while the film is standing still, an image having red color values will be impressed upon the film at 1, while a green image will be taken at 2. The shutter now turns so that one of its dark portions will obscure both lenses, and the film will then travel just one picture-distance and come to a stop, whereupon the color apertures, K, and L, will come opposite the lenses E and D, respectively. Image-area 2, will have traveled to the place behind the lens E, previously occupied by image-area 1, and will be exposed to the new scene, but through a similar green color-filter, while image-area 3, is getting its first exposure through the red filter L. Then the image, 3, will likewise advance one step and get another red exposure through the filter J, which will at that time have returned to the position first described. Hence alternate images record different color values, just as if one lens were used, but each area is exposed twice, once through the upper lens D, and again through lower lens E. Images 1, 3, 5, etc., will represent red color values, and images 2, 4, 6, etc., will represent green color values.

The positive print X, Fig. 4, is a record of a fly-wheel having one spoke with a narrow white stripe painted lengthwise upon it,

Subjected to accurate tests at every point in its manufacture never has an opportunity to be anything but right.

EASTMAN FILM

Identifiable by the words "Eastman" and "Kodak" in the film margin.

EASTMAN KODAK CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Great News

EVANS' DEVELOPING and PRINTING has kept pace with the rapid strides of the producer towards film perfection.

Now, more than ever, competition demands that you have the best of service—EVANS SERVICE, of course.

EVANS FILM MFG. CO.
416-24 West 216th Street New York City
Telephone: St. Nicholas 3443-44

Pathe Lenses
for sale

French made. 150 in the lot. 1 inch to 5 inches focal length. These are lenses.

Small Motors
50 new high-speed Dumore motors. 1/20th H.P.

Film
Good Pathe, Biograph, Thanhouser, Kalem subjects on non-flam stock. Condition varies. ½-reel to 5-reel subjects. These can be had at less than present price of raw stock.
For further particulars, address Box 57, Motion Picture News.

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

No. 4 PHOTO CINES OUTFIT
Never successfully equalled at the exceptional pre-war price of $250.00 Complete

CAMERA-TRIPOD-2 in. F-3-5 B & L-Tessar Lens a fully equipped M. P. outfit especially adapted to topical work.

Send for Descriptive Catalogue

PRINTERS We have them right in stock—ready for delivery—models of approved type, at very reasonable prices.

Send for Our Catalogue of M. P. Apparatus

G. GENNERT, 24 East 13th Street, New York City
Chicago Los Angeles

COMMERCIAL LABORATORY WORK

In all its branches, receives INDIVIDUAL attention. Has the QUALITY and PUNCH which SELL prints.

RELEASE WORK

Specially equipped for QUANTITY production. Uniform SUPERIOR QUALITY such as only EXPERTS with scientific supervision can produce.

SPECIALTIES

If you have work requiring EXPERT SCIENTIFIC knowledge, we are BEST qualified to do it.

Empire City Film Lab., Inc
345 West 40th St., New York City
Bryant 5437 Bet. 8th & 9th Aves.

"NEWMAN" BRASS FRAMES AND RAILS
Read What Josiah Pearce & Sons Say About Our Goods

Gentlemen:
Now that you have completed equipment in our new theatres here in New Orleans and Houston, Texas, we want to take this means of expressing to you our appreciation of the manner in which we have done business with you, also as to the character of your goods. You have, without exception, filled our orders just as promptly as we could ever expect and probably quicker than we had anticipated, and the fact of your having supplied us with brass frames and various other equipment in our fifteen theatres is evidence that we are pleased with your goods, for they are the most attractive, durable and practical that we have as yet found.
We wish you good luck in the prosecution of your work.
Yours very truly,
JOSIAH PEARCE & SONS,
J. E. PEARCE. New Orleans, La.

The Newman Mfg. Co.
Write for our Latest Catalogue
717-19 Sycamore Street, Cincinnati, Ohio
68 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois
Canadian Representative—J. T. Malone. Rialto Theatre Bldg. Montreal, Canada
Pacific Coast—G. A. Metcalfe, San Francisco, Cal

Established 1882
Frames, Easels, Rails, Grilles, Signs Choppers, Kick Plates, Door Bars
We manufacture the frames in various finishes which do not require polishing.

Theatre and Exchange Mailing List Service

We rent lists of or address contemplated or existing theatres, exchanges, state rights owners, publicity mediums and producers, selected as to territory, class, etc. Twenty thousand changes were recorded in our list last year. Its use means a saving to you of from 30 to 50% in postage, etc.
MOTION PICTURE DIRECTORY CO. N 182
80 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK Phone, 3227 Chelsea
Addressing Multigraphing Printing Typewriting

with hub and rim also white but otherwise black, and revolving at the rate of 120 revolutions per minute while the exposures are made at the rate of 16 per second. Thus four pictures are taken while the wheel turns half-way around.

Image 2, shows two blurred positions of the stripe, which will be less than half as bright as the rim and hub, but all will represent green color values. The rim and hub apparently stood still while the spoke advanced one-eighth of the way around between the two exposures.

Image 3, taken twice through the red filters, shows one spoke position the same as image 2, but of course the color values are red instead of green. Similarly, image 4 shows one of its spoke positions the same as image 3, but in green color values, and so on throughout the length of the film.

Now, if we project images 2 and 3, through two lenses, arranged similarly to those of the camera, so that their projected images will be superimposed upon a screen, the result will be a blended picture, like the one marked 2 + 3 in Y, Fig. 5. The rim and hub would be whitish, or so-called "two-color white," which for brevity we shall call white, and the middle position of the stripe will be white also, but of its two additional appearances one will be red and the other green. This is simply because the middle appearance is caused by the blending of those positions of the stripe which were similar in images 2, and 3, whereas the other positions, having no corresponding representation, are projected in a single color. This mode of projection apparently introduces an undue amount of fringe, there being a triple representation of fast-moving objects, but the advantages are revealed when the images are advanced in rapid succession. It is then seen that neither a single image nor two successive images comprise the actual effect on the spectators. It is rather the blend of from three to five images that constitute the picture, for persistence of vision not only establishes continuity, as from one image to another, but carries over in lesser degree to several images. The result of this, together with the overlapping of certain positions of the fast moving foreground of each image upon the similar but differently colored parts of preceding or succeeding images, is that the fringes are not of the relatively harsh primary colors, but are more nearly a neutral gray (assuming the color of the part to be white), and therefore have the same general effect on the spectators that the black and white pictures do when projected in the usual way.

Of course no pleasing picture would result from photographing the flywheel device chosen for illustration, but in practice the whole of each spoke would be the same color, and the overlappings would cause a neutral gray blur all the way around.

In Fig. 6 Z represents roughly the screen appearance of the revolving flywheel photographed and printed as above, and projected at the rate of 16 images per second through a twin lens projector. The light shading of the spokes is intended to indicate that the alternate appearances are light red and light green, instead of the full colors which would appear if the negative images had only had single exposures to the respective colors. The latter condition is shown in M, Fig. 7, which fairly represents the effect on the spectators when viewing either a single lens or a twin lens projection of images taken at the rate of 16 per second, in two colors, and with a single lens on the camera.

N, Fig. 8, shows the effect when the negatives were made with a single lens camera speeded up to 32 images per second. Practically the same effect would obtain whether the projecting machine had one or two lenses. In this case it will be noted that there are eight appearances of the spoke, of which four alternate ones are red and the others green. In fact this is just what would be observed if a so-called Kinemacolor camera were employed to photograph such a flywheel, and the effect, so far as the spoke is concerned, will not improve by putting twin lenses on the projector, although the still parts of the scene, represented here by the rim and hub, would then lack the "color flicker" common to all single lens color projections.

(Continued on page 2238)

"WE NEVER DISAPPOINT"
TELEPHONE BRYANT 5576
CROMLOW FILM LABORATORIES
INCORPORATED
220 WEST 42ND STREET
NEW YORK
ALLAN A. LOWNES
GEN. MGR.

Cue Sheets Latest Hits | Music | Musical Equipment

'Frisco Attends to the Music for Motion Pictures

WITH the engagement of Herman Heller, noted violinist and symphony director, to conduct the large orchestra at the California theatre, with Conductor Lawrence in charge of the similar organization at the Rialto theatre, with Gino Severi's fine orchestra at the Imperial, with Strachan heading the corps of musicians at the New Fillmore, and with other houses showing a tendency to add symphony programs to the organ music, it looks as though the musical attractions would be made a powerful drawing card in connection with the pictures in San Francisco.

Mr. Heller, who took charge of the orchestra of twenty-five pieces in San Francisco's largest and finest theatre on September 8, has long been popular in the directorship of the orchestra at the Palace Hotel, and previous to his engagement at the latter place he was for several years in similar capacity at the St. Francis. He is a composer of distinction, as well as a violinist and conductor.

Music in the legitimate theatres has become of less importance than it formerly was, and the Columbia, one of the two leading houses, has done away with the orchestra altogether.

Now the Musicians' Union is putting forth a demand for higher salaries to the musicians employed in the motion picture theatres, the demand being made at a time when these theatres are generally establishing orchestras, it being understood that the Tivoli, the Strand and others will follow the example of the houses already mentioned, and the big San Francisco Symphony Orchestra of eighty pieces is about to be revived. It was on account of similar demands, and more particularly on account of demands relating to the minimum size of the orchestra to be employed, that the Columbia orchestra pit became as silent as the film scenes of a grand opera; but the need of musicians is large, with many of them gone into the army service, and so the salaries are being boosted beyond what the film managers think a reasonable schedule and beyond the rates they can afford to pay.

Curiously enough, the cause of the motion picture theatres in this matter is being championed by the Pacific Coast Musical Review, the one newspaper in San Francisco devoted to musical matters. This paper contends that the musicians are being paid enough already and that the demands made by its organized fraternity upon the movie houses are unjust and unreasonable.

No definite conclusion has been arrived at in regard to the salaries of the musicians, but the theatre owners declare that they will not submit to anything unfair and that if necessary they will get along, as formerly, with organs alone.

In addition to the instrumentalists, the theatres are employing large numbers of singers.

Orchestra and Stage Setting of the California Theatre, in San Francisco. Music is a Great Factor in the Success of This New Theatre

Real Patriotic Novelties

IT is a customary rule for musicians when accompanying weeklies to play the typical national anthem of the country whose military activities are being displayed on the screen. In other words, when the French Chasseurs appear, the "Marseillaise" is immediately performed; when the English Tommies are flashed on the screen, the "British Grenadiers" is at once played, or if our brave American Sammies march proudly before our eyes, without hesitation, the orchestra takes up the strains of "Dixie" or "The Girl I Left Behind Me." Although the object of the musicians is to create an appropriate atmosphere, nevertheless, there is not sufficient time to complete these different patriotic pieces, and thus a great amount of confusion is caused by the audience rising, some hesitatingly, others confidently and then being suddenly forced to seat themselves again, thereby losing the trend of the picture and disturbing their neighbors.

All this disturbance and excitement can easily be avoided by orchestra leaders using a little discretion in their selection of patriotic marches. The most suitable music would be marches which contain merely a strain of the different typical patriotic airs of the country and upon searching through the different publishers' catalogues have found only four such original novelties. They are herewith enumerated.

"Fighting Tommies" is an English march in which there has been embodied such melodies as Rule Britannia, British Grenadiers and the patriotic song from "Pinafore."

"Aces High" is a typical American national march, dedicated to the American ace and ably portraying the whirr of the motors, as those wizards of the air fly daringly upward.

"Blue Devils" is a typical French march with the Marseillaise as a bridge in the trio. Another surprise of the trio is that it possesses a counterpoint throughout.

"Over the Top Boys" is an American march consisting of a very clever combination of American melodies, the introduction being a very effective bugle call.

Since these very interesting patriotic novelties are at the disposal of orchestra leaders, they should certainly avail themselves of their use, and there need no longer be any necessity for disjointed snatches of patriotic anthems being performed.

Review of Latest Compositions

1—"There's a Light in Your Eyes"—from Klaw & Erlanger's phenomenal Broadway success, "The Girl Behind the Gun." Music by Ivan Caryll. (Chappell's, 41 East 34th Street, New York.)

2—"L'Oracolo" (The Oracle)—acclaimed by New York critics as one of the most beautiful melodies of the operas performed at the Metropolitan Opera House. "L'Oracolo," by Franco Leoni, is assured a prominent place in the regular repertoire of this famous opera house. (Chappell's.)

3—"Kisses," Valse D'Amour, by Zamecnik. The melodious waltz success. It's that melody, boys! It gets them! That haunting, lingering melody. They all go wild over "Kisses" and encore it again and again. The waltz sensation of the day. (Sam Fox. Pub. Co., Cleveland, Ohio.)

4—"Sabre and Spurs"—march of the American Cavalry, by Lieut. John Philip Sousa. Every audience wants to hear

Sousa's latest march, and every up-to-the-minute leader should have Sousa's latest in his library. (Sam Fox Pub. Co.)

5—"Sweet Memories"—a great new waltz by the well-known writer, Chas. L. Johnson. (Forst Music Pub., Inc., 736 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.)

6—"When You Come Back, and You Will Come Back, There's the Whole World Waiting for You," by Geo. M. Cohan, the Yankee Doodle Boy. The song sensation of the hour. Play it—sing it—whistle it—and help win the war. (Carl Fischer, Cooper Square, New York.)

7—"Kentucky Dream"—a new instrumental novelty. It would be folly to tell you how great this composition is or that it is the biggest waltz hit ever written. It couldn't be a hit—yet— it is just making its debut. So all we say is—send for a copy, play it—play it again—then you and your patrons will render the verdict. (Jos. W. Stern & Co., 101 West 38th Street, New York.)

8—"Kathleen" might be aptly described as a surprise waltz. The first movement is marked molto lento and is constructed similar to the recognized form of French waltzes. There is a pleasant surprise which occurs in the second movement and the trio from which the composition derives its name. The counterpoint in the opening movement is of considerable interest to musicians. Played in straight tempo, it is an excellent dancing waltz and, with the markings noted, an entertaining concert number. (Belwin, Inc., 701 Seventh Avenue, New York.)

9—"Capricious Annett"—It is a capricious, winsome, gavotte, intermezzo, composed and orchestrated by that well-known musician, Gaston Borch, and is adaptable for any combination of musicians from violin and piano to grand orchestra. (S. M. Berg, Columbia Theatre Building, New York.)

10—"Sleeping Rose"—a languid walk in a beautiful garden at the end of a hot summer's day with the refreshing fragrance of the roses permeating the air, their sweetness filling the senses with delight, as their soft petals droop off to rest, is the atmosphere conveyed by this languorous valse lento composed and orchestrated by Gaston Borch to meet the requirements of all instrumental combinations. (Belwin, Inc.)

11—"Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning"—one-step. Irving Berlin's bugle song that has surpassed all his former hits. (Waterson, Berlin & Snyder, Strand Theatre Building, New York.)

12—"While the Incense Is Burning"—the Oriental fox trot hit of the year. A beautiful melody that is sweeping the country. (Sherman, Clay & Co., San Francisco, Cal.)

13—"Mendelssohn Melodies"—selection by Chas. J. Roberts. A splendidly arranged selection of the best liked songs by Mendelssohn. An unusually interesting number for your program. (Carl Fischer.)

14—"Love in April"—a love song by Christian Kriens. The writings of Christiaan Kriens need no introduction, and this, one of his very best numbers, is a great favorite. Add it to your library. (Carl Fischer.)

15—"The Library Boys' March"—martial, specially bright and stirring; full of ginger, vim, snap and swing. (E. T. Paull Music Co., 244 West 42nd Street, New York.)

LATEST MUSIC CUES

"BY THE WORLD FORGOT"

(Vitagraph-Nova-Glendon)

Specially selected and compiled by M. Winkler.

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes to a reel (one thousand feet).

Theme: "Love Song Orientale" (Characteristic Moderato) by Kiefert

1—"Nocturne" (Pathetique), by Chopin (1 minute 15 seconds), until at screening.

2—"L'ermite" (Moderato Meditation), by Gruenwald (2 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "And while Derrick, the new."

3—"Myriad Dancer" (Valse Ballet), by Aleen (1 minute 30 seconds), until T: "And then the bridegroom."

4—"Little Coquette" (Morceau Characteristic), by Flath (3 minutes), until T: "To this strange situation."

5—"Impish Elves" (Winsome Intermezzo), by Borch (1 minute), until T: "And Derrick Van Beekman's."

(Continued in next column)

(Continued from preceding column)

6—"Rondo" (Excerpts Beethoven Sonata Pathetique), by Berge (30 seconds), until S: When Beekman enters taxi (automobile effects).

7—"Dramatic Narrative," by Pement (1 minute 30 seconds), until T: "The Van Beekman-Maynard."

8—"Sinister Theme," by Vely (2 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "Shanghaied" (wave effects).

9—"Galop" (Characteristic), by Minot (2 minutes), until T: "Get up from there and get."

10—"Tendre Amour" (Serenade), by Clements (1 minute 45 seconds), until T: "While back in the home from."

11—"Serenade" (Moderato), by Pierne (2 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "My name's not Smith."

12—"Storm Furioso" (Descriptive), by Minot (2 minutes), until T: "A fateful night" (wave effects).

13—"Dramatic Tension No. 9," by Andino (1 minute 30 seconds), until T: "After a fruitless attempt" (glass crash).

14—"Misterioso Dramatico," by Borch (3 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "In the middle of the following" (wave effects).

15—"Andante Dramatico No. 62, by Borch (1 minute 30 seconds), until T: "News like the crack of doom."

16—"Love Song Orientale" (Characteristic Moderato Theme), by Kiefert (2 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "While on the rock of a tiny."

17—"Chirpers" (Morceau Characteristic), by Frank (3 minutes), until S: When Truda gives Beekman shoe.

18—"March Bizarre," by Simon (1 minute 15 seconds), until T: "The chieftain of the tribe."

19—Theme (3 minutes), until T: "In the hour of talk that."

20—"Herd Girl's Dream (Idyll), by Labitzky (1 minute), until T: "The survivors of the ill."

21—"Patrol Orientale" (Characteristic), by Kiefert (2 minutes), until S: On the island.

22—Theme (3 minutes), until T: "With each day grows more."

23—"To a Star" (Romance), by Leonard (1 minute), until S: As scene fades to ship.

24—Gruesome Misterioso," by Borch (2 minutes 15 seconds), until S: When Beekman leaves tent.

25—"Dramatic Tension No. 36," by Andino (1 minute 15 seconds), until T: "The log book of the Dutch."

26—"Dramatic Agitato No. 38," by Minot (2 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "While at dawn the yacht."

27—Theme (45 seconds), until T: "This is my man I go with."

28—"Allegro Agitato No. 8," by Andino (1 minute 45 seconds), until T: "And the tribe true to its."

29—Theme (1 minute 15 seconds), until T: "All day save when they" (wave effects).

30—"Vivo Finale" (Symphonette Suite), by Berge (2 minutes 30 seconds), until S: When Beekman sees ship's party.

31—Theme (1 minute), until T: "The realization that only."

UNTIL THE END

The Featherstone Color Process

(Continued from page 2236)

The screen appearances in Fig. 5 (2 + 3 and 3 + 4) show in the middle a substantially white spoke with a red spoke on one side and a green spoke on the other. The dilution of these harsh colors into an inoffensive tint (Fig. 6) is not caused by their overlapping spatially, but rather by their overlapping temporally, due to persistence of vision, and since a red is followed (temporally) by a white, and this in turn by a green, all three of which appearances are co-extensive spatially, and impress the eye within the fifth part of a second, the actual impression in the mind of the observer at any given instant is that of a light yellowish green spoke followed and preceded by spokes of a pinkish cream tint. In other words, the screen would, reveal a series of spokes, alternately tinted as in Fig. 6.

The advantages, then, of a twin-lens camera for two-color cinematography, and three-lenses for three color work, are first, the substantial elimination of the startling color fringes which are unavoidable where one lens only is used. Second, each area of the negative is impressed from both lens positions, giving a roundness and partial relief to the projections. Third, each image-area receives a double exposure, thus making it possible to give the necessary time to scenes which are insufficiently illuminated.

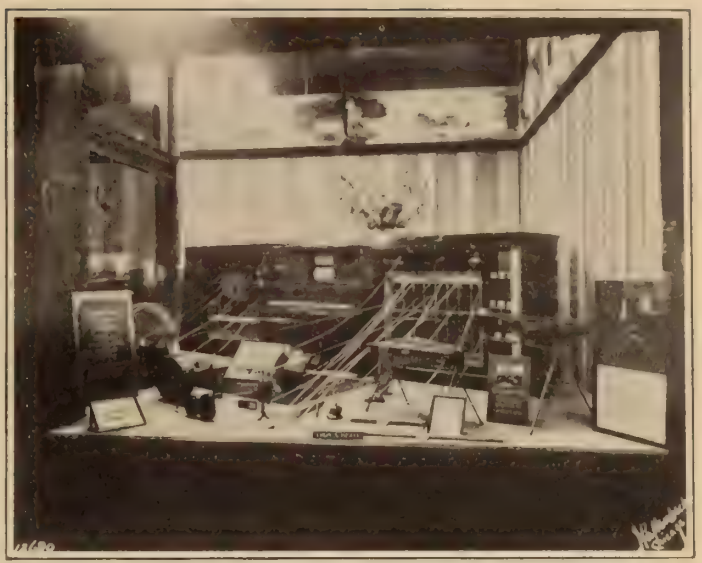
Means for adjusting the lenses to correspond with the distances of the principal planes of the scene, and for simultaneously adjusting the separation of the lenses and their foci, are not shown, as they are well known to those skilled in the art. It is possible to dispense with separate color filters by using colored celluloid as a base for the panchromatic emulsion, and turning the celluloid side toward the lenses, in which case the shutter simply occults and exposes. Hence the invention is not limited to means including any particular type of color filter, or shutter, or picture-surface or camera.

Complete Plan Book Begins on page 2243

"THE ROAD TO FRANCE"

(World-Blackwell-Greeley)

Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler



The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

Theme A: "Babillage" (Characteristic Andante Moderato), Castillo

Theme B: "The Slimy Viper" (Mysterious Plotting Characteristic), Borch

1—"Over the Top, Boys" (Characteristic American March), by Berg (3 minutes and 15 seconds)—At screening.
2—"The Bowery" (Direct Cue) (Old Time New York Song) (1 minute), until—T: "And thus was inspired our—."
3—Theme A (4 minutes), until—T: "The last road, the hope—lost."
4—"Sail, Baby, Sail" (Direct Cue) (Nursery Song) (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "He's a foine lad."
5—"Pierrot-Serenade" (Allegretto Molto Moderato), by Randegger (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "Sure ye can be nearly as."
6—Theme A (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "Resurgent memory whispering—."
7—"Daffodils" (Andante Moderato), by Carvel (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—T: "The promise."
8—"A La Mode" (Popular One-Step), by Rosey (3 minutes), until—T: "The last time."
9—"Dramatic Tension," by Levy (3 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "In the morning."
10—"Sleepy Hollow" (Idyll Andante Moderato), by Allen (1 minuate 45 seconds), until T: "Get away from the water."
11—"Over There" (American Characteristic), by Cohan (1 minute 30 seconds), until—T: "I gotta boy over there" (marching soldiers).
12—"Aces High" (American patriotic march), by Roberts (2 minutes 30 seconds), until T: "From out a waste along."
13—Theme A (3 minutes 45 seconds), until T: "John Bemis, master of the—"
14—Theme B (1 minute 15 seconds), until T: "The enemy within."
15—"Venetian Love Dance (Moderato Rubato), by Rich (1 minute), until S: "At the shipyard."
16—Theme B (3 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "Hector Winter a recent—"
17—Theme A (1 minute 45 seconds), until T: "The new foreman."
18—"Hunkatin" (Half-Tone One-Step), by Levy (2 minutes 45 seconds), until S: Series of shipbuilding scenes.
19—"Rondo" (Excerpts Beethoven Sonata Pathetique), by Berge (45 seconds), until T: "Poison propaganda."
20—"Cupid's Frolic" (Moderato Intermezzo), by Miles (3 minutes 30 seconds), until S: As scene fades to Helen.
21—Theme B (2 minutes), until T: "And by the end of the week."
22—"Vivo Finale" (Symphonette Suite), by Berge (3 minutes), until T: "Don't crack no cribs."
23—"Military Tactics" (Military Two-Step), by Rosey (1 minute), until T: "This is no time for slacker."
24—"Agitato No. 49," by Shepherd (1 minute 45 seconds), until T: "And there's the daughter."
25—There A (1 minute 45 seconds), until T: "After working hours."
26—"Turbulence" (Allegro Agitato), by Borch (3 minutes, 15 seconds), until T: "More poison."
27—"Vanity Caprice" (Allegro Ma Non Troppo), by Jackson (1 minute), until T: "Mr. William C. Hudson."
28—There A (3 minutes 15 seconds), until T: "The following day."
29—"Dramatic Recitative," by Levy (1 minute), until T: "How dare you come into."
30—"Yester-Love" (Andantino Intermezzo), by Borch (2 minutes), until T: "The Chief of Police."
31—Theme A (2 minutes), until S: When scene fades to Tom.
32—"Sweet Bells" (Allegretto Intermezzo), by Gruenwald (2 minutes), until T: "All I ask now is that."
33—"Dramatic Agitato No. 43," by Borch (2 minutes), until T: "Well, there's another way" (telephone bell).
34—"Misterioso Dramatic No. 22," by Borch (1 minute 15 seconds), until T: "We'll plant it on him."
35—"Misterioso Agitato No. 66," by Smith (1 minute 45 seconds), until S: When butler telephones.
36—"Melody in F" (Andante Moderato), by Rubinstein (4 minutes), until T: "Some days later."
37—"Misteriso No. 29," by Andino (2 minutes), until T: "What the moon saw."
38—"Gruesome Misterioso," by Borch (1 minute 30 seconds), until T: "So you croaked this guy."
39—"Dramatic Tension No. 36," by Andino (2 minutes), until T: "I might tell the truth if."
40—"Perpetual Motion" (Allegro Agitato), by Borch (1 minute 30 seconds), until S: "When Burns hears the police."
41—"Hurry No. 33," by Minot (3 minutes), until T: "Hurry for Winter."
42—"Furioso No. 11," by Kiefert (45 seconds), until T: "It was German money" (shot).
43—"Andante Pathetique," by Berge (45 seconds), until S: When Mollie confesses.
44—Theme A (1 minute 30 seconds), until T: Making good."
45—"Stars and Stripes" (patriotic march), by Sousa (3 minutes), until T: "For God and Humanity" (water effects).
46—"Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" (1 minute), until T: "The road to France."
47—"Star Spangled Banner" (1 minute), until S: American flag.

UNTIL THE END

Display of Fotoplayer, Style No. 40, in Lyon and Healy's Main Window, Chicago, the First Week in September. It Gained Considerable Attention and Drew Big Crowds

Fotoplayer Attracts Much Attention

The main window of Lyon and Healy's, at the corner of Wabash avenue and Jackson boulevard, Chicago, was devoted the first week in September to the display of the Fotoplayer.

The unique manner in which this instrument was displayed attracted unusual crowds. Attention was called to the instrumentation of the instrument by ribbons running to the different instruments that the Fotoplayer reproduces.

Almost every fan has heard the Fotoplayer but few have seen it as it is usually placed in the pit of a picture theatre and this is the first time that the Fotoplayer has been displayed so prominently to the public.

"OUR MRS. McCHESNEY"

(Metro—Ethel Barrymore)

Specially Selected and Compiled by W. Winkler

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes per reel (1,000 feet).

Theme: "Jealous Moon" (Bright Characteristic Intermezzo), by Zamecnik

1—"Valse Moderne" (Characteristic Valse), by Rosey (3 minutes and 30 seconds), at screening (telephone-bell).
2—"Babillage" (Allegretto Intermezzo), by Castillo (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Did you see anything of my."
3—"Looking 'Em Over" (Popular One-Step), by Rolfe (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "I hear you have a great."
4—"Military Tactics" (Characteristic Allegro Moderato), by Rosey (3 minutes), until—T: "Well, keep on travelling."
5—"Jealous Moon" (Bright Characteristic Intermezzo) (Theme) (3 minutes), until—T: "Mrs. McChesney" (telephone-bell).
6—"Impish Elves" (Winsome Intermezzo), by Borch (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "Joe Greenbaum, the proprietor."
7—"Knock-Knees" (Popular One-Step), by Cobb (1 minute and 45 seconds), until—T: "Abel Fromkin, owner of the—."
8—Theme (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "Your headquarters shall be."
9—"Andante Dramatic No. 15," by Herbert (3 minutes), until—T: "Not worrying are you?"
10—"Capricious Annette" (Moderato Caprice), by Borch (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "Well, I'm back for my answer."
11—"Valse Divine" (Bright Valse Moderato), by Rosey (3 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "A council of war."
12—"Step Lively" (Characteristic Two-Step), by Allen (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "I've come to renew my offer."
13—"Kathleen" (Valse Lento), by Berg (3 minutes), until—T: "How did the skirt go?"
14—Theme (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "Myrtle, I want you to wear" (telephone-bell).
15—"Hunkatin" (Half-Tone One-Step), by Levy (3 minutes), until—T: "Just a difference of opinion."

(Continued on next page)

THE BARTOLA

WILL TAKE THE PLACE OF YOUR ORCHESTRA, GIVES YOU MORE MUSIC, COSTS LESS—WRITE FOR CATALOG

CHAS. C. PYLE, General Sales Agent, 707-712 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Factory, Oshkosh, Wis.

MUSIC CUE SHEETS

Special Releases

¶ Prepared under the personal supervision of our Music Editor can be secured through our Service Department by sending ten cents for each cue sheet to cover the cost of postage and typeing. Remember it takes time to get these cue sheets to you—don't wait till the last minute to write us.

Alimony
All Woman
A Nymph of the Foothills
A Woman of Impulse
At the Mercy of Men
Back in the Woods
Blindness of Divorce
Babbling Tongues
Blue Blood
Boston Blackie's Little Pal
By the World Forgot
The Beloved Traitor
The Belgian
Carmen of the Klondike
Cecilia of the Pink Roses
Clutch of Circumstances
The Changing Woman
The Claw
The Danger Mark
The Death Dance
Deemster (The)
DeLuxe Annie
The Co-Respondent
The Conqueror
The Call of Her People
The Crucible of Life
The Danger Game
A Daughter of the Gods
The Devil Stone
The Fair Pretender
The Face in the Dark
Flower of the Dusk
Forbidden Path
For the Freedom of the World
The Flame of Yukon
A Gentleman's Agreement
The Glorious Adventure
The Grain of Dust
The Great White Trail
The Garden of Allah
The Heart of the Sunset
Her Final Reckoning
The House of Glass
The House of Mirth
Her Only Way
How Could you Jean?
The Heart of a Lion
Her Fighting Chance
In Again Out Again
In Judgment Of
Inside the Lines
Joan of Plattsburg
Joan the Woman
Just a Woman
Jack and the Beanstalk
Lest We Forget
Legion of Death
Les Miserables
The Lost Chord
Money Mad
My Own United States
Madame Du Barry
The Marionettes
The Million Dollar Dollies
Nine Tenths of the Law
The Narrow Trail
Ordeal of Rosetta
Over There
On Trial
One Hour
One Law for Both
Peck's Bad Girl
Price of a Good Time
Revelation
The Reason Why
The Road to France
Rough and Ready
Rose of the World
The Rose of Blood
Redemption
The Submarine Eye
The Safety Curtain
The Savage Woman
The Service Star
Social Ambition
Stella Maris
The Splendid Sinner
A Successful Adventure
True Blue
Trail to Yesterday
Shirley Kaye
The Spy
The Studio Girl
The Silent Man
The Slacker
Thais
Those Who Pay
A Tale of Two Cities
The Tiger Woman
To-day
To Hell With the Kaiser
T'Other Dear Charmer
The Turn of the Wheel
The Venus Model
Woman and the Law
The Warrior
Wolves of the Trail
Woman and Wife
When a Man Sees Red
When Men Betray
The Whirlpool
Within the Law
Womanhood
The Zeppelin's Last Raid

¶ Cue Sheets for the following regular program releases can usually be obtained from the companies releasing the pictures. If these cannot be had we will be glad to cooperate in seeing that they are supplied to you.

Artcraft
Bluebird
Fox
Four Square
Goldwyn
Metro
Mutual
Paramount
Pathe
Select
Universal
U. S. Exhibitors
Vitagraph
W. H. Productions

The list of special releases is brought up to date every week. Watch the changes.

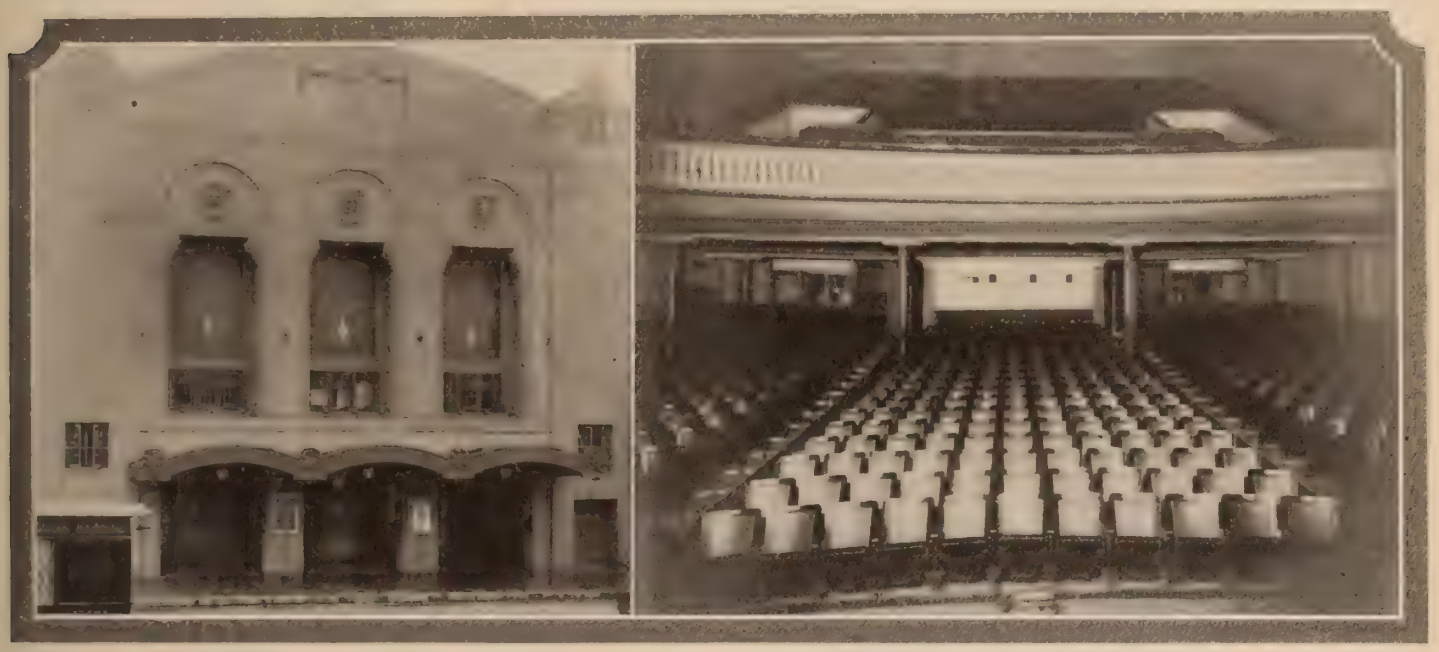
MUSIC CUES
Continued from Preceding Page

(Continued from page 2239)

16—"Rhinoceros Rag" (Characteristic), by Young (4 minutes), until—T: "I can stand seeing that."
17—"Dramatic Tension No. 67," by Shepherd (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "It started after her son."
18—Theme (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Mr. Buck and I were thinking."
19—"Pizzicato" (Petite Ballet), by Berge (3 minutes), until—T: "The fashion show" telephone-bell).
20—"Savannah" (Popular One-Step), by Rosey (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until S: When Jack enters.
21—Theme (2 minutes and 45 seconds), until—T: "Now I can realize the ambition"—until END.

"A WOMAN OF IMPULSE"

(Paramount-Cavalieri)



Specially Selected and Compiled by M. Winkler

The timing is based on a speed limit of 14 minutes to a reel (1,000 feet).

Theme: "Love Theme," by Abbott Lee

1—Silence (40 seconds)—At screening.
2—Theme (20 seconds), until—T: "As La Vecci.
3—"Prelude" from "Carmen," by Bizet (20 seconds), until—T: "As Carmen."
4—"Dance of the Hours" from "Gioconda," by Ponchielli (20 seconds), until—T: "As Gioconda."
5—"Spanish Moderato," by Redla (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—T: "Father Giovanni of."
6—"La Paloma" (Spanish Serenade), by Yradier (25 seconds), until—S: Girl playing guitar.
7—Repeat: "Spanish Moderato," by Redla (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—T: "Signora Stuart."
8—"Last Spring" (Dramatic), by Grieg (1 minute and 50 seconds), until—T: "But the feeble flame."
T: "Since Leonore would not."
9—"A La Mode" (French One-Step), by Rosey (1 minute and 20 seconds), until—T: "Elenora now known as La Vecci."
T: "The overture call."
10—Continue ppp (50 seconds), until—T: "I wore it at my debut."
11—Theme (pp) (3 minutes and 10 seconds), until—S: In theatre box.
T: "Tonight I shall sing."
T: "If I marry you."
12—"Habanera," from "Carmen," by Bizet (1 minute and 40 seconds), until—S: On stage.
13—"March," from "Carmen," by Bizet (45 seconds), until—S: Audience leaving theatre.
14—Continue pp (20 seconds), until—S: In box.
15—"Gipsy Dance," from "Carmen," by Bizet (1 minute and 30 seconds), until—S: On stage.
16—Silence (25 seconds), until—S: Audience applauding.
17—"Impish Elves" (Winsome Intermezzo), by Borch (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "La Vecci's American contract."
18—Theme (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "I sail tomorrow."
T: "Don't wait, cousin."
T: "You will adore America."
19—"Dramatic Recitative," by Levy (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "Because I have only this moment."
T: "I was just telling him."
20—"Valse Divine," by George Rosey (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "The Gaudineer home."
21—"Valse Moderne," by Rosey (4 minutes and 5 seconds), until—T: "La Vecci, now the Countess."
T: "No flirting."
T: "It's a doctor's duty."
22—"Sunny South" (Selection on Southern Melodies), by Lampe (2 minutes and 15 seconds), until—T: "In Louisiana."
T: "And I suppose we shall."
23—Continue to action (3 minutes and 25 seconds), until—T: "The persistent doctor."
T: "Thank God you would never."
24—"Southern Characteristic Serenade" (1 minute and 50 seconds), until—T: "The glamour of the golden."
25—"Appassionato," by Borch (1 minute and 20 seconds), until—T: "The little Bud has."
..T: "You know it was."
26—Theme (3 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "I am sorry for you."
T: "Philip is going to show me."
27—"May Dress" (Romance Moderato), by Borch (4 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "We are at the Gaudineer."
T: "Such a daring costume."
28—"Tragic Theme," by Vely (3 minutes and 10 seconds), until—T: "I came to get a wrap."
T: "See what is wrong."
29—"Sorrow Theme," by Roberts (3 minutes and 40 seconds), until—T: "The accusation."
T: "Doctor Paul Spencer."
30—"Cavatine" (Dramatic), by Bohm (2 minutes and 30 seconds), until—T: "If no doctor has arrived."
T: "Please send for the family."
31—Continue ff (1 minute and 15 seconds), until—T: "She speaks truly."
32—Theme ff (40 seconds), until—T: "Another honeymoon"—Until the END.

Theatres Worth While

Exterior and auditorium view of the Rialto, Bremerton, Wash.

New Oregon Theatre Proves Success

OPENED on February 1 of this year, the Rialto theatre of Bremerton, Wash., has scored a success from the first day. The Puget Sound Navy Yard is located at Bremerton and the war activities have had a great deal to do with the business that has come to the new house.

The theatre, which is owned by the Osran Amusement Company, occupies a ground space 60 by 100 feet at the corner of Second avenue and Pacific street. It seats 1,000. The building is constructed of interlocking tile and concrete, being thoroughly fireproof.

Cove lighting plan is followed and the lights of the whole theatre are arranged with dimmers. Two Simplex machines are used for a throw of 63 feet to a Minusa screen. The projection room is also equipped with dissolving stereo, spotlight and white light converter.

The main auditorium is decorated in blue and old ivory, high lighted in red while the tapestries are in venetian red.

Madison Strand Opens for Business

MADISON'S new $200,000 moving picture theatre, the Strand, opened for business Sept. 23 and can be classed as one of the handsomest and most comfortable amusement houses exclusively for pictures in the state.

The building which is of reiforced concrete is fireproof and has a seating capacity of 1,500 all on one floor. The auditorium is 124 feet long by 80 wide and is unbroken by a single post. Entrance from the street is through a lobby 20 feet wide and 124 feet long, this being formerly used by the old Strand, a 5-cent picture house. No advertising matter is to appear in this lobby or in the auditorium, the bills for current attractions being displayed in attractive frames in front of the theatre.

The interior of the auditorium is exclusive in design, and is patterned after the Robert James Adam period of almost a century ago. The Staunton company of Chicago artists have carried out a color scheme of French grey, lavender and royal purple. The stenciled walls are in cameo effect and medalions in relief. The seats are also finished in grey with leather upholstery of a darker shade.

An attractive feature of the new theatre is the big pipe organ built and installed by the Rudolph Wurlitzer company of Chicago. It will be operated by Mrs. Lynn, a skilled organist from Chicago, and may be used exclusively for music in the house in place of an orchestra.

Over 500 lights, all of which are of special design, have been installed by the Victor S. Pearlman company of Chicago at a cost of over $3,000. In the center of the ceiling is a monster candelabra effect light.

The heating and ventilating system is the latest in use in the best houses of the country. By means of a vertical shaft, 6 feet square, cold air is drawn from above the roof, is filtered, pumped through heated coils and forced into the auditorium through 4-foot tunnels, entering the auditorium through the floor. It is possible by this system to have an entire change of air in 17 seconds. Normally the air will be changed about every three minutes.

As far as safety is concerned the theatre can be emptied through its fourteen exits in two minutes if necessary.

It will be the policy of the management to show only such pictures as may be viewed without any objection to women and children. The Paramount and Artcraft releases exclusively will be shown and three shows daily will be given, one in the afternoon and two in the evening. The same prices will rule for all attractions, 7 cents for adults and 11 cents for children. Programs will usually be changed every two or three days and press showings will be given at 10 a. m. on days when the pictures are changed.

The opening program was Bryant Washburn, Florence Vidor, in "Till I Come Back to You." In addition a Mark Sennett comedy was shown, "Two Tough Tenderfeet."

The roof of the Strand bears the largest electric sign in the city. It has two fronts and stands thirty feet high, while its message is flashed out by means of 2,500 incandescent lamps. It can be seen for several miles from the capitol square which the theatre faces.

The new Strand was built by Dr. W. W. Beecroft, of Madison, and has been leased for a term of years by the Marcus Heiman Amusement Company, of Chicago, lessees of the Orpheum and Fuller theatres in Madison and some tewnty amusement houses in Illinois and Wisconsin. A. P. Desarmeaux, of Chicago, who has been for twelve years in the moving picture field in various capacities, will be the resident manager.

UP-TO-DATE INDEX OF THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

Picture, Brand and Star.	Issue	Page
"Angel Child" (Plaza-Hodkinson) Kathleen Clifford	Sept. 7	1606
"Atom, The" (Triangle) Pauline Starke	Sept. 21	1920
"Beans" (Bluebird) Edith Roberts	Sept. 14	1756
"A Woman of Impulse" (Paramount)	Sept. 28	2089
"A Soul Without Windows" (World)	Sept. 28	2091
"A Society Sensation" (Bluebird)	Sept. 28	2092
"Brazen Beauty" (Bluebird) Priscilla Dean	Sept. 21	1914
"Burden of Proof, The" (Select) Marion Davies	Sept. 21	1919
"By Hook or Crook" (World) Carlyle Blackwell)	Sept. 14	1763
"By the World Forgot" (Vitagraph) Nova-Glendon	Sept. 21	1916
"Bonnie Annie Laurie" (Fox)	Sept. 28	2082
"Daughter Angele" (Triangle) Pauline Starke	Sept. 7	1603
"Fame and Fortune" (Fox-Victory) Tom Mix	Sept. 7	1593
"Flower of the Dusk" (Metro) Viola Dana	Sept. 7	1605
"Girl Who Came Back, The" (Paramount) Ethel Clayton	Sept. 7	1594
"Green God, The" (Vitagraph) Morey-Blythe	Sept. 7	1602
"He Comes Up Smiling" (Artcraft) Douglas Fairbanks	Sept. 21	1923
"Her Country First" (Paramount) Vivian Martin	Sept. 14	1762
"Hun Within, The" (Paramount) Dorothy Gish	Sept. 7	1599
"Italy's Flaming Front" (First National)	Sept. 7	1598
"Johanna Enlists" (Artcraft) Mary Pickford	Sept. 14	1754
"Japanese Nightingale, A" (Pathe) Fanny Ward	Sept. 7	1600
"Just for Tonight" (Goldwyn-Tom Moore)	Sept. 28	2088
"Kultur" (Fox-Victory) Gladys Brockwell	Sept. 14	1755
"Law of the North, The" (Paramount-Ince) Charles Ray	Sept. 21	1915
"Love's Law" (Mutual) Gail Kane	Sept. 7	1597
"Marriage Ring, The" (Paramount) Enid Bennett	Sept. 21	1922
"Modern Love" (Universal) Mae Murray	Sept. 14	1757
"Mystic Faces" (Triangle) Jack Abbe	Sept. 14	1760
"Mr. Logan, U. S. A." (Fox-Mix)	Sept. 28	2086
"Money Isn't Everything" (American)	Sept. 28	2090
"Nymph of the Foothills" (Vitagraph) Gladys Leslie	Sept. 14	1759
"Prisoners of the Pines" (Hampton-Hodkinson) J. Warren Kerrigan	Sept. 14	1761
"Prussian Cur, The" (Fox Special) Miriam Cooper	Sept. 7	1592
"Peck's Bad Girl" (Goldwyn-Normand)	Sept. 28	2083
"Queen of the Sea" (Fox Special) Annette Kellermann	Sept. 14	1752
"Riders of the Purple Sage" (Fox-Standard) William Farnum	Sept. 21	1913
"Sauce For the Goose" (Select) Constance Talmadge	Sept. 7	1595
"Secret Code, The" (Triangle) Barney Sherry	Sept. 14	1764
"Silent Woman, The" (Metro) Edith Storey	Sept. 14	1758
"Sporting Life" (Tourneur)	Sept. 28	2083
"Talk of the Town, The" (Universal) Dorothy Phillips	Sept. 21	1923
"That Devil Bateese" (Universal) Monroe Salisbury	Sept. 7	1607
"Till I Come Back to You" (Artcraft) All-Star	Sept. 7	1601
"T'other Dear Charmer" (World) Louise Huff	Sept. 7	1596
"To Him That Hath" (World) Montague Love	Sept. 21	1921
"Turn of the Wheel, The" (Goldwyn) Geraldine Farrar	Sept. 14	1753
"The Yellow Dog" (Jewel)	Sept. 28	2080
"The Better Half" (Select)	Sept. 28	2085
"The Girl of Today" (Vitagraph)	Sept. 28	2087
"Untamed" (Triangle) Roy Stewart	Sept. 7	1604
"Your Fighting Navy" (Educational)	Sept. 21	1912
"Why America Will Win" (Fox Special)	Sept. 21	1918

In This Issue:

"The Rainbow Trail" (Fox)	2244
"Laughing Bill Hyde" (Goldwyn)	2245
"Come On In" (Paramount)	2246
"Queen of Hearts" (Fox)	2247
"Pals First" (Screen Classics)	2248
"Out of a Clear Sky" (Paramount)	2249
"Kildare of Storm" (Metro)	2250
"Behind the Lines In Italy" (Kleine)	2251
"The Velvet Hand" (Universal)	2252
"Appearance of Evil" (World)	2253
"The Bells" (Pathe)	2254
"A Diplomatic Mission" (Vitagraph)	2255
"The Embarrassment of Riches" (Walker)	2256
"Vive La France" (Paramount)	2257
"The Temple of Dusk" (Haworth)	2259
"The Border Raiders" (Pathe)	2260

Everything the Showman Needs on Every Picture Released

The Complete Plan Book

Under the Direction of Peter Milne

Advance Reviews

[In addition to Advance Reviews—covering pictures shown too early to be included in The Complete Plan Book—readers will also find under this heading each week the reviews of short features and serial episodes.]

"Of No Use to Germany"

(American Red Cross—One Reel. Distributed by General Film Co.)

THIS is the third subject released by the Bureau of Pictures of the American Red Cross, releasing previously at two-week intervals but hereafter to release one each week for distribution through General Film Company. The first was "Fourth of July in France" and the second was "Soothing the Heart of Italy," graphically depicting the vast scope of wonderful work being accomplished by the American organization.

"Of No Use to Germany" shows the little French town of Evian-les-Bains, at the edge of Lake Geneva on the Swiss border, where the American Red Cross has installed a great hospital to care for the cast-off French and Belgian prisoners which Germany returns daily in long train loads. Women, children and cripples, after years of work for the Huns, are found of no use to Germany and the picture shows how they are cared for and how those who are able are put at useful and profitable occupation. The photography is clear and the details very interesting, although very pathetic in places. The fact that it is an official Red Cross picture will bring them into the theatre and the educational value of the film cannot be overestimated.—Tom Hamlin.

"Kiss or Kill"

With Herbert Rawlinson and Priscilla Dean

(Universal Special Attraction—Oct. 21. Directed by Elmer Clifton)

YOU know how well received crook pictures are, especially when they are produced intelligently, and are based on an interesting story. "Kiss or Kill" is a sure bet. In action of plot, physical movement and suspense, it is far better than "Come Through." The only element that the latter contains to a greater degree than the former, is heart interest, but it is not sufficient to offset the better merits of "Kiss or Kill."

The story concerns the hero, who is compelled to steal through force of circumstances. He meets the girl of his dream. She is an heiress, but ignorant of the fact, and about to become the victim of a dastardly scheme to deprive her of her fortune. The hero steals the will and delivers it to her. They marry in the end.

At no time you can guess what is going to happen ahead. This naturally creates suspense and holds your interest tense all the way through.

The picture is clean. You can go to the limit with it. It will entertain all picturegoers.—P. S. Harrison.

Additional Advance Reviews on page 2261

"Mantle of Charity," with Margarita Fischer

(American—Available at Pathe. Directed by Edward Sloman)

THIS is a pleasing farce. In other words, the story has been constructed with the idea, not to make you believe it, but simply to entertain you. That it accomplishes successfully.

The basic idea of the story is an innocent deception. The heroine, a young girl, carries a baby. The hero, a wealthy but bogus philanthropist, meets her on the train. He asks her if the baby is hers. She answers, yes. The second question is whether she is married. She looks at him in an indignant manner asking him what makes him think she is married. The baby is nothing less than a pet dog dressed as an infant.

She determines to fool the hero all the way through. In the end, the fact is disclosed to him, and they become engaged.

There is one situation toward the close of the picture that will make you double up from laugh. It has been several days since the picture was shown, and I can't help laughing when I think of it. Here it is. The hero and the heroine, engaged in philanthropic work, receive request for assistance from a poor woman. Her husband is a drunkard. He beats her, takes all her money away from her, finally putting her out of the house. They pity her, take her along, and go back to the house. A fight ensues between the hero and the villain. The latter is about to be put out of action, when the wife steps behind the hero, picks up a heavy iron hook, used in lifting the stove lids, and hits him on top of the head. It is human nature, as you see, so take warning and don't mix in differences between husbands and wives.

The picture will appeal to all.—P. S. Harrison.

"Unexpected Places"

With Bert Lytell

(Metro—Sept. 30. Directed by Mason Hopper)

IF you were called to pass an opinion on the merits of this picture, you would be inclined to be rather critical with it. Many of you would not like it, for the reason that the hero is here, there and everywhere. It is too much hero. In fact the story has been constructed with the purpose of holding him to the forefront. No attention has been paid as to the plausibility of the plot. But your audience, I believe, will not feel that way. They will rather like it, especially if the attendance is good, as it is light and con-

(Continued on page 2261)

The Complete Plan Book

Appears Every Week—Fifty-two Times a Year—Covers Every Feature Released

"THE RAINBOW TRAIL"—FOX

Farnum Scores Again in Well Built Picture

THERE is a fascination to all plays in which William Farnum appears. Such feeling is much stronger when the star is given the human part. He is just the right kind of a hero as conceived by the mind of a picturegoer, of manly dimensions, broad shouldered, his jaw square, with a face that radiates with sincerity and inspires confidence, and with a heart as big as a mountain. This is the kind of an impression you form of him in this picture.

"The Rainbow Trail," by Zane Grey, is a sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage." It deals exclusively with the wrongs the Mormons have perpetrated on the Gentiles during the middle of the nineteenth century. It starts where it was left off by the first release. Mr. Farnum is introduced as Sefford, the cousin of Lassiter, who goes to find and rescue the latter.

This picture is still better than "Riders of the Purple Sage." It would be advisable to play them in the order of their release. After playing the first, it would be easier to arouse the interest in the latter. A good plan to adopt would be to try and tickle the curiosity of your patrons by suggesting to them if they would wish to know what happened to Lassiter, the woman and the little girl, after the exit from the valley was cut off by the rolling of the big boulder.—Released Oct. 27.—Length, 6 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Lassiter } Shefford } .....William Farnum
Fay Larkin.....Ann Forrest
Jane Withersteen.....Mary Mersch
Wagoner.....William Burress
Shad.....William Nye
Ruth.....Genevieve Blinn
U. S. Marshal.....George Ross
Novel by Zane Grey.
Staged by Frank Lloyd.
Scenario by Charles Kenyon and Frank Lloyd.
Photographed by Billy Foster.

AD TALK

Patrons of the ——— theatre who thrilled over the adventures of John Lassiter in the Fox epic of the West, "Riders of the Purple Sage," will have a further opportunity of following his career in that picture's sequel, "The Rainbow Trail," which will be shown at the ——— theatre beginning ——— of ——— week. Like its predecessor, this picture has William Farnum as its star. Here he is seen in a dual role. First as Lassiter, the hero of the previous release, who has now grown old and gray, living the life of a recluse, and second as Shefford, Lassiter's kinsman, who essays to rescue the old man from the clutches of his enemies—the Mormons.

If "Riders of the Purple Sage" was a success and, judging from critical comment in the ——— dailies it was, then "The Rainbow Trail" is doubly so. What with Farnum's portrayal of the dual role and the thrilling story unfolded by the author, Zane Grey, the events in this feature fairly teem with interest and excitement. The plot relates the desperate efforts made by Shefford to rescue Lassiter, his romance with Fay Larkin, the girl who has been brought up in the recesses of the mountains and his unrelenting battle against the injustices and crimes of the outlaw Mormons.

Frank Lloyd has staged the production with the same faithful regard for realism and detail as was evidenced in "Riders of the Purple Sage," while the supporting cast includes Ann Forrest, William Nye and William Burress. Lest those of our patrons who missed the other picture feel that they cannot enjoy this one owing to its connection with the former, we hasten to add that "The Rainbow Trail" is fully capable of standing on its own merits and makes a fascinating entertainment in itself alone.

THE STORY

Though a picture complete in itself, "The Rainbow Trail" is also the sequel of "Riders of the Purple Sage," a Fox picture featuring William Farnum, which was shown at the ——— theatre on ———.

John Lassiter escaping from his enemies with Jane Withersteen and a child, Fay Larkin, has rolled a huge rock down from a mountain top which blocks the only means of entrance or escape. The three have lived there many years since. Fay has grown into a beautiful young woman.

Shefford, Lassiter's kinsman, goes in search for the lost trio, but before he can organize a searching party his enemies have learned of his plan and have preceded him. They effect an entrance and their leader, Wagoner, takes Fay from the old couple and carries her to the City of Sealed Wives, a desolate place, where the Mormons imprison their plural mates. United States marshals raid this settlement and bring a charge of polygamy against all the women found within. The charge is shattered when the women, out of fear, plead that they are not married.

Shefford sees Fay at the trial and falls in love with her. He saves her from Wagoner's clutches and rides away with her to rescue Lassiter and Jane. An Indian kills Wagoner when he attempts pursuit. Wagoner's followers pursue Shefford and Fay, believing they killed the man. As the lovers are about to rescue the imprisoned people they are set upon by their enemies and a hot battle ensues. Shefford, Fay and the others are only saved by the arrival of the marshals, who have been warned by the faithful Indian.

CATCH LINES

William Farnum in the greatest dual role of his career.

A wonderful sequel to the immediately previous Farnum subject, "Riders of the Purple Sage."

Written by Zane Grey, a man who writes of the West as no other can.

The illegitimate practices of outlaw Mormons revealed in an exciting screen drama.

Zane Grey, who writes of the Western lands in sure, bold strokes, and William Farnum, who portrays the Western hero in equally vigorous colors, make an incomparable combination.

Staged by Frank Lloyd, director of "Riders of the Purple Sage," "A Tale of Two Cities" and "Les Miserables."

"The City of Sealed Wives," one of the most terrible institutions established by man—its secrets revealed in the stirring drama, "The Rainbow Trail."

(Continued on page 2260)

IN THE CITY OF SEALED WIVES
Here hidden in the Utah wilderness Shefford finds the SAGO LILY of his dreams
SEE THE MYSTERIOUS ADAMLESS EDEN
SEE
WILLIAM FARNUM
IN
The RAINBOW TRAIL
The Greatest Western Story of the greatest modern novelist
Zane Grey
NOW BEING SHOWN AT

Two-Column Ad Cut, Leaving Space for Exhibitors' Announcement

"LAUGHING BILL HYDE"—GOLDWYN

Will Rogers' Debut Looks Like Genuine Success

PAT yourself on the back, if you have this picture coming. Put on a good smile. It is entitled to that particular check mark you use on your date book to mark those of the attractions you intend advertising to the limit. It deserves it.

The basic entertaining element in this attraction is heart interest. The hero is given a human part and you circle him with your sympathy right from the very start. He is introduced as an escaped convict, a man whose rough exterior and unpolished manner enclose a heart as big as a mountain. Love and kindness to his fellow man guide his actions in the entire story.

When his pal is weak and unable to walk, the hero carries him to the doctor in his arms; when the Indian girl is robbed of her mine, he steals the gold from the thieves and gives it to her. But the one situation that will remain long in your memory is this: the doctor's girl stated that some one accosted her while getting off the boat. The hero says nothing to anybody, but goes to the saloon and in a disinterested manner asks some of the frequenters if any of them have seen a lady get off the boat. One of them arrogantly states that it was he, and that the lady must remain his. The hero then displays a little knife which he places close to the villain's stomach and tells him he will not stop it there next time he speaks disrespectfully of the lady or lays an eye on her. That is real heart interest.

The subtitles contain such a clean and wholesome comedy that they are alone worth the price of admission.

Released Sept. 30.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Laughing Bill Hyde.....Will Rogers
Ponotah.....Anna Lehr
Black Jack Burg.....John Sainpolis
Dr. Evan Thomas.....Clarence Oliver
Alice.....Mabel Ballin
Joseph Wesley Slayforth.....Joseph Herbert
Denny Slevin.....Robert Conville
Danny Dorgan.....Dan Mason
By Rex Beach.
Directed by Hobart Henley.
Photographed by Arthur Cadwell.

AD TALK

A new Goldwyn star will make his appearance on the screen of the ——— theatre ——— of ——— week. He is none other than Will Rogers, the famous cowboy comedian who is known to all New Yorkers and visitors to New York for his dry humor and witticisms. This year Rogers is in the Ziegfeld Follies and has regaled many thousands with his timely and comical comment on important events of the day. Rogers started out in life as a cowboy, became a monologist because his friends simply refused to permit him to go on roping cattle the rest of his life, and went into pictures as another natural step forward. Whether he would make good in this art was a question that many wiseacres of Broadway were dubious about. So much of his success depended on his delivery and his lines. Well, Will Rogers has made good, there is no doubt about that. His face was meant for the camera and in "Laughing Bill Hyde" he gives ample proof of this.

"Laughing Bill Hyde" is one of Rex Beach's stories, the central figure of which is an escaped convict who makes his way to the Alaskan gold fields, there to prove himself the better of the dirtiest crook in the north and to win for himself a beautiful half-breed girl for a wife. The story was one of Mr. Beach's best and it has been transferred to the screen with excellent results by Director Hobart Henley. Mr. Henley never misses the human note in his pictures. Whether he be dealing with melodrama or comedy, his characters are real. This is his art. And in "Laughing Bill Hyde" he has well eclipsed all former efforts. It is a great combination—the author, the star and the director—in whatever order you will.

CATCH LINES

The Ziegfeld Follies have given many an ingenue to the screen, notably Ann Pennington. This time a male person is recruited from that garden of talent. See Will Rogers in the Goldwyn-Rex Beach production, "Laughing Bill Hyde."

The most famous wit of the speaking stage turns to pictures and is an instantaneous success.

One of Rex Beach's best stories reproduced on the screen by Goldwyn pictures under the direction of Hobart Henley.

All convicts are not bad—there is a certain class of outlaws that holds honor above all else—in this class "Laughing Bill Hyde" stood at the top, and when it came to a battle of villainy and virtue he arrayed himself on the side of justice. What mattered it if he employed methods somewhat underhanded to win his game? Right and love succeeded.

A story of the Alaskan gold fields, fields in which Rex Beach is perfectly at home.

Will Rogers turns out to be such a fine screen actor that you would never know he was acting.

One of the high lights in Goldwyn's second year.

Any old matinee idol can dress himself up in chaps and a sombrero and call himself a cowboy, but did you ever see a real honest-to-goodness cowboy on the screen—have a look at Will Rogers in "Laughing Bill Hyde."

THE STORY

Bill Hyde, a convict, makes a successful break from prison and succeeds also in saving Danny Dorgan, another inmate, from the iron bars. While eluding the guards Danny is mortally wounded. Bill takes him to the doctor and after forcing him to swear not to tell of the visit puts him in his charge. But Danny dies, despite all care. Bill decides to go to Alaska, sometimes the home of hunted men.

In Alaska Bill rescues Ponotah, a half-breed, from the attack of a brute. She tells him that Slayforth, half owner of the mine in which she possesses the other major interest, is attempting to rob her of her share. Bill immediately decides to secure employment in this mine and after persistent efforts is successful. He discovers that the superintendent is systematically robbing the mine and storing the stolen gold in a hole near his home. One night Bill takes this gold and buries it near his own cabin.

The doctor has, in the meantime, arrived in Alaska to seek a fortune sufficient to enable him to marry a girl back home. A dying man whom he tends bestows on him his mine. Bill goes out to look it over and discovers its worthless. But instead of giving up the case he proceeds to "salt" the mine with some of the buried gold, subsequently selling it to the treacherous Slayforth at an immense figure. This money he turns over to the doctor in order that he may return and claim his bride. The rest of the gold he gives to Ponotah, whom, in return, gives him her heart and hand in marriage.

(Continued on page 2256)

Ad Cut Furnished at Goldwyn Exchanges

"COME ON IN"—PARAMOUNT

Half's a Scream and the Other Half's a Thriller

THE first half of this picture could safely be called a scream, the balance, a thriller. The comedy element will be found in the clever construction of the sub-titles, by Anita Loos, while the thrills, in the situations, towards the close of the picture, where the hero is rescuing the colonel, kidnapped by German spies.

The story has been written by John Emerson and Anita Loos. It makes a rare contribution, due to intelligent directing. It is bound to please all. You should give it an extended engagement, thus automatically helping shelve some unworthy one.

The work of the principals is excellent.

An extensive review was given in last week's issue, on page 2093.

Released Sept. 23.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Emmy Little, a Stenographer.....Shirley Mason
Eddie Short.....Ernest Truex
Count von Bumstuff.....Charles De Planta
Prof. G. Wottan Orphul-Schmell...Joseph Burke
A. Schlobb, Emmy's Boss.....Renault Tourneur
Otto B. Schott.....Bernard Randall
Mrs. Schroeder.....Blanche Craig
Office Boy.....Meyer Berenson
The Colonel.....Richie Ling
German Spy.....Louis Henrick

Authors: John Emerson and Anita Loos.
Director: Mr. Emerson.

CATCH LINES

Shirley Mason, popular star of the films, and Ernest Truex, one of the best comedians of the stage, in their first co-starring venture.

Come and see how one lone sergeant in the American army puts it over Count von Bumstuff, Prof. G. Wotta Orphul-Schmell, A. Schlobb, Otto B. Schott and a few other gentlemen (?) with many gutteral sounds in their names.

A spy picture given just the right seasoning by a generous sprinkling of comedy.

Written by John Emerson and Anita Loos, who were two of Douglas Fairbanks' prime aides when he started his climb to fame.

AD TALK

An unusual combination of talent, both literary and histrionic, is responsible for "Come On In," the Paramount feature to be presented at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week. To begin with, it marks the first joint appearance of Shirley Mason, a popular star of the films and Ernest Truex, one of the best known light comedians on the stage. Miss Mason is one of the new stars added to the Paramount constellation, while Mr. Truex, as her partner in pictures, has proven himself so adaptable to camera work that it is not undue optimism to say that he will be extensively heard from in this line of endeavor, in the near future.

Aside from the debut of this combination, an event in itself, the story for "Come On In" was prepared by John Emerson and Anita Loos, a team that was responsible for many of the earlier Artcraft pictures featuring Douglas Fairbanks. The picture was directed by Mr. Emerson. It is not stretching the point to state that seldom, if ever, has such an array of talent ever bended its collective efforts to the production of a single feature. As a result, "Come On In" is one of the most entertaining five-reel numbers that it has been our pleasure to screen at the ——— theatre.

We are not going to tell you much about the story, except for the fact that it has to do with a romance and spies—Germans too. But wait! You're all wrong. It's not the usual type of spy picture—far from it. To begin with, it starts off with some of the best comedy you have ever witnessed. Miss Loos' subtitles are known far and wide for their original and genuine humor. She has gone the limit in "Come On In." There is comedy in the romance, in the training camp activities of the rival Romeos and then, before you know it, you are whirled into the midst of real, tense action. "Come On In" is as different from the typical spy picture as night from day. It is not filled with foolish and blundering agents of one secret service or another or with a beer drinking bunch that continually clink steins and toast "Der Tag." It is a real human comedy that starts off amusing you and then thrills you. Fact is, it's modeled similar to the Fairbanks pictures; and why shouldn't it be? Consider the Emerson-Loos combination that made it.

THE STORY

Emmy Little is a stenographer and a patriotic one. Her patriotism is rubbed the wrong way by her employer, A. Schlobb, and his frequent visitor, Professor G. Wottan Orphul-Schmell. Suspicious of the professor, she rents a room in the boarding house at which he resides. One of Emmy's suitors, Eddie Short, is a sergeant in the army, having enlisted the day war was declared. Another, and the more favored one, is Otto B. Schott, Schlobb's assistant. Otto B. is drafted and is trained under Eddie. There is, to be frank, no love lost between the two soldiers.

Emmy says she will marry the one who will do something "big" for his country. Otto, who is, in reality, a German spy, decides to win the girl and at the same time put over a score for HIS country. He invites Emmy to the home of his "dear old aunt" and there shows her many German spies trussed up, supposedly awaiting the arrival of the police. Emmy is so tickled that she immediately arranges to marry her hero. Colonel Little, her uncle, is invited and so is Eddie Short, who acts as if he were attending the last rites. After the ceremony, Emmy and Otto depart. The Colonel is called back to the 'phone, imprisoned by the spies and placed in a fine way to be asphyxiated.

Eddie and the Colonel's orderly smell a rat and search for the Colonel. The spies attempt to escape, but are caught. Eddie, using his gas mask like a regular habitue of the trenches, saves his Colonel's life and by so doing, steps in line for a lieutenant's commission. Then there are Emmy and Otto to be considered, specially Emmy. As luck would have it, the train which was to carry the couple on the first lap of their honeymoon is late, and before Otto knows it, he has been arrested and apprehended in his true colors, a German spy. Otto, incidentally, has two wives in Berlin, so his marriage is null and void and Emmy becomes a Mrs. Lieutenant.

SUGGESTIONS

Here is a picture that has a variety of angles to boost from. Consider the stars—Shirley Mason and Ernest Truex. The one well known in pictures, the other equally as well known on the stage. Play up the combination. Let the people know that Truex was the original star of such successful plays as "Very Good Eddie," "The Very Idea," "The Dummy" and others. Folks in big towns will surely remember these shows. Miss Mason's appearances on the screen are numerous.

Don't forget the John Emerson and Anita Loos angle. These two have had an enormous amount of publicity and it has been deserved. Mention that they have written many of Douglas Fairbanks' most popular plays, such as "His Picture in the Papers," "Down to Earth," "Wild and Woolly" and "Reaching for the Moon." This will certainly create interest in their work along this line.

The picture itself deserves commendation from start to finish. As much of it is comedy, let the people know that it is a spy story pictured from the comedy viewpoint. To make it emphatic, mention some of the German character names seen in the cast. So if your public is tired of the spy story in melodramatic form it will surely grasp the opportunity to see it done humorously.

If some other angle is desired, take up this one. Say that many books and plays have been adapted for the screen, but the best pictures of all are written for the screen by screen authors. "Come On In" is one of the best pictures in quite a while and it never appeared in any other form. Of course, if your patrons hanker for the spy stuff, play up this side of the picture. There are so many other more refreshing angles, however, that it seems a shame to waste them.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets, two three-sheets, one six-sheet, rotogravure one-sheet.

The majority of the paper supplied accentuates the humorous side of the production. A three-sheet has Miss Mason and Truex apparently worried over some knitting. The other shows Miss Mason in the arms of the man she first selects to marry. Six-sheet shows Truex struggling for wooden gun with heavily bearded stranger, Miss Mason at desk. This has the comedy angle. One of the one-sheets is on the same order. The other one-sheet is an attractive head of Miss Mason.

CUTS AND MATS ON PRODUCTION:—Five one-column, three two-column, two three-column.

All these cuts are illustrative of the light character of the production, Miss Mason appearing in all of them, in a few instances, by herself.

Stock cuts of Miss Mason issued in same numbers and sizes are also procurable.

SERIES OF ADVERTISING MATS:—These in one, two and three-column style are dressed in the usual Paramount style. All contain poses of stars in foreground.

One-Column Ad Cut. Similar Cuts Provided in All Sizes

"QUEEN OF HEARTS"—FOX

Murder Gives Basis for Strongly Dramatic Story

MURDER forms the basis of this attraction. It has been produced well and, in spite of the absurdity of the story in some parts, it will please a certain class of picturegoers.

Many of the situations possess good dramatic strength. The mystery in the story and its unravelling creates suspense. It helps hold the interest.

The plot concerns a man who, after losing heavily in the stock exchange, starts a gambling house. When his daughter becomes aware of it, she persuades him to close it up. His servant, who served him for several years, murders him because he is discharged. The suspicion falls on innocent parties until the heroine, the murdered man's daughter, detects the real murderer.

This attraction will appeal to those who like strong plays, especially the melodrama. It is not suggestive.—Released Sept. 15.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Pauline Cheraud.....Virginia Pearson
Emil Cheraud.....Joseph Smiley
Jimmie Dreen.....Victor Sutherland
Robert Faulkner.....Edward J. Burns
Helen Faulkner.....Peggy Shaner
Hawley Roberts.....John Webb Dillion
Pierre.....James A. Furey
Little Pauline.....Adelaide Lawrence
Written by Harry O. Hoyt.
Directed by Edmund Lawrence.

THE STORY

Pauline Cheraud returns from abroad to discover that her father has transformed his home into a fashionable gambling establishment. She pleads with him to give up this mode of earning a living, and he finally agrees, as he loves his daughter beyond all else. However, before he can act on Pauline's suggestion he is murdered. Only a few nights later Pauline stumbles across his dead body lying in the library.

Pauline takes a vow to run the guilty party to justice. To this end she continues the gambling establishment, setting herself up as its mistress. There are three men whom she suspects, all were seen talking with Cheraud on the night of the murder. Each of these three loves Pauline, so she lays a careful plan to trap the guilty party.

One who had owed Cheraud quite a sum of money she discovers rifling the desk a few days later and watches him steal his notes. Another who desires her makes the boast that he has killed a man when Pauline tactfully tells him that she must have a "cave man."

The third, Jimmie Dreen, is the man she least suspects of the crime. And it is he she really loves. He had seemed out of place in the gambling house, and Pauline had often wondered why he kept such associates. But it is this man who appears the most guilty of the three when all the cards are down. A pearl button from his vest had been found on the floor where Cheraud lay. On being accused of the murder, Jimmie did not deny it. In fact, he admitted that he believed he shot Cheraud accidentally from the other side of a door.

But who did kill the gambler, Cheraud, and did Pauline sacrifice love or duty if Jimmie was the guilty man?

AD TALK

A picture which is heralded as one of the greatest detective stories ever screened starts at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week. This is entitled "Queen of Hearts," and has as its star Virginia Pearson, the emotional actress, whose past performances patrons of the ——— theatre have often enjoyed. Harry O. Hoyt, a man who devotes the major portion of his time to writing for the screen, is its author. It is, indeed, seldom that a modern writer, least of all a writer of picture plays, is credited with doing something big, something really startling. But critics have claimed that "Queen of Hearts" is fully capable of ranking with the best Sherlock Holmes stories, or the best adventures of Raffles.

The heroine, Pauline Cheraud, vows to seek out the man who murdered her father, and to this end she sets herself up as mistress of his gambling house. There are three men she suspects of the crime, all of whom are in love with her. She sees one rifling her father's desk for notes he had given on a big loan. To another she passionately avows her love for cave men—men who would kill for the women they love. And this man proudly boasts that he has already killed a man. Thus does she have reason to suspect that either of these two may be the slayer of her father.

The third, Jimmie Dreen, who loves her ardently and who she least suspects has won a real place in her heart. But it is this man on whom the blackest suspicion falls. How he clears himself of the crime and the manner in which the entire mystery is cleared forms the climax of this sensational mystery play—a play that is gripping from beginning to end.

CATCH LINES

One of the best detective stories that has ever found its way to the screen.

Virginia Pearson's latest and best Fox pictures.

By Harry O. Hoyt, a prolific writer, who has contributed many great stories to screen literature.

Of the three men Pauline suspected of killing her father, the one she loved and hoped might be the guilty man appeared to be the guilty party when all the cards were down. What should she do? Fulfill her vow or let true love take its course.

The Queen of Hearts tricks the Jack of Spades.

The story of a woman who played a dangerous game of chance for a man's life.

Virginia Pearson, the renowned beauty and emotional artist, in her latest Fox production, a baffling mystery story.

Sherlock Holmes isn't the only detective in the world, and Raffles hasn't got an option on first place in the underworld. See the greatest detective story ever screened, "Queen of Hearts."

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet.
LOBBY DISPLAY PHOTOS:—Ten 8 x 10; ten 11 x 14; three 22 x 28 colored.
SCENE CUTS:—In one and two-column sizes illustrating dramatic and lavish character of production.
ADVERTISING CUTS:—In one and two-column sizes. Usual Fox style. A one and two-column cut also available in advertising the Excel series of Fox pictures. Other type advertisements suggested.
SLIDES, MUSIC CUE SHEET.

MANUFACTURERS' ADS

Manufacturers' advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in MOTION PICTURE NEWS in September 7 issue, page 1499; August 31 issue, page 1322.

SUGGESTIONS

In your advertising on this subject take care to reflect the character of the feature. There is nothing more engrossing than a well told mystery or detective play. Everyone seems to enjoy this type of fiction, drama or picture. So in newspaper advertising let them know that this is a real mystery story. It might be a good idea to suggest the plot with a paragraph something on this order:

"There were three men who might have killed her father. But there was only one who committed the crime. When it came to a show-down Pauline discovered that the man she loved appeared to be guilty. Was he? See how she fathomed the case in the startling mystery picture:

"'QUEEN OF HEARTS.'"

Virginia Pearson has many favorites, and without doubt, has not appeared in such an unusual picture for some time. Let them know it. The exhibitor will find excellent advertising ideas and suggestions in the Fox press sheet. The publicity department has extended itself specially on this production, so it seems, and has introduced a number of novelties that seem like money getters. A suggested booklet containing a synopsis of the story up to its crucial point looks well worth trying. It is intelligently worded and all the exhibitor needs to do is to clip it and send it to his printer.

The Supreme Test—
Buy Liberty Bonds and Help
Your Government
Back up the Boys Abroad

"QUEEN OF HEARTS"
WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

Type of Coarse Screen Text Cut Supplied

"PALS FIRST"—SCREEN CLASSICS

Lockwood Subject Is "There" in Many Ways

YOU will welcome this attraction with open arms. It will gladden your heart. No matter how deeply your emotions may be hidden, it will reach them just the same.

Pathos and suspense are the predominating elements in this picture. It is not the kind that will leave your patrons sad and dejected, however, but the kind that will make some of them cry and feel they did right. For instance, the hero, who is supposed to have assumed another man's identity (but actually his own), decides to marry the impersonated man's sweetheart. His pal begs him not to do so as it would ruin the girl's life. He even threatens to end their friendship if he will insist. Isn't such a situation always heart appealing?

The plot, based on the novel of the same name, by Francis Perry Elliot, is so well constructed that it holds one in constant suspense. The fact that the hero is impersonating his own identity doesn't become known to the hero's pal and to the audience until the end. Therein lies the greatest value of the picture. Before the fact is revealed, the spectator is always in fear lest the deception become known. This fear, on account of the sympathy the hero attracts, becomes very tense, especially when the sheriff is called to have him arrested. When the revelation comes it is a big surprise.

The direction is intelligent. The outdoor scenery beautiful. Everybody will like this offering. It is the best one Lockwood has favored us with for a long time. And it is clean.

Released Oct. Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Danny Rowland.....Harold Lockwood
Dominie.....James Lackaye
Jean Logan.....Ruby de Remer
Judge Logan.....Frank De Vernon
Dr. Harry Chilton.....Richard R. Neill
Uncle Alex.....Anthony Byrd
Aunt Caroline.....Pauline Dempsey
The Sheriff.....Walter P. Lewis
The Squirrel.....Rollo Lloyd

Produced by Yorke Film Corp.
Directed by Edwin Carewe.
Adapted from Lee Wilson Dodd's dramatization of Francis Perry Elliott's novel, "Pals First," published by Messrs. Harper & Brothers.
Photography by Antonio Gaudio.

AD TALK

"Pals First," a screen version of a play that was truthfully one of the Broadway successes only a short time ago, will be seen at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week. This is a Screen Classics production, with Harold Lockwood as the star. In the role of Danny Rowland he scores one of the big hits of his career. Never before, it may safely be said, as he had a part more suited to his abilities than the role of the tramp, ex-convict, philosopher of the road, imposter, lover—hero, Danny Rowland.

Danny is mistaken for the master of a Southern estate and before he can turn around he is set up in state to discover that he is supposed to be in love with Jean Logan, a fair flower of the South. Nor is he at all adverse to this state of affairs. He immediately loves Jean and she returns his affections. But there is a villainous cousin, who keeps insisting that he is an imposter and that the real master of the house has gone to his death at sea. And finally he brings proof conclusive of this fact and confronts Danny with the evidence. He is revealed in his true colors as an ex-convict. But wait—the mark of identification lies on the under side of Danny's right forearm. The sheriff pulls back his short sleeve and discloses—a perfectly smoothe, unmarked arm. Here is a predicament indeed, one to which you will find the solution by a journey to the ——— theatre. To reveal it here would be to spoil the story. It's one of those real surprise endings and because of this the management of the theatre warns its patrons not to come in on the tail end of the picture. For the benefit of those unacquainted with the time of our performances, we print here the hours at which each new show begins, afternoon ——, evening ——.

Mr. Lockwood receives sterling support from James Lackaye as the other "pal," from Ruby de Remer, as the girl, and from Richard Neill and Frank De Vernon in other prominent roles. "Pals First" is plentifully supplied with comedy, romance and adventure, and makes an ideal entertainment for these times. The play was by Lee Wilson Dodd, from a novel by Francis Perry Elliott, and on the stage played to great success with William Courtenay and Thomas A. Wise in the two principal roles.

THE STORY

Along a Southern road Danny Rowland, escaped forger, and Dominie, old-time crook and tramp, tread, weary and footsore. As they are in front of Winnicrest Hall, an old mansion, Uncle Alex, the ancient negro retainer of the establishment, rushes out and greets Danny as Richard Castleman, his long absent master. Surprised but none the less agreeably amused, Danny accepts the compliment and enters the house. He and Dominie wash and clothe themselves, partake of a repast, and retire for the night between clean linen sheets.

The next day things begin to happen. Most important of all is what happens when Jean Logan, a blonde vision, rushes into the house and throws her arms about Danny's neck, kissing him passionately. And quite important also is what happens when Dr. Harry Chilton, evidently Castleman's rival in love, keeps insisting that Danny is an imposter. The esteemed M. D. is forcibly evicted from the mansion.

Although Dominie wants to make a clean-up of the wealth of the Castleman home, Danny, because of Jean, elects to remain. And as time goes on he falls more and more in love with her and she with him. Finally he tells Dominie that he intends marrying the girl. At this Dominie rebels and states that he refuses to be a party to such an imposition. In a rage he tells Jean all. She is heart-broken. In the meantime Dr. Chilton has received a telegram saying that beyond the shadow of a doubt Castleman was lost at sea. He seeks the sheriff and demands that he arrest Danny.

Things do look black for the hero, but not too black from his point of view. Here he is accused of being an escaped convict and seeing the girl he loves turn her very pretty back on him! And so he tells his story of the manner in which he, Castleman, was held up by Danny Rowland in his hotel room and forced to change places with him.

(Continued on page 2252)

HAROLD LOCKWOOD in "PALS FIRST"

Cuts Like the Above for Newspaper Use Procurable at Metro Exchanges

"OUT OF A CLEAR SKY"—PARAMOUNT

Marguerite Clark Comes Back to Earth!

LET us thank heavens, stars and everything. It makes no difference what it is, thank something anyway. It has been decreed that Marguerite Clark interrupt her etherial journey and once more become a mortal. If you don't cover your face with a a broad smile at these glad tidings, then there is no hope for you.

Is there anything on the bright side of life, anything you can think of, that will bring cheerfulness and joy to a sad heart? Look for it in this picture. It is there.

The plot introduces Marguerite as nothing less than a Belgian Countess. This alone is enough to bring her all the sympathy she wants. And believe me, she is a credit to the title. As far as Bobby Connelly is concerned, you couldn't find a more convincing seven year old disappointed lover if you searched the country from Maine to California.

There are two "Dramalettes" going on within the story at one time. In the one, the principals are the heroine, a mother cat, and the villain, a batchelor dog. The supporting cast consists of baby kittens. The other little drama is the love making of the two little children, with the attendant scraps, as is common to love-struck persons. They are both a scream.

A new-born baby, with the mother in bed, is shown in the picture. Presentation of such incidents, I am afraid, will be considered as a sacrilege by many a picture patron, although the presence of Marguerite Clark, with her innocent looking face, helps subdue the boldness somewhat. One subtitle and one scene, however, go a little too far. The former suggests that the little stranger came unattended, no one to receive him, while the latter shows Miss Clark washing the mother's hands. This is a little too raw. If you have any regard for motherhood, you should demand of your exchange to have these scenes removed. You can't use language strong enough for that.

You should give this attraction an extended engagement. It is worth it.

Released Sept. 15.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Countess Celeste.....Marguerite Clark
Robert Lawrence.....Thomas Meighan
Uncle Dryek.....E. J. Radcliffe
Crown Prince.....Raymond Bloomer
Boy.....Bobby Connelly
Father.....Robert Dudley
Steve.....W. P. Lewis
Granny White.....Maggie H. Fisher
Governess.....Helene Montrose
Valet.....Robert Vivian
Mamie.....Nell Clark Keller

By Maria Thompson Davies.
Adapted by Charles Maigne.
Directed by Marshall Neilan.
Photographed by Walter Stradling.

AD TALK

Marguerite Clark, the dainty and adorable, will be seen on the screen of the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week in her latest Paramount photoplay entitled "Out of a Clear Sky." This picture is an adaptation of a novel by Maria Thompson Davies and offers Miss Clark the role of a Belgian Countess, who flees her native land after the coming of the Germans to escape being forced into a marriage with an enemy prince. She is set down in the mountain country of Tennessee and there the first person she meets is Bob Lawrence, a Southern gentleman. The romance of these two, coupled with the efforts of the girl's uncle to find her, and the manner in which he is thrown off her track forever, make one of the most pleasing pictures in which Miss Clark has been seen of late.

The story, be it known, while related to the war in some measure, is by no means a war picture. The majority of the action is staged in the beautiful Southern country of our own United States and the romance of the little Countess and her American hero is played without reference to the war. In fact there is so much prettiness, homely human interest and real comedy in the picture that it constantly refreshes and amuses. "Pretty" is the word which describes it. The star, the story, the setting are pretty, and combined they serve to put the spectator in a "prety" frame of mind.

It is interesting to note that one of Miss Clark's admirers wrote to her and suggested that she purchase the screen rights of "Out of a Clear Sky" for her own use. While the star gets many such suggestions in every mail of the day, there was something about this one that prompted further investigation. Consequently she immediately secured a copy of the book, and, after the first reading, purchased it. Here, indeed, was a case of the "fan" doing service of untold value for the star.

Thomas Meighan is seen in the role opposite Miss Clark's and another prominent in the cast is little Bobby Connelly, the youthful hero of many a Vitagraph comedy. Bobby does some human work of the best sort. Others who appear are W. P. Lewis, E. J. Radcliffe, Maggie Fisher and Nell Clark Keller.

THE STORY

A Southern express stops at Greenwood, Tennessee, to take on water, and while it stands on the tracks one of its passengers, a young girl, leaps off and scampers down a hill into the very arms of Robert Lawrence, a Southern gentleman. It develops that the girl is Celeste, in Belgium a countess, who has fled her native land to escape a marriage with a German prince which her traitorious uncle, the Count de Berseck, wishes her to consummate. Her father and brother had been killed in battle—from the shock her mother had died. Her governess had brought her to America, but the Count had given pursuit and it is from him she flees.

On hearing her story Bob takes full charge of the little girl and promises to protect her. The Count, having gotten off at the next station, has employed Steve Budd, a native, to lead him through the mountain trails. Bob hears them approaching and goes to head them off. Celeste finds a haven in Steve's cabin, where she meets his little son, Bill. Together the two set off to Granny White's, where Bill's mother has gone. Shortly after their departure lightning strikes the cabin and because of dynamite stored there it is completely demolished.

At Granny White's Bill discovers a small brother. He and Celeste busy themselves caring for the mother and babe. Bob returns to Steve's cabin and, seeing the ruins, believes Celeste lost. He hurries to Granny White's where, to his joy, he finds her. As the Count refuses to believe Celeste has gone elsewhere, Bob suggests to Celeste a plan to send him away forever. So he leads him to the ruined cabin, shows him scraps of a dress and tells him that the Countess Celeste is no more. After the signing of a few papers the Count is satisfied.

But Bob hesitates to propose to Celeste. He believes that she will never be satisfied in the mountains. She, on the other hand, thinks his silence due to the fact that he wants a wife who can cook. So she departs. But Bill has given her a note from Bob telling of his love and the reason for his continued silence. Celeste, overjoyed, gets off the train at Greenwood and there finds Bob seated where she first met him.

CATCH LINES

Marguerite Clark's latest Paramount picture, an idyllic romance of a Belgian Countess and Tennessean, laid in the mountains of the Southland.

Directed by Marshall Neilan, who staged "Stella Maris" and "Amarilly of Clothesline Alley, Mary Pickford productions.

Happy romance and spirited comedy combine to make this one of the most thoroughly enjoyable pictures in which Miss Clark has appeared.

She landed in Bob Lawrence's arms "Out of a Clear Sky" and as soon as he saw her he knew he had found the girl.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet; rotrogravure one sheet; stock star 24-sheet.

PHOTOS—Eight 8 x 10 black and white; eight 11 x 14 sepia; one 22 x 28 sepia; 8 x 10 photos of star.

CUTS AND MATS ON PRODUCTION—Five one-column; three two-column; two three-column. Cuts and mats on star furnished in same size and number.

(Continued on page 2254)

Paramount Has on Hand Similarly Dressed Cuts in All Sizes

"KILDARE OF STORM"—METRO

Powerful Drama, with Some Unpleasantness

FOR audiences that like strong pictures and don't mind a murder or two, this will prove the thing. It is a powerful drama but not very gruesome, because the murder is committed by a character you are in sympathy with, against one you hate. But there is too much brutality shown in it.

The villain in the story combines everything that is fiendish. He is shown as treating his wife worse than a worthless street dog. He is about to marry. In order to remove all traces of his vileness, he steals his own boy from the woman who always thought him her wedded husband, until he disillusioned her by his revelation of the truth, that their marriage was a mockery. He marries the girl of his choice, who is forced to unite her fate with his against her own will.

He is supposed to have been killed in the end by the girl's sweetheart, a man who pities and sympathizes with her, actually, however, by the woman he had deceived.

The heroine and her sweetheart get real sympathy. That helps the picture a whole lot. As a portrayer that combines the aforementioned vices, Mr. Baggot is realistic to the extreme. The work of Miss Stevens is too well known to need any comment. The direction is intelligent, except at one point, where a dying person is shown in a pose that denotes better health and strength than Sampson ever possessed. It is a common error with seven out of ten directors.

The picture will hold the interest tense. But it is not pleasant. With cheerful music to help subdue it, however, and a good slap-stick comedy to act as an after-dinner dessert, you are liable to give good satisfaction with it. It is a case of showmanship. In any event, it is hardly a picture for tender-hearted audiences.—P. S. Harrison.

CAST

Kate Kildare.....Emily Stevens
Basil Kildare.....King Baggot
Dr. Jacques Benoix.....Crauford Kent
Mahaly.....Florence Short
Gov. Claiborne.....Edwards Davis
Mrs. Leigh.....Helen Lindroth
Mrs. Benoix.....Maggie Breyer

From the novel by Eleanor Mercein Kelly, published by The Century Company.
Scenario by Jere Looney and June Mathis.
Directed by Harry L. Franklin.
Photographed by Arthur Martinelli.
Produced under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger.

AD TALK

A particularly strong dramatic feature will be the piece de resistance of the ——— theatre's bill beginning on ——— of ——— week, when the Metro picture "Kildare of Storm" is first put on view. Emily Stevens, the distinguished emotional star of screen and stage, is seen in the featured part of this picture. She gives a highly polished performance and handles the difficult role of Kate Kildare with all the fine artistry at her command.

"Kildare of Storm" is an adaptation of a novel by Eleanor Mercein Kelly. In book form this work attained a big circulation. The novel was skilfully adapted for screen use by Jere Looney and June Mathis and was produced under the direction of Harry L. Franklin. It relates the manner in which a girl of the south, Kate, was forced into a loveless marriage with Basil Kildare, the master of an old house, Storm by name, and how she was obliged to suffer the greatest humiliation because of her husband's evil character. The film builds to an exceptional climax when Kate, unable to stand his insulting treatment any longer, writes a letter to the man she really loves, pouring out her sorrow to him. In a fight between Kildare and the other man, a fight resulting from the contents of this letter, the husband is supposedly killed. He is convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Despite this seeming barrier to the happiness of the characters the story is brought to a satisfactory conclusion in a novel manner, to relate which at the present time would be unfair to those who intend to witness its presentation at the ——— theatre. Suffice it to say in conclusion that the picture is so well done and enacted that it makes an excellent entertainment for afternoon or evening. King Baggot, one of the best known players of the screen, and Crauford Kent are seen as the principals of the supporting cast.

CATCH LINES

Emily Stevens, the distinguished dramatic star, in her latest and best Metro production.

An old favorite returns in Miss Stevens' support—None other than King Baggot.

Her husband undertook to display her personal charms to his guests and at this she rebelled and fled to the man she loved.

A flower of the South sold into marital bondage by her mercenary mother.

THE STORY

Because Mrs. Leigh wills it so and because she is influenced by the thought of the money the union will bring her daughter, Kate marries Basil Kildare, owner of an old southern estate called Storm. To consummate this marriage Kildare silences his beautiful servant, Mahaly, who believes herself to be his wife, by stealing her little boy. Kate soon discovers the coarseness of the man she married and is unable to avoid his gross insults. She does, however, find happiness and companionship in the company of Mrs. Benoix and her son Dr. Jacques Benoix, a man much loved by the people of the countryside.

Mahaly spies on Kate and as a result Kildare discovers her meetings with Jacques. He orders her to stop seeing him. On a certain night after Kildare has humiliated and insulted Kate before his guests she leaves his house and goes to the Benoix cottage. In the excitement of it all Kate and Jacques passionately avow their love for one another but he, realizing the situation, takes her home again. The next day Kate writes Jacques a note giving it to Mahaly to deliver. Mahaly offers it to Kildare in exchange for her boy. He snatches it from her. Furious Kildare seeks out Jacques. They fight on the road and Jacques leaves the scene believing he has killed the master of Storm. He is arrested, convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Years later Jacques is pardoned owing to Kate's tireless efforts. One day he is called to attend a dying woman and discovers that it is Mahaly. She asks for Kate and to her makes her dying confession—that she killed Kildare. So with Jacques' name cleared he and Kate face a new life together.

ADVERTISING AIDS

POSTERS:—In colors including two styles of 1, 2, 3 and 6 sheets. These posters give enlarged pictures of star. There are styles showing scenes from production including pictures of star, her leading man and members of the supporting cast.

PHOTOS FOR LOBBY DISPLAY:—8 x 10 sepia; 11 x 14 sepia and 22 x 28 colored including stills of star and scenes from production.

ADVERTISING CUTS AND MATS:—A variety of 1 and 2-column cuts and mats of the star available at the Metro evchanges.

SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE.

EMILY STEVENS

Stock Star Cut Supplied by Metro on This Picture

"BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY"—KLEINE

Interesting Film Shows What Italians Are Doing in Industrial Way

THIS picture has been produced with the co-operation of the Italian Government. Its purpose is to show to the American public what the Italian Army in the front line, and the people, back of the line, have been doing towards winning the war. It shows the manufacturing of all the instruments of modern warfare. The most interesting thing of all, however, is the making of fine glass for lenses and prisms.

It should be a matter of patriotic duty to give these pictures a showing in your theatre. An extensive review was given in last week's issue, on page 2093.

Released in October.—Length, 6 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

The Italian Army.
The Italian People.

Photographed by the Royal Cinematograph Corps of the Italian Army.

Produced by the Cines Company of Rome by command of the Italian Government.

THE STORY

There is not the usual story in "Behind the Lines in Italy," George Kleine's great war picture, showing the Italian activities at industries in the larger cities and towns. There is no typical hero with pomade on his hair—instead there are a million Italian soldiers; there is no sad-eyed heroine to be seen in the majority of the day's features—instead there is Italy, the nation, helping her brave boys by labor of the severest sort at home—there is no typical villain——. But perhaps here we are wrong. The typical villain of the usual run of pictures is a desperate fellow who stops at no foul means to gain his ends, who lays covetous eyes and hands on the heroine, and who constantly molests the well-being of the hero. Yes, the villain in "Behind the Lines in Italy" is of the typical variety. The villain is the Austrian army.

The romance of "Behind the Lines in Italy" lies in the startling revelations disclosed in the picture of the manner in which Italy has risen to the task of supporting her armies. No one is a slacker in Italy. There is a man's work to be done by every man, woman and child in the country. And the manner in which they are "carrying on" makes a drama the likes of which are seldom seen on either screen or stage.

AD TALK

The ——— theatre has booked George Kleine's "Behind the Lines in Italy" as a special attraction beginning on ——— of ——— week. This is a war picture that departs from the beaten path of such subjects in that it shows Italy's activities in its various industries that are backing up the armies at the front. It is merely reiterating a well known fact to state that the success of the armies of any nation in the fields depends on the labors of those who remain at home. And it is really remarkable to note the manner in which the Italian nation has risen to a man—and, yes, to a woman—in order to make certain the security of its fighting armies.

Italy, ordinarily a languid, pleasure-loving nation—at least this is what the majority of the world has been led to believe in all the years before the war—has transformed itself into a vast machine for the successful prosecution of the war for the democracy and well-being of the world. In "Behind the Lines in Italy" we see the evolution of the great guns—those same great guns which only recently drove the Austrians back of the Piave—from the moment the metal is taken from the soil until they are put on the trains and trucks which carry them to the front, we see the making of machine guns, of barbed wire, of munitions of every description, of silk for the airplanes, of automobiles, of her great contribution to the war—the Caproni airplane. There is, to be sure, not a branch of war's industrial activities in Italy today that has been neglected.

There are also a few scenes of Italy's fighting men in the trenches, scenes that are always welcome. Particularly so are these because only lately a number of our own boys have been transferred to this important front. It will be interesting to see the life they are now leading for the soldier's routine on this side of the enemy is far different from that which he leads in the trenches of France. This picture starts ———. Don't forget the date.

CATCH LINES

Italy, the land of sunshine and flowers, transformed into a vast war machine.

Authentic pictures of Italy's activities in the World War made by the Cines Company of Rome at the command of the Italian Government.

Our own activities have shown us that there is a great deal more to war than the actual fighting. It takes a vast organization at home to back up the boys in the trenches. See how Italy has organized herself for this purpose in the official Italian picture, "Behind the Lines in Italy."

A different Italy than the sunny land of which the poets sing.

Though Italy has been a pleasure-loving nation during the past years, the war has shown of what real grit her people are made.

There is not a man, woman nor child in Italy who is not concentraitng his or her efforts to help win the war. See the results of this tremendous concentration—Italy's industrial side—in "Behind the Lines in Italy."

A special Columbus Day attraction.

Don't know much about the Italians, eh? Except for the fact that there's a river called the Piave running through their country? See "Behind the Lines in Italy" and learn the true worth of our important ally.

Romance and gondolas are no longer typical of Italy. The whole nation is consumed with the vast business of war.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—There are ones, threes and sixes furnished on this production.

LOBBY DISPLAY:—Two styles of 22 x 24 photos; one style 8 x 14 photos and one style 11 x 14 photos.

TEXT CUTS:—Three styles of scene cuts.

ADVERTISING CUTS:—There are four styles of advertising cuts.

SLIDES AND PRESS MATTER PROCURABLE.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in "Motion Picture News," Sept. 28 issue, page 1986; Sept. 21 issue, page 1832; Sept. 14 issue, page 1656; Sept. 7 issue, page 1469; Aug. 31 issue, page 1347.

SUGGESTIONS

If you play this picture for a reasonable run it should prove a fine box office asset. It shows Italy at industrial warfare besides battling at the front, an angle to comment upon if your public has seen trench stuff and marching troops over and over again, which most publics have.

For a lobby display use a spread of pictures clipped from newspapers or some of the current magazines. Doubless you could find a story regarding Italy's war activities in an issue of one of the weeklies. Use this in the center. It will attract attention. Also if there are activities on the Italian battle front during the run of your feature make use of these in your display, and in newspaper advertising. If a picture of this sort is tied up with something of the day, greater interest will be the result.

If you play this on or during the week of October 12, don't forget that it is a big time for Italians in this country. Call it a special Columbus Day attraction. If there is an Italian paper in your town an advertisement in it would pay. Also if you can procure a list of Italian societies circularize them or write each a personal letter. Such societies would be glad to endorse the picture. On the first night you could invite representatives to attend in a body, giving their opinions in advertisements the next day.

(Continued on page 2253)

Scene Cut for Newspapers

"THE VELVET HAND"—UNIVERSAL

Not Quite up to Bluebird Standard

THERE is too much dagger displaying and stabbing to suit the average picture patron with this offering. The picture is based mostly on revenge. It will hardly have a universal appeal.

The heroine gets no sympathy for the reason that she tries to make the wrong man pay for the death of her brother. Most of the story is woven around this point.

As the murder is committed in self defense, the murderer does not draw the ill feeling due to a villain. It doesn't seem reasonable, therefore, that he should feel remorseful, under the circumstances.

To any one acquainted with Italian aristocracy, the marriage of the Prince to a dancer will appear absurd. Such a thing could happen, and possibly has happened, but it would be an isolated case only, and is therefore not convincing.

It is not a suggestive offering.—Released Sept. 30.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Featured player: Fritzi Brunette.
Cast includes Fred Turner, Eugene Corey, William Conklin, Wedgwood Nowell, Carmen Phillips and Nicholas Dunaew.
Author: Edith Bernard Delano.
Scenario by F. McGrew Willis.
Directed by Douglas Gerrard.

CATCH LINES

Fritzi Brunette in a vital, pulsating drama laid in Italy, the land of romance.

By Edith Bernard Delano, author of a number of Mary Pickford pictures.

A drama of love and hate staged on the shores of sunny Italy.

She had planned to break the heart of the man she thought killed her brother. Instead, she found she loved him.

All the passion and temperament of a Latin race entrancingly portrayed on the screen.

She took an oath to avenge the murder of her brother but discovered herself in love with the guilty suspect.

She found the man she loved standing over the dead body of her brother, a dagger in his hand.

By Edith Bernard Delano, author of many best sellers.

Love overcomes hate in a fierce battle for supremacy in a girl's heart.

Featuring Fritzi Brunette, an old favorite, supported by a specially selected cast.

AD TALK

When Gianna discovers Count Trovelli standing over the body of her dead brother, a dagger in his hand, she immediately took oath to avenge herself on him. In order to make him suffer as much as she herself suffered when the sight of the prone body of her brother met her eyes, she mapped out a terrible plan. She followed the count to Naples and there, by practicing all her arts on him, soon saw, with joy, that he was desperately in love with her. Then little by little she made inroads on his fortune and at last had the supreme satisfaction of witnessing his approach to the rocks of bankruptcy. Then, the man broken in fortune and spirit, she had planned to take his life even as he had taken her brother's. But one day, the terrible truth dawned on Gianna. She found herself passionately in love with this man she had driven so close to ruin.

See the Universal picture, "The Velvet Hand," when it comes to the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week and witness the dramatic solution of Gianna's harrowing predicament. The climax to this thrilling tale of love and hate is the best of its many merits and is well worth a trip to the ——— theatre. The management feels confident that its patrons will find much to entertain them in this picture, which has been most attractively staged by Douglas Gerrard. Mr. Gerrard is well suited to handle the picture of this type. In temperament and attainments of the past, he has proven himself an artist. And in this drama of a man and a woman, laid in sunny Italy, he has done a thoroughly artistic piece of work.

Fritzi Brunette makes the character of Gianna a living, breathing woman and her supporting cast was selected with special regard for its fitness to Latin roles.

THE STORY

In southern Italy Russo Russelli, an old violin maker, toils to accumulate enough money that his two children, Russino and Gianna, may study dancing. Gianna loves her brother dearly. They often dance together on the sands of the shore. One day Netta Seganti, a countess of doubtful reputation, comes to the village. She flirts with Russino and he, easily susceptible to her charms, falls in love with her.

Then come to the village, Count Paul Trovelli and a companion, a prince, to search for a villa. In Netta the prince recognizes an old love and he loses no time in renewing the affair. They are seen together by Russino, who, in a jealous rage attacks the prince. The latter stabs him to the heart with a dagger thrust and then flees.

When Gianna discovers the body of her brother, Trovelli is standing over it, the dagger in his hand. The girl immediately believes that he committed the murder and takes an oath to herself that he shall be made to pay for the deed with his own blood.

She follows him to Naples to carry out her plan, and so great is her hatred for the suspect that she decides to make her vengeance more terrible by attracting Trovelli to her. She succeeds, and in short time the count is desperately in love with her, unaware of the fate she has planned for him. Here she makes great demands on his finances and little by little he draws closer to ruin. Then, at the height of her success, Gianna wakes up to the fact that she really loves the man.

She is torn by conflicting emotions—whether to fulfill her oath and kill the man she loves or bury the past and accept his love. Happily, however, her predicament is solved by an outside force. At the very moment when Gianna has decided on the tragic course, the truth regarding her brother's death is revealed to her, so all ends well.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets, two three-sheets, two six-sheets.
LOBBY DISPLAY:—Selection of scene and star stills of different sizes.
ADVERTISING ELECTROS:—Prepared advertising in various sizes procurable at Universal exchanges.
SLIDES, MUSIC CUE, WINDOW CARDS.

SUGGESTIONS

While this production lends itself to sensational advertising, in that it deals with the vengeance planned by an Italian girl on the supposed murder of her brother, it has a romantic angle that can be featured before audiences that are not tempted by the other stuff. Its author, for instance, has been responsible for many novels of a purely romantic nature. Many of these have been adapted for the screen and produced with some of the best-known stars in the leading roles. Notable among these are Mary Pickford and Marguerite Clarke. Consequently, if you cater to a family clientele use Miss Delano's name in newspaper advertisements, as the author and, if desired, let them know who has appeared in other of her works.

Fritzi Brunette is a reliable player, though not a well-known star. She has, however, been in pictures for many years and doubtless has a number of old friends among the fans. As she gives a deserving performance, her name might be prominently displayed.

The picture has Italy as its setting and this fact opens an avenue for a good line of "atmosphere" advertising. Everyone still looks on Italy as the land of romance even though the war has proven she has wonderful grit. But get this romantic atmosphere in your advertisements by the use of such a line as "A pulsating romance of Italy—Italy, the land of sunshine."

"PALS FIRST"

(Continued from page 2248)

CATCH LINES

Harold Lockwood in his first Screen Classic production.

"Pals First," uttered three times, the speaker's hand above his heart, is the password of the underworld. If the signal is not returned, then he knows he confronts an enemy.

They still speak of the fight in "The Spoilers," but "Pals First" has a little racket of its own that will long be remembered.

A popular star in a picture version of one of the most popular plays ever enacted on the boards of the stage.

It was plain that he was an imposter. The sheriff had been summoned and recognized him as a well known convict. There stood the girl he loved broken in spirit over the revelation. The sheriff demanded that he bare his arm. A certain scar would send him behind the bars again, perhaps for his lifetime. He rolled back his shirt sleeves and there——

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER—Three one-sheets; three three-sheets; one six-sheet; one 24-sheet. Paper has been reproduced from scenes suggesting both the humorous and the serious side of the production. All of it is attractive.
NEWSPAPER CUTS—There are four one-column and four two-column available on this production. These also suggest either the humorous or the serious angle of the picture. It remains for the exhibitor to choose which side he desires to accentuate.
ADVERTISING CUTS—One single-column; two double-column; one three-column and one four-column.
LOBBY DISPLAY—A hand-colored lobby display on the same style as "To Hell with the Kaiser" and other Screen Classics has been arranged. There are 22 x 28 star photos; 8 x 10 screen photos and 11 x 14 scene photos, these last in black and white. Title cards and synopsis cards are also furnished.
Other advertising and accessories on "Pals First" include special lithograph window cards, special heralds and plain heralds, slides and music cue sheet.

SUGGESTIONS

The exhibitor has a good "special" in this six-reel production. It is a Screen Classic and a good thing about this brand is that it has always been fastened on only the best of pictures. If you have used the brand name in the past don't neglect it this time, for it will mean real merit.

Lockwood is a star and "Pals First" will go a long way towards establishing his position on a still firmer basis. It is a production with much good comedy, melodrama and a real surprise ending. You might make this ending the feature of your advertisements if you write them yourself. In order to emphasize its importance run a line on this order in your announcement:

"This picture has a complete surprise ending and in order that you may get the full benefit of it we advise you to make your entrance to the ——— theatre at precisely any one of the following hours, ———."

Give in this blank space the hours, afternoon and evening, at which you start each performance. This is always an excellent idea and is in general practice throughout the country, but with the case of "Pals First" it is additionally imperative that it be put into use. Any one seeing the ending first wouldn't enjoy the rest of the picture nearly as well as the man seeing it straight through.

"THE APPEARANCE OF EVIL"—WORLD

Excellent Suspense Runs Straight Through

THE World Film product has shown great improvement recently and "The Appearance of Evil," starring June Elvidge, steps right in line with the rest of its releases.

It presents a novel story that starts right out by getting the suspense up, nor is it ever let down until the end.

Clara Beranger, who made the scenario from the Hazeltine story, has done one of the cleverest pieces of work that the writer has seen. Anyone who knows pictures is going to appreciate this, while the usual audience is going to notice something real different from the ordinary cut and dried fare of the picture program.

The story presents some excellent comedy and satire that is sometimes burlesque, while the tale of Mrs. Brown and Louis Letchworth is never devoid of interest.—Released Oct. 7.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Maida Brown.....June Elvidge
Louis Letchworth.....Frank Mayo
Gordon Brown.....Douglas Redmond, Jr.
Charlie Royce.....Clay Clement, Jr.
Miss Spurgeon.....Nora Cecil
Elsie Quimby.....Inez Marcel
Mr. Quimby.....Louis Grizel
Ross Darnton.....Jack Drumier

Story by Horace Hazeltine.
Scenario by Clara S. Beranger.
Directed by Lawrence C. Windom.
Photographed by Max Schneider.

THE STORY

Mrs. Maida Brown lives with her little boy at Bayport, a secluded country town. A regular visitor to her home is Louis Letchworth, a young man who is in the business of manufacturing airplanes. His lawyer, Royce, a gentleman with a sense of humor as well as a sense of the law, has tendered him a check for a hundred thousand dollars from an "unknown backer." This backer is in reality Mrs. Brown.

The many week-ends which Louis spends at Maida's home cause first her servants and then the whole town to talk. The Purity League gets busy and eventually Maida is obliged to move away, although her relations with Louis have been anything but proper. In the city Harold Brown, the brother of Maida's dead husband, seeks to learn the truth regarding his sister-in-law's relationship with Louis.

One night he sees Maida emerge from Louis' apartment. As a consequence she is summoned to his lawyer's office the next day. Her immense fortune which her husband had left her reverts to Harold provided Maida marries again, according to the terms of the will. Harold believes Maida is married to Louis. This she denies. He then starts suit to obtain custody of the child because of Maida's conduct.

With this Maida makes a clean breast of everything and tells Brown and the lawyer that she was married to Louis in Belgium shortly after the outbreak of the war. She cannot produce a marriage certificate and they do not believe her. Royce solves the problem. Louis, being handy with his pencil, sketches the face of the witness who attended the marriage. Royce then enlists the services of an actor—a real make-up artist—and there is proof of the marriage. Louis' enterprise has been successful and so he is able to return the hundred thousand to Maida's fortune, which, in turn, is given to the Browns with the rest of the money.

AD TALK

A distinctly novel picture, "The Appearance of Evil," featuring June Elvidge, will be shown at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week. This is from a story by Horace Hazeltine, the well known short story writer, and concerns the harm done an innocent couple through malicious gossip. It is an excellently composed picture, maintaining a high degree of suspense, and at the same time introducing some of the richest comedy, satire and romance ever conceived. Miss Elvidge is seen as a young widow, Mrs. Maida Brown. Seldom has this beautiful actress been awarded a more congenial role. Her thoroughly human qualities and her skill as an actress were never shown to better advantage. Frank Mayo and Clay Clement, Jr., are the principals in the supporting cast.

The story relates of the weekly visits of one Louis Letchworth to the home of Mrs. Maida Brown at Bayport. On a certain Saturday afternoon after the arrival of Louis, the maid starts to gossip. Intimate, though harmless, scenes between her mistress and Letchworth she enlarges upon until they become truly awful in the eyes of craven, hypocritical champions of purity of the village. And a result of the maid's gossip, Maida is shortly obliged to leave her pretty home at Bayport and return to the city.

But here, too, gossip pursues her and it is not long before her brother-in-law starts suit to obtain custody of her child on the grounds that she is morally unfit to bring him up. The manner in which Maida proves her own innocence of any wrong-doing and at the same time makes all her defamers hide their heads in shame puts a fine climax on this thoroughly human little story. Its moral, "Judge not, lest ye be judged," is driven home with subtle force.

CATCH LINES

June Elvidge's latest and best world picture.

Written by Horace Hazeltine, well known short story writer of the day.

Never condemn a person on appearances only. In "The Appearance of Evil," the villagers of Bayport judged Mrs. Maida Brown as a "wicked woman" on appearances. They drove her from their midst and were the cause of untold suffering.

"Judge not, lest ye be judged."

June Elvidge in the most unique and fascinating role of her career.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One 6-sheet; two 3-sheets; two 1-sheets.

LOBBY DISPLAYS:—Two 22 x 28 colored; eight 11 x 14 colored; eight 8 x 10 black and white.

CUTS AND MATS:—Cuts and mats for newspaper advertising have been prepared by World Film in one and two columns, showing tense moments from the scenes of production and the star. Matrices of these cuts are available, free of charge, at all World Film exchanges. Electros are available at a reasonable cost.

One and two-column type advertisements are suggested in the press sheet which has been prepared. These type ads give striking catch-lines with name of theatre and date at bottom. Throw-aways have been suggested with catchy phrases appearing on front and back. Two and three-column cuts and mats have been prepared, the matrices free of charge. The three-column cuts show scenes from production with star and members of supporting cast.

SLIDES.

SUGGESTIONS

This is the best picture June Elvidge has done for World Film in many a day and, besides, it offers a novel story. Play it up as Miss Elvidge's best and as one of World Film's best. The author, Horace Hazeltine, is a known story writer. His work on this certainly stamps him as original and he and his work may be boosted sky high.

"BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY"

(Continued from page 2251)

Italian flags could be used to decorate the front and the lobby, also the interior. If you run the general type of "feature" bill, make the week or the days on which you show the feature an "all Italian" occasion. An Italian singer could sing the national anthem of their country or one or two of the popular Italian love songs immediately before the picture.

Forget the weekly when you run this feature, unless you compile your own from several sources. If this is the case drop the war stuff.

This Can Be Used in Either News Story or Ad

"THE BELLS"—PATHE

Frank Keenan in Strongest Character of His Career

FRANK KEENAN has given us many powerful characterizations, but it appears that his Mathias in "The Bells" is the strongest and most gripping he has yet done.

While the picture is particularly sombre for these times, it is such a well made offering that it will make everyone sit tight. An audience at the Rialto applauded it roundly on its conclusion which can perhaps, be taken as significant of the manner in which it will score elsewhere. The fact that we are in war doesn't always mean that the people must have light entertainment. For example, some of the most successful plays produced on Broadway this year have very little, if any comedy relief, to three or four acts of deep mystery and sensational action.

This being the case, "The Bells" is not to be shied at by the exhibitor whose clientele knows a good thing when it comes along.

Keenan is wonderful and the scenario and production are in a large way responsible for the picture's greatness.—Released Oct. 20.—Length, 5 reels.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Mathias.....FRANK KEENAN
Annette.....Lois Wilson
Lisparre.....Joseph J. Dowling
Catherine.....Ida Lewis
Koveski.....Bert Law
Nickel.....Albert Cody
Christian.....Edward Coxen
Gari.....Carl Stockdale

Author: Leopold Lewis; from the play by Erckman Chartrian.
Scenario by Jack Cunningham.
Directed by Ernest C. Warde.

CATCH LINES

Frank Keenan in a marvelous characterization made famous on the stage by Henry Irving.

The terrors of a soul tortured by an avenging conscience.

He tried to put the memory of his past away—tried to forget that he had sinned against society by committing murder—but try as he would, the sleigh bells kept sounding in his ears—sounding—sounding—until he could hear no more.

Frank Keenan, the master character actor, in the greatest characterization of his screen career.

If you liked Frank Keenan in "The Coward," "The Crab" and other photoplays that made him famous, don't miss this picture.

AD TALK

Frank Keenan, the great character actor, who is, at the same time, a star in his own right, will appear at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week in what is, perhaps, the greatest role of his career. He will be seen as the innkeeper, Mathias, in a picturized version of the celebrated play, "The Bells," which was produced on the stage with both Henry Irving and many others, including Mr. Keenan himself, in the leading role. The plot resolves itself into a character study of this inn-keeper who, lacking funds, kills a Jew who stops at his place for refreshment on a certain Christmas eve. With the monies secured from the dead man he is able to pay his debts and set himself on the high road to prosperity.

Years later we find him the mayor of the village, prosperous but ever haunted by the thought of his deed. He can not drive from his mind the sound of the bells ringing on the dead Jew's sleigh. At length, after a horrible nightmare in which he sees himself hypnotized and confessing before a court of justice, he awakes to die in a mad frenzy of fear.

Picturegoers may remember Henry Walthall's great characterization in "The Avenging Conscience" and Raymond Hatton's more recent performance in "The Whispering Chorus." If Mr. Keenan's acting is at all comparable it may be placed in a class with the characterizations of these players. But what is most remarkable regarding "The Bells" is that Mr. Keenan is on the screen practically all of the time. He dominates the action from beginning to end, and so powerful is his delineation of the man who can not rid himself of the horror of his deed, that it appears less as a piece of acting than a veritable slice of life.

Jack Cunningham, who made the scenario from the play, has handled his scenario in the most expert fashion, while the direction of Frederick Warde leaves nothing to be desired.

THE STORY

Mathias is an inn-keeper in French Alsace. The winter has been very hard for him and on Christmas eve he finds himself without funds to pay the landlord, Lisparre. Lisparre demands his money on the morrow and Mathias is in abject despair after his departure. But that night there comes to the inn, Koveski, a Polish Jew, who has traveled long and hard through the snow. He stops for rest and refreshment and Mathias observes that he has much money in his belt. Mathias sees his axe standing in the corner and a fiendish idea takes possession of him. The Jew gets into his sleigh and rides away.

The next morning, Christmas day, when Lisparre arrives, Mathias hands him the money due him. From then on things are prosperous for Mathias and several years later he is the mayor of the village, happy with his wife and daughter, Annette, who is engaged to marry Christian, captain of the guards. It is Christmas eve again and stormy as it was years before. One of the gossips of the village mentions the strange fate of the Polish Jew whose body was never found. Mathias silences him as soon as possible.

On New Year's day Annette and Christian are married. There is a wedding feast in the old inn and the merry-makers invite Gari, a pupil of Mesmer, the great hypnotist, to attend and amuse the guests. Seeing his strange powers practiced on the village fool, Mathias hastens upstairs. Throwing himself on his bed he dreams of being arrested for the murder of the Jew. Gari hypnotizes him and he tells all the details of the crime and so convicts himself. He awakes with a cry and, rushing downstairs, dies in a paroxysm of agony and fear in his wife's arms.

SUGGESTIONS

As has been said, this picture is sombre, but it is so good in its class that it can stand the strongest kind of boosting. Mr. Keenan's characterization can be played up as the greatest he has ever contributed to the screen, for there seems to be little doubt about the sincerity of this statement. Recall some of his earlier successes to your patrons, such as "The Coward," "The Crab" and "The Long Chance." These were very popular.

Advertisements for newspapers could be arranged by the use of bells in each corner. Doubtless, Pathe exchanges will be in a position to supply the exhibitor with star cuts of Mr. Keenan in one of his poses from the picture. Secure one of these and use this in the middle of the ad. This will leave sufficient space for lettering. A lobby display could be similarly arranged. For lobby use, sleigh bells might also be secured and hung in a place where people will brush against them—or else see to it that they tinkle now and then.

In your advertisements make mention of the fact that "The Bells," as a play, was done both by Mr. Keenan and Sir Henry Irving on the stage and that it is considered one of the greatest character studies ever written. To counteract the sombre character of the play, follow right along with the quickest comedy you can get—a slapstick, if possible—for these numbers usually start off with a laugh. If this contrast be obtained, it will serve to relieve the tension created by the dramatic feature.

"The Bells" is a picture that can be made the better by well selected music. On page 2011, MOTION PICTURE NEWS, issue of September 28, the exhibitor will find valuable aids.

"OUT OF A CLEAR SKY"

(Continued from page 2249)

ADVERTISING LAYOUTS—Include one, two and three-column advertisements prepared in the usual Paramount style.
SLIDES, MUSIC CUE SHEET.

SUGGESTIONS

Here is a light romance with various touches of comedy that is certainly going to please every if it isn't going to thrill. Let them know that it is a "typical" Marguerite Clark picture, for it was in productions of such a type that she started. Accentuate the romantic and comedy threads. Forget about the Belgium stuff in it, for if you mention this as a feature, they will think it a war story, which it emphatically is not. Family audiences will be caught by advertisement that dwell on Miss Clark's return to the style of picture in which they first endorsed her, and by descriptions of the light and romantic story.

Marshall Neilan is a well known director due to his affiliation with Mary Pickford in several of her most recent productions. "Stella Maris," a dramatic masterpiece, was due to his directorial efforts. Let them know of his work on that picture. He is great on detail, particularly on the human and humorous ends of it. A line after his name on this order: "——— who has no equal in staging the scene with the human and the humorous notes," would be fitting.

Maria Thompson Davies is a fairly well known author and deserves some mention, although the merit of this picture is largely due Miss Clark and Mr. Neilan. If you usually run a comedy with the feature you might reverse the order when showing "Out of a Clear Sky" and try to get a two-reel drama. Not that there is an overwhelming amount of comedy in the long subject, but this arrangement would give better balance to the program.

Stock Cut of Keenan on Hand at Pathe Exchanges

"A DIPLOMATIC MISSION"—VITAGRAPH

A Fast One with a Zippy Hop to It

"A DIPLOMATIC MISSION" is the sort of picture your modern day picture audience wants. It's fast, by that it is meant that there is never a scene wherein the action slows down or stops. There are too many of this kind, but "A Diplomatic Mission" keeps right on moving like an express train through a local station.

The story concerns the activities of a Yankee in settling an uprising of South Sea Island natives. He does it for the love of duty and for the love of a girl. And the relentless pace he sets is a joy to eyes tired at watching slowing moving dramatic episodes that are not dramatic.

Whoever wrote the subtitles for this deserves a medal. And in passing it is Don Bartlett who wrote them. They are well worded and they are funny. Which also brings to the typewriter the comment that the picture is a romantic, adventurous, comedy-drama and Earle Williams and Grace Darmond are delightful in the leading roles.—Released Sept. 30.—Length, 5 reels.—Peter Milne.

THE CAST

Sylvester Todd.....EARLE WILLIAMS
Lady Diana.....Grace Darmond
Sir John Boyden.....Leslie Stuart
Lady Boyden.....Kathleen Kirkham
Von Goetz.....Gordon Russell
Author: Don Bartlett.
Directed by Jack Conway.

THE STORY

Sylvester Todd is a Yankee globe trotter with a preference for the South Sea Islands. On one occasion and on one of these islands he meets Lady Diana, a fair flower of England. As a consequence he immediately decides to stay. But Sylvester makes the mistake of protecting Lady Diana from the advances of a Hohenzollern prince. He kicks said prince in the nether regions and breaks his nasty sword. With that he is forced to leave the island for his own good health.

Somewhere else, no matter where, he encounters an English official, who realizes his love of adventure, his fearlessness and his faculty of making friends. So Sylvester gets the mild job of going to a certain island where the natives have been incited to riot by a German agent. It is his little job to calm said natives and he sets out with a vengeance, principally because Lady Diana is not far distant. And in a short time she arrives on the scene of action and again meets her protector. And while her words would indicate that she has no love for him, her eyes tell another story. Lady Diana had no control over her eyes—perhaps that was the reason so many men were following in her footsteps.

But things get very warm, in fact, very hot, on the little island. The natives are swayed by the exponent of German Kultur and decide to wipe the little English colony from the face of the mountain where their chateau lies and blow up the island, valuable ore deposits and all. And here is where Sylvester comes in. No job is too big for a Yankee, and no job is too big for any man when there is a fair lady's hand at stake and naturally, Sylvester wins the day, but not until after many of the most exciting adventures. In the end Lady Diana graciously awaits him—lucky Sylvester.

AD TALK

Followers of Earle Williams, the Vitagraph favorite, will see him in a totally different type of role from his past appearances when he makes his screen bow in "A Diplomatic Mission," to be presented at the ———— theatre on ———— of ———— week. This production, we confidently feel is one of the very best that Mr. Williams has given us to date—and we should not forget that Grace Darmond has a share in the giving, she being his co-star. It is a fast and snappy romantic drama with plenty of comedy touches in which an American hero, a real honest-to-goodness, breezy, fearless American hero, wins the hand of an English lady of title. What matters it if he is obliged to get the better of a whole island of rebellious natives before Lady Diana will accept him. What matters it if his own life is in jeopardy time and time again. The only thing that counts with Sylvester—this being the Yankee's name—is success, for success means the hand of Lady Diana.

The picture is one of the most attractively mounted productions that has been seen at the ———— theatre in some time. For scenes on the South Sea Islands the Vitagraph Company, in some way, succeeded in securing locations and natives that look exactly like the real thing. There is not a false note struck in this respect from the start of the picture to its finish.

It is a different type of production from the usual run of Earle Williams features, as has been said before. One thing outstanding regarding it is the speed with which the action is staged. It is the picture's duty to progress, but few of them progress with rapidity enough to satisfy the average fan. However, "A Diplomatic Mission" is like lightning in its movement. It is guaranteed to support the interest all the way through—to give many thrills and many laughs.

CATCH LINES

Earle Williams and Grace Darmond in their latest co-starring picture, "A Diplomatic Mission."

Yankee pluck measured against Hun villainy—which triumphs? We'll give you only half a guess.

Would you thrill at a picture wherein just as the good old American hero is fighting one against twenty, when he is fighting for his country, for his lady fair—would you thrill when, just when all seemed about lost, a good old U. S. warship appeared on the scene and fired a few broadsides to give the American hero a little confidence? Would you thrill? Say, boy! And you'll want to, we bet. Then don't miss the latest Vitagraph with Earle Williams and Grace Darmond. It's called "A Diplomatic Mission" and it's now at the ———— theatre.

Earle Williams essays an entirely different type of role.

Earle Williams risks his life a dozen times in "A Diplomatic Mission," and you would too if you had the same reason to risk it for. The reason? Grace Darmond. You don't think he's at all reckless then, do you? Nor do we.

How many pro-Germans does it take to equal one good American? See "A Diplomatic Mission and find out.

ADVERTISING AIDS

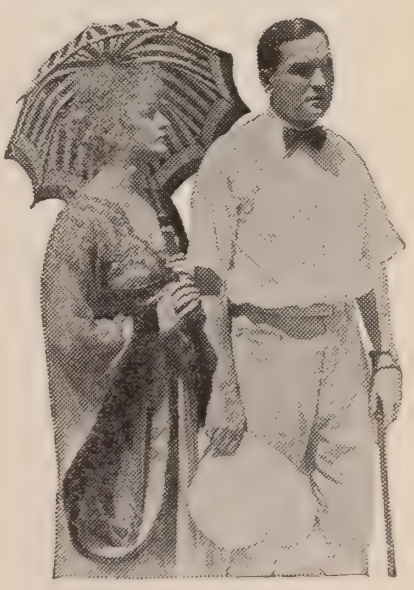
PAPER:—One one-sheet, one three-sheet, one six-sheet.
LOBBY DISPLAY:—This includes various sizes of photographs, both scene and star, titles card, etc.
TEXT CUTS:—Electros of all cuts contained in Vitagraph press sheet furnished for newspaper use free of charge. These include a two-column sketch of Earle Williams, a two-column scene cut of a stratling nature and a one-column of Mr. Williams and Grace Darmond.
SLIDES AND MUSIC CUE SHEET also furnished.

MANUFACTURER'S ADS

Manufacturer's advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in MOTION PICTURE NEWS in September 28 issue, page 1940.

SUGGESTIONS

Let them know that in this picture Earle Williams essays a new type of role—that of a dashing, fearless American. Grace Darmond is a card—a beautiful one—and ought to be featured along with Williams. They make a wonderful team. It is possible that a different sort of newspaper advertisement would go for this picture. Write it in a spirit of optimism, for the picture is full of laughs and romance and good fighting for a righteous cause. Fix up something on this order:



"You know what the word Yankee means, don't you? It means a man with courage, resourcefulness, initiative, pluck, stick-to-itiveness. Well, just what would a man of that calibre do when set down in the midst of a howling, raging mob of South Sea Island natives who were incited to rebellion by German agents. He would try his darndest to turn the tables on the Germans, wouldn't he? If he was a real yank he would. If you want the treat of your life, an inspiration, a laugh, a thrill at daredevil deeds and a romance, come to the ———— theatre and see Earle Williams and Grace Darmond in 'A Diplomatic Mission.' What Earle doesn't do in the name of diplomacy isn't worth doing."

A talk like the above in small type with the regular announcement accompanying it, should draw attention.

Up-to-Date

The Index on Page 2242 will keep you posted on all pictures reviewed in the Complete Plan Book.

File It with Reviews

EARLE WILLIAMS
in Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature
"A Diplomatic Mission"
Coarse Screen Cut Supplied for Newspaper Use

"THE EMBARRASSMENT OF RICHES"—LILLIAN WALKER PROD.

Clean Picture Which Should Please Star's Followers

YOU will find a review of this picture in the advance reviews of last week's issue, on page 2079. It is not a big offering, but it will please, because it is light and deals with the bright side of life. The human element in some of the situations, some thrills and suspense constitute the basic entertaining elements in it.

It is clean and where this star is popular ought to take well.

Released Sept. 23.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Elizabeth Holt.....Lillian Walker
John Russell, philanthropist.....Carl Brickert
Wm. Gildersleeve, banker.....John Costello
Bobby Gildersleeve, his son.....Edward Keenan
Count Orloff.....Henry Sedley
Leighton Craig.....Edward Roseman
Mrs. Goodwin.....Harriet Ross
Alma.....Reeva Greenwood
Miss Partridge.....Peggy Lundeen
Ted Phelan.....Howard Truesdale
Jim Connors.....John Dillon

Author: Louis K. Anspacher.
Scenario by Roy Somerville.
Directed by Edward Dillon.

THE STORY

Elizabeth Holt works in a shirt factory, and is not very happy. One day she gets the shock of her life when a banker approaches her and tells her that she is heir to a cool million. Soon afterward Elizabeth begins her social career under the guidance of a Mrs. Goodwin. Elizabeth is bothered considerably by two suitors, neither of whom wants her for herself but for her money. They are Bobby Gildersleeve, the banker's son, and Count Orloff.

Elizabeth's real interests lie with John Russell, a philanthropist who maintains a settlement on the lower East Side. Russell despises the rich, and when Elizabeth comes to call almost the first thing he says is something not very kind about herself. Unaware that he has insulted one of his largest contributors to her very face, he continues his tirade. Afterward Elizabeth introduces herself as her own secretary, which relieves the situation considerably.

Russell is molested by the ward boss, who maintains a gambling establishment next door. One evening Mrs. Goodwin and a party visit this place on a slumming excursion. It is raided. They sneak out the back windows, and think to get safely into the settlement house where Russell and Elizabeth are working. They appeal to Elizabeth for assistance, and it is not until then that Russell knows the real identity of the girl he loves. And Elizabeth doesn't want any audience around her, so she refuses assistance and watches Mrs. Goodwin et al. being lugged away to the station house.

AD TALK

Lizzie Holt never thought of calling herself anything but Lizzie until she inherited a million dollars, and decided to give up her job in a shirt factory. Subsequently she became Miss Elizabeth Holt, but riches didn't spoil her. Not Lizzie—Elizabeth rather—for she had gotten her share of the world's knocks, and was not to be spoiled. About the first thing she did after she inherited the million was to call on a settlement worker, John Russell. Russell told her that Miss Elizabeth Holt was like all the rest of the rich people—selfish. Elizabeth gets a slight shock from this accusation, but to save her face tells Russell that she is Miss Holt's secretary.

But Russell naturally changes his mind about Miss Holt before the picture is over. He doesn't discover the true identity of Lizzie, however, until after he proposes. And there are many and important happenings before them. The story of the young woman thus catapulted to riches and the young settlement worker is attractively told in the ———— theatre's attraction for ———— of ———— week, entitled "The Embarrassment of Riches."

"The Embarrassment of Riches" was taken from the play by Louis K. Anspacher, author of "The Unchastened Woman," a great success on the stage. Lillian Walker, one of the real favorites of the screen, will be seen in the featured role. She proves herself every bit as capable a dramatic actress in this picture, as she is in doing comedy in others. Edward Dillon directed the picture from a scenario written by Roy Somerville.

CATCH LINES

Lillian Walker, one time Vitagraph favorite, in a striking picture version of Louis K. Anspacher's well-known drama, "The Embarrassment of Riches."

Money doesn't always bring happiness. When Lizzie Holt inherited a million she was embarrassed by it. See the peculiar predicament in which she found herself in "The Embarrassment of Riches."

ADVERTISING AIDS

POSTERS:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; two six-sheets, showing scenes from production and picture of Lillian Walker. These obtainable at General exchanges handling the Hodkinson product.

PHOTOS:—11 x 14, 22 x 28 of star and production.

CUTS AND MATS:—There are two styles of one and two-column cuts suitable for newspaper use.

"LAUGHING BILL HYDE"

(Continued from page 2245)

SUGGESTIONS

The exhibitor has a new star to plug in "Laughing Bill Hyde." He is Will Rogers of Ziegfeld's Follies, famed in the larger cities as a comedian and wit. From the manner in which his picture was received at the Rivoli, New York, the people of that city have definitely decided in his favor. Of course Rogers' popularity on the musical comedy stage means little to the exhibitor in the smaller city or town. But there are a number of ways that he can be advertised so as to create interest in his initial appearance.

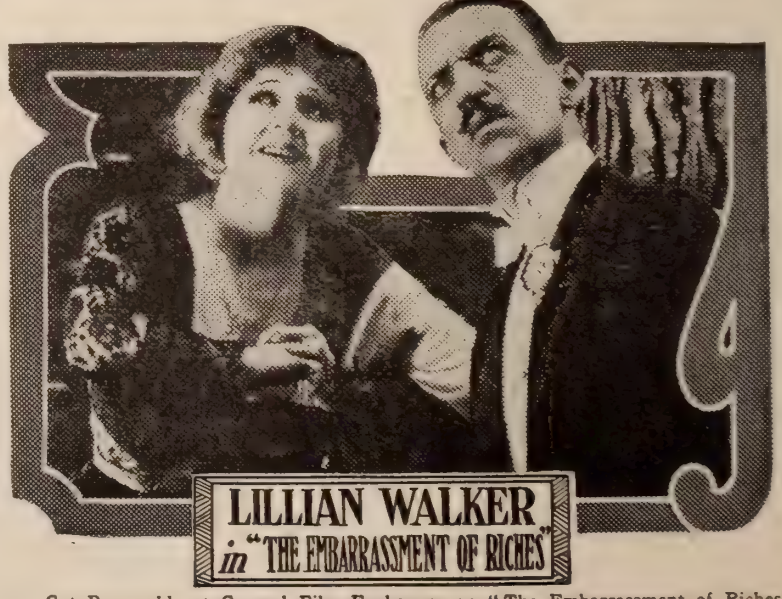
The Ziegfeld Follies is a national institution, more or less. Everyone who comes to New York attempts to see the show there. So let your public know from whence Will Rogers came. Also announce that he started his career as a real cowboy and that he is possessed of a cowboy's dry sense of humor. Stories regarding him, many will be found in the Goldwyn press sheet on this picture, should be used in the newspapers. His pictures, altogether individual and striking, should also be used whenever possible. His New York career, his early career and his position today will help popularize him.

However, with the case of this picture the exhibitor also has Rex Beach's name to advertise. Beach, the author of "The Auction Block" and "Heart of the Sunset," both productions released by Goldwyn, and one of the best known fiction writers of the day, should be featured along with Rogers. In fact in some localities it might be advisable to play the author's name above the star's. Also if you are in the habit of giving the director credit and have played the Mae Marsh pictures released by Goldwyn don't forget that Hobart Henley, director of these numbers, handled the production details of "Laughing Bill Hyde."

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Excellent 24-sheets of this production have been prepared and are available at Goldwyn exchanges. Attractive paper is also furnished in the other standard sizes, one, three and six-sheets.

LOBBY DISPLAY:—The stills furnished for lobby display are all colored and include photographs in the following sizes: 8 x 10, 11 x 14 and 22 x 27.



ADVERTISING CUTS (distributed in matrix form free of charge):—There are two one-column ads. The smaller contains head of Rogers, lettering and place for theatre's name and other advertising. The deep single-column cut is striking. It shows Rogers grinning over the head of a mule and besides giving suggestion of the picture's comedy touches stands right out from the page. The two-column ad shows Rogers and Miss Lehr embracing, with good display type and room for other announcements. Another two-column, considerably deeper, has good scene from production.

TEXT CUTS:—There is a large two-column of Rogers, three single columns of Rogers and two double-column scene cuts.

Accessories also include slides and a music cue sheet.

MANUFACTURERS' ADS

Manufacturers' advertisements from which exhibitors can glean interesting information and advertising suggestions on this picture appeared in "Motion Picture News," Sept. 28 issue, pages 1936 and 1937; Aug. 31 issue, pages 1302 and 1303.

Scene Cut Procurable at General Film Exchanges on "The Embarrassment of Riches"

"VIVE LA FRANCE!"—PARAMOUNT

Well Constructed Appeal to Your Patriotism

THERE are situations in this picture that, at normal times, would cause protests from critical audiences. For instance, the assault at the heroine by the German officer with his bestial instincts in plain evidence; the parading of the Belgian women with dejected looks and downcast faces, and the German officer saying to the heroine that they are wearing the badge of disgrace. But these are abnormal times. One must sanction anything that helps expose the nature of the German soldier within. It helps win the war. Besides, these scenes are in nowise an exaggeration. I have been shown actual photographs of such horrible atrocities that would make an eighty year old man shoulder a rifle and go to the front.

The balance of the picture is well produced and interesting. It contains situations that are bound to arouse an outburst of patriotism.

Released Sept. 15.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Jenevieve Bouchette, a Motion Picture Actress.....Dorothy Dalton
Jean Picard, an Army Cinematographer.....Edmund Lowe
Capt. Heinrich May.....Frederick Starr
Colonel Bouchier, a French Officer.Thomas Guise
Pierre Le Gai, a French Peasant..Bert Woodruff
Author: H. H. Van Loan.
Scenario by C. Gardner Sullivan.
Director: R. William Neill.

THE STORY

Jenevieve Bouchette, a motion picture actress, hears in New York that her parents have been murdered by German troops in their home in Deschon, France. She hastens to her native country and arrives in Deschon, which the French have recaptured. The position is not safe, however, and after a short time the Germans again enter the town. Jenevieve is caring for her wounded brother Henri. German soldiers fire through the window, killing him. A lieutenant enters and attempts to overpower her. When she refuses to submit to him he shows her a procession of women being herded back of the German lines. They have been branded with "the cross of shame" he tells her and adds that she will suffer a similar fate unless she submits to him. Jenevieve is horror-stricken and faints. When she regains consciousness she wears the cross.

Jean Picard, formerly an actor in the same studio with Jenevieve, now a volunteer in the French army, is carrying an important message to a section of the forces cut off from the main body. When he reaches Deschon he is wounded and faint from the loss of blood. As luck would have it, he encounters Jenevieve. It is she who restores him to consciousness, and it is she who, using her wits, gets him out of the hands of the Germans and safely on his way again.

Later in an effort to escape the Germans Jenevieve dons a uniform of a dead Hun. At this time the French sweep forward again and take possession of the village for the second time. Jenevieve is arrested and ordered to be shot, for the uniform she wore contained maps made by a spy. When the officer in charge sees the cross on her breast he realizes his mistake.

Months later Deschon is peaceful again. Jean Picard returns, but his mind is a blank. Jenevieve nurses him and attempts in various ways to restore his power to think. All attempts are futile, however, until Jean sees the cross of shame on her breast. His memory returns and the two plight their troth.

AD TALK

Dorothy Dalton's latest picture bearing the inspiring title of "Vive La France" will be the attraction at the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week. It was written specially for her by H. H. Van Loan, scenarioized by C. Gardner Sullivan and produced by R. William Neill, under Thomas H. Ince's supervision. Mr. Van Loan based his story on facts he obtained from the newspapers. "The cross of shame," with which the heroine is branded by the Germans, is a mark that has actually been put upon the loyal women of France and Belgium.

The story concerns the adventures of a motion picture actress in Deschon, France. This little village is the center of turmoil at the time the picture opens. Jenevieve, the actress, has arrived there on learning that her aged mother and father have been killed by the Germans. Her brother, a soldier, is wounded and shot by marauding Germans while he rests in her arms. The real drama of the picture arises when Jenevieve rescues her sweetheart Jean, who is carrying important dispatches and succeeds in tricking the German officers so that he escapes.

Miss Dalton, it may safely be said, has never had a more congenial role than that provided her in this picture. It gives her emotional talents full play. Edmund Lowe appears opposite her for the first time. He is a newcomer to pictures and does excellent work in his first appearance before the camera.

CATCH LINES

A war drama based on actual facts.

How a woman's wit was instrumental in enabling the French to win an important engagement against the Germans.

An amazing expose of a Hun atrocity hitherto only briefly referred to in the newspaper columns.

By H. H. Van Loan, who based his drama on actual facts.

One of the greatest contributions to the ranks of war pictures.

The story of a motion picture actress who tricked a German regiment with her acting.

Did you know that many of the women in Belgium and France were branded with "The cross of shame" by the Germans? That's just one more thing we are fighting against.

SUGGESTIONS

In your advertising on this play up the fact that the story contains truth as well as fiction. Mention that Van Loan, the author, based the picture on a newspaper story he read regarding "The Cross of Shame."

The title lends itself to advertising admirably. "Vive La France" flung across the top of an advertisement will stand right out. There are the flags to rely on for lobby decorations, if this plan of advertising is carried out.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—Two one-sheets; two three-sheets; one six-sheet. One of the ones is a pretty pose of the star. The other shows German soldier threatening star. One of the threes shows star raising cross before German soldier. The other shows Miss Dalton and French officer. The six is a pose of star in Red Cross costume.

PHOTOS:—Eight 8 x 10 black and white; eight 11 x 14 sepia, one 22 x 28 sepia, 8 x 10 photos of star.

CUTS AND MATS ON PRODUCTION:—Five one-column, three two-column, two three-column. Good illustrations, all with star in nurses' costume.

The same number of cuts and mats are available on the star.

ADVERTISING LAYOUTS:—One, two and three-column ads have been prepared by Paramount.

SLIDES, MUSIC CUE.

ALWAYS FIRST

Have you noticed that we always carry the reviews first of all trade papers, either in the Complete Plan Book or Advance Reviews?

LEADERS

always give you the best service and we are leaving no stone unturned to do just that.

Dominates the Field

Single-Column Cut Provided for "Vive La France"

"DESERT LAW"—TRIANGLE

"Zowie" and Then Some More—Bullets Fly Thickly in This

SOME one ought to page Hoover for the waste of perfectly good powder. There is much ferocious shooting done in this picture, but hardly anybody gets hurt. It will remind you of your boyhood days when you used to play soldiers and cowboys and could stand at the window in plain view of the enemy, or barricade behind a thin wood partition, the bullets all the while showing perfect respect for your lives.

It would be a splendid idea if some kind gentleman would remind the West Coast Publicity man of the Triangle that they don't feature the villain now-a-days when there is a perfectly good looking hero in the picture, simply to satisfy a whim, thus disregarding the interests of thousands of the exhibitors many of them working like slaves to make a living.

If you expect to play this picture I would advise you to feature Al Whitman, the hero, who is fairly well known. You could have strips printed with his name on and pasted on the posters.

The picture is clean, but much below the average Triangle. It may have an appeal to some of those who like the Western drama.—Released Sept. 22.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Rufe Dorsey.....Jack Richardson
The Stranger.....George Pearce
Donald McLane.....Al Whitman
Julia Wharton.....Leotta Lorraine
Sheriff.....Ray Hanford
Deputies.....{ Bert Appling, James Farley
Logan.....Phil Gastrock
Jim.....Joe Singleton
Dick.....Leo Pierson
Buck.....Curly Baldwin

Story by Louis H. Kilpatrick.
Directed by Jack Conway.
Photographed by B. Edmond.

THE STORY

Donald McLane, a homesteader, innocently incurs the hate of Rufe Dorsey when he takes as his wife Julia Wharton. Dorsey, by reason of his strong character, which, however, is quite misdirected, heads a large organization of miscreants in this section of the country. As a result of McLane's winning the girl he trumps up a murder charge, and working with the Sheriff, his tool, has the homesteader sent to prison.

Things look black until a mysterious stranger appears. This man poses as financier and detective, and soon has grasped the entire case. He strikes up a friendship with Logan, another homesteader, and a friend of McLane's, who is convinced of his innocence. Julia's brothers rescue McLane and rush him to their ranch. Dorsey, at the head of a large band gives pursuit.

The stranger, seeing things getting very hot, sends a cipher message to the State militia and at the same time goes to the ranch himself to warn the Whartons of the Sheriff's coming. The bandits lay siege to the place and a terrific battle is under way when the militia arrives to save the day. The stranger is revealed as a Government Secret Service man who came to get the goods on Dorsey and the dishonest Sheriff. McLane is proved innocent of any murder and all ends happily.

AD TALK

A "western" of the good old-fashioned sort is coming to the ——— Theatre on ——— of ——— week. By old-fashioned, we don't mean to imply anything under the average. No, siree! Old-fashioned means good stuff. Remember the story wherein the heavy was a dyed-in-the-wool villain from beginning to end, where he never let that poor hero and heroine alone? A meddlesome, nasty, tricky guy! That's the sort of a man you have in "Desert Law," and what he doesn't stop at to make life miserable for the other pair. Jack Richardson is this bad man. Jack once started to count up how many times he had been a villain for the screen and lost track of it all before he got half way through.

The story of "Desert Law" tells how this villain, Rufe Dorsey by name, fixed up a charge of murder on his rival in love, and using the crooked Sheriff as his tool, had the innocent man sent to jail. All might have gone well for Rufe and the cause of villainy had not a mysterious stranger appeared on the scene and at once gotten to work on the case.

Now, the stranger was none other than a Government representative—a sort of secret service man—who had arrived on the spot for the express purpose of running Rufe and his men to cover. Then things do begin to hum. And to get back to the line on which we started: Something about the whirlwind finish with the militia and everything coming to the rescue of the good fellows, who have been hemmed in by the bad fellows, impressed us as being of that good old-fashioned type when we first saw it. When we saw it again we were sure of it. It sure is a real humdinger in every respect.

Jack Richardson is the star—which is something new, by the way, making a villain a star, but from the way Jack works he deserves it all. When a man gets "his" in the end, why not make him a star for the short space of five reels? Al Whitman, who was the hero in a number of fine old Vitagraph pictures, fills the same capacity here, and Leota Lorraine is the pretty girl, with all the accent on the pretty. Don't forget the date, ———. It's a feature well worth seeing.

CATCH LINES

Jack Richardson, master-villain, in his first starring vehicle, the Triangle play, "Desert Law."

A good, old-fashioned melodrama of the western plains—one with thrill after thrill in the "seeing" and a wind up that brings on the State militia to the rescue.

You like to see a real gun fight—then drop around to the ——— and have a look at "Desert Law."

Jack Richardson is the villain, Al Whitman the hero and Leota Lorraine the heroine—and she's a pretty one, too.

Triangle is what might be termed the "house of Western pictures," and "Desert Law" is one of the best of this class.

ADVERTISING AIDS

POSTERS:—One, three and six sheets, one style of each showing scene from production. Price, 10 cents per sheet.

NEWSPAPER CUTS AND MATS:—One and two-column cuts and mats. Single-column cuts at 20 cents each and double-column cuts at 40 cents each.

PHOTOS FOR LOBBY DISPLAY:—11 x 14 (30 cents each); 22 x 28 (50 cents each), and tinted photos of star and scenes from production (70 cents each).

SLIDES, price 10 cents each.

PRESS SHEETS furnished at all of the Triangle exchanges, free of charge.

SUGGESTIONS

This is a Western and one of the good old style, type. Play it as such. You might feature the old whirlwind finish with the State militia to the rescue. This goes back to other days and will perhaps be welcomed.

If a lobby display is desirable anything on the western order will suffice for decorations. The cheapest idea of this sort would be to display a six-shooter and lay beneath it a sign reading: "Want to see this handled by one who really knows how? Step inside and watch Jack Richardson, the master bad man at work."

Service doesn't go very far if it is not the kind you can use and profit by.

Plan Book service will help you.

AL WHITMAN IN TRIANGLE PLAY "DESERT LAW"

Cuts, as Above, in One and Two-Column Sizes

"THE TEMPLE OF DUSK"—HAWORTH

Plot Is Good; Picture Emotional, But Gruesome

THIS picture will affect the emotions without any question, but it will leave a rather unhappy feeling, as it is sad and in places gruesome.

The basic idea of the plot is a good one. It is about the attachment of the hero to a little white baby girl. But in the development of the story there have been so many detrimental situations incorporated. that the original purpose has been drowned completely.

For instance, the mother of the little girl dies as the result of heart-breaking neglect from her husband. Her death is shown in a close-up with all the agonizing details. It is hardly entertaining. There is a murder shown also.

The husband marries again, but his new wife begins anew relations with an ex-lover. The husband returns unexpectedly and, finding the intruder in his wife's room, kills him. Before the killing, a scene shows the lover kissing the woman in a strongly suggestive way. Another one shows him with his hair disheveled and adjusting his collar and necktie. They are hardly fit to show to family patronages.

While escaping from the jail, the hero is shot by the prison guards. He dies by the bedside of the little baby.

This may prove a little too strong for tender-hearted audiences.—Released Oct. 20.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Akira.....Sessue Hayakawa
Ruth Dale.....Jane Novak
Adrienne Chester.....Sylvia Bremer
Edward Markham.....Lewis Willoughby
Pembroke Wilson.....Henry Barrows
Blossom.....Mary Jane Irving
Written by Frances Marion.
Directed by James Young.

THE STORY

Akira, a Japanese of good family, is in love with Ruth Dale, a delicate American girl, but she turns to a man of her own race, Edward Markham, and they are married. Three years afterward Ruth dies while Markham is amusing himself with Adrienne Chester, a restless, beautiful woman. Akira promises Ruth before she dies that he will always look to the welfare of her child, Blossom.

Later Markham marries Adrienne and returns to the United States. Akira accompanies them in order to be near his charge. In America there is one, Pembroke Wilson, an admirer of Adrienne's, who has never forgotten. He renews his old acquaintance with her and in a short while their actions are such as to cause Markham grave suspicions.

He returns to his home one day to discover Wilson there with his wife. There are heated words and a murder is committed. Akira takes the blame and goes to jail, as he cannot bear to think of Blossom, grown to womanhood, knowing that her father committed such a crime. Blossom comes to see Akira in jail and cannot understand why he is kept behind the bars in the "zoo."

One night Akira dreams that he hears Blossom calling him. So strong is his love for her that he makes a break from the jail. He is wounded by a shot fired by one of the guards, but manages to reach Markham's home. He finds Blossom outside huddled against the side of the house. She had gone to search for him. He carries her back to her room and tries to amuse her as he used to. But he slowly weakens from the loss of blood. His head sinks on Blossom's pillow. She thinks him asleep, but in reality Akira has entered the Temple of the Dusk.

AD TALK

Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star, will be seen at the ——— Theatre on ——— of ——— week in his latest picture produced by his own company. This bears the title of "The Temple of the Dusk," and is a story of Akira's love and devotion for an American girl and the lengths to which he went to prove this love. He first meets the girl, Ruth, in Japan, and her delicate beauty appeals to him strongly. Before long he is desperately in love with her, but Ruth turns to a man of her own race and marries Edward Markham.

Markham, however, is not the loyal man that Akira is. A few years pass and he is attracted by Adrienne Chester, a restless beauty. And shortly Ruth dies leaving her child, Blossom, in Akira's charge. In America, Adrienne, now the wife of Markham, renews an old love affair with Pembroke Wilson and arouses Markham's jealousy. There is a murder and Akira goes to prison in Markham's stead. He does not want Blossom to grow up knowing her father to be a murderer.

The tragic climax of this story is revealed beautifully by Hayakawa. His acting has always been a subject of great admiration, but in the denouement of "The Temple of the Dusk" he surpasses all former efforts. In jail Akira dreams that Blossom is calling him and he breaks out to go and see her. A guard wounds him, but Akira keeps on. He finds Blossom outside the house in the rain, searching for him. He picks her up and carries her to her room and there he dies—departs to the Temple of the Dusk.

Hayakawa's support includes Jane Novak and Sylvia Bremer, both well known leading women. Others are Lewis Willoughby, Henry Barrows and Mary Jane Irving, a child actress.

CATCH LINES

Sessue Hayakawa, the noted Japanese actor, in his latest screen success.

Jane Novak and Sylvia Bremer, both well known leading women, support the star.

When Akira vows to Ruth that he would watch over her child he kept his word even though he died in keeping it.

Written by Frances Marion, long scenario writer for Mary Pickford, now serving her country in France.

A picture that gives the noted Japanese actor ample room for the display of his talents.

Directed by James Young, one of the ablest exponents of the directors' art.

Sessue Hayakawa, a star because of his ability, not because of press agentry.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—There are two styles of one-sheets, two threes, one six and one twenty-four—all attractively colored.

LOBBY DISPLAY:—Six 8 x 10 photos and title card at 75 cents the set; six 11 x 14 photos and two 22 x 28 flats at the same price.

CUTS AND MATS:—One one-half-column cut (65 screen) rented at 10 cents. There are two styles of one-column cuts at same price and one two-column at 25 cents. One, two and three-column mats are also procurable.

A window card slide and music cue sheet also furnished.

SUGGESTIONS

This picture was written by Frances Marion and directed by James Young, a good combination to feature along with the star. The picture is beautifuly produced and is of a general sombre tone, so be sure to dress up the balance of your program with light pictures. Stories regarding Hayakawa make interesting reading, in that he is the only Japanese star of the day. Aside from this, he is acknowledged one of the ablest exponents of his art. He is a real actor.

FILE IT

The Complete Plan Book
Will Serve You
Well

Reproduction of One-Sheet

"THE BORDER RAIDERS"—DIANDO-PATHE

A Winner for Those Who Favor Melodramas

THIS attraction will please a great number of picturegoers, mostly those who love melodrama and who are not critical. It deals with a subject that appeals universally—opium smuggling, in which Chinamen and United States Government secret service men are the principals.

The continuity is somewhat faulty, and although it will get by with a great number of people, it could have been made into an honestly good entertainment, had better attention been paid to it.

There is a great deal of heart interest in some of the situations, and thrills in some other.

A more extensive review is given in last week's issue, on page 2079.

Released Oct. 6.—Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

THE CAST

Rose Hardy.....Betty Compson
John Smith.....George Larkin
Mock Sing.....Frank Deshon
John Hardy.....H. C. Carpenter
Cleo Dade.....Claire Du Brey
Emanuel Riggs.....Howard Crampton
"Square Deal" Dixon.....Fred M. Malatesta

Authors: Jack Cunningham and Frank Beresford.

Director: Stuart Paton.

Produced by Diando.

THE STORY

John Hardy, ranch owner of the South, is duped by Cleo Dade, partner of "Square Deal" Dixon, a gentleman unlike his name. The duping consists of a marriage ceremony. John Hardy returns to his ranch believing he has with him a real helpmate. It is quite evident, however, that Hardy is blind to the real facts of the case. His daughter Rose realizes them and pities her father. It is Cleo's plan to establish the ranch as headquarters for Mock Sing's opium smugglers. The traffic proceeds from Mexico across the border and into the United States.

John Smith, supposedly a faro dealer, takes a great interest in the case and also in Rose. One day Dixon goes riding with Hardy and returns alone. He announces that Hardy was shot by bandits. He substitutes a false will among the absent man's papers, which puts the entire ranch in charge of Cleo. Rose is displaced altogether. The cowboys, however, stick by her and decide to sit tight and wait for action, for they well realize that foul play is in order somewhere down the line.

Things come to a head when Mock Sing entices Rose to his den and attacks her. She is saved by Smith. A hot battle ensues between the Chinaman's followers and the cowboys. Mock Sing is killed and his henchmen put to rout. The opium traffic is shut down. Hardy is discovered a prisoner of Dixon's men and that the marriage is null and void is easily proven when it is revealed that Cleo is Dixon's wife.

Smith also is revealed in his true colors—that of a Government Secret Service agent sent to clear up the opium traffic on the border. He and Rose are married.

AD TALK

"The Border Raiders," the attraction for the ——— theatre on ——— of ——— week, is as the title implies a story of the Southwest. Since the close of the Mexican war the border between the United States and Mexico has been a veritable hotbed of cattle rustlers, gun runners and opium smugglers. It is with the activities of this latter band of outlaws that "The Border Raiders" deals.

The story which was written by Jack Cunningham and Frank Beresford relates the romance of Rose Hardy, daughter of a ranch owner, and a Secret Service operative, as well as going into the interesting and sensational details of the opium traffic. The story moves like the wind—a good fast wind—and with its intrigue, its hand-to-hand encounters and gun fights is guaranteed to make even the most hardened fan sit up and take notice.

George Larkin, premier dare devil of the screen, is seen in the role of the Secret Service man and naturally when he's in a picture there are stunts. Larkin could never get along without them. He eats them up. Feats of agility and daring seem to be a part of his daily routine, so skillfully does he perform them. Opposite him is charming Betty Compson who make her bow to picture audiences in comedy, but who fits into a dramatic setting with ease and grace.

A fine cast was assembled to support these two leads and under the capable direction of Stuart Paton they give most creditable performance.

CATCH LINES

A sensational story of the opium smugglers of the Mexican border.

Featuring George Larkin and Betty Compson—the former the screen's greatest dare devil, the latter the screen's prettiest girl.

Action, action, action. That's "The Border Raiders" from beginning to end. There is no let-up in its pace. It performs that near-miracle of bringing you to the edge of your seat with excitement.

How one of Uncle Sam's Secret Service men cleaned up the opium traffic on the Mexican border.

You like a picture with the good old Western gambling hall, with all the fighting and riding and everything? Just step around to the ——— theatre and see "The Border Raiders." It's one of the "thrillingest" thrillers ever.

When Mock Sing set his evil eyes on Rose Hardy then plain John Smith took off his cost and started some real action. It was too much for Mock Sing—he didn't live through it.

SUGGESTIONS

You might play George Larkin up in this. You remember him in the old Universal serial, "The Trey of Hearts," where he performed stunt after stunt. In "The Border Raiders" he gives still further demonstration of his ability as a stunt actor. Play him up in this light for in this way you will get the people into the frame of mind to accept "The Border Raiders" for its full worth.

There is also Betty Compson to consider. She has been in so many Christie comedies that her work is well known.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER:—One one-sheet; one three-sheet; one six-sheet.

LOBBY DISPLAY:—11 x 14 and 22 x 28 scnne photos.

CUTS:—There are one-column cuts furnished on both George Larkin and Betty Compson and a two-column scene cut is also provided.

SLIDES, MUSIC CUT SHEET.

"THE RAINBOW TRAIL"

(Continued from page 2244)

SUGGESTIONS

Exhibitors will find that the suggestions printed on page 1913 of the "Motion Picture News," issue of September 21, on "Riders of the Purple Sage," will be applicable to "The Rainbow Trail," which is its sequel.

Above all things don't fail to arrange light subjects on the balance of your program because the picture is heavy from start to finish. If you advertise it as a sequel to the former subject, don't fail to mention that it is also complete in itself. The fact that it might be dependent on the other picture for interest would perhaps keep those away who had not seen the previous picture. If you deal with a transient patronage it would be well not to mention the other production at all, but to concentrate altogether on the present picture.

It has a number of good advertising angles, but be sure not to play up the Mormon side too strong. There are slight chances that such a practice would revert again you. If you work the Mormon angle refer to those in the picture as outlaws from their own religious cult and then you won't be damning people that are today perfectly law-abiding.

ADVERTISING AIDS

PAPER (ten cents per sheet):—Two one-sheet; two three-sheets; one six-sheet; one 24-sheet. All paper is of the same general style as that furnished on "Riders of the Purple Sage." Some of it lays stress on the sensational side of the production, while the rest is of a quieter nature.

LOBBY DISPLAY:—Ten 8 x 10 photographs are procurable at 75c. per set. The same amount of 11 x 14 photographs cost one dollar. Both these sets are in black and white. There are three 22 x 28 colored photographs furnished at a cost of $1.50.

SCENE CUTS:—These are furnished in one and two-column sizes. The one-columns show Farnum in typical poses and in scenes in which he is seen as a half-naked, white-haired old man. The two-columns are scene cuts well selected.

ADVERTISING CUTS:—These also are in one and two-column sizes and include display advertisements, matrices of which may be secured at the Fox exchanges, and suggested type advertisements which the exhibitor will find useful if he has no time in which to prepare original copy.

SLIDES, MUSIC CUE SHEET.

Release Dates of all Pictures Begin on Page 2262

George Larkin, Who Co-Stars With Betty Compson in "The Border Raiders"

tains lots of comedy situations, although some of them are nonsensical.

The story concerns the hero, a reporter, who saves some valuable papers from the hands of German spies.

The most serious fault one can find with it is the fact that it has not been kept entirely within the limits of farce. At times it is inclined to be serious. It would have been far better had all seriousness been kept out of it entirely

It is a clean attraction. You shouldn't be afraid to play it. I am sure it will please.—P. S. Harrison.

Thirty-seven Liberty Loan Reels

Book One Each Day, From Any Exchange, During the Drive

IT is natural for me, or any other American citizen, who has the best interests of our Government at heart, to boost anything that will help make the Liberty Loan a success. But for the moment, I want you to forget that, as I am going to tell you about the quality end first. With the exception of two, that are a little weak, every one of them is a knock-out. They are as good, many of them much better, than anything ever produced during the reign of the single reel. Some of them will make your patrons roar. They will hold their sides.

The question of quality having been disposed of, the patriotic end remains. I don't take myself as being any better patriot than you are. You have shown your attitude time and again. You have the doors of your theatres ever open for the needs of the Government. I am not going to ask you, therefore, to book them, because I know you will. I simply wanted you to take them more seriously as they will do you individually as much good as they will do the Government, which means again ourselves.

These pictures have been donated to the Liberty Loan Committee by the different film concerns. The best known stars appear in them. They are not to be distributed from a central point. Each company is to handle its own contributions. They are to be sent to you free of charge, even express charges paid both ways.

P. S. Harrison.

"The Goat," with Fred Stone

(Paramount—Sept. 22. Directed by Donald Crisp)

THIS is only a fair picture. Its entertaining values are derived from physical action, the few stunts of the star, and some comedy. It contains no heart appealing situations, except some in the last reel.

The story is a revelation of picture making in the studios. It discloses several incidents that transpire during the production of a subject, such as how extras are hired, how some of them get to be stars, the doubling, where stars refuse to take chances in performing dangerous stunts required by the story, and, in fact, everything that takes place in the filming of a picture.

Mr. Stone displays unusual skill and competence as a screen actor. It appears that he is adapted splendidly to portray Western roles. Given a decent story he can undoubtedly deliver the goods. This one hardly furnishes him the proper vehicle.

It is a clean attraction. Length, 5 reels.—P. S. Harrison.

"Whatever the Cost," with Anita King

(Plaza-Hodkinson—Oct. 7. Directed by Robert Ensminger)

THERE isn't much in this picture that will excite anybody. It is just a ready-made program offering. The element of heart appeal is absent, the picture depending entirely on physical action.

The death of the heroine's father, a whisky smuggler, forms the basis of the story. It is caused by the accidental discharge of a pistol, held in a threatening attitude by the villain, dressed in freshly creased white pair of pants, white socks and shoes. In order to discover the murderer, the heroine gets a job in a dance hall.

P. S. Harrison.

Run the Liberty Loan Films
No Cost to the Exhibitor

Directory of New Theatres

WASHINGTON

George Reizner, proprietor of the Lyric and Grand theatres at South Bend, Wash., has started the erection of a new theatre on Duryea street, at Raymond, Wash., which is expected to cost, with its furnishings, about $50,000.

OREGON

The walls are now up for A. Hackbarth's new theatre building at Enterprise, Oregon. The new house will seat 600.

KENTUCKY

It is planned to erect at Camp Knox, Stithton, Ky., one of the largest Liberty theatres in the country, and at Camp Zachary Taylor another one to seat 2,000 persons.

CALIFORNIA

At Long Beach the steel skeleton of a building started two years ago will be made into a Class A theatre by Markwell Brothers and will cost $350,000.

ILLINOIS

Lubliner and Trinz have just completed their new Pantheon theatre at 4642 Sheridan Road, Chicago, at a reported cost of $750,000, and a seating capacity of 3,000.

Studio Space for Rent
KEENEY STUDIOS
308 East Forty-eighth Street
Five minutes from Broadway
APPLY TO
Frank A. Keeney, 1493 Broadway, Room 212
RAY C. OWENS, General Manager

Studios for Lease
PRODUCERS are solving Fuel Problem this winter by moving to Los Angeles. Save time, trouble and money by leasing Studio location through us. Most complete listings of all available Studios.
Personal attention given Moving Picture Business
R. A. Rowan & Company
200 Title Insurance Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

We Can Pay Attractive Prices for Old Moving Picture Films in Reels or Scrap
PETER LEONARDIS & SONS
132 Nassau St., New York City 55 to 59 River St., Newark, N. J.

Features---Current and Coming

Bluebird Photoplays

Sept. 9. The Brazen Beauty (Priscilla Dean) 5
Sept. 23. A Society Sensation (Carmel Myers) 5
Sept. 30. The Velvet Hand (Fritzi Brunette) 5
Oct. 7. The Lure of Luxury (Ruth Clifford) 5
Oct. 14. Together (Violet Merserau) 5

Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

Aug. 19. In Pursuit of Polly (Billie Burke)..
Aug.26. Green Eyes (Dorothy Dalton).....
Aug. 26. Till I Come Back to You (De Mille's) .....
Aug. 26. The Marriage Ring (Enid Bennett).
Sept. 1. On the Quiet (J. Barrymore).....
Sept. 1. Hearts of the Wild (E. Ferguson)..
Sept. 1. The Source (Wallace Reid).....
Sept. 8. The Girl Who Came Back (E. Clayton) .....
Sept. 8. The Hun Within (Special).....
Sept. 8. The Cruise of the Make-Believes (Lila Lee) .....
Sept. 15. He Comes Up Smiling (Doug. Fairbanks) .....
Sept. 15. Out of a Clear Sky (M. Clark)....
Sept. 15. Vive La France (D. Dalton).....
SUCCESS SERIES (Reissues)
Sept. 1. The Eagle's Mate (Mary Pickford).
Sept. 8. Wildflower (M. Clark) .....
Sept. 15. The Girl of the Golden West (Special) .....
Sept. 22. Zaza (Pauline Frederick).....
Sept. 29. Carmen (Geraldine Farrar).....

First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc.

Ambasador Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany."
"Tarzan of the Apes" (Elmo Lincoln and Enid Markey).
"Passing of the Third Floor Back" (Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson).
"Tempered Steel" (Mme. Petrova). .....
"The Life Mask" (Mme. Petrova).
"The Light Within" (Mme. Petrova).
"Daughter of Destiny" (Mme. Petrova).
"Italy's Flaming Front" (Italian Official War Pictures)
Edgar Lewis's "The Sign Invisible" (Mitchell Lewis).
Herbert Brenon's "Empty Pockets."
Herbert Brenon's "Fall of the Romanoffs" (with Iliodor).
"Alimony" (Josephine Whittell).
"Pershing's Crusaders."

Fox Film Corporation

TIMELY PICTURES
Sept. 1. The Prussian Cur.....
Sept. 1. Queen of the Sea (Annette Keller-
Sept. 8. Why America Will Win.....
Oct. 15. Why I would Not Marry.....
Oct. 15. 18 to 45.....
SPECIAL FEATURES
Aug. 4. Doing Their Bit (Jane and Katherine Lee) .....
Aug. 11. The Bird of Prey (Gladys Brockwell) .....
Aug.18. The Liar (Virginia Pearson).....
Aug.23. Lawless Love (Jewel Carmen).....
FOX STANDARD PICTURES
Sept. 1. Riders of the Purple Sage (William Farnum) .....
Sept. 15. The Caillaux Case.....
Sept. 29. When a Woman Sins (Theda Bara)
Oct. 13. The Woman Who Gave (Evelyn Nesbit) .....
Nov. 10. The She Devil (Theda Bara).....
PRODUCTIONS EXTRAORDINARY
Theda Bara in "Cleopatra."
William Farnum in "Les Miserables."
Annette Kellerman in "A Daughter of the Gods."
VICTORY PICTURES
Sept. 8. Mr. Logan, U. S. A. (Tom Mix)..
Sept. 22. Kultur (Gladys Brockwell).....
Oct. 6. On the Jump (Geo. Walsh).....
Oct. 20. Fame and Fortune (Tom Mix).....
Nov. 3. The Strange Woman (Gldays Brockwell) .....
Nov. 17. I'll Say So (George Walsh).....
Dec. 1. Treat 'Em Rough (Tom Mix).....
EXCEL PICTURES
Sept. 1. Bonnie Annie Laurie (Peggy Hyland) .....
Sept. 15. Queen of Hearts (Virginia Pearson)
Sept. 29. Swat the Spy (Jane and Katherine Lee) .....
Oct. 13. Peggy Hyland in "Marriages Are Made" .....
Oct. 27. Virginia Pearson in "Buchanan's Wife".....

General Film Company

AUTHORS' PHOTOPLAYS
Her Moment (Anna Luther).....7 D
HANOVER FILM COMPANY
Camille (Helen Hesperia).....6 D
The Marvelous Maciste.....6 D
Monster of Fate .....
DUPLEX FILMS, INC.
Shame (Zena Keefe).....7 D
COSMOFOTOFILM
Hypocrites (Elizabeth Risdon) .....6 D
EXPORT AND IMPORT FILM CO. (Inc.)
Why—The Bolsheviki.....5 D
OAKDALE PRODUCTIONS
The Locked Heart (Gloria Joy).....5 D
No Children Wanted (Gloria Joy).....5 D
Miss Mischief-Maker (Gloria Joy).....5 D
The Midnight Burglar (Gloria Joy).....5 D
Little Miss Grown-Up (Gloria Joy).....5 D
Wanted, a Brother (Gloria Joy).....5 D

Victory Film Company

The Triumph of Venus (Betty Lee).....5 D

Goldwyn Pictures Corp.

Aug. 11. Friend Husband (Madge Kennedy) 5
Aug. 25. Money Mad (Mae Marsh)..... 5
GOLDWYN STAR SERIES
Sept. 2. Turn of the Wheel (Farrar).....5 D
Sept. 9. Peck's Bad Girl (Normand).....5 C
Sept. 16. Just for To-Night (Moore).....5 D
Sept. 23. The Kingdom of Youth (Madge Kennedy).....5 C D
Sept. 30. Laughing Bill Hyde.....6 D
Oct. 7. Hidden Fires (Mae Marsh).....5 D
Oct. 21. A Perfect 36 (Mabel Normand)....5 C
Oct. 28. Thirty a Week (Tom Moore)....5 C D
GOLDWYN SPECIALS
Social Ambition 7
The Manx-Man 7
For the Freedom of the World..... 7

W. W. Hodkinson Corporation

(Paralta Plays)
Sept. 2. The White Lie (Bessie Barriscale).. —
(Plaza Plays)
Aug. 26. Petticoats and Politics (Anita King) ..... —
Sept. 9. Angel Child (Kathleen Clifford)... —
Oct. 7. Whatever the Cost (King)..... —
Oct. 21. The Law that Divides (Clifford).... —
(J. D. Hampton)
Sept. 16. Prisoners of the Pines (Kerrigan) —
Oct. 28. Three X Gordon (Kerrigan)..... —
(Lillian Walker)
Sept. 23. Embarrassment of Riches (Walker) —
(Bessie Barriscale)
Oct. 14. The Heart of Rachael (Barriscale).. —
(Robert Brunton)
Oct. 14. Goddess of Lost Lake (Glaum)..... —
(Douglass Natural Color)
Cupid Angling (Ruth Roland)..... —

Jewel Productions, Inc.

Come Through.
Pay Me.
Sirens of the Sea.
Man Without a Country.
The Correspondent.
The Price of a Good Time.
The Grand Passion.
The Doctor and the Woman.
The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin.
A Soul for Sale.
For Husbands Only.

Perfection Pictures

(GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM)
Sept. — Conquered Hearts..... —
Sept. — Behind the Lines in Italy..... —
Aug. 26. Triple Trouble" (Chaplin)..... —

Metro Pictures Corporation

Sept. 2. The Silent Woman (Edith Storey), Metro 5
Sept. 9. Our Mrs. McChesney (Ethel Barrymore), Metro 5
Sept. 16. Kildare of Storm (Emily Stevens), Metro 5
Sept. 23. The Return of Mary (May Allison), Metro 5
Sept. 30. Unexpected Places (Bert Lytell), Metro 5
Oct 7. Select Strings (Olive Tell)..... 5
(SCREEN CLASSICS, INC., SPECIALS)
The Legion of Death (Edith Storey), Metro-Rolfe 7
Blue Jeans (Viola Dana), Metro-Rolfe..... 7
Revelation (Nazimova), Screen Classics, Inc. 7
The Slacker (Emily Stevens), Metro..... 7
Draft 258 (Mabel Taliaferro), Metro..... 7
My Own United States (Arnold Daly), Frohman 5
The Million Dollar Dollies (Dolly Sisters), Emerald 5
Toys of Fate (Nazimova), Screen Classics, Inc. 7
To Hell With the Kaiser (Lawrence Grant, Olive Tell), Screen Classics, Inc.....

Mutual Film Corporation

Aug. 18. Hoosier Romance (Selig starring Colleen Moore) 5
Sept. 15. Love's Law (Gail Kane)..... 5
Sept. 29. Treason (Edna Goodrich)..... 5

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Aug. 11. The Ghost of the Rancho (Bryant Washburn) 5
Aug. 18. Winning Grandma (Baby Marie Osborne), Diando 5
Aug. 25. The Girl from Bohemia (Irene Castle), Astra .....C D 5
Sept. 8. Her Man (Elaine Hammerstein), Advanced M. P. Corp..... 5
Sept. 23. A Japanese Nightingale (Fannie Ward-Astra) 5
Oct. 6. The Border Raiders (Larkin-Diando) 5

Select Pictures

Aug. 18. Her Only Way (Norma Talmadge). 6
Aug. 25. Sauce for the Goose (Constance Talmadge) 5
Sept. 9. The Burden of Proof (Marion Davies) 5
Sept. 16. The Better Half (Alice Brady).... 5
Sept. 23. The Forbidden City (Norma Talmadge) .....
SPECIAL RELEASES
Over There (Chas. Richman, Anna Q. Nilsson) 6
The Lone Wolf (Bert Lytell, Hazel Dawn).. 5
The Barrier (Rex Beach Production)..... 7
The Wild Girl (Eva Tanguay)..... 5
The Public Be Damned (Charles Richman, Mary Fuller) 6

William L. Sherry Service

Aug. 11. Out of the Night..... 6
Aug. 18. Inn of the Blue Moon..... 5
Marriage 5

Triangle Distributing Corporation

(Subject to change without notice)
Sept. 1. Untamed (Roy Stewart)..... 5
Sept. 1. The Mask (Claire Anderson)..... 5
Sept. 8. Secret Code (Gloria Swanson)..... 5
Sept. 8. Mystic Faces (Jack Abbe)..... 5
Sept. 15. The Atom (Pauline Stark)..... 5
Sept. 22. Desert Law (Jack Richardson).... 5
Sept. 29. The Gray Parasol (Claire Anderson) 5
Oct. 6. Tony America (Francis McDonald).. 5
Oct. 13. The Pretender (Wm. Desmond).... 5
Oct. 20. Reckoning Day (Bella Bennett).... 5
Oct. 27. Love's Pay Day (Rosemary Theby). 5

Universal Productions

Aug. 12. A Woman's Fool (Harry Carey).. 5
Aug. 26. Bread (Mary McLaren)..... 6
Sept. 23. The Talk of the Town (Dorothy Phillips) 6
Oct. 7. Three Mounted Men (Harry Carey). 6

Vitagraph V-L-S-E

Sept. 2. The Green God (Harry Morey-Betty Blythe) 5
Sept. 9. A Nymph of the Foothills (Gladys Leslie) 5
Sept. 16. By the World Forgot (Hedda Nova-J. Frank Glendon)..... 5
Sept. 23. The Girl of Today (Corinne Griffith) 5
Sept. 30. A Diplomatic Mission (Earle Williams) 5
Oct. 7. The Mating (Gladys Leslie)..... 5
Oct. 14. The King of Diamonds (Harry Morey) 5
Oct. 21. Everybody's Girl (Alice Joyce)..... 5
Oct. 28. Miss Ambition (Corinne Griffith).... 5

World Pictures

Aug. 19. Merely Players (Kitty Gordon).... 5
Aug. 26. Inside the Lines (Lewis A. Stone).. 6
Sept. 2. The Power and the Glory (June Elvidge) 5
Sept. 9. The Road to France (Blackwell-Greeley) 5
Sept. 16. "Tother Dear Charmer (Louise Huff) 5
Sept. 23. To Him That Hath (Montagu Love) 5
Sept. 30. A Soul Without Windows (Ethel Clayton) 5

Releases in the Independent Field

For Manufacturers' Addresses, Names and Addresses of Buyers handling films in any territory, or any other additional information write—State Rights Department, Motion Picture News

Arrow Film Corporation

The Deemster.
Eyes of the World.
Ramona.
Persuasive Peggy.
Today.
The Mad Lover.
The Woman's Law.
Right Off the Bat.
The Struggle Everlasting.
The Accidental Honeymoon.
Million Dollar Mystery (Revised Edition).
The Finger of Justice.

Atlantic Distributing Corporation

Nine-tenths of the Law (Mitchell Lewis)..6 reels
The Devil's Playground (Vera Michelen).7 reels

Bear State Film Company

The Vigilantes.

Big Productions Film Corp.

VICTORIA FEATURE FILMS
The Sunset Princess (Marjorie Daws).

Christie Film Company

One-Reel Comedy Issued Weekly

Sept. 2. Some Cave Man.
Sept. 9. Are Second Marriages Happy.
Sept. 16. Married By Proxy.
Sept. 23. Look Who's Here.
Sept. 30. Oh Bobby! How Could You?
Oct. 7. Why Get a Divorce?
Oct. 14. Three Hours Late.
Oct. 21. Why Husbands Flirt.
Oct. 28. Two's Company.

Commonwealth Pictures Corp.

Charlotte, in The Frozen Warning.
Spanuth's Original Vod-a-Vil Movies (Released every two weeks)

Coronet Film Corporation

LIVING STUDIES IN NATURAL HISTORY
Animal World, No. 1 Issue.
Animal World, No. 2 Issue.
Birdland Studies.
Horticultural Phenomena.

Cosmofotofilm Company

Incomparable Mistress Bellairs.....4 reels
Liberty Hall .....4 reels
The Black Spot.....4 reels
Victoria Cross .....4 reels
His Vindication .....5 reels
I Believe .....7 reels
The Hypocrites .....6 reels

Crest Pictures

Lust of the Ages.....6 reels
The Grain of Dust.....6 reels

Doll Van Film Corp. (Chicago)

(In Illinois, Indiana and Southern Wisconsin)
The Mad Lover.
Public Defender.
Carmen o the Klondike.
The Grain o Dust.
Hearts of the World.
The Crucible of Life.
Nine-tenths of the Law.
The Belgian.
The Zeppelin's Last Raid.
Those Who Pay.
Just a Woman.

Doo Lee Film Co., Inc., N. Y. State

The Woman Who Dared.....7 acts
The Libertine.....6 acts
Babbling Tongues.....7 acts
Married in Name Only.....6 acts
Her Bargain.....6 acts
A Man's Law.....5 acts
Human Clay.....5 acts
One Law for Both.....8 acts
Sins of Ambition.....7 acts
A Slacker's Heart.....7 acts
Cleopatra .....5 acts
The Lonesome Trail.....5 acts
Mothers of Liberty.....6 acts

JESTER SUPER COMEDIES

The Recruit.....2 acts
His Golden Romance.....2 acts
All Fur Her.....2 acts
The Wrong Flat... .....2 acts
It's a Great Life.....2 acts

Released one a month.

June — Fabulous Fortune Fumblers.....2 acts
July — Fred's Fictitious Foundling.....2 acts
Aug. — Freda's Fighting Father.....2 acts
Sept. — Fatty's Fast Fliver.....2 acts
Oct. — Freda's Frivilous Finance.....2 acts

GAUMONT
Gaumont "News" released every Tuesday.
Gaumount "Graphic" released every Friday.

M. S. Epstin

Raymond L. Ditmars' "The Depths of the Sea," in a series of four parts.

Export and Import Film Co.

Birth of Democracy.
Why the Bolsheviki?

Foursquare Pictures

The Sin Woman (Irene Fenwick, Clifford Bruce, Reine Davies).
The Bar Sinister (Edgar Lewis's production).
Her Fighting Chance (Jane Grey).
Madame Sherry (Gertrude McCoy).
The Silent Witness (Gertrude McCoy).
The Great White Trail (Doris Kenyon).
One Hour (Zena Keefe and Alan Hale).
A Trip Through China.
The Fringe of Society (Milton Sills, Ruth Roland).
The Cast-Off (Bessie Barriscale).
The Submarine Eye.
Whither Thou Goest.
Should She Obey?
Men.

Fort Pitt Corporation

The Italian Battlefront.

Frohman Amusement Corp.

The Witching Hour (C. Aubrey Smith Jack Sherrill, Helen Arnold, Marie Shotwell and Robert Conness).....6 reels
Conquest of Canaan.....5 reels
God's Man .....9 reels
My Own United States (through Metro).

Gaumont Co.

The Hand of Vengeance.....

General Enterprises, Inc.

Mother (Elizabeth Risdon, McClure).....6 parts
The Warrior (Maciste) (McClure).....7 parts
The Liar (Jane Gail, Stanley Walpole)..6 parts

Jesse J. Goldburg

SCRANTON PHOTOPLAY VORP.
May 6. Cheerful Liars.
May 13. Fate and Fortune.
May 20. Parson Pepp.
May 27. The Ring and the Ringer.

RIALTO FILM CORPORATION
Apr. 15. My Husband's Friend.

D. W. Griffith

Hearts of the World.

Hiller & Wilk, Inc.

(Pictures handled in the Open Market)
"Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman."
"The Battle of Gettysburg."
"The Wrath of the Gods."
Sept. — "Sporting Life."

HART, FAIRBANKS, KEENAN AND TALMADGE RE-ISSUES
William S. Hart
The Patriot.
Captive God.
The Dawnmaker.
The Return of Draw Egan.
The Devil's Double.
Truthful Tulliver.
The Gunfighter.
The Square Deal Man.
The Desert Man.
Wolfe Lowry.

Douglas Fairbanks
The Good Bad Man.
Reggie Mixes In.
Flirting with Fate.
The Half Breed.
Manhattan Madness.
American Aristocracy.
The Matrimaniac.
The Americano.

Frank Keenan
The Thoroughbred.
Jim Grimsby's Boy.
The Sins Ye Do.
Bride of Hate.
The Drab.

Norma Talmadge
Children in the House.
Going Straight.
The Devil's Needle.
The Social Secretary.
Fifty Fifty.

Ivan Feature Productions

One Law for Both (Rita Jolivet, Vincent Serrano, Leah Baird, Pedro De Cordoba, James Morrison).....7 reels
Babbling Tongues (Grace Valentine, James Morrison, Arthur Donaldson).....7 reels
Married in Name Only (Gretchen Hartman, MBilton Sills, Marie Shotwell).....6 reels
Sins of Ambition (Barbara Castleton, Wilfred Lucas, Leah Baird, James Morrison) .....7 reels
Human Clay (Mollie King).....5 reels
Life or Honor (Leah Baird, James Morrison, Violet Palmer, Edward Mackey) .....6500 ft.

Jester Comedies

May — All "Fur" Her (Twede Dan)..2 parts
June — The Wrong Flat (Twede Dan)..2 parts
July — It's a Great Life (Twede Dan)..2 parts
Aug. — Oh What a Day (Twede Dan)..2 parts
Oct. — Ain't It So? (Twede Dan).....2 parts

Renowned Pictures Corporation

The Public Defender.....6 reels
Naked Hands .....5 reels
Mother Love and the Law.....7 reels
In Treason's Grasp.....5 reels
Should She Obey?.....7 reels

Frank J. Seng

Parentage .....7 reels

U. S. Exhibitors' Booking Corp.

Just a Woman (Charlotte Walker).
The Crucible of Life (Grace D'Armond).
Men (Charlotte Walker, Anna Lehr, Robert Cain, etc).
Those Who Pay (Bessie Barriscale).
The Belgian (Walker Whiteside, Valentine Grant).
The Zeppelin's Last Raid.

Ernest Shipman

W. H. CLIFFORD PHOTOPLAY COMPANY, INC.—Featuring Shorty Hamilton.
June — The Snail .....5 reels
July — The Ranger.....5 reels
Aug. — Pen Vultures .....5 reels
Sept. — The Prisoner of War.....5 reels
FRANCIS FORD PRODUCING COMPANY—
May — Berlin Via America..... 6
July — The Isle of Intrigue..... 6
AL. AND FRANK JENNINGS PRODUCTIONS.
First release—Lady of the Dugout.....6 reels
The Coast Guard Patrol—Seven Parts.
A Nugget in the Rough—Five Parts.
Trooper 44—Five Parts.
The Tiger of the Sea (Seven Parts—Drama—By Nell Shipman).
Bill Tinger's Poems—A series of one-reel comedy dramas issued semi-monthly.

(Continued on page 2265)

Short Subjects Current and Coming

Josh Binney Comedies

(FEATURING FUNNY FATTY FILBERT)

May — Fabulous Fortune Fumblers.....2 reels
June — Fred's Fictitious Foundling.....2 reels
July — Freda's Fighting Father.....2 reels
Aug. — Fatty's Fast Flivver.....2 reels
Sept. — Fatty's Frivolous Fiancee.....2 reels

Burlingham Travel Pictures

Released by Sherry Service

Facing Death on the Blumlisalp.
Unknown Switzerland (The Lotschenthal).
The Pilatus Railway.
Allied War Heroes Arrive in Switzerland.

Educational Film Corp. of Amer.

Aug. 5. The Southern Tourist (Bruce Scenic) ..... 1 reel
Aug. 5. His Dark Past (International-Hooligan) .....Half reel
Aug. 12. Mexico's Floating Gardens (Wright) ..... 1 reel
Aug. 12. Tramp, Tramp, Tramp! (International-Happy Hooligan) .....Half reel
Aug. 19. Quest of the Big 'Un (Chas. Maigne) ..... 1 reel
Aug. 19. Judge Rummy's Off Day (International-Silk Hat Harry).....Half reel
Aug. 26. A Mexican Venice (Wright).. 1 reel
Ang. 26. International Cartoon Comedy. Half reel
Sept. 2. Cigars for Kings and Millionaires (Harold Horton)..... 1 reel
Sept. 2. International Carton Comedy. Half reel

Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

PARAMOUNT BRAY PICTOGRAPHS

July 1. Schematography, The Art of Correcting Injurious Postural Habits; With the Deep Sa Anglers; Animated Technical Drawing—E. Dean Parmlee.
July 8. Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy, No. 1; Beauty to Order, The Advanced Art of Dermatology; Cartoon by Wallace Carlson.
July 15. Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy, No. 2; Preparing the Victory Army; In Nature's Gardens; Cartoon by Earl Hurd.
July 22. Helping Humanity to Be Healthy and Happy, No. 3; An African Game Hunt; Motion Analyzed (first of a series analyzing motion); Cartoon by Bray Studios.
July 30. Why Batters "Fan Out" (second in a series analyzing motion); Animated Technical Drawing—E. Dean Parmlee.

PARAMOUNT BURTON HOLMES TRAVELOGUES

July 1. Auckland: The Metropolis of New Zealand.
July 8. Rotorua: The Yellowstone of the Antipodes in New Zealand.
July 15. Among the Maoris of New Zealand.
July 22. Wellington and the North Island of New Zealand.
July 29. Down South in New Zealand.

PARAMOUNT ARBUCKLE COMEDIES

Moonshine.
No release this month.
July 8. Good Night, Nurse.

PARAMOUNT MACK SENNETT COMEDIES

May 6. His Smothered Love.
May 20. Battle Royal.
June 3. Love Loops the Loop.
June 17. Two Tough Tender Feet.
July 1. Her Screen Idol.
July 15. Ladies First.
July 29. Her Blighted Love.

PARAMOUNT FEATURE—"THE SON OF DEMOCRACY"

Apr. 1. Down the River.
Apr. 8. The Slave Auction.
Apr. 15. Under the Stars.

Ford Educational Weekly

GREIVER DISTRIBUTING CORP. AND STATE RIGHTS
One Reel Each

111. Ausable Chasm.
112. Lake Champlain.
113. Kilauer Volcano.
114. Training Mechanics for Our National Army.
115. Work or Fight.

Fox Sunshine Comedies

July 28. A Tight Squeeze.....2 C
Aug. 25. The Diver's Last Kiss.....
Sept. 22. Roaring Lions on the Midnight Express. .....

Fox Film Corporation

MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOONS

Sept. 1. The Accident Attorney.....
Sept. 8. At the Front.....
Sept. 15. To the Rescue.....
Sept. 22. The Kaiser's New Dentist.....
Sept. 29. Bulling the Bolshevik.....
Oct. 6. Our Four Days in Germany.....
Oct. 13. The Side Show.....

General Film Company

BROADWAY STAR FEATURES
(O. HENRY STORIES)

The Marquis and Miss Sally (Patricia Palmer, William Lester).....2 D
Springtime a la Carte (Agnes Ayres, Edward Earle) .....2 D
A Bird of Bagdad (Agnes Ayres, Edward Earle) .....2 D
Transients in Arcadia (Agnes Ayres, Edward Earle) .....2 D

(WOLFVILLE TALES)

Faro Nell, Lookout (Patricia Palmer, Bob Burns) .....2 D
Dismissal of Silver Phil (Patricia Palmer, Bob Burns) .....2 D
The Coming of Faro Nell (Patricia Palmer, Bob Burns) .....2 D
Winning of the Mocking Bird (Carol Halloway, Robert Burns) .....2 D
The Jest of Talky Jones (Carol Holloway, William Lester) .....2 D
The Widow Dangerous (Hattie Buskirk, Patricia Palmer, Robert Burns).....2 D
The Wooing of Riley (Kate Price, Otto Lederer) .....2 D
The Heir of the Broken O (R. N. Bradbury, Patricia Palmer) .....2 D

BLUE RIDGE DRAMAS
(Ned Finley)

The Return of O'Garry.....2 D
Mountain Law.....2 D
The Raiders of Sunset Gap.....2 D
O'Garry Rides Alone.....2 D
The Man from Nowhere.....2 D

ESSANAY
GEORGE ADE FABLES
ESSANAY COMEDIES (1 reel)

Our Little Nell.....1 C
Check Your Hat, Sir.....1 C
Wild Algy of Piccadilly.....1 C
All Stuck Up.....1 C
The Lie That Failed.....1 C
The Jazbo Sheriff.....1 C

SNAKEVILLE COMEDIES
(One reel each)

Sophie's Legacy.
Sophie Gets Stung.
Slippery Slim, Diplomat.
Slippery Slim and the Claim Agent.
Slippery Slim's Stratagem.
A Hot Time in Snakeville.
A Snakeville Epidemic.
Snakeville's New Sheriff.
Sophie's Birthday Party.

ESSANAY SCENICS

How Canada and the Farmer Co-operate in Grain Raising .....1 Sc.
Agricultural Opportunities in Western Canada .....1 Sc.
Water Powers of Eastern Canada.....1 Sc.
A Romance of Rails and Power.....1 Sc.
Grand Canyon of Arizona and Canyon de Chelley .....1 Sc.

CHAPLIN COMEDIES

By the Sea.....1 C
In the Park.....1 C
Work .....2 C
A Woman .....2 C
The Tramp .....2 C
His New Job.....2 C
A Night Out. .....2 C

JAXON FILM CORP.

"A DAUGHTER OF UNCLE SAM" SERIAL (Jane Vance, Wm. Sorelle) 12 Episodes .....1 D

JAXON COMEDIES

What Occurred on the Beach.....1 C
An All-Fools' Day Affair.....1 C
Beating Him to It.....1 C
Forced Into Matrimony.....1 C

JUDGE BROWN STORIES

Love of Bob .....2 C-D
Dog vs. Dog.....2 C-D
A Boy Built City.....2 C-D
The Three Fives.....2 C-D
Kid Politics .....2 C-D
A Boy Built City.....2 C-D
The Case of Bennie.....2 C-D

RANCHO SERIES

In the Shadow of the Rockies.....1 D
Where the Sun Sets Red.....1 D

CLOVER COMEDIES

From Caterpillar to Butterfly.....1 C
A Widow's Camouflage.....1 C
Love's Lucky Day.....1 C

EBONY COMEDIES

Busted Romance.....1 C
Spooks .....1 C
The Bully .....1 C
The Janitor .....
Mercy, the Mummy Mumbled.....1 C
A Reckless Rover.....1 C
Are Working Girls Safe?.....1 C
The Comeback of Barnacle Bill.....1 C
Some Baby .....1 C
Good Luck in Old Clothes.....1 C
When You Hit, Hit Hard.....1 C
A Black-and-Tan Mix-up.....1 C
Fixing the Fakir.....1 C
When You're Scared, Run.....1 C

INTERSTATE FILM COMPANY

The Last Raid of Zeppelin L-21 (War Event) .....2000 ft.

PROGRESSIVE FILM

On a Fox Farm (Educational) .....1 reel

CRYSTAL FILM CO.

Romeo and Juliet.....2 C

CRYSTAL COMEDIES

(Pearl White, Estelle Deland, Don Barclay, William Browning)

What She Did to Her Husband, Almost Lucky .....1 C
What's in the Trunk?.....1 C
Reuben's Romance .....1 C
The Lady Detective, His Wedding Day....1 C
Troubled Waters .....1 C
Her Necklace, His Hoodoo Day.....1 C

HIGRADE FILM ENTERPRISES, INC.

Billie in Society (Ray Hughes).....2 C
Buneo Billy (Billy West).....2 C
Billy in Harness (Billy West).....2 C
Bombs and Bull (Billy West).....2 C

OFFICIAL WAR PICTURES
(Committee on Information)

Our Bridge of Ships.....2 Sc.

SCRANTONIA PHOTOPLAY CORP.

Parson Pepp .....1 C
Fang's Fate and Fortune.....1 C

AMERICAN RED CROSS

The Historic Fourth of July in Paris.....1 Sc.
Soothing the Heart of Italy.....1 Patr.

RAINBOW COMEDIES

Nearly a Slacker (Lillian Vera-Eddie Bouldon) .....1 C
My Lady's Slipper (Lillian Vera-Eddie Bouldon) .....1 C

Goldwyn Distributing Corp.

CAPITOL COMEDIES
(Featuring "Smiling Bill" Parsons)

July 15. Dad's Knockout .....2 reels
July 29. Bill Settles Down.....2 reels
Aug. 12. Billy's Fortune .....2 reels
Aug. 26. Bill's Opportunity.....2 reels
Sept. 9. Up a Tree.....2 reels
Sept. 22. Bill's Sweetie .....2 reels
Oct. 7. Camping Out .....2 reels
Oct. 21. A Pair of Pink Pajamas.....2 reels

King Bee Comedies

June 1. Bright and Early .....2 reels
June 15. Straight and Narrow .....2 reels

George Kleine System

MONTGOMERY FLAGG'S COMEDIES
"GIRLS YOU KNOW"

May 8. The Starter .....Edison
May 22. The Spoiled Girl .....
June 5. The Lonesome Girl .....

ESSANAY

June 7. Broncho Billy's Grit.
June 14. Broncho Billy's True Love.
June 21. Broncho Billy and the Western Girls.
June 28. Broncho Billy Wins Out.
July 5. Broncho Billy Trapped.
July 12. Broncho Billy Rewarded.
Sept. 1. Broncho Billy and the Claim Jumper.
Sept. 8. Broncho Billy and the Sheriff's Office.
Sept. 15. Broncho Billy, Outlaw.
Sept. 22. The Accusation of Broncho Billy.
Sept. 29. Broncho Billy's Double Escape.

LINCOLN-PARKER WORLD TRAVELOGUE

Mar. 1. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 1.
Mar. 8. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 2.
Mar. 15. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 3.
Mar. 22. Peru, The Land of Incas, No. 4.
Apr. 29. Peru and Scenes Around Lake Titicaca, Bolivia.

Metro Pictures Corporation

METRO-DREW COMEDIES

Mar. 18. Special Today.....1 C
Mar. 25. When a Man's Married.....1 C
Apr. 1. Gas Logic.....1 C
Apr. 8. A Youthful Affair.....1 C

Mutual Film Corporation

STRAND (BILLIE RHODES)

July 1. Miss Informed .....1 C
July 8. Her Disengagement Ring .....1 C
July 15. Like Mother Made.....1 C
July 23. On Her Account.....1 C
July 29. She Almost Proposed.....1 C
Sept. 17. All Kinds of a Girl.....1 C
Sept. 23. A Maid and a Man.....1 C

STRAND (ELINOR FIELD)

Aug. 6. What Will Father Say?.....1 C
Aug. 13. The High Cost of Weddings.....1 C
Aug. 20. Winnie's Wild Wedding.....1 C
Aug. 27. Her Friend, the Enemy.....1 C
Sept. 10. Cupid in Quarantine.....1 C
Oct. 1. Keep Smiling .....1 C

OUTING-CHESTER PICTURES
To be issued one a week

Aug. 4. A Coorial on the Orinoco.....
Aug. 11. A Dam Catastrophe.....
Aug. 18. Statia With a Past.....
Aug. 25. Pines Up and Palms Down.....
Sept. 1. Finfeather Picanninies .....
Sept. 18. Saba, the Astonishing.....

SCREEN TELEGRAM
Issued Sunday and Wednesday of Each Week

Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Hearst-Pathe News released each Wednesday and Saturday

Monday, September 23, 1918

Official War Review No. 13.....
The Far Flung Battle Line (French Picture) .....1 reel
The Great Water Peril (Toto-Seymour-Johnson) Rolin .....1 C
A Hollandized Caribee (Dutch West Indies) Travel .....1 reel

Monday, September 30, 1918

Official War Review No. 14.....
Getaway Kate (Chadwick-Gzell) Astra.....2 D
Swing Your Partners (Lloyd-Daniels-Pollard) Rolin .....1 C
The Far Flung Battle Line (British Picture) .....1 reel
St. Kitts, The Mother Colony (Travel-Post Film) .....1 reel

Monday, October 7, 1918

Official War Review No. 15.
No Place Like Jail (Stan Larel) Rolin.....1 C
Antigua, British West Indies (Travel-Post Film) .....1 reel
The Far Flung Battle Line (French Colonial Troops) .....1 reel
Triumph of Transportation (Leggett-Gruen) .....1 reel Ed.

Monday, October 14, 1918

Official War Review No. 16.....
Why Pick On Me? (Lloyd-Rolin).....1 C
Barbados, British West Indies.....1 travel
Far Flying Battle Line.....1 topical

BRITAIN'S BULWARKS
(Official Government Pictures—One reel each)

July 7. No. 9, King George and Queen Mary Witness the Black Arts of War...
July 14. No. 10, With the Policemen of the Allies on the North Sea.....
July 21. No. 11, The Canadians on the Western Front .....
July 28. No. 12, The Canadians at Vimy Ridge .....

"THE HOUSE OF HATE" (ASTRA)
(Serial) Two reels each
(Pearl White, Antonio Moreno, Paul Clerget, John Webb Dillion, Peggy Shaner)

June 2. Thirteenth Episode, Enemy Tliens.
June 9. Fourteenth Episode.
June 16. Fifteenth Episode, The False Signal.
June 23. Sixteenth Episode, The Vial of Death.
June 30. Seventeenth Episode, The Death Switch.
July 7. Eighteenth Episode, At the Pistol's Point.
July 14. Nineteenth Episode, The Hooded Terror.
July 20. Twentieth Episode, Following Old Glory.

"HANDS UP" (ASTRA)
(Serial) Two and and three reels each
(Featuring Ruth Roland and George Cheseboro).

Aug. 18. First Episode, The Bride of the Sun.
Aug. 25. Second Episode, The Missing Prince.
Sept. 1. Third Episode, The Phantom and the Girl.
Sept. 8. Fourth Episode, The Phantom's Trail.
Sept. 22. Sixth Episode, Flames of Vengeance.
Sept. 29. Seventh Episode, Tossed in the Torrent.
Oct. 6. Eighth Episode, The Fatal Jewels.
Oct. 13. Ninth Episode, A Leap Through Space.

WOLVES OF KULTUR

Oct. 13. First Episode, The Torture Trap.

Triangle Distributing Corp.

TRIANGLE COMEDIES

Mar. 3. A Discord in A Flat.....1 C
Mar. 3. His Hidden Shame.....1 C
Mar. 10. Wives and Worries.....1 C
Mar. 10. She Didn't Do It.....1 C

KEYSTONE RELEASES

May 19. Newspaper Clippings (Francis McDonald, Claire Anderson) .....2 C
May 26. Are Wives Unreasonable? (Ed. Brady, Claire Anderson).....2 C
June 2. The Poor Fish (Ed Brady, Claire Anderson) .....2 C
June 9. Flapjacks (Geo. Hernandez, Josie Sedgwick, F. McQuarrie).....2 C
June 16. Isn't it Warm? (Bill Dyer, Harry Depp, Claire McDowell).....2 C
June 23. Cupid and the Cop.....2 C
June 30. Pearls Without Price.....2 C

Universal Film Company

Monday, September 2, 1918

NESTOR—Their Sporting Blood (Pat Rooney) .....1 C
UNIVERSAL SPECIAL—How Charlie Captured the Kaiser.....1 reel

Wednesday, September 4, 1918

L-KO—Her Whirlwind Wedding (Eva Novack) .....2 C

Monday, September 16, 1918

NESTOR—Pat Turns Detective (Pat Rooney) .....1 C

Wednesday, September 18, 1918

L-KO—A Pullman Blunder (Harry Gribbon, Mae Emery, Helen Lynch, Harry Mann).2 C

Monday, September 23

NESTOR—The Slow Express (Victor Potel(.1 C

Wednesday, September 25

L-KO—Hello Trouble (Babe Hardey and Eva Novak) .....2 C

Monday, September 30

NESTOR—Parted from His Bride (Kerrigan) .....1 C

Wednesday, October 2

L-KO—Nuts and Noodles (Eva Novak and Charlis) from the Orient.....2 C
"Fighting for Freedom," Episode o. 1, "Admiral Beatty's Fleet in Action" (one reel).

Monday, October 7

NESTOR—His Royal Nibs (Comedy Cast).1 C

Wednesday, October 9

CENTURY—Untamed Ladies (Alice Howell),2 C

Monday, October 14

NESTOR—Perils of the Parlor (De Haven)..1 C

WESTERN AND RAILROAD DRAMAS

Aug. 17. Roped and Tied (Hart-Sedgwick).2 D
Aug. 24. The Whirlwind Finish (Marie Walcamp) .....2 D
Aug. 31. Beating the Limited (Neal Hart)..2 D
Sept. 7. The Flame of the West (Cleo Madison) .....2 D
Sept. 14. Danger Ahead (Helen Gibson)....2 D
Sept. 21. The Human Tiger (Eileen Sedgwick) .....2 D
Sept. 23. Under False Pretenses (Helen Gibson) .....1 D
Sept. 30. All for Gold (Eileen Sedgwick)....2 D
Oct. 12. The Fast Mail (Helen Gibson)....2 D

UNIVERSAL ANIMATED WEEKLY

Sept. 4. Number 40.
Sept. 11. Number 41.
Sept. 18. Number 42.
Sept. 25. Number 43.
Oct. 2. Number 44.
Oct. 9. Number 45.
Oct. 16. Number 46.

UNIVERSAL SCREEN MAGAZINE

Sept. 7. Number 87.
Sept. 14. Number 88.
Sept. 21. Number 89.
Sept. 28. Number 90.
Oct. 5. Number 91.
Oct. 12. Number 92.
Oct. 19. Number 93.

UNIVERSAL CURRENT EVENTS

Sept. 7. Number 69.
Sept. 14. Number 70.
Sept. 21. Number 71.
Sept. 28. Number 72.
Oct. 5. Number 73.
Oct. 12. Number 74.
Oct. 19. Number 75.

LYONS-MORAN STAR COMEDIES
(One reel each)

Aug. 5. Don't Shoot .....
Aug. 12. Give Her Gas.....
Aug. 19. Damaged Goods .....
Aug. 26. Housecleaning Horrors .....
Sept. 2. The Extra Bridegroom.....
Sept. 16. Nearly a Chaperone.....
Sept. 23. Please Hit Me.....
Sept. 30. Frenzied Film .....
Oct. 7. The Price of a Rotten time.....
Oct. 14. Nailed at the Plate.

SERIALS
"THE BULL'S EYE"
Two Reels Each
(Eddie Polo)

May 6. Fourteenth Episode, The Firing Squad.
May 13. Fifteenth Episode, The Stained Face.
May 20. Sixteenth Episode, Running Wild.
May 27. Seventeenth Episode, In Irons.
June 3. Eighteenth and Last Episode, The Runaway.

"THE LION'S CLAWS"
Two Reels Each
(Marie Walcamp)

July 1. Fourteenth Episode (Hell Let Loose).
July 8. Fifteenth Episode, The Bridge of the Beast.
July 15. Sixteenth Episode, The Jungle Pool.
July 22. Seventeenth Episode (The Danger Pit).
July 29. Eighteenth Episode (Triumph).

"THE BRASS BULLET"
(Two Reels Each)
(Juanita Hansen, Jack Mulhall)

Aug. 19. Third Episode (Locked in the Tower).
Aug. 26. Fourth Episode (Smoked Out).
Sept. 2. Fifth Episode (The Mock Bride).
Sept. 9. Sixth Episode (A Dangerous Honeymoon).
Sept. 16. Seventh Episode (The Depth Bomb).
Sept. 23. Eighth Episode (The Magnetic Bug).
Sept. 30. Ninth Episode (The Room of Flame).
Oct. 7. Tenth Episode (A New Peril).

BOY SCOUTS TO THE RESCUE
Universal Special

Apr. 15. Aides of a Nation, No. 1.....2 reels
Apr. 22. On the Trail, No. 2.....2 reels
Apr. 29. The Great Mine Disaster, No. 3.2 reels
May 6. The Spies, No. 4.....2 reels
May 13. Treachery at Sea, No. 5.....2 reels

Vitagraph

BIG V COMEDIES

Aug. 5. Dunces and Dangers.
Aug. 12. Shines and Monkey-Shines.
Aug. 19. Dukes and Dollars.
Aug. 26. Flappers and Friskies.
Sept. 2. Mutts and Motors.
Sept. 9. Capers and Crooks.
Sept. 16. Wild Women and Wild Waves.
Sept. 23. Stripes and Stars.
Sept. 30. Hula-Hulas and Hocus-Pocus.

BIG V SPECIAL COMEDIES

Sept. 23. Huns and Hyphens (Semon).....2 C

THE WOMAN IN THE WEB (Serial)
(Hedda Nova, J. Frank Glendon)

July 1. The Hidden Menace (Thirteenth Episode).
July 8. The Crash of Fate (Fourteenth Episode).
July 15. Out of the Web (Fifteenth Episode).

A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS (Serial)
(William Duncan, Edith Johnson, Joe Ryan)

July 15. The Snare (First Episode).
July 22. Flames of Peril (Second Episode).
July 29. The Secret Stockade (Third Episode).
Aug. 5. The Precipice of Horror (Fourth Episode).
Aug. 12. The Path of Thrills (Fifth Episode).
Aug. 19. The Spell of Evil (Sixth Episode).
Aug. 26. The Gorge of Destruction (Seventh Episode).
Sept. 2. In the Clutches (Eighth Episode).
Sept. 9. The Escape (Ninth Episode).
Sept. 16. The Secret Tunnel (Tenth Episode).
Sept. 23. The Noose of Death (Eleventh Episode).
Sept. 30. The Tide of Disaster (Twelfth Episode).
Oct. 7. The Engine of Terror (Thirteenth Episode).
Oct. 14. The Decoy (Fourteenth Episode).
Oct. 21. The Sealed Envelope (Fifteenth Episode).

THE IRON TEST (Serial)
(Antonio Moreno, Carol Holloway)

Oct. 21. The Ring of Fire (First Episode).
Oct. 28. The Van of Disaster (Second Episode).

DREW COMEDIES
(Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew)

July 15. The Honeymoon Baby .....
July 22. The Cub and the Daisy Chain.....
July 29. Their Agreement .....
Aug. 5. Miss Sticky-Moufie-Kiss .....
Aug. 12. Diplomatic Henry .....
Aug. 19. By Might of His Right.....
Aug. 26. The Professional Patient.....
Sept. 2. Mr. Blink of Bohemia.....
Sept. 9. A Lady in the Library.....

WHARTONS, INC.

The Eagle's Eye (Serial), featuring King Baggott, Marguerite Snow, twenty episodes—two reels each.

Independent Releases

(Continued from page 2263)

CORONA CINEMA COMPANY PRODUCTIONS.

Mother, I Need You.....6 reels

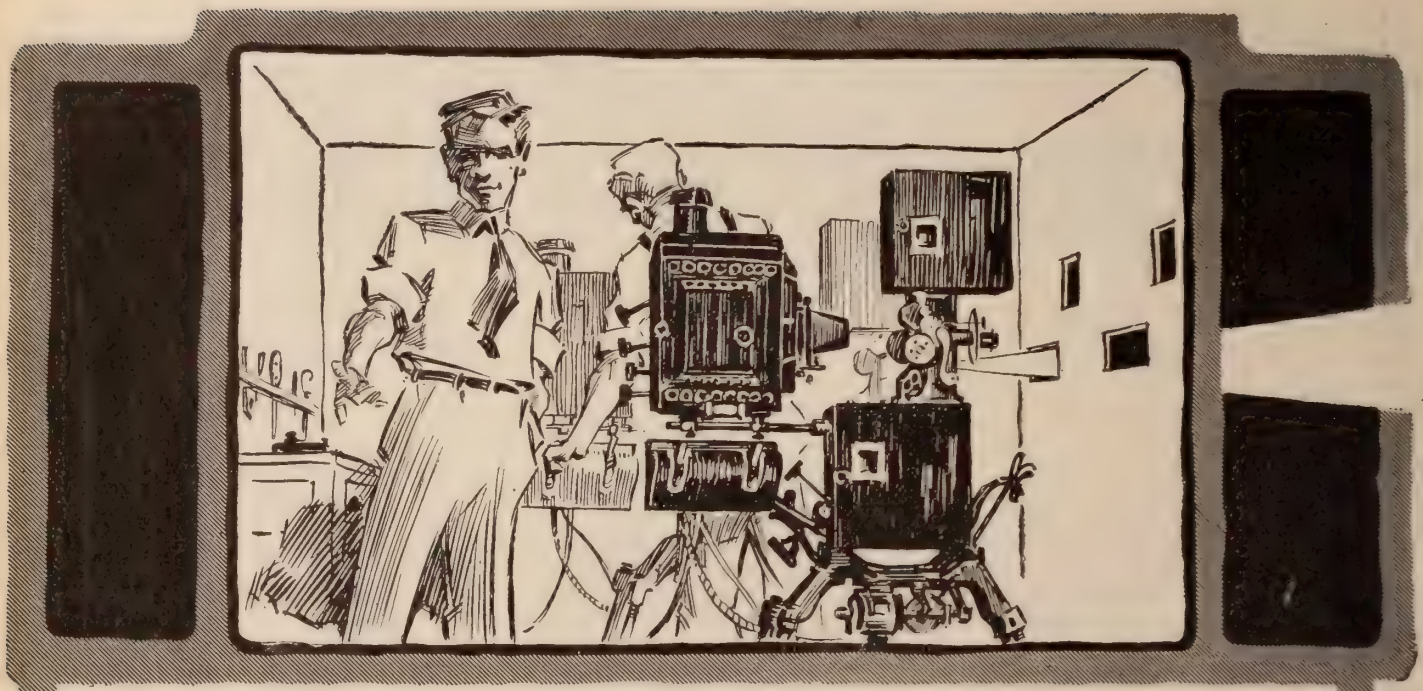
UNITED FILM CORPORATION

Crime of the Hour.....7 reels

W. H. Productions Co.

William S. Hart as Two Gun Man in "The Bargain" .....6 reels
William S. Hart in "The Bandit and the Preacher" .....5 reels
William S. Hart in "The Hell Hound of Alaska" .....5 reels
Also Series of two-reel W. H. Hart productions.
Satan's Pawn (Bessie Barriscale).

Romayne Superfilm Company



Me und Gott or "The Awakening of America," 6 reels

Edward Warren Productions, Inc.

Souls Redeemed.
Weavers of Life.

Western Import Co.

Mickey (Mabel Normand).

Projectionist Ray
Says:

"There seems to be a whole lot in a name—sometimes. Take, for instance, POWER'S.

"Every thing about the CAMERAGRAPH suggests POWER. Its frame, rigid as a steel bar, possesses POWER. The wide spread of its legs—like a prize fighter's—gives POWER; and the entire weight of its structure is so evenly distributed OVER THIS WIDE EXPANSE as to give the stability necessary for POWER.

"POWER'S never played a confidence game: therefore it has the CONFIDENCE of every projectionist that ever used it. That's because of the POWER that is in it and behind it to do always the right thing. What you WANT, it DOES.

"IT PUTS THE PICTURE ON THE SCREEN"

NICHOLAS POWER COMPANY
INCORPORATED

Pioneers of Projection

90 Gold Street, New York, N.Y.

THE WILLIAMS PRINTING COMPANY, NEW YORK

CENTRAL STATES

NEW YORK OFFICE, 729 Seventh Avenue CHICAGO REPRESENTATIVE, 220 So. State Street

Theatres Welcome Gasless Sundays

WHATEVER the gasless Sunday may have done to the picture houses in other cities, it has at least done no injury to the business in Fond du Lac. Manager Wm. E. Ainsworth, of the Orpheum, declares it has resulted in boosting the patronage at his theatre. Manager Smith, of the Bijou, and Manager Vollert, of the Henry Boyle and the Idea, are of the opinion that it has about "broke even."

Mr. Vollert puts it this way: "Formerly we had a large country patronage on Sundays. The restriction on the use of cars has cut this down to almost nothing, but this loss has been fully offset by the patronage of city people."

Manager Ainsworth, of the Orpheum, who is always more or less of an optimist, sees a real benefit for the picture houses in the Garfield order. "On fine Sundays, before this order became effective," said Mr. Ainsworth, "the city people made a break for the country. Now they can't do it. As a result, the Orpheum Sunday patronage has improved ever since the gasless order went into effect."

Theatres to Start Fourth Liberty Loan Drive

THE CHICAGO THEATRES have received recognition for their splendid work in the Third Liberty Loan drive, by having a special division set aside for them for the next drive, which opened September 28. The loop theatres will be captained by the manager of each individual house, who will be held responsible forthe activity of his own theatre. The outlying districts will be divided into thirty-one zones, with ten or fifteen theatres to each zone.

Peter J. Schaefer has been appointed chairman for the Theatrical Division of the Fourth Liberty Loan, and secured the first sale. Dick Green, International Vice-President of the Stage Employees' and Operators' Union, was the hero. He purchased $10,000 worth of bonds.

All Night Theatres in Chicago Must Close at One o'Clock

ACTING CHIEF OF POLICE ALCOCK has sent out a special order instructing the men in his department to close all Chicago theatres at 1 o'clock. The moving picture houses come under the ordinance prohibiting all forms of entertainment after that hour. Some of the captains overlooked this when they closed the "dry" cabarets and permitted the theatres to continue, which is the reason for issuing the special order. The theatres running all night have been confined to the loop houses in Chicago, the residential district theatres closing at 11 o'clock p. m.

Rialto Theatre in Racine Opens

THE opening of new Rialto theatre on September 21 marked a new epoch in the motion picture history of Racine. It is the step from the provincial type of photoplay houses to the metropolitan idea of maximum comfort for the people and the best class of pictures. The motion picture business in this city up to the present time has been based on the idea of getting the money regardless of the people's desires and wishes. Now with the advent of Rialto all the photoplays of the city are picking up their program of giving the public their wishes in return for their money.

Features in the new playhouse have come from the genius mind of Manager W. C. Lamoreaux. The knitting circle is an innovation—the product of war times—that met the approval of the women upon the opening night. Easy chairs, tables, yarn holders and everything necessary to the knitter has been provided in the special section in the balcony.

A switchboard, purchased at a price of $2,000, gives the best possible light for the pictures, the switchboard being equipped with a dimmer.

The opening night the Rialto was packed and the approval the management received fully repays them for the great effort they expended in putting the new theatre into operation. Exclamations of surprise at the various features, the wonderful coloring and tone shades, and the service showed that the people appreciate the new factor of courtesy and service that now is characterizing all the picture houses of the city.

Dubuque Fans Flock to Marguerite Clark

MANAGER FRED YOUNT, of the Family Theatre, in Dubuque, Iowa, had a big night Saturday, August 14, when Marguerite Clark appeared in "The Amazons." He had no trouble getting people to come in, but he was for a time driven to his wits end trying to get them out, for a large number showed a tendency to stay and see the show a second time. It was only by flashing a sign telling people who had seen the show to leave the theatre so as to make room for the waiting crowds that he managed to clear the place.

Fond du Lac Managers Hatch Bright Idea

MANAGER AINSWORTH, of the Orpheum, and Manager Smith, of the Bijou, in Fond du Lac, Wis., have adopted a new policy this year. Last season, when the weather grew cold and the crowds had a tendency to remain at home, they let down a bit on their programs. They won't do it that way this year. They propose to put on the big stuff and coax the picture fans out even on the cold and stormy nights.

THE CENTRAL STATES

October 5, 1918

What Racine Is Doing

THE BIJOU THEATRE is putting forth one of its strongest programs for the coming week of Bessie Barriscale in "Within the Cup," Mitchell Lewis in "Nine Tenths of the Law," and Edna Goodrich in "Her Husband's Honor." Mitchell Lewis pictures have received the approval of the people in Racine, and the actor is considered on a par, if not higher, than William S. Hart.

MANAGERS NORMAN and Blumberg are making a strong bid for an exclusive trade in Racine by their program of music and pictures. The new management has announced its new policy of service and have laid down the gauntlet to the fans of a series of pictures that speak for themselves. Many of the coming productions have been booked months in advance to insure the public first showings.

THE ORPHEUM THEATRE opened September 21 for the winter season, and while the majority of their time is devoted to vaudeville they will show many of the better films that come from the leading companies of the world.

MANAGER I. R. PETERS of the Palace theatre has added a zest to his program by staging novel stunts during the community singing and during the pictures. The other night he secreted himself in the orchestra pit and dramatized "Less Than Kin" by singing to the accompaniment of the pipe organ and violin obligato.

D. W. GRIFFITH'S "GREATER LOVE" was the opening program at the Rialto. Alice Brady in "The Better Half," Marguerite Clark in "Under Clear Sky," Mary Pickford in "Johanna Enlists," Vivian Martin and Fatty Arbuckle in "The Cook" comprised the program for the week.

OWEN McKIVETT has secured the approval of the picture lovers in Racine with his new orchestra.

LIGHTLESS NIGHTS, together with dreary weather, tended to cause a falling off in the attendance during the past week.

"ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT," the second of the government pictures, will be shown during the week of September 30 at the Bijou theatre.

"RIDDLE GAWN," Pauline Fredericks in "Feldora," Dorothy Dalton in "Green Eyes," and Ethel Barrymore in "Our Mrs. McChesney" composes the program for the Palace for the coming week.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Crocker Puts Personality Into His Theatre

"IT may be 'small town stuff,' but it's good business."

This was the comment of Ralph W. Crocker, manager of The Star, Elgin, upon his plan of personal service which he claims is his most valuable business asset.

Crocker has made it the habit for seasons to be at the door of the Star himself for a while every afternoon and for the whole evening. He takes tickets and supervises the ushering, a job which he could get done for fifty cents a performance.

But, as manager, Crocker himself on the job is able to have an influence that he affirms more than repays his trouble. He makes it a point to give personal service in every possible way, among them the following:

Recognizing the habit of continual film fans to head for the same seats with each visit, he sees that this man's and that woman's preferences are regarded; that the man who always sits on the side, gets a side seat, no matter how crowded the house; that the woman who never will sit under an electric fan, does not have to do so; that the fans who like the back rows get seats there; that those opposed to later comers brushing past them and tripping over their feet are placed in the wide aisle.

He has trained his memory to know just where the majority of his patrons are seated. Then, when a man made later than his wife or family by business appointment seeks to join them, he leads him directly to their location.

He encourages all inquiries and establishes himself an animated bureau of information. He holds the theory that personal contact in the theater is worth inestimably more than any amount of office interviews or calls.

And he hears the "kicks" and the praises and learns to know the general opinion of certain species of films better than he could learn by any watching of box-office receipts.

When other theaters are alluring with bigger stars and newer plays, the l'il old crowd, like a big family, gathers afternoon after afternoon and night after night at the Star.

And the manager piles up the coin and smiles the grin of good-fellowship with fans.

Dubuque News and Views

"THE GHOST OF ROSY TAYLOR," with Mary Miles Minter, proved a money-maker for Manager Doyle, of the Dreamland. The picture was put on for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, September 11 and 12.

WILLIAM DESMOND, IN "CLOSIN' IN," was the star presented at the Liberty Theatre, Thursday, September 12. Mr. Desmond is a good drawing card, and his pictures are always satisfactory.

THEDA BARA was at the Princess on Wednesday and Thursday, September 11 and 12, in "The Soul of Buddha."

A BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAY, "The Red, Read Heart," with Monroe Salisbury and Ruth Clifford, was the Thursday, September 12, program at the Family Theatre.

"A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS," with William Duncan, is being shown at the Grand every Saturday in connection with "The Allies' Official War Review."

WILLIAM BILLOS, of the Princess Theatre, presented one of Dubuque's favorite players, Charles Ray, in "His Mother's Boy," on Friday and Saturday, September 13 and 14. The picture was well attended.

FRANCIS BUSHMAN AND BEVERLY BAYNE were at two Dubuque theatres on Friday, August 13. They were starred at the Grand in "Cyclone Higgins," one of the best comedies of the month. The Family had them in "Red, White and Blue Blood." This picture drew famously.

ON FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, the Liberty Theatre offered "Her Decision," with J. Barney Sherry and Gloria Swanson. Baby Marie Osborn was the star of Saturday's program.

(Continued on page 4)

They Say in Chicago That—

HARRY WILLARD, manager of the Fox Chicago office, just returned from a trip through southern Wisconsin, after booking the entire Fox output in each town he visited.

GEORGE WILSON, well and favorably known by all Illinois exhibitors, is now selling Metro through the state, taking the place of Jay Riley.

J. E. McBRIDE, from the general manager's office, Fox New York office, has been in Chicago in the interest of publishing "The Life of General Pershing," from which the screen version "Why America Will Win," was taken.

C. W. ECKHARDT, central district manager of the Fox Corporation, will be in Chicago soon, after a two weeks' swing around the circuit.

CRESS SMITH, manager of Metro Chicago office, reports having booked the next two Screen Classic productions, Harold Lockwood in "Pals First" and Nazimova in "Eye for Eye" to Balaban & Katz's new Riviera theatre, and the Rose and Orpheum in the Loop.

THE MISSES REGAN, LINDEN AND THORSEN, of the George Kleine System Stenographic Department, are kept on the jump handling the correspondence pertaining to "The Unbeliever" and "Behind the Lines in Italy."

LOUIS GREEN, manager of George Kleine System Buffalo office, has been in Chicago consulting with the powers that be.

AN OIL REPRODUCTION of an original oil painting of President Wilson in a beautiful gold frame, is being put out by the U. T. E. Corporation, and should grace the lobby of every theatre in the country, draped with an American Flag. The reproduction is a secret process of the famous artist, Rudolph Bohunek, whose painting of President Wilson is considered a masterpiece.

THE THIRD WEEK of the "Vigilantes" is keeping right up to the mark from the standpoint of attendance. Lewis J. Hampton, president of the Bear State Film Company, is wearing a smile that will not come off in consequence.

FRANK ZAMBRENO, head of the Unity Photoplay Co., reports that their business is very large. Their picture, "Berlin Via. America," is going particularly well.

R. A. ROLAND, president of Metro Film Corporation, and Count De Cippico, husband of Rita Jolivet, passed through Chicago on their return trip from the coast, where Metro is planning to erect an enormous new studio.

E. W. JOHNSON, former Illinois salesman for Goldwyn, is now selling Metro through Illinois.

E. C. DAVIES who left the Triangle to go to Macon, Georgia, found it too hot down in that country and is back in Chicago.

L. R. ABBOTT, booker of Fox Chicago office, who was called to the colors, is now located at Spartansburg, S. C.

MEYER J. COHEN, manager of the George Kleine System of San Francisco, has been in Chicago having a conference on the coast situation.

WALTER KONSACK of the Fox Chicago office is broken-hearted, having just been rejected for overseas duties.

THERE WILL BE a contingent going to Racine, Wis., for the opening of the new Rialto theatre, Saturday, September 21. W. C. Lamoreaux, managing director of the new house, has sent out classy engraved invitations for the opening.

B. W. ALBERTS, chief booker of the Goldwyn Chicago office, is up to his eyes in booking their Liberty Loan Drive pictures, "The Bonds that Tie," featuring Geraldine Farrar, Tom Santschi, and Milton Sills; also "The Biggest Game Ever Played," featuring Pauline Frederick, Mae Marsh, Madge Kennedy, Mable Normand and Tom Moore. Exhibitors should get busy and have their dates sent in without delay.

D. M. VANDEWALKER, JR., of the Doll-Van Corporation, is back at his desk, entirely recovered from his recent illness.

GEORGE KLEINE is getting out a series of trailers for the Fourth Liberty Loan, featuring Grace Valentine, now appearing at the Cort theatre in "Lombardy Limited."

JACK MERIDETH is keeping up his record of a new contract each night for Goldwyn pictures.

MISS E. M. HOPKINS has resigned from the Doll-Van Company, to enter government service.

THE CHICAGO EXHIBITORS have been greatly impressed by Congressman George R. Lunn's assertion that "We must look to the film for real comprehensive history of the Kaiser's ruthless attempt to subjugate the world." Sid Goldman reports that the picure, "Crashing Through to Berlin," the big screen review of the war, is going great.

THE GOLDWYN PICTURE, "Just for Tonight," starring Tom Moore, is going over big, according to Manager VanRonkel of the Chicago office.

HARRY GRAHAM, who has been the manager of the George Kleine System office, Dallas, Texas, has been transferred to Boston, succeeding R. B. Clark.

F. M. Brockell, of the Famous Players Chicago office, has resigned to join the Goldwyn forces. Mr. Brockell's first stop will be St. Louis.

THE LANGLEY THEATRE, on Sixty-third street, has been remodeled and has installed two DeLuxe Motiograph equipments.

MEYER COHEN of the George Kleine System Frisco office, has won first prize of $500, offered by Mr. Kleine to the first office of his System to reach its allotment on bookings for "The Unchastened Woman." The New York office won the second prize of $300.

MAX GOLDSTEIN will supervise the city sales department of the Famous Players, Fred C. Creswell will supervise the country sales department, and C. W. List will have charge of the office.

O. S. SPAHR, manager of the Enterprise Optical Company, reports that they have just shipped a consignment of twelve machines to Singapore, also an Australian shipment.

A. TEITEL is now cleaning the Cleopatra prints for the Chicago Fox office.

JOHN E. McCAULEY made a flying trip to St. Paul and Red Wing, for the Enterprise Optical Company, installing two DeLuxe machines in both cities.

O. M. WELLS, manager of the Vista, Twentieth Century, and the New Park, three of the select south-side residential district picture palaces, reports that his business at each house keeps right up to the mark.

W. L. HILL, of the Famous Players-Lasky Corp., says that the Paramount week in this section exceeded its fondest expectations.

THE ESSANAY studio has been closed and will be devoted to Government work.

W. C. LAMOREAUX, manager of the new house in Racine, was in Chicago for a few days closing contracts and arranging for his opening Sept. 21.

JOE KOPPEL, manager of the Balaban & Katz new Riviera theatre, is now on the jump night and day endeavoring to get the house in shape for an early opening.

THE FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP. will go into their new build-

(Continued on page 4)

2 REEL WESTERNS

Just the kind of subjects every exhibitor has been asking for.

Just the kind of subjects your people want.

A Series of Sixteen—featuring

SHORTY HAMILTON

Produced by THOS. H. INCE

Thrilling—Sensational Comedy Dramas

A New One Every Other Week

FIRST RELEASE OCTOBER 14TH

Get Your Bookings Now

BEE HIVE EXCHANGE

Toy Building, Milwaukee, Wis. — Consumers Building, Chicago

For the Pick of the Pictures

THE DOLL-VAN FILM CORPORATION

207 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.
D. M. Vandewalker, Jr., Vice-President

Merchant's Bank Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.
Henry Dollman, President

Additional Dubuque News

(Continued from page 2)

ANN PENNINGTON played at the Family Theatre Sunday, the 15th, in "The Antics of Ann." On Tuesday the Norma Talmadge Selznick production, "The Law of Compensation," was shown, and the crowds that witnessed it surpassed those of the picture "Panthea."

THE VITAGRAPH FEATURE, shown at the Grand Sunday, September 15, was "To the Highest Bidder," with Alice Joyce. Both Miss Joyce and Percy Standing were well cast.

MADGE KENNEDY appeared at the Princess Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 16 and 17, in "The Danger Game." She is scheduled to appear in "The Service Star" the latter part of the month.

MANAGER LORENZ, of the Grand Theatre, chanced upon three appropriate days for the showing of "Lest We Forget," with Rita Jolivet—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the week of September 15—just the days when Germany made her infamous peace proposal. On Monday night the audience was most enthusiastic; they cheered heartily whenever French or American troops were shown, and hissed the Germans when they appeared on the screen.

"THE MANX-MAN," George Loan Tucker's screen version of Hall Caine's novel, came to the Dreamland Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, September 18 and 19, direct from an engagement at the Criterion Theatre at New York.

EVART OVERTON, as the star of the Vitagraph production, "The Bottom of the Well," made himself popular with the patrons of the Family Theatre, where the picture was shown on Wednesday, September 11. Mr. Overton is an actor of great talent, and his ability to make the most of a role was never more apparent than in this picture.

JACK PICKFORD and Robert Gordon shared the honors of the day at the Princess Theatre, Sunday of this week, in "Huck and Tom." Both of these promising young actors were admirably well fitted to their respective roles, and, as a result, "Huck and Tom" was one of the best comedies Paramount has produced. Little Miss Clara Horton's interpretation of Becky was most praiseworthy.

"MR. LOGAN, U. S. A.," with Tom Mix, kept Manager Boyle, of the Dreamland Theatre, quite busy handling the crowds for the two days the picture was shown here, Sunday and Monday, September 15 and 16. This is the first Fox Victory picture to be shown at the Dreamland, and it was a "Victory" in every sense of the word.

TOM MIX was also presented at the Liberty on Sunday. This theatre's photoplay, "Ace High," drew exceptionally well, not only because it was a Mix feature, but also on account of its being a story of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, and these stories always draw famously here.

"THE PAINTED LILY," with Alma Rubens, was the feature shown at the Liberty Theatre on Tuesday, September 17. "Camille," with Clara Kimball Young, was the Wednesday feature.

A NEW TRIANGLE ACTRESS, Peggy Pearce, was presented Tuesday, September 17, at the Dreamland Theatre, in "The Golden Fleece."

THE REGENT THEATRE at Lancaster, Wis., had a five-reel Government picture, "With Pershing in France," for its Monday, September 16, program. Sergeant Henrickson, a discharged soldier of the Rainbow Division, appeared in person and lectured at each performance. During the previous week Mary Miles Minter made a great hit in "A Bit of Jade."

"UP THE ROAD WITH SALLIE," starring Constance Talmadge and Norman Kerry, came to the Dreamland Theatre at Galena, Ill., Friday, September 13. "The Eternal Temptress," with Lina Cavalieri, was the Saturday feature.

THE STAR, "the show place of Decorah," had "A Self-Made Widow," with Alice Brady, for its Thursday, September 13, program. A comedy and a War Review were also shown. On Friday and Saturday "Amarilly of Clothesline Alley," with Mary Pickford, was shown. "The Splendid Sinner," with Mary Garden, was the feature offered Monday, September 16.

"INTOLERANCE" was shown at the Soldiers' Grove, Wis., Friday and Saturday, September 13 and 14.

BEGINNING Wednesday, September 25, all school children are to be admitted for five cents at the Blende Theatre, at Benton, Wis.

"VENGEANCE AND THE WOMAN," Vitagraph's greatest serial, will begin Monday, September 23, at the Blende Theatre, at Benton, Wis.

HAROLD LOCKWOOD pleased the fans of the Belknap Theatre, at Hopkinton, Iowa, by his fine work in "The Comeback," an old but interesting Metro release.

THE patrons of the Palace Theatre, at Waverly, Iowa, are firm followers of Douglas Fairbanks, since his appearance in "Mr. Fixit," which was shown there Sunday and Monday, September 15 and 16.

"TRIPLE TROUBLE," with Charles Chaplin, played for two days, Friday and Saturday of this week, at the Palace Theatre, at Waverly, Iowa. A huge crowd attended.

Additional Chicago News

(Continued from page 3)

ing in Chicago the last of September. The third and fourth floors will be devoted to the sales and accounting departments and division offices. The fifth, sixth and seventh to their publicity and accessory departments. The eighth for their films, inspection and shipping departments.

FLOSSIE A. JONES has been in Chicago for a few days arranging her bookings, having entirely recovered from the strenuous week spent at the A. E. A. Convention. Miss Jones, by many novel publicity methods, was enabled to put the Paramount week in Waukesha over with a bang.

LOUIS LAEMLE of the Universal Chicago Office, is so busy checking up checks he doesn't have time for lunch. However, he likes his occupation —business is great.

C. SANFORD HARRISON will remain in Chicago representing the Bear State Film Company, with offices in the Schiller Building. Mr. Harrison says that the business for the past two weeks of the "Vigilantes" playing at the Playhouse has exceeded their expectations. Mr. Hampton, president of the company, is endeavoring to arrange with the theatre to extend the run of this picture.

LEE HERZ, president of the Silee Exchange, has closed with L. S. Card, general manager of the Producers' Distributing Corp., to handle all their productions. He has also closed with the Classical Motion Picture Co. for their six-reel production, "Five Nights." Mr. Herz has four other pictures coming which will be announced soon.

THERE ARE FEW PEOPLE that know that the first cabaret was held in San Francisco in the days of '49. This is shown to be the case, however, in the historically correct picture, "The Vigilantes," now playing to capacity at the Playhouse in Chicago.

ROBERT WARWICK is proving a strong drawing card at the Star theatre.

IRVING MACK, publicity man for the Universal Chicago Office, jumped to Indianapolis to further the interests of "Crashing Through to Berlin," which opens there. He successfully put over "Husbands Only" in Milwaukee.

D. M. VANDAWALKER, JR., is in the country convalescing from his recent illness.

THE DOLL-VAN FILM CORPORATION will soon release their two new productions, the six-reel "Nine Tenths of the Law," and "The Crucible of Life," in seven reels. Both pictures will play the Ascher Bros.' Circuit, Lubliner & Trinz houses, and are booked for week runs at the Pastime.

TOM MITCHELL has been placed in charge of the northern end of Indiana for "Hearts of the World" operating out of the Chicago office.

HENRY DOLLMAN, president of the Doll-Van Film Corp., is in Chicago for a sales conference on a new picture the company has bought, but not ready to be announced.

C. E. SHURTLEFF, sales manager of the Paralta, has been in Chicago on business for his company.

THE COUTHER THEATRE of Oak Park, Illinois, has been leased to Hilliard Campbell, owner of the Curtis, Downers Grove, and Brookfield theatre, Brookfield, Illinois. Mr. Campbell is one of the old time all around showmen, and will undoubtedly do big things with his new acquisition. Spencer of the Metro negotiated the lease for both Phillipp Loth, owner, and Mr. Campbell, the new lessee. He also made contract with the house for the Metro program and Screen Classic Productions.

Gathered in Green Bay

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD," the Griffith production which has met with such great success throughout the country, has been booked by Manager H. K. Timm of the Orpheum theatre for one week, commencing September 30. Mr. Timm is preparing for an extensive advertising campaign on the film.

"THE UNBELIEVER" was the attraction at the Grand Theatre September 16-17-18, and it drew large audiences. Special music was played during each presentation of the film, which is the joint offering of Thomas A. Addison, Inc., and George Kleine.

HERBERT RAWLISON played in the five-reel Bluebird photoplay, "Brace Up," at the Royal theatre September 18.

BILLIE BURKE was screened in "Arms and The Girl," a Paramount picture, at the Orpheum theatre September 19, 20, 21 and 22. The film delighted crowds of people.

"MLLE PAULETTE," a Triangle picture, was shown at the Royal theatre September 19. Claire Anderson and Wallace McDonald co-starred in the acting.

GERALDINE FARRAR was presented in a Goldwyn picture, "Turn Of the Wheel," at the Colonial theatre September 20 and 21 and pleased her audiences. It was her first appearance in a Goldwyn film at the house.

"THE LONE WOLF," a Select offering, was shown at the Colonial theatre September 16 and 17. Bert Lytell was in the leading part. The picture was one of the best of the week at the theatre.

"AN HONEST MAN," with William Desmond leading, was shown September 18 at the Royal theatre. It is a Triangle film.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE appeared in "The Shuttle," a Select film, at the Grand theatre September 18, 19, 20 and 21. The picture interested and pleased the patrons of the house.

OLGA PETROVA was presented in a Paramount picture, "Law of the Land," at the Orpheum theatre September 15, and her work met with favor.

THE WORLD film, "The Golden Wall," was shown at the Royal theatre September 20. Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley were in the leading parts.

LOUISE GLAUM played in "Wedlock," a Paralta picture, at the Colonial theatre September 18 and 19. The audiences enjoyed the film.

"THE WHIP" was repeated at the Orpheum theatre Septem 17 and 18, and proved popular.

Elgin Items of Interest

IN ADDITION to regular afternoon matinee and the evening shows, the Grand, Elgin, brought out a big house of youngsters at a special school children's matinee performance of "Huck and Tom," September 19. Advertised as the last picture of Jack Pickford, now in service, the film was one of the best ventures of weeks at the Grand.

A YOUNG woman reporter, writing picture news for an Elgin paper, claims to have made discovery of what Elgin fans will applaud—the man in uniform, marching. In a recent article she upbraided Elgin's dearth of enthusiasm, lack of appreciation and coldness of greeting in theatre attending. She described the way in which time after time the flag floated by and the house never peeped or clapped a finger. She compared the lack of enthusiasm in Elgin with the avidness of the average Chicago audience to applaud frequently and vigorously and "kidded" home town fans about their "small town attitude." Local managers claimed it is having results—the article—temporarily, at least, and fans are warming up to their job of keeping up the spirit of patriotism at home.

BETWEEN effort being made by the local Woman's Committee, C. N. D., and ambition of local managers, Elgin is expecting soon to establish the rapidly-growing-in-favor community music innovation in film houses. Whether the women will have a hand in the pie or not remains for the future to determine. Realizing the value of going after the fad and taking advantage of the plan in height of its existence, certain local managers are making dickers for words of popular songs to be screened while local talent encourages singing. The plan of reviving the old-time photoplay songs with pictures and solos and attempt to have concert singing of choruses, is not regarded as a great success by the manager planning to introduce the music, but are continued as features of a combination every-Monday-evening program at another house.

Elgin Flocks to Goodwin Picture

ACCORDING to reports from Elgin, Ill., a recent showing of Nat Goodwin's recent picture, "The Marriage Bond," was freely patronized because of the remarkable amount of newspaper publicity that has been given the comedian's matrimonial affairs. The production was shown at the Star Theatre on September 15.

The Grand, Elgin, emphasized the agreement of one of their two days' booking of "Pershing's Crusaders" with the famed general's birthday, September 13, and drew the big crowds that day.

Are You Ready for the Liberty Loan Drive?

WE HANDLE THE

NATIONAL CARBONS

EXCLUSIVELY

PLACE YOUR ORDERS NOW AND AVOID SUCH DELAYS YOU EXPERIENCED LAST WINTER DUE TO WAR-TIME CONDITIONS

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS FOR THE

POWERS' CAMERAGRAPHS

Machines and Parts Always in Stock in Any of Our Twelve Branches. Use Nothing But GENUINE PARTS—All Stamped with Manufacturer's Name. Send for New Catalogue, Powers' 6B Model.

WE HAVE SELECTED ONLY THE BEST APPARATUS AND SUPPLIES. WE GUARANTEE RESULTS. TRY US.

CHICAGO BRANCH—"CENTRALLY LOCATED"

UNITED THEATRE EQUIPMENT CORPORATION

R. H. FULTON, MANAGER

512 South Wabash Ave.—(Ground Floor) Chicago, Ill.

In Springfield Theatres

SEVERAL OF THE SPRINGFIELD theatres have written William E. Mason, Congressman-at-large, protesting against the increased amusement tax. Mr. Mason has assured all that he will do everything in his power to kill the proposed increase, as he figures the motion picture theatres, and their low admission prices absolutely essential to the masses.

MISS NELL KEMPER, former Springfield girl, has resigned as scenario editor to William S. Hart, and has taken up journalism in the Los Angeles territory.

FROM THE WAY Louie Kerasotes started on Sunday, Sept. 15, the Savoy will break all records this week. The program as booked follows: Sunday, Neal Hart in "Beating the Limited," and a two-reel L-Ko comedy; Monday, Harry Morey and Gladys Leslie in "His Own People"; Tuesday, Tom Mix in "Cupid's Roundup," and Charlie Chaplin in "Hula Hula Land"; Wednesday, "The Brass Bullet," an Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran comedy and a Weekly; Thursday, Ella Hall in "A Mother's Secret"; Friday, Leah Baird in "One Law for Both"; Saturday, "The Girl of the Golden West."

BEN ROVIN says his Amuse-U is doing splendidly, couldn't expect to do better.

THE EMPRESS, under the management of Dr. B. L. Renfro, continues to pile up a nice profit every week.. Rumor has it that Dick Diamond, former owner, is anxious to get back into the picture business.

EARL SKAGGS is now chief operator at the Lyric.

THE GAIETY had a wonderful day Sunday, Sept. 15, with "The Hun Within," Artcraft-Paramount special. The same can be said for The Princess with "For Husbands Only" and the Vaudette with Ethel Clayton in "The Girl Who Came Back." The Royal played to capacity all day with "My Four Years in Germany." The Lyric, with Peggy Hyland, in "Bonnie Annie Laurie," reports business as good.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the newspapers (three) will shortly announce a raise in amusement advertising rates. What effect this will have on the price of admission remains to be seen.

CARLYLE BLACKWELL, in "By Hook or Crook," will be the attraction at the Princess on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 17 and 18. Monroe Salisbury will follow for two days in "That Devil Bateese," a Jewel production. Manager Kunz also announces the booking of Grace Valentine in "The Unchastened Woman," to come Sunday, Sept. 29, for three days' run.

LILA LEE, Paramount's new star, comes to the Vaudette on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Cruise of the Make Believe," her first Paramount offering. Miss Lee will be followed by Marguerite Clark in "Out of a Clear Sky."

SINCE THE SAVOY, Amuse-U, Capitol and Royal graduated from the five-cent admission class, their patrons are seeing some real pictures. Even the managers used to turn up their noses at the "junk" that was being displayed. Usually a manager is the last man on earth to say his show is "rotten."

WITH THE THEATRICAL SEASON in full swing, and gasolineless Sundays still in effect, every motion picture theatre in the city loaded up with a strong program on Sunday, Sept. 15. The Gaiety had "The Hun Within," an Artcraft-Paramount special; also "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," a cartoon comedy; the Vaudette had "The Girl Who Came Back," with Ethel Clayton; "His First False Step," Sennett comedy and Screen Telegram; the Lyric had Peggy Hyland in "Bonnie Annie Laurie," and a Christie comedy; the Princess had "For Husbands Only," with Mildred Harris, and a news weekly; the Royal had "My Four Years in Germany," from Gerard's book, while the Capitol, Royal, Savoy, Amuse-U, Empress, North End Circle and Pekin theatres showed the best programs that could be secured.

GERALDINE FARRAR was seen in her first Goldwyn picture, "The Turn of a Wheel," at the Gaiety on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 19, 20 and 21. Mary Pickford will follow the opera queen in "Johanna Enlists," her next to last Artcraft production.

FOR THE LAST HALF OF THE WEEK of Sept. 15 the Vaudette had Lila Lee, the new Paramount star, in "The Cruise of the Make Believe," Lasky play.

"TO HELL WITH THE KAISER," Metro's widely advertised photoplay, comes to the Princess on Sunday, Sept. 22, for four days' run. The Princess expects to do as well with this picture as it did with "The Unbeliever," which holds the record for big business the current year.

"A PAIR OF CUPIDS," with Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, comes to the Lyric on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 17 and 18; on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Theda Bara in "The Yoke," will be the attraction.

ED. MAISEL, manager of the Capitol, announces the booking of "To Hell With the Kaiser," "Toys of Fate," "Blue Jeans" and other Metro productions. Ed was in Chicago last week, and says he is going to present shows on Washington street that will be the talk of the town. Another thing Ed did while up in the big town was to secure the Mack Sennett re-issues, featuring Chester Conklin, Mabel Normanl, Mack Swain, Fatty Arbuckle and Syd Chaplin.

GUS KERASOTES is going right after things at the Royal. Gus booked "My Four Years in Germany" for four days' showing, the longest run any picture has ever been booked for at the Royal. Other good things that Gus announces as coming this way are "The Unbeliever," "Over the Top," "Cleopatra," and all of the William Fox Standard pictures.

LOUISE KERASOTES had "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," coming on Sept. 23 and 24, and will show "Pershing's Crusaders" at an early date.

LYMAN H. HOWE'S new travel festival will come to the Chatterton on Sept. 20 and 21. The Howe pictures are increasing in popularity with every showing here, and business will one day be capacity for the Howe people in Springfield.

NAZIMOVA in "Revelation" gave Capitol patrons one of the best pictures ever shown at the theatre. Barney Sherry in "High Stakes" and Shorty Hamilton in "The Snail" also pleased folks who visit Maisel's photoplay palace.

THE 18 TO 45 DRAFT LAW catches Louise Kerasotes, of the Savoy; W. D. Cave, of the Chatterton; Harry Thornton, of the Gaiety; Ed Kunz, of the Princess, and George Riordan, of the Majestic. Kunz, Riordan and Kerasotes are unmarried.

JOHN BARRYMORE in "On the Quiet," and Wallace Reid in "The Source," had a good week at the Vaudette, Sept. 8-14. Other pictures on the program for the same days were Charlie Chaplin in "Triple Trouble," and a Screen Telegram the first half, and the Shriners' Parade, Screen Telegram and a Billie Rhodes Strand comedy, "She Nearly Proposed," the last half.

THE PRINCESS announces business for the week of Sept. 8-14 as being excellent. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, "The Street of Seven Stars," Mary Roberts Rinehart play, with Doris Kenyon, was the attraction; Wednesday and Thursday, Louise Huff was seen in "T'Other Dear Charmer," and Friday and Saturday, J. Warren Kerrigan pleased with "A Burglar for a Night."

THE PRINCESS has booked the James Montgomery Flagg comedies.

THE LYRIC had one of its very best weeks, Sept. 8-14. Jewel Carmen in "The Fallen Angel," was the attraction for Sunday and Monday; May Allison in "A Successful Adventure" on Tuesday and Wednesday, and Constance Talmadge in "Good Night, Paul," on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BY A PECULIARR COINCIDENCE the Gaiety and Majestic theatres had Fourth of July in France pictures on at the same time.

Pantheon Theatre Opens Successfully

LUBLINER & TRINZ new house, The Pantheon Theatre, located on Sheridan Road in the Wilson Ave. district, Chicago, opened September 11 with eclat and most satisfactory returns in the box office. The 3,000 seats were filled long before the scheduled time of starting the performance, and the jams on the outside were tremendous, requiring the keeping in some assemblance of order by a number of officers.

A surprise of the evening was the presence of Madge Evans, World Film's small star, who related some of her camera experiences.

It is estimated that fully 10,000 people were handled the opening night, the house seating approximately 3,000 people.

The music is a great feature of the new house, comprising a thirty piece orchestra under the direction of Alexander Zukovski, formerly of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, supplementd by a magnificnt organ, costing $20,000.

The Pantheon is luxuriously furnished and the light effects superb, it being possible to produce any combination of color effects by the use of motor-driven dimmers.

Bessie Barriscale is to be congratulated on being the opening attraction at the house in "The White Lie," a Paralta production.

The floral pieces gracing the lobby were many and beautiful. Many people came a great distance to congratulate Harry Lubline and Joe Trinz on this their ninth big theatre, and J. A. Keough on being the manager of it.

What Racine Is Doing

RACINE THEATRES are installing augmented orchestras as an adjunct to their pictures. The Palace has a six-piece orchestra that renders a short concert during the intermission and dramatizes the photoplays in a realistic manner. Manager Owen McKivitt has engaged a four-piece orchestra from Milwaukee that is proving very popular. Managers Norman and Blumberg of the Rex have secured what is considered the cream of musicians in the city when they engaged Cal and Ethel DeVoll. These two artists have won their way into the hearts of the local audiences and are in many instances proving the reason for attendance at the theatre where they play. Miss Florence Bettray, a local pianiste of note, is to render three concerts daily at the Rex.

RACINE has become the "second home" of thousands of Great Lakes bluejackets for the week ends. During Saturday and Sunday a great portion of the audiences are composed of the tars. Managers are beginning to cater to their trade on Saturdays and Sundays. An idle sailor in Racine is unknown. for the minute one is found standing around he is rushed to a movie house.

THE NEW RIALTO opens September 21 for the first time. Local photoplay fans are anxiously awaiting the opening, as the new theatre is regarded as one of the finest in the state. Manager Lamourea has not as yet announced his full policy. It is thought that the service of Paramount, Artcraft, Goldwyn and Metro pictures will be divided between the Palace and the Rialto.

NATHA LUVORITOKI, who has been the leader of the Alhambra theatre of Milwaukee orchestra, has been secured to direct the new Rialto orchestra. Luvoritoki has arrived in the city and has played for the people several times, his talent being appreciated.

"TO HELL WITH THE KAISER" played to capacity houses for five continuous days at the Bijou theatre during the week of September 8. Original ways of advertising served to draw out banner crowds for the patriotic picture, even at advanced prices. Audiences veritably rocked the roof with cheers and shouts during the picture. One man who refused to voice his patriotism or to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" was escorted to the door of the theatre, and he didn't return.

WILLIAM S. HART in "Shark Monroe" proved the main drawing card at the Palace during the past week. Hart is a winner in Racine, and his last picture, showing him in a new role, was enjoyed above the others.

MADAME PETROVA in "Tempered Steel" and Norma Talmadge in "The Safety Curtain" filled the Rex this week. The cool weather has caused a pick-up in the attendance. Manager Norman and Blumberg, the new lessees, are pleased with the attendance and feel that they will have even larger crowds when their new policy is announced.

I. R. PETERS, formerly with Ascher Brothers of Chicago, is now in charge of the Palace theatre. Peters is putting pep into his performances and is asserting his own personality into the community singing by leading it. He is raising the song period from a sedate performance to a live thing by his witticisms.

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD" drew one of the largest crowds at the Orpheum theatre that an advanced price picture has ever drawn. The pathos of the picture was truly touching. Many comments showed the only feature that was not liked was that it was too realistic. The audiences throbbed with the sufferings of the Belgians and rejoiced when the Germans were driven from the village and the townsmen returned to their former homes.

Directory of Chicago Exchanges and Supply Houses

RALPH O. PROCTOR
Division Manager

PATHE EXCHANGE

Consumer's Building
FRANK B. ROGERS
Branch Manager

Buy Liberty Bonds

Miscellaneous Chicago News

C. E. BOSTICK of the Merrill theatre, Milwaukee, reports remarkable success on the showing of "The Price of Applause," a Triangle picture made from a recent Saturday Evening Post story.

RALPH BRADFORD, A. J. Normal, Frank E. Williams and R. T. Tobin, are now called "The Big Four" at the Triangle Chicago office, everyone being the proud possessor of a registration card, which makes them a member of the Forty Club.

TOM NORMAN flivered into Chicago to dope up the dope sheet on his bookings.

D. W. CHAMBERLIN, the well-known Minneapolis manager, paid Chicago a flying visit looking for things in the worth-while class.

GEORGE BROMLEY, manager of the new Albany theatre, Chicago, is wearing a smile that won't come off and is desirous of knowing who the first man was that started the plaint that you couldn't make money with a 300-seat house.

JULIUS COHEN has taken over the Prairie theatre, Chicago, closing it for redecoration.

VICTOR EUBANK, who has been supervising director of the Essanay Plant has been called in the United States Service.

MAJOR SPOOR, brother of George K. Spoor, President of the Essanay Co., is now located at Camp Grant, Rockford, Illinois. The other brother, Bob Spoor, has just registered for service.

Central States Edition Brings Results Promptly and Plentifully

MOTION PICTURE FILMS CLEANED BY HAND A.T.E.I.T.L

New and Old Films CLEANED and CONSERVED
A. TEITEL
112 North La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois

Cedar Rapids News Condensed

L. A. SHERIDAN, manager of the Pathe exchange, of Des Moines, Iowa, recently made a trip to Cedar Rapids in interests of Pathe News and in placing his latest feature, "Her Man."

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD" opened an eleven days' engagement at Waterloo, Iowa, on Sunday, September 8. This was the first showing in Iowa. Frank Hurst, whom many of the Iowa exhibitors will remember as being manager for "The Birth," is with this company, and states that he has almost the same "tribe" as that which was with him on "The Birth."

"EYES OF THE WORLD" opens a five days' showing at the Palace theatre in Cedar Rapids. From there it goes to Waterloo, at the Palace, and then closes a twelve days' run at Vinton, Iowa, all houses being under the same management.

C. W. TAYLOR, manager of the Select out of Omaha, Nebraska, was an Iowa caller for several days during the second week in September.

WILLIS JACKSON, advance agent for "Hearts of the World," was in Cedar Rapids arranging for the production at the Strand, Iowa's largest photoplay theatre. The engagement was for ten days, starting September 19. Mr. Jackson was formerly advance agent for "The Birth" in the State of Iowa. He's the same Jackson, always getting to the place he is headed for.

In Elgin Theatres

AGREEMENT to raise admission prices twenty per cent the last of November has been made by Elgin's four moving picture theatre managers. The raise has been a slow one in the past, two cents a time, until prices are now, 11, 17 and 20 cents. The increase will be proportioned on present prices.

DECISION that the gasless Sundays have neither decreased nor increased theatre patronage to noticeable degree is report of Elgin managers. While prohibition of motoring keeps many city folks at home and sends them for diversion to the moving pictures, it is balanced in the sacrifice of patronage from Dundee, Alonquin, Barrington and the outlying district about Elgin that feeds regularly to the Elgin box offices. Increased street car rates conspire with the government gasoline ruling to make the Sunday diversion too expensive for electric travel.

ELGIN has been made to already talk "Hearts of the World." Advance Manager John Curran of that great war picture's company was in town in the late week of September 8 arranging publicity for the picture to be shown at the Grand theatre for three days beginning Monday, September 23. Extensive billboard advertising has been posted and store window display and newspaper space arranged for and already put into use. Miss Helen Santoro, whose business deals with the interesting of women, was in town Monday, September 16, interesting representative women in the forthcoming picture. Plan is made to have no matinee the first day of its showing on account of the impossibility of placing stage effects and orchestra positions in the few hours of the morning. There will be matinee performances the two days to follow and evening shows on the three dates.

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS" went big at the Grand September 13 and 14. Matinee and evening shows played to big audiences.

NORMA TALMADGE is an Elgin favorite and Elgin liked her "Safety Curtain" picture immensely. Liberal praise followed its several showings at the Grand September 16 and 17.

KITTY GORDON in "Tinsel" pleased at the Orpheum on Saturday, September 14. Edythe Storey in "The Demon," together with an educational reel, made up the next Sunday's and Monday's program. Alice Brady in "Woman and Wife," with a comedy, "The Belgium," and Carlyle Blackwell and June Elvidge in "The Golden Wall," completed the week's offering.

FATTY ARBUCKLE in "Fatty, the Dodger," featured Monday night's combination bill at the Temple the week of September 15. The Judge story, "The Accusing Toe," and the seventh episode of "The Bull's Eye," made up the program. Other Temple showings of the week of September 15 included: Carrigan in "One Dollar Bid," "Broncho Bill's Big Leap," Peggy Adams in "The Man Hunter," a Montgomery Flagg comedy, "Girls You Know," Claire Anderson in "The Mask," "The Tamale Army," "The War Review," Monroe Salisbury in "That Devil Patsy," Vod-A-Vil movies, Roy Stewart in "Untamed" and "Does Your Sweetheart Flirt?"

THE WEEK of September 15 the Star showed Mary Miles Minter in "The Eyes of Julia Deep," Harold Lloyd in comedy, "That's Him," Mrs. Vernon Castle in "The Girl From Bohemia," a Mack Sennett comedy, "Two Tough Tenderfeet," "The Fight for Millions," "Who's Your Papa," Virginia Pearson in "Her Price," Mutt and Jeff in "The Tonsorial Artist" and Corrine Griffith in "Love Watches."

LABOR DAY bills in Elgin playhouses were inclusive of the following features: Grand—Clara Williams in "Carmen of the Klondike"; Star, Alice Joyce in "To the Highest Bidder"; Harold Lloyd in "Kicking the Germ Out of Germany"; Temple, "Tod's Swimming Hole," a Judge Brown story; fifth episode of "The Bull's Eye"; Fatty Arbuckle in "Fatty, the Tough Rube," and the Universal Animated Weekly; Orpheum, Bert Lytell in "No Man's Land," Ford weekly.

IN OTHER DAYS of the first September week the Grand showed the following: Enid Bennett in "Naughty, Naughty"; the Allied War Review, Clara Kimball Young in "The Claw" and the Pathe Weekly. The Star offered Jewel Carmen in "The Bride of Fear," Earle Williams and Grace Darmond in "The Girl in His House," Charlie Chaplin in "The Count," Tom Nix in "Ace High," Billy West in "Bright and Early," "Fools and Fires," "A Fight for Millions," "Zongar" and Gladys Hulette and Creighton Hale in "Waifs."

THE TEMPLE showed: Roy Stewart in "Cactus Crandall," Douglas Fairbanks in "The Americano," Billy Rhodes in "On Her Account," Bessie Barriscale in "Patriotism," the song feature with Ruth Clifford in "Three Wonderful Letters," Frank Keenan in "The Long Chance," "Vod-a-Vil," "High Tide," Alma Reubens in "The Ghost Flower" and Bobby Vernon in "Just Plain Folks."

AT THE Orpheum were June Elvidge in "A Woman's Redemption," Constance Talmadge in "The Honeymoon," Lillian Walker in "The Grain of Dust," Barbara Castleton and Irving Cummings in "The Heart of a Girl."

MANAGER RALPH W. CROCKER, of the Star, Elgin, attended the Exhibitors' convention in Chicago several days. Crocker is a real enthusiast, learns the whys and wherefores, demands to know the ins and outs and ups and downs of the picture business, and, incidentally, is considered local "movie dope" authority.

MRS. WILLIAM B. NEWMAN and baby son, John Wade, wife and son of the manager of the Grand, are visiting at the former's former home in Gibson City, Ill.

DUBUQUE fans had heard a great deal about Alla Nazimova's ability as an actress, and impatiently awaited her coming in her masterpiece, "Revelation," at the Grand for three days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 28, 29 and 30. They were not disappointed, for Nazimova certainly proved herself in this picture to be an actress of rare charm and beauty and remarkable talent.

THE WEST COAST

Communications Pertaining to "West Coast" Section Should Be Sent to Our
LOS ANGELES REPRESENTATIVE Telephone Pico 280, F 4661 429 SO. FIGUEROA STREET

Palmer Brings Photoplay Writing to Fine Point

INTEREST in photoplay writing at last has been inspired in the minds of educated persons and the so-called better classes of motion picture enthusiasts, according to Frederick Palmer, president of the Palmer Photoplay Corporation, whose organization is in the midst of a national advertising campaign, the results of which had convinced its chief executive that this is the correct conclusion.

"There was a time," said Palmer, "and this not so long ago, when contributions to the literary departments of the various studios came largely from those who were least qualified by education and experience to succeed as writers. When I was at the editorial desk of one of the large producing concerns there was rarely a day that we did not receive scores of manuscripts from aspiring authors in walks of life that greatly handicapped their chances. Back-stair gossip, cabdriver adventure and barber-shop romance formed a great part of this material, and there were rarely ideas of enough general interest or importance to deserve serious consideration. Little or no thought was given the preparation of such contributions, and there was a conspicuous duplication of ideas and lack of originality which indicated that the various writers were gaining their inspiration to a great degree from the successful efforts of others as construction, and such minor technicalities in the majority of instances exposed downright ignorance and lack of education.

"Whether our advertising has inspired it or whether the higher standard of the present-day photoplay has aroused their interest I am nto prepared to say, but it is a fact that more than ninety per cent of inquiries received in response to our national advertisements come from well-educated persons. Although few of the manuscripts we receive are properly prepared for the screen, from a professional viewpoint, they show marked ability, for the most part, on the part of their authors. Persons who have traveled widely and who have encountered experiences of adventure, romance and tragedy of high frantic value predominate. Bad spelling, improper phraseology and errors of grammar have become almost a thing of the past. In a few instances even we have had to make but minor suggestions to the embryo authors, and almost immediately have recommended their efforts to studios in search of story material.

"Truly things are looking up in the scenario business, for which let us all be duly thankful."

Camp Kearney Liberty Theatre Opens

LIBERTY THEATRE to be conducted by the War Training Camp Activity Committee, of Camp Kearney, has been completed and was publicly opened on September 18th. This is a large house capable of seating almost two thousand, and will no doubt prove very popular at the training camp, where the number of men frequently totals forty thousand. It is to be under the management of George Sargent, former director of pictures associated with producing companies at Los Angeles.

Particular attention has been given in the construction and equipment of the house to the projecting booth. This is fitted with 5 2-5 k. w. motor generator sets and switchboard of the Westinghouse make. These were installed under the direction of H. L. O'Brien, manager of this department of the Westinghouse branch at Los Angeles. Simplex projecting machines are used. The distance from the lens to the screen is approximately 75 feet.

Hayakawa Writer in Liberty Loan Work

MISS FRANCES GUIHAN, playwright and scenario editor for Sessue Hayakawa, has been appointed by the Southern California Liberty Loan Committee one of the Los Angeles precinct chairmen for the fourth Liberty Loan campaign. The notification of her appointment was followed immediately by Miss Guihan's selection of ten prominent men and women residing in the precinct as her committee of workers.

Sloman Prepares Fisher Story

EDWARD SLOMAN is preparing his next story for Margarita Fisher at the American studios, "The Side Show Girl," adapted from the well-known story of this name by Peter Clark Macfarlane, who is now in France with the Expeditionary Forces. Sloman thinks a great deal of the story, and thinks it is by far the best vehicle Margarita has had since he has been directing her productions.

War Plays No Favorites

SMILING BILLY MASON is one of the few remaining juvenile leads at the Christie studio. With the departure of Bobby Vernon into the submarine service, Billy Mason's activities at the Christie plant have doubled.

THE WEST COAST

Geraghty Takes Charge of Metro Publicity

THOMAS J. GERAGHTY, well-known screen writer and newspaperman, was this week placed in charge of the Metro scenario department. Geraghty was born in Indiana. He calls attention to the fact that other literary lights of more or less brilliance also claim the Hoosier State as their own. Before migrating to the West Coast he gained considerable renown as a reporter on the New York Herald, New York Tribune and The World. He has been in the West the most part of three years and during that time has devoted his literary energies to film writing. Until recently he was connected with the Paralta studios, and he wrote a number of the plays in which Warren Kerrigan was starred. He was also the author of many vehicles for Louise Glaum.

Katterjohn Finishes Lila Lee Story

MONTE M. KATTERJOHN, engaged in creating Paramount and Artcraft pictures, has completed the continuity of his first original story since joining the Paramount organization, and production will be undertaken on the opening scenes within a few days.

The story will form the fourth starring vehicle for Lila Lee, the new Lasky star, and its title, "Puppy Love," indicates that the subject will be in complete accord with the personality of the little player.

Bessie Love Returns to Studio Work

BESSIE LOVE has returned to the Vitagraph studios after about ten days on location at Riverside. She has almost completed her new picture, "Sue," under the direction of David Smith. Sue is a country girl, and one of her dearest possessions is a chicken ranch.

In Spokane Theatres

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG will be featured next week in "The House of Glass," her first appearance here since her Spokane visit in July. The Liberty Theatre, averse as a rule to showing war films, will show "The Hun Within" at an early date, a spy story made in the Griffith studios. "America's Answer," the second in the series of "Following the Flag in France," the official United States Government war pictures, will be shown at the Auditorium for seven days, beginning November 11, according to announcement by Charles W. York, manager.

BILL HART, in "Riddle Gawne," his latest Artcraft production, had a four days' run at the Liberty, and packed the house. Douglas Fairbanks, in 'The Americano," concluded the week's bill.

TOM MIX, the cowboy actor, has the central role in "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," which played at the Class A three days. Charlie Chaplin was presented on the same program in "The Landlady's Pet."

"INSIDE THE LINES," the great spy play, by Earl Derr Biggers, opened an eight days' engagement at the Auditorium and played to big business. Marguerite Clayton and Lewis S. Stone have stellar roles in the production.

NAZIMOVA, IN "TOYS OF FATE," and Fatty Arbuckle, in "Fatty's Suitless Day," rounded out the Casino program.

DOROTHY DALTON, IN "FLARE-UP SAL," was the offering at the Lyric, and a Pickford picture, "How Could You, Jean," showing little Mary, the film queen, at her best, rounded out the week's program at the Clemmer. "Pershing's Crusaders" was the current offering at the Majestic, making its second Spokane visit.

News of the Week in Portland

FRED M. SIMONTON, one of the oldest and best-known motion picture men of the Northwest, is now at the officers' training camp at Camp Pike, Ark. Mr. Simonton was manager of the Standard Film Exchange for several years in Portland, Ore., and after that was on the road for several distributing concerns. He quit the film game not long ago to go into business conducted under the name of the Oregon Welding and Manufacturing Company. The popular ex-film man is a Spanish-American War vet, seeing Philippine service in the Second Oregon Volunteers in 1898.

ED. I. HUDSON, popular Select salesman in the Oregon territory, and a hustler who has been identified with several exchanges in the Northwest, is one of the latest film men to be caught by the draft. Ed. is now in training at Camp Lewis, Wash.

LIEUT. TOM FORMAN, former leading man for Lasky, is stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Wash., just across the Columbia River from Portland.

AMONG RECENT FILM visitors to Portland were J. P. Cotter, the Baker, Ore., exhibition boss; G. M. Norton, former manager of the Arctic Theatre, Nez Perce, Idaho, who is here looking for a theatre after disposing of his Idaho interests to his brother, R. L. Norton, and Manager Bradley, of the Wheeler Theatre, Wheeler, Ore.

P. A. GAUL has charge of Max Scofield's theatre at Volmer, Idaho, Max having joined the army.

THE JEFFERSON THEATRE, Jefferson, Ore., has reopened.

J. J. PARKER, of the Majestic Theatre, Portland, has been to Seattle, hobnobbing with the theatre and exchange men.

E. J. MYRICK, manager of the Liberty Theatre, Portland, has been on the sick list for nearly two weeks.

MANAGER BARNETT, of the Sunnyside (Wash.) Theatre, is building a new house.

A NEW THEATRE is also building at Cle Elum, Wash.

A. H. M'DONALD, the Eugene, Ore., exhibition magnate, had a recent run-in with the city dads over Sunday opening. He had a patriotic picture booked for three days, including Sunday, and the council sanctioned the exhibition. However, a drive was made on the officials, and Mac finally announced that he would make no effort to show the picture, refusing to make an issue of the affair rather than embarrassing the city administration.

THE STRAND THEATRE, Portland, opened its 1918-19 season with the personal appearance of Princess Mona Darkfeather. This, with the Tom Mix picture, "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," and a good vaudeville bill, resulted in record business at an admission increase of from 15 to 20 cents.

Many Producers Visit Rowan and Company

It is said that R. A. Rowan & Co., real estate brokers of Los Angeles, have recently been visited by many prominent moving picture producers upon their arrival in Los Angeles. Each one has expressed their approval of this firm's knowledge of the motion picture business and the courteous and personal attention given them. Co-operation of moving picture producers is assured, as much time and money is saved by securing studio locations through this firm.

What Exchanges and Theatres Are Doing

E. D. TATE, branch manager of Pathe exchange, will leave for New York next week to attend the annual convention of Pathe exchangemen, who will gather in the Eastern Metropolis on Sept. 24 from practically every city in the United States. Mr. Tate expects to be in the East about one month. The convention this year will in many ways be a "war session," Mr. Tate said, inasmuch as questions as to how the exchanges may lend their assistance in winning the war will be up for discussion.

THE FIRST OF VITAGRAPH'S two-reel Big-V comedies reached the Los Angeles Vitagraph exchange this week, according to announcement by Branch Manager W. H. Hepburn. The comedies received by him are "Mishts and Matrimony," with Montgomery and Rock, and "Huns and Hyphens," written by Larry Semon, with Mr. Semon playing the leading role. Arrangements for exhibition of the pictures in Los Angeles have not as yet been made, Mr. Hepburn said.

H. D. NAUGLE, Western division manager of Vitagraph, will leave Monday for a three weeks' trip to all important cities on the Pacific Coast. He will visit in San Francisco, Seatle, Tacoma and Vancouver.

MANAGER W. H. HEPBURN, of the Vitagraph exchange in Los Angeles, will call on the trade in San Diego next week, but he says he will not make any more auto trips at night. He has not forgotten his experience with footpads near Riverside a few weeks ago.

J. L. LAZARUS, president of the Sunset Film Corporation, is expected in Los Angeles to confer with the Triangle interests, who have taken over the Sunset exchange in Los Angeles. Announcement that Mr. Lazarus would visit Los Angeles at this time was wired to John C. Moore, former district manager of the Sunset. R. W. Lynch, of the Triangle Distributing corporation, has planned to leave this week for San Francisco for conferences with Mr. Lazarus, but the trip was canceled when Mr. Lazarus wired that he would come to Los Angeles.

FAIRBANKS AND WILLIAM S. HART pictures, formerly released in this territory by the Sunset exchange, will hereafter be handled by the Triangle exchange, Manager C. J. Marley announces.

THAT BUSINESS in the Northwest is better this year than in many seasons, is the declaration this week by George J. Eckre, who has just taken charge of the Los Angeles office of the General Film exchange. Mr. Eckre was formerly branch manager for General Film at Portland. He says conditions at Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Vancouver are especially good. He gives the great boom in the shipbuilding industry as one of the reasons, and another reason that of the great patronage according propaganda films. His first week in Los Angeles has so impressed him, he says, that he hopes to remain here indefinitely.

F. M. STEELE, special representative of the William L. Sherry service in Los Angeles, went to Long Beach this week and booked the full Sherry service at the Rialto theatre in the beach city.

THE BURLINGHAM TRAVEL PICTURES are to be shown in the new California theatre just nearing completion on Main street in Los Angeles, according to announcement by the Sherry service in Los Angeles. Thirty pictures in one and two-reel subjects have been booked by the new house, it is announced.

SOL LESSER will be in Los Angeles this week for conferences with D. W. Griffith relative to securing certain film rights to "Hearts of the World," according to anouncement made from the All Star Features exchange. He also expects to investigate general conditions in the Los Angeles territory, it is understood.

THE ALL STAR FEATURES EXCHANGE this week announced that it has secured the rights of "Pershing's Crusaders" for Arizona. Louis Hyman, manager of the All Star Features exchange, says that "Pershing's Crusaders" has been booked in every town and city in Southern California, with the exception of half a dozen smaller communities. He adds that the two prints of the picture in this territory have been booked solid until November 15.

"AMERICA'S ANSWER," the Government film that followed "Pershing's Crusaders," opened at the Alhambra theatre last week to bigger business than was drawn by its patriotic predecessor, according to Louis Hyman, manager of the All Star Features exchange. This picture will also be shown in nearly every town in Southern California, he announces.

MISS DIXON, of Dixon and Dixon, prominent exhibitors in Ventura, was in Los Angeles this week and booked from the Mutual exchange for her theatre "The Hoosier's Romance," by James Whitcomb Riley.

THE AMERICAN TRONA COMPANY, manufacturers of potash, at Trona, Cal., this week opened their new theatre at the plant. They will present a program that will feature Chaplin releases from Mutual and Outing Chester pictures.

THE AMERICAN THEATRE at Pomona this week signed a contract with Mutual for Outing Chester pictures.

THE OCEAN THEATRE at Ocean Beach, near San Diego, has adopted a one-day program for the winter. The house will be open one day each week hereafter, and that day will be Saturday.

SIGMUND STERN, owner of the Star and Rosebud, suburban theatres of Los Angeles, and one of the oldest exhibitors in the city, died last Wednesday. Nearly every exhibitor in Los Angeles sent floral tributes to the funeral.

J. J. LEGGETT, a prominent exhibitor at Douglas, Ariz., was in Los Angeles this week lining up his fall program. He spent several hours Saturday in conference with B. E. Loper, manager of Select Pictures.

WILLIAM LENTZ, salesman for Select Pictures, returned to Los Angeles this week from a trip over California. He reported good business.

THE MAIN TOPIC of conversation at the Fox Film exchange throughout last week was a discussion of the way "Salome," starring Theda Bara, opened the week at Clune's Auditorium. According to Manager Walsh of the Fox exchange, the picture drew larger crowds than did "Cleopatra" during its opening week in Los Angeles. The picture has been booked solid until the middle of November in nearly every city in Southern California, Mr. Walsh announces.

EDUCATIONAL FILM RELEASES, including the Blue Scenics and "Mexico Today," will open at Grauman's theatre on Sept. 23, according to announcement by H. W. Stubbins, manager of M. & R. Features.

JAMES COOK, owner of the Palace theatre at El Centro, after spending most of the summer season in Los Angeles, this week completed his bookings for the winter season and prepared to return to El Centro. Among some of the subjects he selected is "The Unbeliever," released by the George Kleine System.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "Triple Trouble," a George Kleine release, played to capacity business at the Garrick theatre during its two weeks' run at that house, just closed, according to a report by Manager Glimm to the Kleine offices.

THE VICTORY THEATRE between Eighth and Ninth streets on Broadway was opened this week under the management of Claude Halsell, manager also of the American theatre. The house was formerly conducted under the names of Woodley, Reviera and Sennett. It has been compeltely renovated and will be operated at popular prices, ten cents for any seat.

"FOR HUSBANDS ONLY," a Lois Weber production, will enter a week's run at the Superba theatre, having returned to Los Angeles following its first exhibition at the Kinema theatre about four weeks ago. The picture is a Universal release

C. T. GIBSON, while in Los Angeles, announced that he would reopen the Imperial theatre at Imperial, Cal., on Sept. 15.

Hart Begins New Elaborate Feature

WILLIAM S. HART commenced work this week on a new production which will follow "The Border Wireless" in release, and which, from every standpoint, will probably be the most elaborate feature he has ever made. "The Border Wireless," Hart's latest film to be released, is being heralded enthusiastically by the film world because of its swift moving plot and because of the fact that it presents Hart in a new and different characterization from those which he has been interpreting in the past. However, the new picture on which the star is now working, and which has not yet been definitely titled, removes Hart even farther from his usual type of character delineation and will show him in a role which is a wide departure from anything he has ever done.

DUHEM
MOTION PICTURE MFG. CO.
Films Made to Order
EXPERT DEVELOPING, PRINTING AND COLORING
CAMERA OUT-FITS AND RAW FILM SUPPLIED

CAMERA MEN SENT ANYWHERE

985 Market Street, San Francisco, California

Telephone: Hollywood 1290
GEORGE W. CHAPMAN CO.
Incorporated
EVERYTHING IN MOVING PICTURE PROPS.
Specialties: Miniature Sets and Plaster Breakaways
5155 Santa Monica Boulevard
Los Angeles, Cal.

SLIDES Title Cards and Film
L. A. SLIDE & FILM CO.
122 WEST THIRD ST., LOS ANGELES

THEATRE SETTINGS
We Have Installed Hundreds From $100 to $10,000 Each
BEST SCREENS, SCENERY
EDW. H. FLAGG SCENIC CO.
Largest in the World
Los Angeles San Francisco

WINFIELD-KERNER COMPANY
Established 1905
Manufacturers of Actinic Ray Arc Lamps for Motion Picture Producers and Photographers. Effect Lamps and equipment. Resistance and Magnet Coils made to order.
Phones: Pico 2646 A 2215
325-27 E. Sixth St., Los Angeles

Seattle Exchanges and Accessory Firms

L. J. SCHLAIFER ATTRACTIONS
2022 Third Avenue Seattle, Washington

Parentage-Ivan Productions—2 Reel Jester Comedies—2 Reel Hart Re-Issues

AND OTHER BOX OFFICE PICTURES

NOW BOOKING—NORTHWEST TERRITORY
"FALL OF BARBARY COAST"
OR "FINGER OF JUSTICE"
RAN FOUR CONSECUTIVE WEEKS AT REX, SEATTLE
G. M. SANDERSON, MANAGER, 2016 THIRD AVENUE, SEATTLE

Exhibitors Film Exchange
INCORPORATED
Member of First National Exhibitors Circuit
--NOW BOOKING--
A DOG'S LIFE
MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY
TARZAN OF THE APES
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS
THE STILL ALARM
ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT
ETC,. ETC.
--COMING!--
SHOULDER ARMS
(Second Chaplin Comedy)
ROMANCE OF TARZAN
ANITASTEWART SUPERFEATURES
1200 FOURTH AVE.
SEATTLE, WASH.
F. V. FISHER, Manager

GREATER FEATURES COMPANY
2020 Third Avenue
SEATTLE, WASHINGTON
Rep. Consolidated Film Corp.
Showing
LITERARY DIGEST NEWS
CARTOONS—NEWMAN TRAVELS
JACK LANNON, OWNER

Lantern Slides
J. C. COREY SIGN CO.
3rd & University St., Seattle
Cutouts and Lobby Displays

GEORGE KLEINE SYSTEM
Perfection Pictures
W. J. DRUMMOND
Branch Manager
2012 Third Avenue

What Seattle Exhibitors Say

L. H. PERRY, manager of the Ogden theatre, Ogden, Utah, may enter the U. S. Army in the capacity of interpreter. His brother, W. H. Perry, left in January to carry on the same kind of work. Both have spent much time in Germany and therefore know the language.

FRANK BAILEY, manager of the American, Butte, Mont., contemplates the erection of a 2,000-seat house in that city.

THE OPENING of the Liberty, in Coquille, Oregon, has been slightly postponed, as all the material has not arrived.

MANAGER WITTENBURG, of the Grant theatre, Portland, Ore., has reopened his house, after having it closed for a month for repairs, with "The Kaiser."

THE NEW LIBERTY, in Centralia, Wash., is rapidly nearing completion and will soon be opened to the public.

C. N. BASON, of the Liberty theatre, Sumner, Wash., is beginning to put on a big advertising campaign for "The Kaiser."

THE AMERICAN, Tacoma, Wash., was recently damaged by a small fire. Not much damage was done. All was repaired within a day. The cause has not been given out.

THE GENERAL FEATURES COMPANY, of Seattle, has added some new big films for its Film Department, some of which are "Her Moment," "Guilty Wife," "The Mother and the Law," "Our Bridges,"—this is a reproduction of the making of and the ships that cross the Atlantic. Mr. Lannon has also secured the Red Cross film, showing the exercises and parades held on the Fourth of July in Paris. He has also secured the famous Oakdale series which consists of five and six reels, featuring Gloria Joy and Henry King. Mr. Lannon says that business has increased decidedly with him, and this is one of the reasons he has increased his Hodkinson service from one in two weeks to one every week.

AMONG THOSE recently seen on Film Row were Fred Mercy, from Yakima; M. L. Scherman, formerly on Film Row, who left for Mare Island, Cal., and was given a well earned promotion to Bremerton, Wash., which is not far from Film Row. Lou Hamacher, formerly booker for the World Film Exchange, came in his long legged uniform to see Manager Koerpel, the other day. Koerpel said that if long legs and light weight would get "der Kaiser," this "longated Lou," as he calls him, would get one every step. Others who were in town to do business were W. G. Riley, of the Rex, Auburn; Fred Mercy of Yakima, Manager Armstrong of the Strand, Portland.

RAY R. KELSALL, one of the most popular young fellows along Seattle's Film Row, as well as being popular with his boss, J. A. Johnson, has left the seating concern for Camp Lewis, where he entered the heavy artillery and will practice with them in order to be able to give "der Kaiser" all the harder blow. Those who know Ray, and that is every one on "the street," have confidence that he will come back with part of the Kaiser at least. That will be the "dictatorship" part. J. K. Schenk has been appointed to take his position.

OTHERS seen on Film Row were Manager Bosworth, from Ketchikan and Mr. Spickert, of Juneau, Alaska.

FRIENDS of Manager Hill, manager of the Goldwyn branch in Seattle, were sorry to hear that Mr. Hill sprained his foot. He is being attended to at his hotel and the doctor expects him to be back in the office, at least part of the day, within two weeks.

What Coast Studios Are Doing

BILLY MASON will soon terminate his present contract with the Christie Comedy Company, it is understood, and it is rumored that he may align himself under the banner of Thomas H. Ince.

RUSS DUDLEY, who has appeared with a number of working companies in Los Angeles, was this week engaged by Christie to play juvenile leads in Christie comedies.

WORD WAS RECEIVED in Los Angeles that William Russell and his American company from Santa Barbara, entered Bakersfield for some "location scenes" like a Barnum & Bailey circus. The populace turned out enmasse to greet the star, the story further avers, and to show his appreciation of the great reception, Russell called on all his cameramen to get busy, and then playing the leading role of the hero entering the city, he secured a photographic record of the entire proceedings. Russell is working on a story entitled "Where the West Began," written by Stephen Fox. Eileen Percy is playing the opposite lead. Some of the principal scenes in the story are laid in the lumber camps in Oregon.

MAY ALLISON, this week, made her first public appearance in Los Angeles. She was the guest of honor at the Red Cross tea rooms at the Kinema theatre, on Thursday.

HENRY WALTHALL has completed his last picture at the Ince studios and he has begun preparations to appear in a new propaganda film to be produced by the National Film Company. The picture just completed for Ince is clled "The False Faces," and is from the original story by Louis Joseph Vance.

JUANITA HANSEN is to be featured in Bluebird photoplays, according to announcement this week from the Universal studios. Her first production will be made under the direction of Colin Campbell and the working title will be "The Wrong Side of Paradise." It is a tale of Hawaii, and was written by George Hull, a former newspaperman. This will be the first Bluebird in which Miss Hansen has appeared since "Broadway Love," in which she was seen in support of Dorothy Phillips. She is now being seen in the mystery serial, "The Brass Bullet."

THE NEWEST SCREEN DRAMA selected for Priscilla Dean will be a crook play called "Miss Dorris, Safe Cracker." She is to appear under the Bluebird standard, and the subject will be directed by Jack Dillon. Fred Myton prepared the continuity from an original story by Jack Boyle. The play will give Miss Dean a role similar to that played by Herbert Rawlinson in "Come Through," it is said.

EDDIE LYONS AND LEE MORAN have just completed a comedy that has been named "Neighbors." As the name suggests, it depicts the troubles of a person getting too intimate with other people in the immediate neighborhood.

THE NEXT STARRING VEHICLE for Fritzi Brunette will be "Sealed Orders," a play based on an original story by Andrew Soutar and George Hull, from which Harvey Gates prepared the screen script. It will be produced under the direction of Douglas Gerard. Miss Brunette will be given a melodramatic part in the play.

DOROTHY DALTON, this week, finished "The Woman Who Dared," at the Ince studios, and she planned to begin immediate work on a new subject to be directed by Victor Schertzinger. Ed. Coxen played the male lead in the picture just finished, but her leading man for the new effort has not been selected. The new play will have a rural setting, with principally all the scenes laid in the East.

CHARLES RAY, this week, also completed a picture. It is called "Dreamy Dub," and was written by J. D. Hawks. Doris Lee was his leading lady. Julien Josephson is writing a new play for Mr. Ray, which will give the young Ince star an opportunity to display his wares as a blacksmith. The scenes will be laid in the country. Doris Lee will again play the feminine lead, while the pictures will be directed by Jerome Storm.

ANOTHER INCE PICTURE came to a happy ending this week when Enid Bennett, under the direction of Fred Niblo, completed "Fuss and Feathers," with Douglas MacLean playing the male lead. Miss Bennett will begin a new picture the latter part of this week, which will be known under the working title as "Happy-Go-Merry." Douglas MacLean will again appear in the leading male role, and this will be another Fred Niblo production. The principal scenes of the story are laid in a western mining camp, where two young men, one a sweetheart of Miss Bennett, make Merry and get into a peck of trouble. A Spanish girl figures in the plot. The story is thoroughly saturated with comedy, it is announced.

ADVERTISE IN THE WEST COAST

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS began work, this week, on "Arizona," his newest Artcraft release. It is understood that the complete cast for the picture has been selected, but it was not made public this week. Fairbanks and his company will go to Arizona to film some exteriors.

FATTY ARBUCKLE, this week, finished "The Sheriff," his newest screen comedy. He is planning to begin a new subject, the title of which is still unnamed.

THE SENNETT studios were thrown into gloom last Monday, because of the death of the wife of Director Eddie Cline. She leaves a ten-day-old child.

LOIS WEBER met with a painful accident last Tuesday when she slipped and fell in a downtown furniture store in Los Angeles. She broke her left arm, and at this time it looks as though she will be incapacitated for several weeks.

"DON'T MOVE" is the title given a new picture being directed by Vin Moore at the L-Ko studio. Harry Mann is playing the part of a husband who is always getting into trouble with his neighbors in the apartment house. Other members of the cast are Merta Sterling, Grace Orma and Helen Lynch.

DIRECTOR CRAIG HUTCHINSON resumed work this week on "Work or Fight," after a few days in the hospital, due to blood poisoning. It is a story of a man who couldn't get into the army and who, at the same time couldn't hold a job for any length of time, is the central figure in the comedy. Others appearing in the cast are Harry Gribbon, May Emory, Eva Novak and Jim Donnelly.

THE FIRST COMEDY to be directed by Joe Le Brandt and Anthony Coldewey at L-Ko is called "It's a Bird." Le Brandt was with Sennett and Keystone six years before joining L-Ko. In the cast are Harry Mann, Eddie Barry, Loretta Wilson, Bartine Burkett, Grace Orma.

DIRECTOR FRANK GRIFFIN, this week, completed "The Chef," his first picture with the L-Ko studio. It is a comedy of boarding-house love.

MORE THAN 3,000 POUNDS of explosives were fired during the filming of "Behind the Front," a Hughie Mack comedy, according to announcement by the L-Ko press agent this week.

ETHEL CLAYTON, this week, began work on the screen version of the late Charles Klein's stage success, "Maggie Pepper."

WALLACE REID is beginning a new comedy picture which is yet unnamed. Nina Byron, who has heretofore played only minor parts, will take a prominent part in the picture, appearing as the feminine lead. The new vehicle furnished Reid with an opportunity to appear as a real man-about-town, it being a metropolitan story throughout.

In and Around Denver

CHARLES R. GILMORE has again taken charge of the interests of the Universal Picture Theatres, Inc., in the Rocky Mountain district, and has established headquarters at the local exchange of the General Film Corporation, 1533 Welton Street. He left the latter part of this week for Boise, Idaho, and expects to visit the leading exhibitors of that State and Utah before his return. His big bunch of contracts now number more than a half hundred. Mr. Gilmore announces that R. J. Churchill, who resigned as manager of the Denver Fox office six weeks ago to enter the army, has cast his lot with United until such time as he is notified to report for training.

MANAGER G. W. WHITNEY of General is visiting exhibitors in Nebraska this week.

IRVING EHRENSOFT of Supreme Photo Plays Corporation, is out on a trip covering Southern Colorado, the Western Slope, Salt Lake and Ogden on "The Grain of Dust."

CARL LAEMMLE, president of Universal, will be in Denver for a short visit the latter part of September, en route to Universal City, where he will spend a few weeks giving the producing companies there the once over.

EDWARD ARMSTRONG, district manager for Universal, is expecting a personal visit from Joe Brandt of New York, general manager of all U. exchanges, some time this month.

D. B. LEDERMAN, Universal special representative, has arrived in Denver on a trip that will take him to every one of their exchanges in the country. Mr. Lederman is a veteran exchange manager, having been with Carl Laemmle ever since the latter quit the clothing business in Oshkosh. At present he is installing a new booking system that will be uniform in all exchanges.

MABEL HELZER has taken over the interest of Marie Goodhand in the American theatre at Kimball, Nebraska, and assumes charge immediately. She makes her debut with Kimball fans with "Crashing Through to Berlin."

R. W. DAVIS, owner of the Palace theatre at Trinadad, and M. B. Niven, who operates the Culver theatre at Fort Morgan, Colo., were visitors on Film Row this week. Both came in to arrange fall bookings.

DENVER EXCHANGE MANAGERS are getting together in order to insure perfect distribution of the reels issued in connection with the Fourth Liberty Loan. They expect to be able to reach every exhibitor in the territory every day during the coming drive.

WARD E. SCOTT, local manager for Pathe, has left for New York City, where he will attend the coming conference of managers called by the company.

H. BRADLEY FISH, secretary of the Rocky Mountain Screen club and manager of the Goldwyn Denver exchange, is back on the job again and believes he has broken all records for a man saying goodbye to his appendix. He returned to his desk in just ten days from his arrival at Mercy hospital for the major operation. Local managers celebrated his recovery by accepting invitations from Mrs. Fish to an elaborate luncheon in his honor last Tuesday evening.

EARL P. BRIGGS, in charge of the Denver office of the American Film Company, is in Salt Lake City this week. He is arranging for the handling of his larger accounts out of Salt Lake for Utah and Idaho territory.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN DIVISION of the American Red Cross this week sent out slides to all exhibitors in this territory to stimulate the collection of 5,000 tons of clothing for the people of Belgium. They consider this as the best way to raise the money.

A. L. SELIG, of the publicity department of the Fox Film Corporation and publicity agent for Theda Bara, was a Denver visitor last week. He is lining up the newspapers of the country for more publicity for pictures in their columns. If they don't come through more liberally and more gracefully hereafter it will be no fault of Mr. Selig. Denver and Colorado Springs were both on his Colorado list.

H. E. LOTZ, new manager for Select, is back from a trip to Salt Lake, where he closed an important deal with George Mayne, manager of the Swanson theatre circuit in Salt Lake. Mr. Mayne operates both the American and the Strand in that city, and will handle two second runs each week hereafter at the Strand in addition to Select first runs at the American. Mr. Lotz has also renewed the contracts with the Ogden and the Webber theatres in Denver for Select star series for the coming year.

Ogden Short Paragraphs

LOUIS H. PEERY, manager of the Ogden theatre, has been accepted for service at the United States War Prison camp at Fort Douglas, Salt Lake, Utah, as finance clerk and interpreter. There are the civilian war prisoners confined at the camp. Mr. Peery spent three years in Berlin, about seven years ago and reads, writes and speaks the German language fluently.

JOSEPH RODEN, representing the Fox Film Company in the intermountain region, with headquarters at Salt Lake, was an Ogden visitor last week. "Joe" claims that the Fox Victory pictures will "make 'em all set up."

LILLIAN WALKER, one time star of the Ogden Pictures Corporation, passed through Ogden Monday afternoon en route to California Movie Pasture in Los Angeles environs. During the short time she was in the city Miss Walker renewed acquaintance with a number of her Ogden friends.

THIS WEEK has been a busy one at the Orpheum and the Alhambra theatres, the former was showing Theda Bara in "Cleopatra" and the Alhambra had "The Hun Within." Both pictures drew well.

AS A SPECIAL ATTRACTION on Thursday, September 12, the national day for registration of men between 18 and 45 years of age, the Ogden theatre presented Bessie Barriscale in "Patriotism." The picture was greeted with several large audiences. It is the first Paralta released in this city. It seemed good to see "Bill" Hodkinson's name on the billing. "Hod" "use to was" a citizen of Ogden and we are glad to see him "put over some good ones."

THE OGDEN MOTION PICTURES HOUSES have raised prices. Not much, but a little—seventeen cents for adults and six cents for children under 12 years of age. The new prices include the war tax. The former prices, prior to September 15, were fifteen for adults and five cents for the kiddies and this included the war tax. They have been showing big stuff here for a long while at small prices, while Salt Lake and other towns have charged "more'n a quarter" to see the same pictures.

"SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES admitted free at any time, upon payment of two cents war tax." The above is the sign that has a conspicuous place in the lobby of the Ogden theatre. The boys in uniform take advantage of the theatre's hospitality at every performance.

THE ALHAMBRA AND THE UTAH THEATRES are now taking the entire output of the Paramount-Artcraft program. These pictures will be shown at the two houses this winter.

H. E. SKINNER, manager of the Alhambra theatre, who was recently elected manager of the Western Association of Managers, is in Chicago this week attending the meeting of the western managers.

SEE

THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

IN THIS ISSUE

Directory of Los Angeles Exchanges and Supply Houses

PAREX FILM CORP.
FURNISHING

WM. L. SHERRY SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO — 180 Golden Gate Ave., C. I. LUNTZ, Mgr.

SEATTLE — 2022 Third Ave., L. A. TODD, Mgr.

LOS ANGELES—511 W. Eighth St., F. M. STEELE, Mgr.

WM. ALEXANDER, District Mgr. Headquarters—LOS ANGELES

LOUIS HYMAN
Manager

ALL STAR FEATURE DISTRIBUTORS, Inc.

514 West Eighth Street

J. SLIPPER & CO.
Projecting Machines

Simplex, Baird, Motiographs
Hertner Transverter
Theatre Equipment and Supplies
728 South Olive Street
Write for Catalog

The George Kleine System

Perfection Pictures

E. H. SILCOCKS
Branch Manager

209 Knickerbocker Building

AMERICAN FILM CO., INC.

William Russell Margarita Fisher
Mary Miles Minter Productions
C. J. CROWLEY, Representative
Distributed Through Pathe Exchange
732 So. Olive St.

UNIVERSAL FILM EXCHANGES, INC.

Successor to California Film Exchange
DAVID BERSHON, MANAGER.
Distributors of Universal, Jewel and Lois Weber Productions, Blue Bird Photoplays, Century and Lyons & Moran Comedies
822 S. OLIVE ST.

H. F. CHARLES
District Manager

American Photo Player Co.

737 South Olive Street

VITAGRAPH

So. California and Arizona
W. H. HEPBURN
Branch Manager
Knickerbocker Building
643 South Olive Street

San Francisco News Condensed

WALTER S. RAND, newly appointed division manager of the General Film Company (Inc.), arrived in San Francisco from Los Angeles this week on a tour of inspection. He will be here about a week and goes hence to the Northwest, where a visit will be paid to the company's offices in Portland and Seattle. This is Mr. Rand's first visit to San Francisco, since he severed his connection with the Denver branch of the Goldwyn and joined the General. However, he is an old timer in the city by the Golden Gate, and like many others, he slept in Jefferson Square after the great fire of 1906. Mr. Rand has been in the mountain region about Denver and Salt Lake so long that he was almost satisfied to live at great altitudes until he again glimpsed the broad Pacific. Now he says he never wants to leave the sea again. The new division manager says he found the local office in first-class shape.

P. M. BRINCH, special western division representative of the W. W. Hodkinson Service, was a visitor to San Francisco this week. Mr. Brinch has been installing representatives of the service in the various offices of the General Film Company. While he was in San Francisco he appointed W. O. Edmunds, an old time motion picture man, as the representative in this city. Mr. Brinch says that he considers San Francisco his future home and to make this point clear he stayed over a day in this city in order to register at a local draft registration board. After attending to this patriotic duty he left for Los Angeles, where he will appoint a Hodkinson representative.

FLOYD ST. JOHN, manager of the World Film Corporation in San Francisco and northern California, is on a trip through the San Joaquin. Before he returns to the city he aims to visit every exhibitor of importance in the valley and call to their attention the big things that the "World" is ready to offer them. H. S. Meyer, who was in charge during the absence of Mr. St. John, says that his company has some big pictures coming along. It has just finished a very successful campaign on the feature offering, "Inside the Lines," which proved a big box office attraction. The company has some treats, which are expected to make even greater hits, for future release. One, which will be released in a short time, is a seven-reel play, "The Road to France." The big feature play, "America's Answer," will be distributed by the "World" in all states except California; and, according to Mr. Meyer, this is one of the greatest films of the year.

THE TURNER & DAHNKEN THEATRE at Sacramento, which has been closed throughout the summer, is now about ready for reopening. During the time the theatre was closed it was practically rebuilt. Fully $40,000 was spent in the improvements, which include an increase in seating capacity from 1,000 to 1,600.

THE MOTION PICTURE OPERATORS of Oakland have rented the T. & D. theatre of that city for the night of Tuesday, September 17, when they will give a performance for the benefit of the Red Cross. The theatre management donated the theatre at the cost of running it, and the employes have donated their services. Besides pictures, there will be a varied program. It is expected that at least $1,500 will be realized for the Red Cross.

JAMES BEATTY of San Jose, who owns the Liberty theatre in that city and a theatre of the same name at Fresno, was a visitor at the exchanges this week.

CHARLES KAUFMANN, owner of the Gem theatre at Colusa, was a San Francisco visitor last week.

B. R. DAVIS, manager of the Lyric theatre, Stockton, was in San Francisco arranging for films this week. He says his town is booming.

O. V. HOUSTON, manager of the Star theatre, Klamath Falls, Ore., was one of the visitors to Film Row this week.

H. W. SMITH, local manager of the General Film Co. (Inc.), is making a business trip through the Sacramento Valley.

THE LOCAL THEATRES of Richmond, Cal., have been complaining of the itinerant shows which visit that city and by the payment of a nominal fee are allowed to compete with the people who have spent large sums in building theatres and constantly contribute to the support of the city by the payment of taxes. The agitation became sufficiently strong for the City Council to take cognizance of it and during the past week it voted to tax all tent shows $20 per day. It is believed that this fee will keep away the undesirable ones and the theatre men look on the action of the council as a victory for them.

E. O. CHILD, manager of the Pathe Exchange, Inc., leaves for New York on September 18 to attend the convention in that city of Pathe managers. Mr. Child says that he expects to be away from San Francisco about three weeks. During his absence, his assistant, Mr. Hoeing, will have charge of the local office. Mr. Child promises some treats for the movie fans during the coming winter.

W. N. KOLFELDT, formerly manager for Pathe at Seattle, and L. A. Samualson, formerly booker in the same office, were in San Francisco during the past week, en route to Manila. Some time ago these two motion picture men enlisted in the Government service and were assigned to the merchant marine. Kolfeldt is now chief steward and Samualson is oiler on one of Uncle Sam's new ships, which are doing their part to help win the war.

I. P. ARNOLD, formerly manager for Pathe at Salt Lake, has recently accepted a position with the Paramount people and will go to work for them as road man running out of San Francisco.

RALPH QUIVE, San Francisco manager for the Vitagraph, says that the Rotary Star system which the company will inaugurate October 1, is making a hit with exhibitors on this coast. He asserts that orders for Vitagraph features are pouring in at a rapid rate.

H. H. HICKS, who has been manager for Select Pictures in the California territory for some time, left for Seattle on September 10. In this latter city Mr. Hicks will have charge of not only the state of Washington, but also of Oregon, Idaho and Montana. Seattle is regarded as the most important distributing center on the coast by the Select people and Mr. Hicks' friends showered him with congratulations on his promotion before he left for the Northwest. He has been succeeded in this territory by H. L. Knappen. Mr. Knappen comes to San Francisco from the management of Select Pictures in Denver, Col. However, he is no stranger on the coast. He opened the office of the International Film Service for W. R. Hearst in this city several years ago, and previous to that he was with the Pathe Company here. When he was asked what his program was in his new position, Mr. Hicks harked back to his newspaper days and paraphrased a famous saying of Charles Dana, the great editor. "I am going to raise hell and sell pictures!" was his reply, and he said it as if he meant it.

G. C. PARSONS, manager of the Goldwyn Company, is visiting Los Angeles in the interests of his company.

O. L. OLSEN, who says he has sold bonds, red herring and other things, but is new in the motion picture game, has recently joined forces with the Goldwyn Company and will cover the Southern territory. If appearances go for anything the exhibitors are going to grow fond of his sunny smiling face.

T. L. HAINES, manager of the Atlas Educational Film Company, says that he is taking more orders for the De Vry motion picture projector than he can fill on immediate delivery. There is a constantly increasing demand for the projector among industrial concerns, he reports.

I. R. REHM, president of the Atlas Educational Film Company, of Chicago, recently paid the local office a visit.

The Mountain-Plains Theatre Supply Co.

1514-18 Welton Street, Denver, Col.
106 So. 14th St., Omaha, Neb. 136 E. 2nd So. St., Salt Lake City, Utah
Distributors for Simplex and Powers Machines. Everything for the Motion Picture Theatre. Also distributors for latest in Reels and Film Shipping Cases.
Write for Catalogue

SOL. L. LESSER has purchased the state rights for Arizona, California and Nevada of the six-reel screen version of "The Natural Law," taken from the play of the same name, that ran at the Republic theatre in New York, featuring Marguerite Courtot, who starred in "The Unbeliever."

THERE REMAIN but few exhibitors throughout the state of California who have not booked the first U. S. Official War Film, "Pershing's Crusaders." This picture has taken the state by storm and has done more to visualize what has been done in developing the American army than any other medium.

"AMERICA'S ANSWER" is now ready for booking, and from all indications it will surpass "Pershing's Crusaders," as the exhibitors are realizing that through showing these official war films not only are the box office receipts increased but the public is being shown just what is being done with the money expended by the Government for war purposes.

THE PRINTS of the first episodes of "The Hand of Vengeance" have reached the All Star Features Distributors, Inc., at San Francisco and it is reported that the indications are that it will exceed any previous serial in number of bookings.

THE FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION, handling the Paramount and Artcraft pictures, has secured fifty billboards in this city under a year's contract and will proceed to advertise along the line of dividing the advertising expense with the theatre on a fifty-fifty basis. Of these billboards the Imperial has taken twenty and the New Mission, the Royal and the New Fillmore will take ten each. These latter three theatres are now using and will use during the coming year every picture made by the Paramount and Artcraft.

"TILL I COME BACK TO YOU," Cecil B. De Mille's latest production, made new box office records at the Imperial last week.

THE CALIFORNIA THEATRE shattered all records, last week, exhibiting D. W. Griffith's latest Artcraft picture, "The Great Love."

THE STRAND started the week of September 15 with the much discussed Paramount picture, "The Marriage Ring," featuring Enid Bennett and directed by Thomas H. Ince.

LILA LEE, the new Paramount star, created quite a sensation by a personal appearance at the Imperial theatre.

W. W. VAUGHAN, formerly a star salesman for the Paramount and Artcraft, recently entered the United States Army.

ED. LOWMAN, head booker for the Paramount and Artcraft, will also enter the Government service in the immediate future.

THE FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION reports that practically every city and hamlet in the state of California has contracted for the exhibition of D. W. Griffith's Artcraft picture, "The Great Love."

THE ALHAMBRA THEATRE, one of the first-run houses of San Francisco, has installed a De Luxe style No. 50 Fotoplayer. This instrument will supplant the orchestra of six pieces which the theatre formerly employed.

MARK CORY, of the Universal, is making a trip through the San Joaquin Valley in the interests of his company.

DOC HART, of the Universal, has just returned from a trip up the coast to Eureka. He reports that conditions in that section of the state are excellent.

CHRIS JOHNSON of the Star and Edison theatres, Newman, Cal., was a visitor to Film Row this week.

A. A. RICHARDS, of Turlock, Cal., who runs the Turlock theatre in his home town and the Cokay theatre at Lodi, was in San Francisco this week, looking over the film offerings.

What Butte Is Doing

REPORTS from all parts of Montana point to improved conditions for the showmen, due to cool weather and in the inflow of money for grain, livestock and other products of the state.

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS" is continuing to attract crowds wherever shown in this state. Last week is packed 'em to the roof in Lewiston.

MR. AND MRS. C. S. JENSEN are Butte callers from Seattle. Mr. Jensen is senior member of the theatrical firm, Jensen & Von Herberg, who have sigh-class houses in Butte. Seattle and Portland. Mr. Jensen was highly pleased with the business being done by the Rialto under the management of Ralph Ruffner.

THE RIALTO broke all house records—in fact shattered them into bits—during the four-day showing of William Farnum in "Riders of the Purple Sage" and Roscoe Arbuckle in "The Crook." The combination proved a winner and the management would liked to have held the bill longer. Sunday, according to the records, the house was 40 per cent heavier than any other one day's business. The theatre was absolutely filled from noon until almost midnight. It was one continual rush. The matinees were also far above the average each day.

GILBERT HEYFRON of the Missoula Amusement Company was a Butte business caller the past few days.

SINCE A. C. RALEIGH has been with the American theatre as as publicity manager the attendance has shown a wonderful increase. Mr. Raleigh took the position two months ago. Since then there has been a steady growth and the S. R. O. sign has been used nightly at this popular house. Business is almost double what it was a year ago at the Bailey theatre. "It's just like selling fish or cream puffs," said Mr. Raleigh to a Motion Picture News man. "In the show business you simply have to give the public quality and service. Our policy is no second runs, the best of productions always, high-class music, service, comfort and honest value. It is our aim to give the biggest 25-cent show in Butte and we are living up to our advertisements."

"THE SAVAGE WOMAN," with pretty Clara Kimball Young, did big business at Frank Bailey's house during its showing the past week. Rather fanciful was the play but the action was thrilling throughout and the talented star captivated everyone. Her transition from a wild state to a Parisian society belle and then the reversion to the savage again was cleverly done.

ON REGISTRATION DAY for the Select Service, saloons in Butte were closed and local theatre men had an excellent chance to observe what the closing law's effect will probably be in Montana after January 1 when the state goes into the dry column. Mr. Raleigh of the American says that 400 to 500 men in addition to the regular patronage came to that house during the mantinee and up to 9 p. m. At that hour the saloons were allowed to open and there was a noticeable lack of men to come from then on. Other Butte houses also report conditions somewhat similar but not quite so marked.

Directory of San Francisco Exchanges

UNITED STATES OFFICIAL WAR FILMS

Presented by THE DIVISION OF FILMS
Committee on Public Information
Geo. Creel, Chairman Chas. S. Hart, Director
Released in California by SOL. L. LESSER
Chairman Division United States Official War Films, State Council for Defense for California
191 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco 514 West Eighth St., Los Angeles

NOW BOOKING

"AMERICA'S ANSWER"
EIGHT REELS
A masterpiece of living action of what has been done in France by our boys and the United States Government

"PERSHING'S CRUSADERS"
SEVEN REELS
Khaki-clad millions of Americans sweeping on to meet the foe

"OUR BRIDGE OF SHIPS"
TWO REELS
Visualizing the tremendous energy of America aroused to defeat the U-boat menace

"OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW"
ONE REEL
Authentic action in the war zone from the Governments of the United States, France, Great Britain and Italy. Released every week. Photographed by the United States Signal Corps, A. E. F.

TURNER and DAHNKEN

BRANCH OF

FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS' CIRCUIT, Inc.,

Music Rolls Exchanged—Supplies of All Kinds

134 Golden Gate Avenue San Francisco, California

CONSOLIDATED FILM CORPORATION

90 Golden Gate Avenue SAN FRANCISCO
2020 Third Auenue SEATTLE

DISTRIBUTING KATZENJAMMER AND HAPPY HOOLIGAN CARTOONS—DITMAR'S LIVING BOOK OF NATURE—BRUCE SCENICS—NEWMAN TRAVELS—GAUMONT NEWS AND GRAPHIC AND LITERARY DIGEST (SEATTLE ONLY)

KALE-ALTA SLIDE CO.

B. O. YOUNGMAN
24 Hour Slide Service
The Quality is the best
Latest Song Slides for Community Singing. Best Patriotic and Stock Slides on the Coast
1028 Market St., San Francisco

PERFECTION PICTURES

Distributed Through
The George Kleine System
M. J. COHEN
Branch Manager
183 Golden Gate Avenue

M AND R

SOMETHING NEW COMING

730 So. Olive St.
Los Angeles
107 Golden Gate Ave.
San Francisco

BRECK PHOTOPLAY SUPPLY COMPANY

DISTRIBUTORS OF
Simplex Projectors
Theatre Equipment and Supplies
NATIONAL CARBONS
98 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco

M. H. LEWIS

Branch Manager

PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT

G. A. METCALFE
Distributor
POWER'S MACHINES
SPEER CARBONS
117 Golden Gate Avenue
San Francisco, Cal.

Will you send a package of home cheer to a lonely American boy in France?

HE doesn't want to come back home till his job is done—he doesn't mind the hardships and the danger—all he asks is that once in a while a "bit of cheer" be sent to him to ease his lonely vigils on the rim of "No Man's Land."

Tens of thousands of American Lads are to-day fighting our battles in France. Soon there will be millions. They will want letters from home—they will want "smokes" from home. Tobacco eases the shell strain. It comforts the wounded. It is a "first aid" to the surgeons and Red Cross nurses.

If you knew what comfort and pleasure and satisfaction the tobacco bought with your dollar or your five dollars (go as high as you like) gives to American boys in the trenches, you'd forget the money, or the little sacrifice, or anything else.

25c buys 45c worth of "smokes."

$1.00 buys a month's supply of tobacco

$5.00 buys enough to keep 5 men in tobacco for a month.

And remember: Every package of tobacco sent to our boys in France contains a return postcard, addressed to you, which he'll mail to you if he can possibly do so. That's a war souvenir worth having. Dig down—deep and quick!

"I wish you all possible success in your admirable effort to get our boys in France tobacco."
—THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Endorsed by

The Secretary of War
The Secretary of the Navy
Cardinal Gibbons
Lyman Abbott
Rabbi Wise
Gertrude Atherton
Theodore Roosevelt
Alton B. Parker

and the entire nation.

MAIL THE COUPON NOW

UR BOYS IN FRANCE TOBACCO FUND

"OUR BOYS IN FRANCE TOBACCO FUND"

GENTLEMEN—I want to do my part to cheer up the American soldiers who are fighting my battle in France. If tobacco will do it—I'm for tobacco! (Check below how you desire to contribute.)

I send you herewith ....., my contribution towards the purchase of tobacco for American soldiers. This does not obligate me to contribute more.

I enclose $1.00. I will adopt a soldier and send you $1.00 a month to supply him with "smokes" for the duration of the war.

Name .....

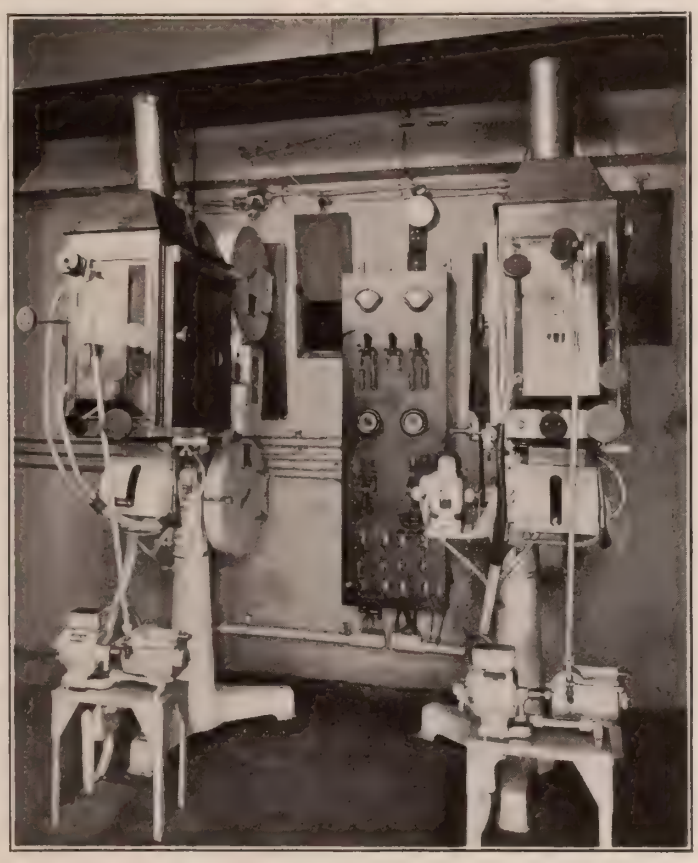
Address .....

THE WEST COAST

¶ A place where YOU—reader and advertiser—can meet YOU—buyer and seller—in intimate, "Hello Bill!" fashion.

¶ But "your own back fence" isn't worth a rap unless you use it. Does your local pride prompt you to mention "The West Coast" when you write our advertisers? Does your business judgment prompt you to strike home direct when you have something to sell?

¶ Get together now, for the benefit of the West Coast in



THE WEST COAST

Simplex

Would this be a "Model" Operating Room?

The illustration below is taken from an article in the Motion Picture News of September 14, by Mr. A. S. Cory, the Projection Expert, describing the "Model Operating Room of the Standard Theatre, Cleveland, Ohio—one of the finest to be found in the United States."

The article is refreshing reading. Those who realize that the Operating Room is the Heart of the House, and treat it as such, deserve our profound respect. Our hats off to the Managers of the Standard!

Such equipment makes the Operator's heart glad; it gives him real pride in his work, raises the standard of his profession, all of which is reflected on the Screen, and the gratifying results extend clear to the Box Office.

Simplex Projectors are used. Of course. In fact, one can't help wondering if, even if all the other efficient appointments were left as they are, this could really be such a "Model" Operating Room without them. (We have the acts of the Masters of the Industry to support us in this thought.)

Next week we'll show how the Simplex Twins keep the Operator from quitting.

THE PRECISION MACHINE CO. INC.
317 East 34th St— New York

THE WORLD'S LEADING MOVING PICTURE MAGAZINE

PHOTOPLAY

350 NORTH CLARK STREET, CHICAGO.

JAMES R. QUIRK
PUBLISHER

August 27th,
1 9 1 8

Mr. Watterson R. Rothacker,
Rothacker Film Corporation,
1339 Diversey Parkway,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Rothacker:

I was sorry you were not at the plant yesterday when I called to see that new plate glass inclosed negative room. However, I couldn't resist the temptation to go through the entire plant again.

During my recent trips to California and New York, I have seen every plant of any consequence in the country, and I must say that your equipment, from the standpoint of completeness and efficiency, must be considered the highest standard set in our art-industry.

While I was there, Mr. Aldous ran off parts of the new First National picture, "The Romance of Tarzan," and the first Mutual release of Sessue Hayakawa.

I cannot close without congratulating you on the beautiful printing on these pictures, especially the duo-tone effects and subtle coloring. I can imagine what you will do with Chaplin's new picture, "Shoulder Arms," when you get it, because I saw a lot of it made in California. I know that you will have some wonderful opportunities for artistic work.

Let's get together at lunch some day this week on our Photoplay Screen Supplement. How about Thursday or Friday?

Sincerely yours,

James R. Quirk

JQ-HF

OCTOBER 12, 1918

Motion Picture News

Reg. in U. S. Patent Office

DOMINATES THE FIELD

How About The Morning?

THE glare of daylight shines upon your theatre. It's an unfamiliar scene—no music, no crowds, no softening lights. But people are passing and unconsciously forming an impression of your house.

If your theatre is bare, they feel like strangers in a strange land.

But if the Paramount and Artcraft trademarks are out in front!

There are friendly faces that say, "Come on back after a while and we'll have one of our good visits."

Paramount Pictures — FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION — ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres JESSE L LASKY Vice Pres CECIL B DE MILLE Director General — NEW YORK — ARTCRAFT PICTURES

VOL. XVIII-NO. 15 Entered as Second Class Matter, October 13, 1913, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3rd 1879 PRICE 15 CENTS

Chicago — 729 Seventh Avenue, New York — Los Angeles

Bewitching

Violet Mersereau

In Her Amazing Portrayal of Three Distinct Characters in the gripping Photodrama

"Together"

Directed by O.A.C. Lund

Book thru your nearest Bluebird Exchange

BLUEBIRD PHOTOPLAYS, INC.

1600 Broadway N.Y.

Jesse L. Lasky

Presents

FRED STONE

in

"THE GOAT"

Story and scenario by Frances Marion

Directed by Donald Crisp

An ARTCRAFT Picture

Even If Nobody Had Ever Heard of Fred Stone, "The Goat" Would Make Him An Instantaneous Success

FRED STONE is an over-night sensation in motion pictures, not merely because he is the greatest of all musical comedy comedians, but because he has delivered the goods—something new, something tremendously welcome to the motion picture patrons.

Do you believe the critics? Of course you do. Then read these criticisms, book Fred Stone, and clear the way for the big crowds.

"Fred Stone a big hit in first movie play—does acrobatics that are comic masterpieces, at Strand."—The New York World.

"Fred Stone's inimitable antics have been perpetuated in the films. His first picture feature, 'The Goat,' had its first projection at the Strand Theatre yesterday. . . . There was a line at the ticket window from early afternoon until late in the evening to see what the well known funmaker had been up to."—The New York Herald.

"This story gives the athletic Stone opportunities for all the stunts that he does on the stage, and a few more. He swings by his feet over a pool of water, walks up a flag-pole as if it were a flight of stairs, handles a rope in a way to make Will Rogers shake his hand, and skates with his well-known vigor."—The New York Times.

"When Fred Stone at the Strand, yesterday afternoon, allowed someone not only to knock him flat on his back, but to do a half revolution of his body on the top of his head, the audience knew that it was not going to be disappointed in his motion picture appearance. 'The Goat' is his first Artcraft film, and it brings the much loved musical comedy star to the front ranks of film favorites."—New York American.

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION

ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Gen. Prod. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General

NEW YORK

ARTCRAFT PICTURES

D.W.GRIFFITH'S

"The Great Love" in Philadelphia

"Business Astounded Me!"

THE man who has been in motion pictures for a long while looks for almost anything to happen. It's hard to surprise him. It's almost impossible to get him excited. And to "astound" him—well—

But Alexander Boyd, who manages the Arcadia Theatre, Philadelphia, in which D. W. Griffith's "The Great Love" had its premiere showing in that city, writes as follows:

"I ran 'The Great Love' one week, and I extremely regretted that I could not have played it for another week. The business on this picture simply astounded me. It is a typical Griffith picture and fully up to the standard set by him and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation."

When are you going to be astounded?

Paramount Pictures

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORPORATION
ADOLPH ZUKOR Pres. JESSE L. LASKY Vice Pres. CECIL B. DE MILLE Director General
NEW YORK

ARTCRAFT PICTURES

This is one of a series of advertisements showing the success of "The Great Love" in the foremost cities of the United States.

A NEW ERA IN VITAGRAPH

BLUE RIBBON FEATURES AND SERVICE

HARRY T. MOREY STAR SERIES

October 14, 1918—"The King of Diamonds," to be followed by eight other Harry T. Morey features on these dates:

November 25, 1918	May 12, 1919
January 6, 1919	June 23, 1919
February 17, 1919	July 28, 1919
March 31, 1919	August 25, 1919

A Film a Day Keeps the Hun Away—Run a Liberty Loan Film Every Day of the Drive.

Albert E. Smith Presents

HARRY T. MOREY

in The First of His Nine Star Series Releases

"The King of Diamonds"

A FIVE PART BLUE RIBBON FEATURE

Written by EDWARD S. BALLOU Directed by PAUL SCARDON

All the elements that attract and hold patrons may be found in this first Harry T. Morey Star Series Release. Its leading role is one of sheer virility that could be fittingly portrayed by but few of America's screen stars, and by none with the masterful Morey touch.

This creator on the screen of "Joe Garson" in "Within the Law" and "Paul Strong" in "Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," seems fairly to live the role of Oliver Bennett in the "The King of Diamonds," a rare drama of love, adventure and vengeance.

Supporting Mr. Morey is a cast of exceptional merit including Betty Blythe, Jean Paige, George Majeroni and other Vitagraph favorites.

VITAGRAPH

THOUSANDS OF BILLBOARDS That Cover the Continent Are Steadily Building Big Business For the Exhibitors Who Book

"THE IRON TEST"

VITAGRAPH'S LATEST AND GREATEST PHOTOPLAY SERIAL

by ALBERT E. SMITH and CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

FEATURING

ANTONIO MORENO and CAROL HOLLOWAY

In Fifteen Melodramatic Episodes as Follows

No. 1 "The Ring of Fire."
No. 2 "The Van of Disaster"
No. 3 "The Blade of Hate."
No. 4 "The Noose."
No. 5 "The Tide of Death."
No. 6 "Fiery Fate."
No. 7 "The Whirling Trap."
No. 8 "The Man-Eater."
No. 9 "The Pit of Lost Hope."
No. 10 "In the Coils."
No. 11 "The Red Mask's Prey."
No. 12 "The Span of Terror."
No. 13 "Hanging Peril."
No. 14 "Desperate Odds."
No. 15 "Riding with Death."

"THE FIGHTING TRAIL"
"VENGEANCE—AND THE WOMAN"
"THE WOMAN IN THE WEB"
and
"A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS"
are
VITAGRAPH SERIALS
That Have Made Box-Office History

Watch "THE IRON TEST" Smash Their Records!

VITAGRAPH

ALBERT E. SMITH
President

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers

"Making our audiences howl with glee!"

RIALTO
15th & DOUGLAS OMAHA
BLANK REALTY COMPANY
OWNERS AND OPERATORS

H. M. THOMAS
MANAGER

H. BLANK
PRESIDENT

September 23, 1918

Vitagraph,
1600 Broadway,
N. Y. City

Gentlemen:—

Allow me to congratulate you on your new two-reel Big "V" Special Comedies.

At the present time I am running "Huns and Hyphens", and it is giving eminent satisfaction, making our audiences howl with glee, so I know it must be a regular comedy.

Just keep up your present gait, and there's no question as to the success of these comedies.

Cordially yours,
H.M. THOMAS

Big new Business For Exhibitors Everywhere is Following in the Wake of Vitagraph's New

TWO REEL BIG "V" SPECIAL COMEDIES

THE FIRST FOUR

"Misfits and Matrimony"
Featuring
Montgomery and Rock

"Huns and Hyphens"
Featuring Larry Semon

"Roofs and Riots"
Featuring
Montgomery and Rock

"Bears and Bad Men"
Featuring Larry Semon

These and the comedies that follow NOW BOOKING

One Two-Reel Comedy Each Week

LEAD YOUR FELLOW CITIZENS IN THE VICTORY DRIVE BY RUNNING A LIBERTY LOAN FILM EVERY DAY

VITAGRAPH Albert E. Smith President

"Keep the home push up for Pershing!"

Alice Joyce

Earle Williams

Harry Morey

$6,000,000,000.00

THE

Fourth Liberty Loan

may be the last big push needed to take our boys to Berlin! It's the big hour in the life of humanity! Either we win,—or the world becomes German!

America—and Civilization—Need Your Help!

Let your theatre be an outpost of civilization! Make it a rallying point for loyal Americans, for our Allies,—for Victory!

VITAGRAPH'S STARS

will help you to put across the big message. They have made six splendid featurettes, each one driving home in tremendous dramatic strength the need of the hour.

Book all of these Liberty Loan Films at the Vitagraph Exchanges—NOW!

EARLE WILLIAMS in "A PLEA TO BUY"
ALICE JOYCE in "THE CHOICE"
WILLIAM DUNCAN in "THE DECISION"
HARRY MOREY in "THE GROUCH"
CORINNE GRIFFITH in "A WISE PURCHASE"
GLADYS LESLIE in "SYLVIA'S LAST PLEDGE"

No charges whatsoever! Booked, shipped and returned without cost to you!

If you want to remain in a free America, to live the life of a free American, to run your business as you please, to continue in the "pursuit of your own happiness"

Show a Liberty Loan Film Every Day of the Drive

William Duncan

Corinne Griffith

Gladys Leslie

VITAGRAPH

ALBERT E. SMITH ... President

Goldwyn Pictures

To Save a Wealthy Woman's Life

—A poor news-stand girl takes the place of the missing heiress she resembles.

—Then come luxuries, adventure, romance, blackmail, the discovery of the daughter, the reparation of a great wrong and the kind of a story that millions like.

Mae Marsh in HIDDEN FIRES

By J. Clarkson Miller — Directed by George Irving begins her Goldwyn Star Series year with a powerful, wistful story of "The Cinderella Man" type—a blending of romance and emotional intensity that is what exhibitors and the Mae Marsh "fans" demand—the kind of story they always reward with their liberal patronage.

Released everywhere October 7.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President EDGAR SELWYN, Vice President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

Goldwyn Pictures

Tom Moore

An Instant Star Success ~ Made By Exhibitor and Public Liking and By Brilliant Stories.

CONSIDER those great stars who constantly build up and increase their popularity with the public. They are not mere creatures of publicity.

They are the product of the greatest thing in the world—PERSONALITY. They are money-makers for exhibitors, they fill theatres with pleased audiences, because they have within themselves some particular appeal to the affections of the public.

Tom Moore is an instant success for exhibitors as a Goldwyn star because he is young, manly, wholesome, good-looking and likable. He appeals to the heart and the mind. He appeals to the eye. Audiences say: "We like this chap." And with that approval they make him the success that a fortune in publicity could never achieve for someone the public did not like of its own accord.

Here are proofs of his instant popularity in his first star picture, "Just For Tonight":

CHICAGO POST: Tom Moore is the type of player of which screen matinee idols are made . . . Just the sort of young chap the American public likes . . . "Just For Tonight" is delightful.

CAMERAPHONE, East Liberty, Pittsburgh: Did a wonderful business with Tom Moore in "Just For Tonight" He's a fixture with Goldwyn and a hummer among male stars.

STRAND, Atlanta: As an individual star Tom Moore is a success from the start. Atlanta has liked him for a long time.

KNICKERBOCKER, Washington, Harry M. Crandall: Tom Moore has made good and is assured of success as a star.

See the opposite page for the opinions of the enthusiastic trade journals.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President EDGAR SELWYN, Vice President

16 East 42nd Street New York City

Goldwyn Pictures

Why Tom Moore Is Popular

THE critics of the important motion picture trade papers are quick to detect the reasons for a star's appeal. They know star values. These reviews confirm the confidence that the exhibitors of the nation have in Tom Moore's box-office values:

MOTION PICTURE NEWS: Clean-cut, manly, good-looking—Tom Moore is all of these. A fetching personality... A good drawing card. "Just For Tonight" will satisfy everyone.

EXHIBITORS' TRADE REVIEW: Tom Moore is a 90-horse-power romantic star and "Just For Tonight" is glowing with interest and intensity.

EXHIBITORS' HERALD: Goldwyn made no mistake in starring Tom Moore. "Just For Tonight" pleased Chicago audiences mightily.

VARIETY: Tom Moore is a winner and "Just For Tonight" is a breezy, excellent picture.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD: "Just For Tonight" registers a clean hit with Tom Moore..... A likable young fellow who has attained great popularity.

NEW YORK TELEGRAPH: At last Tom Moore holds the center of the screen as a star in his own right. A new and breezy personality. He deserves his success.

His Next Release — Oct. 21

TOM MOORE in Thirty a Week

By Thompson Buchanan
Directed by Harry Beaumont

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President EDGAR SELWYN, Vice President
16 East 42nd Street New York City

CAPITOL COMEDIES

Wid's Praise of "Smiling Bill" Parsons in Capitol Comedies

30. Wid's DAILY

Cuts and Flashes

I caught a Bill Parsons comedy this week that made me feel good way down inside and the gang that sat in with me ate it up It was called "Dad's Knockout," is as clean as a whistle and sure provides gobs of chuckles and several real yells. They had a clever story and what's more, it was cleverly handled all the way with settings and a general classy atmosphere that compares favorably with most of our longer offerings. Anybody that can't cut loose with a grin when "Smiling" Bill Parsons makes those dimples of his'n register is sure in a bad way. He appeared in this as the father of Neal Burns, who had a chorus girl in tow. Billy objects and decides to give his proposed daughter-in-law the double-O before he consents to the match. He goes to the show and gets a close-up of Teddy Sampson, the girl, with a result that he falls, hook, line and sinker and then we have the amusing situation of father and son being rivals for the girl. This results in complications which are really funny and Bill Parsons, dog-gone him, he's got such a nice, kind face that any audience is going to be for him from his first close-up 'til the finish

The titles were very good throughout because they didn't try to be funny and the cast was excellent. Jay Belasco was Neal's chum and George French was a friend of Billy's

If you are looking for some real clean comedies that you can advertise and that should prove sure-fire business builders, you certainly owe it to yourself and your clientele to take a peek at these. A good comedy covers a multitude of sins in a five-reel "almost" feature.

appended and then tion with the reel
we got one of the seen in a long, lo and Lee watchin nose and the pro
be best to do over Just to seriously, they he shot sets cr
cut the player generally. W change of wa
and the clim came back i had been w
the willun;
and should thought, t in these producers as the one it a come

"Tra which story, real e offeri

E in t fo

a.
th

26 a Year Every Second Monday
Presented Regularly in 2,500 Theatres.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President
16 East 42nd Street New York City

All the Thrills of the World War

Suddenly you see China's legions awake and throw their resources with the Allies of the East.

American soldiers marching to embark at a Pacific port.

Chinese troops under arms at the Hong-Kong docks.

Giant transports, troop-laden for Vladivostok.

With such materials as these, plus a romantic melodrama of mystery, intrigue and human daring

Betzwood Film Company
Presents:

For the FREEDOM of the EAST

with

LADY TSEN MEI

The Screen's Only Chinese Star

Conceived and Directed by IRA M. LOWRY who made the sensational earlier success of two seasons, "For the Freedom of the World."

Booked on sight for its American pre-release at the great Stanley Theatre, Philadelphia, week beginning September 30.

Contracted for or reserved by hundreds of exhibitors who cleaned up with "For the Freedom of the World." Recognized by exhibitors as a big profit-maker.

Prints are now in all Goldwyn offices for inspection or immediate contract bookings. Unusual lithographs and complete exploitation in the hands of all Goldwyn managers in twenty cities. Wire at once for open dates.

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
SAMUEL GOLDFISH, President
16 East 42nd Street New York City

How can an advertiser continue advertising? By giving YOU value.

"The Heart Of Rachael"

Bessie Barriscale's superb portrayal of the novel by Kathleen Norris
Produced at the Brunton Studios
Under the Supervision of Robt. Brunton
Directed by Howard Hickman
Screen Version by Jack Cunningham

IN THE "Heart of Rachael," Miss Barriscale reaches the high water mark in her dramatic career of screencraft portrayal. As a woman whose heart is torn and bruised by an unhappy marriage and who seems to find happiness again with the man of her dreams—her character study is splendid.

BUT when with two beautiful children crowning her joy, she is suddenly overwhelmed by the fact that her husband is slipping from her, Miss Barriscale makes her role really live. Of course, contentment comes finally, but only through pain and sacrifice.

Distributed by the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation

FRANK POWELL PRODUCTIONS presents "THE FORFEIT" from Ridgwell Cullom's famous novel featuring HOUSE PETERS supported by JANE MILLER
Produced by
SUNSET PICTURES, Inc.
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS
Distributed as part of HODKINSON SERVICE at all General Film Exchanges

The Yanks and the Tanks
Onward to Victory!
UNIFIED command and whole-hearted co-operation—and a cause that is fundamentally right and just—are the reasons why we are winning on every front today—and why the FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN is going to be an overwhelming success —that which is right and just and true must persist and prevail.
W.W. HODKINSON CORP.
527 FIFTH AVE., NEW YORK
HODKINSON SERVICE AT ALL GENERAL FILM EXCHANGES
BUY BONDS OF THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

The Third AMERICAN RED CROSS Picture Is:

"OF NO USE TO GERMANY"

And it Tells a Five-Reel Story in One:

How the Red Cross Cares for Hosts of Broken-Down Civilian Prisoners Brought Out of Enemy Bondage

An Appealing Panorama of Incidents at an Outpost of Mercy. How the Red Cross Aids 3,000 Helpless Children and Old People Each Month at the Border Village of St. Evian near the Birthplace of This Great Samaritan, The Red Cross—Pictures That Will Hold Any Audience Spellbound

Each Scene a Most Powerful Drama—Equal in Interest to Preceding Releases in This Fine Series

A Film to Fire the Patriotism and to Steel the Will of America

It Contains the Human Interest "Punch"

Produced by

AMERICAN RED CROSS
Bureau of Pictures

Distributed for American Red Cross by
GENERAL FILM COMPANY

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

RAINBOW COMEDIES

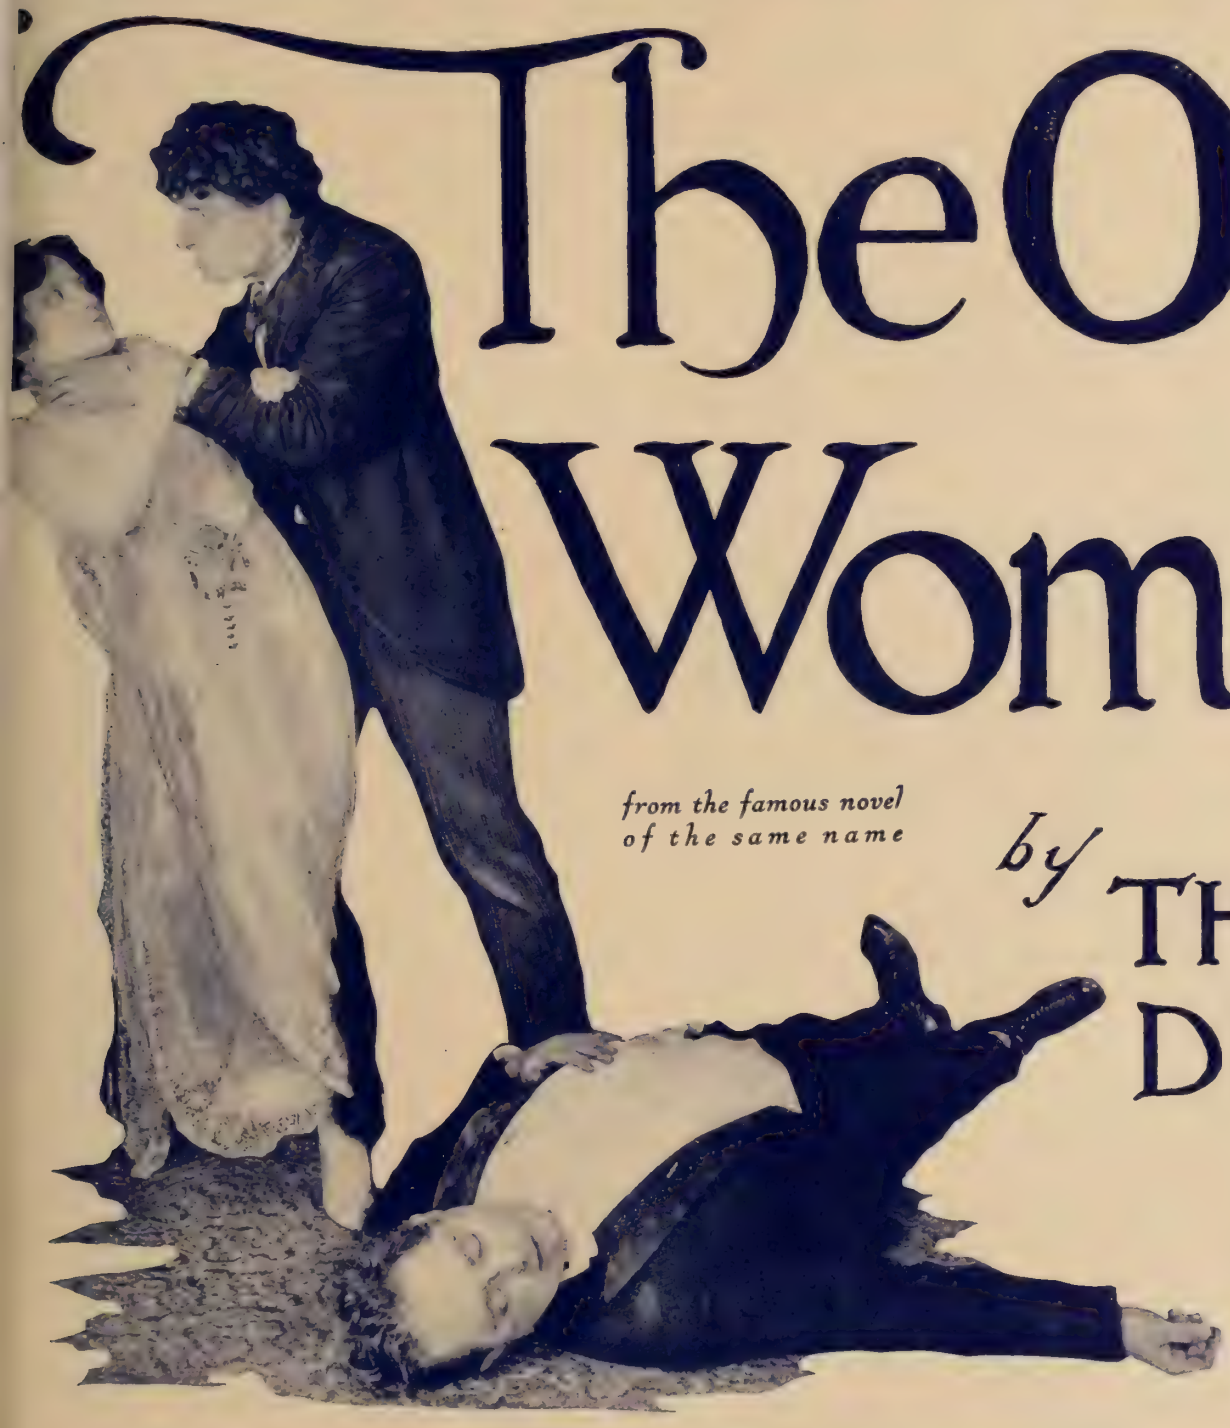
The Brilliant One-Reel Lighter Subjects Which Every Program Must Have to Become an Ideal Entertainment

A new release of RAINBOW COMEDIES every other week.— Be sure to get them as fast as they come

Produced by

United States Motion Picture Corp.

Wilkes Barre, Pa.



GENERAL FILM COMPANY, Distributor

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers

SELECT PICTURES
presents

THE GREAT SPECIAL ATTRACTION

The One Woman

from the famous novel of the same name

by THOMAS DIXON

Author of
"THE BIRTH OF A NATION"

Directed by
REGINALD BARKER

Based on a famous novel which was the sensation of the day in which it was published, this powerful photodrama constitutes one of the greatest stories ever told on the screen. It shows the practical working of that theory on which Frank Gordon based his action when he said to his wife—"Would you have me live with you, loving another woman?" A storm of discussion will follow the showing of this picture everywhere. It will create a sensation.

which is —

"THE ONE

Thomas Dixon, whose epocl novel, "The Birth of a N
tion," was made into a pictu classic by D. W. Griffith, h furnished another wonder story in his best-seller, "T One Woman," which t directing genius of Regina
Barker has turned into screen masterpiece.

As a novel "The One Woma created a sensation, selling into t hundred thousands. As the gr special photoplay attraction whi
Select Pictures now announces t story will be seen by millior and is bound to start a riot discussion. It is a tremendo picture based on a tremendous id

The woman Frank Gordon cast off

"The One Woman" is an intensely human story of a man and two women —and still another man! It is superbly produced—scene after scene holds the spectator spellbound.

SELECT SP PICTURES

WOMAN"?

this Socialism? Or is it n immorality? That is the stion you will ask. Does cialism preach these doc-es? Is this where it will ry its blind devotees? Is the "enlightened creed"
t some of the leading nds of today tell us is to be world's salvation? What uld a man do placed in nk Gordon's predicament?

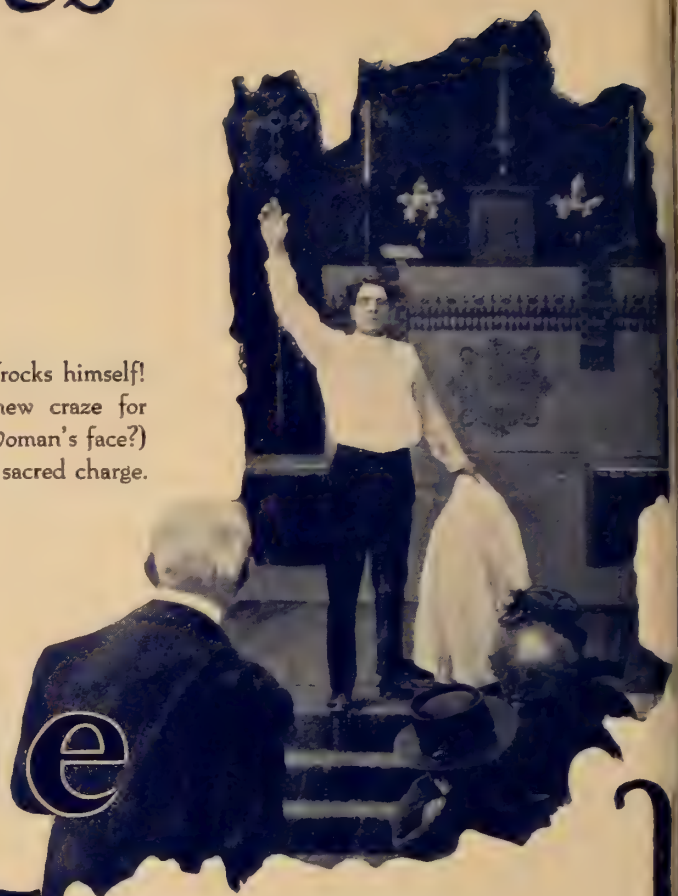
arching questions these,
at are sure to be asked
- and answered in a
ndred different ways!



The woman Frank Gordon married by proclamation

"The One Woman"
a great special
ith a story that is own to the minute—
he most modern
ing in photoplays!

Great scenes—in

The minister unfrocks himself! Led on by a new craze for Socialism (and a woman's face?) he repudiates his sacred charge.

he Eagle has lit in the barnyard!
he "strong man" gathers to himself he new wife" of Frank Gordon.

"The ONE WOMAN

Manhood asserts itself! Frank Gordon stirs to frenzy his bigoted followers when he condemns their unpatriotic resolutions against conscription!

The great fight in the hall of "The Brotherhood of Man"—one of the most stirring mob scenes ever shown upon the screen!

ELECT SP PICTURES

Lend the Way They Fight Buy Liberty Bonds

COOPER HEWITT LIGHTS

are essential to good Motion Pictures to

HELP WIN THE WAR

The following pictures, among others, were produced and the studio scenes filmed under

COOPER HEWITT LIGHTS

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD"	D. W. Griffith
"THE HUN WITHIN"	Famous Players
"OVER THE TOP"	Vitagraph
"PRUSSIAN CUR"	Fox Film
"KAISER THE BEAST OF BERLIN"	Universal
"TO HELL WITH THE KAISER"	Metro

COOPER HEWITT'S

give the most light for the least coal

AS ESSENTIAL AS THE SUN

Science has so improved upon nature in the development of the Cooper Hewitt Light that it is today more essential to efficient motion picture production than the Sun itself because it is available day and night, is not affected by cloudy days and rainy weather, is always of the same intensity, rendering it unnecessary to "lay off" or "retake." In a word the light is Essential.

A FEW USERS

Artcraft, Biograph,
Fox Film,
Goldwyn Pictures
D. W. Griffith,
F. A. Keeney, Metro Pictures
Norma Talmadge,
Rolfe Production,
Thanhouser,
Universal Film,
Vitagraph Co., World Film,
Clara Kimball Young
and every laboratory.
Some companies using 1000 lights.

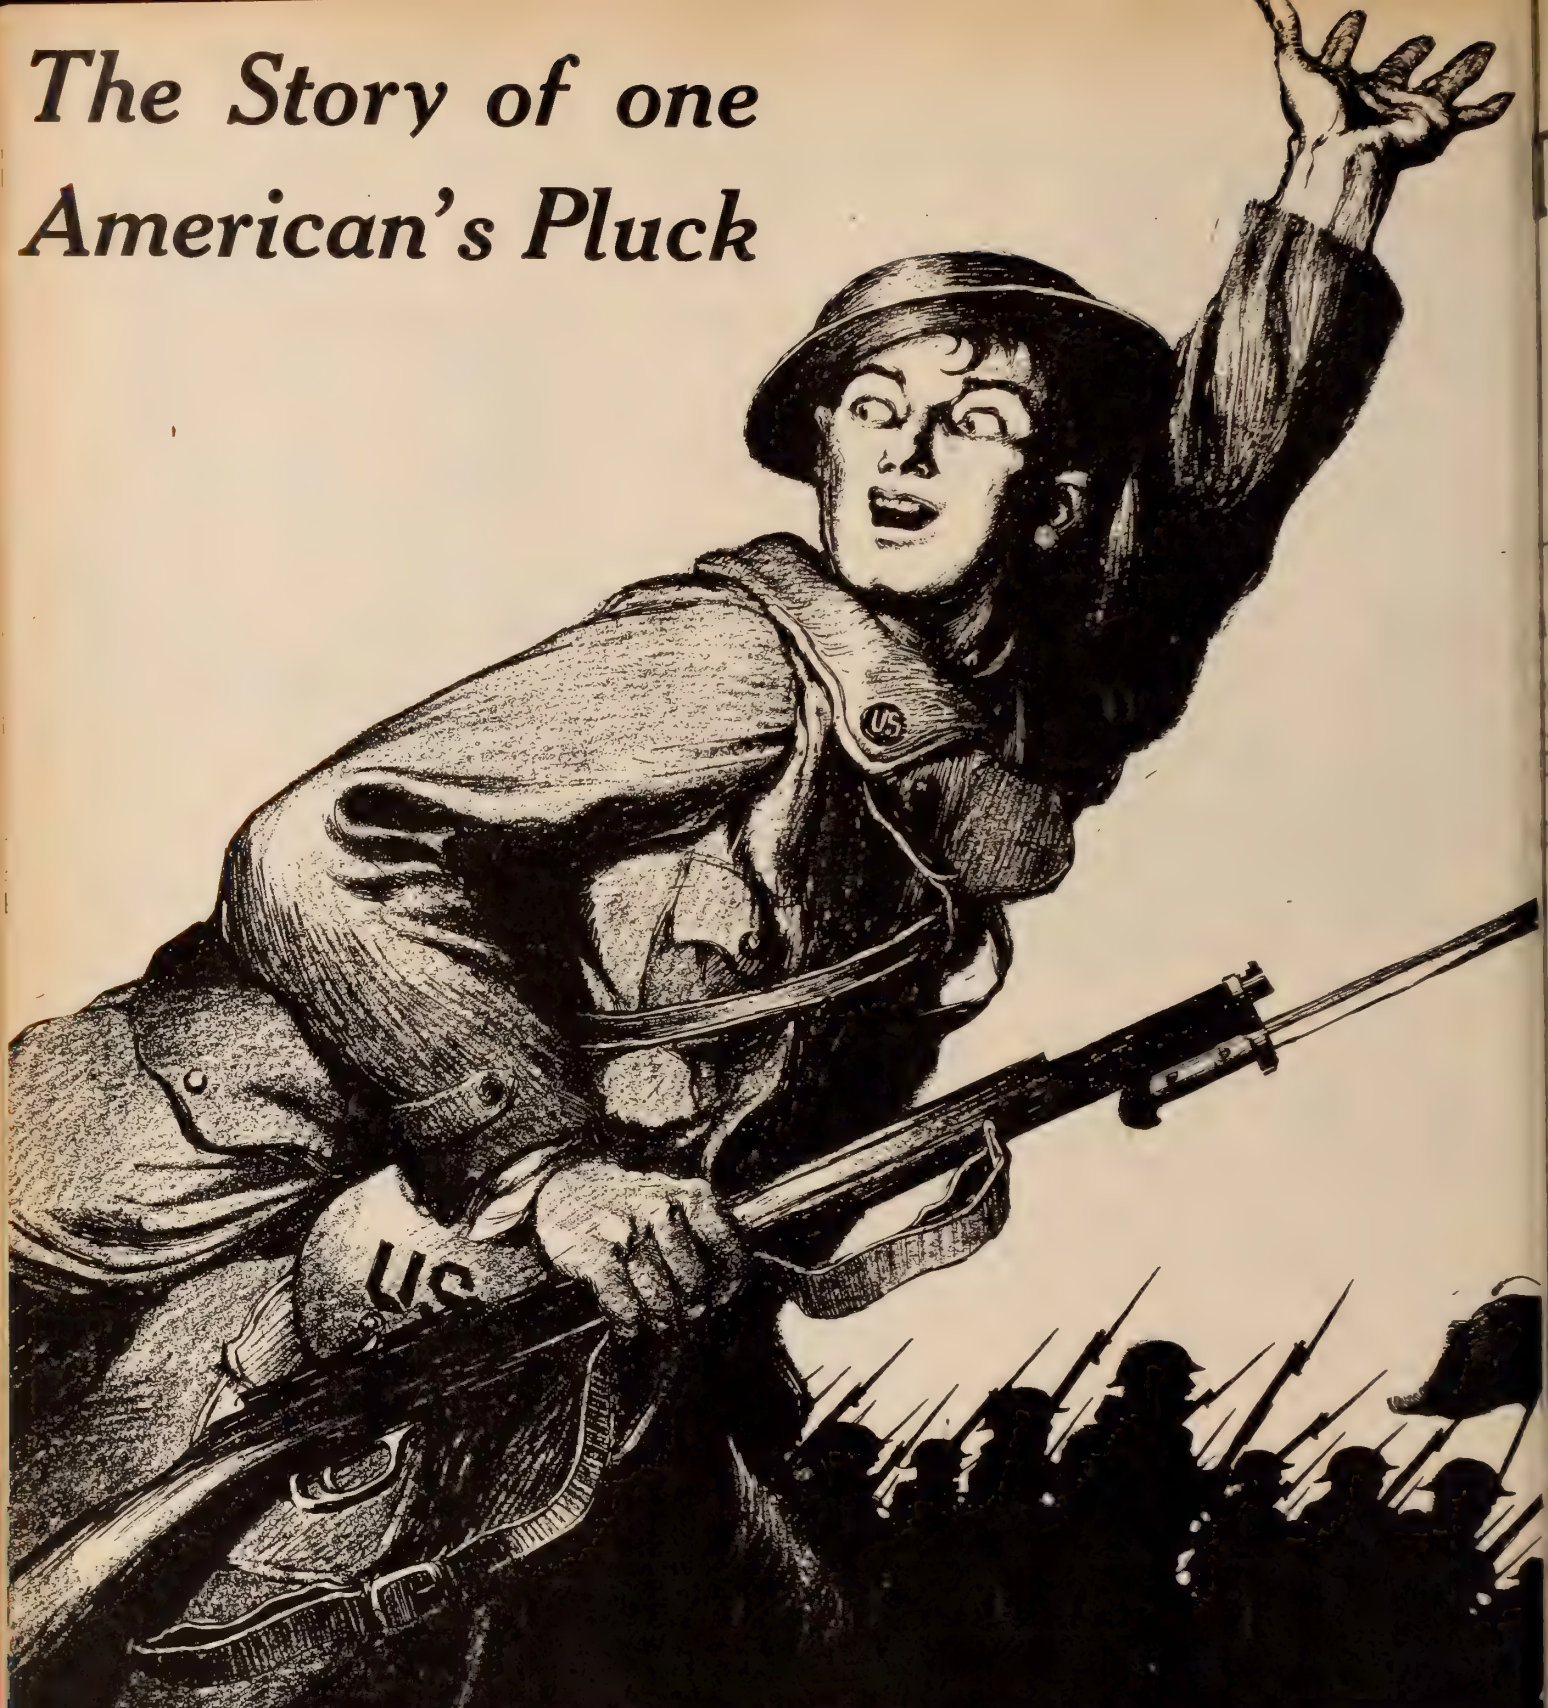
Yours for the Fourth Liberty Loan



Cooper Hewitt Electric Company

General Offices and Works:

Eighth and Grand Streets, Hoboken, New Jersey

Our Exhibit at the Exposition, Booths 1 and 2. Welcome

The Story of one American's Pluck

A Stirring photoplay prophecy of THE DA when the YANKS march into Berlin

THE KAISER'S

States Righters and Independent Exhibitors—

The Biggest Opportunity in the Business—Right Now!

Reason this out for yourselves:

Here is a great big Melodramatic Thriller, the story of Hero of German Parentage who is American to the ore—he beats our Army to Berlin by a neck and nishes the Prussian Monster as the Yanks open fire n the Potsdam Palace.

It hooks up with the WAR NEWS Like an inspired prophecy—

American Audiences will go wild over it!

It's Big! It's Timely!

Jump the First Train—We'll Show You

Produced by S. L. Warner or Territory Apply to A. Warner
220 W. 42d St., New York City

Hiller & Wilk, Foreign Agents
Longacre Bldg., New York

FINISH—

The ROMANCE

READY FOR ACTION

With its thrilling story of novelty and romance

With its marvelous contrasts between savage wilds and aristocratic grandeur

With mammoth jungle scenes—a menagerie of wild beasts—hordes of real savages—palatial settings for Tarzan's thundering lunge into society's midst—thrilling fights—astounding displays of jungle born strength—

With its sensationally original situations

With the greatest combination of essential elements of sure fire success ever jammed into one dramatic story

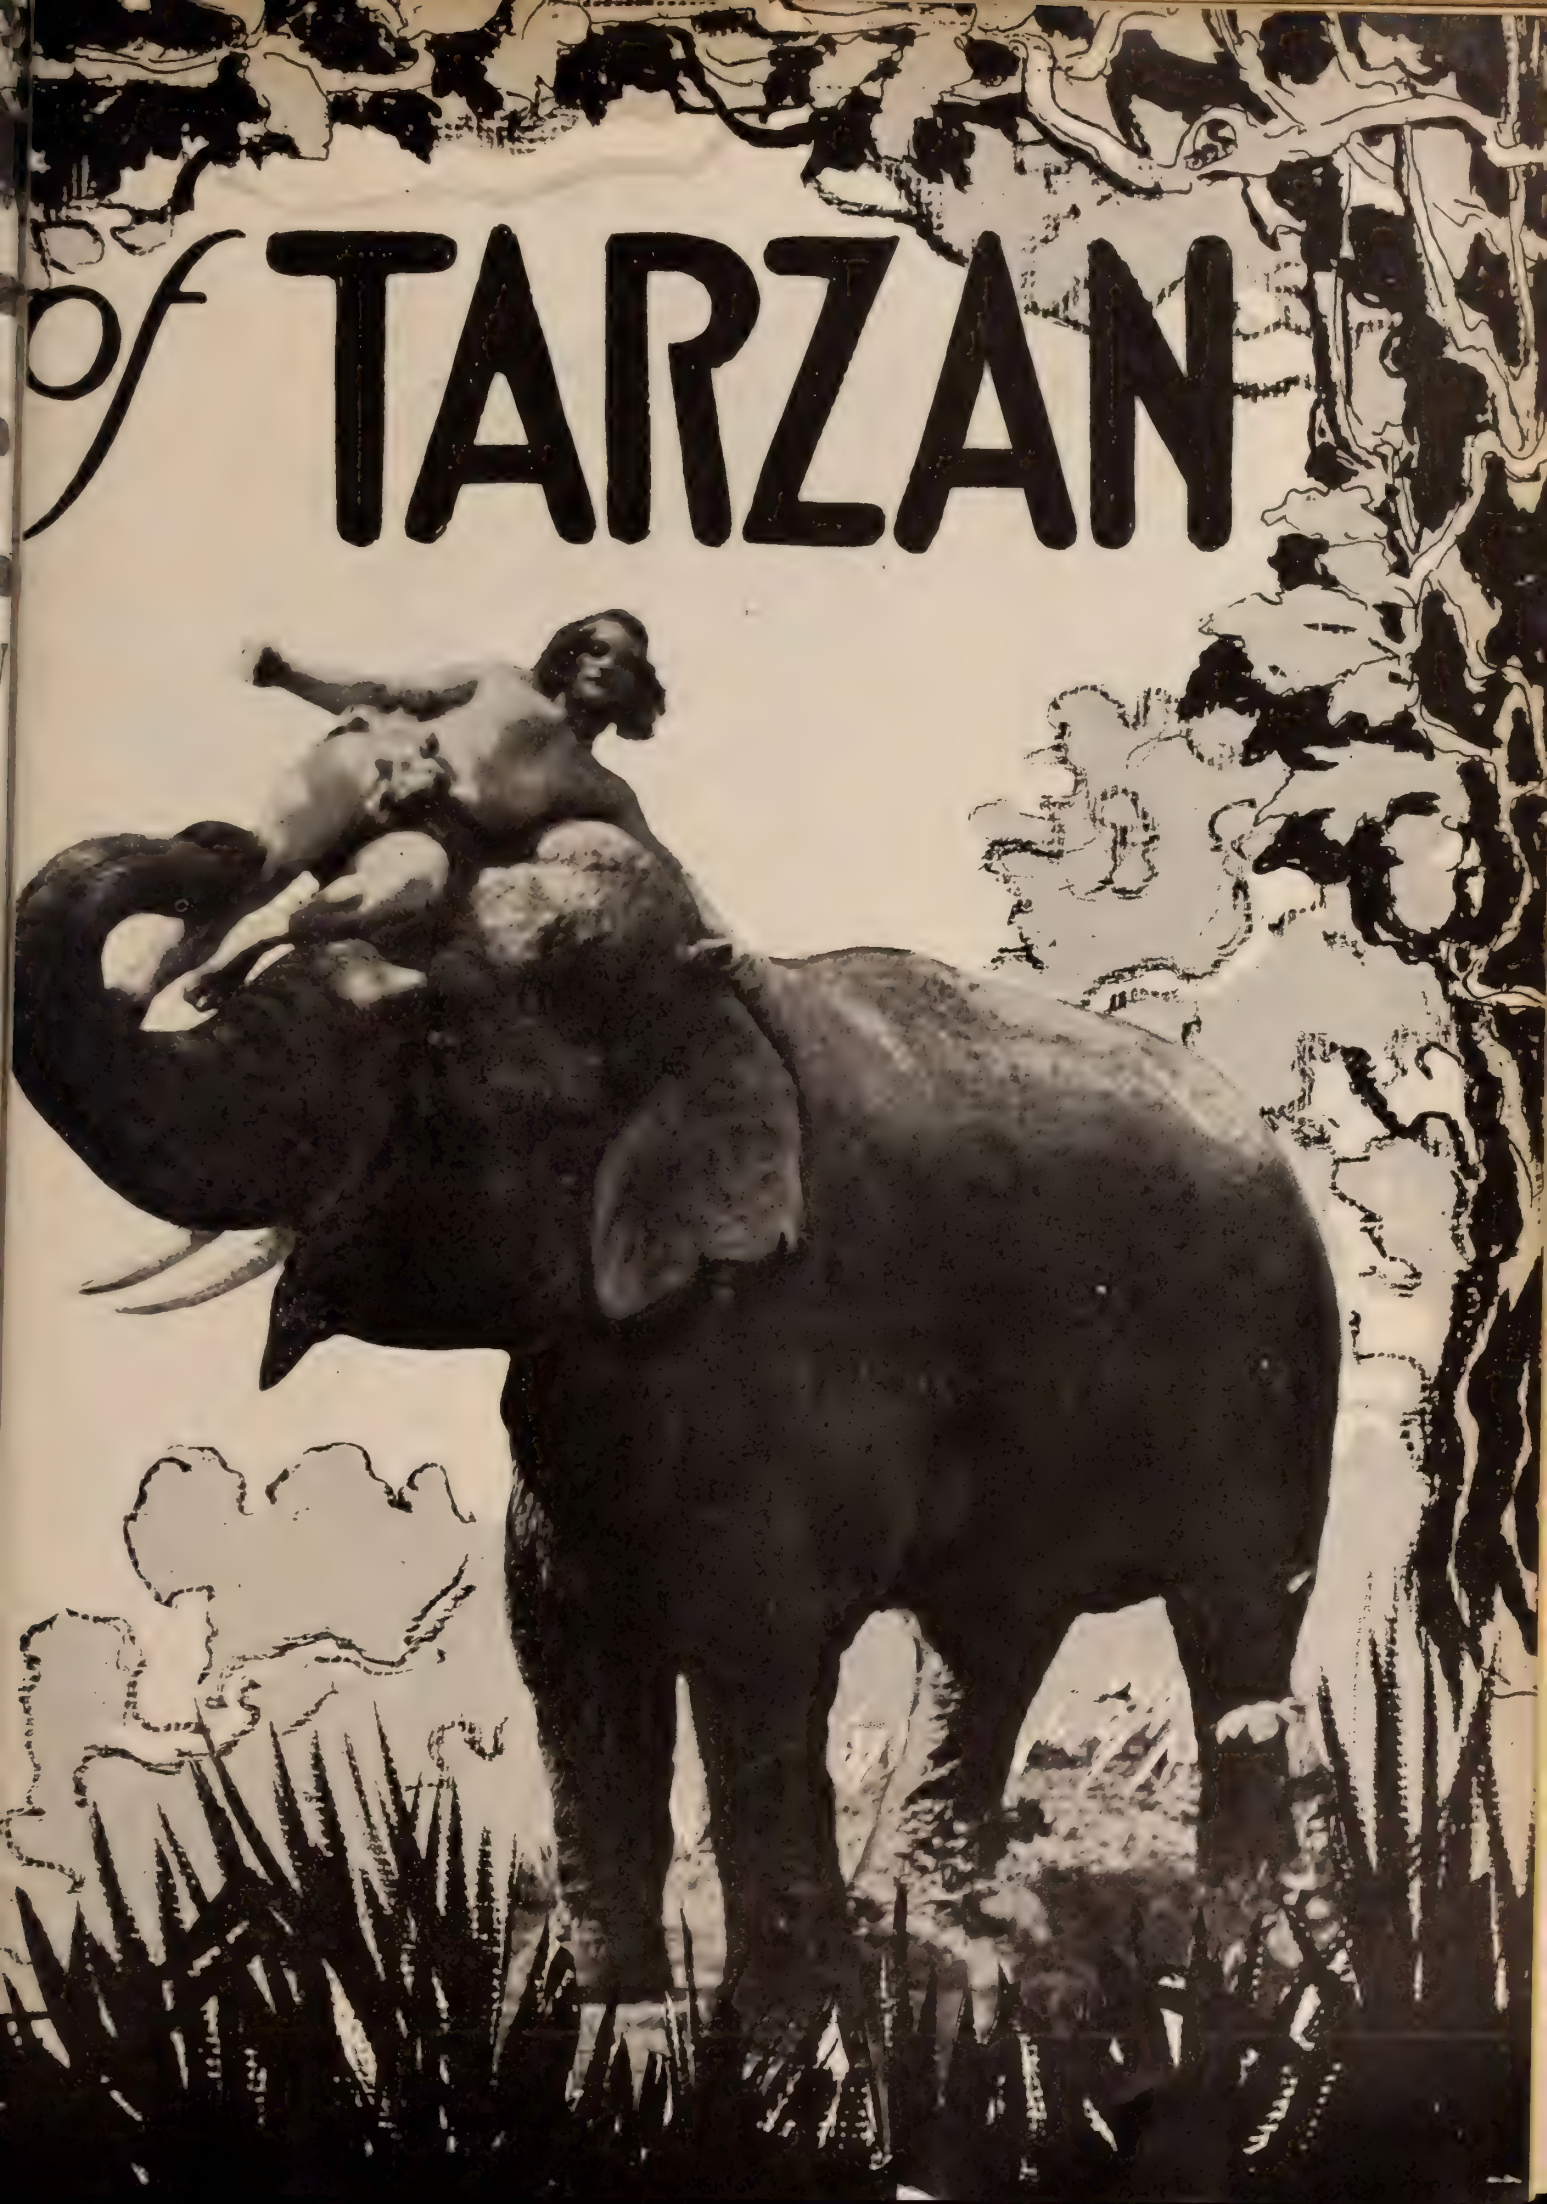
With the greatest popularity for its central character that has ever awaited any name of screen or fiction

With its more than fifty million Tarzan fans—created by book, story and the phenomenal parent-feature "Tarzan of the Apes"

With the greatest ready-made market any production has ever known

There's a double-capacity patronage waiting in every neighborhood

PRODUCED BY



National Film Corp. of Ameri

Production Supervised by ISADORE BERNSTEIN
Written and Directed by
BESS MEREDYTH and WILFRED LUCAS

FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS CIRCUIT

A "First National" Attraction

Rothacker Prints

of TARZAN

GAIL KANE

in

"The Daredevil"

By Maria Thompson Daviess

The adorable actress, star in a score of money making pictures masquerades as a boy—makes 'em think she's her own brother—in a snappy five reel screen play dealing with aeroplane plots and politics.

Available October Thirteenth at MUTUAL FILM EXCHANGES

SESSUE HAYAKAWA

The distinguished Japanese actor whose latest production "His Birthright" proved one of the big box office winners of the season, has put the same high dramatic artistry and equal box office value into his forthcoming play.

PRODUCED BY HAWORTH PICTURES CORPORATION

Special pre-release date October 13th

"The TEMPLE of DUSK"

A strange and fascinating drama in which a young Japanese poet, sworn to guard the daughter of the girl he loved, gives his freedom and then his life to carry out his sacred pledge. Written by Frances Marion—Directed by James Young.

RELEASED BY MUTUAL FILM CORPORATION

Available October the 20th

BOOKING SOLID EVERYWHERE

First of the

TWELVE BIG SPECIAL PRODUCTIONS

RELEASED UNDER THE POPULAR PLAN OF

$10 $20 $30

FRANCHISE-FIXED PRICES

JULIUS STEGER'S STUPENDOUS PRODUCTION

EVELYN NESBIT

and Her Son

RUSSELL THAW

IN

"HER MISTAKE"

BOOKED THRU THE FOLLOWING EXCHANGES

NEW YORK	Liberty Distributing Corporation, 130 W. 46th St.
BOSTON	American Feature Film Co., 60 Church St.
NEW HAVEN	American Feature Film Corp., 131 Meadow Street
CHICAGO	Silee Film Exchange 220 So. State Street
PHILADELPHIA	Quaker City Feature Film Co., 1325 Vine Street
PITTSBURGH	Day Film Corporation 412 Ferry Street
CLEVELAND	Success Film Productions Sloan Building
WASHINGTON, D. C.	Exhibitors' Film Exchange 420 9th Street, N. W.

GENERAL FILM COMPANY

LOS ANGELES	738 So. Olive Street
SAN FRANCISCO	255 Golden Gate Avenue
SEATTLE	2023 3rd Avenue
PORTLAND	320 Burnside Avenue
DENVER	1333 Welton Street
MINNEAPOLIS	209 Hennepin Avenue
OMAHA	1608 Howard Street
KANSAS CITY	921 Walnut Street
NEW ORLEANS	343 Baronne Street
ST. LOUIS	3610 Olive Street
ATLANTA	111 Walton Street
DALLAS	1924 Main Street

PRODUCERS' DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

FRANK G. HALL, President

126-130 W. 46th Street, New York

Be sure to mention "MOTION PICTURE NEWS" when writing to advertisers

Klaw & Erlanger and the Shuberts demonstrated to the 'legitimate' theatres the benefits of Circuit Booking. They stabilized the "show business" by ensuring regular, instead of haphazard, duplicated, bookings—to the benefit of both producer and theatre.

The U.B.O. stabilized its particular branch of the business both for theatre and artists, and set Vaudeville where it stands today.

United goes further. It brings the Picture Playhouses of America into a Co-operative Organization so that Exhibitor-Members own and control the Biggest Circuit in the World.

UNITED PICTURE THEATRES OF AMERICA INC.

A National Co-operative Association of Exhibitors

J. A. BERST
President

Branches Everywhere

Executive Offices
1600 Broadway, N. Y.

FLORENCE REED

the magnificent

J·A·BERST· President
1600 BROADWAY
N·Y·

KITTY GORDON

the incomparable

J·A·BERST · President
1600 BROADWAY
N·Y·

DUSTIN FARNUM

in his first super-picture

THE LIGHT OF WESTERN STARS

by Zane Grey

OCTOBER RELEASE

UNITED PICTURE THEATRES OF AMERICA

J·A·BERST · President
1600 BROADWAY
N·Y.

National Distribution

is now practically completed for the six-reel Superfilm "Me und Gott." The highest class of representation, for a feature of such distinction, has been sought and secured. If your territory is not among those listed below, ask your biggest local exchange, or write us. The quality of the representation is an index of the quality of the production.

STATE OF NEW YORK
First National Exchange
STATE OF NEW JERSEY
First National Exchange
STATE OF MAINE
First National Exchange
STATE OF VERMONT
First National Exchange
STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE
First National Exchange
STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS
First National Exchange
STATE OF CONNECTICUT
First National Exchange
STATE OF RHODE ISLAND
First National Exchange
STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA
First National Exchange
STATE OF LOUISIANA
First National Exchange
STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
First National Exchange
STATE OF OKLAHOMA
First National Exchange
STATE OF MICHIGAN
First National Exchange
STATE OF WASHINGTON
First National Exchange
STATE OF OREGON
First National Exchange
STATE OF MONTANA
First National Exchange
STATE OF IDAHO
First National Exchange
STATE OF CALIFORNIA (Nor)
First National Exchange
STATE OF NEVADA
First National Exchange
TERRITORY OF HAWAII
First National Exchange
TERRITORY OF ALASKA
First National Exchange
STATE OF ILLINOIS
First National Exchange
STATE OF INDIANA
First National Exchange
STATE OF TEXAS
First National Exchange
STATE OF ARKANSAS
First National Exchange
STATE OF MICHIGAN
First National Exchange

ROMAYNE SUPERFILMS
LOS ANGELES

? Why Is the BIGGEST Exchange in Your Territory Now Booking ME UND GOTT

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

On and after December 24, 1918, the name

HEARST-PATHE NEWS

will be discontinued. This famous news film will then resume the name

PATHE NEWS

It will be Photographed
by Pathe.

Edited, Distributed, Owned and Controlled exclusively, as it always has been,
by Pathe.

The oldest and best of all News Weeklies—
THE ONE INDISPENSABLE FILM.

PATHE EXCHANGE, Inc.
25 West 45th Street
New York

In the big, the medium sized and the smaller cities of the land; in the large and small towns; yes-and even in many of the cross-road villages Pathe' is posting the stunning twenty-four sheet poster of the whirlwind action serial

LEAH BAIRD
in
WOLVES OF KULTUR

with SHELDON LEWIS and CHARLES HUTCHISON

This mammoth billboard campaign will start a flood of coins to beating a rat-a-tat at your box office window!

Produced by Western Photoplays Inc. Written & Directed by J.A. Golden

PATHE' Distributors...

Its keynote is ACTION; Its great characteristic is THRILLS; It reveals the diabolical plot and counter-plot in this country of the unspeakable Kultur of the Hun

Can't you imagine how eager your audiences will be to see

LEAH BAIRD
in WOLVES OF KULTUR
with SHELDON LEWIS

and how big a box office attraction it will be for you?

Produced by Western Photoplays Inc. Written & Directed by J.A. Golden

PATHE' Distributors...

COME ON, NOW!

Let your patrons see me in action with my brothers in arms- the French, British and Italians, fighting your battles!

OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW

contains in one reel each week, the official war pictures of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy.

Presented by
COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION
George Creel, Chairman
DIVISION OF FILMS
Chas. S. Hart, Director

Distributed by
PATHÉ

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

Pathé's latest bids fair to be
Pathé's greatest; to date

RUTH ROLAND

and
George Larkin
in the sensational Western serial

HANDS UP

is a combination which has beaten every Pathé serial booking record for a similar period of time.

Reports are to the effect that the serial is crowding the houses. "Hands Up" has made good!

Produced by Astra.
Written by Gilson Willets
Directed by Jas. W. Horne

PATHÉ

AMERICAN FILM CO. INC., PRESENTS

MARY MILES MINTER

in

"Rosemary Climbs the Heights"

By BERNARD MC CONVILLE Directed By LLOYD INGRAHAM

Dainty Mary Miles Minter has firmly established herself in the hearts of the fans. Big theatres everywhere know from experience they can bank on capacity attendance when a Minter picture is the attraction. Her first picture of this new series has fattened the bankroll of the houses which have shown it. It is playing to capacity this week and is booked for weeks ahead.

Visit your nearest Pathé Exchange and see this newest Mary Miles Minter offering—"Rosemary Climbs the Heights." You can book it now. Follow the lead of such exhibitors as Marcus Loew, Turner & Dahnken, Ruben & Finkelstein.

Now Playing:

Mary Miles Minter in "The Eyes of Julia Deep"

DISTRIBUTED BY PATHE'

Five Sure Hits!

Each one a magnificent production dealing with big timely subjects in every one's mind

Your chance is now to book these five sure-fire hits before your competitor gets them!

Delay means to miss out at the box office!

The news of the marvelous success of three of these pictures already released to first-run houses has spread like wild fire all over the country and Fox branch offices are being fairly bombarded with bookings.

This is a warning to regular Fox exhibitors to get in on time.

If our representative does not call on you within a few days after you have read this notice, wire your reservation to our nearest exchange.

Here are the five:

The Prussian Cur

So successful that first-run houses are clamoring for re-bookings. The story of the Prussian spy system in America, featuring Captain Horst von der Goltz, the confessed Hun spy.

Why America Will Win

The first run has packed houses everywhere and brought heavy advance sales at top prices.

FOX FILM CORPORATION

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Book Them Now!

Each one packed with the sort of appeals that win the crowds and get the dollars.

The thrilling story of the man of the hour—GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING, commander of the American Army abroad.

Queen of the Sea

Acclaimed by first run exhibitors as their biggest box-office triumph. ANNETTE KELLERMAN, the world's greatest woman swimmer, in a thrilling, breathless, under-sea romance.

Why I Would Not Marry

A stupendous morality play — five love stories in one — five episodes, each containing the plot and action of a five-reel feature — twenty-five big feature reels assembled in one five-reel production.

18 to 45

The vital story of the new draft woven around a great love theme — a tremendous appeal to heart and patriotic interest. Directed by R. A. Walsh, who made "The Honor System" and "The Prussian Cur."

FOX FILM CORPORATION

AND KEEP THEM!

On The Way

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

By Sir Sidney Low

The Romantic Life Story of the Great Welsh Statesman

Produced by The Ideal Film Renting Co., Ltd., LONDON

(Under the sole direction of MAURICE ELVEY)

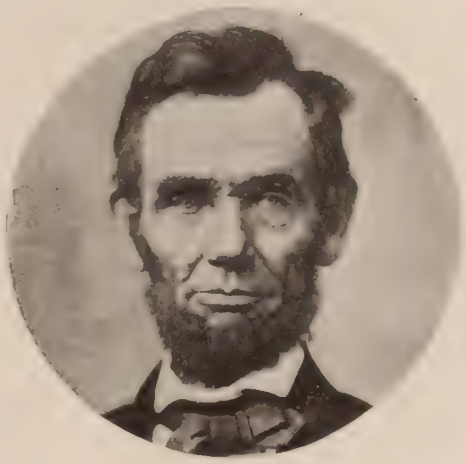
TEN PARTS TEN PARTS

Which allied Statesman, outside America, has most CAPTURED THE IMAGINATION and won the hearts of the world?

Beyond a doubt it is DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, the great little Welshman, who has fought his way up by sheer grit, FROM COTTAGE TO PARLIAMENT, from bootmaker's protege to the Champion of England and the cause of civilisation!

Fiction in its most fascinating pages contains no more captivating chapter than the real-life ROMANCE OF DAVID LLOYD GEORGE. The old saying that "Truth is stranger than Fiction" has received no more wonderful exemplification than in Lloyd George's great upward climb to leadership.

AMERICA AND LLOYD GEORGE



To-day the entire world hangs upon his every utterance and in particular no international figure makes so VIVID an APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA!

His picturesque speech, his freedom from the spirit of caste, his rise to fame from humble origins, his determination to make the common people prevail over TYRANTS IN PURPLE, all give him in especial degree the ear and the heart of the Democracy of the United States.

LIKE ABRAHAM LINCOLN

It is not to be wondered at that the Nation that produced an ABRAHAM LINCOLN should admire such a figure as DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, for there is something wonderfully akin in the characters and careers of the two men.

Like Lincoln, Lloyd George was of humble birth. Like Lincoln, he was brought up by a kind relative. Both men were SELF-TAUGHT. Each began life in the Law. Both were coldly received by the official world. Both were backed by the people. Both were moved by unconquerable enthusiasm for a great moral cause. Both spoke to their fellow-men in resonant tones that ring round the world. And even their very Christian names—drawn from Scripture—found justification in the Bible—inspired careers of the two Statesmen. Nothing more appropriate, then, can be imagined than that so PICTURESQUE A LIFE as that of Lloyd George—a life tingling with high-spirited action and resolve—should be made into a picture.

The "Ideal Film Renting Co.", whose famous master-pieces such as "MY OLD DUTCH" and "MASKS AND FACES", found a warm welcome in America, have been engaged for AN ENTIRE YEAR ON THE PICTURE!—such is their determination to make it accurate as well as realistic!

The life story of LLOYD GEORGE, besides its fascinating romance, will be the most vivid illustration of THE REAL OBJECTS OF THE WAR that has yet been anywhere exhibited.

Through it move such famous Americans as WASHINGTON, LINCOLN, WILSON, etc., and it is, otherwise, PACKED WITH INTEREST FOR THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA.

SHOWING SOON

THE LIFE STORY OF DAVID LLOYD GEORGE will be shown to the Trade in London in October.

Those who may be interested please communicate at the earliest moment with the "IDEAL FILM RENTING CO., LTD." 76-78 WARDOUR STREET, LONDON, W. 1., and arrange without fail to be represented at the Trade Show.

! A MODEL CINEBIOGRAPHY.
THE PICTURE THAT ALL AMERICA WILL WANT TO SEE !

Note:—The picture has been so constructed that it may be released in episodes or completely.

The First Step in the Climb for New Honor

The First of a Series of Eight Happy Pictures

"The Embarrassment of Riches"

From the Broadway Success by Louis K. Anspacher, starring

LILLIAN WALKER

Now available at all General Film Exchanges Through the Hodkinson Service

Variety Says:

"An extremely pleasing subject—one that will make an appeal."

Billboard Says:

"A clean, refreshing story, correctly devised and adequately presented. Will please all classes."

Lillian Walker Pictures Corp.

LESTER PARK, PRESIDENT

501 Fifth Avenue New York City

Be The First To Book "The Embarrassment of Riches"

featuring

LILLIAN WALKER

In Your Section and Share in the Embarrassment of Riches it Assures Exhibitors Everywhere

See the Special Hodkinson Representative At All General Film Exchanges

Here are the First Two Reviews

P. S. HARRISON
In "The Motion Picture News"

"The kind of picture that is in demand just now. It will please because it deals with the happy side of life, and has been handled intelligently."

Morning Telegraph:

"By all odds the best production in which this attractive young actress has ever appeared. Will undoubtedly meet with even greater success in its present form than when presented on the stage."

Book All the Eight Happy Pictures and Gain New Happiness From Your Box Office Reports

Just as "The Embarrassment of Riches" excels all Miss Walker's former successes, so the second of her series will surpass the first. It is a beautiful story of extraordinary charm, presented with the utmost appeal.

Lillian Walker Pictures Corp.

LESTER PARK PRESIDENT

501 Fifth Avenue New York City

The more YOU read these advertisements the more useful to YOU we can make the "NEWS"

THE RIGHT PICTURE AT THE RIGHT TIME!

BOOK THE SCREEN CLASSICS, INC., PRODUCTION

MR. ARNOLD DALY

IN

MY OWN UNITED STATES

DURING THE LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE!

FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CO., WM. L. SHERRILL, Presiden

METRO

Exclusive Distributors

METRO PRODUCTIONS

compel public approval and you can get the proof from any Metro Exhibitor anywhere · They are the great stories, made so skillfully and so well acted that they are the greatest entertainments in the world · They are supervised by MAXWELL KARGER, the really big picture maker of today ·

Make their success your success ·

The newest All Star Series Metro is

SECRET STRINGS

with

OLIVE TELL

of To Hell with the Kaiser fame – and Marie Wainwright ·

The great Kate Jordan wrote it for Ainslee's Magazine. June Mathis adapted it for the screen and John Ince directed it ·

RELEASED BY METRO
OCTOBER 7th
Maxwell Karger Mgr. of Productions

METRO PICTURES

YOUR

GET IN THE GAME—BE ON THE SIDE THAT W

Frank A. Keeney
presents
CATHERINE CALVERT
in
"MARRIAGE"
A Distinctly Modern Drama by Guy Bolton. Soon to be Released.

SHERRY SERVICE

LOOK US UP AT MADISON SQ. GARDEN EXPOSITION

ALL OF THE SHERRY STARS WILL BE THERE

EIGHT FEATUR YEAR WI MADE B OF THE S ON THE V SHERRY

CATHERINE CALVERT

Frank A. Keeney
presents
CATHERINE CALVERT
The Lady Beautiful of the Screen—in
Out of the Night
A Powerful Drama by E. Lloyd Sheldon.

DORIS KENYON

Theodore C. De
presents
DORI K E N Y
in
THE STREE SEVEN ST
by Mary Roberts

Frank A. Keeney
presents
CATHERINE CALVERT
in
A Romance of the Underworld
A Screen Adaptation of Paul Armstrong's Great Drama of New York Life.

SHERRY SERVICE

Theodore C. Deitrich
presents
DORIS KENYON
in
THE INN OF THE BLUE MOON
A Highly Dramatic Tale by Louis Joseph Vance.

In Prepara
DOR K E N Y
in
"WILD HO
Adapted by Lou Vance and Mrs. Roe from her sto
Pictorial Review.

WM. L. SHERRY

Executive Offices
7th Ave., New York

Dallas - - 1905½ Commerce St.
Detroit - - - - 63 Elizabeth St.

Boston - - - - 16 Piedmont St.
Chicago - - - - - 220 State St.

Minneapolis - - - 14
Pittsburg - - - - 804

MOVE FIRST TO SIGN UP FOR SHERRY SERVICE

THE URLINGHAM TRAVEL PICTURES

sitively the Greatest s of Nature Pictures er Made. They are t ordinary "scenic" "educational" views.

FREDERICK BURLINGHAM

The Burlingham Travel Pictures are in reality

ADVENTURE PICTURES

They Show Action—Men risking their lives on top of the Perilous Alps and descending into Active Volcano Craters.

G. M. ANDERSON

The Golden West Producing Company presents

GILBERT M. ANDERSON

formerly

"BRONCHO BILLY"

in

"RED BLOOD AND YELLOW"

VANGIE VALENTINE

HAROLD J. BINNEY

presents

VANGIE VALENTINE

The Most Lovable Creature Ever Seen on the Screen.

he G. M. Anderson eatures are all new. one of them are re-sues. They are to e Big, New, Massive Western Productions.

Second Release

"SON-OF-A-GUN"

Third Release

"SHOOTIN' MAD"

VANGIE VALENTINE

The Superb Find of the Season. A Rare Flower of Nature. Now Making Her First Production for the Wm. L. Sherry Service.

NOW BOOKING

GERALDINE FARRAR

in

"JOAN, THE WOMAN"

For New York State

SERVICE SERVICE

elphia - - - 1314 Vine St.
- - - - - 16 Walton St.

Kansas City - - 921 Walnut St.
Denver - - - - 1723 Welton St.

Los Angeles - - 511 W. 8th St.
Seattle - - - - 2022 Third Ave.

San Francisco, 180 Golden Gate Ave.
Cleveland - - 823 Prospect Ave.

Forward!

The same sharp challenge to battle is sounding for us. We must answer in the same proud way — the way of our fighting men — the American way. We must lend the way they fight.

We must show the war-maddened Hun a united American people moving forward shoulder to shoulder, irresistibly, to Victory.

Our task is to supply the money, the ships, the guns, the shells that we must have to win. It is a tremendous task. We must do it as our fighting men do theirs—with the indomitable spirit of Victory.

We must work, and save, and lend with one thought only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

Get into the fight—with your whole heart

Buy Bonds—to your utmost!

Run Liberty Loan Films and Slides!

This Space Subscribed to Winning the War by
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

A KEENEY PRODUCTION
ALWAYS PROTECTS YOUR BOX-OFFICE AGAINST LOSS

FRANK A. KEENEY
presents
The Lady Beautiful of the Screen

CATHERINE CALVERT
Starring in her Second Big Sensational Production

SUPPORTED BY
HERBERT RAWLINSON
AND A GREAT ALL-STAR CAST IN THE POWERFUL AND THRILLING DRAMA

"OUT OF THE NIGHT"
IN SIX STIRRING REELS
by E. LLOYD SHELDON
SUPERVISED & DIRECTED BY JAMES KIRKWOOD

RELEASED THROUGH THE
WM. L. SHERRY SERVICE
GEN'L OFFICES, 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK
APPLY AT NEAREST EXCHANGE

The night scenes have been put over with startling realism. The photography, especially that devoted to exterior work, is of the finest standard. Joseph L. Kelly in Motion Picture News.

This is a morality drama. It has sure heart appeal.—P. S. Harrison in Motion Picture News.

Mr. Keeney and his associates should earn many encomiums in their desire to please the fil fan, for there is an earnestness of purpose about their work which will speak volumes when their pictures have run the gauntlet of critical analysis.—Laurence Reid, N. Y. Evening Mail.

The art director has succeeded to an unusual degree in providing interior settings with artistic atmosphere. The dramatic quality of the production is good, without dragging in unwholesome scenes.—Margaret I. Mac Donald in Moving Picture World.

Don't overlook this one best bet. Catherine Calvert is the stunning queen of filmland.—Marion Russel in Billboard.

This is a very good picture, one that ought to do good business. It should prove a most acceptable offering for all classes of houses. —R. W. Baremore in Exhibitor's Trade Review.

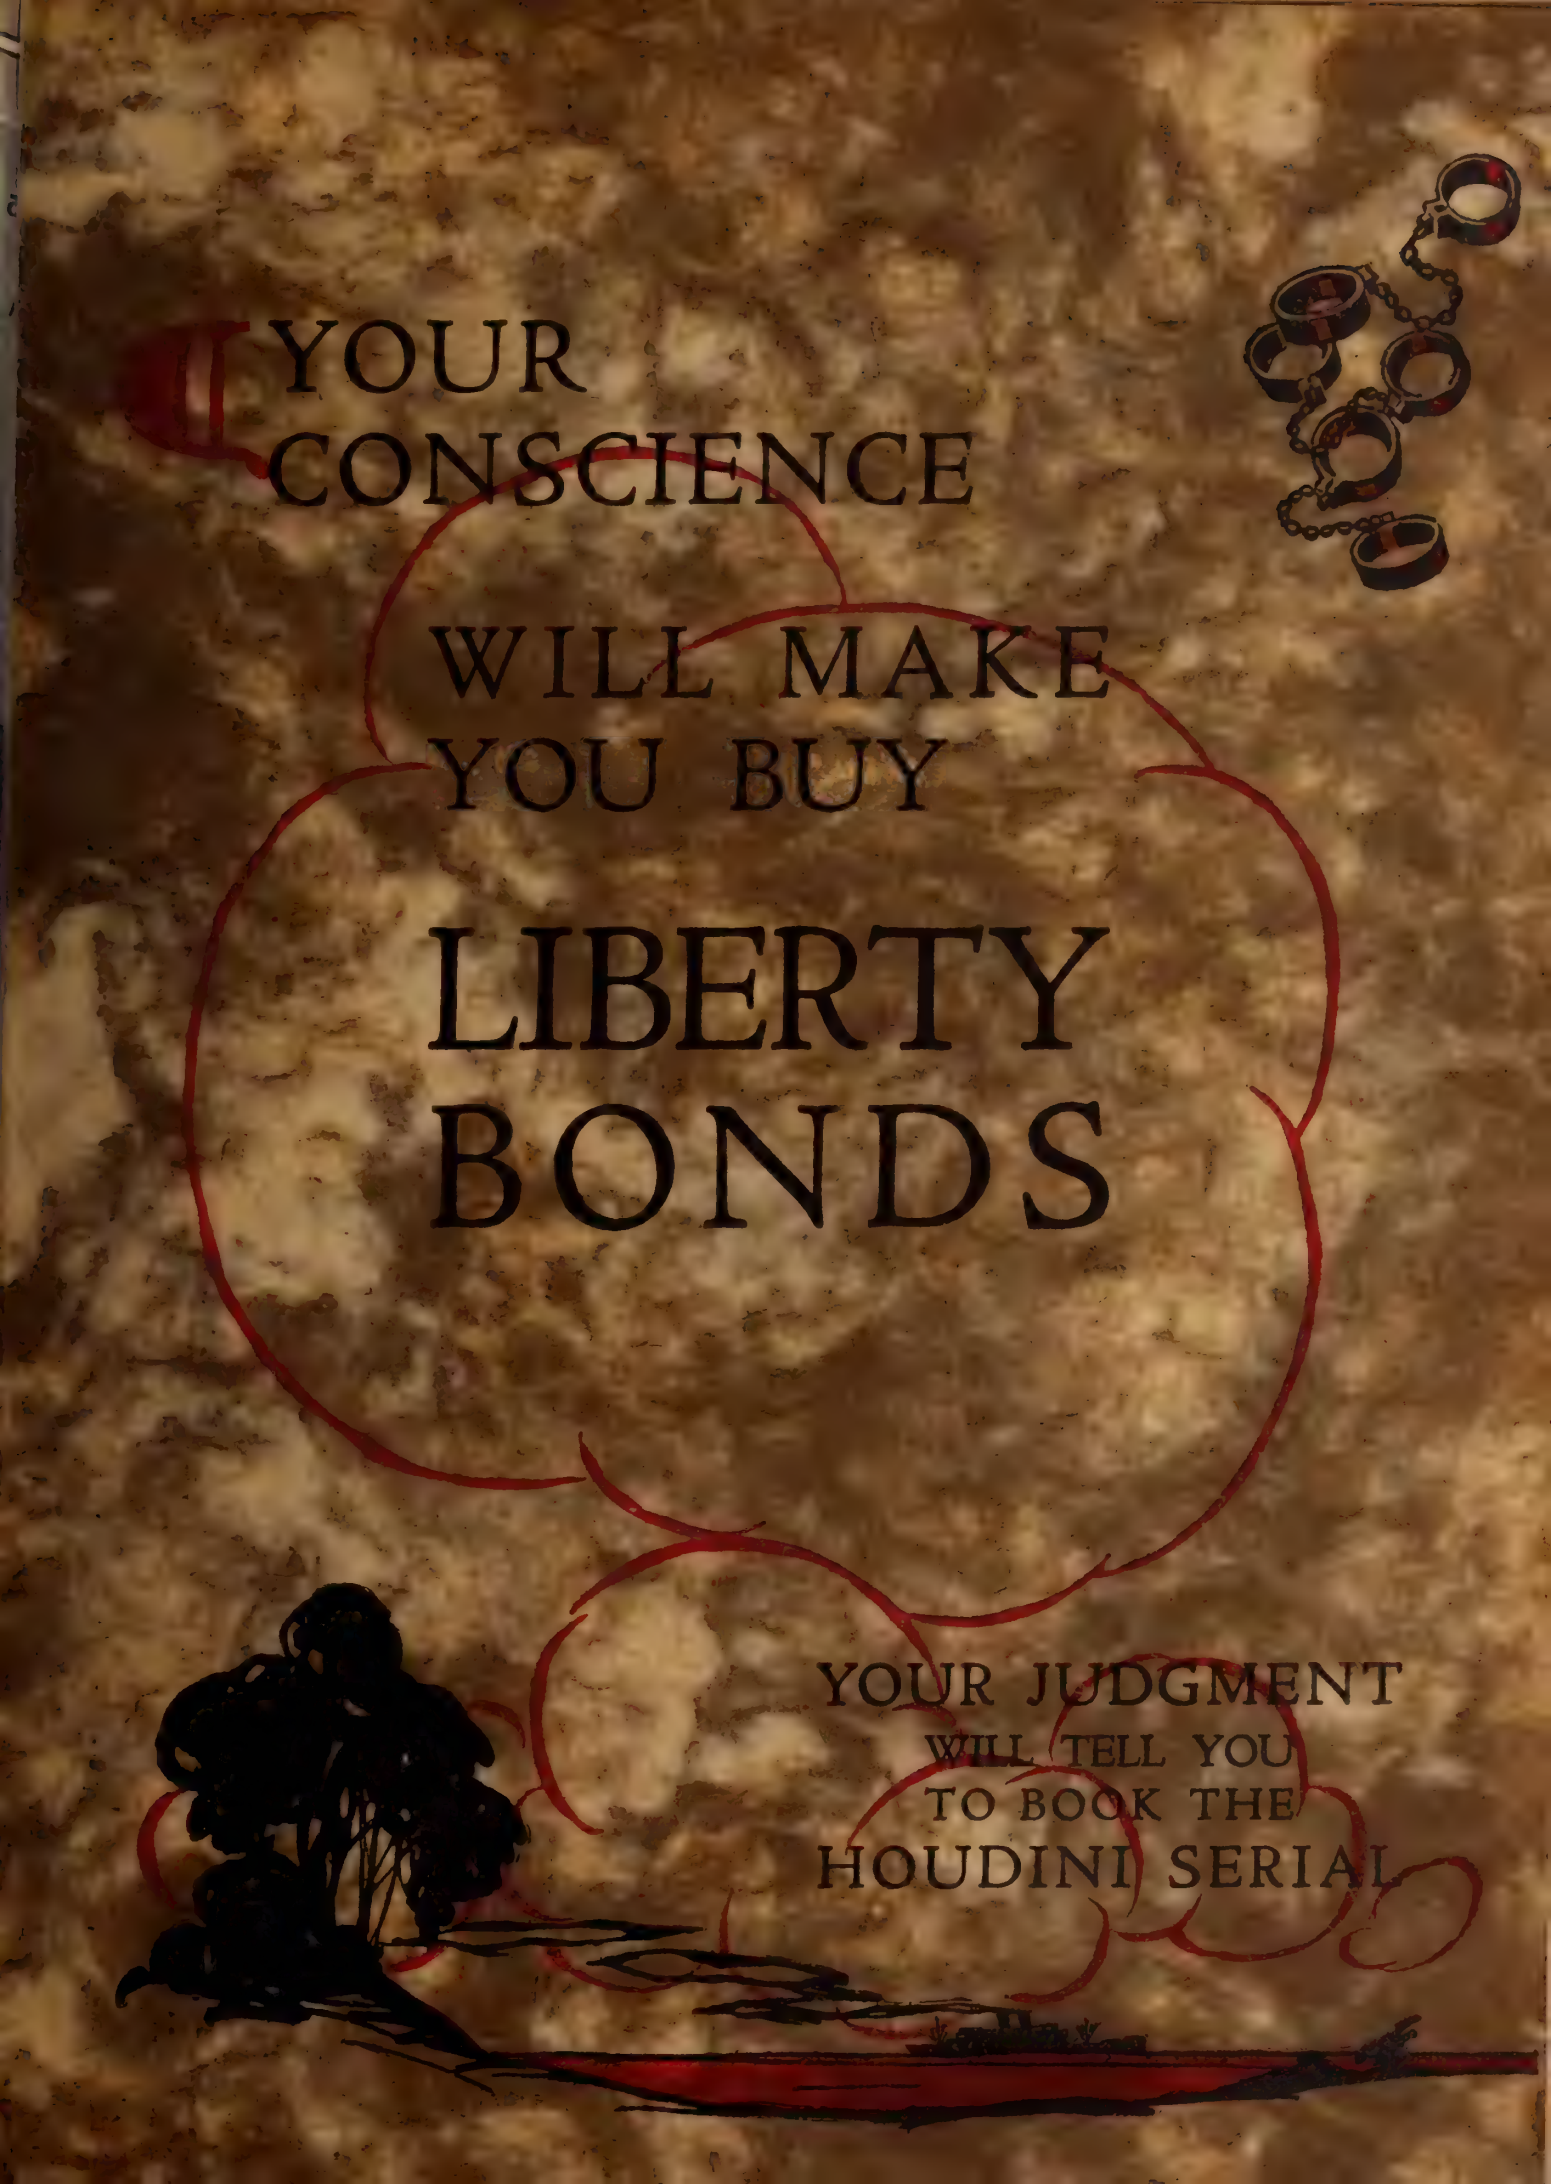
KEENEY GENERAL OFFICES, 1493 BROADWAY, N.Y. RAY C. OWENS, GEN'L MGR.

—I- CHRISTIE COMEDIES -I—

BOBBY VERNON
DOROTHY DANE
a Rollicking

CHRISTIE COMEDY

"Oh! Bobby! How Could You!"



Released Sept. 30

BOOK THRU FOREMOST INDEPENDENT EXCHANGES

Klein-L.A.

-I- CHRISTIE FILM CO. Incorporated LOS ANGELES

YOUR CONSCIENCE WILL MAKE YOU BUY LIBERTY BONDS
YOUR JUDGMENT
WILL TELL YOU
TO BOOK THE HOUDINI SERIAL

HOUDINI

THE RELEASE DATE OF THE HOUDINI SERIAL WILL BE

NOVEMBER FOURTH

ARRANGE FOR BOOKINGS

CANADIAN RIGHTS
REGAL FILMS, LTD.

21 Adelaide Street, W, Toronto
31 McGill College Ave., Montreal
19 Market Square, St. John
345 Main Street, Winnipeg
414 McLean Block, Calgary
304 Orphan Block, Vancouver

ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
OF PHILADELPHIA
1134 Vine Street Philadelphia, Pa.

ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
OF PITTSBURGH
412 Ferry Street Pittsburgh, Pa.

ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
OF NEW ENGLAND
48 Piedmont Street Boston, Mass.

ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
OF NORTHERN
NEW JERSEY
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

ROLFE PRODUCTIONS
OF ATLANTA
65½ Walton Street Atlanta, Ga.

FOREIGN RIGHTS
EXPORT and IMPORT FILM CO.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City

B. A. ROLFE PRODUCTIONS

HARRY GROSSMAN, General Manager

New Offices: 18 East 41st Street, New York City

FROM FRANCE
CAPTAIN ROBERT WARWICK
Sends This Message to
A MILLION MOVIE FANS

From Somewhere On the American Front, France

" Because a man can't be over here with us in this Great Chance to help Humanity and Liberty does not mean that he is denied the privilege of playing his part.

" Personally, I am glad to have been able to give up what wealth, luxury and ease my position assured me, in order that as a soldier of Democracy I might lend my help to the greatest struggle in the history of ages.

" We in khaki honor all those who support Uncle Sam with their dollars, as we do those among us who honor him with their lives. And the more the dollars and the faster they come forth for the FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN, the fewer the lives that will be sacrificed.

" FROM FRANCE WE ALL SHOUT, ' COME THROUGH! '

"(Signed) Capt. Robert Warwick."

Drive This Home

BY BOOKING

CAPTAIN ROBERT WARWICK'S

LAST PRODUCTION

"THE ACCIDENTAL HONEYMOON"

with

Elaine Hammerstein

Directed by Leonce Perret

REMEMBER!

This message and Captain Warwick in uniform are introduced incidental to this production.

FOR IMMEDIATE BOOKINGS: COMMUNICATE WITH HARRY RAPF

1564 Broadway, New York City

ALTRUISTIC!

The Virile and Sympathetic Personality of

"BILL" DESMOND

is admirably displayed in his portrayal of

"The Pretender"

The story of a vagabond cowboy who makes good, when he deceives for the sake of good fellowship.

directed by Cliff Smith scheduled for early release.

TRIANGLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
New York

Invest Your Profits
in
W. S. S.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN — BUY VICTORY BONDS — FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN — BUY VICTORY BONDS — FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN — BUY VICTORY BONDS — FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

SOUNDS GOOD TO US!

The Huns are on the run!
Bulgaria has surrendered!
Nearly two million U. S. soldiers in France—

Doing just what we knew they'd do!

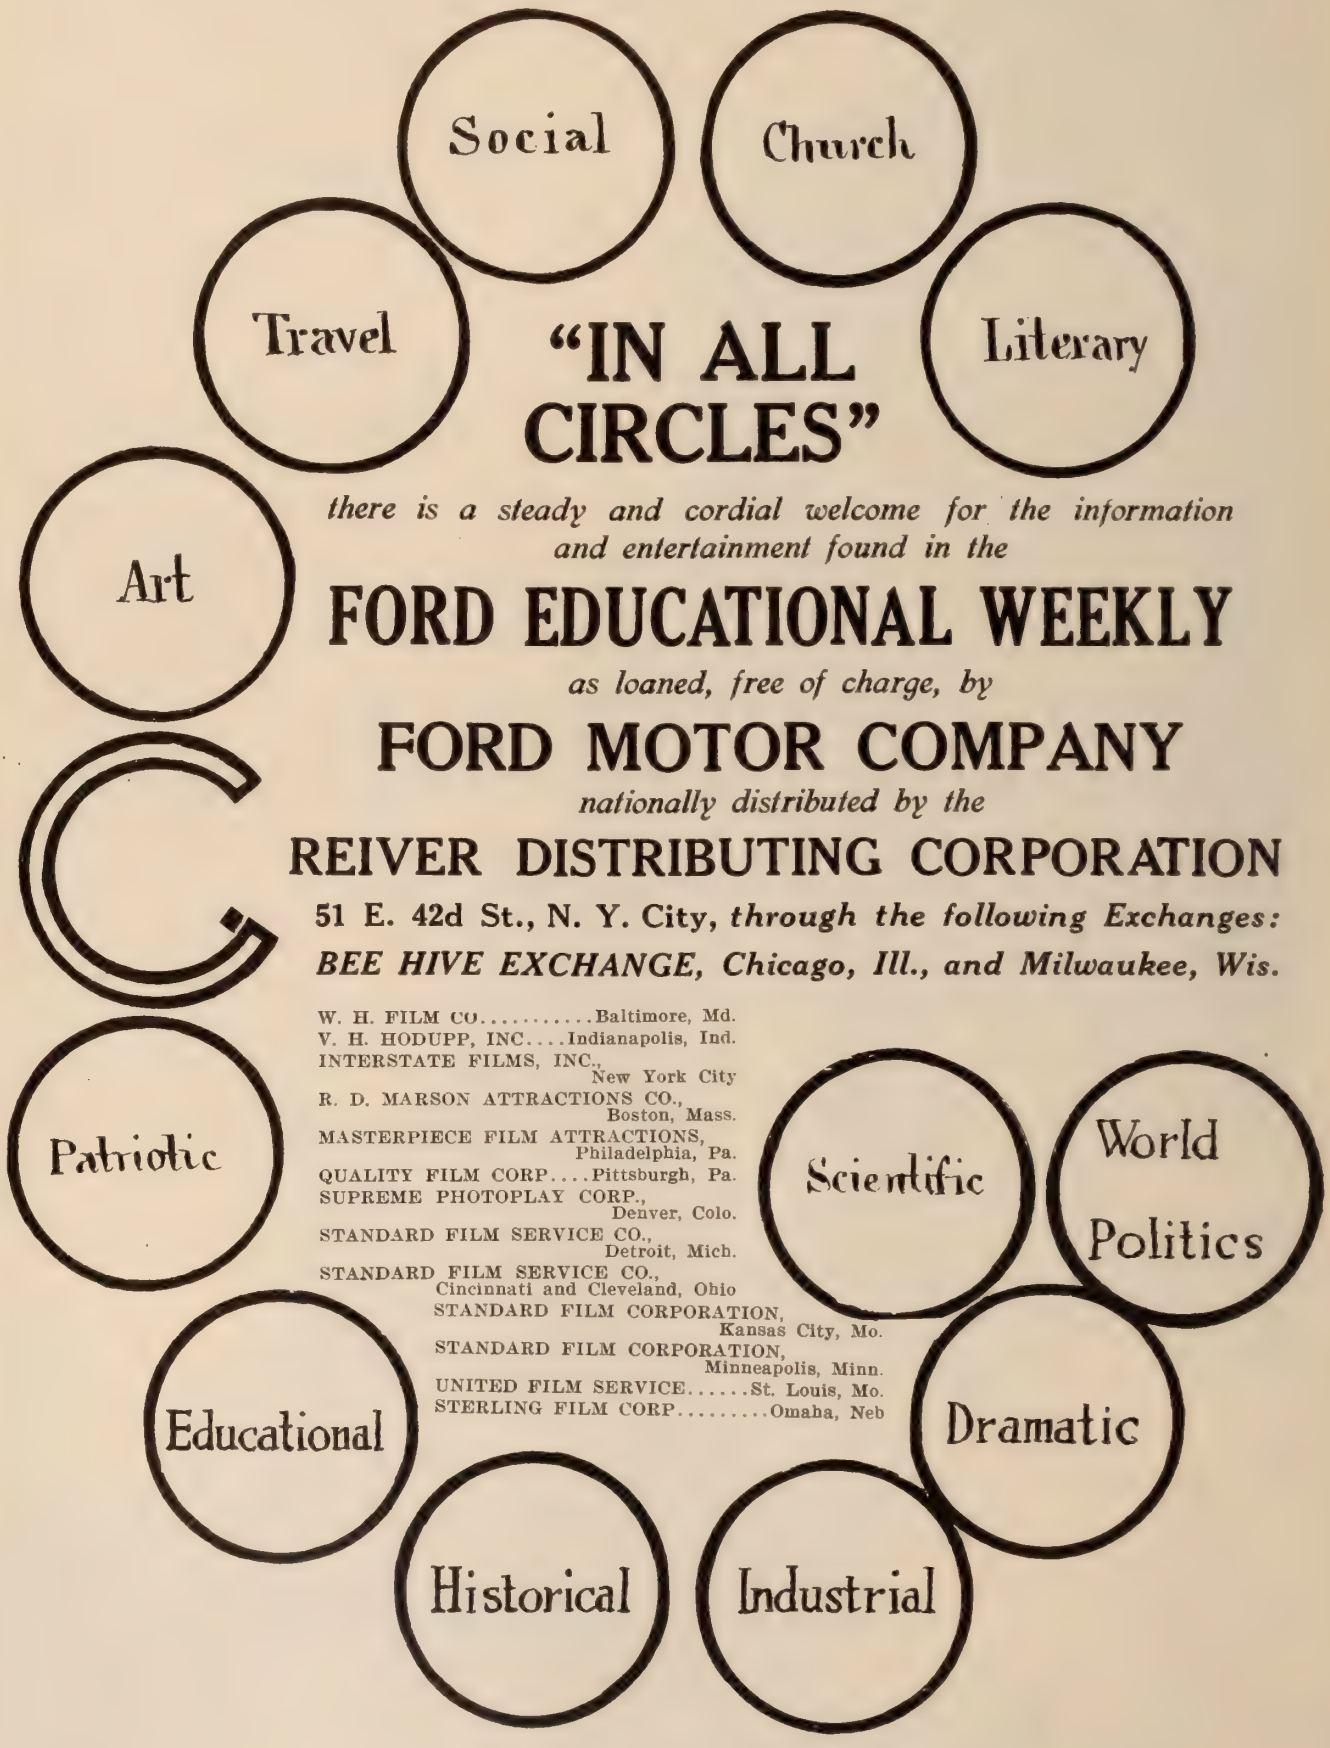
Now we stay-at-homes will do our part—
And it won't cost us a red penny!
We'll actually save a lot of money—

And Uncle Sam will pay us $255,000,000!

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

The U. S. Treasury is absolutely safe—
Let's deposit $6,000,000,000 right away!
Our money will be SAFE and it will draw 4¼%!

And it will put the finishing touches on Kaiser Bill!



—

¶ Gaumont News No. 28, the News-Reel of Real News, released October 1, contains the most attractive LIBERTY LOAN PICTURE ever produced. It's a wonder!

Gaumont

Gaumont Co.

FLUSHING, L. I.

"IN ALL CIRCLES"

there is a steady and cordial welcome for the information and entertainment found in the

FORD EDUCATIONAL WEEKLY

as loaned, free of charge, by

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

nationally distributed by the

REIVER DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

51 E. 42d St., N. Y. City, through the following Exchanges:

BEE HIVE EXCHANGE, Chicago, Ill., and Milwaukee, Wis.

W. H. FILM CO.....Baltimore, Md.
V. H. HODUPP, INC....Indianapolis, Ind.
INTERSTATE FILMS, INC., New York City
R. D. MARSON ATTRACTIONS CO., Boston, Mass.
MASTERPIECE FILM ATTRACTIONS, Philadelphia, Pa.
QUALITY FILM CORP....Pittsburgh, Pa.
SUPREME PHOTOPLAY CORP., Denver, Colo.
STANDARD FILM SERVICE CO., Detroit, Mich.
STANDARD FILM SERVICE CO., Cincinnati and Cleveland, Ohio
STANDARD FILM CORPORATION, Kansas City, Mo.
STANDARD FILM CORPORATION, Minneapolis, Minn.
UNITED FILM SERVICE.....St. Louis, Mo.
STERLING FILM CORP.....Omaha, Neb

WILLIAM A. BRADY'S

STIRRING SCREEN STORY OF DIPLOMATIC INTRIGUE

Stolen Orders

IS BREAKING BOX OFFICE RECORDS

ASK

MARCUS LOEW.

WILLIAM A. BRADY'S

PICTURIZATION OF LOUISA M. ALCOTT'S IMMORTAL STORY

Little Women

WILL SHORTLY BE COMPLETED

AND MEG, JO, BETH, AND AMY

BROUGHT TO LIFE ON THE SCREEN.

WIRE FOR OPEN TERRITORY

GRAPHIC FILM CORPORATION

729 SEVENTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

New England	Eastern Pennsylvania & Southern New Jersey	Illinois, Indiana & So. Wisconsin	New York and Northern New Jersey
GORDON & MAYER FILM CO.	QUAKER CITY FILM COMPANY	SILEE FILM EXCHANGE	GRAPHIC FILM EXCHANGE
35 Piedmont Street	1325 Vine Street	220 So. State Street	729 Seventh Avenue
Boston, Mass.	Philadelphia, Pa.	Chicago, Ill.	New York

MAURICE TOURNEUR

"The legitimate occupation of man's mind is woman"
GEORGE MOORE.

MAURICE TOURNEUR PRODUCTIONS

ANNOUNCES

ITS SECOND PRODUCTION

WOMAN

Written by Charles Whittaker

Directed by Maurice Tourneur

"WOMAN" will be exhibited in a Broadway theatre in October

Rights to "SPORTING LIFE" in the following countries are still available: South America, Panama, South Africa, India, China, Japan, Dutch East Indies, Italy, Spain and Russia.

MAURICE TOURNEUR PRODUCTIONS

STUDIOS—FORT LEE, N. J.

SELLING AGENTS, HILLER & WILK

LONGACRE BLDG., 42ND & BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

We have secured good advertisers to talk to YOU. Listen to them!

THIS was the answer flung at the men who pleaded with the German brutes for the life of Edith Cavell. It was a murder that inflamed the world, and three million Americans are now in France to avenge it. Out of this climax of German frightfulness has been woven a motion picture that will carry to the hearts of America a tremendous message of heroism.

"THE WOMAN THE GERMANS SHOT"

By ANTHONY PAUL KELLY

Marking the motion picture debut of the distinguished dramatic artiste

JULIA ARTHUR

as

EDITH CAVELL

Directed by JOHN G. ADOLFI

Supported by CREIGHTON HALE and a distinguished cast including

William H. Tooker	Paul Panzer
George Majeroni	J. W. Johnston
Joyce Fair	Sarah Alexander

Produced by

Jos. L. Plunkett and Frank J. Carroll
220 W. 42nd Street, New York City

Motion Picture News

Vol. 18 No. 15. October 12, 1918

The Week in the Film World at a Glance

FEATURES

THE PATRIOT AND BUSINESS MAN (WM. A. JOHNSTON) 2337
EDITORIALLY SPEAKING 2338
THE HONOR ROLL 2340
IN AND OUT OF TOWN 2343
AMERICAN PRODUCERS MUST SPECIALIZE (SIDNEY GARRETT) 2345
NEW ORLEANS PAPERS CAUSE PUBLIC APPEAL. 2353
PARAMOUNT SERVICE SECTION 2393
EXPORTERS' SPECIAL SECTION 2396
THE COMPLETE PLAN BOOK 2443

NEWS OF THE WEEK

State Exhibitors' Give Ambulance 2339
War Service Exposition Opens 2340
Honor Roll of the Industry 2340
Industry Unit in Liberty Loan Drive 2341
Buffalo Exhibitors Turn Down Stage Hands 2342
Red Cross Films Make Headway 2343
In and Out of Town 2343
Exhibitors Back Smileage Movement 2344
Live News from the Producers 2364
Advance Offerings of the Programs 2384
In and Out West Coast Studios 2386
Newsy Items of the Studios 2388
In the Independent Field 2409
Complete Plan Book 2443

OF SERVICE TO EXHIBITORS

Exhibitors' Box-Office Reports 2347
Exhibitors' Service Bureau 2350
Coming Program Offerings 2384
Studio Items for Your Newspaper 2388
Paramount Special Service Section 2393
Releases—Current and Coming 2414
Equipment Service 2419
Projection Department 2422
Camera and Picture Making 2430
Music and the Picture 2436
The Complete Plan Book 2443

COMPLETE PLAN BOOK

Advance Reviews 2443
"The Strange Woman" (Fox) 2444
"The Border Wireless" (Hart-Artcraft) 2445
"Unexpected Places" (Metro) 2446
"The Heart of Rachael" (Hodkinson) 2447
"Swat the Spy" (Fox) 2448
"The Goat" (Artcraft) 2449
"The Road to France" (World) 2450
"Ruling Passions" (Schomer) 2451
"The Lure of Luxury" (Bluebird) 2452
"The Return of Mary" (Metro) 2453
"Hobbs in a Hurry" (American) 2454
"The Mounted Men" (Universal) 2455
"The Mating" (Vitagraph) 2456
"Mantle of Charity" (American) 2457

Newsy Announcements of the Week Found in the Ad-Pages

Violet Mersereau Returns in "Together," a Bluebird 2270
Where Fred Stone Stands 2271
Another Expression of Opinion on "The Great Love" 2272
Vitagraph's Latest Blue Ribbon Feature 2273
Coming—"The Iron Test"—Vitagraph's Latest Serial, ... 2274
The Big V Comedies 2275
Vitagraph's Liberty Loan Feature 2276
The First of Goldwyn's New Mae Marsh Series, "Hidden Fires" 2277
Goldwyn on Tom Moore 2278-79
Praise for Smiling Bill Parsons and Capitol Comedies 2280
Goldwyn's "For the Freedom of the East" 2281
The Latest Releases of the Hodkinson Company 2282-83-84
The Third American Red Cross Picture, "Of No Use to Germany" 2285
The Rainbow Comedies on the General Film Program 2286
Important Matter on Select Pictures 2287-88-89-90
Cooper Hewitt's Used by All Leading Companies 2291
"The Romance of Tarzan" Ready for Action 2292-93
"The Kaiser's Finish" Looks Forward to the Finish of the War 2494-95
Mutual Presents Gail Kane in "The Daredevil" 2296-97
Hayakawa and the Haworth Productions 2298-99
Evelyn Nesbit in "Her Mistake," Booking Solid 2300
United as Compared With Booking Institutions of the stage 2301
Florence Reed—United Star 3302
Kitty Gordon—United Star 2303
Dustin Farnum Presented in His First United Picture 2304
"Me Und Gott," Another Arraignment of the Kaiser 2305
Pathe Drops the Hearst from Its Weekly Title 2306
Pathe's Latest Serial a Patriotic One, "Wolves of Kultur," 2307-08
The Official War Review 2309
"Hands Up" Beats All Records Established by Previous Pathe Serials 2310
"Rosemary Climbs the Heights" Is Latest Minter Film 2311
Five Timely Hits from the William Fox Studios 2312-13
On the Lloyd George Picture 2314-15
Lillian Walker's Next Picture 2316-17
Sherry Film Service 2320-21
On Metro's Latest Releases 2318-19
The Ford Weekly Distributed by Griever Corporation 2322
Opinions on "Out of the Night" 2323
The Latest Christie Comedy, "Oh! Bobby, How Could You!" 2324
The Houdini Serial—B. A. Rolfe 2325-26
Harry Rapf Productions 2327
Bill Desmond's Latest Triangle, "The Pretender" 2328
Graphic Film Presents "Ashes of Love" and "When Men Betray" 2332
Gaumont 2329
An Announcement from Hiller & Wilk 2333
Carroll and Plunkett Present the Edith Cavell Picture 2334
Newspaper Comment on "Triple Trouble'..." 2336
"Crashing Through to Berlin" 2370-71
Lyons-Moran Latest Star Comedy is "The Price of a Rotten Time" 2372
The Special Production, "The Talk of the Town" 2375-76-77-78
William S. Hart's Artcraft Triumph, "The Border Wireless" 2389
Advertising Cuts on This Production 2390-91
Paper Furnished by Artcraft on the Hart Picture 2392
Output of Various Companies Handled by Inter-Ocean 2398-99
John Olsen and Company in Market for Scandinavian Rights 2400
Brockliss Talks to the Distributors 2401
The Chief Distributor for the Orient 2402
Robertson-Cole 2403
Max Glucksmann, South American Exporter 2405

WM. A. JOHNSTON, Pres. and Editor. HENRY F. SEWALL, Vice-Pres. E. KENDALL GILLETT, Sec. and Treas.

Published on Friday every week by MOTION PICTURE NEWS, Inc., 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 'Phone 9360 Bryant. Chicago Representative, W. M. Hight, 220 So. State St.; 'Phone Harrison 7667. Los Angeles Representative, J. C. Jessen, 429 South Figueroa St.; 'Phones 780 Pico, F-4661. Subscription $2 a year. postpaid, in United States, Mexico, Hawaii, Porto Rico and Philippine Islands. Canada, $3. N. B.—No agent is authorized to take subscriptions for Motion Picture News at less than these rates. Have the agent who takes your subscription show his credentials and coupon book.

Copyright, 1918, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

PLAY A TRUMP AND WIN!

Samuel Faulkner, Manager of the Franklin Amusement Corporation, Oakland, Cal., in a letter to the George Kleine System, distributors for Essanay, says:

"The week just ended, featuring CHARLIE CHAPLIN in 'TRIPLE TROUBLE,' showed the biggest business ever done in the history of the Franklin Theatre. 'Triple Trouble' was not only an exceptional box office attraction, but proved thoroughly satisfactory to our audiences."

WE HAVE SCORES OF TELEGRAMS AND LETTERS LIKE THIS

Essanay
GEORGE K SPOOR PRESIDENT

George Kleine System
Distributors

Perfection Pictures

"When you see it in 'The News' It's News"

Motion Picture News

HAS THE QUALITY CIRCULATION OF THE TRADE

"The Exhibitors' Medium of Communication"

Volume 18. No. 15 October 12, 1918

The Patriot and Business Man

Elimination of Waste Is for Best Interests of the Industry

GEORGE KLEINE has taken the bit in his teeth and has laid before Washington the facts, as he sees them, as to the excessive number of pictures and exchanges now burdening this industry.

His action, to quote from an open letter to the trade, is designed "for the good of the nation, and possibly also for the good of the industry."

What is good for the nation, in these days, takes preference over the good of the individual and his business. The doughboy at zero hour doesn't think twice over that problem; nor does any patriot at home, in or out of the motion picture business.

So, if the Nation demands waste eliminated upon the part of the industry that is all there is to it; no patriot will take issue; no patriot will delay to come forward, declare himself and his utter willingness to meet that demand.

But will any one tell us why this is not good for the industry?

We know it is.

We know that here and there a producer and distributor is already proving it by proceeding along the lines of fewer pictures, better pictures and longer runs.

And, any way, we know that good business or bad business is, either one, simply an inevitable case of cause and effect.

Cause and effect figures will prove that over production and too many exchanges are the highway to economic disaster; cause and effect figures will prove that fewer and better pictures given greater circulation, and relieved from excessive distribution overhead, will bring better returns to every hand that deals with them.

Figures don't lie; and business is a matter of figures.

Waste elimination—the very same waste elimination asked for specifically by the Government for the good of the nation is for the good of the industry.

That is a fact!

The big point, however, is that conservation measures should only be initiated and carried through by men in sympathy with the film industry, conversant with its intricacies and big enough to tackle its necessarily big problems.

The industry's best interests and resources can be and must be protected; and this protection must be given to the weak as well as the strong.

That is why we appeal for help from within the industry itself.

That is why we ask for action—from the industry.

Can this action be delayed?

Why will the patriot not act? What is holding him back?

Why will the business man not act? What keeps him from acting in the best interests of the industry as a whole?

* * *

Advance Deposits and Liberty Bonds

Pittsfield, Mass., September 29, 1918.

Mr. William A. Johnston,
Editor Motion Picture News,
729 Seventh Ave., New York.

Can you suggest any device whereby manufacturers can be induced to allow exhibitors to buy Liberty bonds with exhibitors' money which is now on deposit and substitute the bonds as deposited security?

Frank B. Stanton,
Spa Theatre.

THE above telegram will get an instant and enthusiastic O. K. from every exhibitor in the country.

And the distributor who is exacting an advance deposit, in cash, will say in reply that such is his policy and that's all there is to it.

He'll simply decline to explain why he prefers cash to Liberty bonds. If the exhibitor wants his pictures badly enough the exhibitor will dig up the cash; and the distributor prefers the cash.

Why? Why the cash?

We would really appreciate a frank statement from the distributor.

The theory of the advance deposit is that the distributor—not being willing or able to trust the exhibitor, wants an advance payment as security, this security reverting to the exhibitor in payment for the last few pictures of the booking contract.

Very well—why not Liberty bonds as security? What better security? If the plain answer is that the distributor needs the cash in order to finance his business, then our discussion will have to end abruptly.

We can scarcely suggest that the distributor borrow cash on the Liberty bonds, since the bonds belong to the exhibitor; though, in reality, the exhibitor has to trust the distributor with his cash anyway and loses the interest on it in the bargain.

It would seem that as a matter of plain justice and now

(Continued on next page)

Speaking Editorially:

Advance Deposits and Bonds

(Continued from preceding page)

in view of the Government's appeal that each individual, corporation and industry strain its resources to buy Liberty bonds that this advance deposit money—which must aggregate several millions—be turned into Liberty bonds.

However, this is one of several conservation questions the distributor is not answering today.

* * *

Higher Admissions

ADMISSION prices are jumping up in a number of cities; and, of course, the public will pay them.

These theatres know how to book pictures, present them and advertise them—all of which are essential to raised admission prices.

The small town theatre man will say despairingly: "Well, they can do it; I can't"; and our sympathies are vastly with the small theatre man these days.

But there's this much about it: you cannot raise your prices unless you take the public into your confidence and tell them why—convincingly.

In other words, you must advertise.

You can do it.

Make a plain statement to your public—make several of them; write them yourself, in your own language, and print them in plain type in your local paper—signed by your name.

Tell your plain homely story to the public—in your own language.

Railroad companies, gas and traction concerns—up against bigger odds than you and with public feeling flat against them have done the same thing successfully.

Sincerity always goes with the American public.

If you are booking as good pictures as you can afford and the kind your public wants (that's up to you); and your house is attractive (that takes brains and elbow grease, not more money), then your public will come to you, if you will go to them.

If you're not running a good show then our advice won't help you one bit.

* * *

Usefulness and Essentiality

THE industry will be given an excellent opportunity, at its War Service Exposition, Madison Square Garden, October 5th-13th, to show the New York public—and through the press, the country at large—the large and vital war work being done by the film.

And thereby, a new criterion in the way of dignity and public service, will be set for future expositions of the industry's art and commerce.

What a fine thing, if, along with its exhibit of willing usefulness the industry at this time, by united action, could say to the Government: "We have united to obey your edict on conservation and are therefore ready for preferential listing as an essential industry!"

Rothacker Writes a Letter

My dear Mr. Johnston:—

Your "War! War!" editorial last week is the best ever and the preceding two on this were corkers.

You are absolutely right. And every real American member of the motion picture industry will lay aside his film business and consider his film industry; those who don't are Hun helpers and should be treated as such.

We must subordinate everything to a Win the War schedule, we must clear the decks for action—get into a fighting uniform where we can, and where we are denied that glorious privilege we must get into the game with both feet and with both fists and with our heads, and co-ordinate our power to back up our sublime President and our wonderful boys "Over There" in a manner which will make membership in the motion picture industry a signal honor.

Keep up the good work!

Yours for the Fourth Liberty Loan,
ROTHACKER FILM MFG. CO.,
Watterson Rothacker,
President.

* * *

League Efficiency

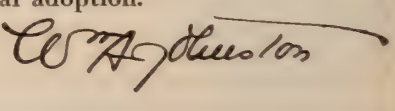
THAT Dr. Copeland has kept the influenza situation in the country's greatest port and city well in hand is due in no small way to the ability of the picture houses, through efficient League organization, to respond immediately to a grave public crisis.

Within twenty-four hours the New York Exchanges were placarded, slides were made for every theatre in Greater New York, and trailers for local distribution made and issued by the Universal Film Company.

"I am sure," says Dr. Copeland in a letter to Sydney S. Cohen, State League President, "that the many citizens of New York who will escape an attack will owe a great deal to the assistance which the motion picture industry is giving us."

The picture theatres of New York City are open and it is practically certain that they will remain open.

* * *



Good Business; Good Patriotism

WE have saved men, money and materials by reducing production and speeding up the efficiency of our Exchanges—thus, briefly, Vice-President Brunet summed up the policy of Pathe Exchange at the recent Save and Serve Convention of its branch managers in New York.

The best of it is that what Mr. Brunet says is not a mere declaration for publicity's sake: it's true.

Pathe Exchange is being run as a basis of scientific conservation; and that is not merely good business—it is good patriotism.

We cheerfully and sincerely take off our hats to such business principles. The film industry is in vast need today of their more general adoption.

State Exhibitors Give An Ambulance

New York State Exhibitors Hold Best Attended Conference at Albany and Act as a Unit to Promote Government Loan

A CONFERENCE of the moving picture theatre owners of the State of New York, representing 1,600 screens, opened at the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany, N. Y., at noon on Thursday, September 26

A letter from Mr. Guy Emerson, Director of Publicity, Second Federal Reserve District, outlining the plans of the Treasury Department, was read. Resolutions were passed endorsing the Fourth Liberty Loan and lines were laid down in which an intensive campaign of bond selling will be waged throughout the motion picture theatres of the State of New York.

Up-State Exhibitors Present

It is regarded as very significant that for practically the first time in the history of New York State exhibitors the up-State theatre men were so thoroughly represented. In previous sessions the New York City exhibitors predominated.

President Cohen appointed fifty-one representatives, one in each Senatorial District comprising the State, in order that the proper statistics could be compiled of what the theatre owners have accomplished in the selling of Liberty Bonds. A representative was designated in each of the three assembly districts comprising each Senatorial District of the State.

By reason of the wide representation present and the helpful nature of the discussions and results which were obtained at the convention, it is felt that there has been started in New York a real business organization of exhibitors which will accomplish something definite for their welfare and that of the industry as a whole.

By reason of the Albany convention and the organization work done by President Sydney S. Cohen, the State League now includes all of the best known exhibitors, who are bound together in a closely knit body divorced from politics and petty jealousies. It is felt that this organization is a model of its kind, and one which, if patterned after by other State leagues, would result in the strengthening of the exhibitor movement throughout the country.

Ambulance to Be Purchased

One of the most popular resolutions introduced was that which provided for the purchase of an ambulance by the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of the State of New York, which is to be shipped to the firing line in the name of that organization. A committee consisting of the State president and the presidents of the various branch leagues of the State, together with any other exhibitors who may be designated, was appointed to secure subscriptions for this ambulance and to enlist the co-operation of the trade papers in publishing the names of the contributors to same.

That the exhibitors of the State of New York fully realize the need for intelligent and constructive action in marshalling their forces for the purpose of proper presentation of facts before the Finance Committee of the Senate was evinced by the discussion which proceeded a resolution introduced on this subject. This resolution provides that Mr. Cohen in conference with the president of every branch State exhibitor organization shall assemble all data and statistics of a definite nature, which will show the conditions under which the motion picture exhibitor is now laboring, and which will give the members of the Finance Committee an understanding of the industry and the problems of exhibitors that is based on real facts.

THEIR BIT

New York Exhibitors Not Backward About Backing Up Our Soldiers

MOTION made that the Motion Picture League of the State of New York fully equip and furnish an ambulance to be shipped to the firing line of France in the name of this Association and that all Exhibitors in the State of New York be and are hereby requested to make donation to the fund necessary for such purpose and the trade papers are hereby requested to publish such list of all contributors to such fund and that a Committee consisting of the State President and Presidents of the various Branch Leagues of the State and such others as may from time to time be designated hereby are appointed a Committee to carry this Motion into effect.

This Motion unanimously adopted.

Sunday Opening Vital Question

When the question of Sunday opening was presented for consideration, the enthusiasm of the up-State men knew no bounds. It is the general belief that the efficient work and aid of the exhibitors in the support of Government propaganda will do much to clarify the Sunday opening situation in the State of New York. The loss of revenue to the Government due to certain sections of the State keeping theatres closed was forcibly presented by the president, Sydney S. Cohen, who believes that all political candidates are showing a tendency to remedy these conditions and to give the people in every municipality what those people decide they want.

Mr. Cohen made a strong appeal to the up-State exhibitors to make a gala week of October 5th to 13th, during the Motion Picture Exposition to be held at Madison Square Garden. Many pledges were exacted, and New York City can look forward to the most notable gathering of theatre owners in its history.

The next Government picture now ready for screening, "America's Answer," was called to the attention of theatre owners. Hearty endorsement of same was given, but many exhibitors expressed the opinion that the Division of Films could get much better results if these pictures were released to all exhibitors on a percentage arrangement, in order that the smaller houses could play same and the fullest amount of screening could be given to this Government propaganda. Resolutions to that effect were passed.

The Brooklyn delegation to the conference presented a resolution endorsing the work of William A. Brady, the courageous national champion, an engraved copy of which will be presented to Mr. Brady by the president. This resolution was passed unanimously.

A resolution was passed authorizing the State President, Sydney S. Cohen, to urge that proper representation be given the exhibitors of the State of New York in the new affiliation of the national exhibitor organizations.

Slides for Woman Suffrage

A resolution stating that a large percentage of the patrons of motion picture theatres being women, the president, Sydney S. Cohen, is urged to hold conferences with the leaders of the Women's Suffrage Party of the State of New York, in order that a closer co-operation can be effected for their mutual benefit. A letter from the New York State Woman's Suffrage Party was read, asking the exhibitors of the State of New York to show slides in their theatres urging the yomen of the State of New York to register on the coming registration days, October 7th to 12th.

A resolution was presented and unanimously carried approving of the request of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, and pledging the screens of the State to give every possible assistance.

Among those who attended the convention were: Sydney S. Cohen, president of the New York State League; Charles O'Reilly, vice-president of Manhattan local; Samuel Berman, secretary of the State League; Samuel Sheer, Jr., president of Queens County Exhibitor Association; Frank Shay, of Schenectady; Wm. P. Donnelly, of Utica; Harry Lazarus, of Albany; Rudolph Saunders, president of the Brooklyn local; John Manheimer, president of the Manhattan local; Henry Herring, of Brooklyn; W. H. Didsbury, of Walden; Charles McCarthy, of Hoosick Falls; M. Sullivan, of Watervliet; David Cohen, of Binghamton; Ben Appel, of Troy; J. M. Shine, of Gloversville; L. A. Buettner, of Cohoes; George Cohen, of Poughkeepsie; Frank Barhydt, of Troy; J. Gardner, of Albany; Samuel Sucknow, vice-president

(Continued on page 2342)

War Service Exposition Opens

National Exposition of the Motion Picture Industry Starts Saturday, October 5, at Madison Square Garden

EIGHT o'clock Saturday evening, October 5, Enrico Caruso, accompanied by the Strand theatre orchestra, officially opened the War Service Exposition of the Moving Picture Industry, to be held at Madison Square Garden, October 5 to 13, inclusive, and once more the sixth largest industry will have an opportunity to show how closely its interests and those of the Government are interwoven.

Every phase of Government war work requiring the use of skilled labor, from the manufacture of cloth for our soldiers' and sailors' uniforms, to the building of ships to carry them Over There, as well as the food and fuel to keep them healthy and comfortable until they return, will be represented. In all, these various exhibits will cover over one-third of the entire floor space of the Garden.

First from an artistic point of view will probably be the exhibit of the Woman's Land Army, which is going to explain to the unitiated that the patriotic woman can readily replace her brother in agricultural work while he fights for her at the front. Before a white-painted cottage, with a snugly thatched roof, the Land Army will demonstrate to the public the use of farm implements and machinery, many of them especially designed for the use of women.

The Remington Arms Company will exhibit a complete display of the various types of weapons and ammunitions used by our troops and those of Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy. It will include machine guns, rifles and bayonets. A detachment of soldiers and representatives of the company will be on hand to explain the mysteries of their construction, and by way of illustration of what Fritz may expect from them there will be huge blocks of wood pierced with thousands of bullet holes to show the peneration of the Yankee bullet.

The Gas Defence Division of the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army will have forty girls at the Garden who will manufacture before exposition visitors the gas masks used by our men in the trenches. The use of the trench fan and system of blowing poison gas from the trenches and dug-outs will also be demontrated, and there will be examples of the masks used by both Germany and the Allies.

Of special interest will be the exhibit of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, who will show miniature ships in process of construction and the multitude of tools used in this important branch of war work.

One of the principal features will be the program of motion pictures shown nightly in the concert hall of the Garden. There will be pictures taken of the various war industries, of our army in France and a number of special releases by the Division of Films of the Committee on Public Information.

The motion picture industry itself will, of course, be well represented. Famous Players, Lasky, World, Vitagraph, Pathe, Fox, Metro, Select, Edgar Lewis' Productions. William A. Brady and William L. Sherry will have booths and various lighting and equipment firms will also be present.

Every day of the exposition will be devoted to some special branch of Government war service or of the motion picture industry, and the famous stars of the screen will be in attendance at the various booths to give the public an opportunity to meet them face to face and to give assistance to their Government in winning the war.

Paramount-Artcraft stars who will appear are Marguerite Clark, Elsie Ferguson, William Faversham, Shirley Mason, Ernest Truex, Billie Burke, John Barrymore, George M. Cohan, Bryant Washburn and William S. Hart.

The long-awaited and much-discussed Motion Picture Dinner under the joint auspices of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry and the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, Inc., will be held Friday evening, October 11, in the Grand Ball Room of the Hotel Astor.

Selig Films Camp Pictures for Y. M. C. A.

The Selig Polyscope Company has been commissioned by the Y. M. C. A. to film a series of training camp pictures. George Bainbridge, director of the enterprise, announces that nearly 2,000,000 soldiers and sailors and marines will be in the cast. The title selected for the film is "The Red Triangle." It is to be released by the Mutual Film Corporation on October 20.

Included in this picture will be about 600,000 men in the training camps in the United States, as well as large bodies of men on the battlefields of Europe. The Y. M. C. A. is to use the picture in the United War Work Campaign.

A special film of two reels is being made for each locality, the main idea being to present the "home boys" at every place. To make this feat possible nearly 100,000 feet of film was necessary.

Universal Loan Films Arouse Interest

Sparks are flying from the Universal's activity in behalf of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

That company has produced five star pictures and has packed its news pictorials with knockout propaganda on the subject. The special films, featuring Monroe Salisbury, and Rupert Julian, Harry Carey, Mae Murray, Ruth Clifford and Dorothy Phillips, were shipped from the coast, and are being distributed according to plans devised by the committee in charge of the loan pictures.

The Universal believes it has established a record for fast and high class production in its efforts for the Loan.

Honor Roll

The name of Clem Pope, of Los Angeles, is added to the Honor Roll. He was in the employ of Motion Picture News until he joined the service.

Arthur Shivers, of the West Coast division of Motion Picture News, has joined the colors.

Earl Metcalfe is back from France on a special service mission. He was with the N. Y. 165th Infantry, and bears two service stripes.

The name of Leon J. Bamberger, head of the contract department of the Fox Film Corporation, has been added to the long and rapidly growing Fox roll of honor. Mr. Bamberger left Monday for Camp Greene, N. C., forty-eight hours after receiving notice from his local board.

Walter Morton, motion picture director, whose most recent production was "Daughter of Uncle Sam" serial for the Jaxon Film Corporation, has offered himself for work abroad as a Knights of Columbus secretary. He goes to Paris to work under James Hearn of New York, who is in charge of all field activities at K. of C. headquarters.

Dave Blythe, former Detroit exhibitor and film salesman, is now manager of the Liberty theatre, Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C.

G. C. Jefferson, former publicity manager for Detroit office of Paramount, has been promoted to Lieutenant in the Ordnance Machine School. He expects to sail soon for overseas.

A. J. Kleist, Pontiac, Mich., exhibitor, operating the Howland and Eagle theatres, is now a Lieutenant, stationed at one of the Washington camps.

Harry Lorch, former publicity man for the Butterfield circuit and manager of the State Film Co., Detroit, is now general supervisor of the stock companies playing at the government Liberty theatres.

H. O. Pierce, former publicity manager for the John H. Kunsky Enterprises, Detroit, is now assistant manager of Liberty theatres of the United States, with headquarters in Washington.

The loss of the Boston branch's oldest employee, and probably the oldest employee of General Film, has been announced to the headquarters of the company by Manager J. D. Levine in reporting the resignation of E. H. Warren. The severance of this long connection was due to a call for army service.

Industry a Unit in Huge Loan Drive

Exhibitors, Distributors, Producers, Stars, and Every Component of the Motion Picture Industry Plunges Unanimously Into Fourth Loan Campaign

THE Motion Picture Industry's bit for the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, which began Sept. 28, is to be the greatest contribution yet given by the industry to the Government's "Win-the-War-Quick" program, according to an announcement made this week by Adolph Zukor, chairman of the Industry's Liberty Loan Committee. Not only will the Motion Picture Industry provide what the Government confidently expects to be the greatest single sales agency of the entire campaign—the Liberty Loan Films contributed by the stars and producing companies—but the quota which the Industry has pledged to obtain for the Fourth Liberty Loan has been set at $1,000,000,000, a record breaking quota for the Industry.

One-Sixth of Entire Sum

Inasmuch as the Treasury Department has definitely announced that the amount of the Fourth loan will be $6,000,000,000, the Motion Picture Industry's contribution will be one-sixth of the entire sum to be raised for war purposes by the American people. The Industry's pledge is declared by film men to be the heartiest and most sweeping response yet given to the Government's call, and the success of its campaign will establish for all time the Indutry's status as an essential arm of the Government.

This pledge must be raised through the medium of subscriptions from the producers, distributors, stars and players, exhibitors and the patrons who support the industry. All subscriptions received through the agency of the theatres of the country will be included in the Industry's quota, and it behooves every loyal, 100 per cent member of the Industry to roll up his sleeves and see that his share of the gigantic campaign is carried on successfully.

Still another indication of the importance of the recognition given the Motion Picture Industry by the Government is the fact that the Liberty Loan films patriotically contributed by the stars and producing companies are expected to be the most successful medium of selling bonds at the disposal of the Treasury Department.

To Make Record of Bond Sales

Arrangements have been made by the Liberty Loan Committee of the N. A. M. P. I. to keep a daily record of all bond sales in the moving picture theatres of the country. The various exchanges have been instructed to see that the exhibitors cooperating in the motion picture drive are supplied with the proper blanks to be used in making daily reports of the total amount of Liberty Loan subscriptions taken in the theatres on each day of the campaign. These reports should be rendered daily to the exchanges, which will be required to prepare daily reports of the total of subscriptions taken in the theatres booking the Liberty Loan prints.

The formal presentation of the Liberty Loan films to the Government took place on Friday evening, September 27, at Washington at a special showing given for the benefit of the National Press Club by the Treasury Department. Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall, who was the chief speaker of the evening, and a notable gathering from all departments of official Washington were guests at the special showing. Executives, stars and leaders in the film industry from New York and other cities also were in attendance. Many members of both Houses of Congress were present to inspect the films contributed for the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. Geraldine Farrar, who had contributed a special Liberty Loan Picture, "The Bonds That Tie," sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

The tremendous enthusiasm aroused on the part of the large audience represents one of the greatest and most sincere tributes ever paid the motion picture industry, and this demonstration of the valuable part motion pictures are playing in the Liberty Loan campaign is expected to be of great benefit in bringing about a closer and more harmonious understanding between the Government and the industry at large.

U. S. Officials Praise Industry

More than 2,000 invitations were issued by the Treasury Department. A striking tribute was paid the Motion Picture Industry by Frank R. Wilson, national director of publicity for the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign, in the invitations issued for the Washington showing. The invitation, in part, was as follows:

"The Treasury Department is so enthusiastic over the quality and character of these films which have come to us through the patriotism and generosity of the producers and their stars that it is desirous of making this an occasion long to be remembered. We will have present the Washington representatives of the leading newspapers of the country, together with many notables from Washington official life.

"I cannot begin to tell you how deeply grateful the Treasury Department is for the magnificent co-operation which the entire moving picture industry has given it in this great drive to raise the sinews of war. I trust that the wide use to which the Treasury Department intends to put these films will constitute abundant proof of our belief in their efficacy."

Adolph Zukor Day in the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive of the Stage Women's War Relief is October 12, and in New York City will be one of the important events of Liberty Day.

At the Library booth a large program of the famous motion picture and theatrical stars will be presented. Among those it is planned to have appear are Enrico Caruso, Marguerite Clark, William S. Hart, Billie Burke, Elsie Ferguson, George M. Cohan, John Emerson and Anita Loos, Shirley Mason, Ernest Truex, James Montgomery Flagg, Burton Holmes, J. R. Bray, William Faversham, John Barrymore, Eugene O'Brien, Lina Cavalieri and many others.

Everybody Is Doing Their Bit

At the request of the Executive Committee of the Fourth Liberty Loan, Bessie Barriscale, Paralta star, was asked to open the campaign of boosting the loan by a short article, addressed to the people in the industry and Americans in general, and Miss Barriscale complied with a stirring appeal.

Two of the General Film Company's exchanges claim first honors in Fourth Liberty Loan subscriptions in their respective cities. District Manager H. E. Elder reports that the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh exchanges each made a 100 per cent subscription to the loan on the first day of the drive.

Geraldine Farrar inaugurated the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign in Washington on selling the first bond in the new series to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Standing on a platform erected at the head of the Treasury steps and surrounded by a brilliant throng of notables, the Goldwyn star brought the dignity of motion pictures to the affairs of the nation.

Beginning October 12 subscription soliciting will be started in Chicago movie theatres. Prior to that time there will be no soliciting there. The ward organizations will have direct charge of the sales in theatres and each organization will appoint a captain for each theatre, who will work in co-operation with the theatre managers, and will have supervision over the work.

Arrangements were completed last week by which "Crashing Through to Berlin" will be shown under the auspices of the Liberty Loan Committee October 9 and 10 in the Convention Hall at Kansas City.

Madge Evans, World actress, who has just been made a colonel in the American guard, opened the Fourth Liberty Loan drive in the Yorkville section of New York City by selling $100,000 worth of bonds to Mr. Zittis, president of the Yorkville Bank, and Brigadier-General George R. Dyer, commanding officer of the guard.

The working force and officials of the William L. Sherry Service will make their Fourth Liberty Loan investments collectively instead of as individuals.

New York Exhibitors Help Drive

A conference of the moving picture theatre owners of the State of New York, representing 1,600 screens, opened at the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany, N. Y., at noon on Thursday, September 26.

(Continued on page 2344)

The Government Theatre at Camp Taylor, Ky., "The Home of Smileage"

Stephens Optimistic Over Film Conditions

Picture theatre attendance is greater and generally higher admission prices are being paid than at any time in the history of the industry, according to S. T. Stephens, widely known New Orleans film man, who has just been appointed general supervisor of Mutual exchanges. Mr. Stephens came to New York last week for a conference with James M. Sheldon, president of the Mutual.

In the course of his visit Mr. Stephens discussed the conditions of the business in most optimistic terms. He looks for a record fall and winter attendance, and predicts a constantly increasing standard of production and exhibition.

"The summer business everywhere has been better than it ever has been," commented Mr. Stephens. "I attribute it to a variety of causes, but among the chief ones are the fact that, under new railroad rates, summer excursions have been less frequent, people have stayed at home more than ever and they have spent their money at the picture theatres.

Frank Whitbeck to France for Y. M. C. A. Work

Frank Whitbeck, for two years at Scranton, manager of the Poli theatre and Academy of Music, leaves soon for France to enter the Y. M. C. A. service. Mr. Whitbeck offered his services early last July and has since been expecting the call every day.

The call came last week and Mr. Whitbeck has been designated as one of the directors of amusements for the million and a half of men who are representing the United States on the fighting lines.

Many columns of valuable space in the newspapers of Scranton attest the popularity of Frank Whitbeck in that city. He is peculiarly fitted for the new post and it is safe to say that he will make good.

Osborn Back to General

After four years of absence from General Film Company, H. M. Osborn, a well known exchange man, has returned to that company, the announcement being made that he is the new appointee as manager of the Pittsburgh branch.

Buffalo Exhibitors Turn Down Stage Hands

BUFFALO, N. Y.—At a meeting of the local stage hands and the exhibitors in Sheas' Hippodrome the request of the former for an increase in wages was turned down, the managers declaring that they could not at this time see their way clear to abrogate the agreement between the managers' association and the union, which runs for two more years. This is the third request for increases that the exhibitors have had to deal with in the past several weeks. First came the musicians, who won their boost, then came the operators, who now have their individual managers to reckon with, and now the stage hands.

Manager L. Becker of the Linden theatre is offering three prizes in War Savings Stamps to patrons who bring in the most peach stones and all who bring in over ten pounds will receive two admissions free. The Linden lobby is now packed with peach pits.

Another Buffalo newspaper and theatre have linked forces in the issuance each week of a local film weekly. The Family theatre and the Buffalo Times inaugurated their first issue this week with a series of Liberty loan activities. It is planned to make the news film a permanent feature.

Italy's "Flaming Battlefront" was screened for local exhibitors at Al Becker's studio, 17 Swan street, this week, and from the comments heard after the screening the pictures will be heavily booked in this territory.

Buffalo theatres Saturday aided the Buffalo Evening News' Smokes for Soldiers' fund by contributing tickets which were auctioned off at a big rally at Lafayette square. Theatres contributing tickets were the Strand, Sheas Hippodrome, Palace, Teck, Regent, Sheas' vaudeville and the Lyric. Local managers have also from time to time aided the fund by placing acts and actors at the disposal of the News for rallies in the theatres and the public square. Over $6,000 was raised at the rally Saturday.

Earl L. Crabb journeyed with the Strand camera car to the annual outing of the Rotary Club.

Baltimore Exhibitor Has Floral Lobby Display

BALTIMORE, MD.—A distinctly original note in advertising his photoplay offering, featuring Fanny Ward in "A Japanese Nightingale," has been struck by Arthur D. Price, manager of the Blue Mouse theatre, Baltimore.

Mr. Price has the lobby of his theatre decorated to resemble a Japanese flower arbor. Supports such as are seen in old Japanese prints form an important part of the effect and flowers peculiar to that sunny country are arranged about the lobby in artistic manner. Artificial wisteria, cherry blossoms, Japanese carnations and asters, as well as chrysanthemums, form a part of the scheme.

Bernard Depkin, manager of the Parkway Amusement Company's chain of theatres, comprising the Parkway, Strand, Waizard, Peabody and McHenry theatres, Baltimore, plans to revive the Mary Pickford picture triumphs. Mr. Depkin has already shown one of these called "The Eagle's Mate," in which James Kirkwood supports little Mary, and which was originally released in 1914, and reports a tremendous business.

State Exhibitors in Convention at Albany

(Continued from page 2339)

of New York State League, Albany; Fred Elliott, of Albany; Morris Silverman, of Schenectady; Wm. Burnstein, of Schenectady; Walter Zeiser, of Schenectady; George Roberts, of Albany, president of the Tri-City local; Mr. Shirley, of Schenectady; B. E. Cornell, of Syracuse; A. N. Wolf, of Rochester; G. E. Lansing, of Catskill; L. F. Hanmore, of Newburg; Stratford theatre, Poughkeepsie; R. W. Landray, of Ogdensburg; Wm. H. Linton, of Utica; W. A. Dillion, of Ithaca.

Wires of acceptance of designation were received from: Max Spiegel, of the Strand theatre, New York; Ira Mosher, of Buffalo; A. C. Hayman, of Niagara Falls; Dr. John Howe, of Ithaca; J. A. Suchardt, of Buffalo; Daniel White, of Buffalo; G. H. Lux, of Utica; B. Young, of Ilion; J. Walker, of Schenectady; C. S. Smith, of Hornell; J. M. Schwartzwalder, of Auburn.

In and Out of Town

Tanned to a berry-brown after a summer spent in filming plays in the Grand Canyon of Arizona and elsewhere in the West, William Farnum, the Fox star, is back in New York, where he was called by the illness of Mrs. Farnum.

M. Camille Legrand, one of Pathe Freres' most valued cameraman, has arrived in New York from Paris on his way to the Far East. Monsieur Legrand will go to San Francisco, from whence he will sail for Japan.

Sergeant Chester Franklin, of the U. S. Army, formerly of the famous directing team, The Franklins, is in New York visiting his brother, Sidney A. Franklin, who is directing Miss Norma Talmadge.

Samuel Grand, president of the B. A. Rolfe Productions of New England, visited the New York offices of the firm this week.

"Under Four Flags" Takes Shape Steadily

Director Chas. S. Hart announces that the material for "Under Four Flags," the third U. S. Official feature war picture, is rapidly being culled from the thousands of feet of American, British, French and Italian film that is being sent from overseas, and that this will be, in many respects, the most comprehensive picture issued by the Division of Films of the Committee on Public Information.

The release date of the new picture has not yet been announced, but it will probably have its first showing in New York early in November.

W. J. MacInnes, Director of Advertising and Publicity for the Division of Films, Committee on Public Information, is organizing an art department for furnishing picture mats, covering the various film activities of the organization, to newspapers throughout the United States.

The mats include many novel lay-outs, with up-to-date pictures from the various fighting fronts, and have a distinct news and pictorial value quite apart from the fact that they accentuate interest in the official films.

Peach Stone Matinees a Patriotic Duty

The National Association of the Motion Picture Industry is about to institute a fruit pit and nutshell saving campaign in motion picture trade papers, to help provide material for manufacture of charcoal for Army gas masks.

N. O. Eltonhead, of the Association, reports that motion picture theatre owners in the Middle West have been giving "Peach stone matinees" that have resulted in the collection of much material. One house in Indiana obtained four barrels of peach stones at one afternoon performance.

The Council of National Defense, at Washington, has enlisted the services of all state councils of defense in the campaign.

Red Cross Films Make Headway

General Film Boosts Them Steadily and Finds Ready Co-operation— "Of No Use to Germany" Next Release

STRONG appreciation of the scope and importance of the American Red Cross motion picture activities is becoming apparent throughout the country. It is now only a few weeks since the reorganized Bureau of Pictures of the American Red Cross with W. E. Waddell, as director, issued its first release, which proved to be a subject of happy selection for a premiere, "The Historic Fourth of July in Paris." The enthusiasm with which this one-reel patriotic film was received in the largest down to the smallest theatres of the country stands out prominently in recent film history. Since then, as part of the original plan, other releases have been made, and a series of such releases is to be continued at regular intervals to cover the war from a Red Cross angle. The forthcoming releases will follow the current subjects, which are "Soothing the Heart of Italy" and "Of No Use to Germany."

The Bureau of Pictures of the American Red Cross is a department of the national publicity department of the American Red Cross with Jos. Johnson as head of the department. In behalf of the organization, the Bureau of Pictures is undertaking to give the widest circulation to film from abroad which has been taken under Red Cross auspices, and to present it to the American public as a graphic review of the important uses made of the funds so liberally subscribed for works of mercy in the war-torn countries. Back of this presentation is nearly every facility of the great organization.

The full force of this co-operation is just beginning to be felt. There are many angles to it, but one of the most impressive is the co-operation provided by the thirteen division organizations of the Red Cross in the United States.

The Bureau of Pictures refrained from undertaking to build up its own system of distribution depots, and chose rather to employ one of the existing distributing systems. The films already produced, and a series of others which are in work, are routed for the American Red Cross through General Film Company exchanges, these having been thrown open to the Red Cross in a spirit of co-operation. Theatres desiring to use these films may obtain them through these exchanges at a limited cost. Local Red Cross chapters are also served by these exchanges. The Bureau of Pictures desires it understood by the theatres and the trade that it is acting under the advice of the National Association of the Motion Picture Industry as to distributing its materials. And it is further anxious for everyone to know that its film operations are not designed for revenue in any sense of the word. Any money that is received is to cover back the expense of taking and production. A statement to this effect was issued by Mr. Johnson at the beginning of operations by the reorganized bureau.

In the production of films the Bureau's aim is to present mainly human interest topics from the war zone. The work of the Red Cross being along humanitarian lines, those touches which present vividly the gentler spirit prevailing in the midst of a war atmosphere are sought by the cameramen and film editors. Where an inspiring martial note can be introduced, as was effectively done in "The Historic Fourth of July in Paris," and as will be evident in the forthcoming subject, "Advancing with the Eagle Into Italy," this note is seized upon and made part of a release. But battle scenes are avoided except where they may chance to be incidental to some picturesque bit of Red Cross work.

"It is not intended to duplicate the ordinary war scenes," said Director Waddell.

Empey and "Over the Top" Help Recruiting

Capt. Arthur Gardner, the officer in charge of recruiting for the Tank Corps, U. S. A., has organized an intensive recruiting drive in the Middle West, starting at Witchita, Kan., so as to give the brawny Western boys an opportunity of getting into this organization of daredevils.

In planning the drive, Capt. Gardner decided to use motion pictures as part of his work, the desire being to show a war film which would depict the American soldiers in action and actually going over the top. "Over the Top," the Vitagraph Special, was decided upon as the one which best met the requirements. Therefore, a request was sent to Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph Company of America, for a print, and he immediately donated one to be used during the tour of the recruiting officers. Walter W. Irwin, general manager of the Vitagraph Distributing Organization, immediately put the entire organization at the service of the Tank Boys.

Capt. Gardner has with him several veterans, among them Arthur Empey, hero of "Over the Top," and Sergeant Bowman, of the Ambulance Corps.

Margaret Marsh Helps Red Cross Drive

Margaret Marsh, not content with stripping her own trunks and wardrobes for old clothes drive, which the Red Cross is conducting for the destitute of Belgium and northern France, has also donated a receiving station. She arranged with Mr. Rolfe, president of the B. A. Rolfe Productions; Mrs. Paul Foerster of the New York Red Cross, and Mrs. Walter Taussig of the Westchester Chapter of the Red Cross, to use the reception room at the entrance of the Rolfe studio at 120 School street, in Yonkers, and every moment that she can spare from her work before the camera in the Houdini serial, "The Master Mystery," she will personally receive the bundles of clothing, and during her necessary absence from such war relief duties, society girls of Westchester will take her place.

Exhibitors Back the Smileage Movement Throughout Country

A new plan of getting Smileage Books into the hands of soldiers who want them has been proposed to the exhibitors and has received the approval of some of the biggest men in the industry. As Smileage coupons are now used in Government theaters in the forty-six largest camps, where something like 500,000 men are always kept for training, it is no surprise that about 1,000 requests for Smileage Books are received daily at the Smileage Division offices at Washington.

The new plan is to run a "Smileage Night" once every month in each theatre. Ten per cent. of the gross receipts on that night are to be devoted to the purchase of Smileage Books to go to the men who come from the same city the theatre is in. That is, the money raised by New York City picture houses will buy Smileage for New York City boys now in camp "over here." The Chicago funds will keep Chicago boys supplied, and Cedar Rapids cash will enable Cedar Rapids soldiers to have a good time in the camp theatres "on the folks back home."

As over 5,000 cities and towns have established permanent Smileage sales agencies, the entire country is pretty well covered. This additional method of assisting each local Smileage fund should enable the local chairman who has direct charge of the sales in his city to keep all "his boys" supplied with Smileage coupons.

Smileage coupons are based on the theory that people back home enjoying a show would be glad to take their khaki clad friends to the show with them if said friends were around town. As their friends are in camp, Smileage provides the acceptable substitute.

Peck Succeeds Horsfall At Montreal Mutual

Raymond S. Peck has been appointed manager of the Mutual branch at Montreal, succeeding Basil Horsfall. Mr. Peck comes to Mutual from the Canadian Moving Picture Digest, of which paper he has been editor.

Previous to entering the motion picture business Mr. Peck was associated with daily papers in the United States and Canada. His first experience in the picture business was with the Universal Film Company as director of publicity in Canada.

Bronx Exhibitors to Hold Sixth Annual Ball

The Cinema Exhibitors' Association of Bronx County, Bronx Local N. A. M. P. I. Exhibitors' Branch, will hold its sixth annual movie entertainment and ball on Monday evening, November 4 (election eve), at 8 p. m., at Hunt's Point Palace, 163d street and Southern boulevard, Bronx.

A handsome souvenir program will be issued.

DON'T BUY NEW SIGNS

Until the Fuel Conservation Rules Are Definitely Settled

ARE you contemplating the purchase of a dandy new electric sign for the exterior of your theatre?

One of those dazzling, zig-zag affairs that attracts attention a mile away?

Don't do it—

Until the Fuel Conservation Committee has definitely decided its policy regarding theatre lighting during the coming year.

The present outlook is for a ruling that will limit the exterior lighting of theatres to such lights as are necessary for public safety and barely enough to keep your house from looking like a cigar store.

It will most likely be essential that savings such as this be effected if we are to get enough coal to operate. And we must operate lights or no lights.

And, by the way, give a silent vote of thanks right now to Harry Crandall, the Washington exhibitor, who is doing yeoman work in the Capital on behalf of exhibitors with the Fuel and other bureaus.

Chester Tours for Ship Film

C. L. Chester has left New York on a trip that will carry him as far westward as the Pacific Coast, in the interests of a multiple reel shipbuilding picture which he is to make under the supervision of the Division of Films, Committee on Public Information.

This picture, it is announced, will attempt to catch the urge and proportions of the mighty ship undertaking, and will be a study of men as well as of materials. Mr. Chester finds that a considerable naval experience is standing him in good stead in his work.

Our Red Cross Entertains Italians with Films

Portable moving picture outfits provided by the American Red Cross now enable the Italian soldiers at all the rest houses and canteens to enjoy film dramas and comedies within range of the enemy's guns. The idea has made the biggest kind of a hit with the fighting men, who do not permit the shellfire and booming of cannon to disturb their enjoyment of the performance.

One of the Red Cross canteens has had its own moving picture show for some time past. The machine was loaned to this canteen by the Italian military authorities.

Vitagraph Presents Joyce in "Lion and Mouse"

Alice Joyce, Vitagraph star, soon will be presented in a new de luxe production of "The Lion and the Mouse," most famous and successful of the plays written by the late Charles Klein. It will be released as the third Alice Joyce production on the Blue Ribbon feature program during the present season, and it is promised by Vitagraph that the production will be the most important, from all angles, in which the beautiful star has been presented since her memorable appearance in "Within the Law."

"The Lion and the Mouse" was done in pictures once before about five or six years ago, but it will come forth now as a modern production, because the advancement in motion picture photography and composition make it possible for a superior production over the offerings of a few years back. The Vitagraph announcement of its plan for producing "The Lion and the Mouse" declares that it will strive to make it one of the memorable productions of motion picture history. Miss Joyce, it is said, will be surrounded by a cast of extraordinary strength, and the production will be directed by Tom Terriss under the personal supervision of Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph Company.

Peach Stone Matinee

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Palm theatre, largest moving picture house in northeast Philadelphia, located at Frankford and Norris streets, with a seating capacity of 1,500, will conduct a peach stone matinee Wednesday, October 9, for the purpose of collecting peach stones for the Government, to be used in the manufacturing of gas masks.

A special attraction, one of Elsie Ferguson's latest productions, "Hearts of the Wild," has been booked for this day only.

Regular matinee price at this theatre is ten cents, but as an inducement to procure the fruit stones the price of admission at this matinee will be five cents and not less than five fruit stones. The Emergency Aid will furnish the barrels for collection of the fruit stones.

Industry Unit in Liberty Loan Drive

(Continued from page 2341)

A letter from Mr. Guy Emerson, Director of Publicity, Second Federal Reserve District, outlining the plans of the Treasury Department was read. Resolutions were passed endorsing the Fourth Liberty Loan and lines were laid down in which an intensive campaign of bond selling will be waged throughout the motion picture theatres of the State of New York.

President Cohan appointed fifty-one representatives, one in each Senatorial District comprising the State, in order that the proper statistics could be compiled of what the theatre owners have accomplished in the selling of Liberty Bonds. A representative was designated in each of the three assembly districts comprising each Senatorial District of the State.

American Producers Must Specialize

Sidney Garrett Declares This Is the Only Way in Which to Hold the World Market—Needs of Different Countries Must Be Studied

Editors' Note: Sidney Garrett, president of J. Frank Brockliss, Inc., one of the largest film exporters in this country, is a recognized authority upon picture conditions in the world market.

A partner in the house of J. Frank Brockliss, Ltd., of London, and one of the principal executives of the Mundus Film Company, of Paris, Mr. Garrett, through his close affiliations abroad, and his specialized study of international problems, both political and trade, has gained a reputation for his predictions of the developments in the foreign field.

It was Mr. Garrett, who, foreseeing the priorities' rulings, urged upon American manufacturers, many months before the restrictions actually went into effect, the necessity of permitting duping of their product abroad owing to lack of space on ships.

Incidentally, Mr. Garrett's record of achievement in the foreign field reflects in no small degree his apt discernment of foreign business conditions. Beginning a little more than a year ago to build a worldwide distributing system which would eliminate the burden of the middle man, and would provide American manufacturers with a direct source of distribution, Mr. Garrett, in the short time which has elapsed, has succeeded in extending his organization to more than seventy-five per cent. of the territory of the world, and, within a short time, expects to achieve a full hundred per cent. distribution.

In this comment Mr. Garrett can outline to the manufacturers of this country the possibilities of dominating the world market if they will give this business the consideration its value justifies, and can make some interesting and novel suggestions as to how they should proceed to increase their present hold on this trade.

THE war has shown American moving picture manufacturers the possibilities of the foreign market for their product. Today they are realizing from 25 to 40 per cent. of the negative cost of their pictures from this field.

Will they develop this important avenue of revenue? Will they retain it after the war is over? Or, will they do, as they did before the war, accept it as a matter of course—or more or less "a gift from heaven," and let it slip between their fingers?

It is up to them.

If they "watch their step"—if they give it real, sincere, intelligent consideration, American film may dominate the world. The outlook for the enduring supremacy of American pictures abroad was never better nor brighter. If the running start which the producers of this country have been given by reason of the war is taken advantage of—is appreciated and recognized for what it is—America can gain such headway that it will be impossible to catch her.

Note that I say the "running start which the producers of this country have been given," for it must be admitted that, as a whole, the producers of this country have in no sense been self-starters in the foreign field. They were pushed into the heart of its reservoirs through circumstances. Prior to the war American film was not a vital factor in the world market. England, France, Italy, and even Germany, all superseded the American product in popularity and extent of distribution.

Whatever the American producer gained from the market was regarded as so much extra "velvet." If these returns were large it was put down to luck. If they weren't large no concern was expressed over the fact. It was a matter of hit or miss—"ship the stuff over and trust to God that something may come back for it." To all appearances, the foreign field was to the American producer what many people regard the lemonade and peanut stand as being to the big show.

This may have been due to the fact that London at that time was the shipping and export centre of the world, or to the fact that films were harvesting so much money in this country that the producers became calloused to profits and business opportunities.

Whatever the cause, the fact remains that just prior to and immediately after the beginning of the war it was brought home to American manufacturers that the returns they had been getting from the foreign field were not to be laughed at.

With the increase of competition in this country many of the firms awakened to find, as Barnum once did, that the little lemonade and peanut stand was the only factor which made a profit column on the ledger possible. But this discovery came too late, for while America had, unconsciously, perhaps, belittled the foreign field, London and Paris had been working like beavers to corral it.

And they had succeeded, too, until the war forced the diversion of their interests completely. The trade which they had intensively cultivated fell into the lap of America. American films, in spite of the past indifference of their sponsors, received greater distribution than ever before. Foreign peoples, who had seen comparatively few American pictures, have now come to favor them in preference to all others, because of their vim and dash, and thus it is that America today, moving picturely speaking, is "on the map" as never before.

Argentina and Brazil, for instance, which as recently as eighteen months ago were wedded to European film, now show only 10 per cent. of the pictures of the countries across the Atlantic and 90 per cent. of the American product.

The Far East territory, regarded from time immemorial as buyers of only second-hand copies of American film, and few of these, is now using five and six prints of new copies.

Australia has used 2,000,000 feet more of American film during the first seven months of this year than during the corresponding period of last year, and 4,000,000 more feet than during 1916.

Shipping restrictions at present are necessarily curtailing the complete exodus of our product that the foreign demand would make possible, but advices from abroad are of the character that indicate, even more convincingly than statistics, the extent of the market that is awaiting this product.

In the face of such promising conditions, however, I have no hesitancy in predicting that the American distribution of film abroad will be small in comparison with that of other countries after the war unless the manufacturers of the United States give the attention to this field which it deserves, and which it must receive if it is to be retained and expanded.

England and France are not going to let this trade go neglected. They know of its vast possibilities, and when the war is over they are going to be experienced and determined contenders for its principal prizes.

In justice to themselves and to the American exhibitor, who has always been forced to bear a larger percentage of the cost of a negative than is necessary if this foreign trade were properly exploited, American manufacturers should see to it now that they do not lose this valuable possession.

The process of clinching their present hold on the field is simple, albeit necessary of conscientious and earnest effort. It consists simply of giving thought to the type of story that is produced—in other words, of making the product more saleable for the man who buys it, and, incidentally, for the producer himself.

Producers, seeking to gain the most from the foreign field, should consult constantly with their export representative to make certain that their contemplated productions contain nothing that will lessen their value abroad or limit the market for them.

They should see to it that their stories are universal in appeal; that they do not offend any race or creed; that they are adaptable to the introduction of special scenes to meet special requirements.

These scenes, if this thought is borne in mind during the production of a picture, may often be taken for a nominal sum, while they will add thousands of dollars to the value of the picture.

Lastly, and what is of most importance, American manufacturers must get out of their heads that any old thing is good enough for foreign audiences. They must understand that even in countries such as India the moving picture patrons are demanding artistic, up-to-date productions. Today the people of practically every country in which pictures are shown are exacting the same grade of film that is being shown in this country.

Countries which two years ago never dreamed of sending their buyers outside of a fifty-mile limit to find film, are coming to America once or twice a year for the purpose of personally picking the pictures for their patrons.

Perhaps the factor which has been most alert to the possibilities of the foreign field is the Committee of Public Information of the United States Government. It is co-operating in a most able and efficient manner toward the enlargement of the field for American film. If producers will manifest equally as much enterprise as the Government is showing in the exploitation of American films abroad, they will not go far wrong.

Licenses and Shipping Space

By ROBERT A. FOSTER

Export and License Manager, Inter-Ocean Film Corp.

I KNOW that the words expressed in the heading of this article have given many a film exporter a headache, still, investigation of the shipping situation shows that we have reason to be optimistic rather than gloomy.

Robert A. Foster, of Inter-Ocean Film Corporation

There is little complaint that a careful investigator can make with the attention and co-operation given American film interests by the various Government Departments that have to do with the licensing situation in the U. S. Of course, the whole condition is new and lots of unnecessary routine had to be eliminated by the officials. Much credit for this eliminatory work must go to John Tuerk, of the Committee on Public Information, who has developed a system in connection with the approving of American films for export that works so simply and with such even results that I wish I had the space to describe it minutely.

Dealing with this question at the Custom House in New York is Percy M. Reynolds, who seems to tackle the most intricate export problems with real delight, in the realization, as he has expressed himself to me, that he is performing a good American task in facilitating the sending to foreign lands of films depicting genuine American life and aspirations.

Of course, the War Department also exercises supervision over American film export and this third Governmental branch that the intending exporter must deal with is in charge of E. J. Albertson, of the War Trade Board. Mr. Albertson, like his associates in this work, is a very "rushed" man, who is also distinguished by his uniform courtesy to representatives of film industry on licenses bent.

The result is, that all in all, the securing of licenses has been made a not unpleasant process; but the securing of shipping space is still a problem and source of trouble to the whole industry. It will, no doubt, surprise the average reader to know that it is even difficult to get our films into so closely related a nation as France, to which there has not been a direct American film shipment for more than a year.

Foreign officialdom now knows that many pictures can be shipped in very little space. The people of France, who love everything American, are literally crying for our films. That is just one instance. It is the hope and prayer of the film exporter that the shipping space situation will rapidly clear, eventually presenting no greater problem to the shipper than the matter of licenses does today, thanks to the systematic endeavors of our Government's representatives.

Pathe Freres Builds New Offices in Bombay

MOTION PICTURE NEWS is in receipt of a letter from Pathe Freres, 90 Esplanade Road, Bombay, India, telling of the construction by that organization of a new building in Bombay to house its local offices.

The letter follows:

"We have pleasure in enclosing a drawing of our new building which is being erected in Bombay and which will be ready shortly.

"The building will consist of three floors, the ground floor being devoted to film vaults, machine stores, projecting rooms and a despatching department. The first floor will contain the hire department, counting house and general offices. The second floor, manager's offices, and the third floor will have a studio for making Indian dramas. The area of each floor being about 625 square yards.

"The entire structure will be of stone and reinforced concrete and thoroughly fireproof. A special passenger's lift will also be provided.

"It will perhaps be of interest to you to know that our firm has been established in this country since 1907, and that we were the first to open a branch out here and were in fact the only direct importers until a couple of years ago. We have a large branch office in Calcutta, and hope to open shortly one in Rangoon (Burma). Mr. J. F. Madan, of Calcutta, who has the largest circuit in the country, takes all Pathe films and has exclusive rights of our productions in all his picture palaces.

"The picture business itself is quite prosperous in this country and is thoroughly up to date, and nothing but absolutely first-class films are needed out here, there being no room for 'junk' or so-called exclusive films.

"Thanking you in advance, we remain.

"Yours faithfully,
"P. P. Compagnie Générale,
"Etablissements Pathé Frères,
"Phonographe and Cinematographe."

Ono Tells of Our Film in Japan

UONO of the Times building, New York, and who for some time has been interested in exports of film abroad, principally Japan, has prepared a brief article for this issue which will no doubt prove of interest to all readers. It has been but a short time since Mr. Uno made a trip to Japan, and he is well qualified to speak of conditions there, and how the Japanese people receive our films in their theatres.

Mr. Uno, to a representative of Motion Picture News, said: "I made the trip to Japan just at the time of the beautiful cherry blossom season, in April of this year. And I really enjoyed the spring atmosphere, travelling nearly all over Japan. It is a long time since I left there, and Japan has been changed in the last six years. The most remarkable thing I noticed is the Japanese general atmosphere that the people, especially the younger generation, are so enthusiastic to learn the Western idea in a business way and living way also; that is, the people are more democratic than the old Japanese way. And if anybody ever travelled that country he soon notices that every place there are many English speaking persons. Once I was told by one of the English ladies who travelled Japan some time ago that Japan is far more convenient for travelling than the European continent, and I have witnessed the fact in Japan today that all high schools teach the English language.

The enterprise of the moving picture throughout Japan has however developed remarkably in the last six years. More than 400 threatres have been built in Japan and you can see in every theatre all American picture and Japanese made films. And the program is divided to half of each of these two productions, to draw both audiences: one for the Japanese who are only able to understand native pictures alone and the other for Japanese and foreigner.

I always thought to the present time that only the people in the United States are able to produce good film, and I myself never thought that the Japanese cannot produce good pictures in comparison with the American production, yet when I saw those I really took my hat off for such wonderful improvement in last few years in every way, photograph, staging, acting and the coloring, and even at the title marks. And I do not hesitate to raise their effort to come to this point.

According to the number of the population in our country, seventy per cent. of the audience is wanted to see only Japanese picture without any care for foreign made film, so that naturally we do the business mostly with Japanese made pictures, and to fill this program they are making big numbers of dramas and comedies and scenics.

Exporters' Special Section on Page 2396

Exhibitors Box Office Reports

LAST MINUTE REPORTS

The Following Individual Reports Came in as Motion Picture News Was Going to Press

"Johanna Enlists" (Pickford-Artcraft)—"It pleased, box office was pleased."

"On The Quiet" (John Barrymore-Paramount)—"Good cast, fair story, good business."

"The First Law" (Castle-Pathe)—"Good picture."

"Her Body In Bond" (Murray-Universal)—"Extra big."

"Cecilia Of The Pink Roses" (Select)—"Pretty picture but did not get business."

"The Kid Is Clever" (Fox)—"Big business but, Oh George, a few more like this and you're a dead one."

"Hearts Of The Wild" (Ferguson-Paramount)—"Education Film should have bought it for a scenic. Throwing away this star's talent."

"Ghost of Rosy Taylor" (Minter-Mutual)—"Minter well liked, second night better."

"Mr. Logan, U. S. A." (Mix-Fox)—"Very good picture, extra big business."

"Street Of The Seven Stars" (Sherry-Parex)—"More expressions of admiration from patrons than any picture for months."

Editor's Note: The Box Office Report chart includes all pictures released since July 1 on which a sufficient number of exhibitor reports have been received to base a verdict. In the column "Average of Exhibitors' Reports" the term "Extra Big" indicates a picture which far surpassed expectation; "Big" means a picture doing better than the usual business for that day under average conditions; "Average" is the grading given the production on which business held up to normal; "Poor" indicates the picture falling below normal in box office and entertainment value.

The comments given are no indication of the number of reports received, as many exhibitors merely check off the grading without comment.

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
ALL MEN (Morey—Vitagraph)....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Good picture." "Fair."
ANNEXING BILL (Astra—Pathe)....July	Poor	"Not bad; rather tame; got by, that's all." All out door; rather thin story, but well produced." "Good picture." "Picture only fair; poor ending." "Mabel don't draw." "Average."
BACK TO THE WOODS (Normand—Goldwyn)...July	Average
BEHIND THE LINES IN ITALY (Kleine—Perfection) Sept.	Average	"On second and last week; picture good educational, attracting big percentage of Italians.
BELOVED BLACKMAILERS, THE (Blackwell—World) Aug.	Average	"Average story and average business." "Good."
BERLIN VIA AMERICA (Fordart—State Rights).....	Average	"Fair picture; good money maker; three days to big business."
BEYOND THE SHADOWS (Desmond—Triangle)..July	Average	"Average picture."
BIRD OF PREY, THE (Brockwell—Fox).....Aug	Big	"Extra big." "Good show." "Brockwell's all right, but Oh that American stuff." "Good but people don't want Mexican stuff." "Blood and thunder; pleased here." "Just a big melodrama."
BOUND IN MOROCCO (Fairbanks—Artcraft)....Aug.	Average	Big drawing card but not altogether pleasing on account of weakness of plot. Only 'Doug could get away with it." "My patrons expected more than they received." "Doug. is story, cast and all." "Extra big." "Big to start, average on week." "Full of pep; no story; took well. Few didn't like it; good business." "Fair."
BONNIE ANNIE LAURIE (Hyland—Fox).....Sept.	Average	"Did not please."
BOSTON BLACKIE'S LITTLE PAL (Lytell—Metro) Aug.	Big	"Average picture to average business." "Picture good; star not known yet." "A dandy picture; Lytell coming to the front; it's pleasing; Joey Jacobs classy." "Bert Lytell is well liked for a new star." "Good story, direction poor, star well liked." "Big."
BREAD (MacLaren—Universal).....Aug.	Big	"Went very big." "It was well advertised and brought good patronage money and satisfaction; the title put it over."
BURGLAR FOR A NIGHT (Kerrigan—Paralta)...Aug.	Big	"A good picture with lots of class." "A dandy picture; they like him dressed up; went big all four days."
CITY OF DIM FACES, THE (Hayakawa—Para.)..July	Big	"Very good business." "Business above average." "One of the Jap's best." "One of Jap's best pictures; average business." "Best yet." "Good picture." "Fair."
CLAWS OF THE HUN, THE (Ray—Paramount).July	Extra Big	"Fine, went over big." "Very fine production." "Big opening two days. Dropped slightly." "Big. Very strong." "Excellent. Very good picture; good acting; brought them back." "Star liked; play liked." "Big for week." "Biggest thing he ever made." "Very good."
CRUISE OF THE MAKE-BELIEVES, THE (Lee—Paramount).....Sept.	Average	"A new Paramount star that registered fairly well for first picture." "Fair picture." "Fair." "Lila Lee made a good impression."
DANGER MARK, THE (Ferguson—Artcraft).....July	Average	"Very good." "Not the kind of picture that has drawing power." "Poor business for three days." "Star does not draw." "Great acting; story slightly muddled." "Ferguson" best." "One of Miss Ferguson's best pictures; patrons well pleased." "Average for week." "Star big favorite." "Good." "Good picture." "Very good." "Average."
DEATH DANCE, THE (Brady—Select).....Aug.	Average	"Not considered Brady's best, but very good." "Good."
DECIDING KISS, THE (Roberts—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Just ordinary." "Ordinary program picture; no star."
DEMON, THE (Storey—Metro).....July	Average	"Did not draw; Storey fails as a star." "Poor vehicle for Edith Storey."
DOING THEIR BIT (Lee Children—Fox).....Aug.	Average	"Lees good, picture poor." "Average picture." "Went big." "Average." "Good picture, did not draw." "Splendid, but mighty poor for box office value."
DREAM LADY, THE (Myers—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Average picture." "Fair." "Good." "Average program picture." "Great."
EMPTY CAB, THE (Percy—Bluebird).....July	Average	"Average picture."
FALLEN ANGEL, THE (Pearson—Fox).....July	Average	"Good society drama." "Fair, have seen better." "Just Fox; that's not much to brag about." "A sex play; star does not draw." "Average."
FEDORA (Fredericks—Paramount)..... Aug.	Average	"Rotten picture." "A good picture, but the title kept people away." "Average." "Big." "Good." "Big." "Fair." "Good."
FIRST LAW, THE (Castle—Pathe).....July	Average	"Average Castle picture." "Big to average."

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
FLOWER OF THE DUSK (Dana—Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Give us more pictures like this; pleasing, well handled." "Viola Dana is fine, but the pictures they pur her in are holding her back." "Well acted, but too morbid." "Big, extra big, and average respectively in three day run," Not her best."
FOR HUSBANDS ONLY (Jewel).....Aug.	Big	"Exceptionally good."
FRIEND HUSBAND (Kennedy—Goldwyn).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Big." "Good light picture." "Fine picture." "Big." "Average." "This star is a big failure for us; picture good." "Did not draw at all, picture liked." "Average."
GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT, A (Shipman-Vitagraph).....July	Average	"Good picture; no drawing card."
GHOST OF ROSY TAYLOR, THE (Minter—Mutual) July	Big	"A good bet." "Big." "Ordinary picture, but pleasing." "Pleased nicely." "Good." "Average." "Big." "Star better liked each picture."
GHOST OF THE RANCHO, THE (Washburn—Pathe) Aug.	Average	"Good film, but poor crowd." "Fair show." "Very good."
GIRL WHO CAME BACK, THE (Clayton—Paramount) Sept.	Average	"Pleasing; a few weak spots." "Fair picture."
GLORIOUS ADVENTURE (Marsh—Goldwyn)....July	Big	"Audience well pleased." "One week to average and big business." "Audience well pleased." "Not much—story improbable; acting and settings pull it through." "Good picture; drew fair for hot weather." "A pleasing picture, but no drawing power for me." "One of Mae Marsh's best. Drew well in extremely hot weather." "Pleasing picture." "Average." "Average." "Marsh's poorest picture, did not please." "Star doesn't draw." "Very fine." "Good program picture, but can't seem to interest them in Mae Marsh."
GOLDEN FLEECE (Triangle).....July	Average	"Good entertainment; no drawing power."
GOLDEN WALL, THE (Blackwell—World) .....July	Average	"Good picture.
GREEN EYES (Dalton—Paramount).....Aug.	Big	"A very fine picture." "Average." "Not liked very much." "Great settings; interesting story; there on the first night advertised." "Good picture, big business."
GREAT LOVE, THE (Griffith—Paramount).....Aug.	Extra Big	"Great picture, a little slow at the start." "Great picture." "A 100% picture; timely, well balanced, splendid cast, great all around." "Extra big." "Regular riot, pleased all." "Extra big." "Not a Birth of a Nation by any means; drags slow until last reel or two." "Big business to average." "Many said better than Hearts of the World and not so sad." "Pleased every patron." "Second week extra big; pleased all patrons." "Hit my people harder than Hearts of the World because it is not too bloody and carries no German rape scenes." "Very strong feature." "Great picture does not cover it, it is the greatest picture we have run."
HEARTS OF THE WILD (Ferguson—Paramount) .Sept.	Big	"Picture and business big." "This story did not fit the star." "Average picture."
HEARTS OF THE WORLD (D. W. Griffith Special)....	Extra Big	"Now in its fourteenth week." "Greatest picture of all times." "Good picture, but only fair business. We make more real cash on our regular programs." "Best picture ever made." "Wonderful, did capacity business two days, could have stayed week."
HE COMES UP SMILING (Fairbanks—Artcraft)..Sept.	Big	"Best Fairbanks, extra big for three days."
HELL BENT (Carey—Universal Special).....July	Average	"Good lively Western play. This star should be pushed ahead."
HELL'S END (Desmond—Triangle).....July	Poor	"Poor picture.'
HER BODY IN BOND (Murray—Universal).....July	Extra Big	"Hot weather, but picture went big."
HEREDITY (Castleton—World).....Aug	Average	"Very good picture, but weather against it." "Poor." "Well liked."
HER HUSBAND'S HONOR (Goodrich—Mutual)..Aug.	Average	"Poor business two days."
HER ONLY WAY (Norma Talmadge—Select).....Aug	Extra Big	"Big City, High Class." "Miss Talmadge as usual pleased all." "A very good picture. You can always bank on Norma." "Extra good." "Good." "Extra big, star losing her beauty." "Average." "Big."
HER PRICE (Pearson—Fox).....July	Big	"Went big here for six days." "Had nice returns from this one." "Sex type; failed to draw. Dark picture all through." "Average." "Ordinary picture." "A very creditable picture." Good."
HIS BIRTHRIGHT (Hayakawa—Mutual).....Sept.	Big	"Went over with a bang, but not much picture." "One of his best; well directed; superbly acted." "Standing out in rain for second show; star well liked." "Average to big."
HOUSE OF MIRTH, THE (Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Very good, patrons well pleased." "A good picture, but title has no drawing power." "Fair picture." "Above average."
HUN WITHIN, THE (Paramount Special).....Sept.	Big	"A great picture." "Splendid big 100% production."
INSIDE THE LINES (Stone—World).....Aug.	Big	"Dandy war picture on a new theme. Star fine, but not known here. Business average for two days with slight decrease the third day." "An exceptionally good picture." "Great picture." "Very fine story, continuity great, did big business despite lack of well known stars; interesting every bit of six reels; not enough pictures like this."
IN PURSUIT OF POLLY (Billie Burke—Para.)...Aug.	Average	'Hit everybody hard, a corking good comedy." "A very weak picture; it took two reels, to tell the people that there was going to be a race." "Picture went over fairly well." "Best Burke picture yet." "Very pleasing comedy drama; average business three days." "Average." "Billie not as big a drawing card as she was."
IN JUDGMENT OF (Nilsson—Metro).....Aug.	Average	"Very good picture and star well liked here, but business only average." "Average picture.
		"An excellent production; well liked." "Fair picture." "Good." "A very good picture, holds interest throughout." "Average." "Good program picture." "A dandy picture; fine story." "Average."
ITALY'S FLAMING FRONT (First National).....	Big	"Went big solid week." "Splendid picture, went big at raised prices and pleased." "Photography fine considering conditions under which taken."
JOAN OF THE WOODS (Elvidge—World).....July	Average
JOHANNA ENLISTS (Pickford—Artcraft).....Sept.	Big	"Gee! but this picture took my patrons like Uncle Sam is going to take Berlin and the Kaiser: some picture and some Mary."
JUST FOR TONIGHT (Moore—Goldwyn).....Sept.	Average	"Very fair picture, star still to be made."
KAISER'S SHADOW, THE (Dalton—Paramount)..July	Average	"Poor title, but good business for two days."
KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN (Jewel).....	xtra Big	"The best drawing card." "Big."
LAWLESS LOVE (Carmen—Fox).....Aug.	Average	"Average picture." "Good." "Pleased, but too melodramatic and impossible." "A good picture of its type; satisfied all patrons."
LESS THAN KIN (Reid—Paramount).....July	Big	"Very good." "Extra big." "Big to average." "Good." "Average."
LIAR, THE (Pearson—Fox).....Aug.	Average	"Entire week; big to poor." "Very good." "Average." "Not a desirable film, and one that didn't help the star; business fair." "Average."
LOVE SWINDLE, THE (Roberts—Bluebird).....Aug.	Average	"Big." "Average." "Average Bluebird." "A dandy."
LOVE'S LAW (Gail Kane—Mutual).....Sept.	Average	"Fair picture; good bits throughout picture. Miss Kane liked here; slowed up on third day."
MAID OF THE STORM (Barriscale—Paralta).....July	Average	"Poor business." "Good; pleased them all.
MARRIAGE RING, THE (Bennett—Paramount)..Aug.	Average	"Not Enid Bennett's best." "Good." "Splendid production." "A good story, drama pleased."
MERELY PLAYERS (Gordon—World).....Aug.	Big	"Good business for four days. The public likes Gordon, no matter what the exhibitor may think." "Excellent picture; good business for hot weather." "Big."
MISS INNOCENCE (Caprice—Fox).....July	Average	"June Caprice gets no business." "Average." "Fair story." "Fox only average here." "Splendid production; June Caprice's best vehicle since 'Miss U. S. A.'" "Fair."
MONEY MAD (Marsh—Goldwyn).....Aug.	Average	"Fair picture." "Good pleasing picture." "Big."
MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY (First National)..	Extra Big	"Best feature of the year. Crowded houses at 105 in the shade. Applause nearly raised roof. My opinion a 100% picture." "Big business to advanced prices." "Best picture of war by far." "Repeated back for ten days after running week in 2,000 seat house in 4,500 population." "Big." "Extra big; return engagement."
MY OWN UNITED STATES (Daly—Metro).....	Average	"Fine picture." "Very good." "This picture pleased everyone." "Poor business for a week." "A very good picture; we played to average business." "One of the best patriotic screen stories going and fine star but not known here, and public would like to write 'Finis' to all propaganda stuff; sick of it; business poor for a big picture like this." "Well liked, crowd a little off."
NEIGHBORS (Evans—World).....July	Average
NINE O'CLOCK TOWN A (Ray—Paramount)....Aug.	Average	"Ray could have scored heavier in a more suitable role." "Weak story, but went over on account of Ray's popularity." "Average Ray picture." "Not up to recent Ray standard." "Big."
NO MAN'S LAND (Lyttel—Metro).....July	Big	"Very good." "Average." "Big." "Fair."
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS (Earle—Vitagraph) .July	Average	"Not drawing card for Saturday."
OPPORTUNITY (Dana—Metro).....July	Average	"Average picture." "Star well liked; poor picture." "Big. Good clever comedy." "Good program picture." "The kind that makes you forget your troubles." "Very good." "Star liked; picture good." "Big." "Average." "Average picture." "Star liked best in this kind." "Poor picture; Metro pictures are getting poorer and poorer."

TITLE, STAR, AND BRAND	AVERAGE OF EXHIBITORS' REPORTS	EXHIBITORS' OWN COMMENTS
OTHER MEN'S DAUGHTERS (Hyland—Fox)....July	Average	"We did an average business for a whole week." "A good picture." "Very good program offering." "Not a very wholesome story." "Fair picture; absolutely no draw whatever."
OUR MRS. McCHESNEY (Ethel Barrymore—Metro) Sept.	Big	"Went big for two day run."
OVER THE TOP (Empey—Vitagraph)	Extra Big	"Big business for one solid week." "A great picture." "Well liked; good business." "Extra big." "A wonderful picture; pleased immensely; capacity crowds." "Poor, but pleased. Print bad condition." "Second day better than first; a top notcher." "Extra big." "One of biggest hits we ever had." "Second run average business."
PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS (Norma Talmadge—Select).....	Big	"Star becoming more popular with each release." 'Big."
PAIR OF CUPIDS, A (Bushman-Bayne—Metro)...July	Average	"Picture went over fairly good." "Excellent comedy drama." "Best picture these Cupid killers have ever done." "Handled cleverly." "Why the producers continue making comedies I can't see. The public don't want them." "Best Bushman-Bayne in some time."
PERSHING'S CRUSADERS (Com. Pub. Inf —First National).....	Extra Big	"Average. Three days." "Suggestive of animated weeklies. Patrons said, 'Not enough action and romantic interest for a long feature." "Wonderful show." "Big" "Pleased." "Did not draw." "Broke all house records." "Standing room only at advanced prices." "Extra big for week." "The biggest card of all." "Extra big two weeks." "Some liked it and others did not. Not a good picture of its kind." "All old stuff like news reels." "A picture every one should see."
POWER AND THE GLORY, THE (Elvidge—World) Sept.	Average	"Just an average picture; pleasing."
PRUSSIAN CUR, THE (Fox).....Sept	Extra Big	"Admission increased from twenty-five to fifty cents; turned them away afternoons and evenings." "Only fair propaganda picture. Party playing Kaiser and party playing Wilson very rotten. Worst character for Kaiser ever seen."
RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE (Farnum—Fox).Sept.	Extra Big	"One of Farnum's best." "Extra big four days." "Great, extra big for four days. Going to have a return engagement."
RIDDLE GAWNE (Hart—Artcraft).....Aug.	Big	"Average picture" "Hokum De Luxe.' "A regular Hart picture, but poor; Hart is going. I think he is gone." "One of Hart's best." "Made many new Hart fans." "Hart is played out here." "One of Bill's best." "Big." "Average." "Average business." "Best Hart in long time." "Best Hart picture." "Much liked."
SAFETY CURTAIN, THE (Norma Talmadge—Select) July	Big	"A great picture." "Good production—kept business to average in exceptionally hot weather." "Average Norma picture; her's are always good." "Good; star is extremely popular." "Norma is as popular as ever." "Fine show." "Fine picture; good business two days." "Big three days, average four days." "Very pleasing."
SANDY (Jack Pickford—Para.).....July	Average	"Good." "Fair program offering; average business two days." "Fair picture." "Dandy picture." "Fair only; not Jack's best by any means." Satisfied everybody." "Good story." "Too bad Jack leaves us." "Fair." "Big." "Went big." "Big." "Jack Pickford well liked in this." "Only a fair day."
SAVAGE WOMAN, THE (C. K. Young—Select)...Aug	Poor	"Went poor" "Too improbable a story." "First day fair, second day poor; not the kind of picture for star." "C. K. Y.'s most pretentious Select subject, but story is not very well suited to pictures. C. K. Y. did not look a bit 'savage.' Business good, but——." "Poor." "Pleased."
SHIFTING SANDS (Swanson—Triangle).....Aug.	Average	"Big business."
SILENT WOMAN, THE (Storey—Metro).....Sept.	Average	"Good picture, poor business." "Average."
SOURCE, THE (Reid—Paramount).....Sept.	Average	"Fine picture." "Picture was poor; star well liked." "Star's makeup was poor, but picture well liked." "Great." "This deserved better patronage."
SUCCESSFUL ADVENTURE, A (Allison—Metro) July	Big	"A real good Southern picture is good for a change." "Good." "Good picture, but weather too hot." "Excellent." "Not a good drawing card. Picture well liked." "Fair."
STILL ALARM, THE (Pioneer—Star Rights) .. July	Big	"Went extra big solid week amid hottest weather in history of city."
TANGLED LIVES (Morey, Blythe—Vitagraph)....July	Average	"Good picture."
TARZAN OF THE APES (First National	Extra Big	'At advance prices extra big." "Made big bit." "Extra big one week." "Extra big. Interesting picture but bad finish." "Fine picture, but extra business did not materialize." "Great picture, out of the ordinary." "Big drawing card." "Elegant." "Two days to big business with thermometer above 100 mark." "Extra big." "Drew fine for five days. Public wants this kind of picture. It's different." "Extra big for three days." "Causing comment and interest or curiosity to see." "Big."
TILL I COME BACK TO YOU (De Milles--Artcraft) Aug.	Extra Big	'A great picture and one of De Mille's best." "This is a story that was liked by all." "Hits kids, women and men alike. Clean and thrilling. We mopped up with this picture." "Very good." "Best picture director ever made; class this as a super-production." "Great."
TINSEL (Gordon—World) ..... July	Average	Poor title did average business for two days." "Four days. Many good comments." "One of the best Worlds" "Average." "Average seven days."
TO HELL WITH THE KAISER (Screen Classics,.	Extra Big	"Broke house records Capacity three nights." "Best thing yet; three days run; record breakers." "Good patriotic picture with wonderful pulling powers." "Great thriller." "Two days to capacity; very fine." "Good drawing card." "Has Beast of Berlin skinned to a frazzle." "Return date; went big." "Opened up big, but fell down awful."
TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER (Joyce—Vitagraph) July	Average	"Fair picture, and star one of the best going with her flowerlike face and womanly appeal; but for the love of Mike, what's wrong with the pictures they give her. Business rotten." "Poor picture." "Good show and good acting." "Poor picture, took off second day." "Good."
T'OTHER DEAR CHARMER (Louise Huff—World) Sept.	Average	"Very good picture. New star for our house."
TURN OF THE WHEEL (Farrar—Goldwyn).....Sept.	Big	"Held out very well for long run." "Excellent picture; should go big." "A splendid production of a commpnplace story." "Picture did not draw here." "Well acted play, went well with big houses."
UNBELIEVER, THE (Kleine—Edison).....	Extra	'Returned for a week and went big." "Greatest patriotic picture ever." "Very good." "Five week knockout." "Great picture. Gave best of satisfaction." "This picture properly put over makes a big hit, and pulls them in." "Wonderful picture; pleased immensely—capacity houses." "Great." "Extraordinary picture, went big, a winner."
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN (Clark—Paramount).....July	Average	"Just a fair kid's picture; pulled off pronto." "Good for matinees—poor for night. Good picture of its kind." "Average for me." "With aid of colored singers in lobby managed to put this over. Personally thought it awful." "Average." "Big." "Took great; stood them up; star liked." "Average." "Didn't draw." "The best Clark picture in many months." "Poor." "Nice picture; Clark good." "Fair." "Hackneyed production very dull."
VAMP, THE (Bennett—Paramount).....July	Average	"Fine picture, but name against it." "Very interesting picture; good star." "Good" "Clever little picture."
VIGILANTES, THE (Bear State Film Co.).....Aug.	Big	"Starting second big week's showing."
VIVE LA FRANCE (Dalton—Paramount).....Sept.	Average	"This is a dandy picture and pleased them all."
WAIFS (Astra—Pathe).....Aug.	Average	"Clean, comedy drama."
WE CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING (DeMille—Artcraft).....July	Average	"All star cast; great play; not satisfactory; too intricate for all to absorb it; too jumbled up." "Excellent." "From big to average in week's run." "Average picture."
WEDLOCK (Glaum—Paralta).....July	Poor	"Poor picture."
WILD PRIMROSE (Leslie—Vitagraph).....Aug.	Average	"Picture went big; good picture." "Average."
WINNER TAKES ALL (Salisbury—Bluebird).....July	Big	"Went big; Salisbury good card." "Picture pleased." "Better than average Bluebird; Salisbury coming along good.'
WOMAN'S FOOL, A (Carey—Universal Special)...Aug.	Big	"Big to average." "Extra big." "Good story, but poorly produced. Not enough action."

Exhibitor Service Bureau

Unbrotherly in Philadelphia

Chart Plan Shows One Slight Evidence of Cooperation, but Motion Pictures Get Slight Attention

THERE'S not much brotherely love evidenced in the co-operation of Philadelphia newspapers and motion picture theatres. The combination there of syndicate ownership and age on the part of the newspapers has not resulted in the recognition of the photoplay that one would hope to find in a city where there are 188 motion picture houses.

Of course of the things that is the matter is that Philadelphia is the third city of the country in population and the largest cities are generally poor so far as giving the motion picture a square deal. The other thing that is the matter is that the Philadelphia newspapers are on a purely commercial basis. Evidently the most of the newspapers don't look upon motion picture matter as anything in which the public is interested, and when such a viewpoint is taken there is little hope.

One is struck by the amount of matter that the Philadelphia papers give to matter concerning women and to the children's pages. Some years ago when the writer was the general working boss on a daily in a smaller city and accumulated the most of the general matter with scissors, he always went through the Philadelphia papers when he wanted matter to fill in the "society" column or get out the Sunday woman's page, and he did about the same thing when he wanted juvenile stuff.

But we wonder whether the same newspaper editors who would figuratively throw a fit if you suggested limiting this matter ever thought that most of these women and practically all of the children are deeply interested in motion picture matter and that the paper which prints the news of the photoplay and which carries the advertising of a large number of the theatres is regarded as a necessity in the home. How many copies of certain Sunday papers do you suppose are sold purely for the reason that the children like those particular comic supplements and because they persuade their fathers to buy that paper?

As a matter of fact a newspaper may start a circulation and double its circulation, but if it fails to hold that circulation it loses money. Circulation pays because it is a basis of advertising. The advertiser does not care to fool with the paper that has a circulation jumping around like a Mexican bean. The big advertisers make contracts to cover a considerable time for a large amount of advertising; they want an assured, normal circulation. And that is the main reason for the woman's page, for the serial story and for most of the other so-called features of newspapers—they are maintained as circulation holders.

Now we cannot imagine anything that would hold circulation better than matter that will interest the women and the children of the household as well as many of the men. And we cannot imagine better value to the advertiser than circulation that goes into the home and stays in the home. The average advertiser doesn't care much about the papers that are bought on the street, glanced over at lunch and then thrown away, as is the case in considerable afternoon circulation of the average paper. And neither does the advertiser care much for the circulation of the morning paper that goes to the men who simply read it on their way to work and then chuck it in the ashcan. But they do want circulation in the afternoon paper that is delivered to the home or that the man of the house TAKES home—and he is going to take it if the women and the children in his household clamor for it. And the same applies to the morning circulation that STAYS at home.

Therefore we believe that the regular use of real motion picture matter in newspapers is not only a circulation asset to the newspaper, but that it is a general asset to the regular advertiser. One of the excuses for the "amusement rate" is that it is not fair to the general advertiser to grant the theatres the same rate and then to print reading matter about it. The newspaper that takes that point of view will often admit that the photoplay matter is of real interest and that he does not consider it pure advertising, but that he must be "fair" to the general advertisers.

Now which do you think is the fairer? To publish the sort of a newspaper that will be really read by every member of the family? Or the sort that will be read for a few moments at the baseball park or in the bar-room or at the prize fight and then thrown away?

Don't you think that the general advertiser would rather see the motion picture houses getting the regular commercial rate and then news matter on the side if they knew that this matter was resulting in the newspaper, and consequently their own advertising being read by more people—and by people in the purchasing class?

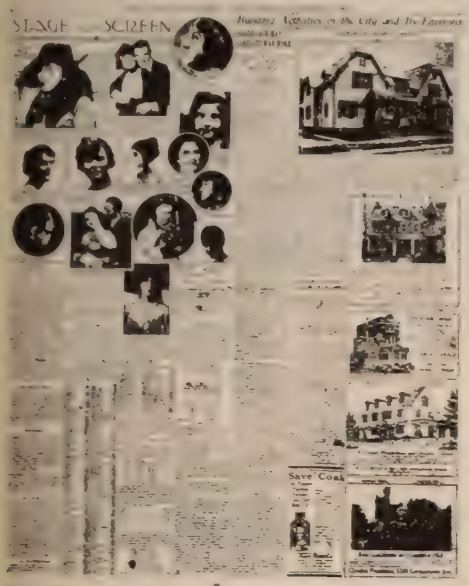
There can be but one answer to that, and we have always failed to see why any newspaper can fail to get that argument—except for custom. It began to be the fashion in the early days of amusements to give the theatres reading matter and they came to be looked upon as a more or less legitimate grounds for hold-up and consequently the rate went up. If the newspaper is really co-operating with the motion picture houses the fair thing to do would be to charge the houses that get reading notices certain times a week the amusement rate up to a certain amount of advertising and then the commercial rate for further advertising. The result of that would be to encourage business instead of to handicap it.

Now this comment is drawn forth by one fact that we find in the Philadelphia system, and that is that the Public Ledger and the Evening Ledger, the only papers to use the chart system charge the theatres fifteen cents a line for representation in that chart. And if we are not wrong the chart system originated in Philadelphia.

It seems to us that the theory of the chart is that it is a great convenience to the public. We would say that the great majority of the people in any city would buy the paper that once a week gave the attractions for each day at all the houses. Of course that is merely ideal, for no one would expect the newspapers to print this matter for theatres that refused to advertise—and there will always be some who cannot see value of advertising—but comparatively few besides the Stanley houses take advantage of it.

Even in the insistence that we make that advertising pays we realize that there are many of the neighborhood theatres that cannot afford to spend big amounts for advertising. Their appeal is to a certain extent limited and we believe that the fair thing for the newspaper is to grant them a low rate, as near the commercial as possible, for representation in this chart.

Lord and Thomas newspaper directory gives the circulation of the Philadelphia papers as follows:



Bulletin—Afternoon, 363,115.
Inquirer—Morning 156,612; Sunday, 310,966.
North American—Morning, 137,015; Sunday, 187,156.
Press—Morning, 35,470; Sunday, 102,100.
Public Ledger—Morning, 96,593; Sunday, 152,069.
Evening Ledger—98,418.
Record—Morning, 122,504; Sunday, 127,512.
Star—Evening (circulation not given, but small).

There are 159 theatres in Philadelphia proper and twenty-nine in the outskirts of the city. There are ten downtown houses and 178 neighborhood houses, and a total of twenty first-run theatres. There are ninety of these houses in the Stanley syndicate, the largest of which are the Stanley, Palace, Arcadia, Victoria, Regent, Great Northern and Imperial. The United Exhibitors' Association has fifteen houses, including the Locust, Strand, Belmont,

(Continued on page 2362)

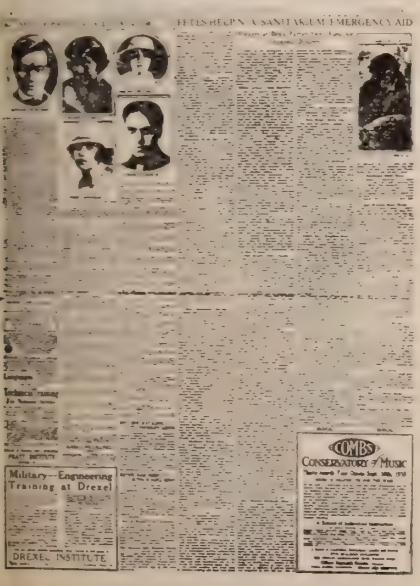
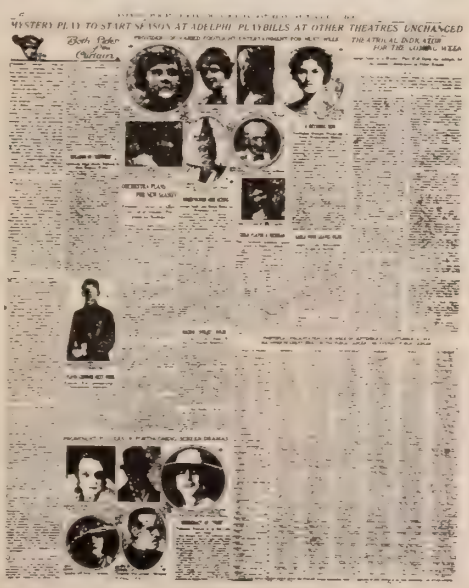
Philadelphia Newspapers Give the Photoplay Little Show

At the top are three pages from the Sunday Ledger, then a page from the Saturday Bulletin, one from the Sunday Inquirer and at right from the Press. The lower row shows at the left a page from the Sunday North American, the Tuesday page of the same paper and the Saturday Evening Ledger.





Vitagraph Issues Large Campaign Book on "The Iron Test"

FORTY-EIGHT pages, 9 by 12, are devoted by Vitagraph to a complete plan book on "The Iron Test," the new serial in which Antonio Moreno and Carol Holloway are starred. The book assembles in one volume a mass of matter that the exhibitors will use in putting over the picture and offers a complete campaign.

Vitagraph first talks to the exhibitor about the way to handle the serial and advises him to know it first. That is good advice because no one can exploit a single-reel picture, much the less fifteen episodes of two reels each unless he himself first knows what he is talking about. Then follows a page giving a few ideas of what exhibitors have actually done with other Vitagraph serials.

There is a series of four, two and single-column advertisements which may be used in advance of the first episode or any time during its showing. These are in line drawing, portraying some striking action and then a very small amount of reading matter, with a space left for the name of the theatre. It is suggested to the exhibitor that he can use the cuts which illustrate the specimens in preparing his own, and different advertisements to suit his purposes.

Vitagraph itself is conducting a bill posting campaign through the country with striking 24-sheets and in addition offers to furnish free as many of these as the exhibitor himself will post. There is a one-sheet, three-sheet and six-sheet on each of the fifteen episodes. Lobby displays and scene cuts on each episode are also offered and there are double column, single and thumb nail cuts of Moreno and Miss Holloway for use either in the advertising or in newspaper stories.

Additional aides include a banner, ten feet long by three feet, a slide and two matrices for the herald, on one of which the name of the theatre may be filled in and the other giving room for the brief synopsis of the various episodes. The story has also been novelized for newspaper use and the exhibitors are urged to get their newspapers to print this through a co-operative plan. There is also a set of press notices on each episode.

In short, except for the original things planned by the exhibitor himself, he will find a full set of material here, conveniently listed.

Twenty-four sheet with which Vitagraph is making a national campaign on its latest serial

Theatre Arranges Its Own Liberty Loan Parade

With Oregon conducting its Fourth Liberty Loan Drive ahead of the nation, Carl Marquard, the hustling manager of the Globe theatre, Portland, opened his screening of the Geraldine Farrar spectacle, "Joan the Woman," with a Liberty Loan parade that attracted much attention and resulted in capacity houses for his theatre.

At 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon the parade wended its way through the streets of Portland, the musicians' band in the van. One hundred and fifty members of the Junior Marine Corps marched; the theatre ushers, garbed in fleur de lis costumes, paraded in an automobile, and a huge float followed.

The float was constructed with a high embankment in the center, with a figure of Joan of Arc on top. On one side of the bank were three marines, with bayonets labelled to represent the First, Second and Third Liberty Loans. On the other side were two marines and Uncle Sam, with the latter handing the soldiers rifles bearing the label "Fourth Liberty Loan" and giving instructions for them to go "over the top."

At the theatre a patriotic stage tableau was presented afternoon and evening, Miss Lucille Traglio, ingenue of the Alcazar stock company, appearing as Joan of Arc. A color bearer and two sergeants of marines conducted a bayonet charge drill, with Joan, the spirit of France, furnishing inspiration for their efforts.

Theatre Circuit to Spend $35,000 in Paper

In one mail come two items that are mighty closely connected.

First of these is that Jensen and Von Herberg, who operate the Coliseum, Liberty, Strand and Mission theatres in Seattle, Wash., have just signed a contract with the Seattle Times by which they agree to use $35,000 worth of space in that newspaper during the next year.

A second announcement is that the Seattle Post-Intelligencer has just launched a special photoplay department. Heretofore the motion picture matter has been carried in the regular theatrical columns, having been made secondary. For some time the Times has been featuring the motion picture and has been devoting not less than four pages each Sunday to this. Incidentally the Times has been carrying the bulk of the photoplay advertising.

ADVISORY BOARD, EXHIBITORS SERVICE BUREAU

Samuel L. Rothapfel, Rialto and Rivoli theatres, New York.
Thomas D. Soriero, Park theatre, Boston, and Strand theatres, Lowell.
Harold B. Franklin, Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo.
Edw. L. Hyman, Film Director, U. S. Liberty Theatres, New York.
E. Mandlebaum, Loew's Stillman theatre, Cleveland.
Mrs. Joseph Grossman, Standard theatre, Cleveland.
George J. Schade, Schade theatre, Sandusky.
H. C. Horater, Alhambra theatre, Toledo.
S. Barret McCormick, Circle theatre, Indianapolis.
Theo. L. Hays, New Garrick theatre, St. Paul.
M. W. McGee, Majestic theatre, Detroit.
Chas. G. Branham, Strand theatre, Minneapolis.
Leo A. Landau, Butterfly theatre, Milwaukee.
Charles C. Perry, Liberty theatre, Camp Cody, Texas.
W. S. McLaren, Majestic and Colonial Theatres, Jackson, Mich.
Miss Flossie A. Jones, Waukesha Amusement Co., Waukesha, Wis.
Willard C. Patterson, Criterion theatre, Atlanta, Ga.
E. V. Richards, Jr., General Manager, Saenger Amusement Co., New Orleans.
Ernst Boehringer, Liberty theatre, New Orleans.
C. A. Lick, New theatre, Fort Smith, Ark.
F. L. Newman, Royal and Regent theatres, Kansas City, Mo.
H. M. Thomas, Strand theatre, Omaha.
Ralph Ruffner, Rialto theatre, Butte.
A. H. Hilton, Paramount Theatre, Lewiston, Idaho.
George E. Carpenter, Paramount-Empress theatre, Salt Lake.
Sam W. B. Cohn, Liberty theatre, Spokane.
G. F. Fullerton, Advertising Manager, Greater Theatres Co., Seattle.
E. J. Myrick, Liberty theatre, Portland, Ore.
A. S. Kolstad, Liberty theatre, Hood River, Ore.
P. E. Noble, Publicity Manager, Liberty and Columbia theatres, Seattle.
Eugene H. Roth, California theatre, San Francisco.
J. A. Partington, Imperial theatre, San Francisco.
Sidney Grauman, Grauman's theatre, Los Angeles.

New Orleans Papers Cause Public Appeal

MOTION PICTURE NEWS belongs to the people and the people have a right to expect the newspaper to print this matter as well as any other news matter. It has been a hard fight in some cities to convince the newspaper owners of this, and instead of making an attempt to show the public interest the exhibitors, in most instances, have been content to take things as they come and let them go at that.

In the articles on co-operation between the newspapers and theatre owners that have appeared in these pages from time to time we have always placed great emphasis on public interest. We have gone so far as to say to you that the newspaper owes it as a duty to supply the motion picture news to the public and that the paper that fails to satisfy the demands of this immense element is not a real newspaper.

And if these premises are true the proper forum before which the theatres of any community should try their case is the public. Of course you are not going to get the thousands that are interested in motion picture matter to write letters of protest to the papers, but you certainly are going to bring your theatre closer to the public.

AENGER AMUSEMENT COMPANY, New Orleans, owning the splendid Strand theatre in that city and controlling some fifty others in four states in the New Orleans territory, has just supplied an example of the way to do this. There are three daily newspapers in that city and they have a very close organization known as the New Orleans Newspaper Publishers Association. About the first of September it sends out a notice to all of the advertising theatres that there will be no daily motion picture matter carried and that the notices will be confined to the Sunday issue.

The reason for this given is that the War Industries Board has given notice of conserving white paper. This is true. But the Government has simply said to save white paper, and it is not attempting to say what may be printed on that paper. Naturally the War Industries Board expects that the newspapers will use the limited amount of white space to the matter that will interest the greater portion of the public and to print MATTER THAT WILL HELP WIN THE WAR.

NEW ORLEANS newspapers were at one time liberal with motion picture matter. All of the recent copies of those papers that we have seen have shown that they are still liberal to sporting matter.

The Government has declared that baseball is non-essential, and it has been adjourned until after the war. The Southern League, of which New Orleans was a member, "adjourned for the war" in mid-summer.

There is practically no football.

Instead of prize fighting the American people are expecting those gentlemen who are fistically inclined to use their prowess on the Germans.

Certainly horse racing and the drove of bookmakers who invade the city with each racing system and who do not violate the law because they take "individual wagers" isn't supposed to help very much toward the sale of Liberty Bonds.

Every official of the Government from the President down is on record as to the part that the motion picture is playing.

There are non-essentials. There are non-essentials in "news" as well as anything else.

WHEN the notice of this order from the New Orleans Newspaper Publishers' Association was received E. V. Richards, Jr., made a simple request that the papers do not shut off the theatres that change their bills no less than twice a week from a mid-week notice and he requested permission to appear before the Publishers Association. So far he hasn't been invited.

It is interesting in connection with the New Orleans situation to note that some ten days before this conclusion of the association was reached the Saenger Amusement Company submitted a proposition to at least one of the New Orleans papers to use increased advertising at the commercial rate and to expect no favors based on this expenditure. This letter said that "as at present conducted" these readers were practically valueless—and that it is largely true if the motion picture matter during the week consists merely of laudatory, adjectived matter instead of real news and real reviews of pictures. All that was asked was a mid-week review and, if necessary, to make up for this by cutting down the Sunday space.

One is purely commercial—the other is interesting to the public.

We are not informed whether the New Orleans publishers, in saving white paper and in denying matter during the week, is also offsetting this by granting the commercial rate.

AND so the Saenger Amusement Company has taken the question up with the public. Heralds have been distributed among the audiences at its theatres asking whether they resent motion picture matter being excluded from the newspapers during the week. It is reproduced here and its reading is well worth while.

The patron is invited to write to the local newspapers and tell them that this matter is desired and it tells them that if they and thousands of others tell the publishers that they want this matter they will get it. And that is right principle.

We hope that the people will respond and convince the newspapers.

But it's a sad state of affairs when the theatre has to go to the public to make the newspapers realize that interest and to make them know that the motion picture is today fighting shoulder and shoulder with Pershing in France.

It is also sadder to relate that this ruling of the publishers of New Orleans comes at the very moment that the theatres and the motion picture industry as a whole is giving every effort to the Liberty Loan—and that this is the very moment that the newspapers owe their most loyal co-operation.

Do You Resent?

DO you resent the ELIMINATION from the daily newspapers of the news of pictures being shown at the photoplay theatres? If you do, write the editor of your newspaper that you have missed this news and wish it to be included in his columns.

The Government of the United States of America, through the Committee on Public Information of which George Creel is chairman, says:

"THE SCREEN IS THE MEDIUM BY WHICH THE REAL NEWS, ALIVE AND IN THE MAKING, IS CONVEYED TO THE FAMILIES IN AMERICA—THEY ARE ALL WAITING FOR IT."

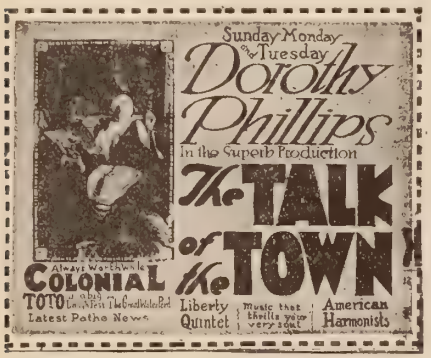
These words are significant. The Government views the screen as its most potent advisory agent to the populace at large and has enlisted its services on every occasion in which it has wished to enlighten its citizenry on matters tending to the one large end of WINNING THE WAR.

The screen speaks a UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE with UNMISTAKABLE FORCE. That is why the United States Government has listed the Motion Picture industry as ESSENTIAL—a classification, by the war, in contrast to that in which sports are listed.

It would seem, therefore, that the Government, in requesting the newspapers to limit the sizes of their editions, could not have intended an elimination of motion picture news items from the columns of newspapers—which construction has been placed upon the request by the press of New Orleans—when it did not intend or suggest a similar elimination of other dramatic news, which is also classed essential; or of sports, which are NOT classed as essential.

YOU are a motion picture patron. May we ask how many SPORTS you are interested in? Or how much interest you may take in MATTERS OF INTEREST SIXTY-THREE YEARS AGO? or other space-consuming articles which stare you in the face, but interest you NOT A WHIT?

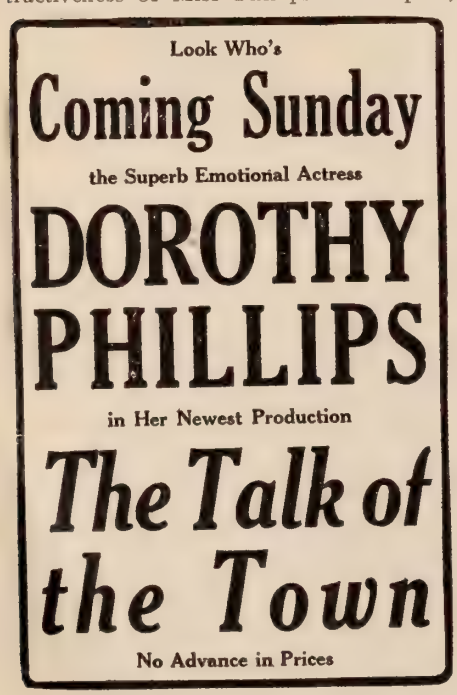
The press of New Orleans has made the error of eliminating reviews and comments of current film productions. These, we sincerely believe, were of interest to YOU. The motion picture is the world's great recreation. You have a right to expect your newspaper to tell you a little of what's going on in the photoplay theatres. You CAN get this news. At your earliest convenience—RIGHT NOW, if possible, sit down and write a letter to the editor of your favorite newspaper and tell him that you miss the news of the photoplays and that you want him to print it. If you are not interested in the sporting page, tell him so. When he finds out that you and THOUSANDS OF OTHERS WHO WILL WRITE want the photoplay news, YOU WILL GET IT.



There are big things coming, things that you will not want to miss—some of them are GOVERNMENT FILMS—and you will know about them if you write the editor of your paper TO-DAY, RIGHT NOW.

Strand Theatre, New Orleans, Appeals to Public in Circulars

Your Idea and Ours



COLONIAL theatre, Indianapolis, missed its opportunity in advertising "The Talk of the Town." It did one thing right, and that was to play the name of the production strong and to feature the name of the star to a certain extent.

Now the Colonial has recently shown a desire to be a good advertiser, and though the space user, 5¼ inches across three columns, is comparatively small, it is large as far as most of the Indianapolis theatres are concerned. The designer has gone to the expense of having a specially drawn advertisement and has paid engraver charges. He has picked out one of the most attractive stills, but still, with all of that his work did not show up. Let's see what he could have done with the same material.

Suppose he had used 7¼ inches double column and had used the same figure of Miss Phillips with the background painted out, and then alongside this the name of the production in large letters, following with the name of the star. Then suppose he had followed up with one of the selling talks of the picture that we suggested last week in the Special Service Section. Then he would have brought out the attractiveness of Miss Phillips in her pose, he would have attracted more attention to the title, and he would have given a REASON why the person wanted to see this picture. And just a hint: Ben Day work is all right, but you have to use care with it if you want a half tone to stand out. In this display the half tone suffers badly.

Simple use of name and title are all right when you use them in advance. This is the way that the Superba theatre, Los Angeles, advertised the production four days in advance of its showing, and, too, 6½ inches double column to do it. And after this the theatre began to talk about the production itself. There's a whole lot of difference in a mere announcement such as this and in a selling argument that the Colonial should have tried to achieve.

To have ambition the "am" must be there.

THIS was evidently large space for the Colonial theatre, Toledo, O., to use. As the result the first thing that the designer of this display proceeded to do was to "fill her up." The first thing that strikes you is that the cuts were first placed and then the writer proceeded to fill up the holes.

In the first place there are too many illustrations. We would have used the center one and would have made it larger. The selling point of this picture is on the feats that are performed by Tom Mix. The other two cuts mean nothing. Now directly under the name of the theatre we have the lines: "The Secret Service sent 'Mr. Logan' to smash an enemy plot. His sweetheart was led to believe he was a traitor. He daringly rescues the girl from worse than death." All very good, but then the writer adds the unnecessary "Was he a slacker?" There is nothing in the display telling of the stunts that Mix does. In fact, to pardon the pun, it is a very mixed up affair with no one thing standing out.

We fail to understand why the designer found it necessary to say in the two boxes at the top of the display "Commencing Sunday (tomorrow)".

HERE is a real use for a program—to get your intimate selling talk ove to the public.

Now in a newspaper display you canno go to the extent that you do in your hous organ. In the daily paper you are alway having to take into consideration the tran sient and the possible new patron. In th case of the program you base your sellin talk on the theory that you are talking t one of your friends. That doesn't mea that you have to be flippant.

Now take this from the Auditorium Coatesville, Pa., a theatre which is oper ated by the Y. M. C. A. This house i an institution. And therefore it says onl "Introducing Lila Lee." Then there is picture of her and a statement that thi is her first time in any picture.

Now let's say first that several month ago we printed the program of this theatr as a model. It's because the theatre ha advertised itself and when it puts its en dorsement behind a picture. And righ here it has done this in a clever way. I has simply said: "Here's Lila Lee. We'v booked her pictures because we like her Come on and see them, they're good."

And we'll bet that nine-tenths of th people that got this program received th same impression—and that they went t the theatre. You don't have to bay at th moon.

Let's all make this the Zero Hour—and GO OVER.

IN this quarter of a page display th Criterion theatre, Atlanta, Ga., show what can be accomplished for a novelty by using various pictures of an attractive star. The main display is a scene from the picture, "Sauce for the Goose," and then we have in each corner a photograph of Miss Talmadge. These pictures with the pleasant expressions at once give the reader that this is a happy picture. The frame of mind is already there when one begins to read the small amount of matter that the advertisement does contain.

The general meat is in the announcement "Clever, Captivating, Capricious Constance Talmadge in a nifty comedy from the play, 'Sauce for the Goose,'" and then we have at top and bottom of the display two little phrases about the picture. And yet there is not a thing revealed about the story. In our opinion this advertisement embraces all the necessary selling matter and in addition has the quality of keeping up the suspense and appealing to the curiosity of the patrons, there being just enough said to let the public know that this is one of the sort of pictures in which Miss Talmadge is always at her best.

What Live Wires are Doing

How much better this strong display on the personality of the star than devoting the corners to box effects about the picture or the rest of the program, a practice so common, but, thank Heaven, slowly dying out.

Advertising is the short way around the corners to true progressiveness.

WHETHER it is because they can't get them, or whether they won't abandon that Gothic type and heavy black borders to permit the proper use of cuts we confess that we do not know, but we do know that it is mighty seldom that one of the Duluth, Minn., theatres shows a tendency to use timely cuts. Now this advertisement could have been improved a hundred per cent. by doubling the space and using one of the striking cuts supplied by Jewel and illustrated in the special service section of the NEWS for September 28.

Yet the theatre has put the selling argument over in fair shape in spite of the handicap that he has given himself. The Rex theatre has used six inches across three columns and has done well in playing up the title and then in calling attention to what the patron will see, making each one of these sentences impress upon the reader that this is an actual picture of the war, but we would have brought out stronger the lines that he has at the bottom of the display: "Not a Love Sick Story, Not a Fiction Tale—the Whole Colossal Drama of the War." He has also coupled the appearance of the field with the fact that "Foch Unleashes the Americans," etc., a very timely reference.

If you are merely "showing a picture" your patrons will soon cut the emphasis on the "show" part.

CHARLES H. RYAN, manager of the Garfield theatre, Chicago, is always doing things a little differently from the other fellow. Now community singing is not an especially new thing, for it is being tried in various sections of the country, but Mr. Ryan has made just a "little different" appeal to the public to get the people to his theatre, which is a popular neighborhood house.

A SONG IS WORTH A MILLION SIGHS.

Community Singing

Is both the cause and the result of good feeling. The Army and Navy have taken it up because they have found that song gives inspiration. When we sing we are happy and a happy nation is a Patriotic Nation. During these depressing times people need the good cheer of music. Bring grandpa and grandma as we will have some of those old Gems so dear to the hearts of us all.

ANY-ONE

Who is not tongue-tied can join in the singing. Don't be bashful, we will keep the lights out.

NOW

This part of our Program is turned over to our patrons for Amusement and Relaxation.

ALSO A GOOD PICTURE PROGRAM

Doors Open 6.30 p. m.
First Show 6.45 p. m.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26th

GARFIELD THEATRE

Geraghty & Co. 3035-37 W. Lake St. (OVER)

He has issued a special card which he encloses with his weekly program. On one side it is captioned "Can You Sing?" and then he gives the Thursday (the day he has community singing) program of pictures. The other side we have reproduced here. It is catchy and will get attention and bring results.

YOU almost find yourself laughing before you start to the theatre. That is the effect that this two column, ten inch advertisement of the Standard theatre, Cleveland, O., gives you. And it is all done because of the title of the picture and the cut that is used with it. A person "dressed" in a barrel suggests only one thing, and we know immediately that there's all sorts of almost slap-stick fun in this picture even if the Standard hadn't told us that she was to be seen in this picture as an irrepressible daughter of Paw Peck.

Now in a larger advertisement from Levy's Coliseum, Seattle, this same cut is used and the designer has seen fit to draw in a larger figure of Mabel riding a velocipede. The only effect it has is to weaken the half tone of the girl in the barrel. Then we have the lines: "Mabel is up to her old tricks again. She would just as soon break up a prayer meeting in Yankstown as a crap game, and spilling the beans on the plans of a gang of crooks—it was just as easy as shooting fish."

The difference between the two advertisements is that one invites you to come and laugh and the other tries to be funny in itself. And there's quite a difference.

A few sledge hammer blows of true exploitation will silence all the knockers in your midst.

Seeing Rialto and Rivoli with Rothapfel

HOW to put the Liberty Loan punches fully into your Animated magazines is being shown at both the Rialto and the Rivoli theatres this week. You have probably read the articles about the use of pictures for patriotic propaganda that Mr. Rothapfel has written for this department, but here you have the demonstration of how the wildest enthusiasm can be aroused. And so it is no wonder that at the evening performances the various speakers who appear are getting the greatest results.

Every theatre in the country is expected to do its part in this drive that will edge the retreating Hun further on his way. It does not mean that you have to provide elaborate stage settings, that you have to hunt up special acts or anything of that sort. If you get the right sort of spirit in almost the simplest thing, you get the appeal over, and we know of no way to do it more convincingly than in the use of news reels—a specialty in which Rothapfel has set a high mark.

During this campaign you want to get the Liberty Loan punch in your presentation, but if you try to build the whole thing around this plea to buy bonds, if you make that the obvious and the one purpose, you are not going to achieve your purpose and you may keep patrons away from our theatre. But if you get that appeal over and that appeal is made in the midst of a presentation that is delighting you, the appeal will be all the more convincing and all the more fruitful. And that is one of the reasons the performances at both theatres this week are arranged to have the "pleasant" run all the way through them. Given the frame of mind, the heart will quickly respond.

"Il Guarany," played with the lights all in gold, is the brilliant overture at the Rialto this week, and it is followed by one of the new Robert Bruce-Educational scenics, "Tales of the Tall Timbers," a picture made in the forests of Northeastern California and Idaho. The music adds a great deal to the enjoyment of the picture, starting with "La Source" and following through with "Scene Alsatienne," "Mountain Music" No. 1, "In Holland" No. 2, and "Woodland Sketches."

Lights are gold and the Byzantine setting is used for Miss Josephine Forsythe singing "Loch Lomon" and "Comin' Through the Rye," and then we get into the Animated, which brings the Liberty Loan punch right in at the start. It is a Hearst-Pathe picture of sailors in New York "clearing the decks" for the new drive, and there we have a bugle call and then "We'll Wollop the Kaiser," which continues until the Gaumont airship pictures, when the tune turns to "Liberty Lads," continuing to Screen Telegram pictures of flying over Chicago. Now here a clever effect is secured by the music stopping and the only sounds being a reproduction of the sound of the motors.

Screen Telegram shows pictures of Chauncey Depew presenting to Peekskill the statue of himself, and at first the music of "Banquettes," and then as the former Senator begins to talk there's an intimate touch added with "What's the Matter with Father?" Gaumont shows pictures of the visit of Prince Axel of Denmark to Washington and we have "Denmark" played once through, and then with the pilgrimage to Mount Vernon "Carry Me Back to Old Virginy," with the chorus only played twice, and then "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

Hearst-Pathe then comes in with pictures of the G. A. R. reunion in Portland, and with the piccolo and drum corps effect we have "Memories of the War." King George reviews some of his forces and then the men who are serving behind the fighting men, and during this the music is "Admirals All." Hearst-Pathe pictures show the visit of Secretary Daniels to the tent colony of a naval hospital in New York and "When You Come Back" accompanies these. With the title "Back from Chateau Thierry" the wounded men arise and salute and the music turns into the "Marine Hymn" until the souvenirs from the battle front, and then "When You Come Back" is used again. Letter B of "College Life" is used with pictures of President Wilson voting at Princeton and the audience goes wild with applause.

"When Yankee Doodle Learns to Parley Vous" is used for Hearst-Pathe pictures of the city of Lyons changing the name of a bridge to "Wilson," and then under the caption "All Roads Lead to the Same Goal," we have pictures of preparing for the bombardment of Metz. Then comes the roll of drums, and this dies away and there is no music. We have pictures of the upstanding American boys who took so many Huns and then a flash of the throng of prisoners that they took. The audience is at the height of enthusiasm at this time and fully ready to get the appeal of the Liberty Loan cartoon that ends the weekly. This is "A Total Eclipse," with the Kaiser contemplating his dream of world dominion which is eclipsed by the Fourth Liberty Loan as "Pop Goes the Weazel" is played, and then as the figure of Uncle Sam fades in over that of the Kaiser the piccolos take up the refrain of "Yankee Doodle."

And you can bet that everyone is ready to buy Liberty Bonds—until it hurts.

Martin Brefel sings the aria from "Artha" and then we have the feature, and its patriotic touch adds no little to the appeal that is started in the Animated, for William S. Hart in "Border Wireless" frustrates a German spy plot and finally, after winning the girl, winds up in the army. The audience, when we saw the performance, greeted the title of the picture with great applause and was enthusiastic throughout its presentation. "Dearie" is the theme used for this first of the real love stories in which Hart has appeared, but most of the other music consists of the Rothapfel numbered selections. "Wyoming Days," "Dream Kisses," "Dainty Daffodils" and "Longing" are some of the other selections that are used. Use of the various cavalry calls during the scenes in which the soldiers are shown adds no little to the thrills.

The orchestra then takes up selections from "Alma, Where Do You Live?" and the audience is almost humming and then drifts right into "Happy Hooligan" in "A Bold Bad Man." Certainly everyone goes away from the theatre laughing, but the patriotic thrill has not been forgotten. No. While one leaves the theatre in better humor with most of the world, he has just a little stronger conviction that the Hun must no longer be.

At the Rivoli, too, there is a patriotic thrill in the feature, and a bigger one in the Animated.

"Carmen" selections form the overture there and then comes one of the most beautiful scenics that we have ever seen, "Raindrops," one of the Van Scoy Post-Pathe productions. Here, as in the case of others of the pictures that have been shown, verse is used for the titles. The picture opens with photographs of the falling rain, and then the development goes through night effects of raining, into the dripping trees, to the brook, into the river and finally to the ocean. Music for this is "Scene Poetique," "Spinning Wheel," and "Mountain Music."

THEY GET IT

Liberty Loan Pictures Are Doing Their Work Well

IF you have failed to show the Liberty Loan pictures at your theatre, you haven't been doing your duty for the Government or for yourself.

At the Rothapfel theatres a different one of these pictures has been shown each day this week and will continue to be shown until the campaign comes to an end.

They are getting torrents of applause and they are inspiring the people to buy more bonds, especially in cases like this where where there is a patriotic spirit running through the program.

And the comment that one hears in these theatres is mighty well worth while. People who did not stop to think that the motion picture is doing a great deal to help the winning of the war now realize it and they talk about it. That sort of advertising is mighty good for the motion picture in general and for your theatre in particular.

Be sure you make your theatre an essential during this drive.

One of the most beautiful effects yet achieved at the Rivoli is shown in the first musical number, John Hendricks singing "Asleep in the Deep." Before the curtains part we have the chime effects on the organ and then there is revealed to us a scene at the bottom of the sea where John Wenger has fantastically pictured the deep sea monsters and the tribute that Neptune has claimed. Small transparent balloons in the background create the effect of the bubbling water and the singer attired as a fisherman completes the picture.

Now the Animated at the Rivoli is very short, but the wallop is certainly there. The general title of the Official War Review is "Where the Allies Fight," and the first pictures shown are in the Balkans, where a view of Gen. D'Espere, the Allied commander, gets a great hand from the audience. Then follow pictures of President Poincare reviewing the Czecho-Slovaks and the spectators are again aroused to great heights at the pictures of the sturdy, marching men. We go thence to Italy, where we are shown the tunnels through the snow and the difficulties our Latin allies are overcoming. At the opening of the Animated "Queen of Sheba" is first used, and then there follows through "King of Lahore" until we have the title "And in France," where we are shown some of the second million of Americans to reach the battle line, and the music turns into "Flag of Victory," which is played once through, followed by "There's a Million Heroes."

First we have pictures of the hundreds and hundreds of men marching straight at the camera, and the way that audience shouts its approval you would think that a record for enthusiasm had been made—but wait till you get to the end. We are shown the Yanks chasing the Crown Prince out of Chateau Thierry and the bridge that they blew up and then the American engineers building a pontoon and the artillery galloping across.

With "Indian Allegro" played we have pictures of the camouflaged men creeping out on scout duty, and the final scene comes with Gen. Haig ordering a battery and there is a bugle call and the orchestra bursts into "Light Horse, Forward." We see them sweep into a river and the members of the orchestra shout, but one hardly knows that the shouts come from them, for scores in the audience take to the cry and there is the most wonderful display of unrestrained enthusiasm that you have ever known.

Yes, we are all ready to buy Liberty Bonds after that.

For the second musical feature the house is all dark except for a faint blue in the dome, and as the stage curtains part we are shown Miss Leeta Corder seated and a harpist on the stage. Only curtain effects are used, with a single evergreen at the side.

Then comes the feature, Dorothy Gish in "Battling Jane," and here again we have just enough of the war spirit brought in to make this the sort of a feature that will have a mighty good effect during the loan drive. Here, again, the music adds a great deal to the enjoyment of the picture. First we have "Idylle Sauvage" and then "Any Time Is Kissing Time," the chorus being played twice, and then comes in the theme "Purity." There is a comic touch added by the music with the introduction of the deaf grocer when we have "By Heck." During the scenes where the players are rehearsing "The Vampire's Revenge" we get "Admiration," played grotesque, molto glissando, twice through. After that we have "Tete a Tete" and "Midsummer," and then there is another clever touch added as Dorothy goes to the cradle and the chorus of "After the Ball" is played. Still another one that gets close to the audience comes with the title "You Made Me What I Am Today" and the organ plays "The Curse of an Aching Heart." "The Girl I Left Behind Me" is the music for the final scenes, which show the girl pushing the baby cart in the parade, accompanied by her soldier lover.

Here is the war map of Sid Laurence, manager of the Majestic Gardens, Grand Rapids, of which we told you. He keeps it right up to the minute

Then the Rivoli orchestra almost outdoes itself with the rendition of "In the Clock Store," a novelty which reproduces all the noises that one might expect to hear in a room where there were scores of all sorts of clocks. The applause is great, and the drummers, who are responsible for many of the effects, take a special bow.

And to finish up this perfect bill there is another one of those delightful O. Henry pictures, "Tobin's Palm." These have become a regular thing at the Rivoli and certainly there have been no pictures, regardless of their length, shown at that house which are enjoyed more. And Mr. Rothapfel knows that these are really features, for there is as much attention given to the music as in any of the biggest productions.

"Irish Selections" are used for the introduction as an oboe solo, and then we have the theme "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and following through this is "I'm Hearin' from Erin," with the theme returning as the girl says farewell to her Irish home. The theme returns with the girl's arrival in this country, and then on the release of the youth we have "Mother of Mine," and then we get to Coney Island and "Yah de Dah"; counterpointed with the theme is used "Globe Trotter" as the pair enter the "Virginia Reel," then "Bon Ton," without the introduction, and "Oasis," played burlesque, for the visit to the fortune teller. When the youth encounters the "black man" we get Prior's "Fox Trot," and "Take Me Home" as Tobin meets the man with the crooked nose, and finally the return to the theme at the end when he finds his lost sweetheart.

And, believe us, we have never seen a theme make a greater hit with an audience. The people were humming it all over the house and as it was repeated the humming became louder and louder until at times it almost burst into actual song. The crowds were not only delighted, but they did not try to hide that delight.

They went away with a laugh, but there was also a little sob in their hearts. And there was a feeling that we were all the better for having seen these pictures and that we would go out into this world of ours and do more things that the real portion of the world—that lays outside the grasp of the Hun—shall be better for it.

We almost forgot to say that there is a Liberty Loan picture being shown at the Rialto and the Rivoli each day at all performances. Starting off the drive was Charles Chaplin in "The Bond."

Yes, there's real patriotism in the bills at the two houses this week. There's no blatant appeal, but there's the spirit in the presentations that opens our hearts, stirs our patriotism and makes us willing to give to the utmost.

And this is the sort that Uncle Sam wants you to create in your theatre.

It not only helps your theatre, but it works to make the world safe.

How Noble Used the Front of Columbia Theatre, Portland, and a Clever Piece of Automobile Advertising

"Lightless Nights" Spurring the Exhibitors to Use the Fronts of Their Theatres in Daylight

"LIGHTLESS nights have really helped business." That report has come to the Motion Picture News from a number of sources, the exhibitors reporting that many people who spent a large portion of the evenings studying the shop windows now come directly to the photoplay house.

It is altogether probable that there will be even stricter limits placed on the use of lighting during the winter so far as the fronts of theatres are concerned, and in that case the exhibitor will have to do more daylight advertising. From several showmen comes the advice that exhibitors should do more to use the fronts of their houses, not so much in lobby displays as in daylight signs.

Naturally most of the electric signs are designed for their effect at night and it is very hard to read the greater portion of them in the daytime. It is then that the greater number of people are passing the theatre, but they are not hunting for the theatre's bill which they will do at night when they are theatre bound, and therefore more striking displays have to be used in daytime to get the attention.

Several of the larger theatres have been most successful in using daylight designs in connection with the signs. The one that is illustrated here was used by P. E. Noble at the Columbia theatre, Portland, Ore. When Mr. Noble was manager of the American theatre at Butte, Montana, he made full use of the outside of his house and credits that with no small portion of the business that he did. In this case he simply employed the face of a clock with the hands pointing to nine o'clock and the name of Charles Ray to advertise "The Nine O'Clock Town."

In addition to this he used a design built on the rear portion of a roadster which was something on the same order. It showed the face of a clock and had the face of Ray and of his leading woman and on the pedestal he advertised the name of the picture and the theatre. And this was in addition to the big newspaper advertising that was done, for all the Jensen and von Herberg houses believe in liberal use of newspaper space.

George J. Schade, of Sandusky, O., is another one who believes in using the front of his house for advertising. Over the marquis he uses special display on the bigger pictures and finds out that these cause a great deal of talk and increase the receipts. A considerable portion of these displays are made from the cut outs of the larger paper supplied by the exchanges, but even if an original design is used the expense is not great.

Up until recently the most of the posters that were supplied were worth little because they did not get the big punch of the production, but the tendency now is to use less detail and larger figures so that this can be utilized in front of the house. When these are mounted on board and set directly across the street they are pretty sure to attract general attraction, but the name of the star and the title of the picture should be displayed also so as to be sure to get the punch over.

Cut outs of the stars can also be used to good effect in this way. Several of the companies are now supplying stock paper which includes big heads of the stars and when these are mounted on board and the reading matter painted in they become attractive. In cases where the title of the picture is the selling argument any picture that fits in with the title can be used to get the punch over, so long as they are not really misleading.

But of course the best display of this sort that you can use is the sort that will stop the people to look at your lobby and find out exactly what the display does mean. Take the one used by Noble on the Charles Ray picture: Now the meaning of the clock would not be plain unless one also knew the title of the picture of which it is so suggestive, but a display of that sort does arouse the curiosity and makes the people stop and look into your lobby and if you have, either in the shape of your stills or other attractive display, matter that backs up your "flash" you will get them into the theatre.

Offsetting the handicaps of the lightless nights we have the satisfaction of knowing that this is making all of us think and that we are planning more and more how we can exploit the pictures and put over the selling thing. And when this is the result those lightless nights are not such a bad thing after all.

NOW IS THE TIME

Really Doing Things with Pictures Will Make Up for Past Mistakes

ONE exhibitor writes, asking that his name be not used: "I have increased my receipts ten per cent since I have commenced trying to do things with pictures, and next I expect to change my program only twice a week instead of three times as I am doing now. I find that if I study the possibilities of pictures I can get more out of them, even if I cannot have a big orchestra and elaborate stage settings. The study of pictures has a big effect even on my conversation with the patrons. I find that I can talk the pictures sincerely and with enthusiasm and that what I say now carries weight."

That's mighty true. There's lots of difference in simply putting the picture on and letting it get the business that will come. The MOTION PICTURE NEWS is now giving you full advance information about pictures in the Complete Plan Book, and we want to record here what more and more you are doing to get the most out of productions.

Every time you really try to do something with a picture it helps your business; and every time you tell what you have done here it spurs others along to real accomplishments.

Rialto Theatre, Medford, Ore., Decorated for the Run of "The Unbeliever"

Medford Theatre Sets High Mark for Smaller Cities in Its Exploitation of "Unbeliever"

HERE is another theatre in a small city that is doing things and that is finding that it pays in box-office returns to invest money in newspaper advertising and in lobby displays. It is the Rialto, Medford, Ore., which is owned by A. J. Moran and H. L. Mercy. Though located in a city of 12,490 it is one of the most beautiful theatres in Oregon.

"The Unbeliever" was the attraction on the first anniversary of the theatre, and space which ranged up to seventeen inches across the newspaper was used. Big advertising was employed during and before the three-day run of the picture. The Seattle George Kleine office supplied the Rialto with the mats of the illustrations which were used in G. F. Fullerton's advertising for the Coliseum, Seattle.

In addition there was an attractive lobby display which featured a huge American shield, with the title of the picture across it. American flags and scenes from the production supplied the rest of the decoration. One hundred men in uniform were used on the streets of Medford to help advertise the production, and the net result of all this exploitation was that the theatre "stood 'em up" for the three days.

In the larger advertising that was used the Rialto took occasion to call attention to what it has done during the past year, and this was such a splendid selling talk for the house itself that we are reproducing it here:

"The Rialto theatre concludes today its first anniversary of public entertainment for the people of southern Oregon. It has been a year of triumph for this modern playhouse, notwithstanding the general confusion and uncertainty in the economic and industrial world and the trials necessarily injected into the first year's experience of any new amusement institution. The gratifying measure of success attained and enjoyed by its proprietors presages another year of greater triumph in every way.

"A year ago today the Rialto theatre presented to the local public Rex Beach's most virile and astounding photoplay, 'The Barrier.' Tomorrow, the first day of its second year, it will present the Edison super-feature of romance and action, 'The Unbeliever.' Between these two marvelous productions it has given its patrons the best pictures obtainable during the period of its matriculation. While making for itself a prominent place, not only among the thousands of patrons of the motion picture business, but among the exchanges with whom its contracts are made for film sensations, it has, on occasions, been compelled to yield to the exigencies of the situation in selecting its productions; but, having firmly established its leading place with film exchanges, it now enters upon a program and policy to give the local world the supreme triumphs in production by the big world outside.

"By a clean, candid and persistent desire to give to local amusement patrons the best productions exhibited in the great cities, it has frequently been compelled to ignore the incident of profit, directly; but, indirectly, increased patronage has shown that that policy will ultimately produce the reward it deserves. Therefore, our chief design has been to establish firmly the high character of the Rialto as a theatre conducted for a high-class clientelle.

"The success thus deserved and attained has enabled us to transmit to the war-tax department of the Federal Government large sums of money paid to the Rialto box-office as war tax. In addition to the satisfaction thus enjoyed, our patrons have realized the gratification that comes in 'picture contact' with the great forces that are now re-making the world."

That the Rialto is not afraid to show big pictures right along is proved by the fact that this picture was followed up with "Hearts of the World" and then "Heart of the Sunset." Although the city has been depleted of one-third of its population as the result of the call to the army and the shipyards, the Rialto is doing big business because of the intelligent way that it is exploiting its worth-while attractions.

By-the-way, the Rialto has one of the most attractive name plates that we have seen. It consists of the name of the theatre through which runs an arrow bearing the slogan, "Where Everybody Goes."

This Small City Theatre is Not Afraid to Advertise

Paper Invites Its Readers to Criticize Photoplays

Here is a plan that will create new interest in the newspaper and the motion picture. It is a new instance of co-operation between the newspaper and the photoplay houses and will result in increased business to all concerned wherever it is tried.

The Sunday Detroit News on its motion picture pages has invited its readers to review the leading first-run pictures and to send in a 150-word review before Thursday of each week. In the following Sunday's issue the prize winners will appear.

Two pictures will be offered for criticism each week. The first two were both Fox productions which were being shown at local theatres, "Salome" and "The Prussian Cur."

Famous Players Issues Biography Booklet

Famous Players-Lasky has just issued a ninety-six page booklet giving the biographies of the various stars and the officials of that company. Copies of it will be sent to exhibitors and newspapers. The suggestion is made to the showmen that they will find this valuable in preparing special stories about the players and that the newspapers will be able to get all the data about any Famous Players-Lasky star here.

Striking but Simple was the Lobby Display this Week at the Broadway Theatre. M. Kashin Pictures at Either Side James Lackaye and Harold Lockwood and the Big Scene Across the Top Shows Them Shaking Hands, the Title in Large Letters

Liberty Sing is Latest of Community Ideas; Audience Get Lots of Fun Out of Novel Plan

THE American public likes to sing. Community singing proves it. In Chicago and in a number of other cities the singers have been furnished by the ctiy authorities. In Detroit the idea was introduced for the first time in a theatre to a regular theatre audience—an audience that had paid its way in—by Henry Santrey.

Mr. Santrey is the soloist at the Regent and he took it up with the management. A name was suggested, the "Liberty Sing," and this has been followed out in all the advertising and publicity. Santrey introduced it during his third week's engagement, but the week previously, during a song contest, when he had eight singers lined up across the stage, he invited everyone to join them in singing "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Santrey starts his Liberty Sing without any great amount of striving, but before it is over he has his coat off and is running back and forth all on a platform across the front of the auditorium where the public is seated. Santrey first sings a verse and chorus. Then the words of the chorus are thrown on the screen and he teaches it line by line. At first the audience did not join in very strongly, but by introducing some comedy songs, such as the stuttering "K-K-Katy," and by getting one side of the house to sing against the other, he developed it. Now he will even divide the house into four sections. He has the married women sing one line and the single ladies the next, and so on.

The audience enjoys it quite as much as Santrey, with the result that the Victory Sing is now in its fourth week. It has been found that the new songs are the hardest to "put over." The audience likes the old ballads, and the old war-time songs,

Henry Santrey

"Marching Through Georgia," "Good Bye, Dolly Gray," and others that they know.

McGee Arranges Setting for "America's Answer"

"America's Answer" is to be shown for two weeks in Detroit and Manager M. W. McGee of the Majestic theatre, and a master in the art of presentation of pictures, promises something unusual when they are shown. Mr. McGee has just returned to Detroit from New York and while here he had several conferences with the Division of Films about the pictures after having seen them himself.

Horater Plans Record Campaign on "America's Answer"

H. C. Horater, manager of the Alhambra theatre, Toledo, Ohio, plans his biggest exploitation campaign, and therefore his city's record on "America's Answer," the run of which is to start on October 20. He declares that he is not going to be satisfied unless he sells every seat at every showing, and the preparations that he is making promise that he will accomplish just that result.

Before releasing the picture to the general public, Mr. Horater is going to give a private screening of the picture. To this screening he is going to invite the Toledo Chamber of Commerce members, members of the Red Cross, officials of the Thrift Stamp campaign, leaders of the Liberty Loan Drive, and members of local civic organizations.

"Every dollar taken in at the Alhambra theatre during my run of 'America's Answer' will be invested in Thrift Stamps and Liberty Bonds," Mr. Horater has announced. He also stated that he will issue prizes consisting of Liberty Bonds of the Fourth issue, to teams selling the largest amounts of admission tickets. In addition to newspaper and billboard advertising, Mr. Horater has sent in an order for a tremendous amount of paper from the local exchange. He has ordered 300 one sheets, 100 three sheets, 50 twenty-four sheets, 12 press sheets, stills and lobby displays.

Fox Bulletin Devotes Space to Exhibitor Service

Fox Film Corporation has inaugurated a service department as a feature of the Exhibitors' Bulletin, the house organ of that company. In the current issue there are five pages of this matter giving advice on how to exhibit pictures and telling experiences of various exhibitors in handling Fox productions.

The bulletin this month contains forty-four pages. The cover design, done in brown on a heavy buff paper, is a drawing of Gladys Brockwell. Two pages are devoted to "18 to 45," the draft picture produced by Fox; two pages are given to "Why I Would Not Marry," the morality play which Mr. Fox has now in work, and two pages are given to Evelyn Nesbitt and "The Woman Who Gave."

Portrait Paints Attract New Crowds to Theatre

Joseph Grossman, manager of the Standard theatre, Cleveland, Ohio, has some very artistic three-sheets in his lobby. They are hand-painted pictures, done on sanitas by a young Cleveland woman whose specialty is portrait painting. She is Miss Irene Balazs, of 9001 Buckeye Road. Miss Balazs uses a still as a model. This she enlarges and colors in a most attractive manner.

Mr. Grossman is running the Goldwyn program this season and the beautiful Goldwyn stars give her plenty of inspiration for making pictures to attract the eye. Her picture for "The Kingdom of Youth" showed Madge Kennedy, the very spirit of youth, leaning against a blossoming cherry tree. Next to her stood a little Nipponese lady dressed in brilliant colors.

Japanese Stage Setting at Majestic Theatre, Detroit, on "His Birthright"

Singers and Stage Settings Playing a Big Part In Presentation of Pictures at the Majestic, Detroit

ACCORDING to M. W. McGee, managing director of the Majestic theatre in Detroit, the successful presentation of any picture comes from the atmosphere surrounding it, such as the music and the scenic effects. A case in point is his recent offering of Sessue Hayakawa in "His Birthright."

This was a Japanese play, so Mr. McGee had his trio of singers who, locally, are known as the Majestic Trio, select some Japanese numbers. There was a love song in the original tongue, to give it variety and then "Good-By, Cherry Blossom." Jean De Caussin, the scenic artist, arranged a stage setting in harmony with the occasion. And the big orchestra played the overture to "Madame Butterfly."

After a short organ number the overture was offered. This was followed by the topical review, provided by the two Pathe weeklies, and, locally, a Ford Motor Company educational picture and the trio. Immediately after the trio sang, a paraphrase on "Pastorale," arranged for violin, harp, 'cello and organ was played, and when this was well under way the house lights were dimmed, the curtain raised on the stage and "His Birthright" was shown. Through the showing of the feature both orchestra and organist vied with each other in playing music that fitted the picture.

The arrangement of the Majestic on the stage is new this season. The orchestra is seated at the front of the stage in a setting that carries out the decorations of the auditorium, even to the boxes. Above the heads of players and directors and directly at their rear is a second stage with its own curtain. On this stage the singers appear. The screen is lowered and masked in before the curtain to the second stage is raised. This second stage permits of special settings without interfering with the musicians.

One of the features of the showing of "His Birthright" was the introduction of a number of young women, who appeared in costume and danced while the trio sang. They were advertised as "Geisha girls."

Theatre Advertises Greeting to Its New Rival

One of the most unusual events in the history of motion pictures has just been chronicled in Winnipeg with the reopening of the remodelled Province theatre. Just before the opening the Dominion, which is owned by different interests, used newspaper space to say:

"An appreciation. The Dominion theatre extends to the Province theatre its heartiest congratulations on the opening of their splendid new theatre—a theatre that is a monument to the worth of Winnipeg labor and a theatre which is at once a credit to the owners, the city and the entire Northwest.

"The Dominion theatre at this time desires to express its sincere appreciation of the high standing of the Province theatre and its wishes for their continued success.

"THE DOMINION THEATRE."

Naturally that advertisement made a marked impression. And it's good business, for it is always proven that the opening of a new high-class theatre never hurts the established ones of high class, provided the older ones have not gone back.

Are You Taking Advantage of Gasless Sundays in Advertising?

ARE you taking any advantage of the "gasless" Sundays to bring business to your theatre that day?. From present prospects they are likely to continue for the duration of the war, and if you are not using efforts to bring that additional business to your theatre you are overlooking an opportunity.

At least one newspaper in the country is calling attention to these. The Cleveland Press each Saturday is running a strip across the top of its motion picture advertising, saying, "Spend autoless Sunday at your favorite photoplay theatre. Programme for Saturday, (autoless) Sunday and the coming week." That is certainly bringing it close home, and if you can get yours newspaper to run a similar heading it will attract much attention.

This was the idea of E. C. Fielder, special representative of Paralta Pictures in Cleveland, Ohio. He followed this plan up with a notice in every announcement that he sent out to exhibitors. In a footnote to his letters, he said: "What are you doing to increase your patronage on gasless Sundays?" It was only by constant hammering, and untiring application that Fielder finally succeeded in securing the co-operation of newspapers and exhibitors, both of whom were satisfied to let well enough alone, instead of taking advantage of a golden opportunity to build up a new patronage.

How McCormick brings out the "Gasless Sunday" idea in his newspaper advertising

S. Barret McCormick is calling attention to it in his Sunday advertising in what he calls a "Circle-ette." These are run at the bottom of the advertisement in connection with the standard name plate of the theatre, and they will not be missed by any one.

Don't build your advertising directly on the "gasless" day because some may think that you are trying to take advantage of a Government saving measure, but bring it in to your advertisement incidentally. This is likely to pull people to your theatre who have been spending Sundays in their machines and who are practical strangers to the photoplay theatre.

Chart System About Only Ray of Hope Found

(Continued from page 2350)

Coliseum, Frankford and Tioga. The Stanley theatre is the largest in the city, with a seating capacity of 1,680, and the Strand and Imperial are next, with 1,300 each. The Victoria has 1,000, the Palace 900, the Arcadia 650, and the Locust 550.

Now when we come to the advertising that is done we find a terrible slump from what we would expect. There are thirty-seven theatres that advertise regularly daily and Sunday in the Evening Ledger and the Sunday Public Ledger. The Evening Bulletin carries the advertising of twenty-nine houses and the other papers get scarcely any advertising.

And what advertising! Look at the page advertisement for the Sunday Ledger that we have reproduced and you will find there almost a column of display devoted to nine of the Stanley theatres. In another column we find 3½ inches devoted to four other theatres, which are all under the same management, and then we are done. The legitimate advertising absolutely dominates the page and certainly one gets the impression that the motion picture does not amount to much in Philadelphia. There is a combination layout on stage and screen on another page, but only brief reading notices, and then the "chart," which is repeated from the Saturday Evening Ledger, is chucked away on the "want ad" page. Now daily we find the Stanley, Palace, Arcadia, Victoria, Regent, Crosskeys and Broadway theatre using a total of a little more than eight inches in the amusement column, and on another page we have small advertisements of twenty-six Stanley houses, eleven United and four others.

The Press devotes a four-column layout to motion pictures and gives the advertising house press notices.

We have reproduced the advertising page of the Sunday Press to give you an idea of the conglomeration of advertising. The motion picture advertising is about the same as that of the Ledger. The Record carried a general amusement page, with the motion pictures occupying the smallest spaces in the layout and getting little representation on the page.

The North American gives a separate layout to motion pictures and actually prints nearly a column of screen gossip—certainly a welcome thing to see after hunting through the Philadelphia papers for something that looks like real motion picture news.

The Evening Ledger on Saturday gives a three-column layout on screen players at the bottom of the amusement page, used the chart there and gives brief paragraphs about the attractions for the week. The Bulletin has a fair Saturday page. The Star prints no motion picture matter, neither does it carry any advertising. It is only a four-page sheet.

All of the papers give reviews of the pictures on Tuesday, the North American devoting separate heads to the advertising theatres. The Press gives four columns to the reviews, and one motion picture, Geraldine Farrar in "Turn of the Wheel," gets a two-head. It carries some of the Stanley theatre advertising, the same as the Daily Ledger and two others. The Record gives a column to photoplay reviews, the Bulletin a column and a half to amusements in general, the Inquirer three columns to amusements, and the Public Ledger one and the Evening Ledger one.

In short, on advertising Philadelphia is about as bad as it could be. We thought that we were justified in holding New York back as the worst of the specimens, but we were mistaken, for at least a few of the houses here have learned to advertise properly and there are some real displays in the papers, and a few of the dailies are showing a trace of a desire to co-operate.

But for the few instances that we have noted we cannot find any evidence of that in Philadelphia. We know that it is hard work in the biggest cities to expect the smaller theatres to advertise, but certainly there can be no excuse for the papers as a whole remaining practically silent on photoplay matter.

It sure is commercial in the city of brotherly love so far as motion picture co-operation is concerned.

Empire theatre, New York City, used this attractive lobby decoration on "For Husbands Only." The hole, with its suggestion "Look," did the work, and hundreds who did read the illuminated sign inside the house, which read "Bring your wife and whole family to see, etc." The "house" stood eight feet high and cost $3

Wounded Soldiers Draw Crowds to Theatre

During the showing of "To Hell With the Kaiser" at the Park theatre, Boston, Manager Thomas D. Soriero attracted much attention to his house by inviting some fifty American soldier wounded who had just returned from France to be his guests. The soldiers were conveyed from the Boston hospital to the theatre in Red Cross ambulances, and the result was that the streets were crowded with cheering throngs.

The man who gets there first not only gets the edge but what's inside of it.

Liberty Loan Spectacle Arranged by Miss Flossie A. Jones at Waukesha, Wis.

Theatre Puts Over Big Liberty Loan Spectacle and Citizens Join in to Make It Great Success

THAT a theatre manager may use "home talent" to put over a big patriotic spectacle and that such efforts will increase the popularity of the theatre and gain the heartiest co-operation, has just been proven by a Liberty Loan appeal that has been put over by Miss Flossie Jones at Waukesha, Wis.

Waukesha followed a different method from most communities to "go over the top." There was an advance campaign of Four-Minute speakers in the theatres, and then one day was set aside for all to register in their wards, stating how many Liberty Bonds they had bought or why they had bought none. This was to be the smashing wind-up for the campaign. So Miss Jones arranged her appeal on the evening preceding the registration day.

Members of the state guard and some of the most prominent people in the city took part in the tableaux, and the reception that it was given broke records for enthusiasm. Preceding the tableaux two girls sang "Your Boy and My Boy," and then there was a patriotic speech by a woman speaker, and almost at the end of her speech the curtain was raised and there appeared the illustration of "Why we must buy bonds."

There was a daring combination used in the setting, one portion of it showing a home scene with all serene, and at the left a battlefield strung with wire and American boys in khaki going over the top. A sailor and a soldier at either side gave added meaning to the pleas that we have to support the boys over there if we are to keep our homes safe.

Just before the curtain came down a young lady stepped forward and sang "When the Boys Come Marching Home," which gave a striking finish.

No small part of the success of the presentation was due to the lighting plan that was followed. These were so arranged that there would be a heavy shadow separating the exterior and interior scenes. Blue lights were used in the border and foots in front of the trench scenes and white in the foots in front of the home scene, with an old-rose shaded lamp supplying the rest of the lighting. The entire auditorium was in darkness during the presentation and the entire effect gave one the impression that it was all a dream.

Not only from the point of view of patriotism it pays to do things like this, because of the stronger standing that it is sure to give your theatre in every community. And though Miss Jones controls all of the theatres, the very things that she does provides the reason. There is no need for other theatres when one manages his own, so that it is really the institution.

And to show the appreciation of the community, Miss Jones was presented with a certificate as Theatre Member of the Four-Minute Men of the Committee on Public Informtion, and in addition to this the local board of the Four-Minute workers adopted the following resolution:

"In view of the masterful manner in which all matters pertaining to the prosecution of the war have been presented to the people of Waukesha through the medium of the moving picture shows, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we accord to Miss Flossie A. Jones the honor due her from her superb management and wonderful success in the work."

WORK OR FIGHT?

What Are You Doing For Your Fellow Exhibitors Day by Day?

WE are all of us mighty familiar with the "Work or Fight" order that has gone out from the Government. It means that we have to make our business useful or get over into the trenches and spear a few Huns—the more the merrier.

Now let's carry the comparison a little further and suppose that the motion picture industry as a whole ordered you to work or fight on behalf of that industry. What are you doing for it? Are you in Lawrence, N. C., thinking anything about the success of the exhibitor out in Beattie, Kansas?

If the other fellow in the other town doesn't make money and pay his film rental that selfsame film rental is going to cost you more. It's a business proposition to put your good ideas forward so that they will do others good, if for a selfish reason—because it benefits you. Every hint that is given in exploitation, in business getting results in better pictures for you and more opportunities to make money.

Consider that when we ask you to make this the forum for the good ideas that you have. YOU'RE HELPING YOURSELF.

Live News from the Producers

Pathe Salesmen at War Dinner

Vice-President Paul Brunet Delivers a "Save and Serve" Speech at Pathe Convention Dinner

THE following is the speech of Mr. Paul Brunet, Vice-President and General Manager of Pathe, delivered at the War Dinner of the Pathe Save and Serve Convention at Delmonico's Thursday, September 26th:

"This Council of War with our Sales Force was held for discussion of the ways and means of effecting a maximum of serving and saving of the kind by which the Cinema Corps, as a unit, can help win the war. We have told one another how we have served and what we have saved up to now, and we have given one another helpful suggestions for serving still further and for saving still more. That's our job, gentlemen—the job of War-saving and War-serving. And that's how we got the name for this convention of our thirty Field Marshals from thirty picture Battle Fronts, namely—the Pathe Serve and Save Convention.

"Our Sales Force is our Field Army. The men who distribute our war reels are the men who keep the war wheels turning on the Firing Line of the Cinema Unit. The war over there will be won by force of sales—sales of our film of patriotism—sales of our features of propaganda. For these war pictures inspire the nation to Serve and Save in money and materials and man-power over here, in order to save lives over there.

